Minow's ultimatum

Unless he makes eleventh-hour switch, FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow will tell NAB convention tomorrow (Tuesday) that if broadcasters don't want to be regulated and mind their manners, they had better get out of broadcasting business. Thrust of his speech, he has confided to associates, will be that there's no law forcing people to get into or remain in broadcasting. Emphasis will be on government franchise and licensee responsibility.

Gamble successor

Search for new president of AAAA to succeed Frederic R. Gamble who retires April 30, 1962, proceeding with thoroughness to match quietness in which it's being conducted. Special committee finds it no simple matter to replace man who's run AAAA since 1929 and headed it since 1944. Committee headed by Robert M. Ganger, chairman of D'Arcy, worked for year, then solicited professional help of Booz, Allen & Hamilton, management consulting firm (which incidentally is well known in radio-tv, primarily through its work for NBC and parent RCA). Presumably committee and BA&H hope to name their pick in ample time to allow him ample indoctrination by Mr. Gamble, who meanwhile is working closely with them.

FCC eschews station break

In spite of public comments by FCC Chairman Minow expressing personal view that FCC would take cognizance of 40-second station-break on ABC-TV if triple-spotting resulted, there was no indication last week that FCC formally will do anything. While no statement was forthcoming, it was assumed that FCC discussed matter last after Chairman Minow received complaint from Young & Rubicam President George Gribbin (BROADCASTING, May 1).

40-second pay-off?

Widely differing estimates can be had on what cash effect 40-second station breaks would have on stations. Some agency sources estimate ABC's five o&o tv stations—ABC is only network yet committed to extend nighttime breaks from 30 seconds to 40—might realize additional $2 million per year. ABC sources talk say its closer to $500,000. And Wm. B. Lodge, vp for affiliate relations and engineering at CBS-TV (which opposes plan but says it'll go along if other networks do), told CBS-TV affiliates in closed session last week that if all networks adopted 40-second plan there just might be no real increase in spot business for any station—that what might happen is that existing spot business would simply migrate into the expanded peak-time periods.

Clear channel count

If vote were taken now, FCC would break down all of remaining 24 clear channels but with requirement that new operations be located so as to provide service to predominantly "white" areas and with requirements for protection through use of directional antennas. While FCC hasn't voted since Chairman Newton N. Minow took over last March, indications are that he does not look with favor on continuance of I-A clears.

Prior to Chairman Minow's induction, FCC was divided 3-3, with Mr. Minow's predecessor, Commissioner Charles H. King, undecided. In favor of duplication of one-half of 24 clears were Commissioners Hyde, Ford and Lee. Favoring full 24 channel breakdown but with safeguards on "white" areas and directionals were Commissioners Craven, Bartley and Cross. If Chairman Minow votes as indicated, full 24 channel breakdown will be decreed with lengthy litigation thereafter.

Does P&G tell Lever?

Procter & Gamble is discouraging its agencies from hiring people associated with competitive accounts at other (non-P&G) agencies. New directive notes that person who has been on competitive account would be considered unacceptable to handle any P&G work (this is interpreted to cover at least one-year period). Does Lever follow P&G lead? Possibly, for when checked last week, Lever spokesman said matter was of concern to Lever and its agencies and to no one else. P&G has promised to "explain and clarify" even further in near future.

Tax bites

Administration tax plan to limit tax deductible food and lodging expenditures to $30 per day brought violent repercussions in broadcasting field. Coming on eve of NAB convention, it was evident last weekend that broadcasters, station representatives, and even advertising agency executives in Washington, would buttonhole their Congressional delegations in vehement protest.

Proposed limitations, it's argued, are unrealistic and would lose more tax dollars than would be gained. Liquor, food and hotel industries, which are large tax sources would be first to suffer along with all modes of transportation. Advertising agencies and other sales groups dependent in large measure upon travel and entertainment selling would be severely affected. All this presumably will be told Senators and Congressmen this week in Washington.

Post-election inquiry

Last fall's political campaigns still are matter of interest to FCC, which has asked further questions from approximately 125 am stations which reported they carried no political broadcasts of any kind. Latest inquiry seeks all formal and informal contacts with candidates and their supporters, whether or not official request for time was made. No tv stations received letter because practically all of them carried political announcements, at least, during campaigns.

Liaison man needed

Federal Trade Commission, which is about to establish media surveillance group, wants to establish liaison with single key man in each branch of advertising and media. This, it hopes, would expedite coordination of investigative activities on suspect advertising campaigns. Works other way, too. Media men often call FTC for advice on questionable advertising, but under present policy agency staff is forbidden to express opinion.

No Paar counter

ABC-TV, it now develops, may not program to compete with Jack Paar Show on NBC-TV after all. ABC-TV previously had said in 1961-62 season it would enter late night programming (variety show or Warner Bros. hours previously seen on network). ABC-TV continues to plan to program its 15-minute segment of news, starting at 11 p.m., but temporarily has "withdrawn" additional time from sale. Reportedly it would re-open segment if it obtains one "major" advertiser.

CBS-TV affiliates vote to back option time

PALEY REPORTS COUP: EISENHOWER FILMING PROJECT

Embattled principle of network option time won new pledge of support from CBS-TV affiliates in resolution announced Friday as they ended their two-day annual conference (earlier stories page 92). By vote described as unanimous, affiliates called option time "basic and necessary" to successful tv network operation and promised to "continue to defend this principle" through CBS-TV Affiliates Assn.'s "delegated representatives" in forthcoming FCC proceedings.

In what CBS-TV authorities called major programming coup, William S. Paley, CBS board chairman, announced that four or five days of informal conversations with former President Eisenhower will be filmed later this month for subsequent presentation on CBS Reports. There was no immediate indication as to whether one or several programs would result. Mr. Paley said Gen. Eisenhower would discuss with CBS newsman Walter Cronkite "the presidential office and its effect on history during his eight years in the White House"; that whole "living document" would be valuable to future historians and that "parts . . . may be shared with our television audiences in the foreseeable future as a public service." Fred W. Friendly, executive producer of CBS Reports, will supervise production.

Mr. Paley called it "one of the most exciting and significant projects in CBS history." Other CBS authorities called it a coup, in that ABC's news vice president, James Hagerty, as White House news secretary in Mr. Eisenhower's administration, had been widely presumed to have inside track in lining up tv appearances by former President.

Mr. Paley, who announced Eisenhower project during Friday luncheon address (see page 100), received standing ovation and also was honored by resolution supporting his call for high program standards and commending him personally for his 34 years as "the most persuasive advocate, the most imaginative planner, and the most effective administrator of broadcast programming based upon a policy calling clearly for the highest standards of quality."

Kennedy issues order on federal ethics

President Kennedy Friday barred government officials from all outside employment or activities that would reflect on their official jobs.

In issuing executive order on ethics, President said no official shall engage in any activity or employment not compatible with full and proper discharge of his position.

Order applies to all heads and assistant heads of departments and agencies, full time members of boards and commissions appointed by President, and to White House staff.

Banning gifts, fees, compensation or expenses, Presidential order itemized circumstances where acceptance may result in or create appearance of:

Private gain, preferential treatment, impudence of efficiency or economy, lack of independence or impartiality, decision outside official channels, derogation of public's confidence in integrity of government.

Ban extends to accepting fees for writing, lecturing or consulting, but permits government officials to have expenses paid when such does not include entertainment, gifts, "excessive" personal living expenses or other personal benefits.

President said it's all right for government chiefs to participate in charitable, religious, educational, public service activities—and even politics where not prohibited by law.

Special directives for internal use should be drawn up by agencies concerned, President said.

IAAB delegates denounce Russian-Cuban affair

Strong resolution denouncing intervention of "extra-continental" nation in Cuba, subjecting island and rest of hemisphere to offensive, subversive action, was to come before Inter-American Assn. of Broadcasters over weekend at Washington meeting (see early story page 83).

Resolution draft said every state should take emergency steps to defend democratic form of government. IAAB members would be directed to contribute to efforts of their governments in defense of democracy.

Jose A. Mora, secretary general of Organization of American States, told IAAB radio and tv have major role in defending hemisphere freedom. Commissioner Rosel H. Hyde of FCC and Herbert E. Evans, Peoples Broadcasting Co., were speakers at opening session Friday.

Donald W. Coyle, president of ABC International Television Inc., said in address slated for Saturday delivery that western nations should be prepared to demand adequate frequencies when International Telecommunications Union meets in 1962. He said advertisers are ready to invest increased sums in foreign markets.

30 million watch man-in-space shot

Three major tv networks went all out covering man-into-space shot on Friday (May 5) programming total 14 special telecasts during day. NBC-TV went on air at 10:22 a.m. and CBS-TV and ABC-TV followed one minute later, with live pool coverage of launching and voice reports on recovery of astronaut and space capsule. Each network supplemented coverage with interjection of exclusive special material narrated by their own anchormen—Bill Shadel (ABC), Walter Cronkite (CBS) and Robert Abernethy (NBC). ABC carried broadcast until 11:33 a.m., CBS and NBC terminated at 11:30 a.m.

American Research Bureau estimated that some 30 million viewers watched space flight with peak audience between 11-11:15 with 31.4 million people tuned in.

Second special went on between 12:30-1:30 p.m. with all three networks carrying live telecast of news briefing on evaluations of flight.

CBS and NBC presented another special at 2-2:30 p.m. involving voice tape recordings of astronaut's reports back to Project Mercury control center while in flight.

First film coverage of recovery operation was scheduled by all networks for late Friday afternoon.

Evening programming included special broadcast by ABC-TV at 7:30-8 with science editor Jules Bargman recapitu-

JFK on campaign costs

Federal government should bear part of high cost of political campaigning, President Kennedy said Friday. He expressed hope system could be devised for government to bear "major burdens" of cost of presidential campaign. He said he would strongly support any legislation to this end.

WEEK'S HEADLINERS

Mr. Dawson

W. Thomas Dawson, vp in charge of advertising and promotion for CBS Radio since January 1960, appointed to newly created post of vp, Information Services. He will be responsible for CBS Radio's activities in press information, promotion and advertising. From 1957 to 1960, Mr. Dawson was director of sales promotion and research for CBS-TV Spot Sales, and earlier had been with WBBM-TV Chicago.

Sanford L. (Sandy) Hirschberg named president of New York office of W. B. Doner Co. Mr. Hirschberg has been executive vp of agency and its New York predecessor Doner &

Peck Inc., since 1957. Formerly he was vp of Dowd, Redfield and Johnstone. Prior to that he was with Norman D. Waters agency and was also former vp of Hicks & Greist Inc. Mr. Hirschberg replaces Sidney Garfield who resigned.

Mr. Hirschberg

Richard D. Wyly, of Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, N. Y., elected senior vp. Mr. Wyly, who joined agency in 1957 as vp and creative director, was previously with Benton &

Bowles, that city, where he spent eight years as vp and copy supervisor. Before that he served Ted Bates & Co. for three years as copy executive, and Lord & Thomas (now Foote, Cone & Belding) for four years as copywriter.

lating events; Freedom 7, 30-minute summary presented by NBC-TV (8-8:30); and "Our Man in Space," on CBS-TV's "Eyewitness to History" (10:30-11).

BBC-TV utilized services of Sports Network Inc. and its subsidiary, National Video Tape Productions, to get tape coverage of event for same day showing in England. BBC producer in national video tape mobile unit at Idlewild Airport edited feed of pool telecast and sent tape to London by jet.

Senators to hear bill on agency procedures

Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Administrative Practice & Procedure will hold hearings May 18-19 on bill (S 1734) designed to speed up procedures before FCC and other regulatory agencies.

Measure would extend authority of hearing examiners, making their decisions final unless reviewed by full commission on narrowly defined grounds.

Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Col.), chairman of administrative subcommittee, is sponsoring bill.

CBS-TV signs Kimberly-Clark

Kimberly-Clark Corp. (Kleenex and Delsey products), Neehah, Wis., ordered alternate-hour sponsorship of CBS-TV's Defenders series next season (Sat. 8:30-9:30 p.m. NYT). Agency: Foote, Cone & Belding Inc., Chicago.

Coty's $1 million to D-F-S

Coty Inc., which ended its four-year association with BBDO Inc., last month, has placed its more than $1 million in advertising billings with Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample Inc. It's estimated that about 75% of these billings are in broadcasting media. Coty puts out line of cosmetics.

XTRA all-news format beamed at California

XTRA (formerly XEAK) Tijuana, Mexico, began operation Saturday (May 6) as all-news radio station, identifying itself as "X-TRA NEWS." Station broadcasts on clear channel 690 kc with 50 kw from transmitter in Lower California, with programming in English directed up California coast. XTRA is owned by Radio Difusora, represented by Texas Triangle, headed by Gordon McLendon (licensee of KABL San Francisco, KLIF Dallas, WYSL Buffalo, KILT Houston, WAKY Louisville, KTSA San Antonio, and KEEL Shreveport, La.).

Cy Ostrup has been named Texas Triangle vice president and general manager of new Los Angeles offices at 5455 Wilshire Blvd. Daren F. McGavren Co. will be national sales representative for XTRA.

NC&K gets C-P's $4 million

Colgate-Palmolive Inc. handed its approximately $4 million in Ajax brand billings (estimated $3 million in radio and tv) to Norman, Craig & Kummel. Account was previously with McCann-Erickson, which lost business because of reported product conflict (also see story, page 58). NC&K already handles several other Colgate brands including Veto deodorants, Cashmere Bouquet soap and two products in test markets.

College credits program scheduled by CBS-TV

CBS-TV will carry The College of the Air, college-credit program, next season with Learning Resources Institute, which had presented Continental Classroom for NBC-TV, as producer. College will be sent over lines 1:05-1:30 p.m. (NYT) weekdays, with stations permitted to telecast on delayed basis. First course will be on modern biology.

NBC-TV, meanwhile, has prepared its own college-credit show, using time slot (6-7 a.m. weekdays) now filled by Classroom. NBC-TV expects to get financing for half-hour course on government. Other 30 minutes would be earmarked for repeats of currently televised contemporary mathematics course (on Classroom).

Capital Cities buying WPAT?

Capital Cities Broadcasting Corp. was reported last Friday (May 5) to be close to agreement to buy WPAT Paterson, N. J., for price said to be in excess of $5 million. It was believed that Dickens J. Wright, president-general manager of WPAT, would obtain stock interest in new setup.

Brand Names re-elects Poor

THE GREAT DIVIDE

One of the major differences that separates one network from another is the size of their audiences. Week after week throughout the past season the average nighttime program on the CBS Television Network has delivered 3/4 million more families than on network Y and one million more families than on network Z.* (The latter is roughly equivalent to the television population of a broad strip of the United States running from the Canadian to the Mexican border.) For our advertisers these additional families represent a weekly bonus in purchasing power ranging from $92 million to $120 million.

WCCO TELEVISION

in the Minneapolis-St. Paul Market.

Tv viewers were more sophisticated than the advertiser expected

In 1958, Schweppes (USA) Ltd. was faced with the gloomy prospect of having its product forever classified as a "specialty item" in grocery and liquor stores.

That meant that stores in the fancier neighborhoods would stock Schweppes tonic for their posh customers, but the supermarket in the typical suburban shopping center would not handle it. They said most of their customers had never heard of it and it was not worth putting on the shelves. If that situation had not been met promptly, Schweppes could have counted on never expanding tonic sales further. Dramatic action was needed.

Early in 1959, Schweppes, through its advertising agency, Ogilvy, Benson & Mather Inc., New York, decided to gamble and put the bulk of its advertising budget in spot television in major markets.

To date the results have been satisfying: a 35% increase in 1959, and a 5% increase in 1960, when the rest of the soft drink industry registered a 12% decline as a result of the cool summer and uncertain economic conditions.

The reason for the gains is clear: through effective use of spot television Schweppes tonic gained many new customers. In recent years Schweppes advertising had been confined to magazines, newspapers and a few very light radio spot schedules.

Skeptics ■ Before the decision to gamble on spot television was made there was some skepticism about Schweppes' ability to project its image to the television viewer as effectively as it had in print.

These fears were allayed when the first Schweppes television spot was produced. It was a one-minute film involving a sophisticated dialogue between Commander Edward Whitehead, president of Schweppes (USA) Ltd., and a husky-voiced siren whose face the viewer never saw (the voice belonged to Joan Alexander). The setting was the bar at the Metropolitan Opera where the men were dressed in white tie and tails and the ladies in long evening dresses. The product was on camera almost throughout and the dialogue contained all the basic selling promises. But the effect was a short, dramatic vignette.

That film won two industry awards.

Since then three more Schweppes commercials have been produced in roughly the same pattern. They all involve unique dialogues, they all feature Commander Whitehead along with professional actors and actresses, and the effect on the viewer is more like a brief interlude of entertainment than a sales pitch.

The commercials are admittedly sophisticated. They are intended to attract the more sophisticated viewer, but Schweppes management was pleasantly surprised at how much of the television audience is sophisticated. Research has indicated that people in all walks of life remember the commercials and go out and try the product.

Major Markets ■ Spot schedules were designed to concentrate impressions in the major markets in which Schweppes tonic has the greatest potential.

They are all at night, and generally use the post-network times when the audience tends to be more adult (children do not drink much gin and tonic) and the average income and education levels tend to be higher.

With relatively small budgets, Schweppes schedules are confined to six or ten weeks in length, in the early summer. Viewers, however, seem to remember the commercials all the year round. For instance, in January a stranger approached Commander Whitehead and told him how much he enjoyed the Schweppes commercials. "I saw it again just the other night and liked it as much as the first time," the stranger said.

Commander Whitehead did not have the heart to tell him that no Schweppes commercials had been on the air for seven months.

Besides remembrance, the company president's participation in commercials bolsters another quality, credibility. As a colleague put it, when asked why Commander Whitehead was in the advertising: "So that people will believe what we say about ourselves. He's the real thing, and we think people recognize it. Also, he's an individualist, and we think people like him for it. As a result, they feel we're selling them the real stuff." [EDITOR'S NOTE: Getting Commander Whitehead to do the spokesman's job himself was suggested originally by the advertising agency in 1953, when the British Schweppes created a U. S. subsidiary to import the essence and bottle it on this side of the Atlantic.]

Drinking Atmosphere ■ The biggest problem in television for Schweppes is the ban on mentioning liquor in the copy. Schweppes wants to popularize the gin and tonic, made, of course, with Schweppes. Therefore, in all the commercials the atmosphere must be clearly of the kind in which it is natural to have a drink or two (scenes such as the opera intermission, aboard the Orient Express, in a staid men's club or in the stately home of a retired army officer).

Viewers seem to get the suggestion, but so that people will know how to use the product (it is not an anemia remedy) the television schedules are supplemented by newspaper and point-of-sale advertising in which the recipe for tonic and gin, or vodka, or rum, is spelled out clearly.

The results have been good so far and Schweppes will continue to use television commercials which say everything legally permissible about the product, but which are nevertheless mildly humorous.

"Our business is not to amuse," Commander Whitehead observes, "but if we take ourselves too seriously our friends will become bored with us rather quickly."

Mimi O'Hagan joined Schweppes (USA) Ltd. early in 1957 as personal assistant to Commander Edward Whitehead, president of the firm. In the spring of 1959 she was appointed Schweppes advertising and publicity manager. Before starting with Schweppes she was administrative assistant in the office of the Secretary of the Navy in 1955. The following year she became assistant to the campaign chairman of National Citizens for Eisenhower, helping organize campaigns and rallies.

An encore for three of our "personalities."

The Two Faces of Communism

Behind the benevolent words lies the stark threat of communist action. To meet it—and beat it—we must become deeply and perceptively aware of it.

THESE ARE THE MAJOR CONFLICTS SINCE WORLD WAR II WHERE SINO-SOVIET INTERVENTION — FROM INTERNAL SUBVERSION TO OVERT ACTION — HAS TAKEN PLACE . . .

Indonesian War (1945-47)	Indochina War (1945-54)	Algerian War (1954- )	Cuban Civil War (1958-59)

Philippine Civil War (1945-48)	Guatemalan Revolt (1954)	Formosa Strait Conflict (1958)	Laos (1960- )

Why are we running these ads? Partly because the communist credo includes the gagging of freedom's spokesmen. You and we are in this group. Naturally, you and we are against this. So what can we do about it with the voice that has been given us? Intelligent anti-communism depends upon factual understanding. Through facts, patriotism has a purpose. It is hoped that these ads together with the prime time announcements which tell our audience facts such as these, will contribute some measure of meaning to the communist threat. This is an effort to do something about it.

Often a dynamic age creates frightening by-products. The plight of a youngster adrift in the jungle of the city's slums is but one of myriad problems confronting our society.

The five CBS Owned television stations recognize the need to arouse public interest in local problems. Each has a consistent record of active community service, via not only regularly-scheduled public affairs programs, but also hour-long, locally-produced "specials" broadcast in the stations' prime viewing hours.

Some recent examples: "Strangers In The City," WCBS-TV's examination of the Puerto Rican population of New York; "Survival," an analysis by KNXT of Southern California's chances of surviving an atomic attack; WBBM-TV's "Beat The Drums," the first comprehensive television study of the Illinois political primary; "The Sex Offender," WCAU-TV's "study of violence" in Philadelphia. (And there was great entertainment too, as witness "Alone In Its Greatness," KMOX-TV's history of the St. Louis Municipal Opera starring Vincent Price, Mimi Benzell and Earl Wrightson; and KNXT's 90-minute "Candida.")

Creating awareness of community needs in the minds of millions is a job that local television does best. Especially the five CBS Owned stations—with their solidly-established tradition of responsible leadership in the communities they serve.

What publishers spent on tv last year

Golden Press, Inc., Cowles Magazines Inc. and Readers' Digest Assn. led all publishers in the use of national spot and network television during 1960, according to Television Bureau of Advertising, New York. Total television gross time billings last year for the classification were $5,012,022, an increase of 61% over the $705,593 spent in 1959.

Spot tv billings, according to TvB-

Rorabaugh, were $2.77 million in 1960, compared with $679,000 in 1959, while network billings as reported by TvB/LNA-BAR were $2,242,022 in 1960 against $26,593 the previous year (BROADCASTING, March 27). Merriam Webster and Time Inc. were the classification's only two network tv clients in 1959.

No rival for radio

EDITOR: The crucial role which radio played in the recent French army insurrection should be placed on record.

(1) The first news of the Generals' revolt in Algiers reached the outside world when the paratroops seized control of Algiers Radio and broadcast a general incitement to mutiny. . .

(2) On April 22, the French government ordered Radio-Diffusion Francaise (the French national radio network) to . . . stay on the air throughout the night because the government deemed it essential to "remain in close contact with the population. . ." The same procedure was used the following night. . .

(3) The collapse of the insurrectionary movement . . . became known to the outside world exclusively through reports put out by news agencies and radio organizations who were monitoring the rebel-held radio stations in Algiers. . .

This whole episode of momentous recent history again proves that in

IN WORDS OF ONE SYLLABLE...

A man who pays to get a thing, as a rule, wants it.

Or needs it. Or both.

This is true for things men read—as well as things they eat or wear. Which is why we think it makes sense to look for the ABP sign in the books in which you plan to run your ads.

For the ABP sign in a book means it goes to men who want it. It is a sign they have paid to get it. And with some of them—a lot of them, in fact—it is a sign they need it.

When you pay for space to talk to men who can buy what you have to sell, it's a good thing to keep this in mind. For if they want the book in which you run your ad, there is a good chance they will see it and read it. And if they need the book in their jobs, the chance is more than just good. It's what we used to call a lead pipe cinch.

When you buy space to talk to men you want to sell, buy it in the books they buy—books that are proud to stand a plain old test of worth: cash. You can spot them through this sign:

The plus value of paid circulation is "wantedness"

BROADCASTING is the only publication in its field qualifying for ABC and ABP membership.

60 REASONS WHY MORE AMERICANS FOLLOW THE NEWS ON NBC THAN ON ANY OTHER NETWORKS

The 60 key news people shown here are part of NBC News. In all, there are 613 executives, correspondents, producers and cameramen, based in 75 countries around the globe. It is the largest broadcast news organization in the world.

More importantly, NBC News today provides the nation with its most versatile and comprehensive schedule of news and public affairs programming, originating each week more than 8½ hours of regularly scheduled television news (plus major television news specials on an average of 10 a month), more than 17 hours of radio news, and close to 83 hours of news on NBC-owned stations.

In recent weeks NBC News programs have earned some 20 major awards. Among these honors: two George Foster Peabody Awards; three Saturday Review Awards; the Ohio State Award; two Sigma Delta Chi Awards; the Polk Award; four Overseas Press Club Awards; the McCall's Golden Mike Award; the Headliners Award; and the Cameraman of the Year Award.

The dynamic brand of broadcast journalism which has won this special recognition has also won the largest news audiences in the country.

'Sound' advice

EDITOR: I agree with your editorial (EDITORIALS, April 24) that broadcasting today is a major journalistic force. It has the potential of becoming the prime informational medium if it wants to be.

May I record a criticism of too many radio stations, particularly independents, who try to outdo each other electronically in introducing their news programs? We're familiar with identifying themes composed of clanging bells, zooming jets, speeding trains, sputniks in orbit. Some ambitious newsmen or engineers combine all of these into one maddening meringue that sends a listener to his nearest newspaper! These latest innovations replace the old-hat telegraph ticker or "atmosphere" we got when we shoved a mike into the teletype room to give our newscast the "big city desk" excitement.

Will someone with a sensible, straightforward, honest introduction to a news program please step up?—Howard Stanley, Howard Stanley Advertising Agency Inc., Norfolk-Portsmouth, Va.

The Florida story

EDITOR: My sincere congratulations for your Florida market study (BROADCASTING, April 17). This is a most interesting and detailed presentation of the state's industry, both current and potential, and I feel that will be effective in attracting new business enterprises to Florida.—Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.).

EDITOR: . . . Thought I would call your attention to the fact that when Jacksonville builds a city hall it doesn't fool around. The city hall here is 15 stories, not 6, as reported in the Florida story. . . . The new county court house is six floors.—Tom W. Mahaffey, Advertising-Promotion Director, WJXT (TV) Jacksonville, Fla.

EDITOR: . . . It is an impressive piece.—Wallace H. Jones, industrial representative, Florida Development Commission, Tallahassee.

[Reprints of the Special Report on Florida are available at the following rates: single copies, 25 cents per reprint; in quantities of 100 or more, $15 per 100 or 15 cents per copy.]

Kennedy, Minow, Collins vitalize NAB

DYNAMIC NEW LEADERS, NEW PROBLEMS MAKE CONVENTION IMPORTANT

The New Frontier and one of its most-regulated national industries will meet face-to-face this week. Several thousand broadcasters converged on Washington at the weekend to

- Review what the new administration has done to them in its first 100 days, and

- Get a preview of what Washington will be up to next.

The top figures in government will meet under NAB's umbrella during the next several days. They include President John F. Kennedy, who speaks Monday morning; FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow, Tuesday luncheon speaker; the entire FCC, at a Wednesday morning few-holds-barred session, and members of Congress.

At stake for broadcasters will be what kind of and how much control over their daily operations can be expected from those presiding over their destinies.

Problems Galore ▪ The operating problems are boundless—government program controls, station breaks, sales of properties, advertising ethics, technical performance, monitoring and station checkups interlocked with license renewals, multiplexing and stereo, educational tv, election and campaign coverage, monopoly probes, pay television, tv violence, network option time and plans to overhaul the way the FCC conducts its own business.

In the face of this accumulation of governmental pressures the NAB will introduce its new president, Gov. LeRoy Collins, an experienced administrator and politician in his own right.

Under Gov. Collins' leadership the association is stepping up its voluntary house-cleaning through strengthened codes, programming projects, advertising checks and a critical self-analysis.

Gov. Collins has brought to the seat of government personal acquaintance with highest figures in Washington life. His record as governor of Florida and as permanent chairman of the Democratic convention last summer are naturally well-known in the nation's capital and his ability as a salesman is believed behind President Kennedy's acceptance of an invitation to address the NAB at a period of international and national tensions.

Two approaches to national broadcasting performance will thus dominate the convention—the government's somewhat paternalistic use of confused legislative and regulatory powers and the industry's self-regulatory moves.

Censorship ▪ The newest issue thrown into the broadcast scene is President Kennedy's recent proposal that newspaper publishers consider the national interest as well as news merit in deciding what to print. The White House has since explained that broadcasters and other news media come under the rather vague but sinister proposal for some form of self-censorship (see story page 48).

This Presidential request adds a solemn, almost warlike aspect to the convention, which takes place in a capital shaken by government efforts to cope with the intensifying cold war. In effect, the failure in Cuba and the Communist campaigns in the Far East have landed right on the broadcaster's doorstep.

Gov. Collins and the industry are far from accord on many of his approaches to voluntary policing of programming and standards. The governor's Monday luncheon speech will be directed to his concepts of industry performance and association operation. Listening closely will be networks, asked to provide "blue-ribbon" programs in "prime time," and individual broadcasters who will be exposed for the first time to his low-pressure, but eloquent type of oratorical persuasion.

Important Events ▪ All this adds up to four of the most intriguing days in broadcasting history.

It may not be the largest NAB convention in history, judging by the advance registration list (BROADCASTING, May 1), but it promises to be exceptionally revealing as such new officeholders as President Kennedy, Chairman Minow and Gov. Collins make their NAB convention debuts.

An unusual feature of the 1961 convention will be the exceptional opportunity for broadcasters to meet socially and in informal discussion with those who enact the laws and hand down the regulations.

The glittering social peak will be reached Tuesday evening at the NAB's government reception. Already over 700 guests have accepted invitations to join with perhaps 3,000 broadcasters at 5:30 p.m. in Sheraton Hall, Sheraton-Park Hotel, largest hotel ballroom in the Capi-

President to ask radio-tv censorship?

'VOLUNTARY' CODE AND CENSOR STAFF READY FOR IMMEDIATE USE

The first peacetime censorship in U. S. government history may be invoked unless the news media massively resist it.

President Kennedy has already suggested that newspapers withhold information of value to the nation's enemies. In an April 27 speech to the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. he said: "If the press is awaiting a declaration of war before it imposes the self-discipline of combat conditions, then I can only say that no war ever posed a greater threat [than the Communist bloc now poses] to our security."

Whether he will make a similar appeal to broadcasters during his appearance today (May 8) at the NAB convention could not be learned. But last week his assistant news secretary, Andrew Hatcher, told BROADCASTING that the President's remarks about newspaper self-discipline applied equally to radio and television.

The President has scheduled a conference tomorrow with leaders of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the Associated Press and United Press International. Voluntary censorship will be discussed.

In his ANPA speech the President said that "no governmental plan should impose its restraints against your will," and he added that he was "not suggesting any new forms of censorship or new types of security classifications." What he did not mention, in his speech to the publishers was that the apparatus for voluntary censorship administered by the government already exists.

A stand-by cadre of an Office of Censorship has been on active reserve status for several years, and a stand-by code of voluntary censorship was approved by the government in 1958. BROADCASTING exclusively published the text of the code in its issue of Aug. 4, 1958.

Last week an official of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization referred a reporter to BROADCASTING's 1958 report with the remark that this magazine's version of the code was "95% correct." The text of the code is reprinted below for the information of broadcasters.

Code of Censorship

To all newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations, and other conveyors of information to the public:

This code is issued pursuant to instructions of the President. It is essential that no information of possible value to our enemies be made available to them. Until detailed guidances are promulgated, all media are asked not to publish or broadcast<sup>1</sup> information in the following categories unless the information is made available for publication or broadcast by appropriate authority or if no objection is found by the Office of Censorship.

The code is but a guide and cannot cover all possible contingencies. Ask yourself always, "Is this information I would like to have if I were the enemy?" and then act accordingly. Use of implication or speculation as a device to convey information helpful to the enemy undermines the purpose of voluntary censorship.

If anyone is in doubt, in any particular case, whether the information in question would aid the enemy, he should ask for clarification from the Office of Censorship, which can be reached by mail at the Office of Censorship, Washington 25, D. C., or by telephone _____ or _____.

War Plans

War plans, or diplomatic negotiations, or conversations which concern military operations.

Attacks

Information about actual or impending enemy attacks on continental United States, its territories or possessions, and its establishments abroad or those of its allies.

It must be borne in mind constantly that in possible nuclear warfare, in particular, every editor and broadcaster should assume responsibility in preventing panic and needless loss of life. It would be most damaging to the public interest to circulate the following:

1. Rumors, unconfirmed reports and speculation about destruction of life or property or fallout possibilities until officially announced.

2. Information about actual or impending enemy attacks on continental United States, its territories or possessions, and its establishments abroad.

3. In case of attack, broadcasts, regardless of context, concerning an impending raid or during a raid, except as authorized by appropriate authorities.

It is requested that publication of radio or television broadcasts immediately following an alert or an attack be limited to official announcements except for:

1. The fact of the attack and the general, but not the specific, area of its impact;

2. The bare fact that defense measures are being taken.

Except as officially announced, the nature of the attack (whether conventional or nuclear, whether by air, missile, or otherwise, or how many planes, missiles or other weapons were involved) should not be disclosed or estimated.

After an attack appears to have ended, there is no objection to general descriptions of what has happened provided such reports (except for official announcements) do not:

1. Deal with or refer to unconfirmed versions or rumors.

2. Estimate the strength of the attacking force, such as the number of planes or missiles; or their position or routes;

3. Estimate extent of casualty or make any reference to damage to military objectives such as fortifications, railroads, ships or industrial plants engaged in war work;

4. Describe except in the most general terms the counter-measures of defense.

At no time should photographs, films, or live television programs portray any more information than is given official clearance by appropriate authority or the Office of Censorship.

As used in this section, and elsewhere in this code, the term "officially" means by authority of constituted federal officials under the commander-in-chief, and does not include local police or other municipal officials unless federal officials have turned over complete authority to them in an emergency.

In short, it is vital that the enemy should not learn from our press or broadcasters just what he has done with his bombs, shells or missiles. On the other hand, there is left considerable scope for news enterprise. It is not intended to place any barrier to the reporting of such matters as feats of heroism, incidents of personal courage, or response to duty of the military or civil defense worker.

Allied Forces

Location, identity, composition, equipment, movement or prospective movement of United States (allied) Army, Navy or Air Forces units.

Identification of combat casualties until made available by the concerned military department or next of kin.

Ships

Identity, location, character, description, equipment, assembly, parts, movements, and prospective movements of naval vessels, transports, and convoys, whether of the United States, its allies or the enemy, by sea or air.

Identity, location, cargoes and movements of merchant vessels of any nationality.

Existence of mine fields or other harbor defense, including secret guides to navigators, by sea or by air.

Production, launchings or commissioning of vessels, aircraft, or missiles of any type of the United States, its allies or the enemy, by sea or by air.

Information about the sinking or damaging of war or merchant vessels of the United States, its allies or the enemy.

Aircraft and Missiles

Disposition, composition, movements, missions, or strength of United States, allied or enemy air units; military activities or commercial airlines.

Production data, including information concerning new and current military aircraft and related items of equipment, including missiles.

Fortifications and Installations

Location and description of fortifications, coast defense emplacements, anti-aircraft guns and other air defense installations, including defense installation details of public airports used for military purposes; location or description of camouflage objects.

Production

New or secret weapons, identity and location of plants making them; secret designs, formulas, processes or experiments connected with the war.

Rate of production, stockpiling and consumption of any specific type of war materiel used in or for specialized military operations.

Location, movement or transportation of war materiel.

Military Intelligence

Information concerning war intelligence or counter-intelligence, operations, sources, personnel, methods or equipment of the United States, its allies, or the enemy.

Classified detection devices.

Classified United States or allied means or systems of military communications.

Sabotage or what could be profitable sabotage targets to the enemy.

War Prisoners

Information as to arrival, movements, confinement or identity of prisoners of war.

Identity of persons arrested or interned as enemy aliens; location or operation of alien internment camps; places of confinement of civilians convicted of treason, espionage, or sabotage; persons who have voluntarily submitted themselves to protective custody.

Travel

Information about the movements of the President of the United States or of other high ranking civilian or military officials on diplomatic or military missions for the United States or its allies.

Photographs and Maps

Photographs or maps conveying any of the information specified in other sections of this code; aerial photographs of harbors, war plants, military or vital defense installations.

Weather

Weather forecasts or warnings other than those officially issued by the Weather Bureau under specific statement that they are cleared for publication and/or broadcast. When appropriately cleared forecasts or warnings applying to areas within the continental United States are received, those published by a single newspaper, or broadcast by a single radio or television station should cover only the state in which published or broadcast and not more than four adjoining states, parts of which lie within 150 miles of the point of publication or broadcast. When appropriately cleared forecasts or warnings applying only to oceanic or coastal waters (including storm, gale, or hurricane warnings for coastal areas) are received, they may be published or broadcast without restriction as to area.

Wind direction or barometric pressure in current, forecast, or past weather (including summaries and recapitulations) except when contained in emergency warnings released by the Weather Bureau specifically for broadcast.

Weather maps less than one week old.

Note: News stories and photographs about current and past weather occurrences in the state of publication and outside the state within 150 miles of the point of publication may be published but not broadcast. News stories and photographs about weather occurrences in other areas, especially storms and other extremes, will be appropriate for publication only when specifically cleared through the Office of Censorship. A consolidated table containing temperature and precipitation data for not more than 20 localities may be published but not broadcast. News stories, photographs and films about weather occurrences in any area will be appropriate for broadcast only when specifically cleared through the Office of Censorship.

Interviews and Letters

Interviews with service men or civilians involving combat operations outside the continental United States (including accounts of escapes) should be submitted before publication or broadcast either to the Office of Censorship or the appropriate service public information officer.

Letters from combat areas are censored in the field only for home consumption, not for publication or broadcast. When such letters are published or broadcast, information in conflict with provisions of this code should be eliminated. Special care should be used in handling escape accounts to eliminate all escape details and information which might lead to reprisals or endanger future escapes.

Accredited Correspondents

No provisions in this code modify obligations assumed by accredited correspondents who accompany United States armed forces.

War News Coming Into the United States

Generally, war information originating outside the United States territory may be published or broadcast if the information is carefully attributed (no material conflicting with the code should be added in rewriting information received from abroad).

tal. About two-thirds of Congress will be there.

After the reception many of the state broadcaster delegations will hold dinner parties for their Representatives and Senators. Here they will have a chance to discuss their problems with legislators in the intimacy of private dining spots.

Minow to Speak ■ FCC Chairman Minow, who has been taking powerful swipes at elderly traditions and jammed dockets, is expected to state his concepts of broadcaster responsibilities at the Tuesday luncheon. He'll have a chance to argue some of his ideas at the Wednesday morning roundtable.

FCC's biggest bomb of the season came two months ago when the 1960 tv option time decision was pulled back for reconsideration. At issue is network-affiliate relationship—how much pay for stations and what time can the network preempt. Last September, under Republican chairmanship, the FCC cut option time in the four parts of the broadcast day from 3 to 2½ hours. An anti-trust aspect of option time is before the courts.

Not on NAB's agenda is a White House study of regulatory agencies, including the FCC, under direction of James M. Landis, ex-dean of Harvard Law School and once a New Deal administrator. A fortnight ago the White House sent to Congress a plan to give the FCC chairman more power and stiffen commission procedure. Dean Landis was the architect of this plan.

Hill Busy ■ At this point Congress steps into the FCC scene. Both Commerce Committees are planning hearings on the reorganization. And in the offing is a rumored Landis plan to set up a radio spectrum czar to administer the allocation of frequencies to government and non-government users.

A number of important broadcasting bills are in the legislative mill. These include a proposal to make permanent last year's suspension of the Sec. 315 free-time requirement in elections. A half-dozen educational tv bills are in the hopper. The Senate has passed one to grant each state $1 million for etv. Then there are bills to license networks and restrict station sales; anti-pay tv bills; proposals to reimburse political parties up to $1 million for radio-tv time bought for presidential and vice presidential campaigns by major parties. Approaching committee hearings will cover the new regulatory proposals, network licensing and tv's relationship, if any, to juvenile delinquency.

Chairman Minow showed his willingness to speak openly with those he regulates by agreeing to impose no limits on questions to be asked at the Wednesday morning panel, with the possible ex-

Etv Proponent - He's expected to emphasize his enthusiasm for educational tv with federal aid; promise vs. performance, with field hearings; stepped-up enforcement of renewal procedures; "vigorous application of the law"; improved tone of programming, with offerings for all audience facets; station provision for development of local talent; alleged trafficking in stations at exorbitant prices. And he's known to feel that ratings exert an important if not unfavorable influence on programs, with some thought they may come under the FCC's purview.

His two main assets for the post, Chairman Minow has said, are the fact that he want's no job in the industry and is not a candidate for reappointment when his term ends.

Advertising, Too - The matter of deceptive advertising will come up at the convention in separate presentations covering the NAB radio and television codes. The Federal Trade Commission, headed by Chairman Paul Rand Dixon, will not take an official role in proceedings but FTC's influence will be apparent. This New Frontier watchdog over advertising claims is reorganizing to speed up its processing of allegedly deceptive advertising.

Chairman Dixon has told the Assn. of National Advertisers he expects to spank advertisers who come too close to the edge of the "thin ice of truth." (BROADCASTING, April 24). He said advertisers know when they are at the deception point, taking a calculated chance the campaign can pay off before the FTC catches up with it.

In the NAB presidency, a role he assumed Jan. 4, Gov. Collins has made it clear he feels "a sense of mission very similar to that I have felt in public service." Back of it is a desire "to help make

In the foreground, the words "OUR BUSINESS" are spelled out in large, bold, black block letters. The letters are arranged in two rows: "OUR" on the top row and "BUSINESS" on the bottom row. The letters are slightly shadowed, giving them a three-dimensional appearance as if they are sitting on a surface. The background is a slightly blurred cityscape, with the buildings appearing as dark shapes against a lighter sky.

Those I-o-o-o-ng commercials due for look

The changing world of broadcasting codes ran into an old nuisance last week—tv programs that actually are non-stop commercials.

NAB's two-ply code structure for radio and television will go into program-length commercials, participation spots, station breaks and related programs at the convention this week. The Tv Code Review Board will hold a management-ownership session Tuesday morning; the Radio Code Board will program a Wednesday afternoon meeting (see full agenda for convention, pages 72-73).

The all-commercial programming problem, which the Tv Code Board figured it had solved long ago, has arisen in real estate programs. E. K. Hartenbower, KCMO-TV Kansas City, said some syndicated features violating the code are appearing. He advised tv code subscribers to check on their current and upcoming programs and if in doubt to double check with tv code offices in Washington, New York or Hollywood.

"The code makes exceptions in cases where the program is a single-ton and serves a special community purpose," Mr. Hartenbower said. "For example, local fashion shows and similar one-time-only programs are permitted.

"Most straight commercial programs have been pretty well bottled up but there are housing shows and used automobile programs that are difficult to qualify under the code. There is no question that some of the shows, particularly in the real estate field, should be checked with the code staff, which will rule out any show that devotes 28 minutes out of a half-hour to solid sell—hard or soft."

Radio Code ■ The Radio Code Board, less than a year old, is headed by Cliff Gill, KEZY Anaheim, Calif. Chairman Gill will lay the groundwork for the Wednesday afternoon code session, titled "The Radio Code—Who Needs It." Since last July 1, when the code structure was set up on a paid subscription basis, 1,231

Mr. Hartenbower

am and fm stations have subscribed. This is 27.8% of the radio membership, considered a good start.

Allan Bachman of National Better Business Bureaus will describe how the BBB organization is working in its own campaign on behalf of truth in advertising and good taste. Leonard Matthews of Leo Burnett Co. will describe the activity of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies and Assn. of National Advertisers in their joint code project.

Adam Young, head of the station representative firm bearing his name, will speak on the work of the radio trade practices committee of Station Representatives Assn. He is chairman of the committee. Robert

M. Booth Jr. will present the position of the Federal Communications Bar Assn., of which he is chairman. Charles M. Stone, radio code director, will give a report on code progress. All members of the Radio Code Board are to take part.

Changes ■ Two changes in the old NAB Standards of Radio Practice have been made since last July. First, the allowable commercial time for 5-minute single-sponsorship programs was increased from 1¼ to 1½ minutes. Second, maximum time limits were set, effective May 1, for advertising in announcement or multiple sponsorship program or both. These must not exceed an average of 14 minutes an hour on a weekly basis and in no event may they exceed 18 minutes in any single hour or 5 minutes in any 15-minute segment. Classified, shopping guide and auction programs are permitted 1½ minutes of advertising in each 5-minute segment.

At the tv code meeting Chairman Hartenbower will introduce a code presentation over which Charles H. Tower, NAB vice president, will preside. Frank J. Morris, head of the Hollywood code office, will review previewing of script and film of syndicated series produced by affiliates in the Alliance of Television Film Producers and independents.

Stockton Helffrich, director of the New York code office, will describe the work of that office in dealing with advertisers, agencies and code subscribers. Edward H. Bronson, director of tv code affairs, will describe administrative affairs. A regular meeting of the TvCode Review Board was scheduled Sunday, May 7.

broadcasting a greater force in American Life." (A detailed profile and analysis of Gov. Collins' approach to his job appears in the May issue of Television.)

Board Jolted ■ Last Feb. 10 Gov. Collins jolted the NAB board by stating his belief that broadcasting "is in serious trouble" with public favor at a dangerously low point. At that time he called for improved quality and diversity in programming along with better relations with the government and the American people. He took the position much of NAB's staff work is defensive and centered around trivia, describing the radio and television codes as excellent projects but defensive at a time when the industry must take the offensive.

In the process, he told the board,

NAB should be reorganized. The structure is cumbersome, he contended, lacking unified, central authority. He took occasion in his board talk to denounce the heavy influence exerted by rating services and to propose that NAB itself rather than the networks should speak for the industry in Washington.

Then on March 15 Gov. Collins told the Radio Television Executives Society in New York that all industry segments—stations, networks and film producers—should make a concerted effort to eliminate excessive violence and improve programming. He proposed each tv network develop two hours of blue-ribbon programming (drama, fine music, information, education) for weekly broadcasting in prime time. He reminded advertisers and agencies that they should share both the credit and criticism that broadcasters get and said they should be sure their copy meets obvious and accepted standards of good taste.

Step Further ■ He went further in his sponsorship stand April 22 at the convention of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies by calling for con-programs and commercials. He called code development and enforcement his "major responsibility" and promised to use the codes with much greater effect and to a far greater extent.

Now Gov. Collins is ready to speak directly to broadcasters. It's certain he will hit hard and not hesitate to state the case as he sees it. The governor will be tough and blunt but will do it in that soothing manner that made him an effective administrator. It would surprise no one who knows him if members who had their behinds slapped responded by giving him an ovation.

The trends in tv station package plans

THE KEENER THE COMPETITION, THE MORE FLEXIBLE THE SALES PLANS

The constant search by the advertising agency and its client for additional information on tv station time-selling trends has spurred one station representative—Weed Television Corp.—to come up with a tabulated summary of package-plan data. Its chief finding: the higher the degree of competition, the greater the flexibility in plans available.

The report, now making the rounds of NAB's convention, is summarized as follows (also see tabular material):

- Nearly all tv stations have package plans, as many as 95% of stations in the multi-station (four stations or more) markets, and 99% of stations in three-station markets. Of total stations listed in the report (the study is based on coverage of 490 tv stations in the U. S.), 438 (89%) publish a package plan, though availability varies by market size.

- Once out of the major markets where package plans are prevalent, more than a quarter of those in the single-station classification do not list a plan of any kind.

- More than 80% of all package plans are in fixed positions with run-of-station-only plans insignificant. Outlets in the multi- and three-station markets are more apt to offer both the fixed position and an ROS plan than stations in smaller markets.

- Plans based on the number of announcements purchased per week by an advertiser appear to be a nearly uniform method of packaging—and it's only in the multi-station markets that other plans occur (on dollar volume, bonus, AAA premium, etc.) but even then by only 10% of the stations. Variance in the qualifying number of spots occurs most widely in the multi-station market. Conversely there's a more uniform trend in the smaller markets.

- The five spots per week purchase is the most generally used base for package plans (incidence most prevalent in smaller markets) with the 10-per-week discount most cited as the maximum. Most frequently used minimum plan discounts: 20-30% with an opening discount of 25%; maximum plan discounts 40-50% with 50% the most commonly used.

- Less than one-third of stations permit package plans to operate in so-called prime-time, though nearly 50% of all stations do permit prime-time announcements to contribute for advertiser qualification. An average of 30% of stations in three, two or single-station markets allow package plans to operate in prime time. Slightly more than 60% in multi-station markets offer plans in prime-time (percentage is boosted by the existence of non-network stations in these markets, Weed explains).

- Special ID plans are the exception rather than the rule. Only 9% of all package plan stations in the U. S. publish a special incentive plan for this (10-second) form of spot.

- Few stations allow consecutive-week discounts on package buying as incentives (less than 20% of all stations), though multi-station markets show more inclination to do this than do smaller-market stations.

In its summary, the Weed tabulation also reviews the "status" of tape and color facilities. It finds 40% of all commercial tv stations equipped with video-tape, with the availability concentrated in larger-market classifications (more than three-fourths of all stations in multi-markets and more than half of all stations in three-station markets). As for color: 211 stations, or 43% of the total, are equipped to transmit color programming and/or commercials with the majority of the stations currently transmitting network color only. More than 25% of stations in markets with three or more stations not only transmit network color, but also are equipped to originate local color programs and commercials.

The rep firm noted in its analysis that prime time is considered to be the station's "highest classification for announcements. It may be noted as AAA, AA or A time on the individual station's rate card." In defining the consecutive week discount, the report did not consider the availability of consecutive week discount on straight rate-card announcement or program purchases but specifically refers to the discount shown to be applicable to a package plan purchase.

What defines a "package plan" in the Weed spot dictionary? "By the number of spots entitling an advertiser to plan rates and by the discounts offered." (Discounts are shown off the one-time rate.)

Business briefly . . .

Ford Motor Co., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., and National Biscuit Co. have each renewed sponsorship of NBC-TV's Wagon Train (Wed., 7:30-8:30 p.m. NYT) next season. The series is sold out. Agencies: J. Walter Thompson (Ford), William Esty (R. J. Reynolds) and McCann-Erickson (National Biscuit).

P. Lorillard Co. and American Home Products Corp. will co-sponsor The Price Is Right, nighttime series on NBC-TV next season (Mon., 8:30-9 p.m. NYT). Agencies: Lennen & Newell (P. Lorillard), and Ted Bates (American Home Products).

Colgate-Palmolive Co. and Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co. ordered sponsorship in Robert Taylor's Detectives, on NBC-TV (Fri., 8:30-9:30 p.m. NYT). The Four Star Television series will move in the fall from ABC-TV, where it started in the fall of 1959 in a half-hour version. Agencies: Ted Bates & Co. (Colgate-Palmolive), and

When is a product conflict a product conflict?

Colgate-Palmolive Co., New York, announced last week that McCann-Erickson Inc., New York, was being dropped as agency for the company's Ajax and Spree Detergent-Soap Bar. Billing was estimated at $4 million. Only three weeks ago McCann-Marschalk Co., like McCann-Erickson Inc., an agency under the corporate umbrella of Interpublic Inc., obtained the detergent account of Tidy House, a division of the Pillsbury Co., which has billing of about $1.8 million. It was the view of Interpublic officials that there was no product conflict since McCann-Erickson and McCann-Marschalk are separate and distinct agencies. Colgate-Palmolive reportedly did not share this interpretation.

Keyes, Madden & Jones (Brown & Williamson).

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Pittsburgh, and Douglas Fir Plywood Assn., Tacoma, Wash., will co-sponsor David Brinkley's Journal on NBC-TV next season (Wed., 10:30-11 p.m. NYT), making the weekly colorcast news series a sell-out. Agencies: BBDO, N. Y. (Pittsburgh Plate Glass), and Cole & Weber, Seattle (Douglas Fir).

United Motors Service Div. of General Motors Corp., Gillette Safety Razor Co., Colgate-Palmolive Co., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. are among the advertisers to order sponsorship of NBC-TV's coverage of four major football bowl classics. All four games are sold out more than seven months in advance of the telecasts. They are: Rose Bowl (Jan. 1, 1962), co-sponsored by Gillette (Maxon Inc.) and Chrysler Corp. (BBDO); East-West Shrine Game (Dec. 30), with Colgate-Palmolive (Ted Bates) and R. J. Reynolds (William Esty) each sponsoring one quarter, and the remaining half sponsored by Savings & Loan Foundation (McCann-Erickson); Pro Bowl Game (Jan. 14, 1962), with Liggett & Myers (Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample) sponsoring one-half, and United Motors Service Div. of General Motors (Campbell-Ewald) and Carter Products (Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles) sponsoring one quarter each, and the Blue-Gray Game (Dec. 30), co-sponsored by Gillette and Chrysler through agencies previously named. NBC-TV also has the following order for two other postseason football classics: National Football League Championship Game (Dec. 31), one-quarter sold to Philip Morris (Leo Burnett) and one-quarter to Ford Motor Co. (J. Walter Thompson); Sugar Bowl (Jan. 1, 1962), one-half sold, with United Motors Service Div. and Wynn Oil (Erwin Wasey, Ruthrauff & Ryan) each taking one-quarter. United Motors has also ordered quarters in the Liberty Bowl (Dec. 16) and the Senior Bowl (Jan. 6, 1962).

El Producto Cigar Co., N. Y., is co-sponsoring Fight of the Week on ABC-TV (Sat., 10 p.m.) through Sept. 30. The other sponsor is Gillette. El Producto's agency: Compton Adv., N. Y.

Two department stores give radio a tryout

Two Southern California department store operators, The May Co. in Los Angeles and Walker Scott in San Diego, have started six-month test saturation radio campaigns based on the one-year test conducted by Radio Advertising Bureau for the Higbee Store in Cleveland. The May Co. campaign, budgeted at $180,000, calls for the use of from 200 to 400 one-minute spots on KABC, KFI, KFVB, KGBS, KHJ, KMPC, KNX, KPOL Los Angeles, and KGIL San Fernando. Agency is Milton Weinberg Co., Los Angeles.

The Walker Scott campaign, budgeted at $35,000, will run in "waves," using 150 to 300 one-minute spots a week, on KCBQ, KDEO, KFMB, KGB, KOGO, KSDO and KSON San Diego. It's placed by Treadwell & Shoemaker, San Diego. Jingles will be combined with product commercials in both campaigns.

Philip Morris renews shows

Philip Morris Inc. has renewed its participating sponsorship of four prime-time tv programs next season. All of them are on CBS-TV. Present plans call for the programs Dobbie Gillis (Tue. 8:30-9 p.m.); Rawhide (Fri. 7:30-8:30 p.m.); Perry Mason (Sat. 7:30-8:30 p.m.); and Route 66 (Fri. 8:30-9:30 p.m.), to be telecast in the same periods during the fall season. Philip Morris will sponsor one half of Dobbie Gillis, one-fourth of Route 66 and one-third of both Rawhide and Perry Mason. All the major cigarette brands manufactured by the company will be involved in the various shows, but the pairing of individual brands and programs has not been decided. Leo Burnett, Chicago, is the agency for Marlboro, Alpine, Philip Morris and Philip Morris Commander, while Benton & Bowles, New York, handles the Benson & Hedges and Parliament brands.

The graphic shows a radio tower structure. At the top is the ABC Radio logo. Below it are several blocks: a circle, a horizontal bar, and the letters 'ABC'. The next row consists of the letters 'RADIO'. Below that are three blocks: a horizontal bar, the number '4', and another horizontal bar. The final two rows spell out 'BUILDING' and 'IS OUR BUSINESS' respectively, with a small building icon in the 'S' block of the second row.

BUILDING PROGRAMS: In October, 1960, ABC Radio made a major program change — introduced "Flair" in the afternoon — gave "The Breakfast Club" a modern sound and put more freshness and vitality into its News programs.

BUILDING LOCAL RATINGS: Immediate results showed in big and small markets alike with improved ratings — KMBC, Kansas City — share increase from 23.3% to 37.5%; WWIN, Baltimore — 12 times the audience versus last year; KALB, Alexandria — led all rival stations 3 to 1 in all time periods; WNDU, South Bend — "Flair": Share 46.3% — double the preceding program and 120% higher than the next highest station — WMNI, Columbus — increased share from 12.0% to 26.0% with Flair and increased share from 6.0% to 15.0% in Breakfast Club.

BUILDING NATIONAL RATINGS: As the new programming caught on in market after market, the national Nielsen showed ABC Radio up in all program categories (Nielsen, February 1, vs. January 2). "Breakfast Club" +13%, "Flair" +40%, Weekend News +30%, Weekday News, +53%.

BUILDING SALES: The end result — the one that means most to stations and advertisers — SALES FOR THE FIRST QUARTER — Breakfast Club up 11.2%; Weekday News up 11.0% Five Star Final up 23.3%.

BUILD WITH THE NETWORK THAT IS BUILDING TOWARD THE MAGIC MARKET OF THE 60's—ABC RADIO.

American Tv Commercials Festival awards

100 EFFORTS HONORED, 8 AGENCIES GET LION'S SHARE

A hundred commercials made the winners' reel last week at the Second American Tv Commercials Festival and 25 others entered the Commercials Classics Hall of Fame.

Eight agencies, screened by peers and clients, each emerged with four or more plaques and certificates from the award lunch Thursday (May 4) in New York. Among themselves they accounted for 55 awards, more than half the total for commercials of the past year.

Benton & Bowles took six bests, one runner-up and two special citations. J. Walter Thompson turned out six bests. BBDO produced four bests, six runners-up and two specials. Young & Rubicam took four bests, three runners-up, one special and one director's citation. Campbell-Ewald collected two bests and two specials. Leo Burnett, one best and three runners-up. Doyle Dane Bernbach, six runners-up and four specials. Ogilvy, Benson & Mather, one best, two runners-up and one special.

The winner's group was skimmed off 1,352 entries this year. Eighty ad-executive jurors screened them for impact, believability, tastefulness, copy, demonstration, audience involvement and employment of television techniques. The complete list, naming category, commercial, client, agency and producer:

All cowboys and Indians drink Hills Bros. coffee

"Hand down the box!"

That's the command shouted by the bandit to the stagecoach driver after the coach has been riddled by bullets and arrows from a band of brigands and Indians in a new 20-second cartoon commercial for Hills Bros. Coffee. A new year-long campaign will start this month on about 125 television stations.

The box, handed down, is shot open and reveals some cups and a jar of Hills Bros. Instant, at which the first bandit cries: "It's the most!" and the driver replies: "It's made to be the most. Yep. Made to be the most like ground coffee!" And the group choruses: "He—ay for the Hills Brothers Instant Coffee" as the camera dollies in to the jar, then cuts to an Indian who says, in cultured accents, "Extra rich and deeply satisfying."

THE CANS & CANNOTS

What to expect from ads during an economic recession

Advertising can help an individual company gain a competitive advantage over others in its field during a recession. And it can help to alleviate some of the pressures in a period of declining business. But by itself advertising can't stop or reverse the economic forces which cause a recession in the first place.

This was the consensus of a panel of advertising executives which discussed the question, "Can we advertise ourselves out of a recession?" Wednesday (May 3) at a clinic held by the Hollywood Advertising Club. Panel members were Charles R. Stuart, advertising manager, Bank of America; Marvin Mann, domestic advertising manager, Max Factor Co.; Nelson Carter, vice president and Hollywood office manager, Fletcher Richards, Calkins & Holden; and Robert L. Humphreys, vice president and account supervisor, Foote, Cone & Belding. Moderator of the discussion was Jack Leener, advertising manager, Tidewater Oil Co.

A bank is constantly on a seesaw, Mr. Stuart commented. When times are good, everyone wants to go into debt and the banks are hard-pressed to get money to lend. When times are bad, savings deposits increase but there are few borrowers. Advertising at the right time will slow down withdrawals or accelerate deposits, he said, but the economic factors behind a recession are too massive for any bank or any group of banks to push around.

Recessions are inevitable in a free economy, Mr. Carter stated, as they provide plateaus in the upward spiral to give us time to assimilate past gains before starting up again. Good times encourage inefficiency by both management and labor, he noted. Living costs go up and a readjustment is needed. Advertising can help shorten the recession period, but it can't change the basic economic picture.

Boom During Bust - Reporting that Max Factor stock has gone from $18 to $61 a share during the current recession period, Mr. Mann said that the cosmetic business is almost depression proof, that it generally makes money, "only in a recession you don't make as much." When women feel the need to economize, they stop patronizing beauty shops "and buy more of our products to use at home," he said. But he warned that at such times brand loyalty evaporates if a competing brand is offered at a reduced price.

Mr. Humphreys noted that heavy industry goods, like automobiles or major accessories, are bellwethers leading the

Miss Martinez

Mr. Oberholtzer

SRA honors McEvoy, Martinez, Oberholtzer

Top broadcast buyers from Cunningham & Walsh, BBDO and Leo Burnett were honored in last week's fourth annual Station Representatives Assn. awards presentations in New York and Chicago.

Cited for outstanding contributions to advertising: Newman F. McEvoy, senior vice president and director of Cunningham & Walsh Inc., New York, winner of the Gold Key award for distinguished advertising leadership; Hope Martinez, timebuyer, BBDO, New York, winner of the Silver Nail timebuyer of the year award, and William H. Oberholtzer, timebuyer, Leo Burnett, Chicago, winner of the Chicago timebuyer of the year award. The awards were presented Wednesday (May 3) at luncheons in New York and Chicago.

Mr. McEvoy, who started in the advertising business at Hartford, Conn., in 1928, has been with C&W for many years. He is head of that agency's media department. His industry activities have included the following: first president of the New York Advertising Media Planners, and presently a member of its executive committee; the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies, and the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau.

Miss Martinez, who joined BBDO in 1945, has been a timebuyer on many BBDO accounts, including American Tobacco Co. It's estimated she has handled $173 million for various accounts in the broadcast media.

Mr. Oberholtzer began his Leo Burnett association in 1956.

way into or out of a recession, because people who are worried about the future are apt to put off buying a new car or tv set, while they have to go on buying food. Advertising can help here, he commented, especially in promoting a new product introduced in a dull business period to replace an older one with declining sales. Color tv might well help lift this year's recession in this field, he said, with a number of manufacturers beginning to bring out and advertise color sets in contrast to previous years, when virtually all color tv set production and promotion was done by RCA.

The panel members agreed that public service advertising, appealing to the public to start spending as a patriotic gesture to aid the national economy, would not succeed; that the only thing that works in a time when people are unemployed or fearful of being so is an appeal to their own self interest. In a really depressed area, where housewives are buying powdered milk instead of whole milk and margarine instead of butter, no amount of brand advertising can overcome the lack of available cash, Mr. Mann declared.

TvB study shows public utility tv use up 26%

Public utility gross time investments in tv have increased by 26%, from $9.8 million in 1958 to $12.3 million in 1960, the Television Bureau of Advertising disclosed in its latest presentation released last week.

Entitled "Public Response to Public Utilities," the report contains a survey of 64 major markets. It reveals that 164 public utilities engaged in various tv campaigns. Spot announcement campaigns were used by 91, program campaigns by 46, and 27 used combined spot announcement and program campaigns. The survey also shows that 42% of the campaigns were minute announcements, 34% were 20-second announcements and 24% were 10-second announcements. The 46 utilities surveyed sponsored news, weather, films, documentaries, sports, food and cooking shows and home building programs.

STATIONS AREN'T BOUGHT BY ADVERTISERS... THEY'RE SOLD BY REPS!

579 Fifth Avenue
New York 17, New York

Dear Ed:

This letter is intended for your happy file. In the two years I have been at KLAS-TV, it has been a great pleasure working with the Weed Organization. However, I must admit that this week has been such a successful week in the history of KLAS-TV national business, that I thought I should write you a special letter of appreciation.

Perhaps there have been months when we have done more business nationally, but I'm certain there has never been any period in the station's history where we secured such a high percentage of the business coming into the market.

In the past two weeks, your organization has sold for KLAS-TV the following accounts: Kellogg Cereal, Cal-Spray, Bank of Nevada, Folgers Coffee, Budweiser Beer, Clorets and Roloids, Brown & Williamson, Bekins Van & Storage and International Shoes, and, perhaps, some others that I have left out. In all cases, there was a tough competition struggle, with the Weed Company, and KLAS-TV coming out on top.

This rash of victories certainly speaks well for your organization and the individual men handling the accounts. All over the country you hear cries that the reps just aren't selling--well, I, for one, can tell you that the reps are selling--at least our rep is.

You can frame this letter, reprint it, thermofax it, sky-write with it, or merely throw it away, but, I just wanted to let you know how much we think of your efforts. Keep up the good work.

Very best regards,

Howard A. Kalmenson

Armour ABC-TV bill to top $8 million

Armour & Co., Chicago, for its Grocery Products Division, will bill more than $8 million at ABC-TV during 1961-62. Armour's various prime time and daytime orders represent the company's largest tv purchase, and an expansion of its ABC-TV participation buys which began two years ago. A new feature of Armour's tv plan for next season: its initial move into alternate-week, half-hour sponsorship.

Jack Simpson, vice president and national director of broadcasting, Foote, Cone & Belding (Armour's agency), said the schedule was completed after weeks of negotiations. A major development of the negotiations was ABC-TV's shift of Adventures in Paradise from Monday at 10 p.m. to Sunday 10-11 p.m. Armour also wants to participate in Surfside Six which would have immediately preceded Paradise in the Monday night schedule.

The Armour breakdown:

Adventures in Paradise, Surfside Six, and The Untouchables, 1 minute weekly for 52 weeks; Roaring 20's, a total of 13 minutes on alternate weeks; alternate-week sponsorship of Bachelor Father (Tues. 8-8:30 p.m.); 9 minutes weekly in various daytime shows such as Queen for a Day and Who Do You Trust, and 13 additional minutes to be scattered across the board during the year.

Among Armour products to be advertised on the shows: Dial soap, Chifon liquid detergent, canned meats, Dash dog food and at least one other soap bar.

Mr. Simpson said Armour chose to broaden its tv exposure and selected ABC-TV because Armour has been successful with the minute dispersion plan it began using on the network two years ago. The plan, he said, provides flexibility for various products on a rotation basis, including "pure" minutes (not back to back with other commercials), and ABC-TV's "attractive discount structure makes it economically feasible."

Armour's new tv budget is a sizable increase over last year. According to figures released by Television Bureau of Advertising (BROADCASTING, April 17), Armour's 1960 gross time expenditures in network tv totaled $3,988,370—less than half the amount budgeted for the Grocery Products Division in the coming year. The division is a client of Foote, Cone & Belding's Chicago branch.

Agency appointments...

▪ Chunky Chocolate Corp., N. Y., appoints J. Walter Thompson, N. Y., as agency for Chunky, Bit-O-Honey and Old Nick brands. Billing is about $750,000. Media plans not set. The account had been at Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield, N. Y.

▪ National Apple Institute, Washington, D. C. (Apple Growers of America), appoints Ketchum, MacLeod & Grove, that city, to handle its national public relations program.

▪ Claussens' Bakeries (Augusta and Savannah, Ga., Columbia, Greenville, Charleston, S. C.) appoints W. E. Long Adv., Chicago, as its agency.

▪ Revell Inc. (maker of plastic hobby kits), Venice, Calif., appoints Fletcher Richards, Calkins & Holden, Hollywood.

▪ Lovable Brassiere Co., N. Y., has appointed newly-formed Frank Gary Thomas Agency to handle its advertising account as of June 1. Lee Garfield, formerly vice president and account supervisor of W. B. Doner & Co., N. Y., is president of new agency, located at 167 Madison Ave.

▪ Frank H. Fleer Corp. (bubble gum), Philadelphia, appoints the Zakin Co., N. Y. Company plans an expanded trade and consumer campaign, and although media plans are not set, spot tv and radio are expected to be utilized.

Rep appointments...

▪ WWSC Glens Falls, N. Y.: Jack Malsa & Co. as national representative.

▪ KJIM Fort Worth; KJEM Oklahoma City; WCOA Pensacola, Fla.; KTFS Texarkana, Tex.; WROL Knoxville, Tenn.; all appoint Clarke Brown Co., Dallas, as their southern representative.

Also in advertising...

Zakin on upbeat ▪ An expansion program is being implemented at The Zakin Co., New York advertising agency, covering the establishment of a public relations division, the doubling of its office facilities by next month and the enlargement of its marketing and research services. Zakin, headed by partners Al Zakin and Ted Eisenberg, is the agency for WPIX (TV) New York, Official Films Inc., New York, and the New York Herald-Tribune radio stations and also handles accounts in the beauty products, fashion and housewares field. The pr division started operations last week under the supervision of Ben Kaufman, formerly an editor with the Hollywood Reporter, who has been named public relations director of The Zakin Co.

International Association ▪ Gardner Advertising Co., with offices in New York, St. Louis and Hollywood, and Basil Butler Co. Ltd., London, Eng.,

have formed an association which calls for a mutual exchange of financial interests, personnel and creative marketing ideas. The British firm, which represents 44 clients with $5 million in billings, will be re-named Basil Butler Gardner Advertising Ltd. There will be no change in the name of the American agency which has 40 clients with total 1960 billings of $42.7 million.

New Christal office ▪ Henry I. Christal Co., station representative, is opening its seventh U. S. office, at 3440 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles. It will be managed by Kirk Munroe, who has been in the Christal firm's New York office for the past two years and before that was manager of the company's Atlanta office.

Colgate-Palmolive buys Triangle tv science show

The Colgate-Palmolive Company will sponsor Frontiers of Knowledge, a monthly scientific series produced by the U. of Pennsylvania, it was announced last Thursday. The announcement was made jointly by Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the university; Mr. George H. Lesch, Colgate-Palmolive president, and Roger W. Clipp, vice president of Triangle Stations, the group which will carry the series.

The five Triangle stations which will present the series are: WFIL-TV Philadelphia; WBNF-TV Binghamton, N. Y.; WFBG-TV Altoona-Johnstown, Pa.; WLYH-TV Lebanon-Lancaster, Pa.; and KFRE-TV Fresno, Calif. Plans are underway to make the programs available to stations in other sections of the country.

The half-hour documentary, which was started last December by the university and WFIL-TV in cooperation with other universities and research foundations, is concerned with new developments in the field of basic scientific research and traces them from their initial discovery to their practical application in industry and everyday life.

Two stations pick same rep

KUNO and KTOD, both Corpus Christi, Tex., jointly announce the appointment of Devney-O'Connell Inc., New York. Although it's unusual for one company to represent two stations in the same market, KUNO is a Spanish language outlet and KTOD programs in English. According to Sterling Zimmerman, executive vice president, KUNO, and Carroll Wakefield, vice president, KTOD, the stations have joined forces on a coordinated promotion and sales effort, and Devney-O'Connell will present the total market to national advertisers and their agencies.

THE ROSY PICTURE AT ABC RADIO

More affiliates, increased sales and program clearances

Gains for ABC Radio on many fronts were described in reports prepared for delivery to the network's affiliates at a meeting in Washington yesterday (Sunday) morning, preceding the NAB convention.

Robert R. Pauley, vice president in charge of the network, and associates singled out advances made during the past year in the number of affiliated stations, program clearances, news coverage, sports audiences, sales of news and of Breakfast Club, and in the acceptance of the new Flair program series by both stations and audiences.

About 200 representatives of ABC-affiliated radio stations were expected to be on hand for the meeting. Top officials slated to participate with Mr. Pauley included Leonard H. Goldenson, president of the parent AB-PT; James Hagerty, ABC news, special events and public affairs vice president, and radio network department heads.

Mr. Pauley reported that ABC Radio added 45 affiliates in the last year, the largest single-year total in the network's history; that Breakfast Club sales have gained by 15% and that the veteran program is being carried by 295 stations, the highest number in recent years; that newscast sales are up 18% and news clearances are still gaining; and that through Flair, the modernized Breakfast Club and strengthened news programming the network has achieved its goal of reaching the young adult audience, "the listeners who in the next decade will be better educated and have more money to spend."

He said Flair, although relatively new, is now carried by 270 stations, including affiliates in all major markets. Earl Mullin, national director of the ABC Radio stations department, said the daily hour-long service feature, built around name talent, had enabled many affiliates to cancel syndicated material they had been buying from other sources. Mr. Pauley said 35 new personalities had been signed for Flair during the past three months.

Audience Size ■ Ratings victories scored by Breakfast Club over its opposition in a number of markets were also emphasized.

Mr. Pauley noted that through its broadcasts of heavyweight title fights ABC Radio had reached the largest audiences in radio entertainment history twice in the last nine months. He told affiliates that ABC Radio would continue to carry only the most important sports events.

Mr. Hagerty assured the affiliates there was good reason to assume that ABC would soon have the best news operation in radio. He said ABC Radio News has doubled its Washington staff and strengthened its overseas corps.

Mr. Goldenson stressed the importance of ABC Radio and reported on the progress of AB-PT generally.

Other speakers were to include Frank Marx, ABC engineering vice president; William Rafael, national program director; James Duffy, national sales director; Jack Mann, national director of research and advertising, and Chet Simmons, administrator of Sports Programs Inc.

NAB Radio Board has eight new faces

Eight new members will join the NAB Radio Board of Directors this week, with five others re-elected for new two-year terms (BROADCASTING, April 10). Another 12 elective directors remain in office for an additional year. The four radio network members are appointed by their networks.

Joining the Radio Board will be these new directors: Carleton D. Brown, WTVI Waterville, Me.; James L. Howe, WIRA Fort Pierce, Fla.; George T. Frechette, WFHR Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.; Ray Johnson, KMED Medford, Ore.; John S. Hayes, WTOP Washington; Willard Schroeder, WOOD Grand Rapids, Mich.; Ben B. Sanders, KICD Spencer, Ia., and Ben Strouse, WWDC-FM Washington. Entering their second terms are these re-elected directors: John S. Booth, WCHA Chambersburg, Pa.; Hugh O. Potter, WOMI Owensboro, Ky.; Odin S. Ramsland, KDAL Duluth, Minn.; Boyd Kelley, KRRV Sherman, Tex., and B. Floyd Farr, KEEN San Jose, Calif.

Four elective vacancies on the Television Board will be filled at a business session of tv members to be held Tuesday morning. Those whose terms end this week are W. D. Rogers, KDUB-TV Lubbock, Tex., Tv Board chairman; Clair R. McCollough, Steinman Stations; Wrede Petersmeyer, Corinthian Stations, and Willard E. Walbridge, KTRK-TV Houston.

Tv Board members whose terms run another year are Dwight W. Martin, WAFB-TV Baton Rouge, La., vice chairman of board; Campbell Arnoux, WTAR-TV Norfolk, Va.; Henry B. Clay, KTHV(TV) Little Rock, Ark.; Joseph C. Drilling, KJEO-TV Fresno, Calif.; William B. Quarton, WMT-TV Cedar Rapids, Ia. Joseph S. Sinclair, WJAR-TV Providence, R. I., and Eugene S. Thomas, KETV(TV) Omaha, Neb. Network tv directors are appointed.

Full FCC to answer NAB questions on Wednesday

All seven members of the FCC will participate in the annual commission-industry panel discussion at the NAB convention Wednesday morning (May 10). Answering broadcasters' questions without prior screening will be Chairman Newton N. Minow and Commissioners Rosel H. Hyde, Robert T. Bartley, Robert E. Lee, T. A. M. Craven, Frederick W. Ford and John S. Cross.

NAB Board Chairman Clair R. McCollough of the Steinman Stations, will serve as panel moderator. Because of the convention, the commission's weekly meeting will be held on Thursday.

NAB membership up

Membership of NAB reached an all-time high in every category as the association began its 39th annual convention. Total membership is 2,845, up 11% since the 1960 convention, according to William Carlisle, NAB station relations manager.

Membership includes 1,762 am stations (1,230 in 1960), 587 fm stations (327 in 1960), 371 tv (269 in 1960), 125 associates (121 in 1960) plus the major networks. The tv code has 387 subscribers compared to 249 in 1960. The radio code which had no subscription plan prior to July 1, 1960, has 1,231 subscribers.

MORE DISTAFF LEADERSHIP

LeRoy Collins urges AWRT delegates to take more active roles; Tjaden assumes presidency

Broadcasting's goals are America's goals and it "has more to contribute to the accomplishing of the American dream than any other single force," NAB President LeRoy Collins told the 10th Annual Convention of the American Women in Radio & Television last week in Washington.

In his keynote address Thursday before an estimated 1,000 delegates and industry and governmental dignitaries, Gov. Collins told the women broadcasters they play a unique role as "the molders and leaders of men," urging them to assert their leadership and convictions in public and community affairs. Women in broadcasting face a challenge to stimulate such leadership among women throughout the land, he said.

"We need more and more men and women who are looked up to as responsible leaders; who have earned the right to be respected," he added, stressing AWRT's part in encouraging this leadership.

Commenting further, Gov. Collins said that equality of vocational opportunity for women admittedly has not been totally achieved in broadcasting, but that progress was being made, noting the many women in key station and network positions.

A co-feature of the convention was the presentation of the 10th annual

McCall's Golden Mike Awards, given annually to women in radio and television for outstanding public service work. Pauline Frederick, NBC United Nations correspondent, was named recipient of the highest award for her "authoritative coverage of the UN in its most critical year." She also received the highest Golden Mike Award in 1955.

Miss Frederick was cited by McCall's for the "cool, experienced perception with which she 'single-handedly' began an around-the-clock coverage of the Congo as it developed into the year's most explosive news story."

Other Golden Mike winners: Norma Goodman, KTVA (TV) Anchorage, Alaska, and Sunnie Jennings, KDKA-TV Pittsburgh (service to the community); Frances L. One of the superior productions through which creative talent and community leadership are continually building new vision into Television on stations represented by BLAIR-TV standout studio productions have long been a specialty with WEWS. Now, in the One O'Clock Club, it has Cleveland's most talked-about program.

Accent on Personality

What has the Club got, that has kept viewers flocking to WEWS studios from all of Northern Ohio, even from Pennsylvania, since '57?

First, it has two of TV's most provocative and appealing talents: erudite, quick-witted Dorothy Fuldheim, and zany, unpredictable Bill Gordon. They develop spontaneity and excitement that fascinates countless thousands of home viewers, as well as 100 or more on hand for each show.

Plus guest-stars! Stars like Rosemary Clooney, Dody Goodman, Kaye Ballard, Johnny Mathis, Victor Borge, Genevieve, Benny Youngman or Van Cliburn. Most of them make repeat visits because they have so much fun the first time.

Besides celebrities, Bill and Dorothy chat with experts in every field from matronomy to world-travel . . . or Dorothy enralls viewers with a gripping book review . . . or Bill sings a duet or cha-chas with guest to the music of Joe Howard's One O'Clock orchestra.

Yes, the One O'Clock Club has all these and top ratings, too!

To Blair-TV, creative community-interest programming by great stations like WEWS is a constant source of inspiration. We are proud to serve more than a score of such stations in national sales.

Sarnoff sees tv network across Latin America

An international tv network in Latin America is regarded by Robert W. Sarnoff, NBC board chairman, as the next step in television's growth pattern. Mr. Sarnoff made this projection in a speech scheduled for delivery May 6 before the Inter-American Assn. of Broadcasters in Washington.

Mr. Sarnoff said that European broadcasters have implemented Eurovision under "far greater handicaps of language and differing technical standards than we have in the Americas." He acknowledged that the "enormous cost" of tying the tv systems of the various Latin American countries into a network would be "an obstacle," and added:

"For this reason, in my judgment, the soundest starting point would be a regional television network paralleling the Common Market that has already been projected by seven Latin American countries. Such a network could well be extended with the progressive lowering of trade barriers and the progress of the area toward economic integration. What I am envisaging is primarily a network joining Latin American broadcasters because of language, tradition and program interests in that part of the hemisphere."

150 expected to attend Tv Stations Inc. meet

More than 150 broadcasters are expected to attend the sixth annual membership breakfast meeting sponsored by Tv Stations Inc., scheduled today (May 8), at 8 a.m. in the Continental Room of the Sheraton Park Hotel. Warren Bahr, vice president, radio and tv, Young & Rubicam, New York, is the guest speaker. Progress reports on the company's plans for diversification and for syndicated products will be reviewed. At the NAB convention, Tv Stations will maintain hospitality and business quarters in Suite A-502 of the Shoreham Hotel.

Entertainment for the banquet

A special "Radio and Television Theme Overture," written for the occasion by Nelson Riddle, will be performed Wednesday night at the NAB convention banquet. The program will be presented by Broadcast Music Inc.

Jazz will be represented at the banquet by the Count Basie Orchestra. Anna Moffo, of Metropolitan Opera fame, will sing. An all-star group from Nashville will offer music from the country-western-popular field. It will be headed by Chet Atkins, The Jordonairens and Gene Nash. The Ralph Hunter Choir will present selections from the musicals "Fiorello" and "Tenderloin."

Sam Levenson will offer a comedy routine, only non-musical item on the program. Russell Sanjek, BMI public relations director, will produce.

First-run film series: its heyday is past

YESTERYEAR'S BOOM IN NEW TV FILM SERIES HAS FALLEN ON EVIL TIMES

The film buyer for a television station in New York remarked last week: "As of this moment, there are only four first-run tv film syndication series definitely set for prime-time showing in the coming season. In 1956, there were 29 first-run properties released to television and on the air."

This remark dramatizes the lowly estate of the first-run film syndication business, once a high-flying phase of television. A check of both distributors and television stations last week drew various reasons for the decline of so-called "quality," first-run production and distribution. But everybody agreed on at least one point: the number of first-run series is likely to decrease rather than increase in the future. (Low-budget tape and film series are not included in this context of first-run).

The downward trend in this area of television has been going on since 1956. In that year, 29 new programs were offered for syndication; the number has dwindled each year: 1957—20; 1958—16; 1959—15; 1960—8.

The only series definitely scheduled for showing next fall are Ziv-United Artists' King of Diamonds and Ripcord, Filmaster Inc.'s The Beachcomber and Tv Marketeers' Adventures of the Sea Hawk. Distributors and stations feel that perhaps as many as two additional series, making a total of six, will become available during 1961, though some distributors claim they are considering making first-run programs available.

Ziv-UA's Plans ■ Ziv-UA already has announced it plans to distribute eight new series over a 16-month period, beginning with King of Diamonds, which was placed on the market last month. Other distributors and some station officials question this high number. They feel that Ziv-UA probably reached this total by counting second-year production of old series and first-run programs not designed for prime-time showing. Independent Television Corp. says it intends to select two of a group of six series—Whiplash, Ghost Squad, Sir Francis Drake, Night at the Palladium, The Jo Stafford Show and Supercar—and offer them for syndication. Screen Gems, officially, has announced no new series for syndication, but station sources say SG is considering the release of a series called Shannon.

But it's a long process from plan to execution. Some station officials claim a new syndicated series will be announced but actually will not be generally sold until a hefty regional sale is completed. "I'd be very surprised if we have more than six new series intended for prime time," one seasoned station film buyer said, noting he's ruling out the second year on old series and shows produced for daytime periods.

Why were there 29 first-run, "quality" tv series released in 1956, eight last year and possibly as few as six this year?

The scarcity of time slots in prime time seems to be the critical factor. This state appears to have developed from increased network programming, including the trend toward hour-long shows, (networks are scheduling series as early as 7:30 p.m. and continuing until as late as 11 p.m.). Some distributors traced the dearth of time periods to the emergence of ABC-TV as a stronger network force. In the words of one distributor: "Even up to two years ago, we could go into a market and sell the ABC-TV station either because the network wasn't programming or because the station didn't want the show. That isn't true today."

Costs Up ■ A reason advanced by producers-distributors is the steadily increasing costs of producing first-run series, accompanied by stations' unwillingness to pay more for programming today than three or four years ago. Only recently Sam Cook Digges, administrative vice president of CBS Films, warned a meeting of advertising agency and advertiser officials that unless stations and sponsors are willing to invest an "equitable" sum in first-run syndicated films this type of programming will virtually disappear. Some station executives do not "buy" this argu-

Ziv-UA sees no storms ahead for first-run tv film series

Ziv-United Artists Inc., New York, which pioneered in first-run tv film syndication in 1948, is still "bullish" about this phase of the business after 13 years: Ziv-UA has earmarked approximately $12.2 million for production of eight series scheduled for first-run release over the next 15 months.

John Sinn, president, of Ziv-UA, was asked last week why the company plans to operate against the current trend of fewer and fewer first-run syndication productions (see story, page 84). Mr. Sinn smiled but answered quickly:

"Because we know that there is a market for quality first-run film series. We know that stations and national, local and regional advertisers will accept these films; our track record bears this out. I cannot believe that stations will not find a place for quality programs and for regional and local advertisers who must have an opportunity to use the medium to compete with their giant national opposition."

Ziv-UA's master plan is to release the first-run series at two-month intervals and its initial program hit the market four weeks ago. This was King of Diamonds, starring Broderick Crawford, which already has been sold in 118 markets, including the five largest cities in the country. Last week Ziv-UA announced the release of another series, Ripcord.

For competitive reasons, Mr. Sinn said, he prefers not to identify the other serials. But he described in general terms the various types: informative documentary and public service specials, comedy, drama and action-adventure.

'Our main business' ■ Mr. Sinn said Ziv-UA's expanded production budget during the coming years "really should not be surprising. Syndication always has been our main business for more than 13 years. In simplest terms, our formula is that we know how to produce and we know how to sell the programs."

During the past year, he added,

Ziv-UA's Sinn

Ziv-UA released six series for first-run syndication and all were sold "in a substantial number of markets." The series and the number of markets bought are: Tombstone Territory (156); fourth year of Sea Hunt (209); Home Run Derby (159); The Case of the Dangerous Robin (181); Miami Undercover (141), and Lockup (187).

As Ziv Television Programs, the company entered the first-run syndication business in 1948 with Yesterday's Newsreel and Sports Album. Shortly thereafter, the company started to produce the series that gained it far-flung prominence—Cisco Kid. Another of its long-lived series was Boston Blackie. In all, the company has produced and distributed more than 40 first-run syndicated series, including Men of Annapolis, Science Fiction Theatre, Men Into Space and Favorite Story.

Mr. Sinn deplores the scarcity of first-run syndicated programming and adds this observation:

"To remain healthy, the tv film business must keep producing quality syndicated shows. After all, if the networks were the only place where an advertiser could be accommodated, how could the interests of regional and local advertisers and the local stations be served?"

"I realize that time slots sometimes create a problem—but I say this: if a program is of high quality, time slots somehow always are found."

ment. They contend that much of the first-run syndicated films in the past did not have much "quality" and that the prices were out of line. This led, in many instances, to "panic" sales at cut-rate prices, which discouraged many producers-directors from venturing into additional first-run projects.

Station officials claim that two or three years ago there was an oversupply of syndicated material on the market, which prevented some new programs from finding sponsorship. A result was that some producers fell by the wayside.

A collateral consideration, according to station executives, is that in the heyday of syndication, distributors were "overstaffed" and their costs soared out of proportion to sales. This, too, dampened the ardor of some producers for venturing into first-run production. Even though sales staffs have been trimmed, distribution costs today run 35-40% above the total production costs and some station officials regard this as too high.

The outlook is even more bleak today, according to several distributors. The trend toward off-network syndication of network series is likely to result in the use of some prime-time slots, particularly on independent tv stations and on some network affiliates, for these programs. In recent months, MCA-TV has released six off-network serials via syndication, including four hour-long programs—Riverboat, Suspicion, Cimarron City and Overland Trail. There are indications that other off-network series may be offered shortly for syndication to touch off a trend that will aggravate the time-slot squeeze.

Only last Wednesday (May 3) CBS Films announced it will handle syndication of two off-network programs that have been on CBS-TV in prime time—December Bride and Angel.

Spark Plug Is Ziv-UA ■ Ziv-UA is the acknowledged spark plug in the first-run syndication field, whether or not it actually achieves the eight-program timetable it has established. With King of Diamonds already sold in 118 markets and Ripcord released only three weeks after King, Ziv-UA is off to a commanding lead.

What makes Ziv-UA run?

John Sinn, Ziv-UA president, makes the answer sound simple (see interview, above). There is, he says, "a need" for quality, first-run programs and Ziv-UA simply fills this void. Rival producers and distributors say that Ziv-UA, from its years of experience in the business, has learned how to produce for this market and has learned to bring in a show at the lowest possible cost without a noticeable sacrifice of production values.

They acknowledge, too, that Ziv-UA has a top-flight syndication sales staff which knows all the tricks of selling. Several distributors noted that Ziv has been in the business for 12 or 13 years and has served many regional and local advertisers; that in many markets Ziv has the time slots 'sewed up' because many of these advertisers have built-in Filmasters' The Beachcombers has been bought individually, by 80 stations, guaranteeing its appearance as a fall entry. These 80 include outlets which own TV Stations Inc., an organization which buys film programming on behalf of approximately 150 tv stations. This buying-in-advance is significant because a producer and distributor in today's market must have a certain guarantee of money already in the till before they wade into a full-scale production and selling effort. Ziv-UA traditionally lines up a group of regional sales before launching a new series.

Wynn Nathan, president of TV Marketeers, which is distributing Adventures of the Sea Hawk as a first-run vehicle this fall, hopes to sidestep the prime time pinch by recommending that the series be scheduled in a 7 p.m. period. He noted that Sea Hawk is an "all-family" show and should appeal to both children and adults, but acknowledged a series which relies on "blood and thunder" might not be suitable for an early time slot.

The future of so-called quality first-run syndication programming appears discouraging. Film companies of substance, such as MCA and Screen Gems, show no inclination to wade into the battle of soft time slots and hard-to-get money. Instead they prefer to produce and sell their new programs to the networks. Other producers and distributors regard it as foolhardy to gamble. They'd rather trade in re-run films and low-budgeted serials intended for the more accessible periods outside of prime time.

Count-down on Companies ■ The shape of things to come has been discernible for some years also in the dwindling number of companies producing or syndicating first runs. Five years ago such companies as National Telefilm Assoc., Flamingo Films, ABC Films, MCA-TV, NBC Films (now California National Productions), Television Programs of America, Guild Films and Screen Gems were riding the crest of the first-run syndication wave. Ziv-UA (then Ziv Television Programs) is the only organization still navigating in the same old waters. Most of the other film organizations are still in business today—but not as first-run producers. They've found other—and less treacherous waters—in which to sink or swim.

Seidelman says laziness hurts first-run market

Officials of most television stations are "willing to ride the network" and are "unwilling to take the time to look over and buy first-run syndication shows and then go out and sell them," Robert Seidelman, vice president in charge of syndication for Screen Gems, said last week in explaining reasons for the dearth of prime-time first-run film on the market today (story, page 84).

Mr. Seidelman feels the network practice of scheduling hour-long programs over the 7:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. period and the emergence of ABC-TV as a strong network have contributed to the scarcity of time slots, which, in turn, has discouraged first-run film (generally a half-hour in length). But he thinks many stations could decline to accept some network programs, substitute first-run products and make "100 cents on the dollar instead of 30 cents," if they "buy properly, program properly and go out and do a selling job."

Mr. Seidelman stressed that his criticism does not apply to all stations but does cover "the vast majority, who are too lazy and find network programs are no bother at all to carry." One bright ray on the horizon, according to Mr. Seidelman, is the possibility that the tv networks "will not be sold out" this fall and this may make some additional prime time slots available for first-run syndication film. In that eventuality, he said, Screen Gems "will be ready with two or three properties."

ATAS workshop ready to go

Telescript's audio devices

The establishment of a new division featuring audio devices for the radio and television fields has been announced by Telescript-CSP Inc.

Harrison C. Reader, executive vice president of Telescript, said that the new division's products will be unveiled May 7 at the annual NAB convention this week in Washington.

Telescript made a public stock offering March 2, 1961. The company designs, leases and sells visual equipment such as speech prompting and projection devices for television, motion pictures and education. Its educational equipment, which was displayed April 24-27 at the National Educational Assn. convention in Miami, is used by leading universities.

MGM releases 30 post-'48 films to tv

MGM's release of 30 of its "biggest" post-1948 feature films to tv, is being announced this week at the NAB convention in Washington. Labeled "The Best of the Fifties," the film package includes "The Bad and the Beautiful," winner of six Academy Awards which stars Kirk Douglas and Lana Turner; and "The Actress," with Spencer Tracy, Jean Simmons and Tony Perkins.

Other pictures to be released include "Carbine Williams," with James Stewart; "Royal Wedding," starring Fred Astaire; "Lone Star," with Clark Gable and Ava Gardner; and "Battle Circus," starring Humphrey Bogart.

MGM's move leaves Paramount Pictures and Universal Pictures as the only major studios who have not made their post-'48 films available to tv.

'Continental Classroom' ends after current season

Television's only nationwide educational series, Continental Classroom, will end its 3-year association with NBC-TV on May 26, the date of its concluding telecast for the season.

Dr. John W. Taylor, acting president of the Learning Resources Institute, producer of the program, indicated that his organization was finding it increasingly difficult to raise the $400,000 in transmission and operational costs needed to present the early-morning college credit courses each year. He said the "financial problem" is the primary reason the educational series will be leaving the tv network.

According to Dr. Taylor, Learning Resources Institute, which represents 12 national educational groups including the American Assn. of Colleges and the National Educational Assn., has received grants totaling $1.6 million from the Ford Foundation since Continental Classroom first went on the air in the fall of 1958. In addition the institute has received gifts of $100,000 a year or more from several giant corporations including Radio Corp. of America, parent company of NBC. Dr. Taylor explained that the Ford grant has terminated and many of the $100,000 a year donors have complained about the continued high cost of the program.

Cable Costs ■ To solve the problem, the institute asked NBC to supply the program to stations in a manner that would cut present cable costs. Of the 172 stations that carry the telecasts all but 48 (30 of which are etv stations) receive them over NBC's network lines and present them at the same time every weekday 6-7 a.m.

NBC, which supplies the time, network production and color facilities for the program, felt that the institute's plan would "destroy the nationwide character" of the series which has approximately 400,000 viewers daily. A spokesman for the network said that if the telecasts were not sent over the network cables it would be "impossible to get all the stations to carry them at the same time." He claimed the network was mostly interested in maintaining the series as a "national educational service." At the same time he promised that NBC would "make every effort to continue Continental Classroom or another national educational series next season." NBC claims the right to use of the series' title and also has an option to present reruns next season of the contemporary mathematics course it is now televising.

Dr. Taylor suggested that a legal battle might ensue if NBC presented a series using the Continental Classroom title for a new series of educational programs. The institute believes the title is an integral part of its series, he said, and stressed that other broadcasters have expressed an interest in showing the series next season in a kinescope or film form.

CBS Films Inc. sales up

An increase in sales and the announcement of four new products for syndication highlighted the CBS Films Inc. annual sales meeting in New York last week. Salesmen at the two-day sessions were told the company boosted its gross domestic syndicated sales 90% the first quarter of this year over a like period in 1960—and 2% over the 1959 record for the quarter.

No dollars and cents figures were issued, however.

Program notes...

SAC anniversary ■ To commemorate the 15th anniversary of the Strategic Air Command, SAC has produced a 30-minute program featuring Jimmy Stewart, Arthur Godfrey, Joan Crawford, Bob Considine and the men of the Strategic Air Command. Titled, SAC Fifteen—The Mission and the Challenge, the public affairs type program is available free to television stations requesting it. Program directors should make their requests to Radio-Tv Section, Directorate of Information, Hq. Strategic Air Command, Offutt AFB, Neb.

Series of oddities ■ A radio baseball program, consisting of a taped series of five-minute stories based on historical oddities of the sport, is offered to stations in the market for a pre or post-game show. The new series was originated by Les Sand, former announcer at WNTA Newark, N. J., and is narrated by Dick Noel, utilizing research collected by baseball historian Ira Smith. Station inquiries may be addressed to Les Sand, 220 Mount Vernon Place, Newark.

CBS woos affiliates with plans, profits

PROGRAM INNOVATIONS REVEALED; PALEY PROMISES LEADERSHIP QUALITY

New business practices and the promise of more to come—keyed to new realities of which the status symbol is the profit squeeze—marked the annual convention of CBS-TV affiliates last week.

The changes in business relationships, actual and contemplated, shared honors with program innovations set, planned or under study.

Highlights of the meeting, held Thursday and Friday in New York with a record attendance of more than 400 representatives of CBS television affiliates, included these:

■ A new station-compensation plan was introduced, featuring a pay scale designed to make network programs easier to clear and harder to turn down (CLOSED CIRCUIT, May 1).

■ The originally inflammatory practice of selling morning programs in one-minute segments was declared to be progressing so satisfactorily after three months of operation that officials held out hope that prices might be raised. In the meantime, compensation to stations for carrying these programs was changed from a variable to a fixed-level basis—and the price to advertisers for the early-morning Captain Kangaroo, formerly sold in minutes but now back on quarter-hour sponsorships, was in fact raised.

■ A new News Recording Service allowing affiliates to tape CBS-TV newscasts and insert excerpts into their local news programs, was pronounced ready to go as of May 15, and CBS News officials said they were thinking of a nightly half-hour newscast as one possibility for improving television news (see page 102).

■ Officials disclosed that they plan to re-examine their nighttime contiguous-rate system and its 20% penalty to the advertiser who wants "the privilege of being away from himself."

■ A fall program schedule which officials predicted will be "the strongest we have devised since the start of three-network competition" was laid out for affiliate inspection. Balance and quality were the distinguishing features stressed by network authorities.

■ Board Chairman William S. Paley, making one of his infrequent appearances as a principal speaker before the affiliates convention, put emphasis on the balance-and-quality theme and warned that "the cheap or gaudy runs its course fast." (see page 100).

Frequent emphasis was placed during the two-day meeting on the fact that television's boom period is past—that three-network competition is a fact of life, that expansion in terms of new television homes henceforth will be limited primarily to the nation's natural population growth and that networks and stations alike will have to hustle more than ever before. "Profit squeeze"—as felt by both networks and stations—became a familiar phrase.

CBS-TV network President James T. Aubrey Jr. warned bluntly that affiliates face a rougher and tougher fight for every viewer and that in the same way networks face a harder fight for audiences and advertising dollars. On top of this, he said CBS-TV's job is made even tougher by the fact that it is spending more than $25 million on prime-time information programs which represent over 15 percent of its schedule but which, while sponsored in most cases, nevertheless represent an out-of-pocket loss in revenues (for other figures affecting the "profit squeeze" see page 100).

Mr. Aubrey said today's challenges must be met "in new and imaginative ways . . . we must experiment." He voiced confidence that CBS-TV would meet the challenges and assured his affiliates that "we are bound and determined to lengthen your lead in audiences and in advertising billings next season." He said, "We are confident that the leadership of your network coast to coast will be matched by your own dollar leadership in your own local market. Our confidence rests in the fact that we will be delivering the best adjacencies in all television to your local and national-spot prospects."

William B. Lodge, vice president for affiliate relations and engineering, spelled out details of the new station-compensation plan. Basically, it establishes two levels of payment for programs cleared by affiliates. Where affiliates now get 30% of their gross rates for each so-called "converted hour" that they clear (after the first free hours), the new plan pays 10% for each hour up to a certain level, and 60% for each hour after that. The dividing line between the 10% rate and the 60% rate will vary according to volume of network business, but it was understood that roughly the first 60% of commercial orders get the 10% rate and all over that get the 60% rate.

Mr. Lodge offered this example: under the old plan a station ordered for and clearing 35 "converted hours" would receive nothing for the first five hours and would get 30% of gross for the next 30. Under the new plan he would get 10% of gross for the first 24 hours and 60% of gross for the last 11 hours.

The problem under the old system, Mr. Lodge explained, is that the last few hours ordered are the hardest to get clearance on. By that time the station is inclined to prefer national spot or local business—spot pays 70% as against 30% now paid for carrying network programs—and the old system therefore has a built-in incentive to substitute non-network commercial programming for network business when the affiliate has a choice.

Not Competitive to Spot ■ Mr. Lodge said the new plan does not try to out-bid the spot buyer but rather removes most

COMMON SENSE

A timebuyer had just settled his income tax (out of court) and he was feeling particularly poorly. In fact, he had only five pennies in his pocket . . . along with his commuter ticket and trusty NSI.*

During bag lunch at his desk, while shuffling pennies, he hit upon a scheme to win a few dollars. That afternoon he borrowed some money and bet various office mates that in 10 minutes they couldn't arrange the five pennies so that each one touched all the others. At $5 a wager, he soon won so much money that he began to worry about next year's capital gains tax.

If you can tell us how to place the five pennies so each touches every other, we'll send you a copy of Dudeney's "Amusements in Mathematics" — Dover Publications, Inc., N. Y. If you've already won it, say so in your entry and we'll send you another prize.

Announcing a Significant New Research Study...

“The Buying Power of the Media/scope Audience”

The real test of Media/scope's ability to deliver customers for you is its strength in covering the people best able and ready-to-buy your medium . . . the people with the authority to say “yes” in terms of media selection and the ability to say “yes” in terms of buying power.

Now, media advertisers can pinpoint these buyers of advertising in a revealing study of the Media/scope audience, its buying power, and its involvement in the decision-making process of media selection for all major media classifications.

“The Buying Power of the Media/scope Audience” was developed and conducted by Market Facts, Inc., in cooperation with the Research Division of Standard Rate & Data Service. The study is concerned with the Media/scope reader as a Buyer of Advertising, and his responsibilities in terms of the advertising volume handled by each reader. The study answers, specifically, the following questions about our readers in both agencies and advertiser companies:

- What media do they buy?
- How much, in dollars, do they buy?
- How much media will they buy in 1961?
- How involved are they in the various phases of the media-buying decision?
- What is the approximate size of agency billings and advertiser appropriations of the companies penetrated by Media/scope?

Here, for the first time, Media advertisers have a definitive picture of the penetration of Media/scope among buyers of advertising in both agencies and advertiser companies . . . the influence and power—in dollars and decisions—Media/scope readers wield in the selection of media.

Look over the tables on the opposite page. You'll find the facts that can help you decide how your advertising dollars can be most soundly invested to effectively reach the buyers of advertising space and time.

The reader is cautioned not to multiply the "average expenditure per . . ." figure for any given group by the size of the group and compare it with published industry estimates. The resultant total would exceed in some cases the annual industry total. This is a function of the complexity and duplication of media-spending activity at various job levels.

These are just a few of the many important facts media advertisers will find in the "Buying Power of the Media/scope Audience." If you are interested in selling the people whose responsibility it is to channel advertising's billions of dollars into media, it will pay you to get the complete story on this significant, revealing new study.

Another salient point: Media/scope reaches, and is read by, a sizable group of advertiser buyers of media who are unreached by any other of the magazines included in this study taken separately. With one exception this uniqueness of coverage is also evident among agency buyers of media.

Write or call the nearest Media/scope office today. A District Manager will personally make sure you have all the information about the "Buying Power of the Media/scope Audience."

of the financial incentive to refuse a network offering in order to accommodate spot. The 60% payment at that level of clearance works two ways—it more nearly competes with spot in what it offers, and it also means that, if a station refuses clearance, he is losing substantially more network money than is the case under the existing system.

In the new plan, the number of hours in the 10% category and the number in the 60% category are proportioned so that the affiliate has substantially the same potential revenue as under the old system. In the case of affiliates ordered for substantially the entire CBS-TV commercial schedule, it works out so that total payments under the old and new contracts would be the same when one hour per week of network business is not cleared. This means that clearance for that final hour would result in higher payment than the old contract provides in the case of complete clearance.

Affiliation contracts incorporating the new payment system have been signed by more than a dozen affiliates whose old affiliation agreements expired within the last two or three months.

Mr. Lodge described the new system as much more realistic for both network and affiliates and called it an essential move if network business is to be kept healthy.

The early-morning Captain Kangaroo program and the 10 a.m. to 12 noon block of programs sold in one-minute units have their own compensation arrangements and therefore are not affected by the new plan. But some changes are being made in compensation for the late-morning block, so that stations can anticipate these payments more accurately. At present, the amount of payment depends on the number of stations carrying each program; the greater the number of clearances, the smaller the amount of payment.

Mr. Lodge pointed out that most stations have accepted these programs, so that clearances actually are quite stable. Therefore, he said, until further notice payments on the 10-10:30 a.m. program will be made as if stations representing 65% of the rate card were carrying it; the 10:30-11 program, as if it had 81% clearance; 11-11:30, as if 95%, and 11:30-noon as if 86% were clearing.

Option to Change ■ If actual clearances drop below these levels, payments may revert to the old system. If clearances increase, the network will absorb the loss. But it reserves the right to set a new "floor" based on three to six months' experience. If clearances should rise to such a point that the loss in payments become too high for the network to absorb, Mr. Lodge thought the time charges to advertisers might be increased, so that affiliates would still not lose anything and might gain.

Officials thought the network's experience with Captain Kangaroo might be a good omen for the late-morning block. Kangaroo, which at one point could not attract advertisers except in one-minute units, is now virtually sold out and the price for a quarter-hour is being raised from $6,600 to $7,500.

Mr. Lodge also revealed that automation is making headway in CBS-TV's record-keeping. He said that in addition to normal payroll and accounting data, the network's computation of orders, clearances, billings to advertisers and payments to stations soon will be processed by a new IBM 7070 computer. And he suggested that within the next 12 months CBS-TV may start field-testing a new device which, installed at a station, would provide an automatic tape record of essential details regarding each network program carried by that affiliate. In widespread use the device would speed up pavement of station compensation and greatly simplify stations' preparation of reports.

Trend to Minute Sales ■ William H. Hylan, sales administration vice president, covered a wide range of business questions in his appearance before the delegates.

He said that the sale of network time in minutes—a trend which many affiliates of all three networks have protested—was "here to stay." He said CBS-TV had opposed the trend, but that NBC-TV is now offering 50% of its nighttime schedule in minutes and that ABC-TV is selling two-thirds of its entire schedule in the same way, and that CBS-TV therefore must follow suit on at least a "minimum" basis or else shut off from itself a "substantial source or revenue." Other CBS-TV authorities reported that they will be offering three and a half nighttime hours, plus the morning programs, on a minute-sale basis this fall.

Mr. Hylan also told the affiliates that CBS-TV plans to look into its contiguous-rate structure insofar as evening programming is concerned. He pointed out that an advertiser buying two contiguous half-hours gets the time at the one-hour rate, whereas he pays 120% of the hour rate if the two half-hours are on different nights. The 20% difference, Mr. Hylan said, is "an impressive penalty to pay for the privilege of being away from himself."

The Sales Administration chief said more and more advertisers are being forced by economic considerations to buy on the contiguous basis (or in minutes) and that contiguous buys tend to take some of the flexibility out of program planning. CBS-TV doesn't know what the answer is but expects eventu-

CBS-TV gives affiliates quick peek at where the money goes

The heavy veil that traditionally hides a network's financial secrets was lifted long enough last week to give a quick peek at where the gross goes. It showed that three items alone takes about 40 percent of the CBS-TV network's gross time sales, and that these and two others take care of close to two-thirds of the total. And yet another item is keeping the network's income from being $15 million higher than it is now.

William B. Lodge, vice president in charge of affiliate relations and engineering for CBS-TV, revealed some of these hitherto unpublished secrets in a talk at a closed meeting of the network's affiliates convention (also see page 92). He was speaking about the "profit squeeze" that networks and stations alike are feeling, and about some of the seemingly hidden values that a station gets from his network affiliation.

Real Story ■ While network gross sales figures sound huge, Mr. Lodge said, they fall far short of telling the whole story. For instance, he reported, discounts knocked $50 million off CBS-TV's 1960 gross—which is shown by TvB figures at $274,139,763—while agency commissions trimmed off another $30 million. Moreover, he added, CBS-TV will spend almost $100 million on programs this year but will recover only about two-thirds of this amount in program sales. (The $100 million program expenditure was reported to cover this year's programs, work on next year's programs, developmental programs, and a few programs which, if tradition persists, will fail after they take the air).

Mr. Lodge emphasized that his figures mean that discounts, commissions and program losses are skimming a cool $110 million off the network's revenues—without counting payments made to stations for carrying the programs.

Mr. Lodge did not estimate the outlay for station payments—which are based on gross time sales—but qualified observers speculated they would come to about $70 million a year. In addition, the 1960 CBS annual report showed close to $2 million in salary and incentive commitments for officers (but these were CBS Inc. officers, not those of CBS-TV network alone).

Station Take Up ■ Mr. Lodge dramatized the profit squeeze in another way: between 1959 and 1961, he said, the ratio of station payments to network profits increased approximately 20 percent.

He also reported that clearance of programs is becoming an acute problem (which CBS-TV is tackling with a new station-compensation plan as reported on page 92). Uncleared network orders in the first quarter of this year were described as 61 percent higher than in the same quarter of 1960. At this rate, Mr. Lodge estimated, nonclearance would represent $15 million in unrealized income over a period of a year.

ally to find it, he asserted.

Mr. Hylan warned affiliates that television had reached a stage of maturity where management must work "doubly hard to preserve all possible values for advertisers who no longer can count on the constant circulation bonuses and lesser competition that they enjoyed in television's earlier years." He said CBS-TV and its affiliates must be prepared for changes and adjustments "in order to maintain our position of leadership." He did not identify specific changes but said that some of them may be unpalatable to both the network and its affiliates.

Programming Philosophy ■ Oscar Katz, Network programs vice president, said in a review of CBS-TV program plans and policies that "in preparation for next season, and before determining the saleability of some of our new series, we committed ourselves on a firm basis to more than $12 million worth of program product."

Mr. Katz stressed CBS-TV's efforts to emphasize both program balance and program quality in its schedule. He also explained why CBS-TV had cut back on the number of specials from 43 hours planned or committed as of this time a year ago to 16.5 hours currently planned or committed for the 1961-62 season. In general, he said, many specials have three negative effects: (1) they deliver less audience than the regular series they pre-empt; (2) they furnish a smaller lead-in audience and thus hurt the programs that immediately follow, and

(3) they give the regular-series audience a chance to sample competing shows "and as invariably must happen, the competition is able to hold some of the samplers even after our regularly scheduled shows return to the air."

Thus CBS-TV plans to present next season "only those specials which fulfill one of three requirements—either circulation blockbusters, or prestige shows, or programs which fulfill our needs for a balanced schedule."

Other speakers included William C.

MacPhail, CBS-TV sports vice president; Joseph H. Ream, program practices vice president, and Herbert A. Carlborg, director of program practices; John P. Cowden, information services vice president; Thomas K. Fisher, vice president and general counsel of CBS Inc.; CBS News President Richard S. Salant and CBS News General Manager and Vice President Blair Clark.

Richard Borel, WBNS-TV Columbus, Ohio, presided as chairman of the CBS-TV Affiliates Assn.

MUST: QUALITY PROGRAMS

Paley warns that irresponsibility invites loss of audience, governmental intervention

Broadcasters who build their programming on "the cheap and gaudy" are courting an audience that will be only temporarily intrigued by this sort of appeal, William S. Paley, chairman of CBS Inc., told the CBS-TV affiliates at their convention last week (see page 92).

"The cheap or gaudy runs its course fast," he declared in an address at Friday's luncheon meeting. "The competition for enduring acceptance and solid growth is based on the courageous rather than the brazen, the satisfying rather than the tantalizing, the moving rather than the shocking."

CBS-TV's goal is "the highest quality in every program category," Mr. Paley asserted. "There is no short-range competitive factor that could persuade us to abandon that policy. And knowing that we are far from having achieved top quality throughout our schedule, we are aiming at improvement all along the line; we want better drama, better variety, better news—better everything."

He traced CBS activity in radio as well as in television in support of his argument that broadcasters must act responsibly if they are to retain their freedom.

"This medium is too powerful, too pervasive, too important not to have the safeguards of the same freedom that, as a free society, we have insisted upon for the press," he declared. "That freedom presupposes in us, as broadcasters, a clear sense of responsibility. If we fail to see the dimensions of that responsibility and measure up to them, we're in for threats of restrictions and policing."

Offset Interference — He said the only way to cope with such threats is "to make any popular demand for government action unlikely—and the only way to do that is never, for one second, to lose sight of the responsibility end of that freedom-and-responsibility proposition.

"For our freedom can diminish and we can still have the responsibility—but on someone else's terms and not our own. But without responsibility we can have no freedom worth mentioning at all. It will merely degenerate into chaos and eventually destroy itself. . . . The price of freedom is always, sooner or later, resolute action—often in the face of alternatives that are easier, more immediately profitable."

Mr. Paley said that "if we are going to maintain the freedom we have, we've got to lead from strength—the strength of balanced, quality programming. We will be in no position to assure either balance or quality if our major concern is the fast dollar or audience popularity at any price."

He said, "It's a fact of our life in television that we must have something for everybody."

"As to quality in general," he continued, "the only lasting assurance lies in free competition. Competition is never a smooth road. It is not always a quick one. It is strewn with roadblocks and setbacks. But it is the one certain route to progress. Its certainty consists, like democracy itself, in the ultimate soundness of people. . . .

"The public's voluntary sifting of the worthwhile from the shoddy is an evolutionary rather than a revolutionary process. It is admittedly inefficient, in that it cannot be speeded up. But once it is accomplished, it has a validity, a force and permanence that no government edict or citizens' committee or monolithic industry action can ever bring about. And although it may be the hard way, it is the only way that promises ultimate progress and at the same time safeguards our freedoms.

"Let's not underestimate the reality of those freedoms. We are free to make the fundamental decisions that give networks and stations their character, their standing in the community, their capacity to grow on their merit rather than by government directive, and their long-term financial strength and stability. These things are far too valuable to be bartered away for some temporary gains, however glittering. And these are the things—character, standing, freedom to move, fundamental financial soundness—these are the things that over the long haul will be the true measure of our success."

CBS-TV OFFERS NEWS FOR LOCAL USE

Daily half-hour news service, also proposed by Dick Salant

News made news twice at the CBS-TV affiliates convention last week.

▪ The affiliates were told that effective May 15 CBS-TV will offer them a "news recording service" permitting them to tape (or film) network newscasts, certain special events and a limited number of sports telecasts and use excerpts in their locally originated news programs. The cost: 15 percent of the affiliate's class A hourly rate, or a minimum of $60, to be deducted from station compensation each week.

▪ A half-hour news program scheduled seven nights a week was seen as possibly the next "great step forward in television news." Richard S. Salant, CBS news president, advanced this idea, said network officials had done a great deal of exploratory thinking about it, but acknowledged that it involved "enormous practical difficulties—of great and perhaps doubtful effect on your schedule or on the network schedule."

Details of the new News Recording Service were spelled out by William B. Lodge, vice president in charge of affiliate relations and engineering. There are, of course, certain rules to be met by affiliates; they may not, for example, use the voice or image of CBS news personalities in their local inserts at any time. But they are free to take excerpts from any regularly scheduled CBS-TV news show, commercial or sustaining, and after the CBS newsmen have been edited out they still will have a weekly total of about two hours of potential news clips from which their local news editors may choose what they wish for local use, Mr. Lodge asserted. The excerpting privilege extends similarly to CBS-TV's coverage of the PGA golf tournament in July and the pro football games next fall.

Mr. Lodge also reported that CBS-TV plans to introduce a new sustaining newscast at 5-5:10 p.m. Monday through Friday which also may be both broadcast and excerpted by affiliates.

The service is available only to CBS-TV affiliates. Mr. Lodge said they need sign for it for only three months and that the network reserved the right to terminate it after a six-month experimental period.

A somewhat similar service was launched by NBC-TV for its affiliates about three months ago.

The half-hour newscast idea would be pre-tested thoroughly if CBS-TV affiliates ever gave it the green light, Mr. Salant reported. "We would spend a half a year or a year in working it out in dry runs, in experiments, in pilots so that we could be sure that when we finally hit the air we would have the best possible news program that the ablest news correspondents and producers and creative people could devise," he said.

He went into reasons behind some of the changes CBS News has made in its operations in recent months:

"Largely because of our basic conviction about the overriding importance of informing the public, and the immeasurable complexity of doing a good job in that field, we have tried to strip CBS News down to the very essentials of the functions which it must perform.

"That is why one of the first steps we took (after Mr. Salant became president of the division earlier this year) was enthusiastically to bless and encourage the transfer of sports and the coverage of such special events as the bake-off and the beauty contests out of the news dept. to the network. I think this has worked well all around and has left us to focus on that which is truly news and public affairs. We have our hands full enough with that, without trying to figure out the logistics of the National Football League games. . . ."

Tv depreciation writeoff rates higher than radio—Doherty

Television equipment in general is depreciated at a higher rate than that of radio stations, according to a survey conducted by Richard P. Doherty, president of Tv-Radio Management Corp., Washington.

Wide variation is shown in the depreciation practices at typical tv and radio stations, Mr. Doherty found. In the case of radio, practices became fairly well set many years ago. At tv stations in the last decade there has been a tendency toward faster writeoffs because of uncertainty as to the future of this new medium, he explained.

Depreciation is a major cost of doing business in both media, according to Mr. Doherty, and is the second or third largest operating cost item in tv. In many cases management writes off physical assets as rapidly as the Internal Revenue Service will permit though other stations prefer a slower write-off.

"Naturally, the individual station's depreciation policy has a definite effect upon net cash flow to ownership in any given year," Mr. Doherty said. Where the depreciation period is comparatively short and annual depreciation charges relatively heavy, the net profit before taxes is reduced but the net cash flow is increased.

Won't Cover Replacement ■ "Under federal tax regulations the allowable depreciation write-off is, of course, limited to a recovery of the cost of the assets. To this extent, depreciation regardless of the scheduled period will not fully cover the eventual replacement cost of many major items of broadcast equipment. Even over the past five years most broadcast equipment has increased in price and some has gone up 10% to 20%.

"Hence, replacement of most items of broadcast equipment will cost the broadcaster more than the depreciation that has been written off. This situation is likely to become increasingly significant as radio and tv stations expand their investment in automation facilities.

While expanded and accelerated automation offers the prospect of reducing labor costs it naturally tends to increase the cost of equipment even above the investment in the equipment which is being displaced."

Mr. Doherty said he felt some broadcasters use too low a depreciation rate for many types of equipment. The survey results (see below) show a cross-section of depreciation practices among 57 tv and 50 radio stations but he explained the results are not intended to serve as standards for depreciation schedules. Results follow:

Pro football indebted to TelePrompTer's Kahn?

TelePrompTer President Irving B. Kahn took credit last week for boosting the price of the National Football League championship game. He confirmed reports that TPT had bid $1 million for the top game for closed-circuit tv. This was rejected, he said, but NBC had to pay $615,000 for the 1961 game (compared to $250,000 it brought in 1960).

Mr. Kahn said first quarter business by TPT was "most promising," although he said he does not look for a dividend this year or possibly next. He also told stockholders, meeting in New York May 2, that TPT is negotiating for three more community antenna systems, to bring the company's total to nine, serving approximately 20,000 homes. TPT now owns catv systems in Silver City and Farmington, N. M.; Rawlins, Wyo.; Liberal, Kan.; Elmira, N. Y., and (tk) Eugene, Ore.

It also has a joint ownership in Kaiser-TelePrompTer of Hawaii Inc., laying cable for Hawaii Kai.

TPT reported gross revenues of $4.8 million last year, compared with $3.7 million in 1959. Net earnings were $51,969; it lost $121,744 in 1959.

Georgia AP news awards made to broadcasters

Winners in the annual news awards competition sponsored by the Georgia AP Broadcasters Assn. were honored April 26 for outstanding news broadcasting during 1960. Recipients of awards in the various categories were:

General News: (superior)—WDEC Americus; WSGA Savannah; WGAU Athens; WGST Atlanta. (excellent)—WDUN Gainesville; WBBQ Augusta; WSB Atlanta. Sports: (superior)—WGST; WKEU Griffin. (excellent)—WCOH, Newnan; WSB. (meritorious)

NT&T buys another catv

National Theatres & Television Inc. has announced the purchase of its fifth community antenna system, making it one of the largest group catv owners in the country.

NT&T bought the Alpena, Mich., catv system from John W. Bellamy and associates for $550,000. The system has 3,800 subscribers and was founded in 1958.

NT&T has owned Williamsport Cable Corp. in Williamsport, Pa., since 1959. Last month it paid $2 million for three systems—in Bluefield - Man - Logan, W. Va.; Hattiesburg, Miss., and Ferriday, La. (BROADCASTING, April 17). Samuel P. Norton is president of National Amusement, an NT&T division, which operates the catv systems.

Seligman defends free tv in Hollywood talk

OTHER SPEAKERS FAVOR PAY TV IN PANEL DISCUSSION

The real question about pay tv is not whether it will enrich its promoters or the creative individuals who provide its program material and not even whether it will put free television and the remaining motion picture theatres out of business, but what it will do for the public welfare, Selig Seligman, ABC vice president, said Tuesday (May 2).

The final speaker of a panel on "Hollywood Looks at Pay Tv" at the Hollywood Press Club's monthly dinner meeting, Mr. Seligman said that free television and radio, licensed by the government to operate in the public interest, have taken that responsibility seriously.

"More than any other media of communications, education or entertainment, broadcasting has attempted to serve the public welfare," he asserted. "Broadcasters have a sense of responsibility to the public that is lacking in other media. I would hate to see this destroyed by a new medium, not licensed or regulated." Pay tv using wires rather than the air to get its programs to its subscribers would not be subject to the FCC, as broadcasters are, he noted.

Earlier, Paul McNamara, vice president of International Telemeter Co., reported on the pay tv installation in Etobicoke, Canada, suburb of Toronto, now well into its second year of operation with some 6,000 subscribers receiving programs by wire circuits. He predicted that operators of pay tv systems in other communities should find it a highly profitable business.

Creative Bonanza ■ Samuel Sacks, head of the legal department of the William Morris Agency, a top talent agency representative and program packager, predicted pay tv will be a profitable field for creative program people—writers, directors, producers, as well as actors. He said the prices of half-hour tv shows rose from $10,000 in the beginning to $17,000 in 1953 and subsequently to $20,000, $30,000 and $40,000, until today some half-hour programs are selling in the $50,000 area. He predicted even richer returns from pay tv and asserted that top talent will get a sizeable share of them.

Martin Rackin, production head of Paramount Pictures, viewed pay tv as the means of restoring control of motion picture production to the major

With pay tv demanding many more motion pictures each year than are currently being produced so that it can provide continuous entertainment to its paying customers at home, the major studios will resume capacity production, with writers, directors and actors working regularly under studio contract and not going off into independent production as has been the recent pattern.

Sherrill C. Corwin, president, Metropolitan Theatres Corp., decried exhibitors who are waging a public fight against pay tv while engaging in theatre television, which, he said, is only another form of pay tv. He said few theatre owners got into television in its early days, when a grant could be had for the asking, and said he hopes they won't again miss the boat with pay tv. Himself the licensee of one tv and four radio stations, Mr. Corwin observed that he had expected pay tv to come as a broadcast rather than a wired service and has secured grants for two uhf channels in anticipation of using them for a subscription service. "I held them as long as I could, but had to give them up a few months ago," he said.

DeGray Assoc. organized

Edward J. DeGray, formerly president of ABC Radio, has formed DeGray & Assoc., New York, to function as a broadcast advisory organization on behalf of radio and television stations. The company, according to Mr. DeGray, will have available specialists in all areas of station operation—business practices, personnel, sales, promotion, research and programming. DeGray Assoc.'s initial clients include Broadcast Editorial Reports Inc., New York, which provides weekly written commentary for radio-tv stations, and Telventure Inc., New York, an international motion picture and film production company.

NTA close to sale of WNTA-TV for etv

National Telefilm Assoc., New York, is expected to conclude negotiations for the sale of WNTA-TV New York this week to a citizens group that would utilize the station as an educational outlet. Agreement has been reached "in principle" to sell WNTA-TV for $5.75 million, but attorneys said there were "many details" to be worked out. They anticipated that a contract would be ready for signing later this week.

NT&T also was reported to have made agreements last week to sell two other properties—WNTA-AM-FM New York and Telestudios Inc., its tape commercial and program production unit.

Though confirmation could not be obtained, it was understood that WNTA-AM-FM would be sold for an estimated $1.7 million to Communications Industries Corp., a holding company that owns various broadcasting organizations, and Telestudios would be purchased by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corp. for approximately $500,000. Announcements of the transactions are expected this week.

Communications Industries Corp. owns Hudson Valley Broadcasting Corp. licensee of WEOK Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Commonwealth Broadcasting Corp., licensee of WACE Chicopee, Mass.; and is scheduled to become licensee of WKST-TV Youngstown, Ohio, and WKST Radio Inc., licensee of WKST New Castle, Pa. Blair Walliser, formerly executive vice president of the Mutual Broadcasting System, is president of Communications Industries Corp. and Lazar Emanuel, New York attorney, is board chairman of the company. Mr. Emanuel also is president of Communications Capital Inc., an organization established to deal in broadcast financing (BROADCASTING, May 1). Paul Smullen is secretary of Communications Industries and Charles LeMieux Jr. is vice president and director of sales.

Wometco station 'Freedom Caravan' idea spreads

The Kiwanis Club of Asheville, N.C., has found Ted Eiland, vice president of WLOS-TV that city, a most unusual director of publicity. Appointed by the club to drum up some action, Mr. Eiland did just that.

Through the facilities of WLOS-TV a Kiwanis Freedom Caravan was established to supply Cuban refugees in the Miami area with food and clothing. The caravan included trucks filled with supplies gathered by listeners along the route from Asheville to Miami.

The project blossomed and quickly spread to other Wometco stations (owner of WLOS-TV) which tied in with the caravan route, extending from Virginia to Miami via Atlanta and Jacksonville.

Other Wometco stations participating in the caravan are WTVJ (TV) Miami, flagship station, and WFGA-TV Jacksonville. Also aiding in the project is WAGA-TV Atlanta, a Storer Broadcasting Co. station.

WROC-TV from TTC for $6.5 million, and selling to WHEC-TV its share time on ch. 10 for $3.8 million (CHANGING HANDS, Feb. 13). WROC-FM operates on 97.9 mc with 18 kw.

APPROVED ■ The following transfers of station interests were among those approved by the FCC last week (for other commission activities see FOR THE RECORD, page 152).

■ KIOA Des Moines, Iowa: Sold by Lester Kamin to W. Clark Swanson, George A. Bolas, Robert A. Hall and William E. Worthing for $600,000. Mr. Bolas is a Chicago advertising executive; the others are businessmen.

■ WFDF Flint, Mich.: Sold by Trebit Corp. to WFDF Flint Corp. for $430,219 subject to adjustments. WFDF Flint Corp. is principally owned by Daniel Cowan, New York investment banker. Trebit Corp. is remaining broadcast property largely owned by Harry M. Bitner Jr. and associates. (Announced April 26).

MetroMedia reports

MetroMedia Inc., reports gross revenue of $11,059,589 for the first 13 weeks of 1961, compared with $6,936,936 for the corresponding period of 1960. Net income, after taxes, showed a deficit of $12,666 for the first quarter, as against a profit of $146,499 for the 1960 period. The deficit for the 1961 period was attributed to increased charges for amortization and depreciation. Operating divisions of MetroMedia are Metropolitan Broadcasting Co., Worldwide Broadcasting Co. and Foster & Kleiser Co. (outdoor advertising).

Wometco gross up $1 million

Wometco Enterprises Inc., multiple broadcaster with interests in theatres, vending machines and amusement facilities, reported gross earnings of $3.4 million in the first quarter of 1961, with net earning of $301,293 (30 cents per share). This compares with a gross of $2.4 million and net of $200,321 (22 cents per share) in the same period of 1960. Wometco stations include WTVJ (TV) Miami, WLOS-AM-FM-TV Asheville (N. C.), and 47.5% of WFGA-TV Jacksonville, Fla.

ABC o&o's to back charities

ABC Radio's six owned stations will support a different national charity each month with special programs and announcements, they said last week. The first campaign goes into effect this week (May 10), on paralytic polio.

The ABC stations—WABC New York, WXYZ Detroit, KQV Pittsburgh, WLS Chicago, KABC Los Angeles and KGO San Francisco—will select the monthly charities in cooperation with the Advertising Council Inc. Each station will prepare announcements and send them to the ABC Radio Stations Division in New York, from where sets of promotional and exploitation materials will be sent to individual stations.

Teleglobe Pay-Tv reorganizes

Teleglobe Pay-Tv System Inc., New York, reorganized its board of directors last week and appointed four new members. Included were John R. Poppele, former director of the Voice of America, past president of the Television Broadcasters Assn. and currently president of WAUB Auburn, N.Y.; Ira Kamen, president of Portland Industries Corp., an electronics firm; Gerald Bartell, president of both MacFadden Publications (which last month acquired a "substantial" interest in Teleglobe) and the Bartell Broadcasting System (WOKY Milwaukee; KCBQ San Diego, Calif.; WADO New York; KYA San Francisco); and Lazaar Henkin, a New York attorney. At the same time, Solomon Sagall, president and developer of the Teleglobe system was reappointed as a director.

Upper Ohio Valley's Steelmark Days

Last week's beginning of Steelmark Days in the upper Ohio Valley, triggered primarily by the efforts of WSTV-TV Steubenville, Ohio, (BROADCASTING, April 24) brought overwhelming participation — 39 mayors in cities, towns and communities and an estimated 1.5 million listeners taking part in the plan. Steelmark Days were proclaimed for the month of May in the Ohio Valley to rally the population for a

Cited by AP ■ For outstanding membership cooperation in 1960, the Associated Press cited the following members of the Pennsylvania AP Broadcasters Assn. They include: WRTA Altoona; WIIC (TV) Pittsburgh; WBVP-AM-FM Beaver Falls; WNAR Norristown; WACB Kittanning; WLEM Emporium; WAZL-AM-FM-TV Hazleton; WKOK-AM-FM Sunbury; WORK York; WEJL Scranton; WKAP Allentown and WLAN-AM-FM-TV Lancaster.

Meeting ■ WGAR Cleveland and its Radio Advisory Council met for the first of three meetings scheduled for this year. The council is composed of leaders in education, business, arts, government and labor leaders. It was formed by WGAR to allow the station to better plan its present and future programming.

School Bell Award ■ WBTV (TV) Charlotte, N. C., has been named winner of the first annual School Bell Award presented by the North Carolina Education Assn. The station was honored "for its outstanding presentation and series interpreting the school and its programs."

WVET music scholarship ■ David Cawley, sophomore cellist at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., was recipient of the third annual $1,000 music scholarship, awarded by WVET-AM-TV, that city. The presentation was made by Ervin F. Lyke, the station's president and general manager.

All-over move ■ The New York office of Spot Time Sales Inc. has moved to new and larger quarters at 40 E. 49th St., N. Y. 17, while its San Francisco bureau is newly located at 41 Sutter St., San Francisco 4. New telephone numbers are Plaza 3-3337 in New York and Yukon 1-1199 in San Francisco.

KBS adds outlets ■ Keystone Broadcasting System has added 13 new affiliates to its national transcription chain of more than 1,100 stations. # RCA quarterly sales reach new high

DATA PROCESSING EXPANSION BRINGS EARNINGS DROP, MEETING TOLD

RCA officials, backed by colorful space age props and a report that RCA sales rose to a record high in the first quarter of 1961, received enthusiastic support from some 1,700 shareholders at RCA's annual meeting last Tuesday (May 2), despite news of an 8% drop in earnings.

John L. Burns, RCA president, explained in his report that lower earnings resulted from continued heavy investment in electronic data processing and said sales of products and services were $361.7 million, compared with $361.2

million in the first quarter of 1960. The net profit after taxes was $12 million, 8% less than the record $13 million for that quarter a year ago. Earnings per common share were 68 cents, compared with 85 cents in the 1960 quarter when a substantially smaller number of shares were outstanding.

Mr. Burns said that if RCA had "elected to retrench" in the data processing area first quarter profits would have challenged the all-time record for the quarter. He said RCA is at the peak period of data processing costs and an appreciable decline in costs is expected to begin next year. RCA chairman David Sarnoff, in answer to a shareholder's question, said all major divisions except data processing were in the black.

Visual Interest ■ Chairman Sarnoff, who presided at the Rockefeller Center meeting and who maintained a warm rapport between management and shareholders during the almost three hours, moved proceedings along at a brisk pace with such visual attractions as an impressive display of satellites, an unmanned moon vehicle, a color movie

RCA shareholders approved several management proposals by overwhelming votes including abolition of the staggered system of electing board members in favor of one-year terms for all. Other proposals approved include indemnification of directors, officers and other employees in certain circumstances involving legal expenses.

Five directors whose terms had expired were reelected: John T. Cahill, RCA general counsel; Charles M. Odorizzi, group executive vice president for consumer products; Elmer W. Engstrom, senior executive vice president; Walter Bedell Smith, vice chairman of American Machine & Foundry Co., and Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Pay Tv Queries ■ Asked RCA's position on toll tv, Gen. Sarnoff said he has his doubts about its success and was confident that free tv will survive. "We're observing what's going on," he said, and "we won't be asleep at the switch if something does happen." In answer to another toll tv question, he said: "We don't believe in toll tv. . . . We will do nothing to obstruct these [toll tv] experiments and if they prove a success we would have no objection to going into toll tv."

President Burns' statement included a recapitulation of color tv's progress. He said color receiver sales rose significantly above 1960's first quarter, and now contribute approximately one out of every three dollars of RCA's total tv receiver sales and an even larger share of receiver profits. The influx of additional manufacturers should push the color television industry well beyond the $100 million-a-year mark, he said. As the only commercial producer of color picture tubes, RCA is making them available to other manufacturers for use in the sets they market under their own brand names.

A highlight of Chet Huntley's report on the worldwide operations of NBC News was a live radio conversation with correspondent John Chancellor in Moscow. Mr. Huntley used the radio hook-up to emphasize the need for the establishment of a network of permanent communications satellites. Such a system would make it possible for an editor in New York to push a button and bring in Moscow—for example—live and in color, "as easily as we call in John Chancellor today by radio."

Among the RCA projects displayed in model form at the annual meeting were the Tiros weather satellite; a "second generation" weather satellite of advanced design; a so-called synchronous satellite that might usher in the era

'Whirling Dervish'

The development of a rotating tape cartridge rack by Richard Parks, assistant chief engineer at ABC-owned KGO San Francisco, was announced yesterday (May 7) at the meeting of ABC Radio Affiliates in Washington.

Called "Parks' Whirling Dervish," the cartridge file resembles a paperback magazine rack which revolves to present a selection of up to 500 individual tapes for airing.

The cartridge rack is in use at six ABC-owned stations. It was developed by Mr. Parks and the ABCO Wire & Metal Co., Hayward, Calif.

of global television and data communications; a space station that might serve as an orbital post office for transmitting mail by radio around the world, and a lunar exploration vehicle which scientists have nicknamed "The Moon-Crawler."

The last electronic marvel, which Mr. Burns said could be operational well within five years, would move about on the moon in response to radio instruction from the earth. It would be outfitted with a tv "eye" to scan the lunar landscape, a claw for picking up samples of surface dust and rock and antennas for communication with earthbound bases; it would be launched by a Saturn rocket.

The quarterly report released to stockholders at last week's annual meeting follows. It includes RCA and consolidated subsidiaries and covers the quarter ended March 31, 1961.

Zenith, GE at odds on fm stereo credit

A battle for credit in fm stereo transmission standards, adopted by the FCC last month (BROADCASTING, April 24) shaped up last week between Zenith Radio Corp., Chicago, and General Electric Co.

Zenith charged that GE's advertising identifying the fm polyphonic standard as GE-developed, was a gross distortion. The Chicago receiver manufacturer filed a formal complaint with the FTC.

Zenith President Joseph S. Wright claimed the basic idea for the stereo system adopted by the FCC "was conceived by Zenith engineers and developed by them over a period of more than three years." GE, Mr. Wright declared, made only "minor" contribution to the system finally adopted.

GE's Herschner Cross, general manager, radio-tv division, struck back late in the week with a statement that the GE claims were thoroughly reviewed by that company's engineers and attorney before they were made. Mr. Cross claimed the FCC standards were close to those suggested by GE than by Zenith. He implied that Zenith changed its original proposals to conform "rather closely" to those of GE. GE, he concluded, is fully entitled to the claims it is making.

In its complaint to the FTC, Zenith asked that agency to stop what it called "completely untrue" claims which constitute "deliberate misrepresentations."

CBS o & o's find use for old video tape

Old video tape is being used by CBS Radio owned and operated stations to simplify monitor recording of daily programming and to cut costs. The tape is no longer suitable for television recording but it gives first class sound recording, according to William Fligel, director of technical operations for WBBM Chicago. It also provides a standardized, easy to handle medium for exchanging monitor recordings with New York headquarters and sister stations. Unlike old disc systems which required changing every half-hour, the tape system is changed only once every 24 hours. The 2-inch video tape fits a regular commercial monitoring recorder marketed by Soundscriber. With 300 ft. of tape enough for 24 hours of recording (spiral recording uses only 2 3/4 inches per minute), the one-hour 4,800 ft. spool of video tape is good for 16 days of around-the-clock radio recording. CBS Radio developed a special digital counter device to find quarter hours and minutes on the tape. Adaptation was supervised by D. M. Vorhes, CBS Radio vice president in charge of operations.

OPTION TIME RULE-MAKING

FCC orders quickie proceeding for determination of public interest; date depends on court remand

Is network option time in the public interest?

The FCC seeks to determine that question in further rulemaking.

The new proceeding on tv option time rules was ordered last week—but when it takes place depends on the U. S. Court of Appeals.

And, how it will go depends on the same court. That's because the court has before it an appeal against the FCC's 1960 option time order, which cut the number of hours a station may give to a network from 3 to 2½. It went into effect Jan. 1.

The appeal was filed by KTTV (TV) Los Angeles, which claims that option time violates the antitrust laws.

Last month the FCC asked the court to remand the case because the agency wants to take another look at the subject. The FCC also told the court that when the KTTV case is remanded it intended to vacate the September 1960 order (BROADCASTING, April 24).

The court, however, hasn't yet granted this request, acceding to a petition by the networks and their affiliate committees for a delay while they attempt to persuade the FCC to reconsider its decision to vacate the option time order.

Further Rulemaking ■ Last week the commission ordered a "Further Rulemaking" and set two issues:

■ Whether time optioning is in the public interest.

■ If option time is found contrary to the public interest, how should the rule be written to prohibit the practice?

The question of whether option time is an antitrust violation, should be disregarded in comments, the FCC order said.

The FCC said, in a second order issued last week, that when the court remands the case, the 1960 order will not be vacated. It will remain in effect.

Voting for the action were the same five commissioners who last month constituted the FCC majority in asking for the remand. They are Chairman Newton N. Minow and Commissioners Rosel H. Hyde, Robert T. Bartley, T. A. M. Craven and Frederick W. Ford.

Cross Dissent ■ Dissenting to the commission's action last Wednesday, was Commissioner John S. Cross.

Mr. Cross said he thought the action was premature, since the court not only has not yet remanded the case, but the commission did not know just what conditions might be placed on the reconsideration.

Both Mr. Cross and Commissioner Robert E. Lee dissented to the remand order last month. Mr. Lee was absent during last week's deliberation.

In its order last week the FCC said it intends to expedite its reconsideration. It warned that the filing dates (to be announced after the remand) would be followed strictly.

No Replies ■ The agency also cautioned that direct comments are requested; no reply comments are to be considered. An oral argument will be held, the FCC said.

When the FCC revised its option rules last year, it held that option time was "reasonably necessary" for networking, and that networking was in the public interest.

The vote then was 4-3. Swinging the majority was former Commissioner Charles H. King, who at the time said he was voting only to reduce option time by 30 minutes but was not making a finding on the question of antitrust violation.

KTTV was joined in its court appeal by the Dept. of Justice, which suggested that the court order the FCC to determine whether the practice violates the Sherman Act.

During the commission's consideration of the option time question, the Justice Dept. twice implied this network-affiliate contract is illegal.

Deception charged in Miami ch. 6 case

Charging a possible "deliberate submission of seriously misleading information" by the apparent winning applicant for ch. 6 Miami, Coral Tv Corp. asked the FCC to defer a final decision and reopen the record.

The commission already has voted tentatively to award the channel to South Florida Amusement Co. (BROADCASTING, March 20), upholding a hearing examiner's recommendation, but no final decision has been released. Coral pointed out that a favorable initial decision last September relied heavily on the past broadcast experience of Sherman Grossman, president and 50.5% owner of South Florida.

Coral's complaint is based primarily

This mark tells you a product is made of modern, dependable Steel.

How cold is up? We know that outer space can never be colder than minus 459.72° Fahrenheit—that's absolute zero, the point at which all molecular motion ceases. We don't know what coldness like this will do to materials, but we're finding out. Scientists are using a heat exchanger to produce temperature as low as minus 443° Fahrenheit. They test materials in this extreme cold and see how they perform. Out of such testing have already come special grades of USS steels that retain much of their strength and toughness at -50° or below; steels like USS "T-1" Constructional Alloy Steel, TRI-TEN High Strength Steel, and our new 9% Nickel Steel for Cryogenics applications. And the heat exchanger to produce the -443° Fahrenheit is Stainless Steel! No other material could do the job as well. Look around. You'll see steel in a lot of places — getting ready for the future. on the fact that program logs for WBUF-TV Buffalo, N. Y., operated by Mr. Grossman until its sale to NBC in 1955, were not available during the comparative hearing. The complaint said the logs probably never were turned over to the network, as Mr. Grossman testified.

In its petition Coral quoted Harry Wyman, former equipment supplier for WBUF-TV, as saying Mr. Grossman had given orders the logs were not to be seen by anyone, particularly NBC. This conversation allegedly took place on the day NBC assumed control.

Coral charged that WBUF-TV, under Grossman ownership, carried a bingo-type game in violation of the NAB code and promised prizes which were never delivered. A former WBUF-TV employe is quoted as saying that the station also carried as many as five straight spots in feature movie breaks.

In addition to Coral and South Florida, Publix Tv Corp. also is an applicant for ch. 6 Miami.

Small markets get wage exemption

NAB saw five years of effort crowned with success last week as Congress exempted radio and television stations in non-metropolitan markets of 100,000 population or less from some of the overtime-pay requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The new minimum wage bill passed Wednesday excludes announcers, news editors and chief engineers employed by these stations from the overtime-coverage provision. The same employes in metropolitan area stations are excluded also if the communities involved have populations of less than 25,000 and are 40 miles from their area's principal city.

Jim Hulbert, manager of NAB's department of broadcast personnel and economics, estimates that 1,700 radio stations and 110 television stations will benefit from the new provision, which President Kennedy is expected to sign into law soon.

The way to NAB's long-sought victory was paved when House-Senate conferees, meeting to reconcile differences in the minimum wage bills passed by the two houses, accepted the 100,000 population in the House version. The Senate bill's figure was 50,000. The provision for small-town metropolitan-area stations was adopted from the Senate bill.

Mr. Hulbert expressed gratification that Congress recognized small-market broadcasters' problems "in attempting to comply with the complex provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act." He said the exemption should solve most of the problems of those who work irregular hours.

Plans filed for commercial space operation

HOUSE COMMITTEE TO HEAR PROS & CONS OF SATELLITES

A study of U.S. policy regarding space satellite communications will get underway before the House Space Committee today (May 8).

Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.), chairman of the committee, announced last week that it would hear the following witnesses on how control over commercial space relaying should be set up:

National Aeronautics & Space Agency, State Dept., FCC, Office of Civil & Defense Mobilization, RCA, GE, AT&T and Lockheed Aircraft.

The hearing is expected to run three or four days.

The consensus of most companies now in the common carrier field is for a single privately-owned space communications company to operate satellites. But the specifics of how this company should be established runs the gamut from "flag carrier" through an amalgamation of existing and future carriers to the setting up of a separate "carrier's carrier."

Also there seems to be two differing opinions as to what kind of a system should be adopted—22,300-mile-high, synchronous satellites or clusters of 6,000-mile-high random orbiting satellites.

The varying opinions were spelled

Conelrad test

The first test of the new Conelrad alerting system, utilizing the wire services of AP and UPI, will be held next Sunday (May 14), the FCC announces. The new system becomes effective May 17 and will replace the existing system requiring broadcast stations to monitor key Conelrad outlets for an alert.

The Sunday test will be at 8:30 p.m., EDT. It will employ a system of bell warning signals on AP and UPI teletype machines to inform stations of an upcoming Conelrad message. All am, fm and tv stations will be required to continue to comply with the existing requirement for installing and maintaining radio alert receivers and to transmit the Conelrad signal and radio alert message.

The commission amended its rules last week to reflect the revised alerting procedures. The new rules become effective June 5.

out in comments filed last week with the FCC. They were in response to a notice of inquiry issued last month by the commission.

One of the most interesting proposals was that submitted by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. This contemplates establishing a separate company, "Telesat," to be owned by carriers, manufacturers and the public, but organized so as to prevent dominance by any one entity.

Lockheed proposes that Telesat own and operate the single satellite communications system.

There should be a 22,300-mile-high synchronous satellite system with two over the Atlantic Ocean, and two over the Pacific Ocean. If necessary, two more could be put up over the Indian Ocean.

Because of their great orbital height, these satellites would remain in a fixed position over the earth.

The system will be available to all common carrier customers, Lockheed says, on a non-discriminatory basis.

It would be ready for operation in about five years, the aircraft company stated, and would be self sustaining in the middle of 1970.

The costs would run: $100-150 million for research and development, $50-65 million for placing the satellites in orbit and making the system operational, and an additional $50-$100 million as working capital.

If, Lockheed says, the United States wants a satellite communications system sooner, there might be need for some form of subsidy for this period.

Skyhook Relays - Plumping hard for the synchronous satellite, RCA and its communications subsidiary, RCA Communications, urges that whatever method is evolved, all carriers must have an equal chance to use the space circuits on a non-discriminatory basis and under reasonable terms.

RCA said it was not certain whether the operating company should be a joint venture or a single carrier, but it expressed complete opposition to the idea of government ownership or operation.

Earlier, GE asked the FCC to permit it to establish a "common carrier's common carrier" for space communications. GE said it was filing an application to establish a relay system via satellites to serve existing common carriers under the name of Communication Satellites Inc. (ComSat). This would be open to participation by other aerospace or communications companies on a joint venture basis, it said

Station Image, more than any single quality, has made Channel 4 Milwaukee's number one TV station . . . in the eyes of both viewers and advertisers. This "Total Image" is the sum of these parts:

PROGRESSIVENESS — The history of television in Wisconsin is literally the history of WTMJ-TV. It was the first station in Wisconsin on the air . . . with network shows . . . with color. And it's first in coverage (a population area of 4,029,489 people).

EXPERIENCE — Most of WTMJ-TV's people have worked more than 15 years in television and form Wisconsin's largest, most experienced station staff in live and network programming.

QUALITY PROGRAMMING — Program policies of good taste are traditionally practiced and conform to those of its network affiliation, NBC.

HIGH-STANDARD ADVERTISING POLICIES — Advertising rates are clearly stated and explained in an official Rate Card, with rates the same for all. WTMJ-TV does not "triple-spot," will not accept advertising it feels would be objectionable.

PROGRAM VARIETY — WTMJ-TV believes in programming to meet its community's varied needs: entertainment, information, education. Included in its balanced schedule are daily high-quality live shows and the station's own feature and news programs. For more detailed information on what makes up the Total Image of WTMJ-TV, write:

If approved, GE said it could have a demonstration satellite up in 12-15 months, and a complete, operable system of 10 satellites and 20 ground stations by mid-1965 at a cost of $400-500 million.

AT&T recommends the establishment of a joint venture company, comprising all U. S. common carriers, with provision for ownership also by foreign carriers. Cost of the recommended low-orbit, random cluster of satellite relays would be apportioned on the basis use. Circuits would be available to all on a non-discriminatory basis, AT&T said.

General Telephone & Electronics Corp. suggests that a joint venture company be set up to be owned by present and future international communications carriers only. Circuits should be available to all.

Western Union, expressing its fear that AT&T is attempting to monopolize the space communications field, favors a single, integrated system owned jointly by all common carriers and other industry entities in cooperation with the government. Such an organization should be financed privately, Western Union urged, but the government should define the technology (orbits, height, bandwidth, power and directivity).

IT&T and American Cable & Radio Corp. (IT&T owns 56.5% of ACRC) hold that space communications should be an exclusive responsibility of those carriers already in overseas communications business. It did not choose between a single company or a joint venture, but it did emphasize that the system must be run on a non-discriminatory basis.

Press Wireless urges that no matter how the space system is organized it should provide that Press Wireless continues to maintain its present "beneficial" competitive position.

Both the American Rocket Society and American Securities Corp. asked permission to participate if further hearings are held. American Securities will be a 25% owner of Western Union International when and if the FCC adopts the separation of Western Union's domestic telegraph system and its overseas cables.

Uhf group has praise for FCC for a change

The Committee for Competitive Television, a group of uhf stations, lauded the FCC in a comment for deintermixing the San Joaquin Valley (Bakersfield and Fresno, Calif.), and urged the commission to proceed swiftly in making other markets all-uhf. The markets the committee named are Montgomery, Ala.; Hartford, Conn.; Champaign-Urbana, Ill.; Evansville, Ind.; Binghamton, N. Y.; Erie, Pa.; Lancaster-Harrisburg-Lebanon-York, Pa.; Columbia, S. C., and Madison, Wis. In most of these areas, petitions have been filed with the FCC by individuals wishing vhf's to be taken from these markets and assigned elsewhere.

Comments received from vhf stations at the FCC last week on petitions to drop in vhf channels in Worcester and Houston at substandard mileage separation were unanimously opposed to the plans. WWOR (TV) Worcester had asked that the FCC add ch. 13 to that city and specify that WWOR operate on that channel instead of ch. 14. This was opposed by the Assn. of Maximum Service Telecasters on grounds that one adjacent-channel shortspacing (WPRO-TV, ch. 12, Providence) and three co-channel shortspacings would be necessary, thus degrading the service of the other stations. As it usually does in cases of such requests, the association further urged that if the FCC does consider the petition, it should do so after settling its overall allocations policy. The same sentiments were expressed in protests by the three ch. 13 stations that would be affected—WNTA-TV New York; WGAN-TV Portland, Me., and WAST (TV) Menards-Albany, N. Y.

AMST opposed Lester Kamin's plan to add ch. 5 in Houston saying that short mileage separations would cause interference to KALB-TV Alexandria, La. KHOU-TV Houston was against the plan on grounds that the FCC had said it would consider vhf drop-ins at short separations in those major markets that had only two or less vhf outlets. Houston has three, KHOU-TV pointed out, and said that all three networks are represented and further tv service is not needed.

KATL follows the law, even to bucking U.S.

Ian A. Elliot, manager of KATL Miles City, Mont., believes in following the letter of the law. Even if it's the United States government that's at the other end of his raised eyebrow.

Mr. Elliot recently received some U.S. Treasury Dept. transcriptions urging the public to buy U. S. Savings Bonds. The announcements contain a number of references to the word guaranteed: ". . . and that's guaranteed." ". . . they are guaranteed directly by the U.S. government." ". . . they are guaranteed by your government." ". . . they pay a sure guaranteed return."

He recalled that some time back NAB had cautioned broadcasters that anytime the word "guarantee" is used in a commercial, it must include details as

FROWNS FOR JFK'S FCC PLAN

Some wary of added powers it gives chairman; proposal destined for hearing on Capitol Hill

President Kennedy's FCC reorganization plan (BROADCASTING, May 1) is headed for trouble. And the basic difficulty seems to be the added power it would give to the commission's chairman.

A secondary obstacle, according to those who have studied the proposals, is the vagueness of many provisions.

The executive committee of the Federal Communications Bar Assn. last Wednesday voted to oppose the proposals. And at least one Congressional committee will provide a forum for that opposition.

The Senate Commerce Subcommittee on Communications, chaired by Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), has announced it will hold hearings starting May 23 on the reorganization plan. The staff of the House Government Operations Committee has indicated that hearings may be held by that group also.

Many FCC commissioners are unalterably opposed to the reorganization as spelled out by the President. Their opposition stems from the provision which would permit the FCC chairman to assign cases to commissioners. This derogates the role of a commissioner, this viewpoint holds.

One commissioner, generally favorable to the New Frontier atmosphere in Washington, said:

"If this plan means the chairman can tell the other commissioners what they should do, then I'm through with it."

Another commissioner said that this particular item makes the FCC just an arm of the Executive Dept. His reasoning goes like this: The chairman is appointed by the President. He reports monthly to the President. If he also has the authority to assign work to the other commissioners, the FCC in fact becomes an appendage of the White House.

Loss of Independence ■ A third commissioner stressed that the reorganization threatens to destroy the basic concept of the FCC: a body of seven equal commissioners exercising its judgment independent of either Congress or the White House.

At the White House there is no equivocation about the meaning of the proposal to give the chairman of the FCC more power. James M. Landis, the President's advisor on the regulatory agencies and the acknowledged architect of the reorganization plan, said last week that this is exactly what the plan suggests.

"Somebody has to have this authority," he said, "and under normal circumstances it should be the chairman."

He seems well aware of the difficulties the plan will have in getting through Congress.

Under the Reorganization Act, the President's recommendations go into effect within 60 days of issuance unless specifically vetoed by either house of Congress.

The plan was cleared, it is understood, with both commerce committees of Congress. The Senate hearing primarily will spell out on the record the extent of the reorganization and define in more detail the meaning of some of the provisions.

A Senate Communications Subcommittee spokesman said the hearings will be designed to produce information the parent Commerce Committee needs to formulate its position and determine what changes, if any, should be made. Parties interested in presenting their views have been invited to contact the subcommittee.

Ordinarily, reorganization proposals are handled in the Senate by the Government Operations Committee. However, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), its chairman, has asked the Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over the regulatory agencies, for its comments and recommendations on the FCC plan. The request was made recently in a letter to Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, Commerce Committee chairman.

Under the plan (Reorganization Plan 2), President Kennedy proposes to authorize the FCC to delegate more authority to single commissioners, commission or staff panels, and to examiners. He also would abolish the Office of Opinions & Review, and require commissioners to write and sign individual opinions instead of the present practice of issuing unsigned, institutional decisions. In a major revision of current procedure, the President would take away the long standing right of applicants to argue their cases before the FCC as a whole. Under the plan, the commission would be given the discretion to decide whether or not to hear an appeal.

The FCBA executive committee voted unanimously to oppose the plan. It ordered its legislative committee to analyze the proposals and report back to the executive committee. The plan, according to Robert M. Booth Jr., FCBA president, is to submit this analysis to the responsible committees of Congress and to appear in opposition if a hearing is held. Percy H. Russell is chairman of the FCBA's legislative committee.

Opposition by the lawyers who specialize in communications law is based, it is understood, on two points: The plan wipes out many sections of the Communications Act; provisions which were the subject of long study and debate, and it leaves too many unknowns that cannot be ascertained until it is put into practice.

Administrative Conference ■ Early last week, President Kennedy named Circuit Judge E. Barrett Prettyman of the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals, as chairman of the council of an Administrative Conference of the United States.

This conference, begun under Judge Prettyman last year, will consider and propose changes in procedure and organization of the federal regulatory commissions.

Among the members of the 10-man council are Max D. Paglin, FCC general counsel; Mr. Landis; representatives of other federal agencies, lawyers and several law professors.

Lee dislikes coaching by staff on decisions

FCC member Robert E. Lee said last week that in controversial cases he would prefer that the staff discontinue making recommended decisions to the commission. Such recommendations in non-controversial matters are fine, he told a telecommunications class at Notre Dame U.'s WNDU-TV South Bend, Ind., but he thinks that in contested cases the staff should limit its participation to a presentation of facts.

Mr. Lee said he doesn't particularly enjoy studying a staff document, then being told what he should do, particularly since the staff's opinion can be sought out when a commissioner feels such assistance is needed.

Former Nixon aide sees blackmail of media

The new administration threatens newspapers with divestment of radio and tv stations, and "this is blackmail, raw blackmail," charges Herbert G. Klein, who was news secretary to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and now is editor of the San Diego Union.

Mr. Klein said Tuesday the threat is from the Dept. of Justice—to apply the antitrust laws against newspapers which own broadcast facilities and multiple newspaper owners.

He challenged Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy to state his views directly.

A Justice Dept. spokesman said last week the Attorney General will not "dignify" the charges with a statement.

Mr. Klein's charge was prompted by the remarks of Edwin O. Guthman, public relations chief of the Justice Dept., before the Women's National Press Club two weeks ago (BROADCASTING, May 1). Mr. Guthman on his own suggested that if monopoly in nuts-and-bolts products is against the law, the concentration of all communications media within a community might be considered in the same light.

missioner Lee before the Notre Dame students. Mr. Courtney stressed that it is important for an applicant who has gone through a hearing to make sure the case is fully understood by the people who will decide it—the seven commissioners. Otherwise, the applicant runs the risk that the staff will, in effect, decide the case, he said.

In non-adversary cases, Commissioner Lee said, it's appropriate for an interested party to make sure that one or more commissioners hear his story personally. When such visits are made, he stated, written documents should be left with the commissioners.

Both Messrs. Lee and Courtney see nothing wrong if a party in an FCC proceeding approaches his congressman. But Commissioner Lee thought that if the congressman is contacted for any improper purpose it could well redound to the interested party's disadvantage. He also warned that an applicant shouldn't put anything in a letter to his congressman that he doesn't want the commission to see, because such correspondence often is forwarded directly to the FCC.

Mr. Courtney said broadcasters should develop a continuing relationship with their congressmen, not swoop down on them only when an emergency occurs. "Then, when the blow does fall, the congressman will be more likely to extend himself than he would hearing from the constituent for the first time after some serious difficulty has developed," he said.

Broadcast congressman

Congress will soon welcome another member with broadcasting-industry connections. He is Morris K. Udall, Arizona Democrat, who won a special election to fill the House seat that his brother, Stewart, had vacated to accept appointment as Secretary of the Interior. Jesse Udall, their uncle, is director and owns 10 of 200 shares of common voting stock in KGLU Saford., KWJB-AM-FM Globe, KCKY Coolidge, and KVNC Winslow, all Arizona.

At the present time, 23 members of Congress have either a direct or family-connected broadcasting interest (BROADCASTING, April 17.)

MISLEADING ADS FTC head hints stations may be held accountable

Broadcasters may be held to closer account for false and misleading advertising on the air. This implication is read into a remark by the chairman of the Federal Trade Commission during a tv interview April 30.

In a direct but unexpanded statement, Paul Rand Dixon mentioned the liaison between the FTC and the FCC and added, cryptically, that all radio and tv stations come up for renewal every three years. "I would say that [it would be well] if perhaps they began to take that into account," Mr. Dixon said.

"What I meant," Mr. Dixon said last week, "is that whenever we issue a complaint we send a copy of it to the FCC. And [Chairman] Minow has said he is going to do something to clean up this phase of broadcasting."

The liaison between the FTC and FCC has been in existence several years.

Mr. Dixon's remarks were made in an interview with Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and of its Antitrust Subcommittee. The interview was broadcast by WNTA-TV New York.

Mr. Dixon made these other points:

■ The FTC is going to be reorganized to permit centralization of each case in the hands of one person to speed handling of complaints. The number of hearing examiners also will be increased from 15 to 25.

■ A separate office will be established to deal with consent judgments. Up to 70% of all complaints end up as consent orders.

Mr. Dixon repeated his complaint against what he calls "brinkmanship," by advertisers and their agencies. He suspects that advertisers and agencies know when an advertisement is skirting the truth, but figure it will serve its purpose before it is banned. This practice, Mr. Dixon noted, has grown because up to now some complaints have been litigated over several years. There are 400 cases awaiting decision by examiners, and 3,000 investigations under way, he said.

False advertising, the FTC chairman said, harms the public quickly and sensitively. It affects the competitive situation in the market place, and thus can be considered a restraint of trade, he said.

He repeated his view, given Monday in a Washington talk to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, that false and misleading advertising directly is monopolistic in essence in that it harms consumers by cheating them and taking away customers from the other companies.

Agreement on aim, suspicion on method

THAT'S THE GIST OF COMMENTS ON FCC PROGRAM FORMS

Although not due until June 1, comments on the FCC's proposed programming form revisions trickled into the commission last week. The tenor set was: We agree with what the FCC is trying to do, but we are suspicious of the way it's going about it.

Multiple-owner Storer Broadcasting Co. submitted its own proposed programming form, which it claimed would eliminate ambiguities in the FCC's proposal. The Storer form also sought to limit the information to that "in which the commission has a legitimate interest." Storer felt the current programming questionnaire is obsolete, since it was written in 1948 and particularly since its concepts are based on the 1946 "Blue Book." Storer's recommended form would include definitions of certain terms, such as what constitutes a "commercial announcement" and what a "public service announcement," so that it will serve as a program standards guide as well as a report on programming. A key notice in the Storer form reads "It is not expected that the applicant can or will adhere inflexibly in day-to-day operation to all representations herein made . . ." but will expend time and care so that they represent proposed program policy.

Storer objects to the principle of "continuing audience surveys" and said that the broadcaster should exercise his own judgment in finding the needs of his communities—that although the results of such surveys are of legitimate interest to the FCC, the methods used to determine local needs are not.

The Texas Assn. of Broadcasters agreed that the present form "leaves much to be desired," but felt the general tone of the FCC proposal would leave the broadcaster in fear of losing his license unless he complies with specifications of the questions to the letter. TAB suggested that this would kill creativity and originality and would abridge freedom of speech. TAB felt the form was ambiguous in certain definitions.

KITN Olympia and KITI Chehalis-Centralia, both Washington, said the FCC should assume the broadcaster is doing a good job and serving his community until proven otherwise. He emphasized that the quality of certain programming is more important than the quantity and said the FCC was paying more attention to the latter. He said that a station will not remain in business long if it does not serve the needs of its community. Mr. Whitman claimed that informal means of determining these needs were often more effective than formal meetings which might be more impressive on FCC forms.

Representatives of the FCC, the NAB and the FCBA met three times last week (CLOSED CIRCUIT, May 1) but no definite revisions of the form or proposals resulted from the meetings.

1 kw daytime grants to get FCC speedup

A small bit of red tape and required due process were taken off the books by the FCC last week in a move to expedite consideration of daytime power increases for 250 watt Class IV stations.

Commission rules presently require that when an application is filed it must go to the bottom of the processing list and await its turn for consideration. Under the weight of the present back-

IN THE CONGRESSIONAL HOPPER

Here, in capsulated form, are bills introduced in Congress that are of interest to those in broadcasting and allied fields:

HR 6766. Rep. M. Herman Toll (D-Pa.)—would amend the Expediting Act to authorize the Chief Justice of the U. S. to select from among the district judges a panel of antitrust judges who would sit in antitrust cases deemed of national importance. Judiciary Committee. May 2.

sional committees to review regulations of administrative agencies. Rules Committee. May 3.

S. 1688. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.)—would establish a Dept. of Consumers, which would have cabinet status and be charged with coordinating consumer services now provided by a variety of other departments and agencies and representing the consumer in the formation of national policy. Government Operations Committee. April 20.

log, such consideration would not come for 14 months. By its action last week, the agency said it will immediately consider when they are filed, without designation for hearing, all Class IV applications for daytime power of 1 kw which involve interlocking interference problems only. The cut-off rule also was suspended for the Class IV applications.

Thus, all such applications will be lumped together, and granted regardless of their respective filing dates, with a condition placed on acceptance of interference from similar Class IV stations with power increases. The new rules are effective today (Monday).

In May 1958 the commission removed prior restrictions which limited the 1,110 Class IV stations to 250 watts in the daytime. Realizing that such increases would cause interlocking interference, the FCC exempted the Class IV applications from its 10% rule in December 1960 and amended its engineering forms.

Despite these earlier efforts by the commission, 343 applications for Class IV increases have been stalled by commission processes and only 308 were granted, many after hearings. The agency said it expects applications soon from the remaining 421 Class IV stations eligible for increases (38 are not permitted to operate with 1 kw).

Is 90% too much of a good thing?

Just how much entertainment is too much for a broadcast licensee to program?

FCC Hearing Examiner Thomas H. Donahue did not state what percentage would be acceptable but did rule last week that 90% would not constitute an operation in the public interest. Mr. Donahue's opinion came in an initial decision recommending that the application of Benjamin C. Brown for a new fm in Oceanside, Calif., be denied.

Mr. Brown proposed to program 98 hours weekly on 107.7 mc with the following breakdown: entertainment, 90.8%, religious, 2.7%, agricultural, 0.6%; educational, 1.5%, new, 2.9%, and discussion, 1.5%. In addition, the applicant would air 600 commercial and 200 non-commercial spots each week.

The examiner thought both the number of spots and amount of entertainment proposed were excessive. "It is apparent that Brown's assessment of the Oceanside community's programming needs resulted in the rather remarkable conclusion that that community's needs, taste and desires pointed to considerably more time being spent on commercial spot announcements than on all other types of programming save entertainment," Mr. Donahue stated. "The examiner much doubts the validity of such an appraisal."

He said that 14 major program elements usually are necessary to meet the public interest and that Mr. Brown proposes to carry only six with entertainment alone in any great depth. "In light of such considerations . . . the examiner cannot conclude that the programming proposed by Brown will either serve the needs of the community in which he seeks to operate or that otherwise his proposed programming would serve the public interest," Mr. Donahue stated.

In the same decision, the examiner recommended that the application of KBBI (FM) Los Angeles to increase power on 107.5 mc be denied because it would cause excessive interference to a new fm grantee in Sierra Madre, Calif.

Bakersfield broadcasters to reveal vhf-uhf views

The FCC Broadcast Bureau intends to make use of the coralling of broadcasters in Washington during the NAB convention to get depositions from Bakersfield, Calif., uhf station operators, on how uhf is working there and the comparative advantages of vhf.

This was revealed in prehearing conference to discuss the pending show cause proceeding in which KERO-TV Bakersfield is directed to shift from ch. 10 to uhf ch. 23 (BROADCASTING, April 24).

The bureau last week asked the commission to deny KERO-TV's request to vacate the show cause proceeding. The bureau said the FCC was within its rights in limiting the hearing issues to whether the station may remain on ch. 10 until its present license expires Dec. 1, 1962, or if it will have to shift prior to that date. The 40 or so additional issues KERO-TV had requested be added to the hearing were described by the bureau as "irrelevant."

House hearing on etv funds set May 17

HEW'S RIBICOFF TO BE FIRST WITNESS ON SEVEN BILLS

The House Communications Subcommittee will resume hearings May 17 on bills to help the states develop educational television facilities.

Abraham A. Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education & Welfare, who opposed an etv bill subsequently passed by the Senate (BROADCASTING, March 27), will be the first witness. He originally had been scheduled to appear during the first round of hearings held the week of March 20.

The House unit, headed by Rep. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo.), is considering seven bills which provide varying formulas for dispensing federal etv aid to the states. Resumption of the hearings has been held up pending replies from the 50 governors who have been queried on how their states would use etv funds.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the Commerce Committee and a member of its Communications Subcommittee, circularized the governors after stating he wants assurances on this question. The bills under consideration would provide funds for the construction of etv facilities, but not for operating stations. By last week "about two-thirds" of the governors were said to have answered the query.

Outright Grants - The Senate bill (S205), sponsored by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, would authorize outright grants of up to $1 million to each state. Several of the House bills are similar; others require matching state funds.

Despite his opposition to the Magnuson bill, Secretary Ribicoff is said to feel a satisfactory measure can be worked out. He is known to be opposed to granting $1 million to each state, regardless of size. And he reportedly feels, like Rep. Harris, that the government should have some assurance states will support an etv station once it's built. The letters from the governors may help provide this assurance.

This indication that the administration will not necessarily seek to block an etv measure in the House lent additional ground for belief that an etv measure will finally emerge from the Congress this session. In two previous sessions the Magnuson bill passed the Senate only to die in the House.

Etv proponents received a big boost during the hearings two months ago when Rep. Harris, a powerful figure in communications matters, said he is determined that channels reserved for education be used for that purpose as speedily as possible. At present, 54 of the 268 etv channels are in operation.

when Assistant District Attorney Joseph Stone was taken ill (BROADCASTING, May 1), opposed the motion to dismiss. He contended that it was Mr. Tripp's responsibility to the radio station to use his best and honest judgment in selecting records to play on his daily program Your Hits of the Week, and that if he could be bribed in his choice of records this would be detrimental to the station.

Mr. Tripp can receive one year in prison and $500 fine on each of the 35 counts (originally it was 39 but 4 counts were dropped earlier on a motion of the district attorney) charged against him, if convicted. The justices will announce a decision on May 15.

Educators like idea of LA, NY vhfs

Organizations with educational-broadcasting orientation, excited by the FCC's notice of inquiry into ways to bring etv to New York and Los Angeles, hastened to suggest ways this could be brought about.

The most unusual suggestion came from the Audio-Visual Educational Assn. of California, to wit: Let the owners of the seven commercial vhf stations in Los Angeles get together and cooperatively set a fair purchase for one of the stations. "It is conceivable that with the commission's inquiry as a spur, six of the stations could find sufficient finances available to purchase the seventh and turn it over to a duly authorized organization."

The National Educational Television & Radio Center, New York, urged the FCC to amend its sixth report on etv to encourage voluntary sale of any vhf channel in New York or Los Angeles that the owner wished to sell or abandon to any etv group with the resources to buy it. In the case no one wished to sell, the center suggested that any station whose operation was clearly inconsistent with the public interest be designated for etv use by the FCC.

NETRC said it was fruitless to predict the circumstances under which the commission might move to give a vhf in commercial use to etv, but that the FCC should adopt flexible rules to handle various situations.

Tripp payola trial ends with plea for dismissal

The three-week-old trial of Peter C. Tripp ended last week with the defense moving for dismissal of all charges against the former WMGM disc jockey. Mr. Tripp is charged with accepting more than $30,000 in payola from record makers and distributors to promote their records on the air.

Defense attorney Benjamin Shedler conceded, before New York Special Sessions Justices Breslin, Impellitteri and Goldstein, that Mr. Tripp received the money, but he argued that the disc jockey had "a right" under his contract with WMGM to make "deals" with record companies.

Earlier in the trial, Mr. Tripp testified that various record company officials had paid him for his advice as to what records they should buy, what records would be most popular, and as to what artists and new sounds they should use in their records.

ported the idea of an etv in that city and said it had tv studios equipped to provide the same variety of noncommercial educational programming it now features on its fm station. ## Minow enters 40-sec. station break dispute

Young & Rubicam President George H. Gribbin last week restated his opposition to any expansion of station-break length, on grounds of "over-commercialization." His statement was prompted by a BROADCASTING (May 1) report that he and Oliver Treyz ABC-TV President had met and "reconciled virtually all their differences—except the big one" and that the nub of the dispute "does not appear to be 40 seconds vs. 30 seconds so much as four or three commercials vs. two."

FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow entered the dispute last week by warning that the increased station breaks should not lead to triple spotting. If this happens, the chairman said, the commission will certainly step in officially.

"I personally am not concerned in an increase of 10 seconds in the length of the station break" Chairman Minow stated, "but I would be concerned about the extended time being used for three spot commercials and I would want to bring this to the attention of the commission." He said that the FCC could institute rulemaking to control the number of spots permitted in such breaks. (Ten days ago, Mr. Gribbin had asked the FCC and NAB for help in its fight against the 40-second break.)

In his latest statement, Mr. Gribbin did not distinguish between triple-spotting and longer commercial messages as the target of his objections,

Payola proposal

New rules have been proposed by the FCC to implement legislation by Congress outlawing payola and other forms of hidden commercials (BROADCASTING, May 1). Text of the new rules, plus nine new examples to indicate their intended effect, are reproduced in FOR THE RECORD, page 162. Comments are due June 12.

but said, in effect, that he was simply against longer break-time—period. It was known, however, that he was sufficiently concerned about the possibility of triple-spotting that he had figures compiled to indicate the extent of triple-spotting within current 30-second breaks, the implication being that longer breaks would be more apt to encourage than discourage the practice. In his reply he said:

"Let me assure you little was reconciled at the meeting and the 'nub of dispute' remains ABC's intention to increase station-break time. This was made clear to Mr. Treyz at the time. Young & Rubicam is deeply convinced that this increase is wholly incompatible with the best interests of the viewing public, the advertiser and the television industry. The issue is over-commercialization. The 40-second policy sets the stage for further indulgence in over-commercialization."

A look at Mack diaries

The FCC general counsel's office last week recommended to the commission that WORZ Inc. be allowed to examine the diaries of former FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack. WORZ was a losing applicant for ch. 9 Orlando, Fla. The FCC's grant to WLOF-TV is being re-examined under court remand for determination of whether behind-the-scenes contacts were made with commissioners, (BROADCASTING, April 10, 1961).

WORZ specified why entries in the diary might have bearing on the case, the general counsel's office said, noting the diaries were given to the FCC secretary by the Justice Dept. and that an official of that branch said he had no objection to examination by WORZ. The office suggested that counsel for WORZ examine the diaries in the secretary's office in the presence of other interested counsel.

Nebraskans want term 'public interest' defined

The FCC should "bear in mind the dangers inherent in federal control of programming," in the opinion of the Nebraska Broadcasters Assn. A resolution calling for the FCC to re-examine its policies and more clearly define the term "public interest" was adopted April 25 by NBA. Officers were elected at the meeting, held in Omaha (see FATES & FORTUNES).

A second resolution directed at federal paternalism voiced "emphatic opposition" to government aid to educational broadcasting. It was adopted following a debate on specific phraseology and pointed out the public is "totally unaware" of the legislation. NBA contended the bills constitute federal encroachment on public education and pruned the educational broadcasting system now being conducted in Nebraska (KUON-TV U. of Nebraska).

Douglas A. Anello, NAB chief counsel, said the regulatory climate toward business, particularly broadcasting, is bad, citing a number of recent FCC actions which he called omens of "stiffer regulation." He said he did not believe "public service and public interest are synonymous."

WBAL-TV not in contempt

A U. S. district court in Baltimore ruled last week that WBAL-TV that city was not in contempt of court when the station presented a program in which members of a jury re-enacted their deliberations which resulted in the conviction of a man for murder (BROADCASTING, March 27).

The three-judge decision stated, however, that WBAL-TV's telecast, the night before defendant Melvin David Rees was to be sentenced, was "against the public interest and should not be repeated or imitated." The sentencing was postponed because of the telecast but Mr. Rees later was sentenced to life imprisonment. Handing down the no contempt decision were Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen and Circuit Judges W. Calvin Chestnut and R. Dorsey Watkins.

Kingstree hearing postponed to May 31

Hearing Examiner Thomas H. Donahue Thursday granted a continuance of the license-renewal hearing of WDKD Kingstree, S. C., after an FCC order the previous day granted an expansion of issues as the station had requested. The hearing was to have begun May 9 in Kingstree. It is now scheduled for May 31 in that city.

The FCC denied WDKD's request for a change of hearing locale from Kingstree to Washington, D. C. The hearing, the first such to be held outside Washington under recently-initiated FCC policy, may test that agency's theory that local hearings will induce members of the local listening public to testify in such procedures.

The hearing results from complaints that a WDKD disc jockey made "vulgar, crude and suggestive" remarks. The station requested that it be allowed to make a showing of its overall programming and the way in which it serves its community. The FCC agreed to let the station develop this issue. Counsel for WDKD requested the hearing examiner to grant more time to develop this showing.

The commission made official the agreement between WDKD and Broadcast Bureau attorneys to allow the station's counsel to hear the disputed tapes. Some of these had been heard by station attorneys, but the order specified all tapes in the bureau's possession. The time period covered by the proceeding was limited by FCC order to the station's most recent three-year license renewal period. The commission also expanded the terms of the issue dealing with the licensee's supervision "to determine whether [he] maintained adequate control or supervision of programming material."

ITU treaties approval slowed down by dispute

The FCC last week urged quick Senate ratification of the 1959 Geneva international telecommunications treaties to permit the United States to benefit from the agreements. They are the first international treaties involving rights to frequency allocations for space communications and radio astronomy.

But a long-standing dispute between the FCC and commercial airlines blocked swift action by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The dispute is over an FCC rulemaking, adopted at the request of the Office of Civil & Defense Mobilization, declaring that use of the 8800 mc band for aircraft navigational aids, called dopplers, is "temporary." The OCDM says the dopplers may some day interfere with a national security interest it has refused to identify.

FCC Commissioner T. A. M. Craven, who was chairman of the U. S. delegation to the ITU radio conference in Geneva two years ago, said the revised radio regulations for the first time provide frequency allocations for space communications and radio astronomy. And Paul D. Miles, an OCDM official, noted that the U. S. has no rights under the new agreements until it ratifies them. The revised International Telecommunications Convention and its annexed Radio Regulations became effective in January for the 21 signatories which have ratified the documents. In all, 98 countries are members of the ITU.

The FCC-airlines controversy erupted when airline representatives, who had the sympathy of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), a committee member, urged the committee to adopt a statement which would forbid the commission to bar domestic carriers from using the 8800 mc band. The airlines said the Geneva agreements authorize foreign aircraft to use the band in this country.

Committee Chairman William J. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said he is baffled by the dispute—and the reason it cropped up before his committee. He urged the commission and the airlines to agree on a resolution which would permit the Senate to act without prejudicing either side's position.

Townsend Corp. denies mismanagement charge

Top officials of the Townsend Corp. of America, owner of three am stations, last week denied Securities & Exchange Commission complaints of mismanagement. Morris M. Townsend, president of TCA, and Clinton Davidson, board chairman of Townsend Management Corp., an associate company, maintained that the SEC's allegations were based on technicalities and legal interpretations rather than on misconduct.

Last month the SEC charged that Mr. Townsend, Mr. Davidson and Raymond E. Hartz, president of TMC had run their organizations "for their personal benefit and in derogation" of stockholders' interests. SEC asked the U. S. District Court, Newark, N. J. to designate receivers to prevent further violations of its rules and to protect the rights of stockholders (BROADCASTING, May 1).

In answering the charges, Mr. Townsend and Mr. Davidson said they would oppose the appointment of a receiver because the action "would seriously damage the interest of our shareholders."

TCA, an investment company, owns KITE Terrell Hills-San Antonio, Tex., KNOK Fort Worth and WKDA Nashville.

WBEN wins court remand in pre-sunrise case

The FCC must give a radio licensee a hearing when his protected coverage is threatened by interference from a new facility, the U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington ruled last week.

The court said that the commission erred when it denied the request of WBEN Buffalo, N. Y., for a hearing in the application of WFMD Frederick, Md., to increase its daytime power to 5 kw and permitted pre-sunrise operation.

Both WBEN and WFMD operate on 930 kc; WBEN with 5 kw day and night, WFMD, originally with 1 kw full-time. In September 1960, the FCC granted WFMD's request for 5 kw day. WBEN objected to the grant without a hearing because, under the rules, WFMD is permitted to operate with daytime power beginning at 4 a.m. This "nighttime" operation modifies its license, WBEN claimed.

The commission said WBEN had no case because, if there were interference to its service area, the FCC could order WFMD to cease its 5 kw pre-sunrise broadcasting.

This is not enough, the court said. The grant is a modification of WBEN's license and that cannot be done without affording the aggrieved licensee a hearing. The unanimous court ruling was made by Chief Circuit Judge Wilbur K. Miller and Judges Henry W. Edgerton and David L. Baselon.

JFK taps MacIntyre for FTC

President Kennedy has nominated A. Everette MacIntyre to the Federal Trade Commission for a seven-year term starting Sept. 26, 1961. Mr. MacIntyre, who is chief counsel for the House Small Business Committee, will succeed Robert Thompson Secrest, whose term is expiring. Both men are Democrats. Mr. MacIntyre's nomination had been anticipated since February, when President Kennedy announced he would name him to the next FTC vacancy.

BBG recommends three new CBC outlets

NORTHERN MANITOBA TO GET ITS FIRST TV SERVICE

Canadian Broadcasting Corp., Ottawa, has been recommended by the Board of Broadcast Governors to establish three new television stations, one to be a satellite. Northern Manitoba will have its first television when CBC establishes a ch. 10 station at Flin Flon, a mining town, with 6.8 kw video and 3.4 kw audio power. A satellite at The Pas, Man., will telecast programs from Flin Flon on ch. 7 with 260 w video and 130 w audio.

The BBG recommended a CBC station at Cranbrook, B. C., on ch. 10 with 1.1 kw video and 505 w audio.

Satellites have been approved for several western stations. CFRN-TV Edmonton, Alta., has been recommended for a ch. 9 station with 5 w at Carrot Creek, and on ch. 12 with 5 w at Edson, to pick up programs from Carrot Creek.

CFQC-TV Saskatoon, Sask., has been recommended for a satellite station on ch. 3 with 10.5 kw video and 5.5 kw audio at Stranraer, Sask.

A new broadcasting station has been recommended for Baie Comeau, Que., a paper-mill town on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River. The licensee is Jean Claude Tremblay, and the station is to have 5 kw day and 2.5 kw nighttime on 580 kc. It will be connected with CBC's French-language radio network.

Boosts ■ Power increases have been granted to CJDV Drumheller, Alta., from 1 kw to 10 kw day and 5 kw night on 910 kc; to CBAFT (TV) Moncton, N. B., from 605 w to 10.06 kw video and from 327 w to 5.03 kw audio on ch. 11; to CKRN-TV Rouyn, Que., from 50 to 100 kw video and 25 to 50 kw audio on ch. 4; and to CHGB Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, Que.,

CFSN-TV Stephenville, Nfld., has had a power decrease from 490 w to 294 w video and from 245 w to 147 w audio on ch. 8.

The BBG, in announcing approval for CFRB-FM Toronto to program separately from its am service, said it will hold hearings Aug. 22 for proposed fm broadcasting regulations.

The BBG has amended Canadian Broadcasting Act regulations to permit radio and television advertising of beer and ale. The regulations will be similar to those adopted for Ontario late last year, permitting 12-second announcements of program sponsorship by breweries. Only a simple announcement of sponsorship is permitted and only the brand label can be used visually, with no bottles or glasses to be shown.

CAB to test validity of gross percentage fee

Canadian broadcasters have filed a test case in the Exchequer Court of Canada at Ottawa, on the validity of new transmitter fees charged by the Department of Transport. The test case is on behalf of CKAC Montreal, one of Canada's oldest stations.

Transmitter fees until last year were based on a flat rate on revenue categories, fees starting at gross annual revenues of $200,000, and climbing progressively. Last year the DOT announced new rates based on percentage of gross revenue.

T. J. Allard, executive vice president of the Canadian Assn. of Broadcasters, representing 192 radio and 57 independent television stations, said the new system is in fact a tax and beyond the power of the government to legislate by orders-in-council or cabinet announcements.

The CAB claims that taxes can be imposed only by Parliament, and the court has been asked to determine the validity of the order-in-council. If the court rules the order invalid, most of the independent stations will try to recover extra fees paid under the new system. Mr. Allard estimated that possibly as much as $3 million extra has been paid under the new system.

DOT officials at Ottawa calculated that stations have paid only $850,000 in extra fees. The new rates, they said, were recommended by the last royal commission on broadcasting, which urged higher rates.

Commercial tv pioneers want changes in Britain

Pioneers of commercial tv in Britain, men whose behind-the-scenes activities in Parliament convinced the governing Conservatives that independent tv would be a good thing, have started a new campaign.

Now, the seven-year-old Popular Television Assn., recently re-named the National Broadcasting Development Committee, wants the extension of commercial broadcasting, higher program standards and a study of the impact of tv on children.

Under the chairmanship of Lord Lloyd, one of the directors of Lloyds bank, the committee comprises a powerful pressure group within the Conservative Party. It includes Lord Woolton, former party chairman, and two other prominent members of Parliament, Sir Robert Grimston and Captain L.P.S. Orr.

The committee will soon submit its proposals to the Government's Pilkington committee, set up to examine the future of broadcasting under the chairmanship of Sir Harry Pilkington.

New BBM booklet

How Canada's cooperative Bureau of Broadcast Measurement works is detailed in a new BBM booklet. Also included are its history and the latest methods for making impartial surveys of all Canadian radio and television stations.

In a preface, Duncan Grant, BBM's executive vice president, states that the rapid growth of Canadian broadcasting calls for "detailed information on listening and viewing patterns." Citing a need for impartiality in audience surveys, Mr. Grants writes, "The tripartite

“Not Again . . .”

Five score years and twenty-six days ago they shelled Fort Sumter, as anyone on our mailing list knows. Things got worse before they got better, and, to make a fascinating story dull, a lot of fodder has gone through the cannon since. Buffs may well tell us that Lee had absolutely nothing to say about the calibre of tv programs his sons were allowed to watch; purists may scream that it was Mrs. Lincoln who said that a piece of copy ought to be long enough to reach the ground; Brady buffs can question the statistical validity of making retroactive rating studies of the master’s stills. However, there’s no denying the fact that today’s toys in the attic were yesterday’s big booms, that change is the only constant, that judges may be neutral but audiences are not.

Still around? We could have admitted in the beginning that pinning an advertisement for a tv station in Eastern Iowa to the Civil War Centennial was impossible. Our point: We have a new m.c. for our late afternoon children’s strip. He’s Dr. Max, with a string of show biz credits that goes back to a little bit north of Appomattox. ## BBG approves power increase for CHCH-TV

CHCH-TV Hamilton, Ont., has received Board of Broadcast Governors' permission to increase power of its ch. 11 transmitter from 150 kw to 230 kw video, from 90 kw to 143 kw audio power, and to increase its antenna height from 654 feet to 1,173 feet.

Nine applicants for a Toronto tv station license in March 1960, banded together to ask the BBG to delay the increase in power for CHCH-TV as the station would then become another Toronto station. Hamilton is 40 miles west of Toronto. The Hamilton station officials argued that because of physical location of the station it was not able with its present power to put a good signal into the Niagara area which was in its primary coverage region.

CFRB Toronto, one of Canada's oldest stations, was given approval to program separately for fm, with an increase in power to 200 kw on 99.9 mc. CFRB-FM has been in operation since 1939.

CHUM Toronto, which applied for FM license, was temporarily turned down on grounds that no new radio stations are being licensed in areas where new tv stations have been licensed in the past year.

CJRH Richmond Hill, Ont., suburb of Toronto, was given a power boost from 1 kw day to 10 kw day and from 250 watts night to 2.5 kw night on 1310 kc.

Toronto channel reserved for educational tv

Canada's first educational tv station will be licensed in Toronto, Ont., on ch. 19, when a satisfactory organization with adequate finances and programming applies for a license.

Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of Canada's Board of Broadcast Governors told a meeting of the Audio-Visual Section of the Ontario Educational Assn., "Whatever the future of educational television may be, I do not think it can make progress in Canada until . . . it has been tried out on Canadian students, instructors and courses. This means we need a demonstration model."

Ch. 19 has been set aside in Toronto for an educational station by the Dept. of Transport. CBC-TV presently has some educational programs. CBLT (TV) Toronto teaches Russian for U. of Toronto credits, and CHCH-TV Hamilton, Ont., has science course for McMaster U., Hamilton.

Pakistan to experiment with commercials

Commercial broadcasts are to begin soon over the Karachi station of Radio Pakistan. As a preliminary start, the station will broadcast a one hour commercial program. A board composed of representatives of the advertisers, Radio Pakistan, and the Ministry of National Reconstruction & Information, is to keep watch over the quality of programs and to ensure maintenance of appropriate ethical and cultural standards.

BBM listening survey

Complete data on radio and television listening and viewing in Canada is now being published by the co-operative Bureau of Broadcast Measurement, Toronto, Ont. For the first time the reports will show data on non-member stations throughout Canada on the same report with that of member stations. The area reports give the tuning habits of the audience of member stations alphabetically, and adjacent to this listing is one showing the reports on non-member stations. The report also lists out-of-home radio listening surveys made by BBM.

Formosa plans tv station

Dutch Philips is currently negotiating a contract for television equipment with the government of Formosa. According to Dutch reports, Philips is willing to invest close to $30,000 in the project. At one time, there were negotiations with Japanese manufacturers, but no definite deal emerged.

French programmers to meet

Representatives of France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland and Canada meet at Montreal, Que., June 14-21 to organize French-language radio program exchanges between the five countries. The Communauté Radiophonique des Programmes de Langue Francaise was formed in 1955 and is holding its first meeting in Canada. Annual exchanges have grown in number and last year some 2,000 radio programs were exchanged between the member nations.

A new Disney character for NBC-TV

A giant promotion campaign—mapped out by the combined efforts of sponsors, network and producer—for Walt Disney's new fall entry on NBC-TV, Wonderful World of Color, has already been set in motion.

The program, sponsored by RCA and Eastman Kodak will debut Sept. 24 (Sun., 7:30-8:30 p.m. NYT). It will have a format similar to Disney's present tv endeavor, ABC-TV's Walt Disney Presents. Projected plans for the new series include 25 new hours of animated cartoons, specials, and American hero, animal and carnival stories, as well as repeats of programs shown in previous years.

Eleven different spot announcements of 20 and 60 seconds—including some in color—being prepared by NBC-TV for showing this spring, will cost "well in excess of $1 million," according to the Disney office in New York. RCA and Eastman Kodak plan to use the show for a joint promotion of color broadcasting, including use of Disney characters in point-of-sale, sales promotion and advertising. Theme of the push: "If you're not seeing it in color, you're missing half the show!"

Walt Disney's newest standard character, Ludwig Von Drake, will be introduced to the public during the promotion campaign for the new NBC-TV series "Wonderful World of Color," which debuts Sunday, Sept. 24 (7:30-8:30 p.m. NYT).

WHAS-TV inflicted with 'Derby fever'

A panoramic fever chart of the contagious excitement that affects Louisville the first Saturday in May was drawn last week by WHAS-TV that city. The station devoted over four hours to diagnosis of the symptoms of Kentucky Derby Fever and to manifestations of the epidemic.

The symptoms were explored in a prime-time documentary Thursday (May 4), 9 to 10 p.m., sponsored by Brown & Williamson tobacco company, when viewers were shown the stable area of Churchill Downs, introduced to trainers, owners, jockeys and grooms and, of course, to the Derby hopefuls themselves. Prep races for the Derby were shown.

On Derby Day—Saturday—WHAS-TV telecast from the track from 2 to 5 p.m. Color and background, the running of the sub-feature, the Debutante Stakes, were prelude to the Derby preview and the actual running of the classic which WHAS-TV originated for CBS-TV.

The big switchover

They rolled out the red carpet complete with motorcade, parties, interviews and what have you—a real welcome—as WKRC-TV Cincinnati officially became an ABC-TV primary affiliate last weekend.

Climaxing the festivities was a press dinner in WKRC-TV's penthouse.

What's next?

They never said it couldn't be done—a bed rolling contest—but it was and with great success, according to KOFE Pullman, Wash., which originated it.

Nine hand-pushed beds were to negotiate the 8.2 mile course from Washington State U., Pullman, to the U. of Idaho, Moscow, for various prizes, with 15 full and part time KOFE staffers struggling to operate, judge and broadcast the strange marathon. Sponsor of the event was Shakey's, a pizza house.

The winner, Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, WSU, covered the distance in 47 minutes and three seconds, despite the fact that five of their fastest runners were competing in a varsity track meet at the same time. For their efforts, they received $75 in stereo records, a free dance and a trophy.

Indiana Radio Month award

An annual Radio Month Award to be presented to the Indiana radio station doing the "best over-all, constant Radio Month promotion" during May has been announced by the board of Indiana Broadcasters Assn. Joseph C. Amaro, WIRE Indianapolis, is Radio Month chairman. Ingenuity and consistent effort in all phases of station operation will be the determining points in judging entries. The IBA board said it hoped the award will play an important part in maintaining and increasing the respect of the general public for the services which radio performs in their daily lives.

USO show in U.S.A.

WBZ Boston sponsored and staged a two-hour USO variety show in honor of the organization's 20th anniversary. It was the first USO show in this country since World War II, according to the station.

To secure talent, WBZ scheduled auditions for amateurs in the New England area in which 3,000 applications were received. First prize was a contract by USO Camp Show Inc. to join an overseas unit.

DWIGHT PRATER (seated) was born in Sylacauga, Alabama, in 1917. He holds a Ph.D. in biophysics from the University of Pennsylvania and has been a Mobil employee since 1951. An accomplished oboist, Dr. Prater manages the Haddonfield (N.J.) Symphony Orchestra.

JIM WEI was born in Macao, 30 years ago. He joined Mobil after receiving his doctorate in chemical engineering from M.I.T. in 1955. Dr. Wei is also a classical music enthusiast and plays piano for relaxation.

WHAT DOES A CHEMICAL REACTION LOOK LIKE?

A MATHEMATICAL MODEL of one is shown in this picture. The model represents a reaction that takes place in oil refineries every day.

Using an "off-beat" branch of mathematics, illustrated by this three-dimensional model, these Socony Mobil scientists have recently made an important breakthrough in the field of theoretical physics. They found a way to describe exactly what happens to petroleum molecules during refining. It formerly took hundreds of expensive laboratory experiments to get this information.

Their discovery allows Mobil to control chemical reactions with precision. As a result, we can now "freeze" refinery processes at exactly the proper stage to obtain maximum amounts of the products we want most. This means better products for Mobil customers.

These scientists have probed deeply and successfully into the foundations of petroleum reactions. The full implications of their breakthrough extend far beyond the specific problems of petroleum refining. Their work has given scientists everywhere greater insight and understanding into a fundamental process of nature.

Mobil encourages its scientists to give full play to their research interests and abilities. Dwight Prater points out that "our discovery was in a field in which neither one of us specialized at college."

Mobil scientists also are free to explore ideas which may appear to have little immediate application to the company's operations. Jim Wei notes, however, that "many of these investigations pay off handsomely later on—for the company and for us."

Dr. Prater and Dr. Wei are two of the 1,500 men and women engaged in Mobil's $25,000,000-a-year research program—in which imagination is turned into ideas, and ideas into better products and processes.

Probing the far frontiers of science pays off not only for Mobil, but for everyone who does business with Mobil—customers, employees, licensees, and investors.

It means the finest electronic editing from a variety of sources—tape, slides, films. The producer has at his command every technical convenience possible. He can count on top quality... the economy of single-camera, scene-by-scene shooting... plus flexibility and simplicity in electronic mixing.

BUSINESS BUILDER. Reeves reports they have built their business through the superiority of results they get with RCA TV Tape Equipment. Key to this is the RCA "Pix-Lock." Using this new equipment they can assure roll-free pictures in switching and provide commercially perfect fades, dissolves and a full range of special effects. In addition "Pix-Lock" improves original picture quality of tapes they receive for editing. These amazing electronic facilities allow them to turn out the most salable tapes with the greatest production facility and technical perfection.

You, too, can get the superb pictures that will produce repeat business from your clients, plus the technical excellence that will make the tough jobs less arduous. Call the RCA Representative—with confidence, for the best in matched equipment and service. Or write to RCA, Broadcast and Television Equipment, Dept. UB-22, Building 15-5, Camden, N. J.

"We get the tough jobs because we have RCA TV Tape!"

...says Bob Byloff, Reeves Studios, New York

We're often called upon to edit a production that picks up on clips and tapes from several sources, combining them with tape, film and live pickup. The technical excellence of RCA TV Tape Equipment gives us an edge on the really complicated assignments. We find our RCA TV Tape facilities give us the ability to actually improve on the quality of tapes, regardless of origin. With RCA TV Tape, no job is too tough to tackle!"

More and more producers and stations are now using RCA

TV Tape Systems. They get superior results from a completely matched line of equipment. The system includes TV Tape Recorders, Studio Cameras, Film Cameras, Projectors, Monitors, Switching and Special Effects... matched both electrically and mechanically to work together. RCA makes it feasible to get everything from a single reliable source... equipment that is built and operated according to proved broadcast procedures... backed up by top engineering counsel and service everywhere.

Routine roundup

Commission is advising all am, fm and tv broadcast stations that it is anticipated that initial test of new Conelrad teletype alerting system, employing facilities of Associated Press and United Press International radio press teletype networks, will be conducted on Sunday, May 14, 1961 at 8:30 P.M. EST.

Effective May 17, 1961, this system will supplement existing radio monitoring method used to disseminate Conelrad Radio Alert Message.

Licensees of all am, fm and tv broadcast stations are required to continue to comply with existing requirement for installing and maintaining radio alert receivers and requirement for transmitting Conelrad Attention Signal and Radio Alert Message in accordance with FCC rules and regulations.

Use of special Conelrad alerting telephones presently installed at certain broadcast stations will be continued for limited time.

DONALD B. PATTON, CHIEF ENGINEER, WKRG, MOBILE, ALA., SAYS ...

“I bought a small supply of Sylvania Gold Brand Tubes and found them to be 100% interchangeable in pulse as well as video circuits. I was so impressed I bought an additional twenty ... found them to be 100% interchangeable with each other.

nance time by 75% ... no longer have to hunt for matched pairs. We are also using Sylvania Gold Brand Tubes in our camera circuits that are critical ... almost impossible to detect any change in operation from the crucial first 100-hour period ... reasons enough for me to specify Sylvania Gold Brand where reliability and quality are of prime importance.”

Rulemakings

■ By order, commission amended Conelrad rules for broadcast stations (Part 3) to include (1) provision that Conelrad Radio Alerts are now initiated and terminated by Commander-in-Chief North American Air Defense Command (instead of commanding officers at various Air Defense Centers as formerly); (2) means for using nationwide teletype networks of Associated Press and United Press International to transmit Conelrad Radio Alert to approximately 90% of all broadcast stations; (3) and otherwise bring these rules up to date, effective June 5. At same time, it adopted revised Conelrad Manual for Broadcast Stations, which deals with broadcast operations in national emergency to (1) include provisions of amended rules, (2) set forth expanded mode of operation to minimize use of their transmissions as navigational aids by hostile aircraft, guided missiles and other devices, and otherwise improve functioning of Emergency Broadcast System, (3) add new section dealing with advent of State Defense Networks (SDN), and (4) add provisions to cover activities of National, State and Local Industry Advisory Committees, and also Technical Arrangements To Insure Continuity of Emergency Broadcast System During Conelrad Radio Alert and Period Following Issuance of Conelrad all clear. Ann. April 28.

OPTION TIME

■ By further notice of proposed rulemaking to consider basic question of whether practice of time optioning by tv broadcast stations is contrary to public interest and should be prohibited, Commission invites interested parties to file comments and participate in oral argument on following issues:

(a) Whether time optioning, apart from its legality vel non under antitrust laws, is in public interest, and

NAB Convention

Exhibit 15

(b) If time optioning should be found to be contrary to public interest, what form of rule should be promulgated to effectuate its prohibition.

All submissions or arguments by parties to this proceeding or by persons acting in behalf of such parties must be made in written comments or other appropriate pleadings or at oral arguments. No reply briefs or comments may be filed unless specifically requested or authorized by Commission.

Commission will schedule dates for filing of comments, for oral argument, and for filing of appearances, by further order subsequent to a remand by Court of Appeals of Times-Mirror Bcstg. Co. v. United States Case which was requested by the Commission.

By separate order, Commission stated that, effective upon remand by court, and until further order of Commission, option time rules as amended effective Jan. 1, 1961 shall remain in effect, and, to that extent, amended its April 19 order accordingly. (These rules permit 2½ hours within each segment of broadcast day for tv network optioning.)

Comr. Cross had dissenting statement to issuance of further notice of proposed rulemaking. Action May 3.

By report and order, Commission amended sect. 1.354 of its procedural rules so as to group together for processing and simultaneous consideration, without designation for hearing, all applications filed by existing 250 w class IV am stations requesting increase in daytime power which involve interlinking interference problems only, regardless of their respective dates of filing. By this amendment, it is expected that disposition of some 340 class IV applications now on file and those to be filed in future can be expedited and present backlog on processing line can be diminished.

Commission invites comments to Notice of Proposed Rule Making looking toward amending tv table of assignments to add ch. *46 for educational use in Lexington, Ky., as petitioned for by National Educational Television and Radio Center. It would involve deleting commercial ch. 46 from Bristol, Tenn.-Va. and substituting ch. 75, and substituting ch. 80 for ch. 60 in Richmond, Ky. Alternative proposal by petitioner to assign ch. *47 to Lexington was denied because it conflicts with proposals in Louisville, Ky., rulemaking.

By supplemental report and order, the commission amended tv table of assignments to substitute ch. 20 for ch. 53 in Waterbury, Conn., and, at same time, modified authorization of WATR Inc.'s station WATR-TV in that city to specify operation on ch. 20 instead of ch. 53; conditions. Action May 3.

Sponsor identification rules

(a) When a television broadcast station transmits any matter for which money, services, or other valuable consideration is either directly or indirectly paid or promised to, or charged or received by, such station, the station shall broadcast an announcement that such matter is sponsored, paid for, or furnished, either in whole or in part, and by whom or on whose behalf such consideration was supplied: Provided, however, that "service or other valuable consideration" shall not include any service or property furnished without charge or at a nominal charge for use on, or in connection with, a broadcast unless it is so furnished in consideration for an identification in a broadcast of any person, product, service, trademark, or brand name beyond an identification which is reasonably related to the use of such service or property on the broadcast.

(b) The licensee of each television broadcast station shall exercise reasonable diligence to obtain from its employees, and from other persons with whom it deals directly in connection with any program matter for broadcast, information to enable such licensee to make the announcement required by this section.

(c) In any case where a report (concerning the providing or accepting of valuable consideration by any person for inclusion of any matter in a program intended for broadcasting) has been made to a television broadcast station, as required by Sec. 508 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, of circumstances which would have required an announcement under this section had the consideration been received by such television broadcast station, an appropriate announcement shall be made by such station.

(d) In the case of any political program or any program involving the discussion of public controversial issues for which any films, records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services of any kind are furnished, either directly or indirectly, to a station as an inducement to the broadcasting of such program, an announcement shall be made both at the beginning and conclusion of such program on which such material or services are used that such films, records, transcriptions, talent, scripts, or other material or services have been furnished to such station in connection with the broadcasting of such program: Provided, however, that only one such announcement need be made in the case of any such program of 5 minutes' duration or less, which announcement may be made either at the beginning or conclusion of the program.

(e) Any films broadcast by any television station which were photographed for commercial exhibition after the effective date of this subsection shall, in the absence of an adequate showing to the contrary, be presumed to have been intended for television exhibition.

(f) The announcement required by this section shall fully and fairly disclose the true identity of the person or persons by whom or in whose behalf such payment is made or promised, or from whom or in whose behalf such services or other valuable consideration is received, or by whom the material or services referred to in paragraph (f) of this section are furnished. Where an agent or other person contracts or otherwise makes arrangements with a station on behalf of another, and such fact is known to the station, the announcement shall disclose the identity of the person or persons in whose behalf such agent is acting instead of the name of such agent.

(g) In the case of any program, other than a program advertising commercial products or services, which is sponsored, paid for or furnished, either in whole or in part, or for which material or services referred to in paragraph (f) of this section are furnished, by a corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group, the announcement required by this section shall disclose the name of such corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group. In each such case the station shall require that a list of the chief executive officers or members of the executive committee or of the board of directors of the corporation, committee, association or other unincorporated group shall be made available for public inspection at the studios or general offices of one of the television broadcast stations carrying the program.

(h) In the case of programs advertising commercial products or services, an announcement stating the sponsor's corporate or trade name or, where it will serve the requirements herein, the name of the sponsor's product, shall be deemed sufficient for the purposes of this section and only one such announcement need be made at any time during the course of the program.

(i) Commission interpretations in connection with the foregoing rules may be found in the commission's public notice entitled "Applicability of Sponsorship Identification Rules" and such supplements thereto as are issued from time to time.

Following are recent examples of FCC interpretations of above rules:

■ An automobile manufacturer or dealer furnishes to a producer of television programs a number of automobiles with the understanding that the producer will use them, or some of them, in some of his programs which call for the use of automobiles; and that the automobiles may be used for other business purposes in connection with the programs, such as transporting the cast, crew, equipment and supplies from location to location or transporting executive personnel to business meetings in connection with the production of the programs. There is no understanding that there will be any identification on the television programs beyond an identification which is reasonably related to the use of the automobiles on the programs. No other consideration is involved. Under such uses, no announcement is required.

■ (a) A hotel permits a program to originate from its premises and furnishes hotel services, such as room and board, for cast, production and technical staff, and also furnishes other elements for use in connection with the programs to be broadcast, such as electricity and cable connections, free of charge, and with no other consideration. There is no understanding that there will be an identification of the hotel on the program beyond that reasonably related to the use made of the hotel on the program. No announcement is required.

(b) If the hotel pays money or furnishes free or at a nominal charge any services or items which are not for use on or in connection with the program (e.g., furnishing free or at a nominal charge room and board for the producer for any period of time not related to the production of the program at the hotel site), an announcement is required.

■ Does Sec. 317 as amended on Sept. 13, 1960 apply to programs or portions of programs produced or recorded prior to Sept. 13, 1960?

No, unless valuable consideration was provided to a broadcast station (rather than to a producer or other person) for the program or the inclusion of any program matter therein and the program was broadcast after said date.

■ A station broadcasts spot announcements which solicit mail orders from listeners. The sponsor is merely referred to in the announcements and in the mail order address as "Flower Seeds" or "Real Estate" or "The Record Man." Such a reference to the sponsor of the announcements is insufficient to constitute compliance with the Commission's sponsorship identification rules because it is limited to a description of the product or service being advertised. The announcement requirement contemplates the explicit identification of the name of the manufacturer or seller of goods, or the generally known trade or brand name of the goods sold. (See commission notice entitled "Sponsor Identification on Broadcast Stations," FCC 50-1207, 6 R.R. 835).

■ A station broadcasts "teaser" announcements utilizing catch words, slogans, symbols, etc., designed to arouse the curiosity of the public by telling it that something is "coming soon." The sponsor of the announcements is not named therein, nor is any generally known trade or brand name given, but it is the intention of the station and the advertiser to inaugurate at a later date a series of conventional spot announcements at the conclusion of the "teaser" campaign. Announcements of this type do not comply with the Commission's sponsorship identification rules. All commercial matter must contain an explicit identification of the advertiser or the generally known trade or brand name of the goods being advertised. (See Memorandum Opinion and Order In the Matter of Amendment of Sec. 3.119(e) of the commission's rules, FCC 59-939, 18 R.R. 1860.)

■ A station carries an announcement (or program) on behalf of a candidate for public office or on behalf of the proponents or opponents of a bond issue (or any public controversial issue). At the conclusion thereof, the station broadcasts a "disclaimer" or states that "the preceding was a paid political announcement." Such announcements per se do not demonstrate compliance with the sponsorship identification rules. The rules do not provide that either of the above-mentioned types of announcements must be made, but they do provide in such situations that an identification be broadcast which will fully and fairly disclose the true identity of the person or persons by whom or in whose behalf payment was made. If payment is made by an agent, and the station has knowledge thereof, the announcement shall identify the person in whose behalf such agent is acting. If the sponsor is a corporation, committee, association or other group, the required announcement shall contain the name of such group; moreover, the station broadcasting any matter on behalf of such group shall require that a list of the chief officers, members of the executive committee or members of the board of directors of the sponsoring organization be made available upon demand for public inspection at the studios or general offices of the station.

■ Must the required sponsorship announcement on television broadcasts be made by visual means in order for it to be an "appropriate announcement" within the meaning of the commission's rules?

Not necessarily. The commission's rule does not contain any provision stating whether aural or visual or both types of announcements are required. The purpose of the rule is to provide a full and fair disclosure of the facts of sponsorship, and responsibility for determining whether a visual or aural announcement is appropriate lies with the licensee.

■ (a) A trade association furnishes a television station with kinescope recordings of a Senate committee hearing on labor relations. The subject of the kinescope is a strike being conducted by a labor union. The station broadcasts the kinescope on a "sustaining" basis but does not announce the supplier of the film. The failure to make an appropriate announcement as to the party supplying the film is a violation of the commission's sponsorship identification rules dealing with the presentation of program matter involving controversial issues of public importance. Moreover, the commission requires that a licensee exercise due diligence in ascertaining the identity of the supplier of such program matter. An alert licensee should be on notice that expensive kinescope prints dealing with controversial issues are being paid for by someone and must make inquiry to determine the source of the films in order to make the required announcement. A station which has ascertained the source of kinescopes is under an additional obligation to supply such information to any other station to which it furnishes the program.

(b) Same situation as above, except that the time for the program is sold to a sponsor (not the supplier of the film) and contains proper identification of the advertiser purchasing the program time. An additional announcement as to the supplier of the films is still required, for the reasons set forth above.

(c) Same situation as in (a) and (b), above, except that only excerpts from the film are used by a station in its news programs. An announcement as to the source of the films is required.

■ A church group plans to film the proceedings of its national convention and distribute film clips "dealing with numerous matters of profound importance to members of (its) faith" in order to "disseminate to the American people information concerning its objectives and programs." The group requests a general waiver under sec. 317(d) of the Communications Act so that it need not "waste" any of the short periods of broadcast time donated to it by making sponsorship identification announcements. In the below-cited case, the commission did not grant such a waiver because of the absence of information indicating that the subject matter of the clips was not controversial and because the alleged "loss" of a few seconds of air time was not of decisional significance vis-a-vis congressional and commission policy relating to issues of public importance.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT YOUR HOSPITAL OFFERS YOU?

To all of us, a hospital is a familiar and reassuring landmark—a place we know we can depend on when we're sick or injured.

One out of eight of us requires hospital care every year. This means that our hospitals have a heavier load than ever before—their staffs busier—their problems more complex.

But many of us do not know what hospitals are really like. It is remarkable how they manage to run so smoothly and efficiently 24 hours of every day and are able to provide such a wide variety of skills and services under one roof.

Our hospitals need your help and support. During National Hospital Week—May 7th to 13th—visit and talk to the people who run your hospital. Ask if there is a volunteer job you could do.

A good, modern hospital is vital to the health of your community. Support it in every way you can. Every hospital—large or small—becomes a better hospital with your support.

OUR RESPECTS to John Lawrence Perry, NAB

An 'extra mind' for researching, writing, analyzing

One of the most active figures at the NAB convention will be one of the least visible to delegates.

"Just call me an adjunct," said John Lawrence Perry, assistant to NAB President LeRoy Collins.

John has absolutely no official role at NAB or at the convention. But there's little of importance that happens without the benefit of his background participation.

Any attempt to block out John Perry's job at NAB on a corporation structural chart will end up with some sort of a dotted line leading sideways into a floating box that merely says "John L. Perry, assistant."

But any attempt to belittle the importance of his work would seriously distort the facts of NAB life. Perhaps the best explanation is given by Gov. Collins: "He serves as my personal assistant but not in an administrative staff capacity. He gives me an extra mind for researching, writing and analyzing. He observes meetings I cannot attend and serves importantly as my liaison when necessary."

In The Middle ■ And where does this leave John Perry? Right in the middle of just about everything of a policy-level nature that happens around the association's Washington headquarters—the only staff executive with an across-the-board interest.

This youngish aide to Gov. Collins has just the right educational, professional and temperamental qualities for the job. He has an extensive scholastic background, experience in the niceties of politics and the gold-fish-bowl type of living inherent in Gov. Collins' career, and an extraordinary ability to listen patiently and to catch on in a hurry.

But John Perry's most valuable trait probably is his knack of listening with four ears—his and the Governor's. This is backstopped by five-years experience in the art and science of acting as an extra mind, or adjunct, to this statesman turned trade association president.

John readily flashes a toothy smile that accompanies mild torrents of thoughts uttered in a husky monotone with the aid of homely but graphic figures of speech. "It's a problem of getting a foot in the dollar door," he will observe, hitting direct at a problem in the manner of the trained reporter—and he was well trained in journalism (master's degree in journalism at Northwestern U.).

He likes figures of speech, but he likes them technically above reproach.

"That hind teat business just isn't so," he once observed. "Take a look at a cow and you'll see the most milk above the rear teats. The one who gets the hind teat is getting the best of the deal."

The Beginning ■ Which is a long way off from the reasons for the presence of this youngish (aged 31) man at Gov. Collins' elbow. The Collins-Perry alliance began after the 1954 gubernatorial campaign in Florida. Reporter Perry, covering for the St. Petersburg Times, did a series of depth stories about LeRoy Collins and other candidates, using an intensive telephone technique to make his contacts. After the election, he covered the legislative session. Gov. Collins, impressed by this journalism, persuaded John to join his staff as an assistant for speech research. This job reached a peak in the 1956 campaign, when all the research and help provided by John was an important factor in the successful election.

As state problems developed more international aspects in the late 50's, John's job became broader in scope. Gov. Collins, for example, sent him to the UN as an observer during the Suez crisis. Then in 1959 John figured the governor, as chairman of the National Governors' Conference, and other U. S. governors should have a chance to see how Russia's provinces or republics are governed. The idea was a hit. Nine governors (and John Perry as well as other staff aides) explored Russia, going far into the interior.

That autumn John moved to New

He's just an 'adjunct'

York as assistant to the president of Learning Resources Institute and Midwest Council on Airborne Television Instruction, non-profit, endowed organizations. There he launched two educational projects and then returned to Gov. Collins, who called him back in February 1960 to help in the conduct of national affairs.

Came the Democratic Los Angeles convention, and Gov. Collins became an internationally famous figure as permanent chairman. His skill on the convention rostrum had the benefit of extensive Perry research into the obligations and behavior patterns of past chairmen.

Reunion ■ After the nomination, Candidate John F. Kennedy asked Gov. Collins to serve as chairman of the campaign speakers bureau. John Perry resigned to become consultant on the midwest etv airborne project at Purdue U. But when Gov. Collins was elected Oct. 10 to the NAB presidency, he sent for John and the team soon went into action again. John went to work at NAB Dec. 1; the governor was getting ready for his new post, but finished out his Florida term Jan. 3.

A native of Knoxville, Tenn., John was reared in Florida and attended the U. of Florida. He received his journalism degree at Northwestern U. in 1950, his master's a year later. After serving as a reporter in Buffalo, he returned to Florida via the Tampa Tribune, moving to the St. Petersburg Times. He holds several awards for reporting.

A neat dresser, he has a slumber-proof haircut—a sort of ultra-short crew job with a part and touch of curl. His cheeks are ruddy; they light up at any mention of Florida.

The combination of loyalty, patience in research, attentive listening, easy grasp of intricate problems, mastery of the written word and willingness to serve in anonymity equip John with the qualities needed by a swift-moving man of the Collins type.

Right now, with the advance preparation for the NAB convention out of the way, John is concentrating on the NAB reorganization plan. He's working closely with the governor's special consultant, Robert K. Richards.

It's not just a job for John. He can make a good deal more money elsewhere. But his NAB post has personal rewards and he is proud to be associated with broadcasting as a public service industry—even as an adjunct, as he puts it. In any case, he's an important adjunct. Don't underrate him.

This week

It has become a habit to label each annual convention of the NAB as fraught with more problems and more dangers to free broadcasting than any preceding one. It is of course true that as broadcasting has grown so have its problems.

The 39th annual convention in Washington this week needs no rhetorical embellishments. It is the most critical in history.

Since the convention a year ago, a new President of the United States has assumed office and has established landmarks in his use of radio and television as well as in their proposed regulation. A new chairman has taken over at the FCC and has rushed pell mell into program control as part of a new era of crack-down regulation. A strong new association president officiates at the NAB and has some broadcasters wondering whether there are two FCCs.

These influential gentlemen will make their first appearances before an NAB convention. They espouse new philosophies conforming to the New Frontier. NAB's new president, LeRoy Collins, while on the other side of the regulatory fence, is a New Frontiersman in his concepts.

There will be interest aplenty for every broadcaster and every buyer of broadcast advertising. One cannot foretell what President Kennedy will say in his appearance today. It should be noted, however, that in his first 100 days in office he has said something newsworthy and germane to every group he has addressed, whether off-the-cuff or in a full-dress speech.

FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow, in his less-than-100 days in office, hasn't held back in word or deed. If his motive has been to frighten broadcasters he has succeeded to an alarming degree. He goes to bat both in a formal address on Tuesday and as the FCC's anchor man in the panel discussion on Wednesday.

Gov. Collins has telegraphed his punches in his advocacy of NAB-arbitrated "blue ribbon" programming, crack-downs on rating services and assumption of full control as spokesman for broadcasting, the networks notwithstanding.

Broadcasters will get their answers at first hand. It may be that nothing really happens at NAB conventions. But they do set the tone for the future—and for the NAB board which has plenary powers and meets again next month.

This week should start an agonizing reappraisal of life under the New Frontier and under a new kind of NAB president.

FCC-packing plan

THE plan sent to Congress by President Kennedy isn't a simple proposal to reorganize the FCC and thereby save time and money. It is a measure to pack the FCC and thus destroy its bi-partisan character, contrary to the clear intent of Congress.

The plan would vest in the chairman the power to assign commissioners and staff members as he sees fit. The chairman—any chairman—could pick a "division" or a panel of fellow commissioners who saw eye-to-eye with him on a policy matter of great significance. Newspaper ownership, or program controls, for example. It would make puppets of other commissioners.

Couple this authority with the requirement that the chairmen of all of the independent agencies report monthly direct to the President. What member of a commission interested in retaining his job would dare defy a chairman maintaining direct and consistent liaison with the White House and armed with the authority to assign whomever he likes to whatever he wishes?

If the administration is interested in saving time and money, it could better achieve the result by actually making the FCC a one-man body. It could name a single administrator and perhaps provide for a direct appeal to an appropriate court or a judicial body specializing in communications. With legalized one-man control, Congress would know whom to hold accountable.

Admittedly there are some desirable features in the plan. The Reorganization Act of 1949, however, provides that a plan must be accepted in toto. It cannot be amended. If Congress fails to act in 60 days from April 27, the plan will become effective.

We hope that Congress will veto Reorganization Plan No. 2 covering the FCC. It might indicate the kind of reorganization it would accept which should be one minus the provision that would make Charlie McCarthys of six of the seven commissioners. Then the White House could try again.

Toward hemispheric freedom

LAST weekend more than 100 delegates to the Inter-American Assn. of Broadcasters met in Washington preparatory to attending this week's NAB convention. They were not a happy group. They were pre-occupied with the Cuban debacle which saw free broadcasting snuffed out by Castro in the Communistic pattern.

The IAAB has been a militant voice in seeking to preserve the freedom and integrity of broadcasting in our hemisphere. Its membership is made up entirely of "American Plan" free enterprise broadcasters. Herbert Evans, president of Peoples Broadcasting Corp., is our IAAB delegate, having given freely of his time after succeeding Gilmore Nunn of Lexington, Ky., who for many years maintained liaison as a personal endeavor.

We have a common bond with the broadcasters of Latin America and of Canada. Their problems are our problems.

Among the delegates is Goar Mestre, whose CMQ radio and television networks were commandeered by Castro. Senor Mestre, a courageous broadcaster whose high principles won him acclaim, was a founder and former president of IAAB. We, along with all IAAB nations, look to the day when Senor Mestre and his family can return to a free, democratic Cuba to resume operations under the "Inter-American" plan of free enterprise.
