Boys On The Side's Girls On The Soundtrack

Although it shouldn't be stereotyped as just a "woman's" film, New Regency/Warner Bros.' Boys On The Side certainly is engendered with considerable talent of the feminine persuasion—including the acting abilities of Whoopi Goldberg, Mary-Louise Parker and Drew Barrymore and the singing/songwriting skills of Melissa Etheridge, Sheryl Crow and many more on the Arista soundtrack.

BOB MARLEY TRIBUTE: S.O.B.'s (Sounds of Brazil) held a tribute to the late Bob Marley at Irving Plaza on February 6th, which would have been his 50th birthday. The tribute featured a special video presentation on Marley's life as well as an all-star concert featuring RAS Records artists The Mighty Diamonds, Sugar Minott, Sister Carol and Worl-A-Girl. One of the night's highlights was an appearance by Marley's London-born son Julian, an artist in his own right.

The video presentation was prepared by acclaimed video archivist Roger Steffens, and included rare and unseen footage of the reggae artist/political activist. Radio station WBAI-FM "Midnight Ravers" deejays DRO, Terry Wilson, Dread-Scott Keys and Ben Mapp spun the musical tribute to Marley's memory throughout the night behind guest MCs the Night Nurse and Karl Anthony.

CAPRICORN RECORDS president Phil Walden informs that the label has signed Washington, D.C. group Everything. The deal includes the acquisition and re-issue of the group's previously indie-released album Labrador and setting up their current East Coast tour in its support. The group's name addresses the eclectic content of its music, a mix of rock, Latin, jazz and, well, everything. The band—brass, reeds, rhythm and vocals—is Richard Bradley, Nathan Brown, Craig Honeycutt, Mark Reinhardt, David Slankard and Steve Van Dam, and the tour covers points east from N.Y.C. to New Orleans.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH is being observed in the music/record industry in lots of ways. Sony Music Entertainment's corporate affairs department joins in with sponsorship of three "Knowledge Is Power" symposiums at its Sony Club on Madison Avenue in N.Y. The topic on February 15th will be "Information Technology & Black Media," with guest speaker Robert L. Johnson, CEO, Black Entertainment Television; on the 21st author/activist/lecturer Dick Gregory and director/producer/screenwriter John Singleton will discuss "The History Of Civil Rights and The Entertainment Industry"; and on the 27th National Rainbow Coalition president Jesse Jackson will address "Black History and the Civil Rights Movement."

OASIS rode into the Palace in Hollywood on a sea of hype that would drown most bands. The fervor of the packed club only furthered the "next big British band hysteria" that has continued to grow since the release of their Definitely Maybe CD last year on Epic. Already approaching icon status in their native England, the quintet attracted seemingly every Anglophile in L.A., leading to the impression that similar stature in America is within reach. Whether it is or not, Oasis certainly believe it is, or they are one hell of a group of actors.

The band made their way onto the stage with a swagger that only the Stones could relate to, before launching into the appropriately arrogant "Rock & Roll Star." In addition to setting the tone in mood, the song set the standard musically for the rest of the band's hour-plus set, as the group weaved through a sea of pop noise, with the only variety coming in the decibel levels of the guitars. In the grand tradition of spoiled rock stars, lead vocalist Liam Gallagher gave his bored routine throughout, keeping his hands behind his back at almost all times, with the exception of the occasions where he sat down. But the crowd ate it up, relishing the indifference.

The real star of the night was the songwriting, as it became more evident why the act has received the attention it has when listening to "Shaker-maker," "Supersonic" or the band's current radio hit, "Live Forever."

Particularly of interest was the group's closing number, a cover of the Beatles' "I Am The Walrus." While many artists cover the Beatles, for an act saddled with British hype it's a move that left little doubt where Oasis' intentions rest. Whether you love or hate that kind of cockiness, you'd better learn to live with it because Oasis have the ability to back it up.

I.R.S. RECORDS RECENTLY THREW a little get-together in honor of Galore, the new release from acclaimed British singer/songwriter Kirsty MacColl. The record is a greatest hits/retrospective that includes the new tracks "Caroline," the CD's first single, and "Perfect Day," which features Lemonhead Evan Dando helping MacColl cover the Lou Reed tune.

Dando wasn't able to join MacColl when she did her acoustic showcase at L.A.'s Bokaos restaurant (though he apparently had a good excuse, as MacColl said he was in Australia). However, that didn't slow down the fiery redhead one bit, as she made her way through a very impressive 40-minute set, highlighted by Billy Bragg's "A New England," "Can't Stop Killing You" (which she recorded with Johnny Marr of The The and the Smiths fame), and her delightful version of Cole Porter's "Miss Otis Regrets." MacColl handled the usual disorder and clamor of a showcase with her trademark dry wit, saying at one point, "Feel free to be quiet for this one." Long respected by the people who matter—her peers—MacColl showed why people like Marr, Bragg and Dando work with her, as she is a superbly literate voice.

Several indie acts kicked off the new year with a free show at L.A.'s House of Blues to commemorate the release of the Backyard/Scotti Bros. Records album, You Got Lucky - A Tribute To Tom Petty. Excerpts from the show ran on ABC's "In Concert" on February 3. The performers, all of whom are featured on the Petty tribute, were Engine Kid, Everclear, Truck Stop Love, Thorneberry and aMiniature. Seen here (l-r, front row): Backyard/Scotti Bros.' alternative A&R director Michael Roth; "In Concert's" Steve Yampalsky and Alleged Records' Joel Mark; (back row): "In Concert's" exec. in charge of production Gene Fein; Truck Stop Love's Matt Mozier; Thorneberry's Jason Arbenz; Everclear's Art Alexakis; Truck Stop Love's Rich Yarges; Engine Kid's Jade Devitt; and Scotti Bros. president Chuck Gullo.

Boys On The Side's Girls On The Soundtrack

By Steve Baltin

REGENCY ENTERPRISES HEAD OF MUSIC Mitchell Leib is familiar with big-star projects, but few soundtracks possess the name-power of the soundtrack to Boys On The Side, which is a veritable "who's who" of women in rock, from superstars Bonnie Raitt and Melissa Etheridge to rising stars the Cranberries, Sarah McLachlan and Indigo Girls.

According to Leib, the idea was never to have an all-female soundtrack, but after viewing a rough cut of the film, Leib and director Herbert Ross—who Leib can not speak highly enough of—agreed that the male voices they considered were "distant and third-person." Nearly sold on the idea of an all-female soundtrack, Ross and Leib then met with Arista president Clive Davis, who, unsolicited, confirmed their belief.

Singer/songwriter Sheryl Crow was the first act to commit to the project by writing "Somebody Stand By Me," a song intended for Whoopi Goldberg to sing in the film but one that Stevie Nicks ended up doing on the album. The next performer to sign on was Etheridge, who composed what emerged as the closing-credits song in "I Take You With Me." According to Leib, Etheridge was converted by a rough cut of the film, which he took to her in Chicago while she was on tour. Due to time constraints, Etheridge's management initially balked at the idea of doing a new song—in fact, they flat out refused, though they did okay a song from her Island album Yes I Am. However, Leib's response was, "No, no, it's got to be new. It's got to be heartfelt. This movie needs something special." After viewing the film with Etheridge, Leib returned to L.A. on a Saturday, only to get a call from her agent at William Morris on the following Monday morning saying she had already written a new song. "You're kidding me!" replied Leib. "It never happens like this. It can't be."

Leib calls the experience with Etheridge "magic." He adds, "To this day, it has been the most pleasurable experience I've ever had with an artist." And magic is a word that could be used to describe the whole project, as Leib says there was not one pass on the film from all the artists he spoke to. Other artists on the soundtrack include Annie Lennox, Joan Armatrading, Pretenders and Jonell Mosser.

In light of this, one might think Boys On The Side was the one of the easiest work experiences Leib has ever had, but he is quick to dispel that notion. Besides his duties as music supervisor, Leib also produced the record. But it was the music supervisor duties that he says "were incredibly time-consuming. There's an amazing commitment that you have to make to this type of film." The project began with spotting the script in August of '93, with actress Whoopi Goldberg playing a singer in the film. Goldberg also appears on the record, doing her heartfelt version of the Roy Orbison, Tom Petty and Jeff Lynne-penned "You Got It." Bonnie Raitt's version of the song is the first single from the project, as well as the opening and closing number on the CD. To have the same song appear twice on any record is an unusual move—and one that can be attributed directly to executive soundtrack producer Clive Davis who, according to Leib, wanted "the listening experience to begin and end with that [the song], because it added theme and kept the thread of consistency and the tie between the record and the movie. It's very important to all of us...this record really is the movie."

Tom Ennis, vice president of product management for Arista, also recognizes the project's importance. After one of the best years in the label's history, the BMG-distributed company is starting off 1995 with high hopes for the soundtrack to Boys On The Side, as the record is being released a month before the Grammys and Raitt and Crow have attracted the most attention of any nominees. Playing up the awards aspect, Arista sent boxes of the soundtrack to the limousine companies that were chauffeuring people to and from the recent "American Music Awards" show, so when they came out of the ceremony the CD was waiting for them. Only days after, Ennis says, "I've gotten calls from...people who said they love it—'send us more.'"

As for the next stage of the campaign, Ennis says they are looking at the project as a long-term goal and tend to market soundtracks as individual entities rather than with the aid of a film. But he did acknowledge that word of the album has been well-placed in all ads dealing with the New Regency/Warner Bros. Pictures movie. And as for the Grammys, the artists nominated have been so for other works, so Arista isn't in position to play up that aspect, but Ennis added it might come up in calls to radio and retail...and having Grammy-winning artists on the soundtrack certainly wouldn't hurt.

Film Review

Warner's Boys On The Side Excellent People-First Film

By John Goff

VIEWING AS FINE A FILM as Herbert Ross' Boys On The Side so early in the year tends to raise hopes for the next 11 months. Of course, in comparison to the bulk of 1994, viewing a blank wall would could do that.

Boys On The Side is excellent. Don Roos' script mixes several disparate elements you wouldn't think would blend together for any kind of satisfaction—either they wouldn't work or they would be so soppy and sappy you'd want hip boots to wade in and out with. Not so at this level of writing, Herbert Ross' excellent direction and the cast's superb performances. You may get the feeling in the first two minutes writer Roos is drawing distinct lines and some standard characters, but he fools you. His dialogue becomes sharp and edgy, drawing laughter through recognition, tossing out exposition through attitude, and before you know it you know and have feelings for and toward these characters and you haven't been slapped in the face with a damned thing. If there is a failing it's that Mary-Louise Parker's character lingers too long, but everything that has gone before has been so satisfying you tend to allow for a little sorry-to-see-you-goism; you really don't want to leave these people.

There'll also be a tendency to label Boys a "woman's" film. Again, not so. It's a "people" story made into a film, encompassing both sexes; a human story speaking of emotions, feelings and attitudes. Director Ross knows the friendship territory (The Turning Point, Steel Magnolias) and never steers it into a maudlin arena. The subject of friendship and love of friendship takes precedence over the others of race, physical abuse, sexual orientation and terminal illness in the script, and Ross never allows the film to stumble into them, with either pacing, focus or character interpretations. And he's gotten the absolute best out of a fine cast.

Whoopi Goldberg heads the central trio as a cynical club singer with a lesbian lean. It's as solid and well-layered a performance as she's ever given and will be recalled at year's end. Parker portrays a woman of secretive strength; still waters running deep with powerful currents underneath, and into this she expertly leeches humor...super work. Drew Barrymore's character epitomizes "airhead" and the actress convinces us there's absolutely no foliage to block a breeze from ear to ear. Anita Gillette as Parker's mom is wonderful. James Remar steps nicely out of his usual heavy roles to portray an almost compassionate bartender and Matthew McConaughey lumbers nicely through a policeman named "Abe Lincoln" role with simplicity. Estelle Parsons does a Ruth Gordon impression as a tarot card reader.

David Newman composed the score, but the music you walk away remembering is the aforementioned distaff soundtrack, which adds tremendously to the film as a whole.

The Le Studio Canal+, Regency Enterprises and Alcor Films presentation, New Regency/Hera production was produced by Arnon Milchan, Steven Reuther and Herbert Ross; executive produced by Don Roos and Patricia Karlan and co-produced by Patrick McCormick.

REVIEWS By Steve Baltin

BOYZ II MEN: "Thank You" (Motown 1270)

"Clear out, make way, step aside." Yup. It's a new single from recently crowned AMA kings Boyz II Men, so get ready for another lengthy stranglehold on the top of the singles charts. Whether you like them or not, it's hard not to be impressed by the incredible run Boyz II Men are in the midst of, having spent the vast majority of the past few months at #1, first with "I'll Make Love To You," then with "On Bended Knee." If this one follows suit, the word phenomenon may not be entirely out of line.

THE TRAGICALLY HIP: "Nautical Disaster" (Atlantic 6045)

Taken from the album Day For Night, this single furthers the introduction of the band with one of the coolest monikers in the music world today. The song lives up to its end with an excellent mix of grooves, shuffling from slow and dramatic to rocking with a flowing grace. In addition, the vocals provide the track with the perfect amount of urgency. A lot of AOR potential to go with the standard Modern Rock fare.

TOAD THE WET SPROCKET: "Fly From Heaven" (Columbia 6500)

Toad The Wet Sprocket's second album, Dulcinea, hasn't been the sales hit the group's first album was, but it certainly has earned them quite a bit of airplay, with strong crossover appeal as well. One format the band has blossomed at is AAA. This mid-tempo ballad should see them explode at the format, as its lovely hook will attract mellow listeners in droves. Again, not a smash, but it will make up for it in consistency, as this song can be expected to have surprisingly potent legs.

HOLE: "Violet" (DGC 4706)

Is the third time the charm for Courtney Love and mates? Following the success of the group's "Doll Parts" single, which built momentum but didn't break the group, the band tries to capitalize on their end-of-the-year honors by pushing Live Through This up to the next tier with this frenzied rocker. The racing backbeat, coupled with Love's angry snarl, should at least keep the fever at status quo, but top 10 it ain't.

PICK OF THE WEEK

AL GREEN: "Let's Stay Together" (MCA 3316)

This song alone would've warranted Al Green's elevation into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame. Green's smooth soulful tones have made this song the R&B equivalent to "Yesterday" or "Stairway To Heaven," and now, thanks to Quentin Tarantino, a whole new generation of music lovers have a chance to discover one of the all-time classics. Tarantino has brought the song back to life in his much-heralded film Pulp Fiction. With the film-of-the-year awards being bestowed upon the movie, the song has a chance to be a hit all over again, as many kids who've been caught up in the R. Kelly slow-jams craze should relish the opportunity to hear the master of the genre do it the way all the pretenders wish they could. This is what "soul" really means.

■ SIMPLE MINDS: Good News From The Next World (Virgin 39922)

When "Don't You (Forget About Me)" hit the top of the charts in 1985, Simple Minds looked primed to be the next imported sensation. With vocalist Jim Kerr leading the way, the band had the combination of commercial success and critical adulation that would go on to make U2 the biggest band in America. But somewhere along the way to stardom, something happened, though it's hard to say what. Simple Minds, now stripped down to a duo, followed their initial run with the hit "Alive & Kicking," then simply dropped out of the American vernacular.

Now, the group is attempting to pull their comeback with Good News..., a nine-song collection that fans will immediately recognize as Simple Minds. Starting with the opening single "She's A River," which has been in heavy rotation on Modern Rock outlets since the beginning of the year. Kerr and guitarist/keyboardist Charlie Burchill make their way through their traditionally rich and intricate sound with Kerr's distinctive vocals carrying the day.

■ POND: The Practice Of Joy Before Death (SubPop 265)

The latest effort from the SubPop trio reflects the heaviness of the album's brilliant title. The group's lush arrangements create an atmospheric continuity on the 14-song record, though the tone does lighten up on occasion for some more melodic pieces. While the overtly serious mood of the record may scare off some young listeners, this is an album that most serious music lovers and musicians will delight in. In addition, with the frightening sound-alike tendencies being displayed by many young bands, a CD that expands the horizons of audiences should be embraced.

■ CERTAIN DISTANT SUNS: Happy On The Inside (Giant 24570)

Certain Distant Suns are a quintet from outside of Chicago who have the current college rock sound down to perfection. In fact, it's almost too perfect. The ten songs here lack any kind of raw edge, which is an interesting dilemma given that all of the tracks were remixed from the original versions that ran on two self-made EPs released only in the Midwest region in '92 and '93. According to the liner notes, this compilation of Iluge and Dogrocket came about because the two EPs are so difficult to find—which is too bad, because it would be interesting to hear the originals.

■ THE CAULFIELDS: Whirligig (A&M 0331)

The Caulfields bound between cheerful pop tunes reminiscent of the Lemonheads in "Hannah, I Locked You Out" and moodier works that call to mind Elvis Costello, such as the deft "Fragile." The greatest asset of their debut record, besides lead vocalist John Faye's very pleasant radio-friendly voice, is a sporadic gift for words. The record begins, "Here in hell's hammock just thinking up devilry." The lyrical strength is inconsistent, with many of the lines coming off heavy-handed, but that's something that can be written off to age and is likely to improve with future efforts. And the Caulfields show a well-developed knack for coming up with exceptional hooks on Whirligig. With the right push, there are at least three or four songs here—an incredibly high number for any band, new or veteran—that could become Modern Rock favorites.

■ DAVID CROSBY: It's All Coming Back To Me Now... (Atlantic 82620)

Perhaps the logic behind this one was that David Crosby is one of those guys who's been on the cover of People magazine so much that Americans can't help but root for him. It's hard to say, but one thing that's easy to spot is that while Crosby had his day in the sun, there may not be anyone today whose music sounds as dated as Crosby, Stills & Nash. The vibe of this ten-song live album, which features two new tracks, is out of touch. Whether it be on the hokey between-tracks banter or the ten-minute-plus versions of "Deja Vu" and "Wooden Ships," Crosby seems to be intent on living in the past. Longtime Crosby fans will enjoy it, even the new songs "Rusty And Blue" and "Till It Shines On You." The problem is, how many Crosby fans are still out there?

■ THE THE: Hanky Panky (Epic 66908)

There is no better Valentine's present for the lonely than The The's interpretations of 11 Hank Williams Sr. classics, ranging from the album's first single "I Saw The Light" to "There's A Tear In My Beer." Matt Johnson has captured to heartbreaking perfection the isolationist themes that ran through Williams' lyrics. Yet, the record is The The-ized, with Johnson and mates—particularly guitarist Eric Schermerhorn—adding a contemporary feel to Williams' sparse arrangements.

However, in making the music contemporary, Johnson has created his own sense of distance, retaining the timeless aspect of Williams' work. The result is a record that salutes Hank Williams but remains a The The album. Though the group has been making music for years, they didn't put all the pieces together until 1993's Dusk, but when they did...! Hanky Panky is a brilliant companion piece for that record, and the combination of the two indicates listeners are witnessing an emerging genius in Johnson. And genius is the only word that is fit to describe the work Johnson has done of late.

REVIEWS by M.R. Martinez

ASWAD: Rise And Shine Again (Mesa 92503). Producers: Aswad & others.

From roots raddic sounds to heavy-dub echoplex, Aswad has always found the proper arena for the largely positive messages they bring lyrically.

GERLAD ALSTON: First Class Only (Stree Life/Scotti Bros. 75441). Producers: Various.

Alston has always had a pleasing vocal style. And on this album he's given a production design and some accessible material to match the attraction.

VARIOUS ARTISTS: Positively Reggae (Epic/Sony Wonder 64430). Producers: Various.

There's a palpable consistency throughout this album despite the inclusion of 12 tracks by different artists. And that's the selling point.

VARIOUS ARTISTS: Penetrate Deeper (Deep Dish/I.R.S. 31505). Producers: Various.

While this album is billed as a collection of house contemplations, Deep Dish mavens Dubfire and Sharam bring an ethereal feel to the techno-tribal grooves on this collection.

PICK OF THE WEEK

TOO $HORT: Cocktails (Jive 41553). Producers: Various.

What do you say about the Grand Mack Daddy of them all? Just about the same thing you say every time. It's gonna jump strong like a kangaroo on crack (imagine that!) and will appeal to those rap fans that miss the old-school gangsta style.

THE RHYTHM

By M.R. Martinez

The youthful and exuberant Brandy was recently congratulated by Atlantic Records for her self-titled debut album going down Gold and then Platinum. Powered by the ubiquitous single "I Wanna Be Down," she earned Gold kudos for the album after only five weeks of release (it was dropped on 9/27/94). In the 14 weeks since that date, she has earned Platinum. Pictured at a presentation of the awards are (l-r): Brandy's brother Ray Jay, Darryl Williams, Brandy, her parents Willie and Sonya Norwood; and Richard Nash, Atlantic v.p. of black music.

SAMPLES: As you listen to the Columbia Records double package inspired by Discovery Productions' five-hour mini-series The Promised Land, you can't help but taste the jambalaya of African-American musical experience. While the visible chronicle of this dialecticism was compelling, the musical account will certainly transcend to the need to watch and allow the listener to participate. Artists on the collection cover a chronological expanse from the 1920s to the 1990s and geographically are international. Artists ranging from Terence Trent D'Arby and Terence Blanchard are mixed with Blind Willie Johnson, Public Enemy's Chuck D & Dapper Dan, who are folded into music by Curtis Mayfield, Bessie Smith, Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong, Count Basie, Howlin' Wolf and Dionne Farris. This collection could become a seasonal evergreen, selling each year during Black History Month and Black Music Month in June...

Having become a celebrity himself, it is only fitting that Johnnie L. Cochran, Jr. has announced that he is officially opening an entertainment division in his Los Angeles Mid-Wilshire offices. The lead counsel in O.J. Simpson's defense attracted an event horizon of luminaries including one of his former clients, Michael Jackson and his wife Lisa Marie Presley. Dionne Warwick, Angela Bassett, Robert Townsend, Robert Guillaume, Debbie Allen and Motown Records chairman Clarence Avant were among others to join in on the reception held at the offices....

Natalie Cole is set to headline a May 15 benefit concert for the Musicians Assistance Program at the House Of Blues in Los Angeles. Manhattan Transfer is scheduled to join Cole and other artists will be named later....

Motown act Boyz II Men, big winners recently at the American Music Awards, last week received four nominations for the Soul Train Music Awards, set for March 13 at the Shrine Auditorium. Receiving three nominations each were Anita Baker, Brandy, Barry White and indie heavy-hitter 69 Boyz. Aaron Hall, R. Kelly, Alliyah and BlackSTREET each received two nominations. The annual awards program will be televised through Tribune Broadcasting syndication.

The next single from Perspective Records artist Raja-Nee is "Walking Away With It," which should further propel her debut album Hot And Ready with the quickness of hell on wheels. Photographer Arnold Turner captured Raja-Nee above on a Hollywood soundstage with "Walking Away With It" video director Jeffrey Byrd. The single is due out March 21.

THE RHYME

Arista/Bad Boy Entertainment rap artist The Notorious B.I.G. is moving to Los Angeles and has kicked off an extensive promotional campaign on the West Coast (including a Feb. 19 date at the upcoming Lowrider Car Show) to promote "Big Poppa," the second single from his critically acclaimed and Gold-certified album Ready To Die. The single reached the top of the Cash Box Rap Singles chart at #1. Pictured is Notorious (far left) with some of the West Coast hip-hop cognescenti including (l-r): Nate Dogg, Snoop Doggy Dogg and Bad Boy Entertainment President Sean "Puffy" Combs.

A THUMPIN' LOWRIDE: Nestled away in an industrial park in the Los Angeles suburb of Walnut are a pair of unassuming buildings. The exteriors are unremarkable, but what goes on inside these buildings is noteworthy synergy of sounds and sightings of major cultural significance. Thump Records and Lowrider Magazine are partnering in a significant way on this lot, which pumps out the top newsstand selling automotive magazine (and arguably the most-read magazine by Hispanics) and also is the headquarters for a record company aimed at this rapidly growing readership and music consumer segment.

Bill Walker, who heads the label, and Pebo Rodríguez, the label's g.m., are at the hub of a company that, since 1990, has built revenues to more than $7 million with a series of compilations of soul and rap music and more recently with the success of artists like Stevie B. The company sold upwards of 300,000 units of the compilation Old School Vol. 5, which featured echoing hits like Skyy, Denroy Morgan, GQ, Aurra, Klymaxx and Evelyn "Champagne" King.

Thump, which was started by Walker and Lowrider president and publisher Alberto Lopez after a chance meeting at a car show, first tasted success with Candyman's "Knockin' Boots" single, which earned Gold awards through a deal with Epic Records. But since then Thump has been taking its wares to the people formally through a distribution arrangement with Navarre Corp. and through the travelling Lowrider car shows that have attracted close to a million patrons through the Southwestern United States.

The label is poised to expand its prospects this year with release of new artists, additional compilations and a live tour in conjunction with the car show. Thump's female Latina rapper JV, new signee Toddy Tee (the one of "The Batteram" underground single hit fame and the first African-American artist signed to the label) and major hit artists Da Brat and The Notorious B.I.G. will be part of the national tour, which will cover several markets and permit exposure for JV, Toddy Tee and the label itself through radio and retail tie-ins at each stop. The tour kicks off Feb. 19 in Los Angeles at the Sports Arena and returns in the fall again to the Sports Arena with a car show and exhibition that will involve the L.A. Coliseum as well. Last year's show there attracted more than 40,000 people (better attendance than some Raider football games).

Walker says that breaking new artists presents a new challenge for Thump. "You get a little nervous when you're spending money to break new artists, but this is what you have to do to continue expanding and growing as a record company." Lopez adds that the continued growth of Thump is part of a plan to continue marketing to a cultural and consumer segment that has largely been ignored by major record companies. He also says that rappers like Ice Cube, Dr. Dre and Snoop Doggy Dogg have helped expand the international presence of the lowrider lifestyle to places like the Midwestern United States and Japan. "It's not a fad; it's definitely evolved into a lifestyle with its own look and sound."

Rap Single Reviews

By Dr. Bayesian

95 SOUTH: "Rodeo" (Rip-It 9502).

The 95 South boys get real on this track that combines straight-up funky soul with the bass-driven production that helped labelmates 69 Boyz to three "Soul Train Music Award" nods. Of the four mixes, the Cowboy Mix is the most unusual, and the club mix will provide DJs with a variety of mixing options. If this were played on the "American Bandstand" show, you'd have to give it a '95."

KING TEE: "Way Out There" (MCA 3321).

A bumpin' groove, easy-going mic flow and some wicked production take this record way out there. Even though the radio and album versions on this single are the same length, you'll want to check out the album version to get the full lyrical attack brought forth by King Tee. Da' Mic Profesah should be commended for his music construction.

HOOP-LA: "Can You Feel Me?" (Pump/Warlock 624).

Quirky textures, a groovin' piano loop and an old-school beat highlight the music on this freestyle rap flow. The boys from Hoop-La bring some decent mic skills to the party, which is where this record is likely to be played. The lyrics are legit and radio will have no trouble finding a place for this track.

LATIN

News From U.S. & Latin America

By Hector Resendez

THE LATIN LOWDOWN

RAUL DI BLASIO WAS SIMPLY DYNAMIC as he played to a full house at the Universal Amphitheatre on Saturday night, February 4th. The well-received performance by the world-renowned pop pianist marked his Los Angeles concert debut. Aside from a stellar show by Di Blasio, the most memorable portion of the evening had to be his obvious self-proclamation of being a pop pianist, a sort of "minstrel of the masses."

Indeed, the Maestro possesses the uncanny ability to relate intimately with his audience, whether they be dignitaries at the Kennedy Center or a regular joe on top of Universal Hill. Di Blasio performed in early December last year at the Summit of the Americas, a star-studded gala that honored the 34 Presidents of the democracies of the Western Hemisphere who gathered in Miami. The performance was aired nationally on the PBS network later that month.

The Los Angeles concert was in support of Piano De America 2, Di Blasio's highly acclaimed and most popular recording so far, and the Raul Di Blasio - Live in Concert home video taken from his recent series of sold-out concerts at Miami's Jackie Gleason Theatre, both available from BMG U.S. Latin.

If the L.A. concert was anything similar to the Miami shows, one can understand why this rather modest pianist from the Nequen province of Southern Argentina is as successful as he is today. Few artists, regardless of national origin, can actually establish a solid rapport with an audience. Di Blasio demonstrated no difficulty in relating to a crowd of 7,000-plus. Then again, few can masterfully manipulate their instrument, be it of voice or mechanical nature, so artistically and graceful as Di Blasio.

Di Blasio took his captive audience on a sort of musical carpet ride through the Americas—North, Central and South—as well as a jaunt through the Caribbean. Effortlessly, the Maestro would perform Paraguayan harp songs as readily as execute a classical medley. His 22-song set ranged from Latin pop to traditional folk tunes. Di Blasio added a few of his own compositions in addition to paying tribute to writer Bebu Silvetti who was sitting in the audience. There was a display of passionate numbers like "Evita," "Caminito" and "El Dia Que Me Quieras." Di Blasio's material seemed to mesmerize his audience. His enthusiasm served to playfully tease them.

Di Blasio is already a million-selling artist in Latin America. He continues to steadily expand his American following, of course, through his recordings and dynamic live shows. For this to continue on an upward curve, some critics would venture to say that a more bilingual approach is clearly advantageous. Any artist of international ilk would best refrain from not giving equal time when standing on a multi-cultural stage. Di Blasio is the closest yet in the easy-listening genre to do just that. As he has always said, "I want to make my piano available to all people." Perhaps all people will soon be amenable to his piano.

DI BLASIO. LIVE!! IN CONCERT: This live concert at the Jackie Gleason Theatre of the Performing Arts in Miami, Florida was recorded last September 9-11. The hour-long concert was drawn from Di Blasio's recent series of sold-out concerts. The Argentine instrumentalist is known to always win an audience over. The video comes on the heels of the pianist's latest BMG U.S. Latin album, Piano De America 2, which has helped to propel Di Blasio to a new level of pop crossover recognition in the U.S. A/C market since its release last summer.

MATECANA ORQUESTA: Sentimental y Salvaje (RMM/Sony 81495) Producer: Chucho Ramirez.

After scoring a number of chartbusters in their native country of Colombia, South America, the Matecana Orquesta returns with its second Salsa album. "Te Quiero A Ti" is the first single release, and ten songs in all are featured. This project is expected to fare better than the first lackluster album for Matecana. With the exception of two romanticized cuts, retailers should be able to promote this as a hot dance album for Salsa enthusiasts. The Colombian variety of this genre is becoming more popular with consumers.

ELDORADO: Romanticumbias (BMG U.S. Latin 24333) Producer: Tony Munoz.

Adapting popular romantic covers to a cumbia beat would seem to be a great marketing idea, but the missing ingredient in this recipe got lost somehow in the recording studio. Mexican consumers will likely be attracted to this album if it is found in the economy bin. The musical numbers were well-selected for their popularity. The recorded end-product is unimaginative and quite monotonous.

ANTONIO PRIETO: Malaguena (BMG Tropical Series 21910) Producer: Domingo Echevarria.

Another compilation of classic tropical ballads from one of the popular male vocalists of tropical music during the mid- to late 50s. The 14 selections were digitally remastered directly from the original first-generation analog tapes by Domingo Echevarria, the genius behind the Tropical series for BMG. All of the featured selections were originally recorded in Mexico between the years of 1956-58 in Mexico and Cuba. Connoisseurs of the Latin high-society big bands will enjoy this product as well as the many others in this historical series.

PICK OF THE WEEK

WILLIE COLON & RUBEN BLADES: Tras La Tormenta (Sony Tropical 81498) Producers: Willie Colon and Ruben Blades.

The Colon and Blades reunion has been long-awaited. These artists created an incredible sensation in the Salsa music world in the '70s. They soon went their separate ways. Each secured numerous Gold and Platinum records over their long illustrious careers. They indeed paved the way and established themselves as idols to not only fans, but to artistic peers as well. Now the Salsa superstars have come together on an album that will go down in history. The first single, "Tras La Tormenta," was written by Blades and features both vocalists. Excellent production!

Spotlight

Andru Donalds, Artist, Metro Blue Records

By Steve Baltin

Andru Donalds

GRANTED, METRO BLUE is a subsidiary of Capitol Records. But when you're the kick-off artist for a new label, everything is approached from the independent way of thinking, as you are dealing with uncharted waters. That was the role Jamaican-born Andru Donalds found himself in when his self-titled debut effort was released last year. When it came time to make the decision of whether or not to accept the pressure of being the inaugural artist on a label, Donalds says, "I thought about it and realized I would get the best of both worlds. I'd have the attention of Metro Blue, but I'd get all the promotions of Capitol."

Along with the new attention in America has come an added bonus—respect in his home country. Like many places (let's not forget Jimi Hendrix had to make it in England before America accepted him), Jamaicans take a "prove it to me" attitude. In Donalds' case, part of that stems from his unique musical vision. Donalds discovered pop at an early age, specifically the Beatles, whom he calls "the greatest songwriters ever," and that is the road he has stayed closer to on his debut effort. However, Donalds hasn't completely ignored the man who would be king in his native land and credits Bob Marley with being a major influence in both his music and life. Along those lines, Donalds—who co-wrote all 11 tracks on the CD (most of them with producer and engineer Eric Foster White)—would like to do an album devoted to reggae stylings somewhere down the road. For the time being, though, pop is his medium.

And up to this point, Donalds' American pop sensibilities, a lot of which he says come from Prince, have paid off for him and Metro Blue as the record's first single, "Mishalé," has been making its way up the charts for some time and is now nestled in the top 30, thanks to support from CHR radio.

Normally the word pop is associated with fluff, but Donalds doesn't limit himself to the normal "boy-meets-girl, boy-loses-girl" themes in his work, instead exploring the issue of "boy-meets-boy, boy-wants-boy" in the song "Ronnie, Don't Fall." He addresses the song in the liner notes of the CD by saying simply, "I'll respect the choice you've made if you respect the choice that's mine." Defending his chosen vehicle, Donalds cites Elton John and Billy Joel as two respected musicians who write "great pop songs." Talking to Donalds is like talking with an encyclopedia of popular music of the past 30 years. In addition to the acts already mentioned, Donalds expresses an interest in Slade, T. Rex and Rick James, to name but a few.

There's an old proverb that says "A little knowledge can be a powerful tool." For Andru Donalds that is certainly holding true, as he's taken an appreciation and understanding of popular music to carve out his own spot on the charts...#28 with a bullet on Cash Box's pop charts this week, to be specific.

REVIEWS By Steve Baltin and M.R. Martinez

VARIOUS ARTISTS: The Marley Family Album (Heartbeat 7660)

With Bob Marley's 50th birthday this past week, this is just one of the many special events likely to take place during 1995. After all, Marley still dominates the reggae scene in ways that no artist in any other genre even approaches. This album is a good indication of that in more ways than one, as not only Marley's music, but his ancestry, keep his reign tight. The 14-song CD starts off with Marley's version of "I Know," an interesting choice in that it is more uptempo than most of his work and not one of his better-known tracks. Credit should go to Rita Marley, who exec-produced and compiled the record for not playing it safe with "No Woman, No Cry" or "Three Little Birds." The rest of the clan is represented here, with Rita appearing on several tracks and Ziggy, the most successful descendant, on a couple of numbers. A nice try, but for Marley tributes, the Songs of Freedom boxed set remains definitive. (S.B.)

MICHAEL NESMITH: The Garden (Rio Records 2001)

Nesmith is the former Monkee who went on to win a Grammy award for Elephant Parts, the first long-form video winner in the award's history. For his latest project, Nesmith has again gone the ambitious route, putting together a set that resembles a double CD, and once again he has been nominated for a Grammy. A predominantly instrumental work, The Garden is more of a soundtrack for the accompanying book than a free-standing record. Also included in the packaging are replicas of seven Claude Monet paintings. Nesmith has clearly taken the best out of his theatrical days with the Monkees to create an impressive multi-media project. (S.B.)

ROSEMARY CLOONEY: Demi-Centennial! (Concord Jazz 4633)

What's remarkable about Rosemary Clooney is that she manages to successfully homogenize several styles into her own unique blend of mainstream music—whether the song be a cultural staple like "Danny Boy," the samba-influenced "The Coffee Song," the bluesy "I'm Confessin' I Love You" or the moody reading of songbook standard "I Left My Heart In San Francisco." Given her resurgence the last year on the tour circuit and guest appearances on television, her core fans will be thrilled by this collection, and new fans will discover through this disc a dependable ambience in her honest voice and the easy arrangements. (M.R.M.)

THE SHADOWCAST: Set In Motion (Barfly Records 6970)

The Shadowcast are a pop/alternative quintet whose lead vocalist, Lori Thurman, conjures up the ghosts of former Quarterflash vocalist Rindy Ross. Though most of the 11 songs here fall into the alternative vein (in the '80s sense of the term) like "Reinvented" and "Call It A Night," the group obviously feel comfortable with down-home rock, a fact evidenced by the live closing number, "Fool For A Pretty Face." (S.B.)

MUSHFACE: Buxom And De Soto (POV Records 710)

Hailing from Ventura County, CA, Mushface are a traditional power-pop trio with a great deal of punk undertones. The ensuing 16-song collection is a noise party with ample amounts of melody thrown in. Full of energy and festive vibes, Mushface are very adept at coming up with the catchy hook, though the record does get redundant at times. However, the group's sense of humor will infect listeners in the way Frank Black's wit does, a perfect example being the trio's raucous cover of the Beatles' "I've Just Seen A Face." (S.B.)

The Lurex-clad trio performed everything from "We've Only Just Begun" to "The Air That I Breathe" and wound up the evening with a medley of R.E.M.'s "The One I Love" and War's "Low Rider."

After the party, no one was more surprised to discover that Crystal Myth was in actuality Grant Lee Buffalo, currently opening for R.E.M., than the band itself. "Give me a glass of the bubbly and I'm a whole different guy," remarked Buffalo.

Film Review

Gramercy's Shallow Grave, Stylish But Shallow

By John Goff

The elements are all here on screen, but there are some synapses missing which makes for not *mis*understanding but *un*understanding. Hodge presents three young Scottish flatmates who've created a world of their own, and when a new flatmate dies with a suitcase full of money, they decide to dispose of the body and keep the drug money. Basically, that's the beginning of the film and what happens from that point is central to the trio and the audience's senses. Hodge's characters range from caring to callous with each undergoing some sort of change: A mild young accountant (Christopher Eccleston) morphs into a killer; a caring doctor's (Kerry Fox) greed moves her into a form of torture enjoyment; and a young journalist (Ewan McGregor) undergoes the least change. He's pretty obnoxious, self-obsessed and uncaring to begin with and remains that way. Hodge is onto something here, but it's mostly surface material. He seems unable or unwilling to get to the core of the behavior of his characters. We never really know them and therefore never care for them.

Director Danny Boyle opens the film with what amounts to sound-bites to set character and setting. He imbues it with a stylishness, with the help of photographer Brian Tufano, which continues throughout and attempts to bring up Hodge's stabs at humor. But that humor is mostly mean-spirited and sometimes so out there that it's recognized as irrelevant.

Boyle's handling of dismemberment and disfiguring, while not graphically photographed, are given sound effects which cause stomach-churning, and a final confrontation between the trio with knives—again not graphically photographed—

WE KNOW THAT ABSOLUTE POWER corrupts absolutely; would a bunch of money corrupt a bunch of friends?—Well, three friends...a trio. According to Shallow Grave screenwriter John Hodge, absolutely.

We also know that great deals of money gives one a sense of power, of omnipotence, but also, according to Hodge here, it has the power to push one from paranoia to became very off-putting. And a directorially gaping hole opened up in this particular sequence when a character stabs another three times, angle is changed and not only is there no evidence of it, he's still alive!...sound and fury signifying gratuity. The Hitchcock-esque stretch ending is anti-climactic after that, leaving the audience to wonder, "Whaaaa...?"

Eccleston comes off best of the trio since we are allowed to see a reason for his move into dementia. Fox is nicely suggestive but not enough to make us care, and McGregor carries the callousness as far as it will go.

The Film Four International, Glasgow Film Fund and Fingert Film was produced by Andrew Macdonald and executive produced by Allan Scott.

Another Sellout For Fan Fair '95

By Richard McVey

FOR WHAT HAS BECOME COMMONPLACE, the International Country Music Fan Fair has sold-out in advance—for the fifth consecutive year. The 24th annual event, sponsored by the Country Music Association and the Grand Ole Opry, will feature 30 hours of concerts June 5-10 at the Tennessee State Fairgrounds.

"Another advance sell-out of Fan Fair indicates the continued excitement surrounding country music and its artists," says Ed Benson, executive director of the CMA. "While Fan Fair features shows by Nashville's major record labels, no announcements have been made regarding which artists will appear, validating how much country music fans love this unique event."

Each year more than 24,000 people attend the week-long event. The tickets, priced at $85, are purchased through the Grand Ole Opry and go on sale the first working day of each year.

U.S. TRADE REPRESENTATIVE MICKEY KANTOR announced that he has accepted CMT's petition and initiated an investigation of certain practices of the Canadian Radio-Television Telecommunications Commission (CRTC). The petition is the result of CMT being bumped off Canadian airwaves and replaced by a Canadian-owned video channel. Kantor said, "Canadian government support for the arts is a noble and worthwhile policy objective. However, it cannot be effectively achieved by discriminating against U.S. interest or by discouraging U.S. investment in Canada."

NASHVILLE MAY BE KNOWN AS THE HOME OF COUNTRY MUSIC, but from February 1-4 it was anything but. As part of the 10th annual Extravaganza, nearly 200 alternative acts hit 16 Music City venues. REVIEWS By Richard McVey

■ BROTHER PHELPS: "Anyway The Wind Blows" (Asylum)

Don't expect anytime soon to hear a song that has such a wide array of instruments as this title cut. With shining harmonies via Ricky Lee Phelps and Doug Phelps and more than enough instrumentally to listen to, this cut should put the twosome back on the charts.

■ ALISON KRAUSS & UNION STATION: "When You Say Nothing At All" (BNA 66416)

If this song doesn't help skyrocket Krauss onto mainstream country radio, it's hard to tell what will. Off the Keith Whitley: A Tribute Album and her upcoming greatest hits album, this ballad is driven by Krauss' high, flawless vocals and backed by unhurried musical accompaniment. Whitley would be proud.

■ ALABAMA: "Give Me One More Shot" (RCA 66410)

Off their Greatest Hits III album, this is what you've come to expect from this super-group—Randy Owen's smooth vocals, sweet harmonies and down-home lyrics. You've got to hand it to these guys; they just keep getting better.

■ WESLEY DENNIS: "I Don't Know (But I've Been Told)" (Mercury 1397)

With the vocal culmination of the likes of John Anderson, John Conlee and Merle Haggard, to name a few, Dennis should turn more than a few heads with the first release off his self-titled album. Written by Dennis, this upbeat single is as good (if not better) as any new artist's first shot at radio.

■ HAL KETCHUM: "Stay Forever" (MCG/Curb)

This is one song that stood out off the already noteworthy Every Little Word album. Co-written by Ketchum, this single is lyrically one of the most impressive cuts out today—just listen to the opening lines. With the addendum of Ketchum's high vocals, "Stay Forever" is truly worthy of play.

Reviews

■ DEAN CHANCE W/LISA VAN WYE:
"Will You Stay With Me Forever?"
(SOR)

Written by Chance, this cut/duet draws upon the past with its laid-back, traditional melody and style. Off the album Standing Up For Country, traditional country music listeners will surely appreciate this ballad.

■ P.J. LA DOIR: "Somebody Loves Me" (La Doir)

A very melodic-driven single that comes more from the old school of country music with a whining steel guitar and a dash of piano highlighting it, this slow-paced cut off La Doir's self-titled album should easily fare quite well among other indie releases.

Indie Spotlight

P.J. La Doir: Ready To Hit The Chart

P.J. LA DOIR—WHILE THE NAME may not be familiar yet, don't expect it to stay that way. La Doir, armed with her single "Somebody Loves Me," is set to hit and no doubt travel its way up the Cash Box Top 100 Country Singles chart.

La Doir, although born in Sorel, Quebec, has spent most of her life in the U.S. Few people, even performers, can boast more travel experiences than this up-and-coming new artist. P.J., who happens to be bilingual, has visited seven countries and traveled about most of America, including Alaska and Hawaii.

As an avid golfer, tennis player and skier, La Doir says she is constantly looking for new challenges. Her professional life has taken her from hostess to administrative duties to an investment property owner, only to come back to her first and greatest love—singing and performing.

It was in 1992 that La Doir and her manager, Dr. Doris Sekicki, made the first step into furthering her career as the two formed their own record label, La Doir Records, Inc. The second big step for P.J. was when she trekked to Nashville in May of 1994, under the guidance of producer and keyboard player Bunky Keels. It was there that she recorded her first CD album, P.J. La Doir, complete with seven original songs.

As for her first release, "Somebody Loves Me," P.J. La Doir recently completed a video for the song and is looking to hit the charts sometime soon.

B.J. Thomas was recently in Nashville to record "The Show," written by veteran songwriters Jon Vezner and Don Henry, for the upcoming Let's Play Ball album. Other artists singing on the project include TNN's Charlie Chase, Christian recording artist Bruce Carroll and some new Nashville talent. David Lipscomb University head baseball coach Ken Dugan, a collector of baseball songs, brought the idea to producers Mickey Hiter and Stan Xidas. The album was released through Five Star Music and On-Line Distribution of Nashville on February 10. Pictured (l-r): Hiter; Xidas; Thomas; and Dugan.

AMOA/NDA Names New Executive Director

CHICAGO—Michael T. Smythe has been appointed executive director of the Amusement and Music Operators Association (AMOA)/National Dart Association (NDA). "Mike has been associated with the organization since its inception in 1985," commented Jerry Borth, president of the AMOA/National Dart Association. "He has been a member of the board of directors since 1990 and was the immediate past president of the organization. With Mike's unlimited enthusiasm and knowledge, we see the AMOA/NDA heading into the next century bigger and better than ever."

In his new position, Smythe will be responsible for the day-to-day operations of the association. His duties include preparing and executing promotions and presentations that will enhance the development of the AMOA/NDA, monitoring operations to ensure the uniform enforcement of the association's policies and procedures and to provide leadership and direction for the staff and association members.

Smythe has over 21 years of experience in the amusement industry and over 10 years of league organization experience. In 1973, he joined a small family-owned business which is known today as Indy Amusements, Inc. In 1978, he was promoted to service manager and in 1989, vice president and general manager. In addition to AMOA/NDA, his professional affiliations include the Indiana Amusement and Music Operation Association, where he served as president from 1992 to 1994 and, since 1988, has been a member of the board of directors. He is also a member of Billiard Congress of America, the Indiana License Beverage Association and the Marion County License Beverage Association.

He currently resides in Indianapolis, Indiana with his wife, Nina "Nikki" and children Michelle, Anna, Abigail and stepson, Alex.

A main purpose of AMOA/NDA is to promote and standardize the sport of soft-tip electronic darts. The association has a nationwide membership of 60,000 and regulates darting leagues in 43 states. AMOA/NDA holds two international darting tournaments each year—Team Dart, to be held in Las Vegas, Nevada, May 1-6, 1995 (celebrating its tenth anniversary) and the International Singles & Doubles Tournament, which will be held in Orlando, Florida in October.

ACME '95 Offers Ops A "Bigger And Better" Format

CHICAGO—For the first time since 1988, the American Coin Machine Exposition will return to Reno, Nevada and show management is promising operators an even bigger, better and more comprehensive program. Convention dates are March 23-25, with exhibits at the Reno/Sparks Convention Center and the Reno Hilton as the official headquarters hotel.

"The ACME show committee has made operators their #1 priority in planning this year's event," according to show committee chairman Bill Cravens (Bulldog Amusements). "We've made an all-out effort to develop operator-oriented programs that will attract more operators to ACME '95 in Reno."

Among these new programs are: Randy Fromm's TechFest, which will feature a special exhibit area where technicians and coin-op service personnel will be offered a stimulating new program of technical displays, lectures, presentations, a video training center, "Job Shop" employment center, as well as technician certification program information and more; a Coupon Book Program, where operators can save thousands of dollars on purchases made at the show by redeeming discount coupons offered by exhibitors; and Treasure Hunt, where operators will receive treasure hunt cards which will qualify them to win valuable prizes at drawings held each day at the show.

In addition, there will be a wide range of pertinent topics addressed during ACME's noted seminar program. Following in the footsteps of last year's successful Redemption Field Trip, ACME will take instruction out of the meeting room and into the field in Reno. Visits to the Reno Hilton's Super Arcade, "FunQuest" and Boomtown Hotel Casino's "Family Fun Center," plus a mystery location have been planned. Space will be limited, however. Also on the agenda is a "League & Tournament Roundtable," which will give operators inside tips from the experts on how to run successful leagues and tournaments for pinball, pool, darts, video, foosball and air hockey. The redemption seminars will cover such topics as: "Redemption Profitability A-Z—Not Forgetting Customer Service"; "Will This Center Survive In Your Market?"; "Fun With Merchandising Promotions and Merchandising Redemption On A Retail Level"; and "If It's Not Broke It May Still Need Fixing..."

Seminars focusing on profitability will include: "Merchandising Your Music"; "The Profitability of Coin-Operated Kiddie Rides"; and "SBA Loans—Do You Qualify?"

ACME's social events will kick-off with AAMA's Spring Distributor's Gala on Wednesday evening (admission by invitation only). The annual Operators Cocktail Party will take place at the Reno Hilton on opening night (Thursday, March 23). Admission is free to all operators. The American Amusement Machine Charitable Foundation's Appreciation Dinner, honoring Rowe's Jerry Gordon, will be held on Friday, March 24. Tickets are priced at $125 per person and will include dinner, dancing and entertainment.

With exhibit space sales up 11% over last year, indications are that ACME '95 will be the largest show to date. Over 100,000 net square feet of space in the Reno/Sparks Convention Center will house this year's exhibits.

Further information regarding the show may be obtained by contacting the convention's management firm, William T. Glasgow, Inc., 16066 South Park Avenue, South Holland, IL 60473-1500 or phoning 708-333-9292. FAX number is 708-333-4086.

Musician/actor Adam Ant joined Nine Inch Nails as a surprise guest for encores after two of the band's recent shows in New York and Worcester, MA. Ant, who will release Wonderful on March 7, his first album for Capitol Records and his first new material in five years, performed three songs from his days with Adam and the Ants: "Physical (You're So)," "Red Scab" and "Beat My Guest." Nine Inch Nails covered "Physical" on their Platinum album Broken. Shown after the N.Y. show are Ant, Nine Inch Nails' lead singer Trent Reznor and longtime Adam Ant collaborator Marco Pirroni.

The recent grand opening of the Hard Rock Cafe San Antonio, the ninth U.S. location for Orlando-based Hard Rock Cafe International, Inc., set the stage for a unique multi-cultural jam session. The sounds of rock 'n' roll mixing with Southwest soul were heard on the San Antonio River Walk at the 16,000-sq. ft. dining/entertainment complex. Combining musical forces are (l-r): Rick Nielsen of Cheap Trick, Tejano superstar and Grammy Award nominee Selena and Freddy Fender, former member of the Texas Tornados. The extravaganza raised more than $30,000 for the Children's Shelter of San Antonio and the San Antonio Children's Museum.

Music legend Waylon Jennings has chosen the Bobby Roberts Company as his booking agency. Roberts and his staff handle worldwide booking for more than 16 country artists, and Roberts himself manages John Anderson, Paul Overstreet and Mark Farner (of Grand Funk Railroad). Shown (l-r): Roberts; Anderson; Jennings; and Schatzi Hageman of Hot Schatz Productions, Jennings' media/PR management.

Big Beat/Atlantic recording group Baha Men recently joined Lenny Kravitz in the studio to collaborate on "(Just A)Sunny Day," the second single from the Baha Men's sophomore album Kalik for the label. Kravitz, part-Bahamian himself, is a longtime fan of Junkanoo, the joyous West African-styled dance music Baha Men play. In addition to writing and producing "Sunny Day," Kravitz also provided bass, drums and backing vocals for the track. This spring, the band is slated to hit the road in support of Kravitz on a U.S. tour. Shown (l-r, back row): Fred Ferguson, Anthony "Monks" Flowers, Herschel Small, Isaiah Taylor & Nehemiah Field of Baha Men; (front row): engineer Tom Edmonds; and Lenny Kravitz.

Mammoth/Atlantic recording artist Victoria Williams' recent SRO performance at Tramps in N.Y.C. earned her unanimous critical kudos. In the course of the marathon show, she was joined onstage by Atlantic recording artist Evan Dando of the Lemonheads, Lou Reed and Mark Olson of the Jayhawks. "You R Loved," the next single from her debut album Loose, is shipping to alternative and rock outlets nationwide. Williams is slated to embark on a monthlong nationwide club tour, commencing with a March 17th appearance at the South By Southwest convention in Austin, TX. Shown following the Tramps show are (l-r): Dando; Williams; and fellow Atlantic artist Jim Lauderdale.

Rhino Records exec. v.p. Bob Emmer (right) recently presented Joyce Bogart Trubulus (wife of the late Neil Bogart) and Warner/Chappell chairman/CEO and member of the Neil Bogart Memorial Fund Board Of Directors Les Bider (left) with a check in the amount of $26,000 in advance of sales for the soon-to-be-released Rhino compilation Best Of Broadway. The collection features original cast recordings of some of the biggest hits to ever grace the "Great White Way," and Rhino will be donating a portion of the proceeds to the Neil Bogart Memorial Fund (a division of the T.J. Martell Foundation) for children's cancer, leukemia and AIDs research.
