ANALYSIS

Clean sweep for "We Are The World" with 283 mentions out of the possible 283 this week. Only a handful don't list it number one. Concurrently the most played tracks on the USA FOR AFRICA LP are, in this order 1) "Trapped"-BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN, 2) "Trouble In Paradise"-HUEY LEWIS, and 3) "If Only For The Moment Girl"-STEVE PERRY. Not a lot of room for growth inside the top ten, but wait'll next week when a number of those underlined sides, patiently waiting outside, will come crashing through. SIMPLE MINDS pull away in "Hit Factor", moving upward 48% to 77%, and WHAM! takes honors for the largest increase up 41%. HALL & OATES double their percentage 31% to 62% and FOGERTY does close to the same, 24% to 45%. DAVID LEE ROTH's very different release had some programmers in a "wait and see" mode for a few weeks, but airplay figures are now over the 200 mark and stations that went early are confirming it: WHTX 14-11, WCRO 17-14, WORD 17-14, KFYZ 16-10, #7 at KEZB-El Paso and #4 at KIXY-San Angelo. KATRINA & THE WAVES pour it on for springtime, joining SPRINGFIELD in the "Certified" circle with 47 adds for a total of 171 reports, but too early for a "Hit Factor" indication. ALISON MOYET has been hanging in tough during the last month's flood of "heavies" moving into "Chartbound" position with airplay and chart gains like 106X 25-13, CHUM 5-4, WPFM 16-13, KOZE 8-5, KFIV 22-18, OK95 23-14, etc. LIM AHL adds another 27 call letters, moving well over the 100 mark and getting closer to "Chartbound" status...new on Y107-Nashville, B94-Pittsburgh, Z98-Tampa, WCIL Carbondale, KRIB-Mason City, KIYS-Boise, etc. Headed straight into "Chartbound" next week are the SURVIVOR and TINA TURNER followups. "Basketball" playoffs next week with KURTIS BLOW debuting #29 Z100-New York and #26 Z104-Madison! Album Radio "Certifies" FIONA this week and the Top 40 story builds to a respectable 53 reports with chart debuts and numbers strongest in the Midwest. Modern Music discovery, 'TIL TUESDAY, more than doubles in airplay, deservng of "Record To Watch" mention with new believers: KMEL, KHOP/FM, KEYP, 14K/92K, WTHZ, WYKS, KQRR, KTRS, etc.

Another week where seven records dominate the top of the chart. Look at how the Heavies & Mediums stack up on Hit Factor. Four of the top eleven records are but four weeks into research. Ten underlined sides in a row between #16 and #25. Look for Eric Carmen and Foreigner to break from the pack next week. From below the chart Jakata picks up 33 new adds, Harold Faltermeyer gets 31 more and Jack Wagner 28 new ones. At least three debuts next week, including Julian Lennon and Alan Parsons Project. In the NEW category, all but the Julian and Parsons come from earlier success in other formats. And on the subject of crossovers...Are we playing less Country music now than in past months? Looks like Alabama has it all to themselves at the moment.

RECOMMENDED

Madonna - Angel (Sire/Warner Bros.)

While A/C's aren't open to every label, it is worth noting that four smaller labels, Coco Plum, Coldwater, Open Air and A&R, are getting play outside of the big six label group.

FEARLESS FORECAST

Setting up clever promotions on a limited promotional budget usually takes a little extra creativity. Brad Davis at 750 KERR did some research and found out that the temperature in Polson usually hits the 75° mark for the first time around the first week of May. So, starting April 1st, KERR will be taking calls randomly throughout the day where listeners will guess the date and hour that it will first reach 75° on the KERR office thermometer. All the guesses are registered and the listener that comes the closest to the correct time wins the jackpot that increases by $75 each week.

B.J. McCrae taking his first plunge in green jello.

LIME JELLO JUMP FOR MDA

The great "St. Patrick's Day" greenness was celebrated by KIXS/FM-Killeen, TX when they held their contest for MDA. Local businesses contributed prizes for promotional mention and these prizes were numbered. Billiard balls with the corresponding numbers were buried at the bottom of a huge tub of Lime Jello and contestants paid $2 to jump into the tub or $3 to get one of the KIXS air talents to jump in for them. They raised over $1,000 for muscular dystrophy, making others green with envy, says B. J. McCrae, Program Director.

LIFE AT THE BOTTOM

You think you've got it bad . . . how would you like to live in Rand-McNally's "Least Desirable City." KENT & ALAN, the morning show duo at KMJK 107FM in Portland are giving listeners an opportunity to taste the life in the city that's least desirable, according to "Places Rated By Rand McNally." Listeners write in describing their worst date ever to qualify, with the winner going to Yuba City's Bonanza Inn on a Trailways bus (the only carrier to serve Yuba City).

PROMO

NO JACKET REQUIRED

WTHZ/FM (Z103) in TALLAHASSEE, gave away a trip to Los Angeles to see Phil Collins in concert to promote their "All New Hit Music" format. In addition to going to the concert, the winner went on a tour of Universal City Studios, visited Disneyland, and received free hotel accommodations. RICH STEVENS, promotion director, says this is just the start of the prizes that will be tempting their listeners to stay tuned . . . such as an all-expense trip to London to see Bruce Springsteen in concert . . . and a "Z" you can drive—a 1985 Nissan 300 ZX!

A COCA COLA CELL?

An arresting feature will be Y106 (WHLY) Altamonte Springs, FL station's promotion that will involve the morning personalities BILL CROSS and JEFF COHEN, who will go to "jail" in a cell in the Winter Park Mall to raise money for the March of Dimes. Donations will be accepted for "bail" and the money collected will go to M.O.D., while the two spend time in the "Coca-Cola Cell" with a local TV sportscaster and the local beauty, Miss Orlando. (Rumor has it that new air talent "Shadow" Stevens will be held in the same cell.)

THE BEST CONTEST

In April and May, Z107-LOWELL, IN is holding "The Best Contest for Northwest Indiana." Ballots are at all participating sponsors and 100,000 ballots were distributed in area newspapers. Contestants fill out the answers to 12 questions and mail the ballot to Z107. Each question asks what is the "best" of a certain category. For example, "What's the best pizza in Northwest Indiana?" Each category will be tabulated to determine what is voted "best." Beginning April 22nd, listeners can win the best item in each category by listening for their name to be read on the air. If they call in 107 minutes, they qualify for that day's prize drawing. Listeners can win, among other things, a pizza a week for a year, or a vacation for two to the best vacation spot in the continental United States.

The main freeway in the PHILADELPHIA area is going through a major reconstruction period, creating havoc for PHILADELPHIA commuters. So WMMR, in cooperation with a local bank, is presenting the WMMR Detour Map. It shows the best ways to get around Philadelphia during the expressway reconstruction period, and is being made available to the public FREE of charge and will be distributed through local banks and stores.

BIG BUCK BOOTH

How would you like the opportunity to pluck cold, hard cash right out of the air? KIDN-Pueblo is doing just that, giving away hundreds of dollars with their "Big Buck" money booth where listeners register for a chance to go into the booth and grab all the cash they can in 30 seconds. The booth has been making special appearances at live remotes, grand openings, and other station events. The response has been overwhelming, proving true to the old adage, "money talks."

IT WAS SO COLD

DAN OLSEN, Asst. P.D./MD at WXYQ in Stevens Point, Wisconsin created a light-hearted interstate rivalry with neighboring Rockford, Illinois, all because of a newspaper article. The Rockford Register Star published an article during the particularly frigid January 20th week-end, quoting its readers, finishing the sentence, "It was so-oo-o cold that . . ." Dan suggested to his audience that their neighbors "south of the border" didn't have the slightest idea what cold weather really was. At the same time, he invited listeners to finish that same sentence, and assured them that he would forward their replies to the Rockford Star to show the residents of that city what cold weather really was all about. His audience had fun with this make-believe "border war." Here are just a few . . . for more information on this promotion, contact Dan Olsen at WXYQ, Box 247, Stevens Point, WI 54481.

DISNEY WORLD, WINNEBAGOS & MONEY

Say the secret word and win BIG prizes from WAXY/FM-Ft. Lauderdale & a local TV station who have joined forces to provide their audiences with a total of ten (10!) Disney World vacations, $15,000 in cash, and a $30,000 Winnebago motorhome in the "Ultimate Disney Vacation Contest." Morning personality GREG BUDELL will announce the "Secret Disney Word" and the PM drive guy, JIMMY CEFALO will ask viewers to call the TV station and repeat the word they heard earlier. If the caller is correct, he or she will win a four-day/three night vacation for up to four persons at Disney World plus $1,000 in cash to spend there. The grand prize winner gets a week's stay at Disney World, a $30,000 1985 Winnebago and $5,000 in cash!

INVITING AN AUDIT

KNBQ-Tacoma, WA will offer their listeners a chance to pull a fast one on the IRS before April 15th. Morning team R. P. McMurphy and Mark Pierce are on the air playing a game that is not available in the Pacific Northwest. The station purchased "Screw The I.R.S." from Century Games in St. Louis, MO, and the card game invites 2 to 6 people to collect deductions to equal their salaries using loopholes, wild substantiations and back taxes. It's a fast-moving game and that's what the winners should plan to do when the I.R.S. comes collecting!

H O L L Y W O O D

It is with pride that we, at The Gavin Report, announce our expansion from a trade publication to a multi-media conglomerate. Over the next few months you will be hearing about our entry into many associated arenas of visibility. We're excited as hell about this stretch and want YOU to be part of it. For today, I can only announce a few of these ambitious plans:

THE DAVE SHOLIN AEROBICS AND EXERCISE TAPE:

Available only to Gavin Report subscribers, this revolutionary video cassette features the Top 40 mayven as he prances through his heart-strengthening pirouettes all over San Francisco. Six of the city's top synagogues served as locations as the Shole-Man demonstrated body control by juggling three Torahs and a velcro-bound Old Testament. Expensive production values were utilized in the grand finale as publisher Ron Fell joins Sholin in a synchronized aerobic routine on the stage of San Francisco's famed Condor Topless Bar and Sushi House.

DEAR ELMA:

Expanding on the Ann Landers and Dear Abby format, Gavin country priestess Greer personalized her new syndicated column for us in the record and radio industries. In the pilot piece she advises married L.A. promotion lady Susan Epstein as to techniques in rejecting the advances of KRLA's David Schwartz. Greer follows this with an adept response to correspondence from trade publisher Tom Breneman, who queried her as to advice in securing an ad from Cameo-Parkway. Questions as to syndication rights will be fielded by Diane Rufer at this office.

EXPAND THIS!

By Tony Richland

THE GAVIN MERCHANDISING PROGRAM:

In reaction to a myriad of one request, we have instituted a comprehensive personalization program, with various Gavin symbols and slogans on a vast variety of products. Special bulk station rates will be available on such items as T-shirts picturing a nude Zimmerman Brothers flanking Lisa Smith in a negligee once discarded by Madonna's cousin. Mugs with a cartoon of Eric Norberg in full Billy Idol regalia will be offered at discount to Alternative Action stations, and plans are afoot for a plaster of paris statue of Betty Hollars, miniature telephone in hand, as she actually duns Richard Palmese for his subscription check. Call newly hired Gavin R&B assistant Percy Sledge for details.

THE LU FIELDS FOOTBALL DOPING SEMINARS:

This is a golden opportunity for amateur wagerers in our business to attend lectures conducted by the foremost gridiron guy on the fringes of our industry. Formerly a personal valet to Mark Gastineau, Fields may be one of only seven people in the world who know what Mark Gastineau is! Armed with inside dope, the graying guru will make your upcoming football season a winning one, as he tosses around words like "Randy Gradishar" and "Statue of Liberty Play." Explanations of such technical terms as "Flanker," "Scramble" and "The Widow of Carroll Rosenbloom" will constitute only a small part of these conclaves.

THE TONY RICHLAND PHONE TECHNIQUE CASSETTE:

Included are dozens of actual conversations between grizzled vet Richland and assorted radio and record personnel. You'll be wise to take copious notes as you hear Tony squeeze a rubber duck into the phone during conversations with legends from Arnie "Woo-Woo" Ginsberg to Kevin "Woo-Woo" Metheny. Eavesdrop on the well-honed technique, as Richland makes clever excuses to Danny Davis for not securing airplay on The Partridge Family's third album. Note the clever persuasion with which he talks Gerry Cagle into accepting a luncheon date at KCBQ in 1977. More Gavin Multi-Media services are in the works ... but don't bother ME for details ... I'm on a road trip in Yankton, South Dakota! And THAT'S HOLLYWOOD! Yankton! ■

MAZE

The band signed its first recording contract with Capitol back in 1976, due in large part to support from the late Marvin Gaye.

PAT METHENY

Pat's new writing partner for his next film score project is Paul McCartney.

SHEENA EASTON

She was recently forbidden from singing her hit "SUGAR WALLS" on American Bandstand. Reason stated: "It was too sexually suggestive."

MORRIS DAY

Time's Morris Day was named the 1985 winner of the Clarence Muse Award by the Black Filmmaker's Hall of Fame. Now that work on his solo LP has been completed, Morris Day has signed a multi-picture deal with 20th Century Fox.

BRYAN ADAMS

Bryan & his usual co-writer Jim Vallance wrote the song, "Tears Are Not Enough" for the Canadian musicians who performed as Northern Lights in benefit of world hunger.

LEE GREENWOOD

His wife, Melanie, has a retail video called "Hot Country Dancing," for which she recruited Lee as her dance partner.

TOM PETTY

Collaborating on part of Tom Petty's new LP, "Southern Accents" is former Band leader Robbie Robertson.

Great American Rock 'n' Roll Three American Bands

The Blasters Chris Isaak Jason and the Scorchers

by Kent Zimmerman
Peter Standish

1 The Blasters Dave Alvin

We met with Blasters lead songwriter and guitarist Dave Alvin, who was wearing his almost trademark "Gilley's" t-shirt over an afternoon breakfast of steak & eggs. It somehow seemed appropriate that he ordered his steak rare, like the music he writes and performs. It's clear that Dave is more than just aware of his musical roots. We were impressed with his insights into the Blasters' strengths, current limitations, and future ideals. We began our conversation talking about the early days of The Blasters. He was a cook in Long Beach, California, when he first became aware of the English punk movement during the late 70's.

KZ: You and I have something in common. We both work with our brothers. I know what it's like working with my brother day in, day out, and being close. I don't know how often you guys fight, but have you noticed how other people get embarrassed when you do, and you don't even think about it?

DA: When making records we always have to make sure that people working, like engineers, understand. It's actually true with the whole band, because we've known each other since we were 13. We get real sick of each other, and if somebody starts pulling bullshit, somebody's going to stop them. The last record, because we had producers, went real nice and smooth, no arguments. But when we cut "Non-Fiction," there was one night when Bob Biggs, the President of Slash Records, was holding my arms back (laughter) and the piano player (Gene Taylor) was holding my brother. We were just raaahhhrrrrrr!!!! (laughter) It was great using producers this time because everybody was well-behaved, and we got the stuff done relatively quick. The songs with (Don) Gehman and (John) Cougar took two days.

KZ: It sounds like it took longer than that.
DA: Well, Gehman really knows his stuff. He's one of these kind of producers that's eight steps ahead of himself. He likes to lay down the basic guitar, drums, and bass all live, and anything else is overdub. So it doesn't sound like it's layered.

KZ: How did your involvement with Cougar start?

DA: We met in Italy a couple of years ago. We were doing an Italian TV show. We were the only American acts and the only ones backstage who spoke English. Steve Strange was backstage (laughter). Cougar and us really hit it off. We were like, "Hey, let's drink beers, let's get some more beers." (With our new album) we'd sort of gone the route with (producer) Jeff Eyrich, we'd done 12, 13, 14 songs to death. Our manager, Shelly (Heber), called up John to see if he'd be interested in working with us and if he'd be available. John said, "Hell, I'll do it. I'll do a song." John and I then sat down with a couple of acoustic guitars and (we) had some song fragments we were (both) working on. By that time we had dropped the songs from the album that didn't fit and we knew we wanted a R&B, bluesy feel. The best song that fit was "Colored Lights." We just sat and figured that out.

KZ: I read that song was about a 17 year-old kid in a car or something.

DA: I was talking about some songs on the album like "Help You Dream." To me that song is early 30's, kind of down and out. In the Downey/Bellflower/Long Beach area where I come from, (there's) a guy sitting in a cowboy bar trying to pick up a woman. Everything's kind of faded and these dreams have gone sour. Where on "Colored Lights" it's kind of youthful, the guy's really embarrassed to talk to the girl. We did the juxtaposition between that and ten years later (on "Help You Dream").

KZ: In some ways it's almost like this is your first album.

"I like a lot of the stuff on Top 40 radio. Some of the songwriting techniques just kill me."

DA: Yeah. (Before) I always hated being in the studio. We'd always go into the studio with the idea of always trying to duplicate the live show and it always failed, not lyrically or groove wise. But it always stopped short somewhere, especially in terms of radio and all that, because we were always trying to get that live sound. With this album, we went in with the idea of, "We're making an album and to hell with the live sound." Because of that you pull certain punches you wouldn't pull in the studio. You get more of the intensity.

One of Cougar's, or Gehman's, tricks with both "Colored Lights" and "Just Another Sunday" was, once everything's cut, you've got to do the guitar solo last. You're standing out there and you get the sound (slaps his hand on the table like the engineer cueing him), "You're on Dave." If you don't get it in two times, it was "Ahh ... see you in about 20 minutes." "Colored Lights" was a first take solo and I hadn't figured out nothin'. It's one of my favorite solos I've ever done. To me it's a real Lee Allen solo, where it's a play off the melody of the song, but it's not the song. It's not a superficial solo, when it kicks in, that song goes into high gear. With "Just Another Sunday," it was the same thing. Gehman just says (slaps the table again), "Solo." Doing those kinds of things gets you the intensity of a live show. On most of our other records I'd rehearse the solos, so I'd know how to play them, because I didn't want to waste (studio) time. Right now I'm dying to get back in the studio. We want to open the doors so that (people in the industry) will go, "Oh, okay, Blasters, we can't predict what they're gonna do." We're going to try to have the next album out in January or February, not wait two years.

PS: Is "Common Man" written about Reagan?

DA: It's really about anyone who claims to be a friend of the common man. It's just like anybody who claims to be something they ain't, or represent the interests of somebody they really don't. It's about Reagan, it's about Mondale, too. Even though I'm a Democrat, I'm politically independent. Anytime they start doing the 'schpeels' on you ... I don't like to write songs with that brick in the face, I like more subtlety. Last year, all these people believing all this garbage, (I thought) well, maybe we should get the brick out of the bag once and throw it in their general direction. (laughter)

PS: There seems to be a revival of Great American bred music right now, especially in different regions, the Southeast or Minneapolis, for example. Do you see The Blasters having much in common with those groups?

DA: Somebody was talking the other day about how the L.A. scene has died, which it has because the Whiskey and Starwood (clubs) closed. And some of the new bands aren't X or the Go-Go's. Instead of being a regionalized thing, it's gone nationwide. The Del Fuegos can travel across the country and get 500 hundred people into a club anywhere they go. The Replacements can do the same. The Minutemen can do the same. The Blasters can do the same. In some places, everybody can get a thousand or two to three thousand people. People are just beginning to realize that there is an audience out there (for this music), the demographics are very weird. It will go from 15 year-old kids to 35-40 year-old married people. Springsteen's or Cougar's audience is wide open. Like (our show) last night in Palo Alto, that was a pretty diverse audience.

PS: What do you specifically share with those bands?

DA: I think everybody shares a similar vision. When I met Fogerty a couple of weeks ago I was stunned. When I had met other 60's survivors, always the second sentence out of their mouth was, "Back in the sixties I did too much ..."

KZ: Too much dot, dot, dot (laughter).

DA: Fogerty's like 39-40 years old, is married and has kids. He's sitting there with a beer, no hang-ups, just like, "Hey, let's play rock 'n' roll music." That's the way I want to be when I'm his age or when I'm 80 years old. This kind of music is not dependent upon youth or a trend. It's just dependent upon how well you play it and how good the songs are. A band like The Blasters can be doing this 40 years from now, which is what I aspire to do. I mean my heroes were Lightning Hopkins and T-Bone Walker, and those cats were doing it until the day they got buried.

PS: What are some current favorite artists?

DA: I like a lot of the stuff on Top 40 radio. Some of the songwriting techniques and all that just kill me. The other night I started writing some songs with Jules Shears. I'm so diametrically opposite of him. We got together for 15 minutes, got out the guitar, and wrote two songs. He's been working with Elliot Easton and Cyndi Lauper, which I'm not opposed to, but is completely the opposite of me. When I get to New York on this tour, we're going to demo them and see what happens. My favorites are most of the bands on Slash. I like George Strait, Ricky Skaggs, Merle (Haggard), George (Jones).

KZ: Is there a song on Top 40 you're embarrassed to admit you like?

DA: Ahhh ... yeah. I'll tell you, my roommate is Tony Kinman from Rank & File. We were driving these two girls crazy the other night because we both like that song ... I don't know the name of it ... (sings) "They don't know about us" ... chick from England.

KZ: Oh. Tracey Ullman. (laughter)

DA: It was like a great Lulu song. That was a well-written pop song. ■

2 Chris Isaak

Chris Isaak is a tall guitarist/singer/songwriter who was playing club to club with his band Silverstone. Erik Jacobsen is a producer who cut all the hit songs with the Lovin' Spoonful, John Sebastian as a solo act, Norman Greenbaum, Tim Hardin—the whole folk-rock gambit. The coming together of these two has resulted in the fine LP, titled Silverstone, originally the name of Chris' band. Isaak was forced to drop the name after Sears Roebuck, who manufactured budget guitars and amps during the sixties, maintained rights to the name. We discussed the Isaak brand of Great American Rock 'n' Roll and some of the unique problems it took for a new artist to record his music honestly.

KZ: Even though you come from California, this album sounds Southern. I don't know why.

CI: It could be just from being in the same small town (Stockton, CA). It's certainly not big city type music. My roots aren't into big city stuff that much, not that I've got anything against cities.

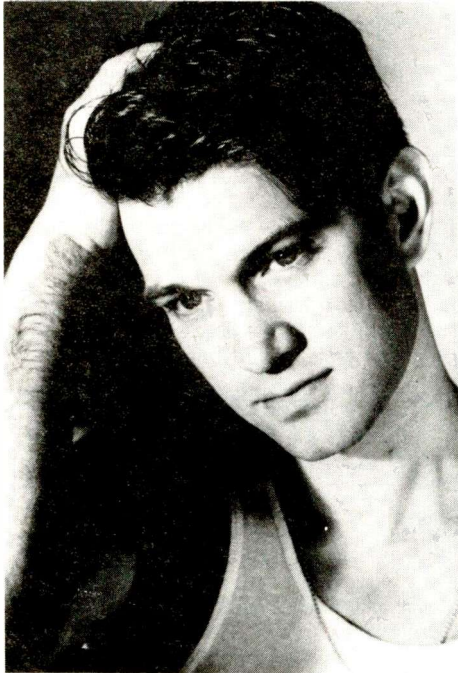

KZ: How did you guys hook up, then? You must have been working together for awhile.

EJ: Almost four years, unbelievably. I heard about Chris from a lot of different sources. I was just trying to re-commit myself to music. I hated the 70's. The music of the seventies left me cold and I was trying to find a songwriter and a singer. I went to see him and, wow, I hoped this could make it. If this could make it, it would save my life. It was really luck for me.

KZ: What's all this about Chris Isaak the boxer? Is that hype or is it the truth?

CI: Oh, I boxed. It was amateur boxing. I boxed in college and in Japan. What I have to show is good for pictures on one side. On this side, catch that line right there (above the nose). And that's AFTER it's been straightened. They had to put Bondo on my face.

Chris Isaak, rock without wigs and lipstick.

KZ: You used the Tubes drummer Prairie Prince on your LP. Actually, we weren't too surprised to hear how great he played on the LP.

CI: It was real strange because it's a real different style than the Tubes. But that just shows he's a real great drummer. He's a great guy to work with, too. He's got all his chops together.

KZ: To go back to when you guys met four years ago, was it Eric that brought the project to Warner Brothers?

EJ: I've had a kind of first refusal relationship with Warners since the late sixties. I think I made four albums during the entire seventies, two of which I got sort of sucked into without even meaning to do it. I had an ongoing relationship with them, so when I first heard Chris' group and I talked to Warners, I said, 'This really has potential, would you like to put a few thousand dollars into a demo?' We cut some sides and they said, 'Pick up the band, it was loose, it sounded amateurish, but there was a sound in Chris' voice.' I knew all the songs he was writing. It was pretty much a rockabilly incarnation at THAT time. It was a very exciting form of music. It's exciting to hear it.

KZ: But it's rockabilly beyond the Stray Cats or something like that. Is there a side of rockabilly that people don't realize that you're bringing to light?

CI: I think they (the Stray Cats) trivialized rockabilly.

KZ: I agree with that.

EJ: I think that people are very tired of modern English music, in the fashion sense. I think people are tired, there has got to be a backlash. Any two or three year period is now like eons. Everything is so intense and saturated. I love Boy George and the Thompson Twins. There are a lot of those people I like, but I find myself getting tired of it. The fact that Fogerty is number one, I think that people are ready for a man. From the time I saw Chris, it was like, hey, here's a guy that's not afraid to look like a man, act like a man—

CI: This is after my David Bowie period where I was wearing a dress (laughter).

EJ: So I think it's time for a reaffirmation of somebody without wigs and lipstick and the whole thing. I think it's back to real drums and the excitement of playing softer in verse and going a little faster in the instrumental and it's nice. It's the human flow of excitement. I'm getting sick of computer drums.

PS: It's almost alienating in a way.

CI: That's one thing. A real drummer, his body has got to move. His body is moving and making a sound and YOUR body is picking that up and dancing to it. You get a machine, it can do anything. It's like your body is trying to relate to a machine sound.

EJ: (drummer) Prairie Prince listens to the song. With the computer, you listen to the computer, the players listen to the song and the human emotion. They go off of what is being expressed by the singer, songwriter. Then everything is subjugated by the beat of the computer drums. I still love it, and I think it's certainly going to always be there. Computer drums certainly aren't going away.

KZ: This album, was it a team effort between you two?

EJ: Plus (guitarist) Jimmy Wilsey, plus Prairie, plus (bassist) Chris Solberg.

KZ: Chris, were there things you had to adjust to and learn once you started working with Eric?

CI: Yeah. Little things like playing in key...(laughter). I remember the first session he came to. I think back now and he must have been going, 'Oooh Jeeesus!' Eric went over to the amp and I had an old Silvertone amp set up and I'm playing through it and it's on the wrong polarity and it's going 'sizzzzle-crack-ssssss'. He says, 'Man, your amp sounds pretty noisy there,' and I say, 'Oh, don't worry, once we get playing loud, you won't hear it.'

KZ: Our favorite track is "Livin' For Your Lover." Why did you use Jim Keltner on drums?

EJ: The shuffle beat is the hardest beat in the world.

CI: We also had just two or three days to get that done. We were up against the wall.

EJ: We tried a couple of local guys who supposedly could shuffle. We really wanted to cut that tune and we tried it and you can get small parts to take off, but to get the whole thing to just keep cookin' throughout, Prairie couldn't do it. Well, you know, Sam Lay or some other black Chicago drummer, they can play the shuffle, they can't play hard rock—

CI: It's real hard to cut a shuffle over and over again.

KZ: Yeah?

EJ: Even through just one take—

CI: Because it's not locked in one spot like a rock beat, which you play over and over. Once you get locked on a shuffle, you're screwed.

EJ: Jeff Porcaro, the biggest guy in LA, said, 'Get someone else. I've just embarrassed myself so many times trying to cut a tune like this, I'm just not gonna do it!' He says, 'I'll save YOU the time, the energy, and MYSELF the embarrassment. Find someone who thinks he can do it and good luck.'

KZ: So you ended up using Keltner.

EJ: Jim Keltner. If he can do anything, he can do a shuffle. He was a great guy, too. ■

3 Jason and the Scorchers

After a series of independent singles and EPs, Jason and the Scorchers released their first full, major label conception to a responsive Album/Alternative audience. The band's new LP, Lost and Found, is being claimed by those who enjoy music as diverse as ZZ Top and the Velvet Underground. The underlying success factor is the Scorchers' unusual synthesis of hard rock and country. Lost and Found is true to the band's Great American democratic spirit, with each of the four members, Jason Ringenberg, guitarist Warner Hodge, bassist Jeff Johnson, and drummer Perry Baggs, sharing in the songwriting and production. These are Jason's words about his music and the American music experience.

KZ: What's this about two world tours?

JR: (laughter) Since the last time we spoke, we covered Europe extensively, twice—basically every country except the Communist countries. We tried, though. We got a tank, tried to run it over the border, but they caught us. We did cover, let me see, Scandinavia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Italy, Switzerland.

KZ: All this before your first complete LP.

JR: It was a good thing. We went to Europe last April; it was right around the EMI release of Fervor. After it ran its course, we had to do something to get momentum going. The European promotion people and EMI got behind the record, the international people in Los Angeles got behind it and it worked out real good. It kind of gave us new momentum in the States. I think we sold more records after Europe than before, in the States. It helps the American company because it gets them recharged.

KZ: I remember (producer and engineer) Terry Manning from the 70's records on Ardent Records. How did you get together with him?

JR: We kind of caught him right before he got hot. He's hot right now with ZZ Top, Loverboy, George Thorogood, Molly Hatchet, all that sort of thing. We needed a producer/engineer because we kinda had some producing talent in the band and we didn't want a strong, put-his-stamp-on-it producer. Terry was really good at that. Now that we're going for radio airplay, it'll help to have his name on there. He did "Absolutely Sweet Marie" on the Fervor EP.

KZ: Who are some of these players you used on this LP—Earl Poole Ball, Kenny Lovelace, Donald Spicer.

JR: Earl Poole Ball was on the International Submarine Band LP with Gram Parsons. He also played with Johnny Cash, produced some of his stuff, produced that Rockabilly Boogie album—one of his standout albums. He's a real honky tonk pianist. We kind of threw him in the studio on "Broken Whiskey Glass" and "Far Behind" and he rocked the heck out of the stuff. Kenny Lovelace has been with Jerry Lee Lewis for 15 years playing fiddle and guitar. Don Spicer, he's a Louisiana boy, works on the oil rigs. He does wild, weird swamp music, so he played slide on "Far Behind."

KZ: Did you really work on the railroad?

JR: I actually did. I worked three summers on the railroad. In those days, in the mid-seventies it was during the boom economy. The railroads were expanding and they needed all kinds of manual laborers for the summer. I would go out in those labor gangs with 100-500 men each summer. We'd just travel all over the country with these gangs. It was a great experience.

KZ: What specific jobs did you do?

JR: Well, I was a spiker for awhile. Honest to God. It sounds so hokey, people think I'm kiddin', but it's the truth. I could go out and spike a railroad tie in right now, if you asked me to. I could fix a broken rail right now. I ran machines for awhile, plus did hand work. I ran a tractor one summer, which mowed weeds at railroad crossings. That's the best job because I was my own boss. They'd just point out a direction and tell me to mow all the crossings for the next two hundred miles. Mostly I was a spiker, a manual laborer.

KZ: Your father is a hog farmer? What's he feel about your music?

JR: My parents, they're 100% behind it. My parents are very good parents—model parents.

KZ: What's it like being a farmer now?

JR: You have to have a complete sense of independence because no one's gonna help you. The banker's not, the government's not, everyone's gonna try to do anything they can to make money off you. A loaf of bread costs 8¢ for the wheat in it, 90¢ for the processing. But, it's one of the most noble of occupations, if not the most noble—working in the soil, watching things grow, watching your livestock grow. Man, you've got to be tough. I've watched my dad work 12 hours a day 6½ days a week for forty years. He's still doing it at 62 years of age. He still raises 1000 head of hog a year. This isn't no hog confinement system. There isn't no automated system, no big air-conditioned buildings. This is out in the fields. He likes raising them out in the field, the way they always used to do it. But he's tough. He taught me independence, that you're your own man and you're responsible for yourself. If he goes bankrupt now, he'll starve in the street. He's his own boss. There's not gonna be any unemployment compensation.

KZ: So what has that done to your music, working on the railroad, growing up with a hardworking family?

JR: I tend to write in parables. I tend to see life as a series of parables. I definitely believe in the hard work ethic. A man's not so much a product of his environment as he's a product of himself. That sort of thinking, they used to call it isolationism. It's a typical Midwestern outlook.

KZ: It's funny how a lot of people forget that being in a band is a lot of work.

JR: It's hard work, certainly a lot harder than working on the railroad. All people see is the glamour. It's silly. Glamour is only one hour, two hours a night. The rest of it's real hard work.

KZ: Tell me about my favorite track.

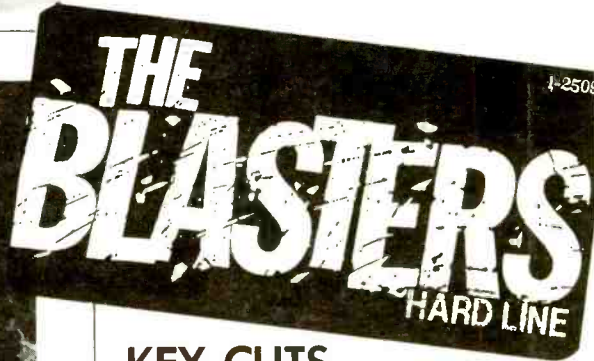

JR: "Broken Whiskey Glass"? That was on our very first EP we put out, Wreckless Country Soul on Praxis. The song just always was there. It was always a high point live. People always like it. Writers always wrote about it. One night I re-wrote another verse for it, the first verse. When we went into the studio (to re-record it), we didn't really know what we were after. I knew the feeling we wanted. I didn't know how to go about gettin' it. Luckily I think (Scorchers guitarist) Warner (Hodge) really had a handle on it. He did a real good job producing that track. I think it's a high point, one of Warner's finest moments. I told him going in, 'make this sound like it's right before dawn and you're standing over the gravestone of Jason Ringenberg. It's foggy, it's misty, and it's just you and that gravestone'. But he took a completely different approach. It was more positive.

KZ: What about the state of Great American music today? It was during the last few years that the Europeans dominated music. Times are changing. Do you feel that?

JR: I feel that. I'm not anti-European. One of the biggest influences of this band is the Stones, the Faces. I think it looks good for American bands, but this year is the pivotal year. I think, specifically, we're always gonna have ZZ Top, Bruce, John Cougar making good music and getting by. What I'd like to see happen, and what I hope happens, is that some of these other new bands hit, too. Bands like Jason & the Scorchers, Del-Lords, Replacements, Los Lobos, REM, the dB's—new younger bands. If some of these records go, I think it's gonna look real good. Then the business will take heed and get behind it. It's a new attitude. The early new wave punk bands kind of bypassed the industry. So what I see these new bands doing is saying, 'Okay, let's make the industry work. Let's quit being so anti-music business and try to make good music and work with the industry at the same time.' I think that's very important. You're gonna reach a hell of a lot more people that way, more than working as a cult band. Not that being a cult band bothers me, I mean, we're a cult band now. But, if we get big, it won't bother me in the least. It's all part of our plan. But this year in the pivotal year. This next year is very important. It's definitely the moment of truth. We gotta produce. This time there's no excuses. ■

CERTIFIED

FIRST...-SISTERS OF MERCY (MERCIFUL)

Our first import ALTERNATIVE CERTIFIED choice ever. A major ALTERNATIVE record, with a domestic release coming soon.

NEW Releases

Far Beyond The Sun/ Evil Eye/Black Star-YNCWIE MALMSTEEN (Polydor) This is a transitional instrumental LP and CD (save two marginal vocal entries) released by up and coming guitarist YNCWIE MALMSTEEN, whom some of you will remember from ALCATRAZZ's first LP. Accompanied by exTULL drummer BARRIEMORE BARLOW and an occasional keyboard, MALMSTEEN attempts to forge his reputation as an anthemesque classicist. RISING FORCE is a pleasant enough diversion for MALMSTEEN to get the classical aerobics out of his system. If anything, it will eliminate his being typecast alongside most of the witless scale crankers constituting 95% of metal guitarwork. Given a balanced band of soulful players (as opposed to merely agile and abilitized show-offs) and a songwriter, YNCWIE MALMSTEEN is the next platinum Coliseum guitar hero of the 80's.

Ways To Be Wicked-LONE JUSTICE (Geffen-12") A little like going to the junior prom with MARILYN CHAMBERS, LONE JUSTICE gets brash, down, and dirty right out of the box. Starting off with a TOM PETTY/MIKE CAMPBELL tune, LONE JUSTICE has shed their country roots, adapting their abilities towards a Great American Heartbreakers style. Anyone recalling MS. MCKEE's stunning debut on the STREETS OF FIRE soundtrack will notice an upgraded, more energetic delivery. The LP, due this week, is a cool one.

Substance Abuser/Leave Me Alone/With You Without-DRONGOS (Proteus) You can't get closer to "the street" than recording your LP right on the sidewalks of the Big Apple. The performances are shockingly well recorded. This transplanted New Zealand band should go straight to the history books because they've set a new high standard for street musicians. You won't believe this LP! Call STEVE COHEN at 212-687-5450.

"Modern Girl"-MEATLOAF (RCA-12") As his career rose and fell statewide, MEATLOAF's international audience stuck by him. With this single, the folks overseas are finally vindicated. On paper, you'd think this single would wallow in the same excesses of MEATLOAF's last disaster, but on vinyl it soars. Both edits are good in their own right, though the LP version makes best use of the choir hook (!?). Hearing is believing.

"Needle In The Groove"-MAMA'S BOYS (Jive/Arista-12") In efforts to avoid the metal backlash, bands like MAMA'S BOYS have been forced to rethink things in terms of taste, playing each note judiciously, making each solo work. "Needle In The Groove" is a sexual HiFi innuendo, not a junkie's lament. In fact, the groove was working so well, it was a shame to hear it fade out so abruptly. Will the rest of the LP (please) stand up?

"King Heroin"-JAZZY JEFF (Jive/Arista-12") Check this record out for the same reason you listened to the USA for Africa LP. JAZZY JEFF isn't rapping the usual street corner drivel. He's talking about the bottom wrung of the drug ladder--King Heroin. If the verse doesn't wake you up, the drum beats on the bridge will. There's four mixes to live by. Didn't JAMES BROWN once issue a similar warning?

JULES SHEAR (EMI America)/CHINA CRISIS (Warners)/SISTERS OF MERCY (Elektra)/NEW ORDER (Qwest/W.B.) All four LPs are due to come out in the varying weeks ahead. Those of you still hesitant about the JULES SHEAR single will be awakened and shaken by this fine upcoming LP. CHINA CRISIS, whose last LP was rudely overlooked here, have recorded a unique and satisfying follow up, produced by STEELY DAN refugee WALTER BECKER. The dark SISTERS OF MERCY is now being lightly serviced as an import to selected stations. NEW ORDER are their usual brilliant deviated selves. Anticipate all four to brighten up and challenge your April and May.

It's a real dogfight, guys and gals, TOM PETTY moves to number one, but TEARS FOR FEARS and BREAKFAST CLUB hang tough. I was tempted to underline all three, but settled for electing them to this week's POWER TRIO. USA FOR AFRICA took a strong jump into the TOP TEN. Expect KATRINA and THE WAVES to bust loose, perhaps into the TOP TEN next week. Crucial weeks next week for ALISON MOYET and the perennial CHICAGO. SADE has been going up and down like a yo-yo. Yet from watching the total format spectrum, it's a guaranteed hit, ladies and gents. TIL TUESDAY was this week's highest debut, earning CERTIFIED status. Request action has been reported, again, across the pages of your GAVIN. This week's CHARTBOUND category is a crowded mass of developing acts. Some narrow misses included B.B. KING, JULES SHEAR, and ANIMOTION's remix...even though it's not our format (yet?), we all like great records, don't we? Get a copy of the NATALIE COLE single "Dangerous" on MODERN/ATCO...Hey JAY ZISKROUT! It didn't take long. He's now at ARISTA, so god bless you ZEKE...We managed to sneak uptown, and grab an import copy of PAUL YOUNG's new LP. It's a winner, especially his cover of HALL & OATES' "Everytime You Go Away". It's gonna be a b-i-g record...ditto with MIDNIGHT OIL's new LP. It's a strange LP, but the cut, "When The Generals Speak" has been hot at KROQ for months (since the Aussie release debuting at #11. Expect a stateside release close to summer, probably to coincide with a tour. Last year's tour was a steamer. They're not to be missed. ..PETER WOLF's rap on the front of "OO-EE-DIDDLEY-BOP" makes a nice 12 inch package...Lots of you folks seem to be overlooking the new RICK SPRINGFIELD LP. Getcher copy and live with it awhile. It's an extraordinary work with lots to say, plus there's a TOP FIVE single on side one, track three. It's his finest work...GAS three is on the boards so look out. Take care and stay well.....KZ.

THE SMITHS reign at number one lasted seven solid weeks and has finally ended. The record still has a lot of mileage left, and "Meat Is Murder" will certainly be one of the top Alternative albums of 1985.

The new number one album, and POWER TRIO leader, TEARS FOR FEARS blew everyone else out of the water. They racked up the amazing rotation feat of heavy airplay at over 85% of the stations playing it. It's tough to compete with that kind of airplay response. As mentioned last week, this is a deep album with much to choose from.

Two of our cover story artists, are in the POWER TRIO with moves inside the top five and rising. Our interviews with Dave Alvin of THE BLASTERS, Jason Ringenberg of JASON & THE SCORCHERS, and CHRIS ISAAK appears in our "Great American Rock & Roll" article on page 27.

Last week's CERTIFIED, GRAHAM PARKER, soars from 20 to 10! It's great to see that this fine LP is not being overlooked. Support is across the board from both college and commercial radio. He's definitely POWER TRIO bound.

Our CERTIFIED album is the SISTERS OF MERCY import record, which will be out domestically soon. This long awaited full album, after a string of 12 inch singles, should enjoy a successful run up the chart.

ANALYSIS

USA FOR AFRICA is first in sales, first in requests, and first in the hearts of the American buying public. Even though DEBARGE was very strong at #1 last week, and should have stayed at that spot more than one week, USA was just too strong. WHITNEY HOUSTON's premier into the world of music is a successful one - she becomes "Certified" after just a few weeks on our page. KLYMAXX's hit status from last week's "Certified" title continues to blossom into a spring smash and could almost be double-Certified (two weeks in a row) because of this week's stats: gains almost 100 points in our internal chart, with a 54% "Hit Factor". Another female gets the other "Certified" prize - MELBA MOORE's "Read My Lips" surprises more than a few of the programmers I spoke with. They added it because they got into it after a few listens and after very good response from callers, the sales took over and carried the ball. With two females getting the "Certified" titles, it makes sense that two men get the "Chartbusters". GEORGE BENSON and BILLY OCEAN get the nod for the two with the most potential for continued growth. FREDDIE JACKSON is a curious story. Correspondents added it on a hunch, even though he was one of our unestablished newcomers listeners won't recognize. The sound was familiar enough, they started requesting it and I'm getting many comments during reports that it's the second most requested tune after USA. When looking through the new releases Monday morning, I had a feeling that NATALIE COLE and MARVIN GAYE would be up there in the adds category when they were all counted. My instincts were correct, with NATALIE getting a slight edge, probably because more of my reporting stations received it before the MARVIN. TINA TURNER gave them a run for the title, though, with her fifth release from the "Private Dancer" LP. KLIQUE, FREDERICK, and PHILIP BAILEY were next in line and look promising for next week. You should also be on the lookout for big adds and airplay on the new EVELYN KING, which did not have enough this week to make the page but looks pretty promising, as does the second release from JESSE JOHNSON's REVUE, "Can You Help Me". Lots of comments on the new single by LOOSE ENDS, "Hanging On A String" by you on the phones...lots of "I really like that" and "Have you heard this...it's great!" Might be one of those "I'd better go back and listen to that again, I might have missed something"...also check out the new one by KENNY G & KASHIF, getting some mentions this week.

P.D. NOTEBOOK by Eric Norberg

ANNOUNCING RECORD TITLES

I have seen the look of incredulous horror in their eyes as I reveal my secret. I have seen the strong and respected severely shaken by the news. "Norberg believes in announcing record titles," they murmur in shocked whispers.

Yes, I know it isn't fashionable. Darned if I know why, though. Saying what a record is surely is a bit like telling the time on the air, which has never gone out of style. If they know what the thing is already, they may not notice you telling them; if they want to know, they hear you.

I think this non-announcing of titles came from the background music field, where the name of the song isn't as important as whether it's unobtrusive enough to get them to keep the station turned on. Announcing songs was thought to be an unnecessary interruption, even if done in stopsets ... and, conveniently, a lack of song announcements made simple automation systems work better.

It's less clear to me how the non-announcing practice moved into the pop and rock fields, where the songs played are still expected to mean something to the listener. I've done some talking with PD's who engage in the practice, and from my small and not particularly scientific survey, it seems two reasons are frequently given. One, the thought that listeners might object to the "interruption" that announcing records might mean; and two, it's supposed to be an "image" thing that both the station and the listener know the songs and artists so well that announcing them is uncool.

I challenge the idea that announcing what the songs are is uncool! If people like the music, I have always found they like to talk about it. Artist and title takes very little time to say, and offers a form of reinforcement to those who like the music. To the listener who didn't like it, it adds no further irritant ... if anything, it provides a subtle rationale for having played it and may have the opposite effect.

The bottom line, as far as I can tell, is that to the listener, the station that doesn't announce the music it plays, doesn't care about the music it plays. There is surely very little positive "image" in that! In fact, it helps the listener develop boredom and indifference to even the station they customarily listen to, and may be a factor in bringing about rapid changes in market station preferences.

All this for want of saying who made the record and what it was called! I know there are PD's who feel strongly against such announcing—why not write and share in this column your thinking. Till then—why not tell them what they're hearing? ■

Dave Sholin Personal Picks

JEAN KNIGHT - My Toot Toot (Mirage/Atco)

Now let's see...her last Top 40 hit was "Mr. Big Stuff" back in 1971, so at this rate, she'll have a greatest hits LP by 2025. All kidding aside, there's nothing like the sensation of hearing an artist resurface with a record that's so hot it makes me want to play it for everybody who walks into the office. Jean is right back on track ready for a fast ride up the chart.

MICK JAGGER - Lucky In Love (Columbia)

Don't worry about rollin' the dice when you're playing this side. In much the same way as he did on "Just Another Night", Mick extracts every lick to offer up essence of pure Jagger.

MADONNA - Angel (Sire/Warner Brothers)

At this point in her career even an average effort would garner widespread airplay. But so far, she hasn't issued anything that hasn't been short of exceptional and this song is sure to guarantee her string of hits remains unbroken. Nice to hear a girl with no shortage of material.

NATALIE COLE - Dangerous (Modern/Atco) Whoa!

A new label and a new direction spell resurrection time for a truly great vocal talent. Shedding her mellow A/C image, Natalie steps out rockin' like never before. "This Will Be" was the record that first put her on the Top 40, this should be the record to put her back.

TINA TURNER - Show Some Respect (Capitol)

Echoes of "Nutbush City Limits" can be heard in the fifth release off "Private Dancer". On each of her previous singles the music offered her an opportunity to dazzle us with the different dimensions to her vault of many talents. This tune does a super job of showcasing the raw, sensual, high energy Tina at her best. Now, might there be a sixth jewel waiting to be uncovered?

Ron Fell Personal Picks ALBUMS

Slade - "Rogues Gallery" (CBS Associated)

Together again for at least the sixteenth consecutive year, this foursome has been up and down like a yo-yo. After getting it up again on the last LP, "Keep Your Hands Off My Power Supply", these English tune-crunchers replicate themselves with this, their latest "cumback" LP. There are no mood swings, no ballads, no artistic indulgences. It's elemental, bonebare basics. Once again they mizspell a title. They'll never be confused for yuppies. They're inebriatepower party people, rockin' thru the decades, navigating from the rumble seat. As is the case with only a few bands, Slade is now playing for the offspring of their first generation of rabid fans. HEY HO WISH YOU WELL, LITTLE SHEILA, WALKING ON WATER, RUNNING ON ALCOHOL.
