This month marks the club's 50th anniversary. According to the club's authoritative history written by Don Jensen, Volume 1, Issue #1 of Frendx was published in September 1961. The good old days featured much different printing techniques so any older copies of Frendx look, feel different than today's version of The Journal. That makes us the oldest running shortwave club in North America. Of course, none of this would have been possible without the support of the membership through the years. We plan to be around for many more years serving the membership.

Welcome aboard to Jerry Lineback who returns to the editor's chair this month with his first edition of Listeners Notebook. Jerry has edited many different columns over the years including a long stint as our Shortwave Center editor. He replaces the temporary editor, me! I was temporary for the last 35 months. Mrs. D'Angelo thanks Jerry for stepping forward so she can assign my available time to other things. I recently saw Jerry at a gathering and he was eager to get going again. Naturally, he would be glad to receive input from members; schedules, observations, news, etc. Jerry Lineback can be reached via postal mail at: P. O. Box 1220, Grantham, NH 03753-1220 or via e-mail at jerrylineback@comcast.net (please indicate in the subject that your contribution is for Listeners Notebook).

Gary Neal sends along a brief update from Awards Program Central. He informs us that Lee Reynolds of Guild, NH has earned the Pirate DXer Award with 25 and 50 station endorsements. Nice going Lee! Shortly after receiving his award, Lee offered some suggestions about how the world was changing and its impact on the awards program specifically the range of awards is shrinking. Earning many of the existing awards if you are relatively new to the hobby has become impossible. Lee suggests possibly a face lift for the awards program. One possibility would be drawing a millennium line to reflect reality these days in the high frequency spectrum. We would be interested in hearing ideas from as many folks as possible. If you have an interest in awards, please feel free to contact me with a musing on the subject. All thoughts and suggestions will be reviewed by the awards program committee.

Also, Gary notes that "we have a new leader in the Scoreboard column for this month: Edward Kusalik of Alberta with 250 countries heard and 249 countries verified." Ed, in a note to Gary, wrote: "After a number of years I have returned to NASWA ... was initially a member waaaay back in 1968 to about 1998 or so and now wish to partake in the Scoreboard again." It's good to have Ed back in the club.

The 18th Annual Madison - Milwaukee Get together for DXers and Radio Enthusiasts was held in Oak Creek, Wisconsin on August 20th, hosted by club member Tim Noonan, was a major success with 33 DXers of all modes represented at this one day outing. Bob Brossell, Gerry Dexter, Bill Dvorak, Mark Taylor, Bill Tilford, Tim Noonan were among the club members in attendance. The 19th Annual Madison - Milwaukee Get together will take place on Saturday, August 18, 2012 starting at 1:00 PM until the usual "when-ever". Next year's venue will be Madison, Wisconsin with Bill Dvorak as host. This is an informal event where you can meet and socialize with other radio hobbyists and enthusiasts. See this month's musings for reports from Tim Noonan and Bill Tilford.

On a sad note we recently learned of the passing of long time club member Gerry

50 Years of Unity and Friendship

Kercher who died in his home in Quaker Hill, CT on August 21st. Gerry was a regular at the Winter SWL Festival and often attended European DX Council conferences over the years. During World War II, Gerry flew the B-26 Martin Marauder in European and North African campaigns, as a member of the 320th Bomb Group. He was especially proud of his service during the Berlin Air Lift when he dropped thousands of pounds of food and medical supplies to the German people. In retirement, Gerry volunteered enthusiastically for Southeastern Hospice for 18 years, stopping only in the weeks prior to his death. He was also a tutor for Literacy Volunteers and volunteered his driving services for the American Red Cross and the local food pantry. Gerry was a big part of the FEST traditions with his reciting one of several poems he was known for each year during the banquet. He was 87 at the time of his passing.

I have a few missing or unknown Flashsheet recipients that I had to drop from the distribution list recently. Al Drehman and Paul Kavan please contact me with your current e-mail address to continue receiving the weekly electronic Flashsheet. Thanks. If your name has been dropped from the weekly electronic Flashsheet distribution list and you want to get back on the distribution list, please contact me with a working e-address.

A brief reminder that the National Association of Shortwave Broadcasters (NASB) is sponsoring the HFCC/ASBU B11 shortwave frequency planning conference in Dallas, Texas September 12-16, 2011, along with its associate member Continental Electronics. Jeff White is encouraging NASB members and associate members to take part in this conference, which will be the first time the HFCC has ever held a conference in the United States. HFCC Chairman Oldrich Cip notes that the scope of the HFCC Conference is expanding to all delivery platforms for international broadcasting — not just shortwave, although high frequency shortwave will remain at the core of the organization's activities (see musings for the full remarks by the Chairman Cip). Jeff is encouraging attendance by non-NASB members. If you would like to participate in the conference, more information is available at the webpage <http://www.hfcc.org/B11.phtml> or you may contact Jeff White, NASB President, at radioniami9@cs.com.

Also, the National Radio Club (NRC) gathering will be hosted by Ernie Wesolowski and Carl Mann in Omaha, Nebraska on October 13-16, 2011. The registration fee is $45.00 per person and room rates are $88.62 per night for up to four in a room. Once again, it will be a joint convention with the WTFDA. Details are in the Calendar of Events.

Please remember to direct all communications about subscriptions, bulletin delivery issues, Labor Day Weekend celebration ideas, the use of PayPal as a payment method, etc. to Bill Oliver at the club's Levittown address or to his new electronic address, billoliver@verizon.net. The regular postal address is the familiar 45 Wildflower Road, Levittown, PA 19057. Inquires sent to Wyomissing only slow down the process. Thanks!

That's it for this month. Enjoy this month's edition of the Journal; it's another good one.

Send your loggings and QSL information off to our Distributing Editor, Bob Montgomery (Address: 86 Pumpkin Hill Road, Levittown, PA 19056). He will forward them to the appropriate editor. FRENDX: Twenty-Five Years Ago (September 1986)

The cover consisted of a collage of a collection of some of Radio Canada International's program schedules over the years. Austin Kelly of the Chicago Area DX Club was organizing a dinner for Sunday, September 28, with Larry Wayne of Radio Deutsche Welle. Log Report A Editor Mike Harris reported information about the new Kenwood R-5000 receiver. Chris Lobdell substituted as editor for Log Report "B" for a vacationing Jerry Berg. In the Awards Program column, John Kapinos issued awards to John Bryant (Senior DX Centurion, Senior China DXer, Master China DXer, Ecclesiastic DXer and Master Pacifica DXer), Rev. John Eckert (European Continental DXer), John Sgruletta (Senior Radio Moscow DXer), John Tow (Arab World DXpert and Australian DXer) and Gayle Van Horn (All Continent "QRP" DXer (25 KW) and Senior Ecclesiastic DXer). Kap noted this was his first attempt to do the column with a word processor and he has an application for 150 countries verified pending with Publisher Bill Oliver. Bill Cole presented his last column as editor of Computer Corner. Tom Sundstrom's English Language Shortwave Schedules appeared labeled "A NASWA Exclusive".

Tim Noonan <DXing2@aol.com>, Oak Creek, WI

The 18th annual Madison-Milwaukee get-together is now history, and it seems that all involved had a most enjoyable day. We started out with a rainy forecast and some rain passing through a few hours before the get-together, but it cleared up and we had a beautiful afternoon, allowing many of the conversations to take place outdoors. Once again it was a diverse group, with some 33 hobbyists representing all bands of DXing, ham radio, and some station sticker trading took place as well. NASWA was well represented, by Bob Brossell, Gerry Dexter, Bill Dvorak, Mark Taylor, Bill Tilford, and yours truly. NASWA and other clubs generously donated sample bulletins, in keeping with the ongoing theme of encouraging DX club membership, and Universal Radio once again donated an array of marvelous door prizes. They were distributed to the lucky winners after the traditional dinner out, and afterward several hobbyists returned to the house for more conversation until just after 12. Bill Dvorak announced on this occasion that he will host the 2012 gathering in Madison on Saturday, August 18.

Bill Tilford bill1tilford@aol.com, Chicago IL

Yesterday (August 20 - RAD) I attended the 18th Annual Madison-Milwaukee Get-Together for DXers and Radio Enthusiasts. It was held at Tim and Jill Noonan's in Oak Creek (Milwaukee) Wisconsin (thanks Tim and Jill) and was attended by 33 DXers plus some family members. Some of the attendees came from as far away as Maryland and Nebraska. As usual, there were a lot of interesting conversations. One of them involved the question of whether there might be a way for people who have made audio recordings of shortwave broadcasts over the years to contribute them to an archive (QSL collectors already have the ability to do this with QSL cards, but there is a vast amount of recorded material out there that may be lost over time.) A similar topic concerned the question of whether stations kept archival recordings of classic programs and whether there might be a way to convince them to make these available to the public on some basis (some examples that came up were the Happy Station programs from RNW, Volkstuemliche Hitparade from DW, some of the recordings from the Prague Spring period in the 60s from Radio Prague and From The Land of Music from RHC).

In the 60s and 70s, classic programs from the "Golden Age" of AM radio were reissued on albums and cassettes, and with so many shortwave stations going off the air, it begs the question of whether something similar could be done with the best of the shortwave spectrum from the past few decades. Bill Dvorak announced that the 19th Madison-Milwaukee GTG would be in Madison, Wisconsin on August 18, 2012.

Richard A. D'Angelo <rdangelo3@aol.com>, 2216 Burkey Drive, Wyomissing, PA 19610
Nice reading about the great turnout for the 18th annual Madison-Milwaukee GTG in the above musings. Unfortunately, I could not make it out to Wisconsin this year during that time frame. Maybe if I start planning NOW, I can get this right for next year, hi!

Bill Tilford mentioned in his musing about a question of whether there might be a way for people who have made audio recordings of shortwave broadcasts over the years to contribute them to an archive similar to what QSL collectors already can do with QSL cards preserved by CPRV. Voice of America reporter Dan Robinson, who has been a long time member and past editor for the club, has made presentations about this subject in the past. Dan has begun preserving recordings so you may want to contact him if you have any audio material to preserve.

I was saddened to learn of the passing of long time shortwave friend and colleague Gerry Kercher. He remained active in life and our hobby until the end attending radio gatherings and maintaining memberships in several shortwave organizations through the years. He was a great guy to talk to at Winter SWL Festival and many of us admired his activity level, including international travel, well into his 80's. A nice guy and someone we will all miss especially at next year's FEST. During the FEST banquet Gerry always served up one of his many poems, Casey at the Bat was my personal favorite, to entertain the gang.

A real small batch of QSL returns this month reflecting almost no new reports sent out during a summer that has kept me quite busy with things not shortwave radio related. Hopefully, the late summer and early fall will see me back in the reporting mode. Radio Senado verified an electronic report (used radio@senado.gov.br and ondacurtas@senado.gov.br) with a full data Portuguese/English "Satellite Dish" card a nice personal letter and "Catedral Metropolitana" souvenir card. My only other reply was from Radio Deutsche Welle via Cypress Creek which verified an electronic report with a full data postal "20 Years of German Unity" card from the Customer Service department. Included with the reply were two stickers, German language frequency guide and an English language program guide.

This issue is a little skimpier than usual because of some missing columns. I don't know if this was caused by hurricane Irene or that massive earthquake we had here on the east coast. My house trembled for about all of ten seconds. Well, I had "Experience an earthquake" on my bucket list and now I've accomplished that without having to go to California. I'm sorry about the lost columns. We'll try to do better next month.

Voice Of America still on shortwave in English...for now

There is talk that VOA may at some point be discontinuing English language service, but for now the VOA remains an interesting service, especially when it comes to programming with an African focus — as Africa has long been a region where the VOA has been popular. Here are some VOA programs you might find interesting:

African Beat is Voice of America's hottest African music show which showcases the best in African music from the continent. From Benga to Juju, Hip Life to Bongo Flava, Afro Beat to Ndombolo, Bubu to Soukous and Makossa to Kwaito African Beat has it all — from across the continent. Host David Vandy and Executive Producer Matthew LaVoie criss cross the African continent bringing the best African music on the African Beat — the show that brings happiness into your homes and smiles on your faces. David Vandy was born in Freetown, Sierra Leone, and has hosted and produced news and music shows at several radio stations. David loves dancing and wants to keep you dancing (I'd pay good money to see that...RC) every Monday through Friday at 0900 and 2000 UTC/GMT with the best African music from our greatest musicians from the continent.

Africa News Tonight is a 60-minute news magazine program that airs twice each evening Monday through Friday, at 1600 and 1800 UTC/GMT. Africa News Tonight brings you the latest news from VOA correspondents on the continent, as well as interviews with African officials, opposition leaders, NGOs, human rights activists and government officials. The show also examines developments in science and technology, the environment, development issues, the African Diaspora, business, lifestyle and culture. Also tune in for the Sonny Side of Sports, bringing you the latest African and world sports from award-winning host, Sonny Young. Listener comments and music round out the hour-long program.

South Sudan in Focus is a weekday current affairs program that airs 30 minutes daily at 1630 UTC/GMT serving the world's (and NASWA's) newest country, South Sudan. While South Sudan was featured on global news programs in the time immediately surrounding its independence, it has been supplanted as a news topic by events in Libya and elsewhere. If you're interested in keeping up with issues faced by the new country as it confronts its challenges, give it a listen. A week's worth of programs is available for online listening.

Straight Talk Africa is an international call-in talk show hosted by Shaka Ssali. Shaka and his guests discuss topics of special interest to Africans, including politics, economic development, press freedom, health, social issues and conflict resolution. The program airs Wednesdays from 1830-1930 on both TV and radio.

Nightline Africa is a weekend program that highlights the latest issues and developments on the continent. Join host Akwei Thompson and correspondents from Washington and across Africa as they offer in-depth interviews, reports analysis and features. Nightline also brings you African arts and culture, country profiles, sports, music and commentary by top African experts. Nightline Africa airs Saturdays and Sundays at 1600 and 1800 UTC.

If you want your morning to feel like morning in Lagos, or perhaps in Dakar, Daybreak Africa looks at the latest developments on the continent, starting with headline news and providing in-depth interviews, reports from VOA correspondents, sports news and a selection of listeners' letters. Get your day off to a great start with host James Butty, Monday through Friday, on this 30 minute lively breakfast show. Daybreak Africa is twinned with the 30 minute International Report program at 0330, 0430, 0530 and 0630 UTC to provide a seamless hour of comprehensive news coverage.

If you'd rather wake up with an Asian focus, check out Daybreak Asia. VOA's Daybreak Asia team provides an informative 30-minute morning program, bringing you unique stories from across Asia and the world in English. With the English language becoming more widely use in influential circles, you now have a way to learn about issues of interest to the largest and most populous continent in the world. From new insights about regional neighbors to discovering your problems are pan-Asian problems, too, you'll find Daybreak Asia will soon be shaping the way you see the world. For news beyond the headlines, listening to Daybreak Asia is not only time well spent — it's a great way to start your day. Daybreak Asia airs at 2200 (Sunday-Thursday), 2300 (also Sunday-Thursday), and 0100 UTC (Monday-Friday).

If you want a half-hour current affairs program updated several times each weekday, VOA's International Edition is your source for the latest global news and information throughout the day and night. Find out what's happening in politics and the economy, in health, science and technology, and a range of other issues that interest you. VOA's interviews with top newsmakers and experts provides you with unique access to the very people who are shaping world events. VOA correspondents and analysts keep you informed of breaking events, and what they mean. International Edition airs Sundays-Thursdays at 2230 and 2330 UTC/GMT, and Mondays-Fridays at 0130, 0330, 0430, 0530, 0630, 1230, 1330, 1430, 1730, and 1930 UTC/GMT.

The most recent edition of each VOA program is available for online listening at <http://voanews.com> ; click on the <Programs> item at the top of the page, and a list of programs appears on the left. Shortwave frequencies can be seen via that same <Programs> menu selection; look for <Frequencies>. The VOA has deemphasized English language programming to the Americas via shortwave for several years, but the programming targeting Africa and Asia may be audible if the propagation gods allow. Live audio via the web is also available.

Late Night Live returns

Score one for Radio Australia! Sometimes audience feedback actually does work out: the domestic ABC program Late Night Live had a loyal shortwave audience but was recently replaced by a program produced specifically for an international audience by Radio Australia. Listeners expressed their disappointment, and Late Night Live has returned to the schedule on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 1605 UTC. Unfortunately that air time will probably only work for folks in Western North America (and elsewhere in the Asia Pacific region) as advancing daylight tends to thwart Radio Australia propagation.

Late Night Live remains a weeknightly hour-long staple on Radio National, and is available for podcast/download as well as online listening. Much of Late Night Live audio back to 2005 remains available online. Website: <http://www.abc.net.au/rn/latenightlive/> .

Australia's ABC remains one of my favorite international broadcasters, with a vast range of interesting programming available from domestic services as well as Radio Australia. Another of my favorite features is Rear Vision, which takes a significant current event and examines the backstory of the event through recent history. The focus is rarely limited to Australia; rather, events of global significance are profiled. From the website: "How many times have you listened to news on the radio or watched evening current affairs and wondered how it came to this, why two groups of people are fighting each other or why and how a particular leader or individual has changed history? Listen to Rear Vision and as Gore Vidal says — get a better understanding of where we've been, where we are today and where we might be going." Website: <http://www.abc.net.au/rn/rearvision/>. Shortwave airtimes: Wednesdays 1530 (Asia and Pacific) and 1930 (Asia only).

That's all for September — see you next month! 73 DE Richard

Q and A on the future of shortwave and DRM

James Careless, who writes for the trade periodical Radio World, recently sent me several questions about Digital Radio Mondiale (DRM) and about shortwave in general. My responses will be abridged, excerpted, and digested into the piece he writes. Below are my answers in undigested form.

How much progress has DRM made to date? The technology for transmitting DRM has been in place for years. There has been much less progress convincing shortwave stations to transmit in DRM, and to convince receiver manufacturers to bring DRM capable radios to the market. Of course, the general decline in shortwave at the transmitting and receiving ends is not helping DRM.

Is this technology being picked up by receiver manufacturers? If not, why not? The extra processing circuitry required for a DRM receiver causes the device to consume batteries very quickly. We'll see if a remedy to this problem is introduced at the IBC show in Amsterdam. I'm surprised more high-end receiver manufacturers — to be sure, not many left — have not offered a DRM mode, or at least a 12 kHz IF output that can be connected to one's PC to decode and listen to DRM broadcasts. The black box and software defined receivers tend to be good for DRM reception. (I use the RFSpace SDRIQ receiver for DRM. Lately I have been getting amazing reception of Radio Exterior de España, in Spanish, via their Costa Rica relay.)

Is there a demand for DRM? Or will analog do? I think there are people who would enjoy the improved fidelity of a DRM shortwave signal. This would be especially true for those who are annoyed by the fading and background noise that we experienced shortwave listeners have, over the years, come to ignore. Perhaps the question should be "will internet audio do?" Internet audio improves on the quality of all but the clearest shortwave signals. And internet audio adds the huge bonus of on-demand listening. Shortwave DRM would still have the advantage of portability, if they can develop a good portable DRM receiver. But, then, wi-fi radios for cars are in development, in which case DRM shortwave would lose the portability advantage.

Can DRM save shortwave? No. Shortwave has declined too much and there are too many alternatives. The single remaining advantage of shortwave is that it can be received over long distances and in difficult reception conditions, such as interference, deliberate or otherwise. DRM can nicely eliminate some amount of fading and background noise, but when those degradations reach a certain level, the DRM signal disappears. DRM could therefore hasten the demise of shortwave by eliminating the last remaining advantage of shortwave.

Having said that, there are some opportunities for DRM. I think it would be great on longwave and medium wave because, on those frequencies, it can cover a wider footprint than an FM station. I also think DRM would work well for relatively short-range transmissions on the lower shortwave frequencies, like the old tropical domestic shortwave broadcasting. This might bring near-FM-quality radio to remote areas of the United States and Canada, such as the valleys of West Virginia.

(There is, or was, a DRM shortwave experiment in Alaska. I don't know what its status is. Website: <http://daradiotech.com/>)

How much has shortwave listening declined? Let's take two examples. In India, yesterday listening to any shortwave dropped from 7.4% to 2.3% from 2003 to 2008. In Kenya, yesterday listening to any shortwave dropped from 25% to 3% from 2003 to 2011. In some other countries, shortwave listening are maintaining. One example is Nigeria, where foreign radio relays on FM are restricted.

What factors account for this? 1) More people have access to television, and there are more television channels available, thus using up leisure time. Many people around the world can watch CNN, Al Jazeera, and other international channels for news. 2) For radio, people have gotten used to the audio quality of FM, so it is difficult to convince them to go back to shortwave or even medium wave. And there are more and more FM stations available in many countries. In many countries, people can listen to relays of international station on FM. 3) Typical radios in developing countries used to have a medium wave and shortwave band. Now they have a medium wave and FM band, but shortwave. The cheapest radios have FM only. Many cell phones include an FM radio. 4) More electrical appliances and broadband networks are causing interference to the short- and medium wave bands, making reception more difficult. 5) For those who have access, the internet provides access to news from international sources that is more convenient than via shortwave. News via internet is available on demand and in text format. To be sure, internet content can be blocked, but shortwave can be jammed. A good question is which medium does a better job of overcoming interdiction. And that has to be balanced with the number of people using each medium (internet already has the advantage over shortwave).

Did the BBC's shortwave pullout in favor of the Web speed up the decline? Yes. It emboldened the other stations to follow suit.

Who else has cut back on shortwave, and why? Most stations have cut back. Deutsche Welle was the second major station to drop English to North America. Switzerland replaced its Swiss Radio International with the swissinfo website, a process completed in 2004. Many European countries have eliminated all shortwave broadcasting. I don't have a timeline, but I think Jerry Berg tracks this in one of his recent books.

Does shortwave have a place in reaching countries like North Korea? Shortwave can certainly get information into North Korea, but most people there have medium wave radio. These MW radios can be modified to receive other than the official North Korean stations. So a medium wave relay (from Russia or South Korea) is the most useful resource for reaching that country. Some North Koreans are bringing shortwave radios in from China, however. Shortwave is still useful to reach countries where FM relays of international stations are not allowed, and where the internet is blocked or not widely used. Burma and Zimbabwe are two archetypal shortwave listening countries, although increasing numbers of people in both countries are acquiring satellite dishes for television.

Have broadcasters made a mistake by getting out of shortwave? To some extent, yes. There will be a future emergency when shortwave capability will be needed. The friendly democratic Western countries should agree to maintain enough transmitters in enough places to reach anywhere in the world. There might not be many shortwave radios left when the emergency occurs.

Is there any good news on the shortwave horizon? Or is it just one long tale of decline? Bad news for the internet can be good news for shortwave. As more nations develop more powerful methods to block internet content, shortwave can come to the rescue. This would probably be by means of text via shortwave, which is a much more efficient mode than voice. Text via shortwave can be used to get uncensored news to a few key users in a country, who can in turn pass the information on via blogs and social media within the country. Making this a two-way communication process would be more difficult. It would probably involve QRP amateur radio techniques, without the amateur radio license.

Views expressed are my own. More at www.kimandrewelliott.com, posts to which can be "followed" at twitter.com/kaedotcom.

A Totally Unscientific Comparison of Two Portable Receivers

By Hank Michalenka, CPA

I have always used a portable shortwave receiver; in fact, I started DXing with a Realistic 4597 as a Christmas gift in 1965. Over the years I have had portables, including the Barlow-Wadley XCR-30 and the great Sony ICF-2010. For the past decade or so I have used the Grundig PE-400. I recently put the Yacht Boy next to the Radio Shack DX-390 (same as the Sangean ATS-808) for a side-by-side. Both were run using the AC adapters so battery performance would not affect the test results.

No high-tech testing equipment and no preconceived notions involved; strictly turn them on and find out what they could do. Each was positioned vertically, whip antenna fully extended, and the supplied "window frame" antenna connected. The whips were vertical and spaced two feet apart, the wires horizontal, perpendicular to the whips, and spaced one foot apart.

Over a ten-hour period I tuned each receiver to the same frequencies across all bands. The chart below shows the results. The frequency in bold shows the better reception:

DX-390	PE-400	comments
17520	17520
17680	17680
17715	17715	note performance difference within the band
Inaudible	15000	S-3 to S-4 on the PE-400; nothing on DX-390
15205	15205	fading occurred at different times between receivers
11700	11700	PE-400 could hear this with just the whip
11775	11775	Anguilla strongest signal in the band on each receiver
11845	11845
9460	9460	PE-400 easier to understand
9480	9480	PE-400 easier to understand
9565	9565
9635	9635
9915	9915	stronger signals consistently on 31 meter band
7210	7210
7245	7245

7260	7260	again superior on 41 meters
6020	6020
6030	6030
6055	6055
6070	6070
4840	4840
5025	5025
3330	3330	PE-400 much better reception of CHU

Observations at random:

The audio was always much better on the Grundig, making weaker signals more readable.

The clothesline antenna with the RX-390 made absolutely no difference whether attached or not; in fact, it isn't attached, just slid down the whip. There is an antenna input mini-jack on the RX-390, and when the Grundig antenna was plugged in to the RX-390, it made a marked difference. To compare, I slid clothesline on the Grundig, and it made no difference there, either. The Grundig plug-in antenna does make some small improvement in reception on the PE-400.

Portability: without batteries, the RX-390 weighs in at 4 lbs, 14 oz. The PE-400 at 1 lb, 5 oz. When batteries are included, throw another half pound difference onto the RX-390; so, if you are going to carry this RX-390 up Everest, go with the heavy-duty Sherpa. If you're driving somewhere with it, doesn't matter.

Size: The PE-400 is about 1/4 the volume of the RX-390; easy in a carry-on. In fact, it is smaller than a WRTH.

Weird: For other use, I dialed in 99.5 to hear my favorite FM station (which is difficult to hear in my location). Each receiver had a different station audible on 99.5, neither of which was the one I was trying to hear, and the RX-390 station was 275 miles away!

Interesting: Strange how one receiver would be hearing a station, then it would fade out and come in on the other receiver. I set both receivers equally at volume sat between them, and could hear stereo effect shortwave better than one receiver alone! I believe in the old days we called this "diversity reception." Also amazed at how a radio wave would be detected differently only two feet apart on two receivers! I wish I had another table-top to go with my NRD-535 to see if the same effect would occur. I also wonder if two antennae connected to one receiver would cause the same effect... perhaps another article.

Conclusion: Draw your own, people. I love my little Yacht-Boy, as the Grundig ads used to say. I think overall the RX-390 is the better of the two (so far), but it does have air travel difficulties. I think with a good external antenna connected it would be great, except for the bassy audio (I did not listen with phones). Having said that, using two receivers and doing the stereo thing was an incredible revelation for me; I was also able to check parallel frequencies while not leaving the primary (Radio Marti fell off 11930 for 30 seconds while 11845 stayed on while monitoring, for example). I do have sentimental attachments for the Yacht-Boy. My family flew on United on 9/11, taking off on the same type plane at exactly the same time as the ones from Boston and we were stranded in O'Hare. All the TV monitors were turned off. I turned on the Yacht-Boy in the middle of the United terminal and a crowd of hundreds gathered around to hear Dan Rather via WBBM. I will never travel again without a portable SW receiver.

Trends in tropical bands broadcasting 2011

By Anker Petersen

As editor of the Domestic Broadcasting Survey (DBS) my task is, throughout the year until the next publication, to check the bands myself and follow the loggings from members of the Danish ShortWave Club International and other DX-ers around the world. For each frequency on the list, a note is taken of the months when it has been heard. If a station has not been heard by any DX-er during the past 12 months, it is deleted. By this measure, the DBS contains only the active domestic broadcasting stations. With this systematic registration of broadcasting stations on the Tropical Bands each year, it is possible to make some statistics, on how many frequencies were active in each tropical region of the world and compare these numbers. Clandestine and Pirate stations are not included in these statistics.

Active domestic transmitters on 2200 – 5800 kHz

Region	1973	1985	1997	2009	2011

Brazil	107	87	67	35	35
Southern South America	5	2	1	0	0
Total	1106	819	627	247	233

During the past year the previous trend, that Tropical stations slowly disappear, continued throughout the world. The reason is that other media get higher priority, than keeping elderly Shortwave transmitters alive. The only exception is the Pacific where a few private, low-powered stations have been added.

These stations on the Tropical Bands have closed down during year 2010 (plus stations on 3815, 4739.6 and 4740), including International stations:

Early Shortwave Relay Stations in Australia

The era of experimental shortwave broadcasting in Australia extended from July 1925 to the first weekend in September 1939, a period of a little over 14 years. This era of shortwave broadcasting began when the chief engineer of a commercial station in Perth, Western Australia commenced the relay of programming from his local longwave broadcast station over his own suburban amateur station. This era ended when the Australian government issued a wartime edict closing all shortwave activity in the nation except for approved communication stations, and the ABC shortwave relay station VLR.

We go back to the beginning, we categorize all of these stations according to the type of station, and we begin with two projected stations that were never erected.

The mediumwave station 2KY in Sydney was officially inaugurated on October 31, 1925. In the original news release about the new station, reference was made to the fact that they planned on installing a shortwave transmitter to increase the coverage area of their mediumwave station, and also for the benefit of listeners in other countries.

At the time of the inauguration of 2KY, the mediumwave unit in Trades Hall Sydney, mention was made again of their plan for an international shortwave transmitter. However, it seems that the Federal government disapproved of the idea, and so the shortwave unit was never installed.

Another attempt at obtaining a shortwave license was implemented by the commercial station 5CL in Adelaide, South Australia in 1928. Their intent was for coverage in country areas, but the PMG Department also disapproved this request.

Very early on the scene were three amateur radio stations that were in use for the relay of programming from their local broadcasting stations.

The very first of these experimental relays on shortwave took place in Perth, Western Australia in July 1925, when Engineer Walter Coxon re-broadcast the programming from local station 6WF over his own amateur station 6AG at his suburban home. The purpose of this shortwave relay was to increase the coverage of the longwave station 6WF throughout the country areas of Australia's largest state, around 1/3 of the total area of the continent.

The first shortwave transmitter at 6AG in suburban Perth emitted around 50 watts; the second at another suburban location was rated at 200 watts; and the third location for this relay facility was at the main location of 6WF, in the Westralian Farmers Building in downtown Perth.

Another station engineer, Ray Allsop by name, served the commercial station 2BL in Sydney on the eastern edge of the continent. Beginning in February 1926, he used his amateur transmitter 2YG, at two consecutive locations in suburban Sydney, for the relay of the mediumwave station 2BL to a wider audience.

Next we go down to Melbourne in Victoria where engineer L. C. Glew relayed the programming from his commercial station 3UZ via his amateur station 3LG. Initially this was in April 1928, and soon afterwards he constructed another shortwave transmitter, rated at 150 watts, that was co-sited with the mediumwave unit in downtown Melbourne. During the following years, the power of this unit was increased to 500 watts.

Next, in our listing of early shortwave stations in Australia, we take a look at the three stations that were operated by AWA; in New South Wales, Victoria and Western Australia.

The first of these three AWA facilities was the well known station VK2ME located at Pennant Hills, an outer suburb of the state capital, Sydney. On September 5, 1927, the first Empire Broadcast, with programming from 2FC Sydney, went on the air for overseas listeners via a new 20 kW shortwave transmitter. This station, VK2ME, was subsequently taken into use for the relay of radio programming produced in the AWA studios in York Street Sydney.

Down in Melbourne, the AWA sister station, VK3ME, was also in use for the relay of radio programming to an overseas audience. Beginning in 1927, the programming was taken from the commercial station 3LO, though subsequently, AWA began to produce their own programming for the international audience. In an endeavor to reach a larger audience, the subsequent programming from VK3ME was transmitted from the Beam Wireless Station VIY with 10 kW at Ballan, out from Melbourne. Interestingly, the Centenary Celebrations at the regional city Ballarat in 1934 were covered by special radio programming from another mediumwave station in the state capital, station 3DB, and this programming was also broadcast to a larger audience by VK3ME.

The third AWA shortwave station during this experimental era was VK6ME, located at Applecross, between the state capital Perth and the port city Fremantle. This transmitter was rated at just 200 watts and it made its first on air test broadcast on January 27, 1936. Programming was produced in the specially installed AWA studios, which were co-located with the transmitters at Applecross.

We should also remember the PMG experimental station originally located at Lyndhurst, out from Melbourne in Victoria. This station came on the air in 1928, and it grew into the Lyndhurst Radio Station, with transmitters carrying the programming of VLR, VLG, VLH and Radio Australia.

Thus we see the following list of nine experimental radio broadcasting stations on shortwave in Australia during this early era of 14 years, running from July 1925 to the first weekend in September 1939:-

- Two projected shortwave stations that were never erected, 2KY in Sydney and 5CL in Adelaide.

- Three amateur radio stations that were used by the chief engineer in each case to relay the programming from the local broadcasting station to a larger audience:

6WF-6AG in Perth, Western Australia

2BL-2YG in Sydney, New South Wales

3UZ-3LG in Melbourne, Victoria

- Three stations operated by the semi-government organization, AWA:

VK2ME Pennant Hills, Sydney, New South Wales

VK3ME Braybrook and Ballan, Melbourne, Victoria

VK6ME Applecross, Perth, Western Australia

- One PMG-ABC shortwave station:

Welcome to my first Listener's Notebook. First, thanks to all who contributed material. For those of you new to NASWA (or those with short memories), I have served as an editor for several Journal columns off and on since the early 1970s, including Shortwave Center for a number of years. I moved to New Hampshire in 2006 from Kansas and tried to retire here. My XYL and I purchased our "retirement home" on a hill with a view of mountains extending over 30 miles north to south. However, I returned to Kansas for three more years of work, commuting as frequently as I could to New Hampshire. Since my quarters in Kansas were radio-dead and my visits home too short, I have not been able to listen to shortwave much since the beginning of 2008. I retired for good earlier this year and have been getting my shack back in shape. Anyway, I volunteered to edit a column in the Journal once again and so here I am. The continued success of LN will depend on your contributions, so please help me by contributing.

AFGHANISTAN Dr. Sayed Makhdoom Raheen, Minister of Information and Culture, inaugurated the foreign section of Radio Afghanistan yesterday. This section in the first place will air programs in English and Urdu languages each night from 1530-1630. Opening the section, Dr. Raheen said that this section has been revived with the efforts of the Director General and employees of Radio Afghanistan. English and Urdu programs will be followed by Arabic and Russian programs and subsequently, by French and German programs. According to Dr. Raheen, revival of this program will assist in recognition of Afghanistan by its outside friends and will inform them about our country's events. Abdul Ghani Mudaqaq, head of the publications department of Radio Afghanistan, said that this program will cover Asia, Africa, and Europe. (Bakhtar News Agency via DXplorer), Radio Afghanistan was heard in Europe on 6100 at 1527-1607 on July 31 with local singing, then English news at 1530, an Afghan traditional song, talk about Ramadan and one western pop song. The tentative ID at 1556 was "The International

Service of National Radio of Afghanistan". At 1600, music and the Urdu service. Poor at the beginning, then fair and almost good after 1600. Korea was heard in the background and CRI was on 6095 until 1557. (Mikhail Timofeyev, Media Network blog and WDXC Contact)

Others in Europe have reported hearing Afghanistan. Please note that Afghanistan local time is UT+4hrs30min.

ANGUILLA Caribbean Beacon was back on the air on 6090 at 0442 on August 14 with dead Gene Scott after missing about 3 weeks for antenna repairs. Also heard at 1236 on 11775. Gone again, however, on August 16 at 0548 check and also not there on 11775 at 1341. (Glenn Hauser, OK, DX Listening Digest)

ARGENTINA 15344.13, RAE, 2335-2356*, August 17, local ballads, Spanish talk, ID at 2345. Weak but readable // 6099.99 weak, poor with adjacent channel splatter. (Alexander-PA)

AUSTRALIA 2310, 2325, 2485, 1142 August 9, detected carriers from the VL8s just 2 minutes before local sunrise thanks to lowered noise level in power outage. No 2368.5. (Glenn Hauser, OK, DX Listening Digest)

5995, Radio Australia (Brandon), 0921-0927, August 18. Tok Pisin, pops, talk by man at 0924 with ID and some English by a second man. Another ID by woman and announcement at 0926 followed by more music. Good signal with little fading. (Evans-TN)

BAHRAIN 9745, Radio Bahrain (Abu Hayan) presumed, 0250-0300, August 13, Arabic, Koran recitation by man or speech resembling such. Very poor signal fading down into noise most of the time with just enough high side interference from the BBC starting at 0300 to make further reception impossible. (Evans, TN)

BOLIVIA 3309.98, Radio Mosoj Chaski, Cochabamba, 0950, August 19. Strong signal. (Wilkner, FL)

- 4699.97, R. San Miguel Riberalta SS, (time?), August 8, Male announcer with music and talk, poor to fair. (Barbour-NH)
- 4716.6, Radio Yura, Yura, 0050, August 20. Noted with music. (Wilkner-FL)
- 5952.47, Radio Pio Doce, 0005-0122, August 21. Spanish talk and ID; nice Bolivian music. Fair but must use ECSS-LSB to avoid Radio Republica and jammer on high side. (Alexander-PA)
- 6134.79 Radio Santa Cruz, 0022-0108*, August 17, Spanish ballads and announcements. Closing announcements at 0105 and sign off with Santa Cruz song at 0106. Weak and poor in noisy conditions (Alexander, PA)
- 6134.8 Radio Santa Cruz and others heard at 1039 on August 10 with quite a heterodyne with something on 6135. The first words I made out are in Portuguese, so presumed R. Aparecida clashing with R. Santa Cruz on the off-frequency. But the other station with music on 6125 goes off at 1041* unlike a Brazilian. After 1041, Santa Cruz heard with a Spanish/? Language lesson to 1047 followed by ID and music. (Glenn Hauser, OK, DX Listening Digest)
- BRAZIL 4915.02, CBN Anhanguera, 0951-1005, August 5, Vocal mx that seemed religious, possible ID at 0958 (heard Anhanguera), then more music. Started fading after 1005. One of the 2 or 3 best 60 m signals this morning, but QRN prevented much readability. (Wilkins-CO)
- 6010.00, Radio Inconfidência, 0135-0200, August 17, local ballads, Portuguese talk. Weak. Poor with QRM from a tentative LV de Tu Conciencia on 6009.85. Inconfidência with a very weak // 15189.98. (Alexander-PA)
- 6079.9, tentative R. Daqui Goiania, 0056-0105, August 9, Male announcer in Portuguese with music and talk. Tentative ID announcement and jingle at 0100 followed by ad string and more music. Poor with much 6090 splash until 0100. (Barbour-NH)
- 6089.95, Radio Bandeirantes, 2320-2325, August 20. Portuguese talk. Poor to fair but covered by Anguilla 6090 at their 2325 sign on. //9645.37-fair to good, //11925.22-very weak. (Alexander-PA)

- CHINA 4940, VO the Strait, 1150, August 9. Fair signal with a song in Chinese, the best signal from Asia during local power outage. (Glenn Hauser, OK, DX Listening Digest)
- 9000, Chinese numbers station, 1148++ and 1341++, August 18. Long strings of tonal syllables; seemed to be spliced together with different persons reading the numbers. This is a former Sound of Hope frequency. MP3 audio posted at <<http://www.box.net/shared/vuz3sn373be28oeg6289>>. Keith Perron, Taiwan, provided a detailed analysis of my audio. "This is not the Taiwan number station (called New Star Broadcasting) . . . The station is operated by the Chinese Navy and is very active during military exercises. Its in no way a spy station ...The reason it sounds the way it does is because of the old technology being used to generate the numbers. Back in the 70s, Taiwan's number station sounded the same until there was an equipment upgrade in the late 70s or early 80s... The reason I suspect China would use a frequency used by Sound of Hope is just to interfere with them. So, in short just another form of jamming". (Ron Howard-CA)

15125, Radio Canada International via Urumqi, 1519, August 11. "The Link" in English with item on electric cars. Good. (Sellers-BC)

11665, Firedrake, 0959, August 12. Rather strange use of FD. I was listening to Wai FM with decent reception till China carrier came on about 0959; heard FD for only about 45 seconds; was used as filler till the top of the hour when the normal CNR1 echo jamming started vs. RTI. <http://www.box.net/shared/spkggjxev7vf5jog1ao4> has MP3 audio. (Ron Howard-Ocean Beach, CA)

GERMANY Deutsche Welle is encouraging all listeners to answer a survey to help make their service better using the link <http://www.dw-world.de/dw/0,,4865,00.html> and clicking on "Start the survey now". The one sad thing is if you want to tell them how you plan to listen to them in the future, you cannot choose shortwave radio. You have to choose "Other" and type in shortwave radio. (Mark Coady-ON)

6189.92, Deutschlandfunk, Berlin-Britz, 2322-2334, August 7. German; woman announcer at time in; mx at 2324; male announcer at bottom of the hour into classical mx. Poor but improving. (Barbour-NH)

INDONESIA 3344.97, RRI Ternate, 1246, July 31. Checking on the DXLD report by Walt Salmaniw of a program in English; was preempted by Ramadan programming; I assume Walt's show must be the ex-Thursday program that was heard back in April and May from 1300-1400 as it sounds like the same type of programming. had on air phone calls. We may have to wait till after Ramadan to hear it again. (Ron Howard-Pacific Grove/Asilomar Beach, CA)

PAPUA/NEW GUINEA 3915, Radio Fly QSL cards and repair of the 3915 kHz transmitter. Ron Howard-CA reports that Michael Milse is no longer team leader for Radio Fly. The following was received from James Kaltobie (James.Kalltobie@oktedi.com) to whom future communications should be directed.

Dated August 7, 2011

Dear All:

Radio Fly appreciates the feedback the station has received from listeners like you from all around the world. Radio Fly transmits through both FM and shortwave frequencies for listeners in the Western Province of Papua New Guinea. The operation of the station is fully funded and maintained by Ok Tedi Mining Limited, a copper-gold producer based in Western Province.

The station was initially established to serve the communities in the Western Province of Papua New Guinea to cover the vast area of the province and Radio Fly did not anticipate reports from people like you who have extensive knowledge in short-wave radio transmission and thus apologises for the delay in sending you the QSL cards.

Once again, Radio Fly appreciates your feedback and wishes you all the best. I just took on the responsibility from another former staff who left the station - to get the Verification Cards printed and sent to you. As of this e-mail, you should be expecting a card in the next one or two weeks.

Once again, Radio Fly team sincerely apologises for the delay and inconvenience our team may have cost you.

Yours Sincerely, James Kaltobie, Senior Broadcast Journalist, Radio Fly, Ok Tedi Mining Limited, P. O. Box 1, Tabubil, Western Province, Papua New Guinea.

UNITED KINGDOM BBC, August 18. Rampisham transmitter site to close by Christmas. BECTU members at the Rampisham transmitter site in Dorset run by Babcock Engineering were shocked to learn yesterday (17 August) of plans to close the facility by Christmas with the loss of 19 jobs.

Staff across the UK had been expecting bad news after the decision by BBC World Service in January this year to sharply reduce the number of hours of shortwave broadcasting and to end it altogether by 2014. Despite this advance warning, yesterday's announcement still came as a shock. The company also plans to close three posts at the Wooferton site in Shropshire with four at Orford Ness in Suffolk also at risk of closure.

An initial meeting between BECTU representatives and management took place yesterday; the consultation period is due to end on 19 September.

Assistant general secretary Luke Crawley said: "The loss of 19 jobs at Rampisham and seven elsewhere in the network will come as a terrible blow to our members. We have already pressed the management to do everything they can do to minimise the impact including offering redeployment and retraining where appropriate. Transmission members will note with regret that this announcement will also end seventy years of shortwave broadcasting from Rampisham."

BECTU has strongly criticised the coalition government for pushing through a 16 percent cut in the grant provided to the World Service from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO). This was considerably higher than the 10 percent cut in the FCO budget for other areas. It was this disproportionate reduction which let the BBC to decide to reduce shortwave broadcasts immediately and end them by 2014.

BECTU's campaign against the unfair settlement included giving evidence to the Foreign Affairs

Select Committee in Parliament. The highly critical report which followed led to some funds being restored to the World Service. However, the representations did not persuade the BBC to change its mind about ending shortwave transmission despite the fact that listeners to shortwave make up half of the World Service audience. (Bolding per ye ed)

Dear Richard A. D'Angelo,

Thanks for your very detailed and useful report on our broadcast. We provide the "Your World Your Way" and "Cheetah Power" broadcasts as a service to the global community on the subjects of Project Management, Accelerated Learning, Education, Energy Independence.

Information on Your World Your Way can be found at:

<http://www.cheetahradio.com/>

For information on Cheetah Power please see:

<http://www.cheetahpower.net/>

Michelle LaBrosse is the driving force behind both programs and here is a small biography on her.

"Michelle LaBrosse, PMP, is the founder of Cheetah Learning, and author of Cheetah Negotiations, Cheetah Project Management, Cheetah Know How and Spiritual Money. In October 2008, The Project Management Institute (PMI), recognized Cheetah as the Professional Development Provider of the Year. Previously, PMI selected Michelle as one of the 25 Most Influential Women in Project Management in the World, and only one of two women selected from the training and education industry for this award. She is a graduate of the Harvard Business School's Owner President Managers (OPM) program and also holds aerospace engineering degrees from Syracuse University and the University of Dayton. Cheetah Learning is a virtual company and has 100 employees, contractors, and licensees worldwide."

Again, thank you for your report on the broadcasts and we hope that you keep listening. Further, you can also listen to both programs in North/South America via shortwave on WRFM at 9955kHz. Please see <http://www.wrfm.net/> for times, world regions and for any changes to the broadcast. Also, expect a QSL card via postal mail in the next few weeks.

FLORIDA WEST CENTRAL BROADCAST

These alligators most likely will be found only in Florida inland lakes and swamps, but it is not unusual for them to be found in residential areas. They will live in small lakes and ponds. They have been known to sometimes wade onto a back yard and join a pool festively. Needless to say it isn't long before Mr. Gator has the pool all to himself just to sun and relax. Also, 4915 Brazilian blaring in 0922-0940, beautiful signal, best in band, OM PP ancmnts interspersed with guitar+xylo music (cranked up and down by ancr). Tone jammer stops at 0530: During the 0529 minute, singing IDs and kHz announcements. At 0530 compared 13620 and 13730: now they are only an echo apart from the two German sites (Hauser-OK) Also heard 0525 no tone-jamming for a change; after jingle ID, off at 0527:30* leaving only weak carrier and no modulation audible from next site, Nauen, Germany 7/24 (Hauser-OK)
