UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

By THOMAS KENNEDY

International Secretary-Treasurer, United Mine Workers of America, Lieutenant Governor-elect of Pennsylvania

IT is my judgment that the country is in agreement as to the need for unemployment insurance or unemployment compensation, whichever term may be preferred.

The capitalistic system, throughout our history, has been marked by recurrent breakdowns and depressions from which wage-earners and salaried workers, through unemployment, have been the residual sufferers. Under the capitalistic system, as we have known it, the condition of wage-earners has been worse than under the system of slavery which preceded the Civil War. In times of loss or bad years, the slave owners at least took care of their slaves—furnished them food and shelter—until prosperous conditions returned. On the other hand the attitude of modern industry has been the reverse. Industrial workers, when business activity receded, have been thrown upon the streets of industrial centers, to take care of themselves as best they may or to be supported by public or private charity.

Unemployment Insurance Necessary

If, on the contrary, as we hope, the former grievous conditions of the capitalistic system are to be lessened or, in other words, if we shall be so fortunate as to add the magic word "reform" to our plans for economic recovery, and thus attain to more regular and steady employment, better standards of living, more equitable distribution of the output of industry, or, in brief, to a more socialized and humanitarian condition of industrial operations—unemployment insurance will still be necessary to cover the transitional period.

Moreover, we cannot hope, even with needed reforms, to attain at once to a condition of economic stability and unbroken continuity in industrial operations. Under any new system of industry, therefore, however much improved it may be as compared with the past, a system of unemployment insurance will still be necessary for industrial workers. It must be organized and made ready to meet any unforeseen contingency which may arise. Numerous influences, some of which are not subject to domestic control, such as a falling off in foreign demand for certain manufactured or agricultural products, may at times adversely affect unemployment. Through economic reforms, in other words, we may so improve conditions as to reduce the cost of unemployment insurance, but the system itself must be firmly established and liberally developed, so as to safeguard the workers and society itself against any contingencies which may develop.

It is my firm conviction that the unemployment insurance system should be national, or, in other words, that it should be organized and operated under the auspices of the Federal government. Any plant reserves such as contemplated in Wisconsin in my judgment would not fit in any arrangement or policy upon a national basis.

The United Mine Workers of America, the largest single organization on the North American continent, joins the New York and Massachusetts State Federations of Labor in opposing company reserves plans because they would foster and aid company unions.

This is equivalent to saying that the scope of the unemployment insurance system should follow that of industry itself. All of our basic industries—iron and steel manufacturing, coal mining, textile manufacturing, transportation, automotive products, clothing, electrical goods, etc.—are national in their organization and operation.

The American Labor Movement is opposed to employee contributions to National Unemployment Insurance Funds for the reason that any cost assessed against industry can be absorbed in the cost of production. If employees are forced to contribute, they, who constitute 85 per cent of the total purchasing power of this nation, would be forced to eventually pay all of the cost by reason of their purchase of the commodities of industry.

Bituminous coal mining operations, for example, are carried on, under one national wage agreement in more than thirty States. The clothing manufacturing industry covers more than forty States. Outside of a few natural-resource industries, we have long ago passed beyond localization of mining and manufacturing undertakings. With the products of these industries moving in interstate commerce they could very naturally fit into a national picture for coverage. Moreover, in the case of certain holding companies, subsidiary corporations cover every section of the country.

State segments, or primary state organizations, cannot, therefore, be practically detached for unemployment insurance purposes. Moreover, interstate competitive conditions would be dislocated, and the costs of insurance could not be equalized as between different sections of the country except through a national system. Since June, 1933, NRA codes for all industries have sought to bring about national uniformity in costs and equality in competitive conditions for all industries.

Question of Unconstitutionality

Of course, I am aware that some of our reactionary groups, as always is the case, have raised the question of unconstitutionality against a national system. No worthy cause or movement for human welfare has ever been free from such indirect and insincere attacks. I am informed, however, by competent counsel that no apprehension should be felt as to the constitutionality of a national system.

Special funds for this purpose should be immediately made available by Federal appropriations and provision for their repayment arranged by assessments upon industry. In a word, this would mean that the cost of unemployment insurance would be part of the cost of production in the same manner and way as workmen's compensation benefits are provided, except contributions here would be to a national fund.

While such special measures are practical and desirable, as a general policy, however, I believe that a system of unemployment insurance at the present time should provide funds through emergency advances from the Federal government for the purpose of changing relief payments to unemployment insurance payments. Such a procedure would obviously add to the self-respect and morale of unemployed industrial workers.

Funds Could Be Amortized

Funds so advanced by the Federal government to the newly instituted unemployment insurance system could be gradually amortized over a period of years. Such a procedure for a number of years was practically followed by Great Britain. Unemployment insurance had already been established there prior to the unprecedented restriction of industrial operations following the World War, and the government made "transitional payments" to the insurance funds in order to maintain the system, and to prevent the substitution of an actual "dole" for unemployment benefits. Unlike Great Britain, we are in the midst of an unprecedented depression without any established system of unemployment insurance, but I believe that in organizing a system we should recognize the same principle, and make provision for transitional or emergency payments in lieu of the measures of direct relief now in effect.

At the time of the revision of the British Unemployment Insurance Act in 1920 (it was originally enacted in 1911), insured workers who were unemployed numbered only about 500,000. Because of the trade depression, however, which soon followed, the number wholly unemployed had by June, 1921, increased to 2,000,000. Another 1,000,000 was working part time also and claiming insurance benefits.

New Act Meets Emergency

As it had been impossible, during the short time in which the revised act had been in effect, to build up reserves from contributions of workers out of which benefits could be paid, it was necessary to pass a new act in March, 1921, to meet the emergency.

As the result of conditions then existing, an entirely new principle was adopted which has been defined as "uncovenanted benefit" or "transitional benefit" payments. Stated in brief form, it provided that an unemployed person who normally would be employed in an insured industry might receive benefits even though he had never contributed to the insurance funds. These "transitional benefits" were paid entirely from the British Exchequer or Treasury. In round numbers, such emergency advances by the government amounted during the period 1922-1930 inclusive to 113.2 million pounds, or more than $500,000,000 in terms of American money. In 1930 alone, when the depression and unemployment became more acute, the cost of "transitional benefits" to the government amounted to $107,000,000; and the estimated cost in 1931 was more than $194,000,000. Since the "Labor Government" lost control, these emergency unemployment benefits have taken the form of direct relief.

It seems to me also that at the present time in our own country, when we agree upon a plan of unemployment insurance, because of the emergency conditions which will prevail until normal industrial operations or economic recovery have been attained, it would be indeed a policy of enlightened social and industrial statesmanship if, in lieu of direct relief, we would make provision for Federal appropriations to unemployment insurance funds sufficient to pay benefits to those now unemployed who normally would be employed; and also additional appropriations to provide rehabilitation for those who, because of mechanization and improved technological methods, will be permanently unemployed, unless they are trained and prepared for occupations other than those which they originally followed.

"MUDDY" BERRY with KAY KYSER

There must be a reason why such a large percentage of leading professionals prefer Leedy equipment. It will pay you to follow their example. See the splendid new models at your music dealer's now.

THE tone test LEADS TO the FRENCH SELMER TRUMPET Every time!

If you are interested only in fast valve action and good tuning, there are a number of trumpets that will serve your purpose. But if, in addition, you want gloriously rich, vibrant and smooth TONE, then you are speaking SELMER'S language! We don't ask you to take our word for it. In fact, we'd prefer that you let the TONE TEST decide. Have a critic sit "out front" while you play the same selections on different makes of trumpets. Ask him to decide which one produces the smoothest, richest, most penetrating TONE. If he's a discriminating judge, he'll select SELMER every time. SELMER tone quality isn't left to chance. It's built in—built in by the process that produces the extra degree of vibrancy to be found only in French brass; built in by the artist-craftsman who spends two full days hand-hammering the one-piece trumpet bell; built in by the manner in which French trumpet perfection is combined with American-type valve perfection.

After all, the job of the musician is to create MUSIC—and the quality of that music determines his value to his outfit. That is why the FRENCH SELMER TRUMPET is the logical choice of the ambitious artist. The coupon will bring either further information or a 6-day trial without cost or obligation.

NOTHING BETTER UNDER THE SUN
Adams Self-Instructor for Guitar (Spanish)

An easy and authoritative, inexpensive method that can be used as a self-instructor when the occasion demands. All the chords used in popular music are shown and explained by diagrams and notes. THERE'S NOTHING LIKE IT ON THE MARKET. It starts out with the familiar melodies like Old Black Joe, Home Sweet Home and other numbers that are known so a player can know how they are getting along—and then it takes you into POPULAR SONGS. After the chords are learned in the various keys (the notes and diagrams make this so easy) you can play accompaniments to the new popular songs by READING FROM THE REGULAR SHEET MUSIC COPY. ADAMS SELF-INSTRUCTOR is really a great book—nothing on the market comparable—it will POSITIVELY GET RESULTS. Price 60c

Have You Studied Harmony?

Music is a universal language and like the language of speech has its own grammar. The grammar of Music is Harmony—and if you have not studied the subject you should not delay any longer.

Learn to analyze compositions—to identify the chords used and thereby get an intimate knowledge of the intention of the composer. You get at a real understanding of the basis of phrasing and accent, which is interpretation, through a knowledge of the chords used. A knowledge of Harmony helps to satisfy the natural curiosity of every player, which is "How did the composer write it?"

Harmony will also help you to memorize more readily and more permanently because you understand the reason for the progression of chords used, and are able, therefore, to carry it better in mind.

Let us give you free, a practical demonstration of the thoroughness of our methods, and how easily you can master any of our courses. Sample lessons will be sent without obligation to you.

Only by making an examination of the actual lessons can you form an intelligent opinion of the real merit of this remarkable method of music instruction. They will show you how quickly you can equip yourself for greater things in a musical way and make more money from music than ever before.

Get Catalog and Sample Lessons of these Harmony Lessons; also our other courses. It costs you nothing—you have everything to gain and nothing to lose. State age and course in which interested. Try the Lessons, then decide.

The Survey of What We Might Have Had

SIXTY per cent of the people of the United States are so poor that they cannot provide themselves with proper housing. Almost as many—59 per cent—do not get enough of the right kind of food to eat for the same reason. The country collectively is spending one dollar on education where it should spend three; and all the doctors and nurses in the land could be kept busy full time to the great benefit of the people.

These are some of the outstanding statements made by the National Survey of Potential Product Capacity—which is a long-word way of saying how much we could do for ourselves if we had sense. The survey, authorized by the Federal Government, has had the services of some of the country's foremost engineers and economists—and the results are startling.

We have deprived ourselves, says the survey of $287,000,000,000 of goods and services since 1929. We need these goods and services for a complete and comfortable life; and we have the land, the labor and the machinery to produce them. But our methods of distribution are so snarled and tangled that "We have poverty in the midst of potential plenty, unsalable surpluses, uncalled for credit, while idle men become indigent men and ask nothing better than to be allowed to create wealth."

The complete report of the survey is not available; but it is obvious that it strikes straight at what organized labor has marked from the first, the low buying power of workers. To give all the American people the life they have a right to expect, says the survey, each of the 27,000,000 families in this country should have an income around $4,500 a year. Only a small fraction of these families had such an income, even in 1929.

The greatest shortage of all the survey finds is housing. We need, it declares, to build 1,550,000 homes a year for the next ten years to bring our housing up to its proper level. But the survey insists that the resources of the country are ample to reach and pass the ambitious goal which it has set.

The Dawes Disgrace

ANOTHER milestone in the financial chronicles of Charles G. Dawes was passed when the Dawes-controlled Central Republic Bank of Chicago was thrown into receivership, owing the RFC around $61,000,000 of principal and interest. It is one of the most disgraceful episodes in the history of American banking—and an appalling share of our banking is disgraceful.

Dawes was the first chairman of the RFC. He announced that he was really needed at home, but would stay for a while to get the new venture to running. After some months he resigned, saying that the RFC could get along without him, now.

It did not have the chance to get along without him. A few days after Dawes had walked out of the front door as resigning chairman, he walked back by a side door as an applicant for the most gigantic loan the RFC has made. He borrowed $10,000,000 on June 27, 1932—several mistakes have been made on that score, so the RFC was asked to verify the figures given here. He got another $30,000,000 June 29, 1932; and a final bite of $50,000,000 October 5 of the same year.

His bank refused to receive deposits at about the same time; the dates given vary only a day or two. He borrowed $90,000,000; and interest on that sizable borrowing is figured at the RFC at $3,676,779.47. The Dawes bank has paid principal and interest of $32,247, 277.44. The exact dates of the payments would have to be taken as basis for an exact statement of the present debt, but the rough statement of $61,000,000 made above is substantially correct.

Shape the course of a government lending agency, largest in the world, by being its first chief. By the same means, win prestige with its staff. Resign, with a grandiloquent gesture—and then slip back and borrow from that institution for a bank which Dawes, of all men, ought to have known was on the rocks.

Our bankers have been almost as much of a national disgrace as our handits. The wholesale failure of American banks proves that. English banks do not fail, nor Canadian, nor French, nor Dutch; and if a bank in Copenhagen closed its doors, the whole population of Denmark would fall off its bicycles in sheer amazement. But even our long record of bankrupt banks holds no more disgraceful instance than this.

The President's Birthday

LABOR pushes forward, rallying its nation-wide forces for participation in the greatest national Birthday Ball for the President under the chairmanship of William Green as head of Labor's Advisory Committee, which serves as a unit under the general national chairmanship of Col. Henry L. Doherty.

Invitations have gone to all labor editors asking them to accept membership in a national labor press committee as a part of the labor division.

Already central bodies all over the country are going into action in preparation for the great celebration on January 30. It is emphasized by the officers of the labor division that it is desirable that labor co-operate with other civic and fraternal bodies wherever possible and that distinctly labor celebrations be held only where it is impossible to co-operate with the groups of the entire community. Where it is finally found that no other groups will take the lead, it is hoped that labor will take the lead, rather than allow a default.

Slum Eradication

ONE of the most encouraging features of the recovery program which seems to have the unqualified approval of the entire official personnel of the Administration is that program providing for the eradication of uninhabitable dwellings, and the launching of a home building program which, upon its completion, will provide every family with a modern, livable home at a cost within the reach of the average American family.

In this land of opportunity, there can be no justification for the continued existence of such dwellings as may be found in all of our city tenement districts, which shelter numerous families and breed not only disease, but crime.

Happy, contented homes are the birthplaces of good citizenry, and are the government's strongest protection against seeds of sedition that too often are implanted in the minds of our young people by anti-American propagandists who have access to the congregating places of the children and adolescent youths whose home environment is such that they are forced to seek pleasure and relaxation in the companionship of undesirable associates who unfortunately are to be found in alarming numbers in all of our major cities.

Labor Queries

Questions and Answers on Labor: What It Has Done; Where It Stands on Problems of the Day; Its Aim and Program; Who's Who in the Ranks of the Organized Toilers.

Q.—Does the Federal Government publish figures on union wage rates?

A.—Yes. The Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor, first began in 1912 to collect information on wage rates and hours of labor in timework trades, as agreed to by organized workers and their employers, and has collected, compiled and published such figures since then, up to and including the year 1933.

Q.—Is the labor press mentioned in the constitution of the American Federation of Labor?

A.—The Constitution (Article II, Section 5) declares that one of the objects of the A. F. of L. is "to aid and encourage the labor press of America."

Q.—What prominent trade union official was elected to a high State office in November?

A.—Thomas Kennedy, International Secretary-Treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, was elected lieutenant-governor of Pennsylvania.

Q.—Is there any record of the first labor organization in Washington, D. C.?

A.—Printers say that Columbia Typographical Union No. 101, which celebrated its one hundredth anniversary in 1915, was the first labor union in the national capital.

Out Beyond the Surf

Where thought, un-hastened by necessity or trepidation, sometimes penetrates to truth. Here, where the shallow waves throw no spray, let us ponder and enjoy the lessons of the art and the work and play of life.

And so Donald Richberg and Gen. Johnson are at it again. Richberg tells the Saturday Evening Post he will hold the Satevepost responsible for any libelous matter it may print about him from the flashing pen of the militant Johnson.

It will be hoped by a great many persons—several more than would have so hoped a year ago—that Johnson will say what is on his mind and that the Satevepost will print it as written.

This probably is not because there are any more friends in Johnson's corner, but that because there are fewer in Richberg's corner.

There is none in Washington more affable than Richberg, in his public appearances. Also there is none more skilled in the insertion of a word that extracts the meaning from its predecessor. That's part of the story.

Another part of the story is that Donald Richberg seems to have gone a bit high hat, up-stage, or whatever it may be called.

But at any rate, whatever may be the reason, the circulation of the Post probably will go up several copies when the Johnson chapters make their debut.

If it be thought queer that two men who seem to dislike each other cordially have warm friendship in the White House, that must be put down merely as one of the peculiarities of present-day Washington.

Of course, the difference is that there is friendship for Richberg and he has immense power. There is friendship for Johnson and he has little or no power.

And that is quite a difference, when you come to think of it.

Johnson says that when all the dead cats were coming his way he put up no squawk, he didn't tell publishers to beware what they printed about him. He just let them sling all there was in the basket. Which happens to be true.

That isn't to say Johnson liked all that was said or that he took it all with a grin. There are those who say he kept fairly close track of what the critics said and, while he let them say it, he stored up the memories. Perhaps that was human enough.

But Johnson was, in the vernacular, the better sport and plenty who didn't like his policies admired his nerve.

The inner secret of the Johnson-Richberg row seems never to have come to light. Perhaps now we shall know at least one side of it. It will be interesting, even if it isn't important.

The whole thing would have much more importance if it were a row between a clear-cut conservative and a clear-cut liberal, or progressive.

But it isn't. Neither one is clear-cut either way. Both had and have inclinations both ways.

But of Johnson it must be said that when he said something he said it with directness. He didn't load his sentences with qualifying words which could take the meaning out of what he seemed to say. If he meant to say "Oh, hell," he said "Oh, hell," and that was that. He didn't say "Oh, varisimilitude of hell," or words to that effect.

These things being as they are, the final wonder of it all is that if Richberg really hoped to snare the General into his net he didn't keep still until the General wrote a really scorching libel, then drag him into court and sock him with a good stiff judgment.

Perhaps Gen. Johnson wonders about that, too, and grins.

What a Change!

THE proposal to put all electric current in a single, nation-wide pool, controlled by the Federal government, is sharpening the cries of anguish of some utility magnates as they see their dividends on "write-ups" slipping farther from their grasp. But think what would have happened if such a plan had been seriously suggested a few years ago. Even so lately as the 1932 campaign, every rugged individualist in the land would have rallied his fainting energies to resist such a bolshevik scheme.

While now, the plan is very well received—which does not in the least mean that it will be accepted and carried into effect. It means only that the American people have gotten over being frightened by words, or enraged at the prospect of the "government going into business." The questions asked now about such a plan are, "how will it work?" "What will it cost?" and "is there a better way?"

The education of the American people in economics has made notable progress in the last few years, even in the last few months. And on this particular matter of electricity, the T V A has been a potent teacher.

FEDERATION

By CHAUNCEY A. WEAVER

In a recent issue of the Metronome we find an article from the pen of President Albert L. Eggert of Local No. 30, St. Paul, Minn., which is a plea for relief in the way of governmental music. Brother Eggert, who, by the way, is secretary to the Mayor of St. Paul, and who also represented the St. Paul Trades Council at the San Francisco Labor Convention as a delegate, has had much practical contact with these problems, and so long as government is pretending to give serious consideration to this phase of employment, he is able to give worthwhile counsel to the promoters of the movement. In the course of his Metronome contribution Brother Eggert says:

But music, being an art, its professional exponents are therefore artists and it seems likewise logical to assume that in view of the peculiarities of this profession the government should authorize a project calling for the employment of professional musicians as artists at a standard of living wage, such project to be known as the ARA (Artists' Relief Administration).

While such a program would undoubtedly be of a temporary character, the value of "living" music has never been so apparent as at present. With this thought in mind I have placed before the State Recreational Director the question of governmental sponsorship of the art, patterned after the method in vogue in Europe, asking him to submit this timely matter to Washington authorities.

The propriety of governmental sponsorship is justified not only because music is the finest of the arts, but because of its inspirational elements and its revivifying influence.

As a vital essential the need of music has never been so apparent as at present. A nation without music is a nation with a deadened soul. As a governmental function no greater service could be performed than to fill our land with inspiring melody in living form.

As a governmental subsidy under efficient supervision, public musical performances by professional musicians (artists) would be provided in public parks and public buildings throughout the nation to an extent limited only by good judgment, and its many beneficial possibilities would accrue to the happiness and prosperity of a vitally alive government—not only for the time being, but everlastingly.

Consistent with the foregoing expression of view, Delegates Eggert, Ringius, Weber, Canavan, Weaver, Bagley, Castronovo and Kapl introduced Resolution No. 167 at the San Francisco National Convention of the American Federation of Labor:

WHEREAS, Music, the most ancient of the fine arts, having its inception in the soul of humankind at the birth of Creation, thereby irrevocably establishing it as the inherent birthright of such human kind, has been seriously threatened by:

1. The invasion of so-called "canned" or synthetic music machines, by which is transmitted the audible reproduction, or sound photography, of musical renditions, debasing the art and its cultural requirements, destroying employment opportunities and educational possibilities of this and coming generations, in addition to denying the people in general the inspirational qualities and uplifting tendencies which can only be induced by "in person" contact;

2. The economic depression further embarrassed the professional musician, who, as such, has been deprived of employment in a field, to enter which requires a proficiency attained only after constant and intensive study and practice from an early age; and which period of depression has removed from the people the beneficial influence of "living" music hitherto enjoyed by them and provided by municipal and tax-levying bodies until discontinued in general on the plea of so-called economy; and

WHEREAS, The loss of "living" music has brought privation and distress to its professional exponents, because of loss of employment in their chosen vocation; has throttled the ambition of aspiring youth in the field of music, and in consequence has reduced commercial advantages of educational and industrial institutions directly pertinent to the art and its specialized requirements; and has added to the mental depression of a sorely tried people denied its inspiring and encouraging qualities; and

WHEREAS, Music in "living" form is a vital necessity, occupying an imperishable position in the affairs of mankind, providing in times of dire distress and unrest that soothing and encouraging influence so necessary to revive hope and inspire with courage and determination to overcome trying obstacles to the end that future normalcy and equilibrium—effectively acknowledged by the presence of peace, happiness and prosperity—may be assured through the medium and assistance of "living" music; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the certain resolution, designated as Resolution No. 16, adopted by the convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, August 21, 1934, to wit:

"Resolution No. 16—Introduced by delegates representing Musicians Union No. 30, St. Paul.

"BE IT RESOLVED, That this convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor support the American Federation of Musicians, the affiliated brotherhood of the American Federation of Labor, and do all within its power to assist the former in its efforts to persuade our Government to subsidize the art of music and establish a permanent foundation for same in the nature of an annual budget for the purpose of supporting symphony orchestras, bands and operas in "living" form in such communities and to such an extent as may be dictated by a good and wise judgment, that the educational, social and industrial welfare of the people may be advanced, thus restoring and perpetuating the cultural refinements and dignity of an art attained by centuries of progress, that this generation, and generations yet to come, may receive to the full its measure of munificence; be it further

"RESOLVED, That the President and Secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and the President and Secretary of American Federation of Musicians be advised immediately of the action of this, the convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, anent this resolution.

"The committee recommended concurrence in the resolution. The report of the committee was adopted."

be approved and adopted by this, the Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor, and that it be transmitted to the proper legislative authorities with instructions to formulate an appropriate bill for presentation to, and earnest consideration of, the Congress of the United States.

In connection with the foregoing resolution the Labor Convention Committee also recommended that "the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated organizations give full support to all cultural activities undertaken by municipalities, States and the Federal Government, and that the Executive Council be instructed to consider ways and means of furthering the development of cultural requirements and opportunities for wage earners."

Thus the leaven of a good cause is plainly working, thought is expanding, and perhaps the day will come when many now living will be permitted to witness that recognition of the musical art at the hands of government, which has been the dream of hopeful minorities for many a long day past.

Executive Officer A. C. Hayden has been elected to his twenty-eight consecutive term as president of Local No. 161, Washington, D. C., and he is not fortified with any District of Columbia civil service barricades, either. Congratulations both to the parties of the first and of the second part.

Local No. 761, of Williamsport, Pa., is mourning the loss of Secretary Myron K. Kaufman, who passed away recently after a record of long and faithful service. He had been secretary of the Rapasz Band for more than 25 years and had been prominent in local musical circles for a long period. He was sixty years of age and leaves a wife. The final rites were under the auspices of the Elks' organization. Appropriate music was rendered by a brass quartet from the band in which he held membership.

Our apologies to the distinguished bandmaster of the Golden Gate Park Band for mis-spelling his name in our report of the San Francisco Labor Convention in the November issue of the International Musician. His name is Alfred Arriola—and not Arraldo, as we gave it. The Arriolas are an old family of musicians on the Pacific Coast and the gentleman in question is maintaining the fine traditions of the family name in a fashion to challenge admiration and respect. A brother of the bandmaster, Carlos Arriola, is a talented flute player, holding membership in Local No. 47, at Los Angeles.

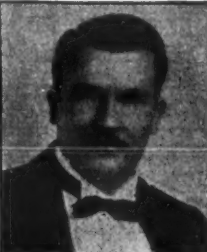

The American Federation of Musicians has lost a fine character in the passing of Jacob L. Grosh, who died at his home at No. 520 Spruce Street, Lititz, Pa., on November 21, 1934. Lititz is not far from Lancaster, in which latter place Brother Grosh was a merchant for many years, but was also long identified in all matters musical. Lancaster, Local No. 294, was organized in April, 1903. Brother Grosh was its first secretary and served in that capacity for thirty years, or until condition of his health required relinquishment of the position. He was a delegate to the Colorado Springs, Niagara Falls, Baltimore, Louisville, Denver and Chattanooga national conventions. At the Denver convention, as shown by the official proceedings, the delegates took special recognition of his 78th birthday, the date being May 22. He was an orchestra leader for many years and took great interest and pride in the profession. He leaves a wife and one son. The final rites took place at Lancaster. We remember him as a kindly and genial personality and know he will be deeply missed in the community where he was so well and favorably known for so many years.

Denver is organizing a fine symphony orchestra. Local No. 20 has always stood for the best musical standards, and there should be readily available support in that thriving mountain metropolis to make the movement a pronounced success.

Of course, the New Deal would be beyond criticism if the game were duces wild.

Perhaps the most optimistic note sounded in these recent depression-ridden days is the following paragraph from the Musician-News-Reporter of Sioux Falls, S. D., Local No. 114:

It may be that we have a lot of members out of work and who cannot find employment in the musical field, but in spite of that fact it is discovered that we are entirely unable to fill the jobs that now exist on Saturday nights. Several halls in and around the city are regularly using non-union musicians, a few because they prefer that class of animals, and the others because we are not able to supply the demand. There is an opportunity now for some young fellows who like to play dances and night clubs to get in the Local and pick up some of this loose work now going to scabs and non-union people.

Possibly the musicians who responded to the Utopian call sounded by Upton Sinclair out California way will now begin a trek in the direction of the land of the Dakotas, to which Sioux Falls is the southeastern gateway. We have no desire to promote a colonization scheme in that territory, but we are anxious that those Saturday night jobs should be filled with union musicians.

Thank goodness there was enough corn raised through the West to produce another small squad of corn-husking champions.

We are informed that some of the annual Local elections this season were warm enough to ease the chill of the surrounding atmosphere.

After twenty-two years of faithful service as Treasurer of Local No. 97, Lockport, N. Y., Frank Rosenberg has retired from active duty. As a testimonial of its appreciation the Local has conferred upon Brother Rosenberg the title of Honorary Treasurer. The American Federation of Musicians can count, in the enumeration of its elements of strength, the large number of members who have stood by the organization not only in pleasant, but in stormy weather—of which number Treasurer Rosenberg seems to be a representative type.

It is a wonderful set of New Year's Resolutions which prove strong enough to last at least until Ground Hog Day.

We recall that President Grover Cleveland was once criticised for making a remark to the effect that he had "Congress on his hands." We have an idea that President Roosevelt will soon discover that the Cleveland observation was in no sense an exaggeration.

Asbury Park, Ocean Grove—how refreshing the breezes in June-time!

SAYS OF HIS BUESCHER:

"I would use the baritone which suits me best, regardless of the make or any advertising involved—but I have never found a better one than Buescher." (10-8-34.)

There's a "young army" of saxophone players that give equally high praise to their Bueschers. Improvements on the new models give an amazing command in the intricate passages of modern arrangements.

The Thrilling Sax Tone MEANS SUCCESS TO YOU

Of first importance is the lay, or facing, of your mouthpiece; to have the finest instrument, perfectly adjusted, is not sufficient. You may never find a stock mouthpiece that is suited to your requirements, but the "mouthpiece doctor to America's most particular players" has devised a questionnaire which enables him to make a facing suited to your individual requirements on your new (or old) mouthpiece. A Refacing by Guy Reid costs only $1.50, and is guaranteed to please, or money refunded.

Send for questionnaire.

100% Bach

A FINE brass combination that many musical directors would like to get a hold of. DON MOORE (formerly Ziegfeld Theatre) is a crack first trumpeter who is routined in high class dance as well as theatre and symphony work. He has a remarkable range and juggles the top notes like a piccolo player. MICKEY BLOOM is one of the leading "hot" players of the N. B. C. and Columbia broadcasting studios, as well as a composer of popular song hits. He helps to put plenty of pep in the "Hollywood" Revue. HARRY WILFORD (formerly first trumpet with Charlie Davis) also specializes in popular music and when he "lets loose" with his Bach, the walls begin to shake. "RED" STANLEY plays first trombone. High notes, low notes, hot breaks—nothing is too difficult for him. Like the man on the flying trapeze, he handles his Bach with the greatest of ease and he is the star comedian of the band. BILL ROBERTSON changes off on first chair trombone with Stanley, and feels that he couldn't keep pace with him without a Bach.

To BACH: December 26, 1934.

We have used nothing but Bachs for a good many years. We were amazed when we first got our trumpets and we are no less enthusiastic today. Hardly a week passes but some salesman approaches us to try some other make "just as good," but we have yet to find the instrument which scores half as many points as the Bach.

(Signed) DONALD MOORE
MICKEY BLOOM
HARRY WILFORD

A FEW WORDS OF PRAISE: December 26, 1934.

Never before have we played trombones like the new Model 6. The slide action is unsurpassed, the intonation perfect, and the response beyond reproach. Words cannot describe the genuine pleasure we derive from the use of this superb instrument.

100% Bach

THE outstanding radio and recording work of this famous brass section has brought high acclaim from all over the country and has stamped these musicians as artists of the first rank. Listen to their phonograph records and you will instantly be struck by the rich, smooth tone produced by these distinguished instrumentalists with their Bachs.

DEAR MR. BACH: December 27, 1934.

Our set of Bachs tops any trumpets or trombones we ever used. We still marvel at the easy response, the great flexibility, and—what we need most—the wonderful valve and slide action. Please accept our compliments on this new Bach line—the "Rolls-Royce" of brasses.

Yours cordially,

These are only two of the many "name" bands which are 100% Bach. Others are: Casa Loma (3 Bach cornets, 3 Bach trombones), Isham Jones (3 Bach cornets, 2 Bach trombones), Waring's "Pennsylvanians" (3 Bach trumpets, 2 Bach trombones), Joe Haymes (3 Bach trumpets, 2 Bach trombones), Don Bestor (2 Bach trumpets, 1 Bach trombone), Little Jack Little (2 Bach trumpets, 1 Bach trombone), and hundreds of other celebrated artists. Tune in on their radio broadcasts and you will quickly recognize the outstanding characteristics of Bach brasses. If any of these fine orchestras appear in your city, ask to meet the players personally and get first-hand information as to why they prefer BACHS.

SOME ODD LAWS

An old Philadelphia law authorizes the mayor to fix the price of drinks. An act made in 1718 gives the mayor, recorder, and aldermen the power to fix the price of all liquors retailed in public houses.

In the staid statutes of every State and many municipalities in the nation there are jokes—jokes worthy of this.

Nobody pays any attention to these freak rules and regulations, but the legislators keep right on decorating State codes and city ordinance books with more unenforceable, ridiculous statutes. Here are some of the more ludicrous ones:

It is illegal to peel an orange in a California hotel room.

Hire your neighbor's cook and you can be imprisoned in Florida.

A North Carolina statute says twin beds must be at least two feet apart.

In Vancouver, Canada, it's unlawful to ride a tricycle more than ten miles an hour.

In Kansas—where tobacco chewing must be an old Jayhawk custom—a law requires that every public building be provided with a sufficient number of cuspidors.

It is against the law in Nebraska for a woman to wear skirts more than eight inches from the floor.

In Joliet, Ill., it is unlawful for a woman to try on more than six dresses in one store.

In Massachusetts it is illegal for a woman to appear in public with her face powdered or rouged. In Massachusetts it is also unlawful for anyone to promote a masked ball.

No person in Connecticut may chew tobacco without a doctor's permit. In the same State is is against the law for a man to shave himself on Sunday.

Much Dis-cussed.

Harold—Mother, I've got to take my saxophone act off the air. The radio company's against profanity.

Mother—Yes, but son, you never swear.
Harold—No, but apparently all the listeners do.—Ex.

COMMENT ON Riding at Anchor World Events

The people of the United States want an economic order that will serve the common good, the Rev. R. A. McGowan, assistant director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference Department of Social Action, says in discussing proposed changes in the recovery program. His views undoubtedly are held by many citizens and are worth the consideration of all. He says:

"The story is that a new N R A law will be written in the next Congress, that unemployment insurance of a kind will be set up and that a large amount of public works, with the emphasis on housing, will be provided to prime the pump.

"More public works seems necessary. Housing is a grand place to start. Greater interest lies in what kind of N R A will result from the new Congress and what kind of unemployment insurance will be established. The best prognosticators now say that the only great difference in the N R A will be a legal determination of what the organized business men of an industry can do about prices and quantity of output without being considered a monopoly. They also say that unemployment insurance will be a co-operative venture of some kind between the Federal government and the States.

"The N R A needs more than that. It needs a Wagner bill to veto employers' control or influence over unions among their employees. It needs, it seems also, some kind of law on hours to force the codes to reduce hours to 30 or 33 or to show cause why they cannot. Hours certainly have to be cut. A flat 30-hour law, for example, may cause hardship to certain industries. But if the law permits exemptions on proof after open hearings, then we could have as much of our cake as would be good for us. Without some such law it seems impossible to get hours cut enough now.

"The N R A needs also some provision that will put representatives of the unions of an industry upon the code authority of that industry. It seems, too, that if the N R A is the organ through which we cut hours, establish minimum wages and plan a stable and satisfactory system of providing goods and distributing them, then anything so close to wages, hours and stable production as insurance for unemployment ought to be administered by the N R A. It should be handled by committees for the various industries. The committees certainly should include labor union representatives.

"What are we after, anyway? We want revived business. But whatever spurt is necessary for business, we want the beginnings of an economic order that will do two things: Produce all the goods we need. Distribute them to all the people. We cannot get this by turning over to organized business men alone the control over prices and output. For their aim is maximum profits and not to produce and distribute for the good of all.

"Moreover, the power of the chief owners and creditors so motivated and so organized as to succeed in the motive breaks ordinary government control over prices and output. Bring the economic power of unions into the codes and there is a new economic power at work to make industry live for the good of all."

Looked Up, and Hushed Up.

"I understand you have been having your family tree looked up," said Jones.

"Yes," replied Brown, "and it cost me $5,000."

"Quite expensive, wasn't it?"

"Yes, but it cost only $2,000 to have it looked up. The other $3,000 was what I paid to have it hushed up."—Ex.

Riding at Anchor

By MR. MODESTUS

Adventure—
That is, a turning toward—something—
It means, a venture—an uncertainty.

Excursion—
That is, a going out of—
And a moving away from,
Wherever you have been up to now.

Adventure, excursion—
That has been happening to America—
For the last five years.

Release from old surroundings—
Cutting off old associations—
Original decisions—made upon demand of new conditions—

Actions outside the realm of old habits.
Compulsion of strange forces—
Facing of untried possibilities—
All of this has come to the American people,
Since the Great Depression—
Came around the corner.

Concerning four million families—
Is the adventure, the excursion—
Especially and most forcefully true.
The four million families who are on "relief"—
Are testing the sensations of new sets of conditions.

Old habits of "making a living"—
Habits of "keeping up with the Joneses"—
Habits of housekeeping, and of clothing—
Habits of working—or of not working—
Money-habits—giving way to money-less habits—

Habits that go with "these things are mine"— Giving way to other habits of "glad to have anything"—

Habits of using the hands—
Of lifting, and pushing, and cutting, and fitting—
Habits of looking, or watching, or listening, or feeling—
Useful habits once—for holding your job—

Habits almost forgotten now—
How good it would feel to get back into them—

Like the feel of an old shoe—even if it pinched somewhere—
These habits are all getting flabby—
They don't hold one in place any more—
Although they used to be in control—
They could be depended upon to carry through—

If one was a little tired, or off-color.
* * *
These are the skill-habits—
From which mechanics have been taking excursions—
The service-habits, from which we have been adventuring.

Millions of us have almost lost the old habits—
Which enabled us to fit into the places where we lived.

There used to be about 75,000 mechanics—
Working in the machine-tool manufactures.

Today, there are not enough of them to meet the demand.
They have been adventuring—
Off on excursions—riding freight trains, thumbing their way—
There is work for them now—
But they don't come back.

* * *
What new sets of habits do you suppose their adventures have formed?

The Canny Judge.

A Scotsman had been arrested for inebriety, and had an unusual excuse in court the next day.

"I wasna' drunk," he said earnestly.
"I found meself outside a church and, knowin' ma unorthodoxy to gang inside, I knelt down on the steps and said a wee bit o' prayer."

"I see; you were really holding a little service of your own?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes, that was it, sir."
"Well, we'll now take up the collection. Two dollars, please."—Ex.

The Cherry Tree Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly

Ponderous people, writing to fill up New Year's editions, already have their columns of historical dope ready. They have picked out all the big things that happened in 1934, which is now about to wrap itself in icy sheets and depart this life.

Well, there were plenty of happenings. And it isn't true that the world wags along "in the same old way." It wags a lot differently.

Some of the big things that have happened in 1934 have contributed to the change in the way of wagging, but the things that failed to happen contributed quite as much to the change.

The biggest thing that that didn't happen was that ten million people didn't go back to work and that's the main reason why there isn't any wagging in the same old way and why there is going to be an even greater change in the manner and method of wagging along.

Truth is there isn't any more wagging at all. Wagging is a leisurely process and there isn't any more leisurely process in the business of moving along.

There's a terrific rush of speed today in the readjustment of social, economic and political affairs, even though it may not always seem so. Hold 1934 up against a background of events in, for example, 1900.

The speed will be greater. Either 1935 will bring us a speed of change that will just about take our breaths away, or else, if there is a slowing in 1935, then 1936 will move fast enough to make up for it.

The closing year was full of great events and they were of great importance, but the things that didn't happen are of equal importance, historically. Someone ought to make a catalog of the things that didn't happen.

Flash historians — those who get up fast columns of breezy facts — seldom put the weight where it belongs.

Fires and calamities and crimes were not the things that marked the course of the race in 1934. They had importance, mostly to those immediately affected. They didn't do much to social currents or have much bearing on where the masses will be a year from now, or ten.

Whether public enemy No. 1 was slain wasn't of much importance. There was and is more importance in the changing current of causes that cause or encourage crime.

It is interesting that Milwaukee, with perhaps the lowest municipal crime rate, is about the biggest municipal spender on education and recreation, and about the lowest spender on police, courts and jails.

Perhaps strikes weren't so important as what caused them. If the causes aren't removed there will be more strikes. By and large the causes will not be removed

BIG CHAINS FEATURE SANNELLA—Andy Sannella, popular soloist and conductor of NBC and CBS studios, is now being featured on the big chains in some of the finest saxophone performances ever on the air. Tune in on the Manhattan Merry Go Round, WEAF 9:30 EST, Sunday evenings, or on the Dr. Hills Program WABC (CBS outlet) or on the WJZ, Hazel Arth feature. For hot sax choruses and all round proficiency, Sannella's performance is nothing less than remarkable. Previously on such programs as Lucky Strike, General Motors, Frigidaire, Campbell's Soup, etc.—Sannella has earned a tremendous following. About two years ago, "Andy" picked a Conn sax as his ideal instrument. The instrument he has been and is now playing is the Conn 6-M-4 Alto of which he wrote us on October 5, 1934. "It's the best instrument for all purposes—especially radio and recording."

SAX APPEAL FOR CANTOR—This snapshot of a bill board in Manhattan features Eddie Cantor in his newest show, Kid Millions. Eddie's pose with the Conn C Melody saxophone suggests that, as a musician, he is a great comedian. Anyhow, his publicity man knows how to capitalize on the public interest in this popular instrument.

NEWSY NOTES of popular Artists!

SUCCESSFUL ARTISTS of today have found the key to popularity. It means keeping up with the latest trends in modern music. It requires, also, the newest and best in modern instruments. The new model Conns—from piccolo to sousaphone—offer revolutionary improvements that greatly enhance performance.

See them at your Conn dealer's. Or write for free book on your favorite instrument.

C. G. CONN, Ltd., 123 Conn Building ELKHART, INDIANA

ON TOUR WITH MUSSOLINI'S BAND—Even Il Duce, Italy's dynamic dictator, recognizes the need of good band music to inspire his followers. The famous Mussolini Band is a familiar sight at administration affairs in Italy. Also broadcast government radio concerts. Now touring the United States. DI Renzo Felice is the accomplished euphonium soloist with the band. He owns and plays a Conn euphonium and wrote us on Nov. 7, 1934, in warm praise of the instrument. Felice is the center figure in the photograph above. At his right is Simone Mantia, premier American euphonium soloist. At his left is David Boyd, New York, trombone and euphonium artist.

WITH DENNY AT THE BILTMORE—Jack Denny and his popular orchestra are now appearing at the Biltmore Hotel, New York City—following Paul Whiteman into this choice spot. Also a great radio favorite, playing many fine engagements, including a big NBC hook-up at 9:30 every Wednesday night. Carroll B. Bates, accomplished trombonist, shown above, is one of the reasons for the excellence of Denny programs. A very fine musician, previously with Ziegfeld Follies and for years first chair man at the Capitol theatre, New York. Mr. Bates plays a 44H Gold Conqueror and writes on Nov. 10, 1934, "Conns are, without doubt, the finest trombones made."

CONN BAND INSTRUMENTS

ALL CONN TESTIMONIALS ARE GUARANTEED TO BE VOLUNTARY

in 1935 and there will be more strikes.

Speaking of strikes, 1934 saw America's biggest strike—in the textile industry—and perhaps its most successful. Perhaps 1935 will see a repetition. Some mill owners are trying hard to preserve the causes.

But above all else there stands the monumental fact of unemployment, with more than ten millions idle. The best employers can suggest is the dole. A poor thing, that is. No cure for anything except immediate starvation and historically that will show up as an effort to administer soothing syrup where an operation was required.

Oh, well, page by page calendars pass into the waste basket and in some measure life itself is like that—unless we learn from life and apply the lessons.

A year closes; a year comes; and greater things than ever will happen.

Remarkable Things Said

Labor is today in Germany in a state of semi-serfdom with the lash in the hands of the employers. The result is that, having a regard to the cost of living, wages are lower than they have been for fifty years.—Samuel Untermyer.

The relief problem will be with us for a long time. It is going to take not only millions, but it will run into billions. Every dollar saved in administration means food and shelter for the needy and the unhoused.—Senator William E. Borah.

The challenge to us today is to be doers in the field in which we think.—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

WHEN PATRONIZING OUR ADVERTISERS, KINDLY MENTION THE INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN.
