The start of something big

Recording star... supper club headliner... featured performer on network television — singer Lainie Kazan is a newcomer who is making it big. Today, she is becoming one of entertainment's brightest stars. Thanks, in part, to "Repertoire Workshop."

Like hundreds of other young hopefuls, Lainie received early television exposure on "Repertoire Workshop." (So did Dom DeLuise, Mariette Hartley, Thelma Oliver and the Back Porch Majority.) A joint production of the five CBS Owned television stations, "Repertoire Workshop" was created specifically to give talented beginners in all phases of the performing arts a chance to be seen by large audiences in five major cultural centers.

To that end, during its four-year existence, the Workshop has held 10,653 auditions; read 2,438 original scripts; screened films by the hundreds; heard original musical compositions by the score; scouted local little theatre groups, colleges and universities, clubs and community centers for talent. The cream of the crop was showcased on-air in 140 top-quality productions: dramas, comedies, revues and musicals.

This season, "Repertoire Workshop" is celebrating its fifth year, giving still more promising beginners that first big break. This continuing determination to help enrich the cultural life of their communities is typical of the five stations. It's one reason our audiences (and advertisers) always expect such big things from us.

Quick guide to Yearbook sections

Information in this YEARBOOK is divided into homogeneous sections as described in the boxes at right. Here's how to locate a section rapidly:

Hold the YEARBOOK in your left hand. With your right hand bend the book back so that the black markings on the right edges of the pages appear. If you wish to find a page in the A section, for example, place your right thumb over the black bar to the right of the letter A at upper right on this page and riffle through all pages containing a similar black bar in the same position; at the end of that sequence of marking will appear the first page of the A section. The same procedure can be used to find the beginning of any other section, starting with your thumb on the black bar on this page to the right of the letter of the section you wish to locate.

“Views expressed on this program are those of this station.”
Taking an editorial stand is one of the Storer Standards.

A permanent three-man board in every Storer station develops viewpoints, prepares editorial messages, gets them on the air. Emphasis on station editorials is one of the standards adhered to by the Storer stations that mean more worthwhile listening for the public and more successful selling for advertisers.

How do you measure quality in film transfers?

You know it when you see it! Your eye is our judge. That's why we demand perfection in clarity, definition and true grey scale. We get perfection by complete control. All of our work is done under one roof... a unique way of operating in our industry. And we feel the results are worth it. So do our clients — companies like AMERICAN MOTORS, MGM-TELESTUDIOS, MCA-TV, HEATH DEROCHEMONT, even AMPEX. Their names tell you a lot about our standards. But there's a better way to find out. Try us. We offer "in by 9—out by 5" processing—with your transfer jetting back the same night. And optimum quality is guaranteed (backed by two decades of expert Hollywood technology). If you believe your eyes call Acme Film Laboratories, Inc., Hollywood, 1161 No. Highland Avenue, Hollywood 4-7471; New York, 400 Madison Avenue, HA 1-3400.

Television girdles the globe

1966 is marked by great strides in technology;
plans underway for round-the-world live telecast;
color comes into its own; CATV continues to grow

During the half-time show of the Michigan State-Notre Dame game on Nov. 19, while more than 80,000 fans shivered in East Lansing, Mich., the television audience suddenly saw the scene shift to the balmy beaches of Hawaii. As the color camera panned across the crowd sitting in the sand and a bikini-clad young brunette lounging lazily in the foreground, an announcer with a brilliantly colored Hawaiian shirt described the first live TV coverage from the 50th state to the mainland. The football game was carried to the islands and the Hawaiian scenery to the continent via Lani Bird, the first Pacific communications satellite.

Nine days later on Nov. 28, Lani Bird and its Atlantic predecessor, Early Bird, virtually linked the globe for live TV as the United Nations General Assembly debate on the seating of Communist China was transmitted to Japan and Europe from New York.

It was the kind of development, late in the year, that marked 1966 as one of technological developments that spanned the globe.

Lani Bird, originally intended to span the Pacific as Early Bird had linked the Atlantic nations a year earlier, was put into orbit Oct. 26. Although it failed to reach a stationary orbit, comparable to Early Bird's, scientists were able to position Lani Bird so that it could keep North America and the Pacific nations in television contact about eight hours a day. Comsat, operator of the two satellites, was continuing in its plans to put second satellites into orbit over both the Atlantic and Pacific. But the timetable was still uncertain. First Comsat had to learn why Lani Bird had not gone into its planned synchronous orbit.

Many Uses ■ The satellites were used for far more than sporting events, however. News was given top priority by the networks and Early Bird was used repeatedly for shows going both ways across the Atlantic. Although Lani Bird was not in position to provide constant contact between Hawaii and the mainland, use of the satellite was high in the plans of the networks. They planned to use it to speed up their coverage of the war in Vietnam and other developments in the Orient. Generally they would fly the film to Hawaii and then transmit it via satellite to the mainland.

As satellite use, particularly on the North American-European leg, fell into the routine category, plans were underway for an ultra-ambitious undertaking. Conceived by the European Broadcasting Union was a program that would be global in concept and origination. At a meeting in Geneva in September, EBU sketched out its idea for a round-the-world live telecast. The U. S. was on the scene as an observer while Australia, Great Britain, Canada, Italy, Japan and France talked of a telecast in June 1967 with pickups from 200 sites. The enormity of the project had it being talked of as a true "spectacular."

Speculation about the role communications satellites would play in television was widespread at the beginning of 1966 and, as time went on, increasingly important. The most prevalent idea was that direct satellite to home transmissions, bypassing conventional TV stations, would be technically possible within the next decade—and possibly by the early 1970's. However, there were stumbling blocks: social, political and legal.

A more likely and immediate use of the satellites, it was felt, would be as replacements for the land lines between network affiliates. In this fashion, the network would feed the program to the transmitting station, from there to the satellite, from satellite to affiliates and then in a conventional manner to the home sets. Late in the year four "models" for this type satellite were before the FCC. Communications experts felt that similar satellites would eventually be used by other nations to bring television into those areas where it would be impractical to establish land lines.

While all this was taking place in the U. S., European broadcasters initiated their own plans for a communications satellite program. In midyear seven countries banded together to form the European Launcher Development Organization. The $420 million space program was formulated in a spirit of research, but some of the ELDO members, particularly Great Britain, felt the project should include a communications satellite. The other nations in ELDO were France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria, West Germany and Italy.

Gains in Color ■ Color television was moving ahead with giant leaps in the U. S. and it was making slow but steady progress in other lands. U. S. manufacturers, however, weren't too enthusiastic about the reception the U. S. NTSC color system was getting on other continents.

On Sept. 1, both the government-operated Canadian Broadcasting Corp., and privately owned CTV network began regular color telecasting. When they started only about 50,000 color sets were in use—and most of them in border areas where U. S. signals are received. But the introduction of domestic color had Canadian broadcasters expecting sizeable increases in saturation. They foresaw 85,000 color sets in homes by the end of 1966, 225,000 sets in 1968, and 1,350,000 sets in operation by 1970.

CTV was running almost two-thirds of its network programming (42 hours weekly) in color by year's end; CBC was shooting for 30 to 35 hours a week on its English-language network, and about 15 hours weekly for the French network.

The continuing economic-political dialogue over color standards did not lessen during the year. If anything, it increased. And after the International Radio Consultative Committee (CCIR) meeting in Oslo in July, an international color standard was still left in embryo. The delegates, 750 representing 97 nations, were no closer to a decision than they had been the previous year at the Vienna sessions. Fighting it out were the U. S.'s NTSC system, the French SECAM approach and West Germany's PAL system. In one preferential poll, 35 countries backed SECAM, 17 supported PAL, 10 were for NTSC and 13 abstained.

The differences over standards, notwithstanding, many nations said they planned to start color TV programming before the end of the decade. Among the major nations, France and the Soviet Union, both using the SECAM system, and West Germany and Great Britain, both using the PAL system, planned to start their color in 1967.

Japanese Color ■ In the Pacific, stations in the Philippines were planning to inaugurate color programming in late 1966 and in Japan, a color boom that has been a long time in coming was showing evidence of being around the corner.

Colorcasting began in 1960 in Japan but moved sluggishly as the nation ran into a recession era. In 1966 the economy was swinging upward and color set production—including those to be exported to the U. S.—was expected to reach 450,000. Programming in color had been limited to the Tokyo and Osaka areas. This was expanded to a national service through the NHK non-commercial network. Five of the seven privately owned commercial networks had color on about 20% of their schedules.

The U. S. was also leading the world in exporting programs, and shows bearing the "made in U. S. A." label were favorites of viewers around the globe.

In 1966, Bonanza was being shown in 62 countries; Dr. Kildare was in 58; Get Smart in 35, and I Spy in 24. Among the other shows with major overseas track records were I Love Lucy, The Rogues, Honey West, The Big Valley, The FBI, F Troop, Mr. Roberts, Mission: Impossible and Star Trek. In Scandinavia, The Trials of O'Brien was a top favorite; Green Acres was a major success in France and in Japan, the audience went for Tarzan and Lost in Space.

The total foreign sales of U. S. programs was put at about $80 million for 1966, an increase of 6% over 1965. As the overall market for U. S. programs grew, the potential market in several major customer nations was diminishing due to a switch in emphasis to the locally produced product. In some cases this came about through government decree. Among these clients were Canada, Japan, Great Britain and several nations of Latin America.

Production Expensive ■ In attempts to attract the largest audiences, the three U. S. TV networks were spending about $11 million weekly on production of their regular prime-time fare. In the offing for the 1966-67 television season were 215 specials: entertainment, news and documentary. These would run the production tab up another $70 million.

The regular bill of fare was again dominated by situation comedies, westerns, and war and spy dramas. When the season opened in September, five nights were known as "movie" nights, two each on NBC and CBS, and one on ABC. In January ABC was ready to add its second movie night. If there was any lingering thought that movies don't pull audiences, they were dispelled on Sept. 25 when ABC ran the three-hour "The Bridge on the River Kwai." The audience for that special was estimated at 60 million.

Before a week had passed CBS announced it had contracted with MGM for TV rights to 63 features for $52.8 million. ABC coughed up $39.5 million for 49 features from Paramount and 20th Century-Fox. NBC said it was negotiating for additional film packages that would cost in the neighborhood of $20 million.

But TV rights to theatrical films was only part of the scene. The networks and station groups were looking for more and more films to fill their time. The obvious move was co-production deals with producers in the U. S. and overseas. One of the major deals was NBC's with Universal for a series of two-hour films made specifically for television. Later the films would go into theaters, many of them in overseas markets.

The list of specials aimed at TV audiences in the 1966-67 season ranged widely from the Lerner & Loewe musical "Brigadoon" to Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie."

The list also included "Porgy and Bess," "Guys and Dolls," "Othello," "The Crucible" and a repeat of "Death of Salesman." It was the presentation of "Salesman" in the spring of 1965 that had critics running to their dictionaries looking for words of praise. Partially as an outgrowth of the response—public and critical—to that program, CBS and NBC both announced they were looking for good scripts and were willing to pay top dollar for them.

Ambitious Specials ■ Among the news specials for the season, ABC's planned three-and-a-half-hour study of Africa was the most ambitious. Aimed for showing in the spring of 1967, the program wanted to show the cultural, economic, sports and entertainment facets of modern Africa. Other specials in the news and public affairs arena were planned on subjects like air pollution, organized crime, air safety, cancer, outer space, homosexuals, drugs, retarded children, Communist China, labor unions, college football and the 50th anniversary of the Russian revolution.

Extensive coverage on both radio and television was given to the Vietnam war, space flights, the elections and primaries, and President Johnson's fall visit to Southeast Asia. Undoubtedly television's most remote news pickup occurred in June when viewers in North America and Europe saw TV transmissions from the first spacecraft that soft-landed on the moon. The signals were picked up by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., picked up by the networks and transmitted to Europe through Early Bird. Seven European nations took the live feed and others ran tapes later in the day.

Live television also turned up in the

Extent of Broadcast Editorializing

Over 60% of AM stations, over 50% of TV's, and over 40% of FM's are now editorializing, at least occasionally, according to results of a nationwide survey for the BROADCASTING YEARBOOK.

The editorializing survey was obtained from the YEARBOOK questionnaire sent to all radio and TV stations. Here are the results:

|  | AM    | FM    | TV    |
|--|-------|-------|-------|
| Stations editorializing                    | 1,988 | 149   | 223   |
| Stations answering editorializing question | 3,237 | 369   | 445   |
| Percent editorializing                     | 61.4% | 40.4% | 50.1% |
| Percent editorializing daily               | 7.3%  | 6.0%  | 12.6% |
| Percent editorializing weekly              | 14.0% | 5.7%  | 8.1%  |
| Percent editorializing occasionally        | 40.3% | 28.7% | 29.4% |

Only FM stations that are independently programmed are considered in this survey.

CATV Grows ■ The community antenna television situation grew more complex during 1966. As CATV franchises spread into major metropolitan areas, broadcasters remained concerned with the effects it could have on them. Not only were they troubled with the importation of distant signals by CATV's but also with the increasing number of CATV's that were originating programs. This additional "local" program service was one of CATV's major appeals to TV set owners to join the CATV subscriber ranks. The number of CATV's that were originating programs was small, but it was growing. Most of the originating systems felt their job was to be the electronic counterpart of the weekly newspaper which provides the local items overlooked by big-city dailies.

Broadcasters themselves remained divided on the CATV issue. Some feared the competition—particularly when CATV's decided to go after local advertising—and were even more frightened that CATV might one day become a straight pay-TV operation. This group favored government protection—immediately—against CATV. Another faction supported CATV's contention that it was in business to provide better reception, and they felt broadcasters should not seek government assistance, lest the government offer too much aid and not always the type desired by broadcasters.

On the legal front, the FCC reasserted its 1965 decision to take jurisdiction over the CATV industry, but the Congress said it would play a major role in any policy. The House Commerce Committee and the Senate Communications Subcommittee stated in no uncertain language that Congress might go as far as creating a new national policy encompassing broadcasting as well as CATV. Although a bill got through the House committee, it was late in the session and was lost in the crush of last-minute business.

Should CATV's Pay? ■ In the courts a federal judge in New York ruled that CATV operators must pay copyright fees to the owners of TV programs picked up by CATV's and fed to subscribers. This was considered as a major victory by broadcasters and a serious setback to CATV operators who had contended they owed nothing to the copyright owners. This aspect also came up in Congress in the form of a still-to-be written new copyright law. In one proposed version of a copyright bill the CATV's would get some relief from copyright payment. However, none of the bills was passed before Congress adjourned and the entire CATV outlook remained clouded as the year ended.

Pay television faced a similar befooled situation. In March the FCC proposed rules leading to a nationwide pay-TV system over the air. This was still hanging fire at year's end. In October the U. S. Supreme Court reopened California to pay television when it refused to review a lower court ruling. The lower court had held that a California referendum banning pay TV was unconstitutional. By the time the courts had cleared the air, Subscrip-

Emphasis on local news is one of the Storer Standards.

Keeping the public well informed on what happens close to home is just one of the ways Storer carries out its communications responsibility. The exacting standards adhered to by all 13 Storer stations mean more worthwhile listening for the public and more successful selling for advertisers.

Storer Standards make every Storer station a great salesman.

John Blair & represents the top and radio stations

Company television in the country.

But we don't just give you a good time.

That's only the beginning. To be number one in the station representative business, you have to offer more than high-quality broadcast time.

So we do.

We start with an outstanding sales team. Then we provide more research facilities, more service, and more tools and informational aids than any other representative company does.

And we're innovators, too.

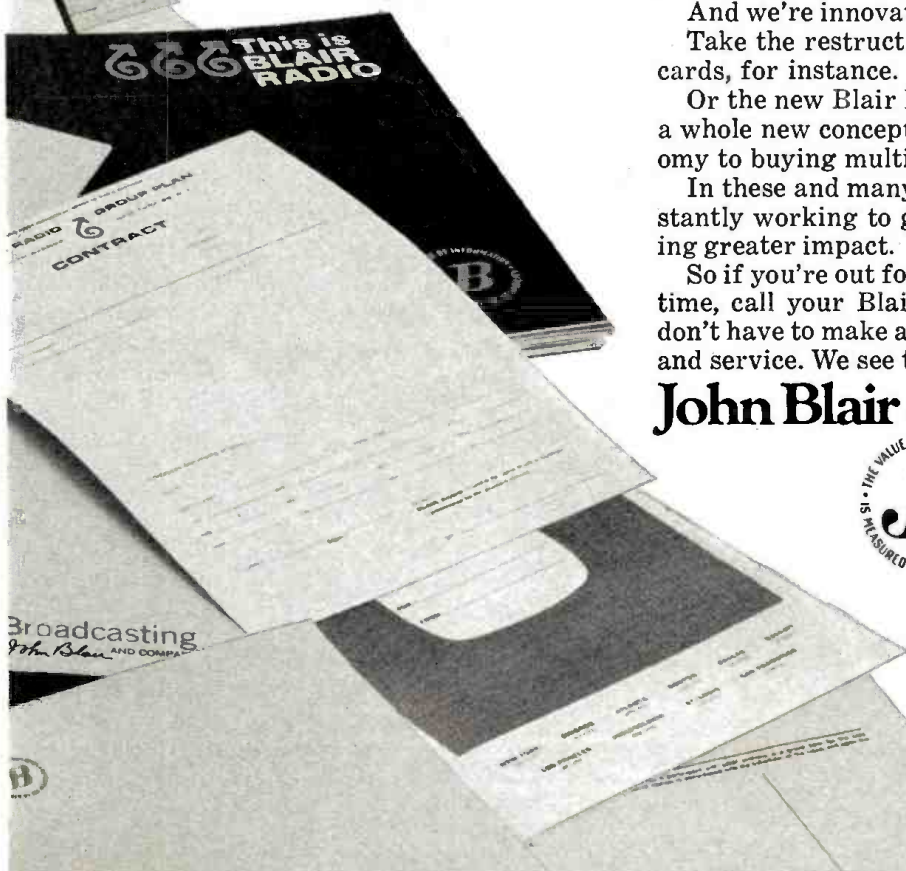

Take the restructuring of television rate cards, for instance.

Or the new Blair Radio Plans, that bring a whole new concept of flexibility and economy to buying multi-market radio.

In these and many other ways, we're constantly working to give broadcast advertising greater impact.

So if you're out for more than just a good time, call your Blair man. That way, you don't have to make a choice between quality and service. We see that you get both.

John Blair & Company

tion Television Inc., the firm that had begun pay operations in Los Angeles and San Francisco, said it could not afford to start from the beginning.

To the north, Canada was facing sweeping revisions in its regulatory commissions as a result of a massive white paper issued by the government in July. It envisioned a larger and more powerful Board of Broadcast Governors, keeping CATV under firm control, creating a new public service and educational system, dividing the functions of the president of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. and creating a new CBC position to handle daily operations. Using many of the recommendations made in the 1965 Fowler Report, the white paper stopped shy of the Fowler recommendation that the BBG and CBC board of directors be eliminated and their responsibilities taken over by a newly created 15-man group with a “czar” of broadcasting at the top.

The white paper also drew a clear line between those who regulate and those who program. As proposed, the re-formed BBG would have limited powers to handle day-to-day programming. However, it would be able to grant stations licenses without cabinet approval; set program standards based on size, income and location of each station, and suspend or revoke licenses for failure to comply with the license conditions. The CBC would get its financial aid under five-year grants instead of the annual stipends it now receives, and the commercial activities of both CBC and private broadcasters would be allowed to continue, although definite limits would be placed on revenue coming from commercial activities. CATV systems, according to the white paper, would be part of the national broadcasting system and would be licensed and controlled by the BBG.

Another government proposal called for creating a national ETV network on UHF, channels that have not been in operation in Canada. The Department of Transport was conducting UHF tests and the white paper suggested that the UHF channels go to public and private operators.

Plans for another commercial television network in Canada were announced during 1966 by Kenneth D. Soble, CHCH-TV Hamilton, Ont., and Maurice F. Strong, Power Corp. of Canada Ltd., Montreal. Opposition to the plan came from the CTV network, which maintained that nearly all Canadian stations were already affiliated and they could not affiliate with two networks. However, the BBG was told that an organizational plan for the new network would be presented after Oct. 1, 1967.

THE RADIO AND TELEVISION AUDIENCES

Radio and television were in more U. S. homes than ever before as 1967 approached.

■ Television.—A total of 54.9 million homes, or 94% of all U. S. homes (excluding Alaska and Hawaii), were TV-equipped as of September 1966, according to the A. C. Nielsen Co. The American Research Bureau estimated the total would be 54,838,500 homes (excluding Alaska) as of Jan. 1, 1967.

■ Color TV.—Homes equipped with color TV sets totaled 8,590,000 as of Nov. 1, 1966, a gain of 85% in 12 months, and were expected to total about 10 million by January 1967, according to estimates by NBC.

■ Radio.—The Radio Advertising Bureau estimated that 57.3 million U. S. homes, or about 98%, were radio-equipped in 1966.

■ Radio Sets.—The number of working-order radio sets in the U.S. would be 258 million as of Jan. 1, 1967, according to preliminary industry estimates. The estimates anticipated this distribution: 183 million in homes, 64 million in automobiles, 11 million in public places. The new total would represent a gain of 16 million, or 6.6%, over the 242 million estimated for Jan. 1, 1966.

■ Viewing and Listening.—The extent to which radio and television sets were used is indicated in numerous ways in the tables that follow. The television figures were furnished by the Nielsen company and its Nielsen Television Index (NTI). The radio data came from RAB, NBC and other sources as noted.

* In 1948 FCC reported only "total revenues" (from time, talent and services) from "network programs" and from business "sold directly by stations." Hence figures for that first year of financial reporting are not comparable with time sales in ensuing years.

MINUTES OF TV VIEWING AND RADIO LISTENING BY TV VIEWERS

Amount of time that adult viewers (over 18 years of age) spend daily with the broadcast media, by day part and for the day as a whole, is shown in the following tables. In each case the viewers are classified in five groups according to how much time they spend with TV, from the 20% who watch most (at top) in descending order to the 20% who watch least (bottom). TV dominates the 6 p.m. to midnight period, but radio has an edge in all other day parts, with the biggest advantage among lighter viewing groups. Data, the most recent available in this form, was prepared for Radio Advertising Bureau by R. H. Bruskin Associates, independent research firm, based on nationwide interviewing conducted in July 1964.

HOURLY-TRENDS variations in television and radio audience sizes are shown in these tables. The TV figures, from Nielsen's NTI data for March-April 1966, show the television audience in terms of millions of homes tuned in per average minute of each hour. The radio figures, compiled for RAB by Sindlinger & Co. in a 1964 study, represent the percentage of all adults who listen to radio, also hour by hour.

CUMULATIVE AUDIENCES: RADIO AND TV

Cumulative reach of radio is compared with that of television in the following figures from NBC Radio's 1965 Cumulative Radio Audience Method (CRAM) study, made public in 1966. Although the study was conducted primarily to test new research methodology, NBC said it considered these estimates "approximate" but "conservative" benchmarks.

|                   | Number (and %) of Different U.S. Adults Reached(18 Years of Age and Over) |                     |
|-------------------|---|---------------------|
|                   | In One Day  | In Seven Days       |
| Radio .....       | 92,100,000 (75.1%)  | 111,000,000 (90.5%) |
| Television * .... | 80,900,000 (65.9%)  | 106,500,000 (86.8%) |

* TV percentages based on a special Nielsen Television Index tabulation covering in-home viewing only, adjusted to reflect (1) all U. S. individuals 18 years of age and over from both TV and non-TV households, and (2) April TV set usage patterns. NBC's CRAM report said this radio-TV comparison "does not imply that television and radio are equal in impact or effectiveness" but "does suggest that radio's broad reach makes the medium an ideal choice for backing up television advertising."

What Health and Beauty Aid Advertisers Know about the Montgomery, Ala. Television Market

A recent study conducted for WSFA Television by Auburn University was undertaken to develop data relative to the market position, in terms of shelf showings in 127 supermarkets, of various brands of health and beauty aid products in the Central and Southern Alabama television market. Because of the complexities of distribution in this marketing area, a brand audit census such as this enables advertisers to check on their product movement from warehouse to cash register. A second study will be conducted in 1967. If you would like to have a copy of this study, or if you did not receive a copy of the 1966 study, write to Ben Canada, General Sales Manager, WSFA Television, Montgomery, Alabama. We'll be glad to include you on our coveted list of research-minded marketers.

here's one of OUR station reps!

She is Miss Beverly Carlson, and we're proud to have her selling for Georgia and WALB-TV.

She'll tell you, as we will, that only WALB-TV reaches all of the rich $881 million market in the 49 counties surrounding Albany, Georgia. A market named by Forbes as one of the top trade cities . . . served only by a station that recently won "Broadcaster of the Year" and Promotion of the Year awards from the Georgia Association of Broadcasters. As Beverly travels the United States and Canada, her main concern will be selling Georgia tourism. You see, Beverly was our representative and winner in the annual, "Miss See Georgia First" contest. So she really is our representative, in more ways than one! If you want information or avails on the station that over 616,000 people look to for news, entertainment, and service . . . then talk to Torbet & McConnell, Inc. . . . or in the South call James S. Ayers Company.

Today's interns, Tomorrow's pros

Where does the exciting, challenging broadcasting industry find today's workers and today's learners who will be tomorrow's professionals?

WGN Continental's answer is the WGN Programs for Professional Broadcast Education. They are—

First, the Pierre Andre Memorial Scholarship Program offering selected university students three months' on-the-job training as part of their regular college curriculum. Students are paid for their work and receive twelve hours' university credit. Since it was initiated in 1963, there have been thirty-three Pierre Andre interns.

Second, the WGN Program offering part-time jobs to full-time high school and university students, who fill a variety of positions ranging from clerks to ushers.

This phase involves an average of twenty students per year.

Third, the WGN Program providing students with summer vacation jobs. An average of twelve students are assisted in this program every year. During the past three years, 129 full-time students attending 25 Midwest educational institutions have participated in the WGN job/training programs.

The WGN Programs provide professional on-the-job training, encouragement, and financial help as a preparation for the student's future and ours.

Eight of these student participants have become full-time WGN employees.

Developing new talent for the industry is another group service of WGN Continental.

BIG Wrap-up

Kansas is on the grow! So are companies who locate here. One helps the other. For instance, the Du Pont cellophane plant at Topeka opened its doors in 1958. Since then it has shipped enough cellophane to completely cover the state—and then some. Annual take-home pay for Du Pont's 580 employees here is $3.75 million. Du Pont spends $3.5 million for goods and services in Kansas. Just part of the billions-big market for everything in Kansas.

WIBW Radio and TV can wrap up and deliver the giant economy-size portion of this package. Nielsen shows WIBW Radio dominating—day and night—45 counties, representing 2/3 of our 2 million population. As a single station market, WIBW-TV offers top viewer endorsement in strategic central and eastern Kansas. And that's the package. There's nothing transparent about the results. Just ask Avery-Knodel. Or call 913—CRestwood 2-3456, and tell us about your package—and how you want it moved...on

DISTINCTIVELY DETROIT

WORLD'S BUSIEST WATERWAY—Freighters of many flags carry more tonnage annually past Detroit's skyline than through the Panama and Suez canals combined. The Detroit River also harbors a half-million sail and power boats, America's largest fleet of pleasure craft.

Just as Detroiters regard this mighty channel of commerce as distinctive of Detroit, so they have regarded The WWJ Stations as distinctively Detroit for 46 years. Why? Because of programming that reflects the city's own interest in local news, sports, entertainment, public affairs, and community service. And, because of WWJ's home-ownership by The Detroit News. When you ask a Detroit which radio and TV stations are distinctively Detroit, he'll instinctively tell you "WWJ."

A STAR IS BORN

FILMLINE'S MODEL FE-50

A Processor for Ektachrome Film

Processes 16mm Color Emulsions at 50 FPM.

Model FE-50
FROM
$18,500
F.O.B.
Milford, Conn.

Who knows more about building film processors than Filmline? Nobody. And everything we've learned has gone into our newest Ektachrome processor, the FE-50. It is top quality equipment at a sensible price . . . the result of Filmline's productive know-how. Designed and engineered to fulfill the requirements of both large and small TV stations the FE-50 is the most versatile, fully automated Ektachrome processor ever built.

- EXCLUSIVE OVERDRIVE SYSTEM — guarantees against breaking or scratching film. The system is so sensitive that film can be held manu-ally while machine is in operation, without breaking film or causing lower film assemblies to rise. Provisions for extended development to increase ASA indexes to 250 and higher are incorporated. Machine threadup allows use of standard ASA indexes or accelerated indexes because of Filmline's Film transport system features.
- EASY-TO-OPERATE—automated controls make this an ideal machine for unskilled personnel.
- VARIABLE SPEED DRIVE—speed range of 5 FPM to 60 FPM for Ektachrome emulsions.

ADDITIONAL FILMLINE FEATURES:

- Stainless steel air squeegee
- Impingement dry box
- Torque motor for takeup
- Leak-proof pumps for chemical solutions
- Temperature controlled by precision thermistor controllers
- Construction — all metal
- Tanks and component parts are type 316 stainless steel.

Now available: Filmline FE-30 Ektachrome Processor. Speed — 30 FPM. Complete with Replenishment System . . . $15,750. F.O.B. Milford, Conn.

We could save one out of two. We don't.

Cancer is not necessarily a killer. Many cancers are curable today. Doctors have the knowledge... the skills... the equipment to save 1 out of 2 cancer patients!

Yet each year, more than 90,000 people die needlessly. Because they do not go to their doctors in time. Early diagnosis and proper treatment could have saved them.

Be a life-saver. Yours. See your doctor regularly!

If You Are A Food or Drug Advertiser In the Columbia, S. C. Television Market...

you should be aware of the exact amount of shelf space your product is receiving at the hands of the grocery retailer. In 1966, WIS Television published its 2nd consecutive annual In-Store Brand Audit Product Census of supermarkets in the Carolina Complex. This report includes 64 selected product categories, and shows the number of linear feet, percentage; total area, vertically and horizontally, percentage; number of stores stocking and percentage, by brand, in each category.

Meaningful research such as this is just one more reason why WIS Television is a respected, influential advertising medium in the 26-county Carolina Complex it serves.

Copies of the WIS Television 1966 Brand Audit are available by writing Mr. Law Epps, General Sales Manager, WIS-TV, Columbia, S. C. 29202.

Our well-rounded programming

...fits nicely in our new round, color studio!

We planned it that way. Ever since WTMJ-TV introduced color television to Milwaukee . . . over thirteen years ago . . . we've tried to give our viewers up-to-date and well-rounded programming. Our plan is to provide viewing pleasure for the whole family, with lots of emphasis on state and local features. To continue bringing the best of color television to Milwaukee we recently built a round color studio . . . and equipped it with the most modern color cameras and transmitting equipment available. This unique, extremely functional structure can easily handle the work of several conventional color studios. It's the only round one in Milwaukee . . . and the first in the nation. Being first, though, is nothing new to us. We were the first station in town. First with network programming. First with color. But most important, our ratings are consistently first!* Try us . . . and see for yourself. (P.S. When you're in the area, drop in and see our new color studio. We'll be happy to show you around.)

TV Allocations, State, City

Note: UHF and VHF TV allocations have been made by the FCC to the following cities. A plus or minus after a channel indicates that a station occupying the channel must operate with its carrier frequencies offset 10 kilocycles above or below, respectively, the normal carrier frequencies. The offset indicators are not shown for UHF assignments, which were the subject of a rulemaking adopted June 4, 1965. The designators were to be added in a later order, but had not been published by time the Yearbook went to press. Meanwhile, the appropriate designators are shown on construction permits and licenses issued for UHF stations.

Asterisks (*) indicate channels reserved for noncommercial use.

COMMUNITY ANTENNA TV SYSTEMS

Individual CATV systems are listed alphabetically by state and city. Firms or persons owning three or more systems are listed in the Multiple Ownership directory, page A-155. Information on CATV systems is in this sequence: firm name, street address and/or post office box number followed by ZIP code, telephone number (preceded by area code), name of executive in charge with title, number of subscribers, number of estimated potential subscribers, installation charge, monthly charge, call letters and locations of TV stations carried by CATV (other services provided such as weather channel or background music or FM stations are listed, and if CATV originates programming or commercials, this is noted), date system began operation, name of principal owner(s) and indication whether owner has other CATV or media interests.

Omitted information was not furnished by owners before publication.

WE DO
HAVE

TO!

Viking was always known as "that other company". The old Viking products weren't much to look at, but they worked. We continued engineering, testing and trying, and soon things began to happen.

Viking produced solid seamless, aluminum coaxial cable second to none! Every inch quality controlled with the lowest attenuation factor in the business. And, we make it in half mile lengths!

Last year we introduced the Solid State, Goldline Series of high level, modular, inline amplifiers. Now in full production, they are outperforming every other amplifier in the field.

Systems Construction Company, our turnkey division, is engineering new systems throughout the country.

Other Viking electronic equipment and accessory products are also better. New innovations, engineered and designed for the technician are setting new standards in the industry.

Viking has come a long way and we appreciate the confidence so many CATV operators and technicians have in our products.

We've had to prove ourselves every step of the way — so when we say, "Viking gives you more", we mean it!

DELAWARE

*DOVER—Delaware Teleservice Co., c/o 1726 M Street, N.W., Suite 302. Washington, D. C. (202) 296-3900. Henry Rau,

If you were in our shoes, you'd be a CATV expert, too.

Our balance sheet never shows how much we spend on shoe leather. But it does reflect the profitability of planning in the field as well as on the board. When there's a CATV problem to be solved, TeleSystems knows its boots are made for walking. That's why we go right to the source with on-spot research, engineering and sales guidance. TeleSystems walks away from pat formulas to build, plan or operate a cable system. We learn local conditions. We investigate local characteristics first-hand. That's why, in CATV, nobody can fill our shoes. But you can hire them. Call us if you're thinking CATV.

Serving CATV Systems in Engineering, Construction, Equipment, Promotion & Management

INTERNATIONAL

The country-by-country information presented below are compiled from various authoritative sources, both official and unofficial, with special assistance from NBC International. Every effort was made to provide information as up-to-date as possible, but information derived from official government reports, in particular, sometimes tends to be delayed. For the most part, however, the information below is based on reports of the situation as it existed in the first half of 1966.

INTERNATIONAL

Aden

One TV station, government-controlled and commercial, serves 12,000 to 14,000 TV sets. South Arabian Television Service, Box 1264, Aden.

Argentina

About 16 TV stations are operating or planned. Government, which operates one of four stations in Buenos Aires, licenses channels on one-to-a-customer basis and does not permit simultaneous networking, although stations outside Buenos Aires may buy and present recordings of programs after their Buenos Aires presentation.

Australia

Broadcasting is under dual system, with government operating noncommercial stations and other entities commercial. Commercial radio stations reported at about 110, noncommercial radio at 69. In TV, 39 were operating commercially and four others were expected to begin commercial operations before end of 1966, while government (Australian Broadcasting Commission) had 34 noncommercial stations in operation and planned to add five more in 1966-67. One-year receiver licenses, required by government, as of July 1966 numbered 648,221 for radio, 234,674 for TV and 1,855,281 for radio-TV combinations, in addition to 1,456 radio and 154,993 TV short-term licenses. Governing body is Australian Broadcasting Control Board (373 Elizabeth St., Melbourne, C.I. Victoria), headed by Miles Wright, chairman.

TV service includes one government, non-commercial station and one to three commercial stations in 31 areas. Commercial stations follow general U. S. format, selling up to six minutes each hour plus station-break time. Spot messages range from I.D. to one-minute; and sponsored programs range from five-minute news to 15, 30 and 60 minute shows. Co-sponsorship permitted in series or as half-sponsorship with spots available.

Four major TV networks: Australian Television Network, National Television Network, Independent Television System and noncommercial Australian Broadcasting Commission.

Radio-TV Station Employment

| In this table, groupings of fulltime staffs of radio and television stations have been made. Percentage figures of the total reporting stations employing a given number of people are shown. For example, 1.9% of all reporting television stations and 9.5% of all reporting AM radio stations employ full-time staffs of from one to five persons. Figures in parentheses are cumulative figures to a given point on the chart. For example 5.9% of all reporting television stations, and 49% of all reporting AM radio stations, employ full-time staffs of 10 or less persons. |      |         |      | Number of employees | AM stations | FM stations | TV stations |        |

BEELINE® COUNTRY... AWFULLY BIG IN BUYING

... and BEELINE RADIO is a proven way to reach this important market

When the 2,981,000 people in Beeline Country shop, they really load up. No wonder. Effective buying income of this 47-county western market is more than $7 billion. Combined farm income in 1965 was greater than any one of 46 states — $2.06 billion. This is the market you tap when you put your message on Beeline Radio... the key to California's Inland Valley and Western Nevada.

It's always "drive time" in Chicago

Chicago has busy streets and busy expressways . . . almost any time of the day or night.

That means it's always "drive time" for advertisers on WGN Radio, reaching more adults at home and on the road than any other Chicago station.*
