Social Obligations of Business, Industry and Labor

An Address by William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, Before the Harvard Business School Club, Harvard University, at Cambridge, Mass., on Tuesday Evening, April 21st, 1931

THE interdependence of business, industry and labor is an inevitable fact. The security, prosperity and stability of all is predicated upon the success of each supporting unit. If production, sales incomes and wages are to be maintained upon a fair, profitable and equitable basis there can be no detachment of either of these forces from the other. Some immutable power, comparable to the law of gravitation, operates in the field of economics just as precisely and inexorably as the intangible forces which govern the ebb and flow of the tide. No artificial means or methods can be substituted for stern economic facts. Society must conform to the operation of these invisible economic forces. They cannot be set aside, destroyed or rendered inoperative by legislative enactment or executive decree. Costly mistakes have been made and are being made by legislative bodies and governmental agencies which attempt to utilize artificial methods and legislative decrees instead of permitting the natural economic laws to take their course. Society pays a tremendous price when it engages in this sort of experimentation.

The administration of business, the control and management of industry and the use and service of labor can be so wisely directed as to secure for all concerned the maximum of benefit which flows from the free operation of economic laws. It is the duty of society to facilitate the operation of economic forces. It must not retard them. We can supplement them by the application of sound public policies and through co-operation on the part of ownership, management and labor.

Modern civilization, with its educational, cultural and enlightened processes, has served to create an inquiring social state of mind. People are asking if recurring, widespread unemployment, with all its attendant human distress and suffering, must be accepted as an unavoidable human experience. What are the causes which produce such economic dislocation and what remedy should be applied? Is it possible for those who control finances, business and industry to originate and apply policies which will establish economic equilibrium, minimize industrial peaks and dips and stabilize employment so as to avoid the growth of widespread social unrest and disorder?

A practical and satisfactory answer to these inquiries will vindicate the virtue of private enterprise, while, on the other hand, admission of the inability of those who control the productive and financial institutions of the country to remedy industrial and social ills would justify the conclusion that private ownership and private management has failed to meet modern social requirements. The facts are that industrial and financial management and the industrial and financial institutions which they represent are being subjected to a severe test. The masses of the people will not remain tranquil and satisfied during periodical economic lapses when they are forced to suffer from long continued unemployment, hunger and distress. They understand quite well that unemployment and hunger are not due to a lack of natural resources or of ample facilities for production. Neither are they caused by an over-filled market or a lack of universal desire to buy and consume manufactured products. The masses of the people are certain that the cause of unemployment and social distress is to be found in our faulty methods of production and inequitable distribution of the earnings of industry.

The representatives of business, the owners of industry and wage earners must be conscious of their social obligations. The development of private enterprise, the right to own property and to engage in trade and commerce is all based upon social sanction. The institutions of government, as well as those of a private character, rest upon a social foundation. In a democracy the power to control and supply a legal title to property is inherent within the people and is secured by the protection accorded by the State in the exercise of its corporate rights. This is very concretely illustrated in the creation of corporations. The people, through the instrumentality of government, grant a charter to those who form a corporation. These corporations are the creatures of the state and when organized assume, either directly or by implication, certain social as well as legal obligations.

Notwithstanding its accomplishments and achievements in the field of production, industrial and financial management has failed in the field of distribution of earnings. Science and scientific genius have excelled in developing the facilities of industrial production. We have utilized the most modern technical and mechanical equipment until we have increased collective and individual efficiency to a remarkable degree. As a result, we have created a paradoxical situation—an abundance of available food, commodities, luxuries and clothing for millions of people who cannot buy. We produce much but consume less. As a result millions are hungry and inadequately clothed in the midst of plenty. Such a state of affairs must create grave concern and deep feelings of apprehension among all thinking, serious minded people.

One cause of our economic distress is found in the fact that during the ten-year period ending in 1929 productivity increased 48.5 per cent, while real wages increased only 24.3 per cent. Another illustration is found in the fact that during the thirty-year period ending in 1929 the cost of living increased 247.5 per cent, while real wages in manufacturing enterprises increased 123.9 per cent.

Obviously, it is the solemn duty of the management of industry and business to face their responsibilities and meet their obligations to society. This fact cannot be evaded permanently.

Industry and business are institutions created for the purpose of serving and supplying social needs. They must demonstrate the point that private initiative, private enterprise and private ownership is superior to any other form of ownership or industrial control. If the existing business and industrial order is to successfully meet its social obligations there must be better planning on the part of industrial and business management. Unfortunately, little or no attention has been given to this important phase of industrial development. Better planning must embody the stabilization of employment, the establishment of a balance between production and market requirements and the employment of a work force adequate to meet productive requirements.

Balanced production can be maintained, approximately, through the use of accurate information secured from advance surveys made of market needs and market requirements. As a result of such surveys production facilities, including the working force, can be regulated so as to meet the maximum market demand. Such scientific planning should be accepted and executed by all industrial and business managers.

Work security should be accepted and made a part of the fixed policy of industry. Men and women should be able to feel secure in their work. There should be no haunting fear of unemployment. The guarantee of work security accorded employees would tend to maintain their purchasing power at its maximum level. The worker could plan as management planned because his yearly earnings could be determined, approximately. Under such circumstances he would use his earned income to buy freely and, in addition, would avail himself of the use of credit facilities, all of which would tend to increase his purchasing power. Thus, work security is the real remedy for unemployment and is the real kind and character of unemployment insurance desired and sought by organized labor.

High wages must be maintained if the American standard of living is to be preserved and a market is to be created and maintained for the sale and consumption of manufactured products. Such stabilization will result in a balance between production and consuming power. It is of no value if we develop our productive facilities to the highest possible point and at the same time neglect to place in the hands of the consuming masses a purchasing power corresponding with our facilities to produce manufactured goods.

The United States long ago moved forward from a low-wage basis and a low-wage standard. The payment of low wages has long been considered economically unsound and fallacious. A constant increase in wages corresponding with an increase in the efficiency and productive ability of working people is an economic necessity.

A general reduction in wages at the present time would be the greatest injury that could be inflicted upon our social and economic order. It would serve to delay a return to normal conditions for an indefinite period. Nothing could happen that would so thoroughly convince the masses of the people of the complete break-down of our existing industrial and economic system as would a widespread reduction in wages at this time.

It is difficult to understand why industrial management fails to apply a self-evident remedy as a substantial corrective of our economic ills. Perhaps its position is best understood by an appreciation of the fact that it has always yielded reluctantly to demands made for economic reform and readjustment. Because of the introduction of mechanical devices displacing working people, creating technological unemployment, it is economically impossible to find employment for all working people six days per week. A reduction in the number of hours worked per day and the days worked per week is both inevitable and highly necessary.

We shrink from the mere thought of creating a permanent army of unemployed in the United States, yet the circumstances establish the fact that such a social state will be reached unless there is a general readjustment of the hours of labor and the days worked per week conforming to the productive ability of industry and the workers. Industry ought to meet the present situation with a reduction in hours and in the number of days worked per week rather than through the imposition of reductions in wages. Industrial management will do well if they give this subject the consideration it deserves and if they will progressively apply it as circumstances and conditions permit.

NATE HEIDELBERG

The passing of Brother Nate Heidelberg came as a great shock to hosts of his friends. He belonged to the school of the pioneers which made the American Federation of Musicians possible, more especially during its formative period when it often appeared questionable as to whether we would succeed in the organizing of the musicians throughout the breadth of the North American continent.

He was active in the affairs of our organization ever since its inception, attended numerous conventions and served his local union in Dayton for almost a score of years.

He attended the last convention in Boston and little did his friends dream that he would not be with us this year.

Was well known as a vaudeville leader, officiating as such in a Keith house for a generation or more.

He well deserves a place in the memory of the members of our organization whom he loved and served well.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

New York, Jan. 2, 1931.

In conformity with the Constitution of the American Federation of Musicians, and as determined by the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention, held in Boston, Mass., June 13th, 1930, all the Locals and Members constituting the American Federation of Musicians are hereby notified that the Thirty-sixth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Musicians will be called to order at the HOTEL PATTEN, Chattanooga, Tenn., on Monday, June 8th, 1931, at 2 P. M.

Delegates to be chosen in accordance with the provisions contained in Articles V and VI of the Constitution, which are as follows:

ARTICLE V.

Representation and Delegates.

All Locals of this Federation of one hundred members or less shall be entitled to one delegate. All Locals shall be entitled to one delegate for each one hundred members or a majority fraction thereof, not exceeding three delegates for any one Local, but each Local shall be entitled to one vote for each one hundred or majority fraction thereof, but no Local shall cast more than ten votes, and the number each Local is entitled to shall be computed from the last report made on January 1st, before the Convention, by the Local, according to the books of the Treasurer. On questions affecting a change in the laws, each Local may, upon roll call, cast as many votes as it has members, as per book of the Treasurer, A. F. of M. All laws so passed shall be referred to a convention committee consisting of the Executive Board, A. F. of M., and chairmen of all committees, who may sanction or veto same; their action to be final. Roll call shall be demandable and had under this Article on demand of ten delegates or five Locals.

ARTICLE VI.

Delegates—How Elected.

Section 1. Delegates to the Convention shall be elected by the Locals, either at annual, special or regular meetings. If elected at annual meetings, the usual notice to members in vogue for such meetings shall be sufficient. If elected at regular or special meetings, which cannot be done earlier than 100 days preceding the Convention, every member of the Local must be duly notified of such meeting.

Elections held in violation of this law are null and void.

Sec. 2. No member shall be permitted to represent more than one Local, nor shall any member be permitted to act as delegate for a Local unless he is a full member in good standing in said Local.

Sec. 3. In the event of protests being filed against the seating of delegates, such protests must be accompanied by a certified copy of the minutes of the meeting at which the election of delegates took place, under seal, which shall be furnished by the Local Secretary. All other documentary evidence must be duly sworn to before a Notary Public. The contestant must notify the accredited delegate at least forty-eight hours before the opening of the Convention of his intention to contest, and either party may submit his evidence in person or by proxy.

Sec. 4. The hotel accommodations of the delegates and a per diem of $4.00 per day, or fraction thereof, commencing not more than twenty-four hours prior to the opening of the Convention and ending not later than twelve hours after adjournment, and those of the Executive Board, A. F. of M., for such time as it may be in session, and of such members as it may summon to appear before it, shall be paid from the funds of the Federation.

Sec. 5. Alternates may be elected for those delegates who may be unable to attend the sessions. It shall be the duty of Local Secretaries to notify the Secretary of the Federation of the names of the delegates and their alternates immediately after such election.

Sec. 6. The title of honorary delegates may be conferred by the majority vote of the delegates in convention assembled, but the compliment shall not entitle such delegates to any privileges vested in the delegates of the different Locals, and only the hotel expenses shall be borne by the Federation.

Attest:

WM. J. KERNGOOD, Secretary. JOS. N. WEBER, President.

LOCAL NO. 135, READING, PA. Local No. 135 celebrated its thirtieth anniversary March 22nd with a musical program and banquet at the New Abraham Lincoln Hotel. Three hundred and eighty-three members and 297 guests attended the affair. A musical program by a band of fifty-two men, a symphonic orchestra of twenty-two men and several prominent soloists made the anniversary a grand success. The prominent speaker was Bro. Jos. N. Weber. The president, judge of the county, the mayor and the city administration, State and local officials of public school music were in attendance.

Bro. Ed. Canavan, president of Local 802, was there with his magnificent Sec. Sec. Ed. A. Sicker, chairman of the committee of arrangements; Bros. J. G. McLean, Charles Keller, Jr., Fred Cardin and Stanley D. Hammel on the committee left nothing undone to make the affair a huge success. Members from adjoining locals, eighty-one in number, helped to celebrate the event, and all were one accord in declaring this the greatest local affair they had ever attended.

President F. L. Diefenderfer, toastmaster, kept the large number of diners intensely interested through the whole program. The art of living music was the keynote through the whole program, which was broadcasted in its entirety.

A Sensational New Alto Saxophone

CONN believes this to be the most important saxophone news it has released since the first American saxophone was produced in the Conn factory more than forty years ago.

This announcement marks the successful culmination of more than two years of research and experiments in the great Conn laboratories. Two years devoted to the task of creating an Alto Saxophone which would set a new and vastly higher standard for tonal and mechanical excellence.

Now it is ready for your inspection. Not an old model disguised with a few trick extras but NEW in every sense. Entirely redesigned from mouthpipe to bell. Fulfilling every hope of its designers. Achieving an evenness of scale formerly thought impossible. Tested by twenty of America's leading saxophonists who unanimously acclaim it a sensation both musically and mechanically.

From lowest to highest register EVERY note is evenly spaced both as to intonation and blowing pressure. The high register has no weak spots. The lowest notes blow true and clear with absolute evenness of pressure. The tremendous volume, particularly in the high register, will prove a revelation to any player.

And mechanically this new Alto is the sturdiest and fastest of all Conn Saxophones. Every key has been improved—every mechanism perfected. Yet there is no increase in price; creating a value far beyond anything previously available.

A Few of the Many New Features

New Octave Key Mechanism

New, rugged octave mechanism, placed underneath mouthpipe with a protecting guard on the exposed side. Fully protected by patents.

New Swivel Thumb Rest

Fits your thumb comfortably regardless of position. Moves with your finger and adds to playing ease.

New G# Plate

Moves directly downward instead of usual tilting motion. Offers larger surface to little finger of left hand.

New, Long Cross Hinges

The longest cross hinges of any saxophone. Insures longer hinge life and positive seating of pads over tone holes.

New, Improved Key Design

The Side Bb, C and high Eb keys and the F# trill key are all redesigned for more rapid execution.

New "Water Shed" in Eb Socket

A unique drip bushing or "water shed" in the lower Eb Socket prevents water from ruining pad.

(Other patents pending)

Now on Display at Conn Dealers

The mechanical features described above convey some idea as to the refinements this new model offers, but you cannot begin to appreciate its performance possibilities until you have played it yourself. Your Conn dealer is now featuring this new model. Let him place one in your hands. Or write us for complete description and details of liberal Trial Offer.

Are Bankers Behind Wage-Cut Agitation?

THE statement that the Governor of the Bank of England is in this country to discuss wage reductions with American bankers should be given more than passing notice by trade unionists and sympathizers.

The statement may be denied—as bankers usually do not announce their purpose—but the statement should remind workers of the power of these financiers and their attitude toward lower wages.

Industrialists, retail business men and statesmen may declare for high wages, but the bankers hold the key to the situation by their control of the nation's credit.

The banker knows nothing of industry. He loans money at a certain per cent and he demands returns. To secure his per cent he is willing to revert—as he is now doing—to the discredited philosophy of the iron law of wages.

The head of America's largest bank has gone so far as to declare:

"It is not true that high wages make prosperity—instead, prosperity makes high wages."

In other words, trade unions have nothing to do with maintaining high wages. Neither is high purchasing power a factor in sustaining prosperous times.

Wages, according to this banker's reasoning, depend upon the employer, who graciously permits a certain percentage of income, sufficient to maintain a bread basket standard of living, to sift into the workers' pockets in the form of wages.

These bankers would overthrow America's wage philosophy that has been accepted after a quarter of a century agitation by organized labor.

The bankers are revamping theories that prevailed in England seventy-five years ago—high wages increase production costs and interfere with dividends.

Let no organized worker put his trust in glowing statements by employers or office holders who talk of high wages.

These men should be given credit for sincerity, but there is a power beyond them—the banker who controls credit. He can dictate—generally by secret methods—the terms under which money is loaned to employers.

If organized labor permits this bankers' policy to be unchallenged—if the purpose of these bankers is unknown—they will continue their policy of stealthily undermining the nation's concept of wages.

This is the first essential for a mass attack on wages that will eventually swamp every protest.

Organized workers should draw a sharp line between the business man who favors high wages, because of increased purchasing power, and bankers who want low wages that per cent is assured.

Old Speed-Up Systems Are Given New Names

ECONOMIC planning," "scientific order in production," "stabilization" and "rationalization" are new names for the old system of greater production at less cost.

These phrases mean more centralization, combines, speed up and automatic machinery.

The new planning provides for accurate information on the people's income and on trade conditions. Commodities will be produced as needed. No large stocks (inventories) will be carried.

This means less capital invested and lower interest charges. Standardization to a point undreamed of will be the rule.

Excessive plant capacity will be junked and only the fittest among workers will be given steady employment to supply a market that has been "stabilized." The more than six million unemployed will remain where they are.

The age limit of 40-45 years for workers will be general, as only young men can stand the pace. Wages for those employed will not be reduced. Such a reduction would unite the employed and unemployed, whereas the new plan will tend to keep them divided.

The number of needed workers, however, will be steadily lessened as automatic machinery and other processes are silently installed.

"Economic planning" is an attractive system for employers who forget that mergers and combines will continue to reduce their number.

Automatic machinery will have the same effect on employed workers, despite promises that the new "stabilization" will provide them steady work.

The "economic planner" will reply, of course, that elimination of every possible waste, and greater mass output based on a knowledge of markets, will reduce production costs, cheapen commodities, increase demand and thereby create more employment.

This is not a new claim. It was heard when mass production and displacement of labor by automatic machinery first attracted attention. The claim has not proven satisfactory to more than 6,000,000 idle workers.

The "economic planner" ignores the fact that an unemployed worker can not buy, regardless of price. The "planner" is only interested in production, while our major problem is distribution—to establish buying power that employment will be created.

Men who talk of "economic planning" ignore the cause of our depression. They accept the status quo—millions of idle, other millions on part-time work, and other millions paid a low wage.

The "economic planner" would build on that foundation. He fails to see that the very force that created these workless will continue to function.

Prosperity can not be based on a few million workers receiving comparatively high wages until they are 40 or 45 years old, when they are turned into the idle ranks. Automatic machinery accelerates this movement.

Employers, as a class, will receive no permanent benefit from the "economic planner." Employers will continue to be engulfed by the grinding process.

Organized labor's solution of high wages and shorter hours must be accepted.

Work is the solution for unemployment. Buying power is the only thing that can start idle factories.

Labor Queries - - -

Questions and Answers on Labor: What It Has Done; Where It Stands on Problems of the Day; Its Aim and Program; Who's Who in the Ranks of the Organized Toilers, etc., etc.

Q.—When was the Bricklayers' Union first organized and in what State?

A.—On October 17, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa., where seven men belonging to the Philadelphia and Baltimore unions met, drafted a constitution, elected officers and instructed the secretary "to correspond with all bricklayers' unions known to exist in the United States, requesting them to send delegates to the next convention, to meet in Baltimore on January 8, 1866." The convention was held as planned, with delegates from eight cities present and the International Bricklayers' Union of North America was established. Three changes of name followed, the organization finally becoming known by its present name, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' International Union of America.

Q.—Has the International Molders' Union recently taken action on behalf of Thomas J. Mooney?

A.—President M. J. Keough of the union in March addressed a letter to Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, urging him to grant Mooney "an unqualified pardon, and thus right the wrong which the great State of California has done an innocent man." President Keough's letter asserts that he is personally convinced of the absolute innocence of Mooney.

Q.—When was Samuel Gompers sentenced to jail for violating a labor injunction?

A.—On December 23, 1908, he was sentenced to a year in jail for violating a sweeping injunction obtained by the Bucks Stove and Range Company of St. Louis. Frank Morrison and John Mitchell were sentenced at the same time on the same charge. The case was appealed and the sentences were not served.

Q.—Who said: "The organization of workers to better the conditions of labor is undoubtedly a safeguard of equality of opportunity and in accord with basic principles. The essence of combination of workers is collective bargaining, and the recognition of the right to combine cannot be separated from the right to bargain collectively?"

A.—President Hoover.

Out Beyond the Surf--

Where thought, unhastened by necessity or trepidation, sometimes penetrates to truth. Here, where the shallows throw no spray, let us ponder and enjoy the lessons of the art and the work and play of life.

A popular movie comic gets laughs by using burlesque tricks on the fables of Old Man Aesop, who each week is portrayed as having "said 2,000 years ago" that this, that and the other was thus and so.

Ah, the romance of the old days!

There was old Peter Minult, who messaged home to his boss that, as far as he could see, the best real estate buy on the market was the Island of Manhattan, available for the trifling sum of a small pocket full of Dutch guilders, later rated as worth 24 iron men in U. S. currency.

Peter was good at getting, but somehow he and his fellow Dutchmen didn't have the ability to hang on and before the market got to its peak a lot of other folks had taken the prize away and reaped the gravy, if one reaps gravy.

Making predictions isn't always safe, but if you make one the best thing to do is to stand by your guns.

Of course, standing by your guns doesn't always work out, either, for there was Spain, busy buying—or taking—Florida real estate while old Peter was buying up Manhattan.

Peter had the best buy, but what the Spanish got wasn't so bad, even if it did need drainage and modern development. But the Spanish stuck and were eased out by methods much rougher than moved Holland out of the New Netherlands.

Prophets we have always had with us. Some make predictions, hoping the mob will believe them while they themselves play the other horse.

Many a prophet has played a brace game.

But some are square shooters. If a gangster says, "I'll get you," that's not prophecy; that's mere statement of fact.

But if a government department says "wheat will go up," that's like Napoleon saying, "I'm going to take Moscow."

Perhaps, also, it's much the same when bankers say wages are going down.

Prophets would get a better break if they had the last word in shaping the events about which they prophesy!

Bankers may yearn for the romance of the old days when mile-long lines of immigrants stood at factory gates clamoring for jobs at whatever wage was offered.

They said then, "This is good, it will last forever," but they were bad prophets, as they are now.

There are prophets and prophets, it seems. Some hit the nail on the head, but lack ability to win on their own hunches. Some miss-guess and also lose.

Old Man Wiggins of the Chase National Bank is one example of a type. He's probably got the nerve, but his judgment is rotten. He's a little like Alexander—willing to win a battle at no matter how much cost to the common soldiery!

Now here's prophecy: The day of the submerged mass is about gone. People are going to count more than ever. The Common Good stands before the dawn of a new understanding, a new realization. The Depression has been the most potent of modern schoolmasters!

Business, Now Consult Labor!

BUSINESS is doing a lot of talking these days. Business is talking about how it can recover. Business is thinking out plans to "take the kinks out" of business.

Business thinks mainly of business.

Business got into a jam that threw more than six million men and women out of work and most of them are still out of work.

Business had better give up the idiotic notion that it is the only interested factor and it had better give up the notion that it can fix things by itself.

Business may fix things somewhat satisfactorily FOR ITSELF, but it can never by itself fix things for ALL OF US.

Business has sought to assume more responsibility than it can carry and more than it has any right to claim.

Business can take a look at those more than SIX MILLION IDLE and take unto itself some humility and get into itself some sense.

Business has got to understand that LABOR belongs in the picture.

Business had better consult LABOR now and forever hereafter, for we shall never have a proper and workable industrial machine until LABOR is recognized as a MAJOR PARTNER in the job of keeping that machine in running order for the good of humanity.

Business "giants" had better come off their perch and learn this lesson.

OVER FEDERATION FIELD

(By CHAUNCEY A. WEAVER)

The April issue of the International Musician conveyed to its readers the mournful intelligence of the passing of William L. Mayer, Vice-president of the American Federation of Musicians.

Thus does the lightning stroke
Sometimes lay low the stately oak.

In the benumbing realization of a deep personal loss we look back upon an acquaintance covering a range of nearly a quarter of a century of time. We shall cherish the memory of a friendship which each fresh contact caused to glow with a deepening radiance. From our mind there can never fade the picture of a stalwart personality whose fine poise and rational view of life would have made it ever possible for him to say with the philosopher in "Cymbeline"—

"Hang there like fruit, my soul,
Till the tree die!"

Farewell, Old Comrade of the Federation Round-Table—

"Nothing is here for tears, nothing to wall or knock the breast; no weakness, no contempt,
Dispraise or blame; nothing but well and fair;
And what may quiet us in a death so noble!"

The Midwest Conference, A. F. of M., had its annual get-together conclave at Lincoln, Neb., on April 12-13. This conference embraces the States of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa. It was organized by the musicians of these States upon the theory that there was much in common which might be conserved and promoted. Its meetings, however, have proven so interesting that the attention of outsiders has been attracted and the Lincoln meeting brought many visitors from other States who were given a cordial welcome. It will not be strange if the boundaries of the conference are eventually enlarged. Outside Locals represented were Chicago, Kansas City, Tulsa, Wichita, Denver and Casper, Wyo. National Officers present were President Joseph N. Weber and Executive Officers Fred W. Birnbach and Chauncey A. Weaver. Among the visitors from the greatest distance were President Edward Canavan and wife, who were returning homeward from a Panama Canal trip and who came via Aviation Route in order to arrive in time. President and Mrs. James Petrillo of Chicago were among the invited guests. Mrs. Weber also accompanied her husband.

Local No. 463, host to the conference, cared for the visitors in a masterful way. President H. C. Zellers, Vice-President Ralph Fetterman and Secretary Mark Pierce, aided by local membership, were on hand to greet the first arrivals and remained until the last visitor had departed.

By a happy coincidence the conference occurred on the twenty-fourth anniversary of the organization of Local No. 463.

There were theatre parties, banquets and sight-seeing rides—and still the conference found time for every question presented. The Stuart Theatre Orchestra, under the leadership of Arthur J. Babich, and the stage band, lead by Eddie Jungbluth, were enjoyable musical incidentals.

Edwin P. Ringuis of St. Paul Local No. 30 was presiding officer of the conference deliberations. General Secretary Fetterman was assisted by Bert J. Robinson of Sioux City.

The next Midwest Conference will be held at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

From Reading, Pa., newspapers of recent date we read an interesting story of how the Thirtieth Anniversary of Local No. 135 was observed. There was a mass band concert of sixty musicians under the direction of Edward A. Gicker, Eugene Z. Weidner and R. Elner Addis; an orches-

ARTISTS WHO KNOW, and realize how much their performance depends upon the instrument they play, USE AND ENDORSE KINGS.

The opinions of these noted artists are not just snap judgment; they know the merits of every instrument and have used KINGS long enough to honestly judge their qualities.

The H. N. White Company is doing every conceivable thing possible to improve and make Good Instruments Better and to give the musicians instruments that will help to improve their playing and make it easier for them.

Research work, tests of different alloys and metals, construction and ways of making better valve and slide action, new proportions, relative correct sizes of bore, bell and mouthpipe to produce better tone, finer intonation, together with generally finer appearance and greater durability make KINGS the Masterpieces they are.

These noted bandmasters and artists who are in close touch with us and are familiar with our recent progress and improvements have sent us letters, expressing their approval and appreciation of our efforts.

These letters speak volumes in praise of KING instruments. Notice the recent dates of these letters, referring to our latest models in instruments, 1931:

Mr. H. N. White,
The H. N. White Company,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Brooklyn, N. Y.
March 4, 1931.

Dear Mr. White:

The new cornet is working in fine and I am well pleased with it. I find it to have considerably more brilliancy than my old KING, and it also blows easier.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

(Signed) Del Staigers

Mr. H. N. White,
The H. N. White Company,
Cleveland, Ohio.

New York, N. Y.
Jan. 13, 1931.

Dear Mr. White:

Without question, the new KING is the greatest cornet I have ever used.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Oscar Belmont

One of America's foremost cornet virtuosos (four seasons cornet soloist Pryor's Band and now assistant soloist The Goldman Band of New York City).

Cleveland, Ohio.

194 Riverside Drive,
New York, N. Y.
Feb. 13, 1931.

Dear Mr. White:

The latest model KING Instruments which we secured some time ago for my band have met every possible requirement. The entire brass section of my band and the saxophones are KINGS. I attribute a great deal of the success of my band to the fine quality of instruments which are being used by its members.

With kind greetings, and wishing you continued success,

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) James Frank Adams

KINGS HELP PROFESSIONAL PLAYERS to improve their playing and make their work easier.

KINGS HELP AMATEUR PLAYERS to progress faster, get a better tone, play better in tune and get the high notes easier.

PRIDE IN OWNERSHIP: With a KING, there is a feeling of pride and satisfaction, and no matter where you are or who sits beside you in the band or orchestra, the other fellow will have nothing better, if near as good. You will never be outclassed with some other instrument, when you have a KING.

Office of the Leader,
U. S. Navy Band,
Navy Yard, Washington, D. C.
March 16, 1931.

My Dear Mr. White:

The new instruments recently received are more than satisfactory—the men being especially pleased with the three new cornets and also the Euphonium, this now making three King Euphoniums in our band here.

I am going to order two new gold-plated KING trombones for my first chair men, and also a BBb bass.

I can assure you that the Navy bandmen are very proud of these beautiful gold-plated KING instruments that they are now using and will continue using them as long as these instruments are made as they now are.

It might interest you to know that the brass section of our band is about 85 per cent KING.

Wishing you the best of success, I am,

Very truly yours,

(Signed)

THE H. N. WHITE CO.

5225 SUPERIOR AVE.

CLEVELAND, OHIO

tra lead by Charles S. Keller, Jr.; another orchestra lead by Fred Cardin, and still another under the direction of Harold Dorwin, which played in the Abraham Lincoln Hotel both before and after the banquet.

President F. L. Diefenderfer officiated as toastmaster. On the speaking program, besides distinguished local guests, President Joseph N. Weber delivered the principal address on "The History, Aims and Objects of the American Federation of Musicians." Another speaker was President Edward Canavan of Local 802, of New York. Between 500 and 600 people attended the banquet. A pleasing incident was the presentation of a beautiful basket of roses to Mrs. Weber. From the generous fashion in which Reading papers covered the event it must have been a notable success. Reading has long been known as the home of high-grade musical talent. The name of the city revives memory of the name of Althouse, whose fine band marches we used to play in days gone by. The membership roster of Local No. 135 also once carried the name of Victor Herbert.

The Cleveland Musician carries a first page article signed by President Otto J. Kapl extending congratulations to the membership on the fine showing of attendance at the regular local meeting. If Local No. 4 possesses any system, free from copyright or patent, guaranteeing a good turn-out on regular meeting day or night, we would be happy to give the same the widest possible publicity. The usual experience with many locals is for some officer to be delegated to telephone enough members on the regular meeting date to try and put in an appearance in order that a quorum for the transaction of necessary business may be obtained.

Something new in the way of a name for an official publication of a local comes to us in the "Major and Minor," issued under the auspices of Local No. 526, of Jersey City, N. J. The editor is Brother Harry J. Steeper. Among the interesting features of the copy received is the extended report of the Second Annual Ball and Entertainment, which seems to have been a magnificent success. We trust the Major and Minor modulations will be always pleasing to its constituency.

Through some of our exchanges we learn that Local No. 77 has a new official organ entitled "The Philadelphia Musician." We wish that some good Philadelphia friend would put us on the mailing list. Our address is—The City Hall.

The Prelude, official organ of Local No. 595, Vineland, N. J., has reappeared. After a two months' suspension publication has been resumed. We hope that Editor and Publisher B. Dexter Streeter, who is also Local Secretary and Treasurer, will find substantial support for the enterprise. There is nothing better calculated to stimulate local interest than an official publication.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra has been playing a series of sixteen concerts under the auspices of the University of Minnesota. More and more it is becoming realized that a well-rounded education demands an acquaintance and some power to understand the higher grades of music. We cannot imagine anything more rich and satisfying than opportunity to listen to a concert series like the one described. In a program forwarded us by Executive Officer Fred W. Birnbach, we note the name of Max Schnellner, a former Des Moines boy, as personal manager. The eminent and scholarly musician, Henri Verbrugghen, is orchestra conductor.

When these lines appear the Chattanooga convention will be less than one month away. May it prove so decisive in the way of promoting Federation advancement that it will become as historic as some of the scenes among which its official deliberations will be held.

Without an extra session of Congress, this year ought to see a most delightful summer season.

Nobody seems to love an income tax, but musicians have not been bothered very much of late.

King Alfonso has abdicated. King Al Capone still clings to his throne.

Hats off to Chicago! For the metropolis of the west a new era has dawned. Buffonary has been driven from her halls of city administration and officials with some conception of civic responsibility have been placed in charge. Chicago has the capacity to do such magnificent things in such a magnificent way that there will be an ardent hope throughout the west that the new administration will vindicate the vote of confidence which it has received.

Another European monarchy has kilted on the junk-pile. Spain, afflicted with dry-rot for centuries, has discarded the robes of royalty and taken her place among the republics of the world. There will be much of stress and storm and too much cannot be expected in the way of stabilized government for awhile, but the face of the old Castilian dominion has turned toward the rising sun.

Dispatches from New York relate that a saxophone player with six wives has been discovered. What a marvelous technique that fellow must have!

Have you made your Chattanooga reservations yet?

LABOR PUSHES BIG CAMPAIGN FOR UNION LABEL

With trade unionists all over the United States pushing the union label, shop card and button, the nation-wide campaign in behalf of union products and services is gaining great momentum, it is reported at the Union Label Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor. Reports from every section show that union men and women are enthusiastically supporting the campaign and that the demand for union-made goods has been greatly increased.

In several cities exhibits of union label products have attracted much interest. In Atlantic City, N. J., such an exhibition has been given under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce. Some of the larger cities are employing a full time field man in the label campaign.

Local unions of the following international unions have been most active in the drive.

Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America, United Garment Workers of America, International Photo-Engravers' Union of North America, International Typographical Union, International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, American Federation of Musicians, Upholsterers' International Union of North America, Cigarmakers' International Union of America, International Union of the United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America, Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America.

NO OTHER MOUTHPIECE LIKE IT IN THE WORLD

The Hand-Lapped Facing on every O'Brien Crystal is so perfect that merely blowing the breath on it and rubbed together will cause any two O'Brien Crystal Mouthpieces to adhere together so firmly as to hold many times their weight.

Such perfect workmanship is the reason why Solo Clarinetists play them.

WHY ENVY A HOT PLAYER? BE ONE

You can easily learn to play "hot" with "HOT MELODY SECRETS." New 2nd edition just published, enlarged to 15 professional secrets (formerly "7 HOT MELODY SECRETS") at no increase in price.

Shortest and most practical improvising book on the market today. Successfully taught for ten years. All instruments except piano.

Teaches how to:
Improvise on sight; improvise in any key; and play hot on melody without use of harmony. Continuous hot style throughout the chorus. All tricks printed with notes.

$3—Specially Priced—$3

What users say:
J. A. Biker, Chicago, Ill.—"If you can't play hot after learning these secrets you never will."
Campbell-Connelly Music Company, London, England—"Far ahead of anything in its line. Have sold others, but this is the best."
(We do hottest arranging of all kinds at lowest prices. Write for prices.)

As the Worker Sees His World
Summary and Digest of Important Events Here and Abroad.

Following a strike of telegraph and postal workers in Bolivia, school teachers, who have not been paid for two months, quit work.

Serious disturbances caused by unemployed demanding bread and work are reported in dispatches from Bucharest, Rumania.

The average number of persons employed by Canadian railways in 1930 was 13,398 less than in 1929, while the payroll was $21,760,000 less.

Meeting at Gastonia, directors of fourteen textile mills approved plans for a merger of twenty mills in North and South Carolina that will create a $10,000,000 textile corporation.

On the ground that it attempted "to nullify the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment," Governor Emmerson of Illinois on April 13 vetoed the bill to repeal the Illinois prohibition acts.

The Federation of State Employees in Poland is planning a one-day strike in protest against a 15 per cent reduction in salaries of all government employes announced to be effective from May 1.

Eleven men, including four city firemen, lost their lives as the result of a suffocating fire on the night of April 13 in a Sanitary District tunnel under construction in Chicago.

Reports on unemployment trends in 18 regional areas of the country indicate a slight but favorable change in the situation, Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the President's Emergency Committee for Employment, announced.

The New England Methodist Conference, meeting at Springfield, Mass., passed a resolution against any abridgment of free speech and free assembly, declaring that in such event Methodist churches should be opened to such assemblies.

In a statement addressed to the leaders of industry, Senator James Couzens of Michigan recently warned that unless business leaders made concerted efforts soon to solve the problem of unemployment and perfected plans for stabilizing industry, Congress would step in and provide for unemployment and old age insurance.

THE KING'S FIDDLERS

Old King Cole was a merry old soul, And a merry old soul was he, He called for his pipe and he called for his bowl, And he called for his fiddlers three.

MY, my, what a rumpus when the robot appeared! It seems that the Prime Minister, in a fit of economy, had installed canned music and fired the King's rollicking fiddlers.

But King Cole could remedy the trouble. He had only to order the robot to the attic, send for his beloved fiddlers, and have the Prime Minister publicly spanked.

SHORT STORIES ON WEALTH

By IRVING FISHER

Professor of Economics, Yale University

Review of the Harm Done by Inflation and Deflation

OUR story about the harm done by unstable money began with the observation that it makes our book-keeping misleading, producing an unjust transfer of values from one class of society to another, but not, primarily, a loss to society as a whole. What some lost others have gained.

But we can find the losses exceed the gains, owing to the indirect harm of uncertainty, depression, unemployment, discontent, strikes, lockouts, sabotage, riots, violence, Bolshevism. These can only mean a dead loss to the general public.

The loss is felt whether the price level is rising or falling.

When the price level is rising and business is temporarily stimulated, "prosperity" is largely a sham. Bondholders, most salaried men, many wage earners and all others whose incomes are fixed, or nearly fixed, in dollars are then far from prosperous. We must remember that "prosperity" is a business man's term, one that describes a condition of class interest rather than a condition of general welfare. It follows that, during inflation, the supposed "prosperity" of the period is really a class prosperity—an increased welfare of profit-takers at the expense of the welfare of others.

Moreover, as with ordinary gambling, even the gains of the winners are largely swept away in the end. When the price level is rising the strikes, riots and violence, which often occur, as secondary effects of the rising price level, take away the profits of the winners by blocking the wheels of industry and even destroying its tools. It is not so much a question of who is going to get the profits as it is a question of whether there are to be any profits. It does not seem too much to say, for instance, that, economically speaking, Germany probably suffered more after the war from her colossal inflation than from the war itself.

When, during a period of falling prices, the apparent gainer is not the profit-taker but the creditor, the winner is also just as likely to lose his winnings. The bondholder is, usually and normally, the simple investor of capital, the "silent partner" in business. He lacks the temperament and training to be a risk-bearer or captain of industry. But, after years of a falling price level, during which he himself has been draining, unobserved even by himself, the life-blood of the enterprise whose bonds he holds, until there is no profit left for the captain of industry who has been managing it or for the stockholders who risked their capital, the mortgage is foreclosed and the captain, held responsible for the shipwreck, is forced out, discredited, humiliated, and unable to explain or even to understand that the disaster was not wholly his fault. The fault has arisen from his unreliable instrument of reckoning, the dollar. Next, the bondholders or their representatives, often lawyers, take control, whether or not they know how to run the business. Thus the management often drifts into wrong hands and turns into mismanagement. The bondholder has unconsciously been a Shylock, exacting his pound of flesh until the once productive enterprise is bled to death.

The workmen who are thrown out of work during a period of depression never regain their lost wages. Nor is what they lose gained by their employers nor by anyone else. Idle men and idle machines represent total losses to all society.

Unstable money robs sometimes one class and sometimes another; it upsets all sorts of calculations and economic relationships and adjustments; it causes harmful fluctuations in trade and employment, and produces discontent, labor troubles, class hatred and violence; and in the end it represents general economic loss. These evils of unstable money may be reduced to three: social injustice, social discontent and social inefficiency.

THE YES-MAN

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

In a company of commercially-minded individuals in which I found myself comfortably eating lunch, there arose the question of the yes-man. Somebody said he wouldn't be anybody's yes-man, and somebody else said, "You'd get further with your boss if you yessed him. Bosses like to pretend that they don't require yes-men, but all the same they get mighty displeased if an important employe disagrees with them."

The sentiment seemed to receive rather general approval. Most of those present gave it as their experience and observations that the typical business executive, while maintaining the theory that he likes to have independent thinkers about him, really likes to have all his jokes laughed at and all his ideas praised.

There is just enough truth in the contention to lead a good many trusted employes astray. I believe about the only justifiable generalization you can make on the subject is this:

The business man who is really big doesn't place any value on the yes-man. And, of course, you should note this very important corollary:

The really big business man is a rare bird.

Business men are human, I suppose. If a man has been poor and unimportant and has fought his way to somewhere near the top in his business, he is likely to get the notion that his ideas are pretty sound and his jokes rather good. Also, he is likely to seek surcease from irritation, and an employe, no matter how confidential his position, is apt to irritate such a man by suggesting that the boss is wrong about some matter pertaining to the business.

That is the ordinary successful business man. If you have constructive ideas, it is much better to be associated with the ordinary one. He is the successful business man who knows within himself that many factors have entered into his success, and that not all of these factors are indicative of his own infallibility. He is the business man who really does not want yes-men about him. Usually, he is the one who builds far ahead of his competitors, because he knows that even his competitors sometimes have good ideas.

Woodrow Wilson's greatness was dimmed by his yearning for yes-men. When he caught a subordinate having an idea, he fired him or put him in his place. He died from trying to originate all the worth-while ideas in the world and carry them all out by himself. His constitution wasn't strong enough to stand the strain, and he had a good constitution, too.

WHAT'S LIFE?

What's life? A story or a song,
A race on any track;
A gay adventure, short or long;
A puzzling nut to crack;
A grinding task; a pleasant stroll;
A climb; a slide down hill;
A constant striving for a goal;
A cake; a bitter pill;
A pit where fortune flouts or stings;
A playground full of fun;
With many, many of these things;
With others all in one.

What's life? To love the things we see;
The hills that touch the skies;
The smiling sea; the laughing sea;
The light in woman's eyes;
To work and love the work we do;
To play a game that's square;
To grin a bit when feeling blue;
With friends our joys to share;
To smile, though games be lost or won;
To earn our daily bread;
And when at last the day is done
To tumble into bed.—Griffiths Alexander.

By the Way

Comment and Criticism About Things Doing in the World

Rome C. Stephenson, president of the American Bankers' Association, denied the other day that bankers want wage cuts.

Mr. Stephenson may be right, but bankers are certainly not taking the lead in advocacy of maintenance of present wage scales. When they are not openly urging lower wages, as has been done by A. H. Wiggen of New York, Melvin Alvah Taylor of Chicago, and other leading bankers, they are keeping very quiet on the subject.

Mr. Stephenson will have to do some pretty good talking to convince the nation that bankers are not lending at least tacit encouragement to the campaign for lower wages.

The Indiana Legislature has passed a bill to curb lynching. The bill provides for automatic suspension of the sheriff in whose county a lynching takes place, with reinstatement only when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Governor that the sheriff did his full duty in trying to prevent the lynching, and assessment of money damages against the town, city or county in favor of the relatives and heirs of the person lynched.

Enactment of similar laws in other States would discourage lynching, the one crime which flourishes only in the United States, of all the nations of the globe.

In view of the apparent indifference of most Americans to the increase in recent years of attacks on free speech, free press and free assemblage, it is good to see every straight-from-the-shoulder defense of these fundamental rights. Such a defense is made by President Charles P. Howard of the International Typographical Union in the Typographical Journal. He writes in part:

"We believe in free speech. No group in all the world should be more devoutly wedded to the ideal of free speech than the members of this organization. We must not only believe in and support free speech for ourselves and those who agree with us, we must fight, if necessary, for the right of those with whom we do not agree to speak freely of what they believe. It is easy to applaud those who tell us what we like to hear. It is easy to approve that with which we agree. It is not so easy to give courteous consideration to the unpleasant truths about issues upon which we may be wrong."

The one great obstacle to fire prevention is the virtual refusal of the individual to realize his personal responsibility in regard to the common hazards that exist, to a greater or lesser degree, in almost every home and business establishment.

Perhaps the most tragic phase of fire is that it is practically wholly unnecessary. Eighty per cent or more of fires—including many of those which cause the greatest waste in both life and property—could have been prevented by the exercise of care and the sort of knowledge that is expounded during the annual Fire Prevention Week and which can be easily obtained from various private organizations or from local fire authorities in any community.

The citizen who disregards fire risks might be termed the "unconscious arsonist," and his name is legion. It is his home that burns, or his factory. But the entire community pays for it, in the loss of taxes on destroyed property, in higher insurance rates, in lost employment or business opportunity. Fire prevention is largely a personal matter—but fire waste is of importance to the entire nation. There has never been a fire, no matter how small, that did not do its part to prevent progress.

REMARKABLE THINGS SAID

William Green:
If reductions of wages are persisted in a return to normal conditions will be delayed for two years or more.

James J. Corbett:
Health is man's normal condition; he must do something foolish to lose it.

Melvin A. Taylor:
Synthetically, we are eliminating workers, whereas synthetically we have found no method of increasing consumption.

Edward Albert Wiggam:
Determination to compel your neighbor to worship according to your conscience has caused half the wars.

Justice McArdle, Surrey Assizes:
The great causes of crime remain as they have largely in the past—lust, greed, vanity and jealousy.

Gandhi:
The British love liberty for themselves; it is only a step further to love liberty for other people.
