Low Power FM Shows Possibility of Growth, Especially in Major Markets

Bills to permit low power FM stations to exist closer on the dial to full power stations have gained speed, with opposition to their implementation largely dying out. Both Republicans and Democrats are poised to give this medium a chance to develop, especially in larger cities, where station spacings are much more restrictive. Low power stations have up to 100 watts, and a general primary coverage of 6 km. Canada, too, has its version of low power FM. There, stations may be granted a provisional license, which is good for up to five years. After that time, a permanent license must be applied for. Now, in the U.S., there are efforts to give low power FM greater flexibility, including upping the length of time to build from 18 months to three years.

Another interesting medium in FM is translators, lower power devices used to give local-like sound quality to stations separated by distance, terrain, or multipath interference. Now, some translators are being allowed to broadcast AM stations on FM. This can bring the programming of FM and the benefits of quality sound, even stereo, to the newer band for stations that had interference problems or a rather poor signal on the AM band. Another type of translator, used by some noncommercial stations, is the "satellator." Satellators can only relay the signals of noncommercial, educational stations in the 88 to 92 mHz part of the dial. Satellators and other translators often conflict with low power FM, with LPFM advocates proposing that satellators be done away with, preserving the original idea that translators should be a more local service to help overcome reception problems, with relaying of AM stations on FM continue.

The potential for translators, low power FM, satellators and boosters, which operated on the same channel as the main station as a fill-in service is very high. Some booster stations have up to 20 kw. That's 20,000 watts! As translators are sold or have facilities changes, this edition tries to track the primary stations. This is very time consuming, and help from readers who note what station is being relayed on which translator is appreciated. Sometimes two translators in the same city are listed with the same primary station; some of those have to do with stations serving different parts of a city, or with antenna beams going in different directions from the same transmitter site.

Sen. John McCain (R-AZ) has been a long-time fan of LPFM. He introduced "The Local Radio Community Act," which might allow for more low power FM, as noted above. Indeed, many low power stations are religious. I helped groups in North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin process FCC applications, with the most recent being a Minnesota high school.

Many of the low power FM stations utilize a national satellite service for most of their programming, which is legal according to FCC rules. However, several of those stations have added local programming. Such service can mean music and dramatic production, along with people to sell underwriting announcements to businesses. They vary from religious, to public safety, to community-oriented, and often play music not normally heard on commercial radio.

It's Not Yet a Battle, But Digital May be Creeping Up on Analog FM.

In the United States and Canada are stations, marked H) for broadcasting "in band/on channel" digital audio broadcasting. Stations can convert to this technology without getting a special FCC license. They can have up to three HD programs. HD1 is always the same as the main channel, HD2 is usually a special stereo program, like a Minneapolis rock station that has jazz on its HD2. HD3 is a monophonic signal, such as the NOAA relay found on a Fargo ND station. Digital audio broadcasting, hyped by the industry as "HD Radio," allows several purported advantages, such as freedom from multipath interference, and the ability to have the two extra audio channels. This book shows all the known stations with an HD, but does not mention if a station has more than the HD1 signal. This information is in a state of flux, and knowledge of the technology by the public is rather low, despite on-air promotion by stations, the iBiquity Corporation and the National Association of Broadcasters. The digital signal occurs as sidebands around the main analog FM signal, and can even coexist with subcarriers centered at 57, 67 or 92 kHz on the FM radio channel.

Digital audio broadcasting has been done at about 4 percent of the main station's signal. That is about to change, as the FCC has allowed stations to up that ratio to 10 percent, or close in coverage to what FM subcarriers provide. Not all HD stations are expected to convert to the higher power, and some may be precluded from doing this because of interference to nearby stations on adjacent channels. The low power of HD has been a hindrance to its adoption by some broadcasters, plus the cost of installing equipment, usually in the $100,000 plus range, and the comparatively scarcity of receivers. Still, in major cities, more stations have HD, as well as the 57 kHz RDS signal, than in smaller towns.

Proponents of "HD Radio" like the fact that stations can devote any part of their audio stream to serving the public, or for their own private data services. Much like FM subcarriers have been utilized to provide music, talk or data to special audiences and places, so can digital audio broadcasting. DAB's ancillary mode can be configured to allow for a high quality audio stream, possibly at the expense of a higher quality main channel stereo signal. Radio reading services for the blind are concerned that DAB provide for their future needs. They like the concept of "addressability," meaning that radios that get their programs are only in the hands of "authorized users." This may be because of a mandate that the whole spectrum of the printed word be available to the print handicapped, including broadcast of the naughty words.

The major objection many have to "HD Radio" is that it takes up too much channel space. The analog audio of an FM station fits into a 200-kHz wide frequency band. This even allows for SCSubcarriers to fit in, at plus or minus 67 or 92 kHz away from the center of the FM channel. However, the digital signal must occupy an area way to either side of the main FM audio. Thus, in a real-world example, WWMX Baltimore MD is found at 106.5 mz. It normally is heard beyond Washington DC, up to a distance of about 90 km on a car radio. That despite the fact that WJFK Manassas VA-Washington DC is on 106.7. However, when WJFK was testing a digital signal, it created interference on 106.5 and 106.9. This interference limited WWMX to only a 40 km outreach in the direction of Washington. Digital radio is designed to also benefit AM (530-1710 kHz), but many stations limit it to daylight hours, because of causing interference at night to other stations.

A Chicago broadcast engineer was concerned about signal usurpation when WPWX 92.3 Hammond IN tested digital.

Canada has an entirely separate digital audio broadcasting system from the United States, but it seems to be going nowhere. It utilized the so-called L-Band, 1452-1492 mz. The RadioShack Canada catalog listed the 12008101 at $299.99 Canadian, a pocket-size DAB/FM receiver with LCD display. It appears that Canada will very shortly join the U.S. in HD, with some stations there already listed as having H). England uses Band III, around 221 mhz. While several stations are on the air with digital programs in major population areas of Canada, including Windsor (where Detroit residents with the proper radios could tune in), there are few receivers.

Several cars now offer "HD Radio." This may be especially appealing as stations gradually increase their HD powers. Like the experiment in Baltimore-Washington pointed out, however, the "HD Radio" stations will squat on channels either side of their frequency shown in this book. Using an "HD" type radio, you would most likely be powerless to force it into analog mode, requiring you to listen to a signal that is spread onto adjacent channels, even though the radios' digital display might say otherwise. Small community, religious or out-of-town signals might become inaudible.

An increasingly utilized technology is known as RDS (radio data services), or in some parts of the world RBDS. It utilizes a subcarrier, centered at 57 kHz on the FM station channel, to permit display of station call letters, slogan, and songs being played. Often, the display alternates between station slogans and the musics.

SiriusXM Radio offer about 100 audio services direct to automobiles, charging a monthly fee, plus costs of equipment and installation. Those are all right if you are a fan of a particular type of music, sports or talk, offering almost national coverage, but often requiring small relayers in tunnels or other difficult spots in large cities, such as near tall buildings, called "gap fillers."

Howard Stern has lately been heard on SiriusXM, but there is talk he may return to terrestrial radio, where he will have to watch his language better. U.S. satellite coverage is over much of North America. The coverage area even includes Mexico, down to the north edge of Mexico City, and much of Canada. Several Canadian broadcasters are on satellite.

The FM Atlas is a good guide to showing FM radio stations with your favorite type of programming, or music that only certain, esoteric stations send out. Too, there is variety on FM that even the satellite services do not yet provide. I speak of marching band music, polka music, goth, various ethnic formats and other genres not yet known to the satellite, but heard on free over-the-air FM. Added to these is the following.

While satellite systems provide wide coverage areas, they are restricted in major cities having tall buildings and tunnels. The National Association of Broadcasters is quite properly concerned about the satellite services' plans to have powerful "gap fillers" in major cities. They're afraid such relayers will play their own commercials, have weather and traffic reports—things local radio has heretofore been the exclusive purveyor, plus there's criticism that the announcers on the satellite services are as annoying to listen to as they are on regular FM!

Upheaval in Classical FM in New York and Boston: Now it's only on Noncommercial Stations

New York's WQXR migrated from 96.3 to *105.9 in Newark NJ, and became noncommercial. The 105.9 frequency had less coverage than 96.3, with the 96.3 station now WXNY-FM, with Spanish adult contemporary. WQXR took over the former WCAA with Spanish.

In Boston, WCRB left 102.5 in favor of noncommercial operation on *99.5 in Lowell. This station had been WKLB-FM with country. When such changes occur, it often means the previous format winds up on the HD signal of another station. Several of those are in place in Boston and Pittsburgh, with KDKA (AM) heard on HD, such as on WLTJ's HD2. WLTJ is owned with KDKA Pittsburgh.

Other Forms of FM DX Helped by the FM Atlas; Its Use as a Travel Aid Identified

Long-distance FM reception, or the hobby of listening for such receptions, is known as DX, or "distance." It includes enhanced regular-range, or tropospheric reception, FM Skip, and meteor scatter. FM skip reception reaches out to distances a little greater than for meteor scatter, or 2000 km or greater, and occurring most often during late spring to early summer in the daytime. Such signals may last up to an hour, an entire afternoon or evening, and are generally quite strong. It helps to have a selective receiver or tuner, and to use the FM Atlas to explore parts of the dial where the signals might be coming from. Near the back of this book is space to note stations you may have received this way, or you might want to create your own typed or computerized log. Occurring closer to your home is "tropospheric ducting," an enhancement of stations up to 500 km, and interesting in themselves to DX. Occasionally, DX is possible as you drive, using an ordinary FM car radio.

Those interested in listening for long-distance FM reception, or FM-DX, are invited to join the nonprofit Worldwide TV-FM DX Association. Dues are $24/year U.S., $26/year Canadian, $10/year electronic (only) version, $35/year elsewhere. Sample copies of the monthly VHF-UHF Digest" are $4 from PO Box 501, Somersville CT 06072-0501, e-mail <mbugaj@snet.net>.

The monthly VHF-UHF digest often contains news of new FM stations and call letters' changes. That is information formerly contained in our FMedia! newsletter, now discontinued (unless a last-minute publisher is named).

Computerized Maps Reduce Clutter?

Map improvements have, hopefully, come about, as I become more familiar with the computer and saving data in a tagged image format (TIF). Most of the typing has been redone, for sharper, crisper images, but the growth of stations has made it difficult to present the material clearly and without clutter. After five years, it's time for a new FM Atlas; maybe we can get back to annual editions, now that the map making process and updatings are done of the computer. You may, however, have to take out a magnifying glass to see everything clearly. This enables us to keep the price of the "FM Atlas" lower than would be the case otherwise.

Wanna Take Over a Newsletter?

FMedia! was a newsletter of fact and opinion on FM radio, and a resource for updating this FM Atlas. A monthly, it has become expensive to mail out and time-consuming, with little time available for pursuing new subscribers or advertisers. If there is a reader who has a penchant for publishing, and wants to take over the newsletter (and possibly this book) contact the publisher if interested. Of course, this depends on whether or not another publisher has already been found.

Updated Information Always Wanted

Thanks to all who have contributed information on the FM stations of their areas. I have had help, especially, in analyzing Industry Canada information from Doug Smith in Tennessee. Responsibility for any errors, however, is strictly mine. Without the help of these volunteers the book would not be as complete or error-free as it is.

We have an agreement with the M Street Corporation for sharing of data. Its Radio Journal is an Internet publication, and valuable for industry news, format updatings and other information. Visit <http://www.radiojournal.com/>. As you become aware of station changes in your area (such as new formats, stations embracing stereo or an FM subcarrier) be sure to write or e-mail. This edition FM Atlas printed by Patterson Printing, Benton Harbor MI. Cover design, since the 13th edition, 1990, by Ted Goff Illustration, Oakland CA.

KEY TO SYMBOLS

- d A station with a directional antenna, listed after height, by-frequency section.
- h A station with a horizontal-only signal
- t An FM translator or on-channel FM booster
- v A station with a vertical-only signal. Stations without a "v" or "h" in the by-frequency part of the book have both polarizations or circular polarization.
- * A noncommercial, educational, "public" or religious station
- $ A station with all or part of its weekly schedule in FM stereo
- † A station with a subsidiary communications service (SCS or in Canada SCMO). If †() it's 57 kHz data, if by itself [†] 67 kHz; if following a comma [† ,] 92 kHz.
- § A station sharing time with a nearby station on the same channel; shown on maps.
- A station with its antenna below the average surrounding terrain

Program (music) codes (in part I of the Station Directory after city): b beautiful/easy listening, c classical/fine arts, e ethnic, f folk, g gospel and religious, j jazz, k country (all types, including stations playing polkas), l Latin/Spanish, m middle of the road (big bands, nostalgia, standards), n news, o rock oldies, p progressive rock, r rock (CHR, rock hits, top 40 or hybrid formats), s soul/urban, t talk. Up to two letters are used for stations having two or more types of music (including "op" for classic rock, "rm" for adult contemporary).

Language codes (just to the left of the program codes in Part I of the Station Directory): E English (for stations in Quebec and Latin America), F French, P Portuguese, S Spanish. H)Indicates a station with HD Ⓜ, (1,2,3). Symbol courtesy iBiquity Corporation.

SCSsymbols (following † in Part I of the Station Directory): A ABC networks, B relays of other networks, C relays of AM, FM stations, cable audio or campus carrier current stations, E ethnic (general), F farm (voice), G gospel, H Haitian French, I Iranian, India languages, Islamic/Arabic, J Japanese, K Korean, L Latino or Portuguese, M music (easy listening), O other Oriental languages, such as Chinese and Tagalog, P paging (voice; occasional audio), Q European languages (such as Greek, Russian, Italian), R music (foreground/light rock), S sports and special events (occasional audio), T talk (usually talking book for the blind), U tones, telemetry chirps or warbles—listed if on all the time, V Vietnamese, W weather, like NOAA relaying, X medium speed data, Z high speed data; () Radio Data System (RDS), tones-type paging or other low-speed datas at 57 kHz.

Part I: Geographic Directory Example

Raleigh (NC) r 101.5 WRAL H) $ 89 †M,R. Explanation: WRAL at 101.5 mhz in Raleigh has a rock format in stereo. It gets out 89 km with a primary signal, has at least one HD program, and has a music subcarrier at 67 kHz and light rock SCS at 92 kHz.

Part II: By-Frequency Directory Example ($94.5 mhz, Channel 233)

AZ Safford Kat Country KXKQ $ 671 - 1700

AR Barling-Fort Smith KFPW-FM $ 82 18500. Explanation: KXKQ Safford AZ uses "Kat Country" as a nonID, is $[tereo], 671 m above average terrain, with 1.7 kw horizontal and vertical. KFPW-FM Barling AR IDs with Fort Smith, $[tereo] , is 82 m, 18500 watts h & v (or circular) polarization.

FM Translators, Boosters, Low Power FM Stations—follow each state

Translators operate on a different frequency from the primary station, helping give FM service where distance or terrain make direct reception difficult. Translators are limited to 250 watts, with some having as little as one or 10 watts. FM boosters operate on the same frequency as the primary station, with up to 20 percent of the power of the primary station. LPFM stations can have up to 100 watts (h, v, or horizontal and vertical) effective radiated power at up to 30 meters above average terrain. In the lists that follow, city, frequency and cil number of the translator are followed by call letters and frequency of the primary. Boosters are identified by call letters of the primary followed by a numeral (such as CA's KMHX-1 104.9 Bennett Valley, a booster of KMHX 104.9 Rohnert Park) and their radiated power in watts.

CANADA

Canada coverage note: Coverages are indicated only for stations where the effective antenna height above average terrain in meters is known. The powers of virtually all Canada stations can be checked in Part II of the Station Directory. Broadcasters are listed with their correct call numbers (such as VF2171) in the Directories, but the maps show the station relayed, if that station is known.

Mexico coverage note: Coverages in kilometers are calculated for stations where antenna heights above average terrain are known; otherwise, only the effective radiated powers in watts are given; $ is stereo; h=horizontal effective radiated power in watts; v=vertical polarization; heights given are in meters above average terrain. SC Services (†) follow the stations' music formats.

STATION DIRECTORY

Part II: FM stations listed by frequency, United States and Canada (excluding U.S. territories). Stations identifying with more than one city are listed, as are those using a short phrase ("nonID") in lieu of call letters during much of their programming. Selected station logos ("FMiscellaneous") are included on a space available basis. See Key to Symbols Page 8.

FMemoranda (continued)

Kristine Stuart plans to continue her blog, which was started when FMedia! newsletter was published. It is an extension of the "Small-Print Happenings and FM Industry News" feature of the newsletter. The address is <http://www.fmedianews.com/>. (It redirects to a blogspot address.)

FM Atlas 22nd Edition Notify Form—Use this or Copy It

Enclosed is $4.50 for a back issue of our former FMedia! newsletter, which would be helpful if you might like to publish something similar. If the "FM Atlas" is available and you might like to publish a book, let us know your publishing and computer experience and interests in the media. Send your radios' and electronics catalog (when it is available).

Mail to "FM Atlas," PO Box 336, Esko MN 55733-0336 or e-mail: FmAlas@aol.com
