Many New Low Power FM Stations On The Air, But There are Several Unbuilt Construction Permits

After a rather inauspicious start, and much political opposition, low power FM radio is now a reality in the United States. Canada, too, has its version of low power FM. There, stations may be granted a provisional license, which is good for up to five years. After that time, a permanent license must be applied for. Low power FM stations in the United States can have up to 100 watts (vertical and horizontal, or any combination of polarizations) up to 30 meters above average terrain. Now there are efforts to give low power FM greater flexibility, including upping the length of time to build from 18 months to three years. Multiple ownership of more than one LPFM station by the same company or group is also being considered.

Another proposal would be to allow the sale of low power FM stations. I suppose the same criteria would apply to a station which is bought by a new owner, such as a strong local presence of the institution taking over the station, and for continued noncommercial operation. Such stations would be given primary (not secondary) status. This means a low power FM station couldn't be bumped by a translator. Recall that translators are devices that rebroadcast a more distant station because of terrain problems, or in the case of noncommercial stations, they can be "satellators." Satellators can only relay the signals of noncommercial, educational stations in the 88 to 92 MHz part of the dial. A proposal by Calvary Chapel of Twin Falls ID (the KAWZ-KEFX people) would allow satellators in the commercial part of the dial, 92.1-107.9. The Calvary group claims this would have little impact on existing stations in the spectrum. National Public Radio generally supported that view, but proposes that coverage distance limitations be set for satellator operations.

The potential for translators to clutter the dial is very high. The FCC granted over 1000 such permits in mid-to-late 2004, and all are listed in this edition, both on the maps and in the Station Directory by geography. In some cities, such as Rifle and Grand Junction CO, there are as many as three translators for the same primary station. Such redundancy may be shaken loose as the actual stations sign on the air. Other apparent redundancies might have to do with serving different parts of a city, or with antenna beams going in different directions from the same transmitter site.

Sen. John McCain (R-AZ) introduced "The Local Radio Community Act" that might allow for more low power FM. It has a chance to succeed, because of concerns of indecency on the part of full-power stations. This stands in opposition to the groups that originally hated LPFM—the National Association of Broadcasters, National Public Radio, the International Association of Audio Information Services (an FM/SCS radio reading organization) and National Religious Broadcasters. The latter group has mellowed, welcome LPFM stations as members. Indeed, many low power stations are religious. I helped groups in North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin process FCC applications.

The politically liberal National Federation of Community Broadcasters supported low power FM, and has hired a staff member to work with new LPFM stations and to mentor those already on the air. NFCB member stations vary from WBAI *99.5 New York NY, WPFW *89.3 Washington DC, KPFK *90.7 Los Angeles, KPFT *90.1 Houston, KAXE *91.7 Grand Rapids MN to little KOTO *91.7 Telluride CO.

Many of the low power FM stations utilize a national satellite service for most of their programming, which is legal according to FCC rules. However, several of those stations plan to add local programming, while others are entirely programmed locally. Such service can mean music and dramatic production, along with a people to sell underwriting announcements to businesses, to stations run automatically from a computer hard drive. They vary from religious, to public safety, to community-oriented, and often play music not normally heard on commercial or public radio.

Just Because It's Digital Doesn't Mean The Sound Is Better Than Analog FM

The U.S. Federal Communications Commission has approved "in-band, on-channel" digital audio broadcasting. Stations can convert to this technology without getting a special FCC license, but must later notify the FCC that they have done so. Digital audio broadcasting, hyped by the industry as "HD Radio," allows several purported advantages on an "in-band/on channel" basis. The digital signal occurs as sidebands around the main analog FM signal, and can even coexist with FM sub-carriers centered at 57, 67 or 92 kHz on the FM radio channel.

It also provides for a station to offer "multicasting," which is a new word to describe DAB's ability to send out one or two programs besides the main digital FM station. DAB also allows freedom from multipath interference.

Proponents of "HD Radio" like the fact that stations can devote any part of their audio stream to serving the public, or for their own private data services. Much like FM subcarriers have been utilized to provide music, talk or data to special audiences and places, so can digital audio broadcasting. DAB's ancillary mode can be configured to allow for a high quality audio stream, possibly at the expense of a higher quality main channel stereo signal. Radio reading services for the blind are concerned that DAB provide for their future needs, including the ability to broadcast a clearer signal to blind people. This signal might become free of problems like crosstalk from the main station getting into the subcarrier, restricted signal coverage areas, and what they perceive as piracy—people who are not "authorized" tuning in.

Writer Michael Fremer does the "Analog Corner" in Stereophile. He said "digital" is a "highly compressed radio format." Claiming "digital" offers "compact-disc quality" can be deceptive. It's deliberately misleading, something like saying frozen food is "fresh food-like."

The major objection many have to "HD Radio" is that it takes up too much channel space. The analog audio of an FM station fits into a 200-kHz wide frequency band. This even allows for SCSubcarriers to fit in, at plus or minus 67 or 92 kHz away from the center of the FM channel. However, the digital signal must occupy an area way to either side of the main FM audio. Thus, in a real-world example, WWMX Baltimore MD is found at 106.5 mhz. It normally is heard beyond Washington DC, up to a distance of about 93 km on a car radio. That despite the fact that WJFK-FM Manassas VA-Washington DC is on 106.7. However, when WJFK-FM was testing a digital signal, it created interference on 106.5 and 106.9. This interference limited WWMX to only a 40 km outreach in the direction of Washington. Digital radio is designed to also benefit AM (530-1710 kHz), but at present can only be used during daylight hours. There was concern when WOR 710 AM New York was testing in digital; stations on 690 through 730 kHz were disrupted. A Chicago radio engineer was concerned about signal usurpation when WPWX 92.3 Hammond IN tested digital. Much of the lower FM band was wiped out, at least in locations close to the WPWX transmitter.

Canada has an entirely separate digital audio broadcasting system from the United States. It uses the so-called L-Band, 1452-1492 mhz. England uses Band III, around 221 mhz. You can read about my reactions to Canada's system in the 16th edition FM Atlas, p. 5. While several stations are on the air with digital programs in major population areas of Canada, including Windsor (where Detroit residents with the proper radios could tune in), there are few receivers. Finally, portable DAB receivers for use in Canada have shown up. The RadioShack Canada catalogue shows (or showed) models like the 12008101 at $299.99 Canadian, a pocket-size DAB/FM receiver, 4-line LCD display, earbuds, using 2 AA cells; or for $399.99 Canadian a pocket-size receiver with MP3 player, etc. But "you wouldn't notice these items by casually browsing the catalog or even looking them up in the index. There is nothing in the caption to suggest they are DAB radios—you have to read the full description."

Beware, buying a new car if it offers "HD Radio." The stations you receive may come in clearer, but you will probably hear fewer of them. Like the experiment in Baltimore-Washington pointed out, the "HD Radio" stations will squat on channels either side of their frequency shown in this book. Using an "HD" type radio, you would most likely be powerless to force it into analog mode, requiring you to listen to a otherwise. Small community, religious or out-of-town signals might become inaudible. Rather than opting for a new car or a radio with "HD" features, it might be better to stick with the old, and enjoy analog FM as far as the signal will take you, or as long as your creaky automobile will last.

A promising technology utilizes subcarrier, and known as RDS, or Radio Data Services. Centered at 57 kHz on the FM station carrier, it permits display of station call letters, slogan, and songs being played. Often, the display alternates between station slogans and the musics.

Sirius and XM Radio offer about 100 audio services direct to automobiles, charging a monthly fee, plus costs of equipment and installation. Those are all right if you are a fan of a particular type of music, sports or talk, but they are not radio.

That despite the fact that former radio hosts "Cousin" Bruce Morrow, Opie & Anthony, Bob Edwards, who used to be on National Public Radio, and Howard Stern are migrating or have migrated to satellite, either Sirius or XM. Listeners generally like the quality audio, if not its compressed nature, and the fact that the satellites over coverage over much of North America. The coverage area even includes Mexico, down to the north edge of Mexico City, and much of Canada. Only now are deals being negotiated to allow for legal use of XM, Sirius and similar services in those countries. Several Canadian broadcasters expect to be on satellite, and are forming their own consortium to make this possible.

The FM Atlas is a good guide to showing FM radio stations with your favorite type of programming, or music that only certain, esoteric stations send out. Too, there is variety on FM that even the satellite services do not yet provide. I speak of marching band music, polka music, goth, various ethnic formats and other genres not yet known to the satellite, but heard on free over-the-air FM. Added to these is the following.

Reggaeton: A Promising New Format in FM

A brand-new format, which came about even after criticism of media consolidation and charges that radio has too much "sameness" from one station to another, is reggaeton. One of the recording artists is the Panamanian El General. I spoke to Glenda, a Panama immigrant working at a local Hardees. She said it is pronounced "reg-GAY-a-tone," and includes hip hop, Latin tropical, calypso and Brazilian. Stations carrying the format are expected to grow, but as of this writing include KXOL-FM 96.3 Los Angeles, WVIV-FM 103.1 Highland Park, WVIX 93.5 Joliet, both IL. Also, 333WCAA 105.9 Newark NJ-WZAA 92.7 Garden City NY. Sunday night at 8 Eastern on WQHT, "Hot 97," 97.1 is a regular weekly reggaeton program.

While satellite systems provide wide coverage areas, they are restricted in major cities having tall buildings and tunnels. The National Association of Broadcasters is quite properly concerned about the satellite services' plans to have powerful "gap fillers" in major cities. They're afraid such relayers will play their own commercials, have weather and traffic reports—things local radio has heretofore been the exclusive purveyor. I've criticism that the announcers on the satellite services are as annoying to listen to as they are on FM!

Update on New York's WFUV and Its Tower

Problems With the Conservatory: Accord Reached

Recall from the last three editions of the FM Atlas that the New York Botanical Garden had protested as unsightly the 45 story-tall tower WFUV *90.7 wanted to build on the Fordham University campus in Bronx. The tower, across the street from the Garden, is scheduled to be removed, and probably has been by the time you read this. It cost the station $1 million. Instead of building next to the Garden, it will put up a new, more slender-styled antenna on top of a residential building much farther away. The university would share the cost of the $2 to $3 million project, along with the botanical garden and Montefiore Medical Center, which owns the building, where the 44 m tower would be built, in the Norwood section of Bronx. Someone said "the new structure is going to be an antenna mast. It's going to look more like a Slim Jim than that steel Praying Mantis that's up now."

With the new antenna, WFUV should reach about 13 million people in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, compared to the 6.8 million it reached in the five boroughs before. Credit was given to Fordham's new president Joseph McShane, "who extended the olive branch to the Garden," and to Montefiore President Spencer Foreman, who was instrumental in offering the new location.

WFUV's new parameters call for it to have an effective radiated power of 45800 watts at 155 meters above average terrain with a directional antenna. WFUV-2 *90.7 New York is an on-channel booster with 600 watts horizontal and vertical with a directional antenna, serving parts of Manhattan in a narrow beam that has been opposed by some neighboring stations on *90.3 and *91.1.

Other Forms of FM DX Helped by the FM Atlas; Its Use as a Travel Aid Identified

Long-distance FM reception, or the hobby of listening for such receptions, is known as DX, or "distance." It includes enhanced regular-range, or tropospheric reception, FM Skip, and meteor scatter. FM skip reception reaches out to distances a little greater than for meteor scatter, or 2000 km or greater, and occurring most often during late spring to early summer in the daytime. Such signals may last up to an hour, an entire afternoon or evening, and are generally quite strong. It helps to have a selective receiver or tuner, and to use the FM Atlas to explore parts of the dial where the signals might be coming from. Near the back of this book is space to note stations you may have received this way, or you might want to create your own typed or computerized log. Occurring closer to your home is "tropospheric ducting," an enhancement of stations up to 500 km, and interesting in themselves to DX. Occasionally, DX is possible as you drive, using an ordinary FM car radio.

Those interested in listening for long-distance FM reception, or FM-DX, are invited to join the nonprofit Worldwide TV-FM DX Association. Dues are $24/year U.S., $26/year Canadian, $10/year electronic (only) version, $35/year elsewhere. Students can get the paper version at $15 a year. Sample copies of the monthly VHF-UHF Digest" are $4 from PO Box 501, Somersville CT 06072-0501, e-mail <mbugaj@snet.net>.

Computerized Maps Reduce Clutter?

Map improvements have, hopefully, come about, as I become more familiar with the computer and saving data in a tagged image format (TIF). Most of the typing has been redone, for sharper, crisper images, but the growth of stations has made it difficult to present the material clearly and without clutter. Just look at the Michigan map, p. 48, to see how I handled Flint! After a little more than two years, it's time for a new FM Atlas; maybe we can get back to annual editions, now that the map making process and updatings are done of the computer.

FMedia!* Helps Update this *FM Atlas!

It's a newsletter of fact and opinion on FM radio, and a great resource for updating this FM Atlas. A monthly, it lists new stations, format and call letters' changes, plus news of technology and industry developments. There is an order form at the end of this book, which can be clipped out or copied.

Updated Information Always Wanted

Thanks to all who have contributed information on the FM stations of their areas, as well as to a person who does not want to be known who has carefully analyzed the latest Industry Canada information on a regular basis. Responsibility for any errors, however, is strictly mine. Without the help of these volunteers the book would not be as complete or error-free as it is. Because some don't want their names used, and the danger I might omit some names, I won't attempt to mention all of the people who have helped. We have an agreement with the M Street Corporation for sharing of data. Its M Street Journal is an Internet publication, and valuable for industry news, format updatings and other information. Visit <http://www.mstreetjournal.com/>. As you become aware of station changes in your area (such as new formats, stations embracing stereo or an FM subcarrier) be sure to write or e-mail. This edition FM Atlas printed by Patterson Printing, Benton Harbor MI. Cover design, since the 13th edition, 1990, by Ted Goff Illustration, Oakland CA.

KEY TO SYMBOLS

- d A station with a directional antenna, listed after height, by-frequency section.
- h A station with a horizontal-only signal
- † An FM translator or on-channel FM booster
- v A station with a vertical-only signal. Stations without a "v" or "h" in the by-frequency part of the book have both polarizations or circular polarization.
- * A noncommercial, educational, "public" or religious station
- $ A station with all or part of its weekly schedule in FM stereo
- † A station with a subsidiary communications service (SCS or in Canada SCMO). If †() it's 57 kHz data, if by itself [†] 67 kHz; if following a comma [† ,] 92 kHz.
- § A station sharing time with a nearby station on the same channel; shown on maps.
- A station with its antenna below the average surrounding terrain

Program (music) codes (in part I of the Station Directory after city): b beautiful/easy listening, c classical/fine arts, e ethnic, f folk, g gospel and religious, j jazz, k country (all types, including stations playing polkas), l Latin/Spanish, m middle of the road (big bands, nostalgia, standards), n news, o rock oldies, p progressive rock, r rock (CHR, rock hits, top 40 or hybrid formats), s soul/urban, t talk. Up to two letters are used for stations having two or more types of music (including "op" for classic rock, "rm" for adult contemporary). Language codes (just to the left of the program codes in Part I of the Station Directory): E English (for stations in Quebec and Latin America), F French, P Portuguese, S Spanish.

SCSymbols (following † in Part I of the Station Directory): A ABC networks, B relays of other networks, C relays of AM, FM stations, cable audio or campus carrier current stations, E ethnic (general), F farm (voice), G gospel, H Haitian French, I Iranian, India languages, Islamic/Arabic, J Japanese, K Korean, L Latino or Portuguese, M music (easy listening), O other Oriental languages, such as Chinese and Tagalog, P paging (voice; occasional audio), Q European languages (such as Greek, Russian, Italian), R music (foreground/light rock), S sports and special events (occasional audio), T talk (usually talking book for the blind), U tones, telemetry chirps or warbles—listed if on all the time, V Vietnamese, W weather, like NOAA relaying, X medium speed data, Z high speed data; () Radio Data System (RDS), tones-type paging or other low-speed datas at 57 kHz. [Texas and later listings omit the † symbol to save space in the Microsoft Works format.]

Part I: Geographic Directory Example

Raleigh (NC) r 101.5 WRAL $ 89 †M,R. Explanation: WRAL at 101.5 mhz in Raleigh has a rock format in stereo. It gets out 89 km with a primary signal, and it has a music subcarrier at 67 kHz and a light rock SCS at 92 kHz.

Part II: By-Frequency Directory Example (94.5 mhz, Channel 233)

AZ Phoenix Kool 94.5 KOOL $ 503 100000
AR Barling-Fort Smith KOLX $ 82 18500. Explanation: KOOL Phoenix AZ uses "Kool 94.5" as a nonID, is $[tereo], 503 m above average terrain, and 100 kw horizontal and vertical. KOLX Barling AR IDs with Fort Smith, $[tereo] , " is 82 m, 18500 watts h & v (or circular) polarization.

FM Translators, Boosters, Low Power FM Stations—follow each state

Translators operate on a different frequency from the primary station, helping give FM service where distance or terrain make direct reception difficult. Translators are limited to 250 watts, with some having only one or 10 watts. FM boosters operate on the same frequency as the primary station, with up to 20 percent of the power of the primary station. LPFM stations can have up to 100 watts (h, v, or horizontal and vertical) effective radiated power at up to 30 meters above average terrain. In the lists which follow, city, frequency and call number of the translator are followed by call letters and frequency of the primary. Boosters are identified by call letters of the primary followed by a numeral (such as CA's KKBE-1 105.5), and their radiated power.

CANADA

Canada coverage note: Coverages are indicated only for stations where the effective antenna height above average terrain in meters is known. The powers of virtually all Canada stations can be checked in Part II of the Station Directory. Rebroadcasters are listed with their correct call numbers (such as VF2171) in the Directories, but the maps show the station relayed, if that station is known.

Mexico coverage note: Coverages in kilometers are calculated for stations where antenna heights above average terrain are known; otherwise, only the effective radiated powers in watts are given; $ is stereo; h=horizontal effective radiated power in watts; v=vertical polarization; heights given are in meters above average terrain. SC Services (t) follow the stations music formats.

STATION DIRECTORY

Part II: FM stations listed by frequency, United States and Canada (excluding U.S. territories). Stations identifying with more than one city are listed, as are those using a short phrase ("nonID") in lieu of call letters during much of their programming. Selected station logos ("FMiscellaneous") are included on a space available basis. See Key to Symbols Page 8.

Other Selected Radio Station References

FM Atlas readers occasionally ask who publishes an AM Atlas, a TV list, or other specialized information. Here's a selected bibliography.

Broadcasting and Cable Yearbook, the "bible" of the industry, with its programming; technical and personnel data for FM-AM plus TV. Lists consultants, engineers, attorneys, FCC rules and personnel. The 2004-2005 edition is $199.95 plus $16 shipping. A 2006 edition is expected in November, 2005, at the same price plus shipping, from R.R. Bowker, 630 Central Ave., New Providence NJ 07974-1506; 1-800-621-8110, then press "1."

The Radio Book (formerly the M Street Radio Directory), 2005-2006 (20th) edition $84.95 plus $8 S & H. from "M Street," 81 Main St., Littleton NH 03561-4018; 1-800-248-4242, nearly 900 pages. Lists FM-AM stations, facilities, has an alphabetical listing of station call letters, addresses, phone numbers and selected personnel, "The ultimate radio station resource." Nineteenth edition $19.95 plus shipping, while still available.

National Radio Club AM station logbook, 26th edition, 2005, $25.95. AM station pattern book expected Sept., 2005, including day/night directional patterns, graveyard channels, price to be announced, NRC, P.O. Box 164, Mannsville NY 13661-0164. [The former AM station map book has been discontinued.]

Publications of the Worldwide TV-DX Association: WTFDA TV Station Guide, 2005 edition, lists TV stations by channel, giving network affiliation, offset frequencies and more. Send $25 payable to "WTFDA," % John Ebeling, 9209 Vincent Ave., South, Bloomington MN 55431-2157. Paypal orders to mbugaj@snet.net. WTFDA Mexican FM Radio Directory.
