SPOT

Grove Laboratories and its agency, Harry B. Cohen Advertising Company, are Sold on Spot as a basic advertising medium.

As the weather turns cold in various sections of the country, Grove Laboratories puts a substantial part of its advertising budget for 4 Way Cold Tablets into Spot Television and Spot Radio.

This use of Spot in seasonal campaigns provides the company with powerful impact and complete flexibility at low cost in selected key markets, and has helped make 4 Way the largest selling cold tablet in the United States.

Spot can do the same for you on stations represented by NBC Spot Sales in 14 major markets, accounting for 48% of the nation's retail sales.

Foreword

FROM crystal sets to the modern compact transistor receivers, radio has come a long way since the broadcast of Arlington time signals over KDKA more than 30 years ago. The same is true of station expansion, programming, advertising techniques and all that goes to make radio the most widely used medium in the nation today.

IN A measure this is the story of the advances of Radio Annual. Today this comprehensive, fact packed volume, is dramatic documentation of broadcasting's advances. It represents the composite thinking of a lot of experts and the untiring efforts of a specialized editorial staff. Radio's chronological story from its inception is faithfully recorded and the tremendous advances of television fill sections of the Book.

WE RECOMMEND this volume to you for it is your book in every sense of the word. If it were not for the fine cooperation of all segments of the industry this 1956 edition would not have been possible.

BULOVA
TIME"

*The first commercial announcement ever made on television — 2 P.M., July 1, 1941, over WNBT, New York — was also sponsored by Bulova

This . . . the world's most famous commercial time signal was originated by Bulova 'way back in 1927! As the years went by, it became the announcement most familiar to the radio audience . . . just as today Bulova is seen by more people than any other product on television*. An average of 35,000,000 a night — 7 nights in the week!

As a pioneer user of radio and television spots, Bulova salutes the stations which have served it so well, and wishes them continued prosperity!

1,700 stations from coast to coast receive from United Press an average of more than 50 news programs and news features every day—besides scores of extra shows of seasonal and special topical interest throughout the year. And some 200 kinds of sponsors buy them. The U.P. bureau nearest you is ready to present further information promptly.

PLUS The Sunday Show

A full hour of features—documentaries, news reviews, striking quotes, human interest and personality stories, comment on business, politics, government, foreign affairs, books, records, stage and screen, farming, fashions, home-making. Interspersed with musical recordings and announcer comment, the material is enough for a program block of at least two hours. All of this in addition to U.P.'s regular Sunday news dispatches.

Radio-Television Industry Scores First Over-Billion Dollar Year

Federal Communications Commission financial figures for radio and television revenues in 1954 show broadcasting to be a more than billion dollar industry—42 million more exactly. TV accounted for $593 million in revenues; and radio for 449 million. The year 1954 also was the first year in which TV passed radio in total revenues. More than half of TV's total revenues were attributed to the four TV networks and their sixteen owned and operated stations.

Brightest Radio-TV Business Year In Sight

By
FRANK BURKE

Editor
Radio-Television Daily

W RITING about the radio and television outlook for 1956 is a pleasant assignment for one could wrap it all up with one sentence— The outlook is terrific.

Business yard sticks everywhere indicate the prospects of a boon year. These impressive forecasts include radio, television and the many allied fields of the electronic industry who'll figure in the 1956 profit parade.

On the radio scene there has been a substantial increase in business on the local level and an upturn in the network radio billings. Stations across the nation have experienced a return to radio by many old advertisers and also some new clients have come into the fold. Most important on the local scene have been the heavy use of time by automobile dealers, retail stores, appliance companies and public utilities. Then too the heavy amount of national spot business has been a factor in the profit parade.

The outlook for radio broadcasters this year is as good or even better than it was in 1955. Already signs point to billing increases over a year ago and the summer business prospects were never healthier. Many factors have brought about this healthy business condition: The substantial increase in radio circulation through millions of car radios, portables, and the advent of the revolutionary new transistor receivers. These influences coupled with the intensive selling the Radio Advertising Bureau, Station Reps organization and other agencies have revitalized the medium.

Television as a medium continues to pile up an enviable record of sales and programming advancement. Network business has far exceeded expectations and TV stations on the local level in all the major markets report excellent business and a big year in prospect for 1956. The TV prosperity story is clouded, however, by the plight of UHF station operations in many markets in which VHF stations dominate the scene. These UHF stations, at the moment are hopeful that the Federal Communications Commission will help alleviate their economic distress.

The equipment field with the potentialities of relays, tape recorders, film recorders, other TV innovations also offer boundless opportunities for production and sales expansion this year. Never before has equipment been so important to the trade and indications are that sales this year will transcend any previous records.

Under the all-embracing term equipment— comes such newcomers in the field as closed circuit TV, toll TV systems, and community antenna systems which are making their bid for a share of the equipment dollar. The many specialized manufacturers who contribute to these new developments will add considerable to the gross equipment sales this year.

We could go on and on and cite statistics to emphasize this progress report of the radio and television industry. We are certain, however, that Brig. General David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of RCA, an annual contributor to this edition will document this story better with RCA's record of unprecedented production. Harold E. Fellows, president of NARTB, another distinguished editorial contributor, can also add to this success story as he outlines the growth of the radio and television broadcasting industry.

There are many more who have written of the industry's accomplishments in this volume, moving testimony to the impact of the electronic age. They include James Secrest of the Radio Electronic Television Manufacturers Association, and Oliver Treyz of the Television Advertising Bureau.

The simple facts are that anyway you look at it 1956 should be the biggest year in the history of this industry. It holds promise of heavy production of transistor radios; great new lines of popular priced color television sets and revolutionary new radio and TV transmitting equipment which will keep production lines humming throughout the year. Then too we have the promise of unprecedented advertising expenditures this year. These are the signs of prosperity found during this a Presidential election year.

TV OWNERSHIP REVEALED BY U. S. CENSUS

- The first Bureau of the Census survey of TV set ownership since the 1950 census, conducted in June at the expense of the Advertising Research Foundation, revealed that 67% of America's 48,000,000 homes contain TV sets, an increase of 26,000,000 in five years.
- The survey showed that the number of sets increased in proportion to the density of population. Eighty percent of the homes in cities of 1,000,000 or more contained sets, as compared to 55% in cities of less than a million, and 45% in rural areas. Households of five persons contained more sets than smaller homes.
- The Northeast and North Central areas led with 75% ownership, followed by 67% in the West, and a little better than half in the South. Significant details from the survey are shown below.

Total Broadcast Authorizations Pass 6,000

McCONNAUGHEY

JUNE 30, 1955

HIGHLIGHTING the 21st annual year of the Federal Communications Commission is the realization that for the first time, broadcast authorizations have passed the 6,000 mark. Of these, more than 4,000 were for program outlets and the remainder comprised pickups and other adjuncts. Outstanding also was the fact that of the 582 authorized commercial TV stations, 458 were on the air. This means that over 90 per cent of the people of the country were within service range of at least one television station, and about 75 per cent were served by 2 or more stations.

The Commission is taking various steps to assist UHF stations to operate on a comparable basis with VHF stations and to help TV in general. These include authorization of "satellite" stations, low power operation, liberalization of the multiple ownership rules to permit joint operation of seven TV stations by the same interest if at least two of the stations are UHF, and amending its chain broadcasting rules to remove a restraint on station competition for the same TV network programs; also, proposals to authorize UHF "booster" operation to fill holes in service areas, to permit an increase in maximum power of UHF stations from 1 to 5 megawatts, to allow broadcasters to establish their own intercity relay systems, and to require transmitters to be located within 5 miles of the station's "home" city. It is not considering petitions for local deintermixture of UHF and VHF channels pending a general rule-making proceeding to consider possible solutions, on a nationwide basis, to the difficulties now hindering expansion of TV service.

Since the lifting of the "freeze" on construction of new television stations on April 11, 1952, the number of TV stations in operation has jumped from 108 to 458. In 1952, 63 markets had 1 or more local stations -- in most cases 1; today there are over 4 times as many communities with their own video facilities. Two hundred and fifty-two communities have at least 1 TV outlet, and 100 communities have 2 or more.

The number of TV receivers in use has grown from 20 to 35 million, and it is estimated that the public has already invested over 10 billion dollars in TV receiving equipment, and the annual volume of TV advertising, set sales, servicing and operating combined runs close to four billion dollars a year.

At the year's close there were 582 commercial TV station authorizations, which was 9 more than in 1954. The net gain in operating stations was 46. The number of authorized AM stations continued to increase, showing a net gain of 143 for the year, which brought their number to 2,840. Those on the air totaled 2,732, which was 149 more than the previous year.

On June 22, 1955, the Commission amended its chain broadcasting rules to remove a restriction which operated to preclude TV stations from contracting with the networks for particular programs when a station with overlapping coverage in another community had contracted for "first call" on the same network programs. Since, at this stage in TV development, network programming is essential to the profitable operation of most stations, and in many cases, to their very survival, it was desirable to remove this restraint on competition among stations for TV network programming.

The Commission had long recommended to Congress that it be given funds to conduct an overall study of the broadcast industry -- including a review of the chain broadcasting rules -- to develop factual information necessary to determine the effectiveness of its present rules and the need for any revision. The Independent Offices Appropriation Act, 1956, earmarked $80,000 to be used by the Commission to begin a study of radio and television network broadcasting. In July, 1955, the Commission designated myself and Commissioners Rosel H. Hyde, Robert T. Bartley and John C. Doerler as a committee to conduct this study.

Broadcast applications totaled nearly 7,700 in fiscal 1955, which was some 300 less than in 1954. Applications for new TV stations decreased from 106 in 1954 to 58 in 1955. Applications for new AM stations increased from 227 to 330, and applications for new FM stations rose from 33 to 37. Of all AM applications, 114 had to be designated for hearing in 1955 as compared with 84 in 1954, while TV applications designated for hearing decreased from 255 to 26.

Color TV Continues To Gain In Momentum

By
DAVID SARNOFF

Chairman of the Board
Radio Corporation of America

THE year 1955 saw color television get "off the ground" as a new service and become commercially established. The initial steps are behind us. With more and more color TV receivers being installed in homes daily, the entertainment value and other advantages of color pictures become increasingly apparent and are stimulating the desire of more people to acquire color sets. To meet the demand, RCA has introduced a complete line of color receivers, including a table model, consolette and three consoles, each with 250 square inches of viewable picture.

Color TV will continue to gain in momentum and influence on the American home and the nation's economy. Color programming is being substantially increased by the National Broadcasting Company and we hope by others in the broadcasting industry. This will accelerate the transition from black-and-white to color.

Television sells through both eye and ear, greatly multiplying sales appeal. While the public is becoming more color conscious, advertisers and merchandisers are also attracted by the power of color which gives added sales impact to all products from automobiles to candy bars.

Color is a powerful sales stimulant. It presents things as they are—reveals distinctive characteristics of everything from packages to fashions and foods, from colorful kitchens to cereals and soaps, all of which are made more attractive when identified by their colors.

Today color is quickening the pace of the broadcasting art and industry on all fronts. Its challenge extends in various directions. Scientists seek new inventions because they are well aware that color presents boundless opportunities for development of new ideas and industrial expansion. Showmen are challenged to produce programs of greater beauty and interest. Manufacturers are challenged to "get into color" and develop and design receiving sets at prices which will put color TV in many millions of homes. I firmly believe that the sale of color sets will eventually exceed the sale of black-and-white sets.

The National Broadcasting Company is now entering its thirtieth year and 1955 was the greatest year in its history.

Television for the home, however, is but one significant phase of electronics. Industrial uses of TV and electronic controls hold promise of great expansion.

Marked progress is being achieved in RCA's development of an electronic light amplifier; a magnetic tape recorder for television; a high-speed electronic printing process (Electrofax); an electronic air conditioner; and microwave two-way radio communication for virtually all types of mobile vehicles.

Change is a characteristic of electronics as a science and industry; it is synonymous with progress. Electronics is a vast and fertile field for research, discovery, invention and development. The new knowledge acquired through scientific exploration makes it possible to provide the public with improved or new products and services.

Progress is born of change as illustrated by the fact that during 1955, eighty per cent of RCA's total sales were in products and services which did not exist, or were not commercially developed, only ten years ago. The majority of these new products and services were created through pioneering efforts that involved substantial expenditures for research, development and engineering.

Total sales of products and services by the Radio Corporation of America, in 1955, exceeded one billion dollars. This is a record for the RCA. It is equivalent to more than four million dollars' business for each working day of the year. At the beginning of 1920, when RCA commenced its operations, the volume of business was running at the rate of one million dollars a year.

From a million to a billion in thirty-five years is a record that gives all of us in the RCA Family a sense of pride in the past and confidence for the future. RCA is now among the top twenty-five industrial companies in the United States.

Our achievements in electronics, radio and television establish 1955 as our best year on record. I look forward to 1956 as a year of continuing progress.

Radio's Might Is Gradually Reawakening

By
HAROLD E.
FELLOWS

President and Chairman of the Board
National Association of
Radio and Television
Broadcasters

MOST of the enlightened economists of the nation variously have predicted a continuation of the prosperity which attended 1955. This can only be good news to broadcasters—who, as businessmen, are the legates of prosperity as well as contributing authors.

I don't suppose that anyone can measure accurately the total contribution of television advertising, for example, to the movement of goods and services during the last few years. Surely it can be assumed, however, that this dramatic medium of demonstration in combination with radio and published media has moved a phenomenal amount of goods from our factories and warehouses to the consuming public.

Some within the industry believe that 1956 will be the year in which color television comes into its own, a factor which will influence markedly the distribution of advertising dollars, particularly at the national level.

I look for continued prosperity, too, in radio—the "every-place-all-the-time" medium. Radio's gifted ability to deliver buyers at the lowest cost-per-thousand accounts for the stability it has demonstrated, particularly at the local level. As one looks back over the past five-year period, he senses the evolution through which radio has progressed: the changes in program policies, the proper emphasis on community interest, and the gradual reawakening to the need of aggressive selling and sales promotion.

The National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters has benefited as a result of the increasing stature and effectiveness of both electronic media. The Association has grown, until today, measured in both income and membership, it is larger than ever before in history. The encouraging aspect of this to those of us who devote our full time to Association activities is not alone the revenue increase (which does enable us to do a better job for the members), but rather the evidence of industry solidarity implicit in such continuing growth.

The need for "strength through unity" is so obvious as to hardly require delineation. We need such cooperation and understanding at all levels of broadcast experience, particularly in the fields of legislation, economics, and public relations. The increase in the number of State Associations also has been encouraging to the Board and management of NARTB. The stronger we become at all levels of Association activity, the more efficiently we shall be able to operate. We shall have more freedom to initiate good broadcasting policies, which will enhance the industry's economic security. More important than this, however, is the benefit that accrues to the public through cooperative action. By being together, we have been able to evolve sound programming and advertising standards.

In the areas of regulation and legislation, 1956 is going to be a busy year for the NARTB. The management and staff of the Association like to think of their function in these vital fields as that of an organized voice which can bring enlightenment to all branches of the government through speaking with a common purpose. However, it remains true—such is the nature of government—that defense of our rights sometimes must be maintained militantly and without qualification. Here, especially, is where strength through numbers is so important.

The annual NARTB Convention, held in Chicago in April, probably was the biggest yet -- for each year recently we have been breaking records in both attendance and size of exhibit. Some broadcasters may not realize the tremendous amounts of money and the exhaustive effort which go into these annual expositions—all of it paid for by our Associate Members. Even now, early in the year, plans have been nearly completed by most of them for the 1956 show . . . and the Convention Committee is well advanced with its planning for the entire meeting.

From here, and at this time, 1956 looks good. But such is the growth potential of this dynamic industry that a year from now, no doubt, we shall be expecting 1957 to introduce even brighter horizons.

TV Set, Auto Radio Sales Set Record

By
JAMES D.
SECRET

Vice President
Radio-Electronics-
Television
Manufacturers
Association

THE radio-television-electronics business boomed in 1955 despite increasing competition, and several production and sales records were established. All indications at the beginning of 1956 were that it would be another highly successful year with the greatest growth expected to occur in color television and industrial electronics.

Television receiver and auto radio sales in 1955 were the highest of any year to date, while color TV set sales, though relatively small, were high enough to encourage the industry to make plans for a more substantial output in 1956.

The greatest industry expansion in 1955 was in industrial electronics. The trends toward automation and product diversification among large manufacturers resulted in an intensified interest and numerous investments in electronic facilities. Thus the industry's boundaries were expanded.

Preliminary compilations by the RETMA Statistical Department show that the following records were achieved in 1955:

- About 7,770,000 black and white TV sets were manufactured. This was 400,000 more than were made in 1954 and 300,000 above the previous peak year of 1950.
- Consumers bought close to 7,400,000 black and white television receivers—about 75,000 more than in 1954, the highest previous year. An additional 100,000 were exported.
- Auto radio sales skyrocketed to a new peak of 7,260,000. This was over 3,000,000 more than were sold in 1954 and 2,000,000 above the previous record of 1953.

While the output of home radics, including clock and portable sets, did not keep pace with the rise in auto receivers or equal the postwar 1947-48 records, 7,686,000 units were manufactured in 1955 as compared with 6,276,000 in 1954. Retail sales of home sets were approximately 7,000,000. The year also was marked by the entry of a variety of transistor type radios into the consumer market.

With 459 TV stations on the air, there were an estimated 37,100,000 television receivers in use throughout the United States by the end of 1955. An increasing share of new TV set sales were replacements or second sets, and this trend is expected to rise. Industry estimates were that more than 125,000,000 radios were in use with a large percentage of multiple set homes.

Total sales of all electronic products in 1955 at the factory level rose to a new peak of about $5.5 billion. This was 10 per cent above the 1954 figure. During 1956 further expansions in industrial, military, and parts replacement sales should bring the industry's total to $5.8 billion or higher.

When radio-TV servicing, broadcasting, and distributor-dealer sales are added to the manufacturers' factory sales, the industry's total volume was about $9.7 billion in 1955. By the end of 1956 this over-all total should reach $10.8 billion on an annual basis.

Deliveries of military electronic equipment and components last year increased by about $100 million over 1954 to reach $2.4 billion. However, the rise in radio-TV and electronic sales for civilian and commercial uses for the first time since the outbreak of the Korean War exceeded military electronic procurement. Many electronic developments moved out of research laboratories into production facilities.

The outlook of the radio-TV-electronics industry in 1956 is very promising. Sales of black and white TV sets are expected to exceed 7,000,000. Color receiver sales will depend to a large degree on the quantity and quality of color telecasts and the availability of color TV tubes. However, present indications are that about 250,000 or more color receivers will be manufactured and sold, bringing total TV receiver sales close to the 1955 record with probably a higher dollar value.

Electronics production of non-entertainment equipment will continue to increase in 1956. Military procurement may rise. Commercial and industrial uses of electronic equipment certainly will grow and require greater production. The growing use of transistors and other semiconductor devices will bring about expansion of plant facilities to supply requirements. Further mergers and acquisitions in the electronics industry are likely with increasing competition in the radio-TV field.

View TV 4 Hours And 57 Minutes Each Day

By OLIVER TREYZ

President
Television Bureau
of Advertising, Inc.

THIS marks the second year that TvB has been invited by the editors of Radio-Television Daily to contribute to its Annual.

This also marks the beginning of TvB's second year.

Perhaps some future historian, goggled-eyed at TvB's meteoric rise in the 20th century mid-fifties, may note—while perusing the yellowed pages of Radio-Television Daily Annuals—that TvB arrived on the television advertising scene in 1955.

If this historian goes through the daily issues with a fine tooth comb, he will find a chronicle of TvB's development.

We believe annuals serve a useful function . . . the compressing of days and weeks into a yearly review of what's happened, and a look ahead.

In television, to look back is to look down. For the path of television has been constantly up.

The television industry has put TvB in business to help accelerate its rate of climb.

To play our role, we've been constantly at work selling advertisers the productive use of television.

Our initial activities have concentrated on building a focal point or points where television and advertising meet.

We've been uncovering basic facts about the relationship between television and specific markets.

For example, early in the year Nielsen supplied TvB with the highly intriguing "Quintile" report. This was the splitting of some 35 million homes into fifths, of 7 million each.

The average home, according to Nielsen, views television 4 hours and 57 minutes per day.

But the Nielsen report showed that the lightest viewing 20% watched 1 hour and 22 minutes daily, 6% of the total viewing. The next fifth watches 3 hours and 28 minutes; the third fifth, 4 hours and 44 minutes. Curiously, the 60%, accounting for the relatively lightest viewing homes, represents 39% of the viewing. In delineating these findings to more than 200 advertisers, TvB has unflinchingly emphasized that the lightest viewers of television, give to it an amount of time which would qualify them as the heaviest readers of magazines and newspapers. But the heaviest viewers of television, the 20% that view 6 hours and 11 minutes per day, and the top 20% which view 8 hours and 59 minutes per day, proved, in special TvB research, to be the "cream" customers of the American market.

The 14 million homes which keep their sets lit up from 6 to 9 hours a day are, basically, the post-war families, products of the post-war marriages, the new and larger families whose emergence and growth are putting the real vigor into the fastest expanding, most productive economy in world history.

These are the families with more and hungrier mouths to feed . . . more teeth to brush . . . more hair to shampoo . . . more lunch boxes to fill . . . more bodies to clothe.

And these are the families which have paced the universal, all-embracing national swing to television, the only advertising medium which can distribute not only advertisements but sales calls, the only advertising medium which can supply the friendliness, the warmth and personal persuasiveness of face to face communication. The only medium which can "teleport" a salesman, who can describe, demonstrate and sell, in the prospect's home, with the force and power of an in-person visit.

The cumulative, repetitive documentation of these inherent advantages of television, will represent a good part of TvB's activities in 1956.

If our continuing efforts to forge a mightier link between television and advertising merit reporting, we know they will be chronicled in the 1956 pages of Radio-Television Daily.

The Future of Television Film Programming

By
MARTIN V.
ZUZULO

Associate Editor
Radio Annual,
Television Yearbook

THE two great rivers of mass entertainment—Hollywood, and television, are beginning to flow into one gigantic ocean of compatibility and quality for the viewing public. Ironically, the amalgamation does not lessen the one and strengthen the other, but rather like a communion of two great minds, or a blissful marital tie, the relationship has begun to show signs of enhancement for both mediums.

Shaking at first from the swift and biting currents of television when it swept onto the scene in 1949, Hollywood, of necessity, was cautious enough only to get its feet wet, and wait patiently for the rampaging economic waters to subside. Deftly moving their costly film vaults high and dry, Hollywood, rivalling a Swiss diplomat's acumen, decided to let the main body of television go by and experiment niggardly instead with some of television's tributaries, until a more realistic and opportune time.

From all indications, the year 1955 seemed to be, for Hollywood, that more realistic and opportune time. Huge holes have appeared in the once seemingly invincible dikes that had been built by film people to protect its precious libraries from the onslaught of television. These ripping holes, such as one of filmdom's greatest financial transactions, the RKO-O'Neil 740 film package, and others, were not gorged out by television, but much to the amazement of many, by Hollywood, removing its own thumb from its own film library dike. There's no doubt that this will bring about a flood of entertainment for the public and a flood of income for both mediums.

Hollywood and television are beginning to know and enjoy each other. They know now they can live with one another. There can be a "prosperous co-existence." In 1940, the movie theaters of the land took in $735,000,000; last year the take was $1,275,000,000. In 1945 Hollywood spent $401,577,800 in production; in 1955, the sum was a little more than $240,000,000. Moreover Hollywood is now enjoying a boom inspired by television. With approximately 75% or more of all television fare now being beamed on celluloid, Hollywood technicians and craftsmen seem likely to monopolize this field. And rightly so, for Hollywood long before the roar of television had always been known as the "film capital of the world." The city's technological craftsmen, ideal weather conditions, and bulk of acting talent, had only to swerve toward the television field in order to captivate it.

Yet in swerving or re-channeling its own talent and production to meet the surging economical waves of television, Hollywood by its own movement has enhanced itself. It's a truth that movies in the year 1955 have never been better. But it's also a truth that television can take some of the credit. Not for contributing the live teleplay, "Marty," which at this writing could very easily be chosen as the Academy Award winner as the best movie in 1955, or even for another original teleplay "Patterns." But only for the fact that television has presented competition, and in competition only, there is greatness, and quality.

In the past year it has become apparent to Hollywood that the command of the mass audience of television is greater than any single night of the largest all-time audience of any single picture. That there is only one thing Americans let consume more of their time than television and that's sleep. That this single medium sold more lipstick on just one-half hour program than a sponsor could make. That these at-one-time ominous charging waters of television will not waste themselves and trickle away into nothing. That this great river of entertainment when joined by Hollywood's great river of entertainment will form one of the greatest moving forces that has ever been known to man.

Radio Will Pave The Trend Of Business

By
DONALD H.
McGANNON

President
Westinghouse
Broadcasting Co.

THIS year is going to be another big one for our industry. I look for a 10% increase in sales. Television will move forward. One needs no crystal ball to see that. But the dramatic swing toward good times these days is happening in radio, simply because radio is no longer taking the drubbing it took during those first years of television.

I like the prospects for our industry particularly this year because of radio's prospects. It means that we are at last gaining strength on both fronts—in both television and radio.

Why am I bullish? After 1955, which was the biggest year in our industry's history, how do I justify such optimism for 1956? Should we be content with a sunny plateau, hoping that the future will be just as rewarding as the immediate past? I think not, for we are wiser than we were a year ago. Therefore, we should be better—and that much more successful.

Take television. Television is no longer "in its infancy," a favorite expression of many industry "observers" not so long ago. Today, television is approaching full growth. Of course, it will continue to grow. But, just as important, television is now beginning to mature. It has reached voting age. It is taking on adult responsibilities.

For example, during 1956, I look for exciting television programming on the part of local television stations. We saw this happening in a few areas during the past year. We saw stations in certain communities begin to develop local programs that challenged some of the big network productions.

I predict that television in many cities will be strengthened during 1956 because local programming will become a stronger supplement to the network shows.

Very often, local programmers show themselves as courageous journalists. Their subjects are sometimes controversial, because their objective is to make the communities which they serve better places in which to live. When you point a camera at a community trouble-spot, you tread on dangerous ground. But you also gain audience respect for your effort. This is the kind of programming which will strengthen the industry, by adding strength to the stations which make up the industry.

In radio, we have a chance of a lifetime. Along with it, we have a responsibility of a lifetime.

Some broadcasters were willing to let radio die just a few years ago. The industry was the victim of jokes about youngsters finding strange objects in attics, and not knowing what on earth they were. Rodies, of course. And we deserved just about every bad joke that was ever written about radio's obsolescence, because we were not really trying in those days. We were willing to recoup our losses with television.

Today, we are beginning to get smart. It is finally dawning on us that radio has a place, for—and a big place. Many radio stations did well last year, for the first time since television came along. Many more will do well in 1956.

It would be unfair for me to imply that everyone in radio showed weakness when television flexed muscles. Not so.

Certain operators knew the score. They proved that radio would always have a place. They did it by making money while most of the industry shed tears at radio's demise.

This year, radio gets its big change—its second big chance. It can succeed if it is willing to work; if it is willing to develop new talent—local talent; if it is willing to make itself a community member, and not just an outlet for network shows. I believe that radio must become primarily a local, intimate thing in the future, if it is to succeed.

The major networks, in my opinion, deserve credit for their efforts on radio's behalf during the past year, although I cannot honestly agree with the approach which they have taken, for I believe that the days of big, network radio shows are over, at least for the predictable future. I believe that today's radio audience wants to hear music—good music of all types; it wants frequent news coverage—with a strong play to local goings-on.

Of course, radio's obligation does not stop there. As a public servant, radio must do more. This year, I believe radio will assume a greater responsibility in the areas of education and human understanding, with programs of quality and of intellectual import.

Never Such A Choice Of Programming

By
FREDERIC W. ZIV
Chairman of the Board
Ziv Television Programs

THE booming growth of the syndicated film industry has meant one thing to television: Never have so many different sizes and classes of sponsors had so wide a choice of film programming.

Our client roster shows names like Carter Products, Phillips Petroleum, Emerson Drug, P. J. Ballantine, Ohio Oil and others who are sponsoring first-run half-hour shows on line-ups that approach network coverage. Lists of 20, or 30, or 40 and more markets carrying the same Ziv TV show for the same national spot advertiser are not uncommon.

At the same time, our list of over 2,270 Ziv telefilm clients include many local merchants, retailers, auto dealers, bakeries, dairies, banks, breweries, supermarkets and jewelers, whose television campaigns are confined to just one market.

We do not differentiate; no intelligent producer-distributor would. All are important, since they all make up that huge category known as "spot television advertisers." All are seeking the same thing—a top-notch show that will attract a large audience at a reasonable cost-per-1,000 figure to the advertiser's commercials.

This places a large responsibility in our hands. With more and more advertisers moving into television, we must create more and more telefilm properties of all types for them to sponsor. In one sense, it is a fascinating challenge to our creative ingenuity. In another, it is like having a tiger by tail—while you are reaching out to grab another.

Television filming is getting more expensive all the time. Star talent commands big budgets. The materials of production cost more. Labor costs more. Everything costs more.

We feel we owe it to our advertisers to continue to produce those syndicated shows which have proved themselves over several seasons for Ziv advertisers, and not to turn out a series of "one-season wonders," with no continuing production. This enables our clients to concentrate on getting the finest time availabilities and in preparing the most effective commercials. They can relax (or come as close to relaxing as you can in the fast-paced business of television!), knowing that if a show is in demand, we have the financial stability, the studios, and the manpower to continue to produce the series.

Take the case of Interstate Bakeries, for instance. Interstate has built a major advertising campaign around our "Cisco Kid" for more than five seasons, starting with a modest list of a dozen or so markets and building the list steadily until it stands at more than 60 cities.

This growth has been possible primarily because we have delivered to Interstate, and other "Cisco" sponsors, a fresh cycle of telefilms each season since 1950. I might add that time clearances for Interstate, and other year-in, year-out Ziv advertisers, have steadily improved over the years. Time buyers are free to scout for the choicest availabilities, knowing the program will continue to be supplied to the advertiser.

One of our largest clients, for example, who has been with us for several seasons, now has 92% of his Ziv-produced programs aired in choice evening time slots on leading stations between the hours of 7:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m., with more than half of them falling into the peak hours of television viewing!

We believe we owe other things to our clients as well. For example, we will spend a large portion of our 1956 promotion budget, currently set at $800,000, in promotion campaigns and publicity designed to increase the audience for Ziv shows now on the air.

We furnish promotion-publicity kits to be used by our advertisers in everything from tune-in ads and local publicity to store displays and merchandising campaigns. We also furnish complete plans for a program designed to boost employee recognition of client advertising, since genuine enthusiasm for a television program has to start within a client's own employee family. In addition, we create and merchandise various public service drives, television contests and other promotions in connection with Ziv Television Programs productions.

Finally, we are working ahead of most people in providing a long-range program of color filming at our Hollywood studios. Last year, we shot more than 3,000,000 feet of telefilm footage there—and over 70% was on color film.

Looking Into Syndicated Television

By
WYNN NATHAN
Vice President
in Charge of Sales,
MCA

IN THE aura of claims from other sources that the syndicated television show business is slipping, I think it is good for us to look back on the past twelve months and see if these claims have any foundation.

Of course, I am most familiar with the exceptional progress of MCA-TV Ltd., Film Syndication Division, during 1955, but I am sure that most of the larger distributors have experienced the same trends that we have.

During 1955, our company added six new series to the 26 properties we already distributed. These additions included 123 Gene Autry and Roy Rogers Western films, never before seen on television; 39 of the new "Doctor Hudson's Secret Journal" program, adapted from the famous Lloyd C. Douglas novel; 104 "The Adventures of Kit Carson," which were sponsored on the network for four years by the Coca Cola Bottling Company and first run in over 200 markets; 39 "Headline" shows, starring Mark Stevens, which played on the network as "Big Town" and 76 of the very successful network series, "The Ray Milland Show."

With these additions, the list of stars appearing regularly in syndicated MCA-TV programs has greatly increased. The talent role now reads like a "who's who" in show business, including Gene Autry, Ralph Bellamy, Charles Bickford, Rod Cameron, Preston Foster, Alan Hale, Jr., Paul Hartman, Louis Hayward, John Howard, Guy Lombardo, Thomas Mitchell, Ray Milland, Roy Rogers, Mark Stevens and Bill Williams.

Sales wise, 1955 was the biggest year ever experienced by our company. To name a few of the success stories that were to be found in the past twelve months, we sold "Soldiers of Fortune" to the 7-Up Bottling Company for 150 cities; 26 more shows were added to "Waterfront" making a total of 78, and they were placed in over 200 cities. "Doctor Hudson's Secret Journal," in its first six months on the market, was bought in more than 140 cities; sales of the Roy Rogers and Gene Autry Western films passed the three million dollar sales mark in less than 2 months; and so on down the line. Each and every show we handle did well in 1955, and the sales were getting stronger as the year drew to a close.

Rating wise, syndicated teleshows proved time and time again that they can compete favorably with any locally produced or network show. Such ratings as: 40.9, Videodex, Pittsburgh for "Guy Lombardo"; 39.0, Pulse, New Orleans for "City Detective"; 44.2, ARB, Norfolk for "Pride of the Family"; 45.8, Pulse, New Orleans for "Famous Playhouse"; 37.6, Videodex, Grand Rapids for "Man Behind The Badge"; 40.5, Pulse, Charlotte for "Waterfront"; 34.4, ARB, Pittsburgh for "Doctor Hudson's Secret Journal" and 40.1, Videodex, Toledo for the "Ray Milland Show" substantiate this claim.

Also during 1955, Revue Productions added 78 more anthology films to their large catalog of half hour dramas. With this added product, any station in the country can bolster its line-up of programs to meet the most rigid demands.

1955 was also a year for expansion in our company itself. New offices were opened in Tampa, Fla. and Indianapolis, Ind., and two new regional offices were opened, Dallas and Cleveland, and were staffed by one of our V.P.'s. A publicity department was added in New York and California better to service our clients with after-sales promotion. The prospect of enlarging our foreign markets was examined, and an International Sales Manager named. Plans were formulated for more complete representation in Mexico City, Rome, and the Orient. With well staffed offices already established in Canada, England and France, MCA-TV will continue to be able to give complete coverage to the entire world.

Other advancements of our sales plans, executive responsibilities, after-sales services, merchandising division, and all phases of our operation, were many and varied. To name them all would take much more space than I have been allotted or you would care to read. However, I think it is sufficient just to say that 1955 was very good to us, and 1956 looks even better. I don't think syndicated television is slipping one iota; in fact it is stronger now than it has ever been, and it is our hope that our 70 salesmen and 30 offices at MCA-TV have had a part in bringing about this situation. We promise you we will do everything in our power to continue this advancement in the coming year.

Canadian Auto Set Sales Up 75%

By
J. M. DAVIDSON
Past President,
C.A.R.T.B.

THE past year has been one of intense activity in the sale of new broadcast receivers with reported Canadian sales around the one million mark. This was divided almost equally between radio and TV receivers. The increased sale of television receivers was anticipated as new stations came on the air. But few broadcasters or set manufacturers expected such a dramatic increase in sales of radio receivers, especially portables and automobile sets. Sales of radio receivers showed an increase of some 20% over the preceding year. But the purchase of portables and car sets went up an amazing 75%.

The broadcasting industry is confidently looking forward to 1956 being much the largest volume year in Canadian history. Accurate figures are difficult to obtain but the 20% increase in radio revenues last year is expected to continue, and television revenues are increasing at the rate of about 50% each year. Available information would indicate that gross revenue for the broadcasting industry in Canada would reach some $45 million this year.

The Canadian Association of Radio & Television Broadcasters shares the industry's expansion with a membership at the beginning of 1956 of 136 radio and 25 television members. The appointment of a Royal Commission to view the broadcasting industry assures a busy year for C.A.R.T.B. The Illsley Commission on Copyright may produce its report this year. As in 1955 there may be appearances before various commissions and boards.

One certain activity this year will be the Association's continued emphasis on providing member stations with information on new program techniques. Few Canadian homes lack radio receivers in kitchens, bedrooms and playrooms. There has been a vast increase in the number of portables and automobile sets. These new radio listeners are welcoming the interesting new programs provided by Canadian stations. The fixed national formula is giving way to the popularity of specially produced programs featuring local talent, local personalities and subjects of special community interest.

The Broadcast Advertising Bureau established towards the end of last year by C.A.R.T.B. has a carefully planned program for 1956. The Radio broadcasting division of the Bureau will continue its presentations to Advertisers and planning boards of Advertising Agencies. The television sales story was dramatically told to some 500 executives in a special TV seminar held in Toronto in January. This was arranged by the Television Representatives Association in conjunction with C.A.R.T.B.

Community television stations are serving most areas of Canada excepting the six largest cities which in 1956 are still served only by the government owned CBC. The 25 TV members of C.A.R.T.B. are rapidly expanding their operations, the number of homes served and providing an opportunity for local talent to participate in this expansion.

The broadcasting industry will continue in 1956 to improve and expand its services to the 6 million radio and 2 million television receivers tuned to Canadian stations.

5 1/4 Million Rural Homes Own TV Sets

By
JOHN McDONALD

President, National Association of Television & Radio
Farm Directors

THE history of farm broadcasting is as old as radio itself. KDKA, Pittsburgh, the first station to go on the air in 1922, employed Frank Mullen as a part-time farm broadcaster. Mullen later became Executive Vice-President of the National Broadcasting Company. Over the next twenty years the growth of farm broadcasting was slow. On May 5 of 1944, some thirty-five radio Farm Service Directors and other persons interested in agricultural broadcasting met in Columbus, Ohio, and formed the National Association of Radio Farm Directors. It was the opinion of that thirty-five then and of the more than 400 members today that scattered listeners on farms and in small rural towns deserve better and more specialized services than the average city listener. The main objectives of the organization have always been to effect programming of farm broadcasts with the emphasis on service. Realizing that farm people depend on radio for essential business information, weather and market reports, the Federal Communications Commission Hearings in 1946 accentuated the importance of farm service through radio. Since that time both the organization and the services have grown. Accepting the new media of television as an opportunity for more service, the organization became the National Association of Television and Radio Farm Directors both in name and fact in 1953.

We feel that the Association, under the able leadership of Frank Atwood, WTIC, Hartford, Connecticut, had its best year in 1955. It now has an active voting membership of more than 400 and an associate membership of more than 200. These associate members represent station management, station sales, agencies, representatives, clients and other friends of the Association and of farm people--the folks we talk to daily.

The radio and television industry has become aware of the farm service type program gaining and holding audiences. This was evidenced by the invitation of eight Farm Directors to speak at regional meetings of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters in 1955. This was our first attempt to present farm radio to management on a national scale. Judging from the comments, letters, and number of inquiries received, NATRFD gained a lot of prestige. Harold Fellows, President of NARTB, said, "I definitely think getting eight of your men into the field to talk to management at the regional meetings was most constructive and more than justified our thinking as to what it would accomplish."

NATRFD was glad to tell management that we are a professional group and intend to remain as such. With few exceptions, RFDs are men who have farm backgrounds, agricultural college degrees, and prior to their radio work had jobs as Extension Agents, Vocational Agriculture Teachers or some other related work which kept them close to agriculture and farm people. A lot of effort was put into professional improvement during the year. We cooperated with the National Project in Agricultural Communications in holding a TV Workshop in Columbia, Missouri, and also held a meeting with NPAC on market reporting in Kansas City. We have had representation at practically every meeting throughout the nation that had as its purpose the betterment of farm news reporting or farm life itself.

In speaking to our group last June on the lawn of the White House, President Eisenhower said, "The farmer is not just a farmer. He is a citizen of the United States, first and always. And so I think that if we're truly going to interpret the farm problem and farm programs to the farmer, we have got to raise our sights a long ways and interpret . . . and I am told by the Secretary of Agriculture that this group has done a yeoman's job in this regard. For it I hope you will accept my thanks, my gratitude, and more than that my utter conviction that you're doing a truly great service to farmers and to the United States of America."

The last farm census showed that there are 17 million rural homes with radio sets (more than 99%) and more than 5 and one quarter million rural homes with television sets.

Newly elected officers for this year other than myself are: Jack Timmons, Vice-President, KWKH, Shreveport, Louisiana; Dix Harper, Secretary-Treasurer, WLS, Chicago; Herb Plambeck, Historian, WHO, Des Moines, Iowa and Wes Seyler, Editor of "Chats", WIBW, Topeka, Kansas.

Resurgence of Radio In Latin America

By
A. M. MARTÍNEZ

Exec. Vice-President,
Caribbean Networks, Inc.

Treas., International
Advertising
Association, Inc.

AS we begin 1956 and we look at the past twelve months, two important factors seem to stand out in Latin America. The first is the rapid rate of growth of commercial television in such markets as Brazil, Cuba, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico, Puerto Rico and Venezuela. It is not so much the number of additional stations, which were very few, but mainly the improvements made to the existing ones, both in programming and equipment, in service to the sponsors and longer hours of operation for the viewers, and, of course, the rapidity with which these factors are creating new TV homes by the tens of thousands. Yet, one must realize sets are imported and their retail prices are loaded with such necessary expenses as transportation, marine insurance and high import duties, therefore, a great deal more expensive than at home. However, Puerto Rico and Cuba, for example, each bought more TV sets than twenty U.S. states during 1955.

The second factor is the effect television competition has had on radio broadcasters. Radio found out, sooner than its counterpart in the United States, that it would have to be on its toes not only to keep and increase its audience but also to keep and increase its revenue instead of remaining stationary or decline. Hence, painstaking plans were made and put in operation by the most important and progressive radio broadcasters during last year to improve the programming with new ideas, acquire better and more up to date equipment and put its own house in order.

So far these two factors have brought important economic results to the radio and television industry in Latin America. In addition, advertising budgets were increased to cover both radio and television with the natural chain reaction of increased sales of goods and services for the advertisers.

In general, the outlook for 1956 is good, perhaps even better than it has been for a long time. Here is additional background. It is a well known fact that most Latin American cities have far too many radio stations. Now, in this movement of radio stations to keep and increase revenue and audience, many of the smaller operations, poorly managed and badly equipped cannot stand the pressure. Some already have suspended broadcasting and others soon will be off the air. This is a hard blow but under increased competition, how can a city of the size of San Francisco, as a comparative example, but without its trading area, support thirty-four radio and 5 television stations! It stands to reason some stations must fall by the wayside as there is no other way to stop them, because now it is too late to invest additional capital.

The management of the radio and television stations represented by Caribbean Networks has had the foresight to look at the future and act by installing better antennas, more powerful radio and TV transmitters, rebuild studios, form radio networks with powerful FM links and television networks with their own microwave relay units, operate longer hours with better programs, etc. One network will transmit 400 sport events by remote control, another network will broadcast over 35 "Soap Operas" daily and still another station will transmit "live," direct from a baseball park, two games a week plus the entire schedule of the top teams of the winter league; I am sure many of you have heard how CMQ broadcast "live" the world series on radio and television with an airplane acting as a "link" and how it led NBC "live" portions for "WIDE, WIDE WORLD." These are but a few of the many accomplishments necessary to keep pace with competition and progress.

1956 will see a richer and more abundant year for advertisers, advertising agencies, radio and television stations in the international field.

Analysis Compulsory For Newscasters

By
JOHN MacVANE

President
Association of Radio
News Analysts

THE Association of Radio News Analysts this year has begun an inquiry into the charge by radio-television critics that the American public is being lulled into a "deceptive sense of security through the failure of television to present news analysis on a regular frequent basis."

In an article last November, Jack Gould, columnist of the New York Times, asserted that the public has suffered from a "coast to coast vacuum in the realm of mature analysis of the contemporary scene." Gould charged that Television, fearful of controversy, has calculatedly avoided the type of program which would require the set owner to think the most and has provided instead a "protective cloak of continuous escapist entertainment," isolating viewers from "adequate awareness of the realities of day to day life." He maintained the public needs news analysts as "watch-dogs" to remind listeners and viewers that the world never stands still and to stimulate them to independent thought.

I have noted Mr. Gould's article because he outlined what other respected critics in the field, notably John Crosby of the New York Herald Tribune, have been saying recently. Many have been emphasizing that as of today Television prefers the "videogenic announcer" who can read a news bulletin to the men who, themselves, have something to say. I think most professionals in our field would agree that the public is being deprived even of the right to disagree with comment on TV, comment which may be sharp, or controversial, but which is thought provoking. Alas! Not much thought is provoked by the bland baby-rue of newsreel news now fed the public.

One of ARNA's major purpose, from its founding fifteen years ago, has been the protecting of "the best interests of the public and the industry," as well as maintaining the "independence and prestige of the profession" and "improving the standards of analytical broadcasting."

ARNA has fought successfully to protect the reputations of its own members as experienced reliable commentators. ARNA did not and does not consider that the public interest would be served by commentators, whose opinion and advice on the state of the world reached so many of their fellow-countrymen, voicing commercials. ARNA fought this battle in the public interest and won it. The stand is now accepted by the networks, although, at a recent private meeting with network officials, it is noted that sponsors still would like to have commentators put their prestige into commercials for the sponsors' products. (One result of this has been that sponsors have applied on occasion the all-inclusive term "commentator" to their newscasters who are naturally not averse to reading a minute of news about the Middle East crisis, followed by a minute of advice to smoke El Ropo cigarettes.) I mention this because the ARNA effort to keep news analysis free was done in the public interest and not seldom at a loss of income for ARNA members.

Now, since there seems to be a definite feeling among the serious Radio-TV critics that the "best interests of the public" are being affected by the failure of the industry to stimulate thought and discussion through news commentary, ARNA has devoted several of its recent meetings to a discussion of this topic. These are being continued and form a field of activity separated from the usual private meetings of ARNA with distinguished American and foreign statesmen, contacts which, of course, have been taking place as usual.

It is too early to reach any conclusions on the extent of the problem, before an adequate number of network officials and other authorities in the field are consulted.

It has seemed to ARNA, however, that the analysis and interpretation of news should find a regular place on the daily schedule if the broadcasters are to fulfill the demands of the charter under which they operate to serve public interest, convenience and necessity.

ARNA is well aware of the challenge of the new means of communication. How to marry the expert knowledge of the news analyst to the ability of the visual technician must be a subject of experiment, and it may be that at times, the analyst will be behind the scenes working on the preparation of TV news in depth, at others in front of the camera. But the claim of the critics that the public is being subjected to a stupefying mesmerizing wheel of escapist entertainment seems to emphasize that news analysis must find a place, if Television's duty to the public is to be anything more than -- just words.

AWRT Maintains 11 Chapters In America

By
BETTE DOOLITTLE

AWRT Eastern Area
Vice-President

IT WAS a year full of progress for American Women in Radio and Television, Inc. A year in which membership grew to an all-time high of 1,325. President Jane Dalton of WSPA, Spartanburg, S. C. and all of AWRT are to be congratulated on the growth of the organization, its increased activity and the valuable service to its members in the bringing together of women with something in common—employment in the broadcasting industry.

The exchange of ideas and information when it is undertaken by women is always of great and far-reaching importance and has been demonstrated in AWRT. We have seen small local chapters form with no more than the seven required minimum of members, women who got together to exchange ideas and information, and within a few months that membership has doubled and even tripled with a program of activity underway which reached all the women in the area in the broadcasting field, cooperating in community and industry projects and furthering their own value and stature by helping one another.

AWRT's 1,325 members come from every state, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Canada. There are 26 chapters, with eleven of them chartered in 1955. The majority of members are employed by radio and television stations and networks in widely diversified jobs: broadcasters, disc jockeys, administrators, program directors, continuity directors, lawyers, owners, librarians, and women in traffic, writing, publicity and promotion, education, film, sales and music.

Another important segment comes from advertising agencies, package agencies and public relations firms. These women are account executives, administrators, writers, actresses, publicists and in agency production. Companies that want to reach Mrs. Consumer have home economists and consumer service women in membership, too. Government agencies and public service organizations also are represented. There are also many freelance writers and performers, casting directors, researchers, industry consultants, and women writing for the important broadcasting trade press.

AWRT has demonstrated that it has something of value for every woman who is employed in broadcasting, either part or full time, wherever she might be.

News and Views, the AWRT monthly newsletter continues to carry news to every member. All chapter activities are reported, outstanding success stories of members and reports from its board and national committees.

Eleven national committees function in AWRT: Eligibility, Constitution and By-Laws, Membership, Projects, Public Relations, Scholarship, Publicity, Information Services, Convention, Industry and Information and Chapter Services. The latter two are new committees, having been created in 1955.

The AWRT 1955 Convention held in Chicago in May, was the largest in its history, with a registration of 529. The first AWRT Scholarship was awarded to Heather Woodard, 21-year old student at the University of Miami. Panels, speeches and business meetings gave to every delegate useful information, and more significantly, inspiration to improve her own work and contribute her share to the progress of the industry. The McCall Award again was a highlight, with seven women in radio and television receiving gold mikes as symbols of their achievements and service to the listening and viewing public.

The AWRT Scholarship deserves special mention here, since it is the pioneer effort by women in broadcasting to encourage college women to enter the field. The $500 cash award is given to a woman in her junior year in college, who is majoring in radio and/or television, and with the scholarship goes the guidance and counsel that the winner may draw upon from the membership of AWRT. The Scholarship can be best described as the faith and enthusiasm radio and television women have in their own work and in the future of the industry.

AWRT has great plans for the future. The national convention will be held in Boston in April of 1956, with Heloise Parker Broeg of WEEI as Convention Chairman. In 1957 the convention will be in St. Louis, and in 1958 the West Coast.

AWRT has come a long way since its organizing convention in New York City, in April, 1951 when it had a total of 358 members. But we consider our work only begun and will continue our efforts to build the organization.

Public Acceptance Is Sales Barometer

By
DR. W. R. G.
BAKER

Vice-President of the
General Electric Company

WE can expect significant developments in electronics in 1956, perhaps even greater than the progress achieved in 1955.

During the year just ended, General Electric Company introduced lightweight portable television sets, convertible clock radios and transistorized portable radios which were considered as outstanding innovations in the consumer goods market. The heavy public acceptance of these items was a reliable barometer indicating that the developing trend toward compactness and portability will be with us for some time. This trend will make itself felt not only in consumer goods lines, but in other products as well.

The trend to miniaturization which we can expect in 1956 goes hand in hand with that of compactness and portability. The year 1955 saw advancements in printed wiring, micro-miniature ceramic and metal tubes, and micro-power transistors. Next year, we can expect a furthering of developments along this line only one of which will be a tiny resistor-capacitor network assembly now undergoing refinement within our General Electric Electronics Division.

In the field of broadcast equipment, we pioneered in 1955 in equipment which moved television broadcasting to the highest transmitting powers allowed by FCC, thus insuring better reception in fringe areas. And, to meet the demand for industrial television, an area which will see heavy commercialization in 1956, General Electric made available new high-quality camera equipment, with improved camera tubes. Similar progress was made in cathode-ray tubes during the year.

Our mobile communications equipment line also saw substantial improvement during 1955, and we paid considerable attention to microwave relay systems. A new laboratory of the G-E Electronics Division was established during the year at Palo Alto, Calif., for this latter purpose.

For defense, we are continuing our development of more powerful and more efficient radar equipment, and are placing more emphasis on electronic defense systems. To accomplish this, our Electronics Division was reorganized just before the turn of the year, to bring about a closer coordination of our Company's military electronic businesses.

This organizational realignment, however, was not concerned with military electronics alone. It also was designed to help us keep pace with the great steps forward which are anticipated in the next five years in industrial electronics including such areas as semiconductor, computers, and automation.

The electronics industry heard the last-mentioned word—automation—with abundant repetition in 1955. Undoubtedly, we will hear more of it in 1956 and the years beyond. It is a catch-all word which is meant to sum up everything the industry in general has been doing to manufacture equipment in the most efficient manner possible.

Whether we think of automation in its true sense—that is, the programming of machines by electronic control—or in the sense of achieving increased mechanization with more intricate systems of conveying goods—the ultimate desire is still the same. We have as our goal the primary objective of improving processing and assembly operations so that the consumer, in the long run, will get a better product at the most economical price possible.

As we see it, the technology of automation is only part of the program for progress which will lead us to new horizons in 1956 and the years ahead.

Public Interest Campaigns Get Results

By
GORDON C.
KINNEY

Radio & Television
Director The Advertising Council

IT IS nice to be able to report, in this Annual, that the past year has seen a sizeable increase in the time, talent and circulation contributed by broadcasters and advertisers to public service information campaigns. More television and radio circulation was given to more campaigns of government agencies and private organizations last year than in any previous year. And the outlook for even broader broadcasting support of public interest projects in 1956 is very bright.

The number of network television programs and advertisers that cooperate with The Advertising Council in supporting its campaigns continues to grow. More and more filmed TV shows are finding it possible to insert public service appeals. The many multi-sponsored TV shows are now devoting time to these vital projects. Even the most expensive spectaculars and special shows are sharing time with campaigns in the public interest. The drive of the Council to enlist the help of television's biggest programs in the best time periods -- and thereby assure public interest campaigns, the largest audiences and best that TV has to offer -- is succeeding.

It is the Council's goal to have the cooperation of every network television program in Class A Time in support of important public service campaigns. This goal was nearly reached in 1955. We are confident that the few remaining programs and advertisers who have not yet joined in this important phase of broadcasting will participate in 1956. Also, as television stations increase throughout America, they bring these vital messages to new audiences, new markets -- broadening further the generous support, expanding further the role of the broadcaster in the public service.

But rather than detail for you here the continuing growth of public service broadcasting and advertising, it might be best to answer the questions, "Do these broad public service campaigns, which America's broadcasters support so generously, achieve any results? Are they effective?"

Here briefly, are reports on a few of the Council's Major campaigns:

Better Schools

- Four years ago, there were some 17 local citizens committees working to improve public schools. Today, the total exceeds 10,000. In 1955, there were 34 state citizen committees -- an increase of 10 over 1954. In 1947 membership in Parent-Teacher Associations totaled 4½ million. Present membership is over 10 million.

CARE

- In 1955 more CARE packages were shipped overseas than in any previous year. Over one million of the so-called "Dollar Packages" were shipped during the calendar year.

Engineers Wanted

- While overall college enrollments rose 8% as of September, 1955, enrollments in engineering colleges rose 9%. Freshmen enrolled in engineering colleges were 10.4% of the overall college freshmen enrollments. This compares with a 7% figure in 1952, the year the Council originated its campaign.

Fire Prevention

- Statistics for fire losses during 1955 showed a leveling off after four years of steady increase.

Religion In American Life

- In communities mobilized around the RIAL program increases in attendance at religious services have taken place running from 10% to as high as 50%. Experience indicates that these results generally continue long after the conclusion of the program.

Stop Accidents

- In 1954 the national death rate was reduced from 11.3 per 100 million passenger miles to 6.5. While the actual number of deaths for 1955 probably will show an increase over those of 1954, it is indicated that the death rate may not be affected adversely.

U. S. Savings Bonds

- Sales of E and H Savings Bonds in 1955 were the highest in peacetime history. Cash sales totaled about $5½ billion compared to $4,900,000 in 1954.

Broadcasters and advertisers can be proud of their part in helping to produce results like these. If we all work to expand even further the support and effectiveness of television in these areas, we can achieve even more remarkable results in solving America's problems the voluntary way.

Color TV Transition Must Be Smooth

By
JOHN SINN
President
Ziv Television Programs

IN THE past few months, it has become very clear to the television film industry that a plentiful basic supply of film programs is not enough, in itself, to attract either audiences or advertisers—particularly advertisers.

The top advertisers using syndicated films today are paying careful attention to star names, production values, script quality, and promotional opportunities. They are taking a close look before they bet their advertising chips for a whole season.

But, we've learned, when they find a show that measures up, they don't skimp on their program budgets. Quality, more and more advertising executives fully realize, has to be purchased—not bargained for.

We are very proud of the fact that we have a very low turnover in our clients, year after year, and a very high renewal rate on shows continuing in production. In fact, more than 75% of the clients with which we started out some six seasons ago are still on the roster of Ziv Tv sponsors.

The continuing quality of the film series we have delivered to our clients has built their confidence in us. And, the confidence of our advertisers has enabled us to map out a production goal for 1956 that is expected to be 38% over the level of 1955—a year in which we produced more than 3.2 million feet of program film footage and 428,976 feet of special custom commercials at our Hollywood studios.

As you might imagine, the number of man hours and the amount of talent that must be poured into such an ambitious schedule is enormous.

Take actors, for example. We have been able to attract top marquee names—like Barry Sullivan, Richard Carlson, Broderick Crawford, David Brian—and others to star in our telefilm series by paying top prices, and by proving that they will get nationwide exposure on television that rivals any other medium in existence.

But telefilms can't be made with stars alone. You need supporting players, character actors, extras. They, too, must be of a high calibre to maintain your overall quality.

At our Hollywood studios recently, we inaugurated what is probably the biggest schedule of talent auditions ever seen in the film industry. We will screen groups of actors and actresses of all types twice a month, and hope to find as many as 250 "new" faces for our $12 million 1956 production schedule.

Why are we forced to hunt for "new" faces in Hollywood, the talent center of the worldwide film industry? It's true there's no particular shortage of acting talent. But television, and television filming, has grown so extensive that we must enlarge this talent pool, since we and others are constantly using it. Fresh faces help us to maintain freshness in our productions—particularly those of a semi-documentary nature, such as "Man Called X," "Highway Patrol," and "I Led Three Lives" and dramatic anthologies like "Science Fiction Theatre." And, it ultimately helps to build large program audiences for the advertiser's commercials.

This is only one facet of the problems that face us as a leading telefilm producer. We constantly search for top-notch writers, and have employed such well-known TV dramatists and screenwriters as Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, authors of "Inherit The Wind"; Robert L. Smith, who scripted "Sudden Fear," Jo Pagano, Gene Levitt, John Larkin and many others. We have sought out the top directors, producers, cameramen, technicians, lighting experts. Everything, from the raw film stock you use right through to your distribution organization, must be top calibre. Otherwise, a weak link in your chain will lower your over-all quality.

It all adds up to one thing. As film producers, we feel that our primary responsibility is to deliver a quality product to our customers. At the same time, we also feel a responsibility toward the millions of viewers who watch Ziv-produced telefilm shows in over 280 cities in the United States.

The viewer of today is getting more and more selective in his choice of viewing fare. But we at Ziv Television Programs feel confident that we will prove equal to this challenge, and that we will continue to play a major role in an industry which will forge beyond the conventional lines as they are drawn today.

“MILLION DOLLAR SHOWCASE”

New Television Broadcast Techniques

By
DAVID T.
SCHULTZ

President
Allen B. Du Mont
Laboratories, Inc.

PROBABLY the most significant occurrence during 1955 at Du Mont from a television broadcast industry standpoint was our decision to discontinue television network broadcasting, to spin-off our broadcasting properties as a separate corporation, The Du Mont Broadcasting Corporation, and to concentrate upon furnishing technical equipment to the industry.

Du Mont had participated in television network broadcasting since 1946, and in the succeeding years we made many contributions to the development and growth of nation-wide television as we know it today. With the type F.C.C. allocation plan under which the industry is now operating, there is no likelihood in the near future that there can be enough strong television outlets in major markets to support four network operations.

With the spin-off of our broadcasting properties divorced itself from broadcasting. Our direct interest in television broadcasting is now to provide service, transmitting equipment, and new technical advances at the transmitter, studio and film making levels to broadcasters and film producers.

An example of the technical advances and service which Du Mont is equipped to provide is the Electronicam TV-Film System. In this completely new concept for the making of motion picture films, all of the electronic advantages of live television broadcasting are combined with motion picture techniques so that highest quality film can be made in a fraction of the time required by conventional methods.

The camera units of the "Electronicam" combine an image orthicon view finder with a specially-adapted 16mm or 35mm motion picture camera, using a single common lens system. As a result, film directors, producers and all members of the creative team see the action that is being filmed on television monitors exactly as the motion picture camera sees it. There is no need to wait to see results of a day's shooting. It is seen instantaneously on the monitors by all persons concerned.

The "Electronicam" is a complete system which includes monitors, television switching control units, and matting amplifiers. An editing master film is made electronically while the high definition film is being shot, and this editing master is recorded complete with wipes, fades, laps, super-impositions and other special effects.

In the broadcast equipment field Du Mont pioneered again with a completely new method for live color television pick-up. Called "Vitascan", this new system enables a television station or closed-circuit broadcaster to present live color television without the need for expensive tri-color cameras and their problems of registration, long warm-up time and numerous highly-trained technicians.

This is accomplished by scanning a scene with a beam of light and using photoelectric cells to pick up the reflected light and convert it to electrical energy. In the "Vitascan" system, the scanning is done by a cathode-ray tube and the reflected light is picked up by multiplier phototubes which not only convert the light to electrical energy but multiply it many times. Correct signals for color transmission are achieved through the use of color filters placed in front of the phototubes.

"Vitascan" is actually the reverse of usual television techniques. In "Vitascan", what appears to be the camera is actually the light source or scanner. Above the studio, where floodlights would ordinarily be, are the multiplier phototubes.

Because "Vitascan" works on the principle of a reflected beam of light, the action must take place in a light-tight studio. So that actors can see in the studio, stroboscopic lights flash on 60 times a second during the blanking interval when the cathode-ray beam is shut off.

The "Electronicam" and Vitascan" are two of our most recent developments to serve the television broadcast industry. Du Mont continues its basic research in transmitter circuitry, studio equipment, optics, film production and color television transmission to give broadcasters the best technical products and service.

Mutual Broadcasting System-Radio — WABD-Dumont Television

Cuban Annual Ad Investment $7 Million

By GOAR MESTRE
President, Circuito
CMQ, S.A.

CUBA'S first TV license was granted to CMQ early in 1950 and our Channel 6 transmitter went on the air in mid-December of that year, before our television building, adjoining our radio installations in Radiocentro, had been completed. A 5 kw transmitter, with a 3-bay superturnstile antenna on a 200 ft. hurricane proof tower atop the television building, was inaugurated together with two iconoscope film chains and four projectors and two studios, with two cameras each, plus a mobile unit equipped with microwave and cameras.

A small 16 mm film processing laboratory was installed in order to provide adequate facilities for the production of TV commercials, and the usual provisions for a reasonable amount of scenery and props were also included.

On March 12, 1951, the official inauguration of CMQ-TV took place with the attendance of the highest Cuban authorities, including the President of the Republic and a group of U. S. advertising agency representatives, newspapermen and editors of trade magazines, who came to Cuba as guests, to join their Cuban colleagues on the eventful occasion.

From the very beginning of television in Cuba, it became evident that response to the new medium, on the part of the advertisers and the general public, was surely to exceed our fondest expectations. By the end of 1951, CMQ-TV was in the black, the number of live programs was far greater than could be adequately handled with the existing facilities and there were more than 25,000 TV-homes in Greater Havana.

In November, 1951, CMQ inaugurated in the city of Camaguey, the first of four TV stations in the Interior of the island which were to make up its national network, for which both advertisers and the general public had been clamoring since the inception of television in Havana, less than a year before. In March and April of 1952, additional transmitters went operative in the cities of Matanzas, Santa Clara and Santiago de Cuba, and our Video Recording Department was ready to handle over 20,000 feet of 16 mm film daily, containing all of CMQ's 6 hours of daily program fare. By May 1st, 1952, our national TV network was a reality and TV had come within the reach of nearly 70% of all Cuban homes.

While this expansion in our transmitting facilities was taking place, additional studios and cameras were being added in Radiocentro and by mid 1952, the number of studios had increased to five, the mobile units to two and sixteen cameras were in daily use.

While there are no official figures available, we estimate that total advertising investment in the television medium in Cuba is currently approaching a figure equivalent to seven million dollars a year, a substantial share of which is being invested in the CMQ-TV network. This is due to CMQ's superior programming, which commands at all times an audience in excess of 50% of all sets tuned in at any one time.

Program ratings in Cuba are undergoing the same process which has been observed in the United States and while three years ago it was not uncommon for a top program to hit a rating of over 60, today there is only one program on Cuban television that exceeds 50, and those that exceed 40 can also be counted with the fingers of both hands. At CMQ, however, when a program does not obtain a rating of more than 25, we seriously begin to consider throwing it out the window.

Summing up, boldness in programming, boldness in creative selling, and a tremendous expansion in technical facilities, have made CMQ-TV grow spectacularly during the past five years. What the future holds for Cuban television, greatly depends on the general over-all economical situation of the country which, in turn, hinges to a greater extent than most people realize, on what happens to U. S. purchases of Cuban sugar.

This little island in the Caribbean, everyone knows, is among the world's best and largest consumer of U. S. manufactured and agricultural products, having one of the world's highest per capita rates of consumption of such products. The extent to which television will participate in the overall advertising picture greatly depends on the demand for such imported or locally manufactured goods.

Syndication Now Permanent In TV Field

By
DAVID V.
SUTTON

Vice President
in Charge of MCA-TV Ltd.

DESPIE some comments to the contrary, I think 1955 saw syndicated television reach a mature stage. I think further that syndication has become one of the basic mainstays of the medium, and 1956 will see it established even more firmly.

Many previously notable trends became more in evidence in 1955 and will play an important part in shaping the future of syndication in the year to come. In 1955, these four factors underlay the development of most national trends: the emergence of top-quality productions filmed expressly for syndication; the rating success achieved by syndicated shows even when paired against well-known network fare; the choice time periods obtained by syndicated properties, notwithstanding the general "tightness" of prime time experienced by the industry as a whole; and finally, the entering en masse of the medium by a big number of national advertisers.

With the emergence of the dramatic spectaculars during 1955 by the networks, tv film distributors met the challenge with quality products. In line with the trend of handling only top-quality shows, MCA-TV, for example, in June, 1955, released a work of Lloyd C. Douglas for presentation on television for the first time. "Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal," based on the novel by the eminent author, has presented the film buyer with the opportunity of sponsoring a show of quality with originality and the opportunity of associating his station or product with the works of one of the most distinguished writers in the literary world. This is the trend which became so evident during 1955 and will be of primary importance if syndication is to present the type of product that can pull high ratings against a national show.

Given a good time period, a high-quality show made for syndication can match the rating of a network show. Carrying this one step further, there is little doubt that a good syndicated show, given broad coverage, can offer fierce competition to a network presentation. Using MCA-TV's own highly successful "Waterfront" series as an example, we found that in 34 ARB metropolitan market reports listed as carrying the series, an approximate 4,200,000 homes watched the program out of a potential of 15,900,000 unduplicated homes. This is a highly respectable audience level for any show, syndication or net.

As a result of proving they can attain high ratings, syndicated shows are now able to obtain prime telecast time. For example, "Waterfront" was able to obtain prime evening time in such major markets as: 8:00-8:30, Wednesday, Houston; 8:30-9:03, Friday, in San Francisco; and 8:30-9:00, Thursday, in Portland, Oregon. These are time slots once considered the exclusive domain of the networks. It is interesting to note that even in markets where "Waterfront" did not get prime time, like Philadelphia, where it is telecast Sundays 6:30, the high quality of the show earns a 35.6 rating which ranked eighth in the market among all shows, network or local origination.

There is still another vital factor to be taken into consideration when attempting to define the scope of film syndication. There is the sponsor's angle. Many of the nation's biggest and most astute advertisers have realized the value of syndication, as evidenced by their entering the medium en masse. The list of major advertisers now using syndication reads like the blue book of advertising. Such important sponsors as Procter and Gamble, Standard Oil Company, Ford Dealers, Coca-Cola Dealers, Liebman Breweries and Heinz Company have entered syndicated television in the past. Major advertisers found they could purchase syndicated fare and get prime time rather than go into fringe network time. This allowed the advertisers to slant their campaign toward the consumer situation in the market and maintain one theme through their advertising campaign.

Today in any evaluation of television, syndicated TV must be considered a major factor in the broadcasting industry. We are headed toward a stabilized business year. It is apparent that syndication is moving ahead into a permanent and prominent position in the nation's most dynamic advertising medium.

65 TV Stations Across Canada By 1958

JULES LaROCHELLE

Correspondent
Radio Television Daily

THE Canadian radio and television industry in all its phases recorded further short-growth in 1955 and outlook for 1956 is declared highly favorable by all those connected with the industry—either in the broadcasting, advertising and manufacturing ends.

Numerous other outlets were initiated during the year, both for television and radio broadcasting and it is now estimated that television coverage spreads to reach over 10,000,000 Canadians, while radio coverage, of course, is pretty near the 100 per cent mark.

Canadian manufacturers of television and radio sets report higher production and sales for the year 1955. It is estimated that already Canadians have spent more than $500,000,000 for television sets and other related appliances thus far. There are at present some 1,600,000 black and white TV receivers in homes across the country. For this year, official associations report that when final figures become available it will be shown that 1955 tv set sales amounted well over 750,000 units. (Latest official figures indicated that in the first eleven months of 1955 there were 690,071 TV sets sold, compared with 530,350 in the corresponding period of previous year. Value of television sets sold in the eleven month period of 1955 was $209,169, 249). There was a decline in average value of sets in that period from $348 year before to $303 in latest period.

As for the sales outlook of tv sets, makers feel that growth will not be as pronounced in 1956 but the market just the same is not expected to ever become saturated. They point out to the experience of the radio receiver market where despite the fact that television has given stiff competition to the older system, sales have continued at high level right along.

As far as the broadcasting end of the radio and television industry, conditions remained favorable. Advertising revenues were good, especially for television operations. Also, radio broadcasters managed favorably despite the fact that they had to considerably rearrange program schedules.

An important development in the year and one that will have an all-important bearing on the future of the whole television broadcasting business was the progress reported in the cross-country 3,800-mile coast-to-coast microwave system. Using 135 relay points to make simultaneous transmission of nationwide TV programs, the system is expected to be completed on schedule by 1958.

Contract for the giant network was awarded to the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, acting for the Trans-Canada Telephone System, an association formed of Maritime Telephone & Telegraph Co., New Brunswick Telephone Co., Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, Manitoba Telephone System, Saskatchewan Government Telephones, Alberta Government Telephones and the British Columbia Telephone Co. The seven members are responsible for construction in areas they serve. Also to extend the French-language television network in Eastern Canada, the Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway Company have opened micro-wave networks from Montreal to Quebec City—which is now used by the CBS—and further contract has been awarded to push the service from Montreal to Sherbrooke, Que., as far east as Rimouski, Quebec. The railways have also developed a network between Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener, Wingham, London and Windsor, in Ontario.

Latest compilation available showed that the following Canadian cities were serviced by private television stations: St. John's, Nfld., Sydney, N. S., Charlottetown, P. E. I., Saint John, N. B., Moncton, N. B., Jonquiere, Que., Rimouski, Que., Quebec City; Sherbrooke, Que.; Hamilton, London, Windsor, Wingham, Barrie, North Bay, Timmins, Sudbury, all in Ontario; Brandon, Man., Saskatoon, Sask., Regina, Sask., Lethbridge, Edmonton and Calgary, Alberta, Peterborough, Kingston, Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur, Ont. The CBS operated TV stations at Halifax, N. S., Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Of the immediate future as far as television stations additions is concerned, private interests maintain that they could have up to 65 stations operating across Canada by 1958—if more than one outlet is permitted in all centers.

Radio-TV Members Boost Press Corps Total

By
LOUIS P.
LOCHNER
President
Overseas Press Club

THE Overseas Press Club of America was organized in 1939 under the leadership of Wythe Williams, veteran New York Times foreign correspondent, as an association of journalists who have served or are serving American newspapers, news associations, magazines, radio and TV abroad as foreign correspondents or photographers.

Beginning with 40 charter members, the Club now numbers 1500 and includes virtually every foreign correspondent whose name has become familiar through radio and television appearances, or by his or her byline in newspapers and other periodicals.

In December of 1954, the Club dedicated the Memorial Press Center, a beautiful brown stone club house at 35 East 39th Street, New York, to the memory of over eighty American correspondents on overseas duty who gave their lives during and after World War II so that a free press might continue in a free world.

The furtherance of freedom of speech, press, and assembly is one main aim of the Club. During 1955 it has supported efforts to liberate American journalists in several Latin American countries who were arrested by dictatorial regimes. It has insisted upon a fair inquiry into the murder of Gene Symonds in Singapore, and has championed Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz's right to regain ownership of La Prensa of Buenos Aires, wrenched from him by Juan Peron.

In October, 1955, the Club joined the Americas Foundation in sponsoring a two-day Assembly on News, Knowledge and Freedom in the Americas, held in the Memorial Press Center. Problems of inter-American interest were discussed with intimate frankness by a gratifying array of publicists and savants from both continents, among them Dr. Gainza Paz, and general chairman of the Assembly:

former President Eduardo Santos of Colombia, publisher of El Tiempo of Bogota; A. A. Berle, associate professor of law, Columbia University; former President Galo Plaza of Ecuador, and Spruille Braden, president of the Pan-American Society.

The Club maintains cooperative relations with the International Press Institute at Zurich, Switzerland. It helps combat the growing tendency in government to render access to information to which the public is entitled, increasingly difficult.

The Annual Awards Dinner, held at the Waldorf-Astoria in April, 1955, was the high-point of the year. An inspiring address by U.S. Senator Margaret Chase Smith preceded the presentation of a series of awards to foreign correspondents for exceptional journalistic and photographic work.

At the Club's Tuesday afternoon "at homes" members returning from overseas assignments have reported intimately and authoritatively on the political, social, and economic situation abroad, often speaking off the record.

The Club appeared on the air repeatedly during 1955. Principal event in this category was the NBC Producer's Showcase in November. This TV show was produced for and with the Overseas Press Club. Club members also participated in an NBC panel discussion on Disarmament, with Harold Stassen as guest. Others contributed a WNYC program on Freedom of the Press. The CBS Overseas Round-up by this network's foreign correspondents has become an annual luncheon feature of the Overseas Press Club's Christmas season. The CBS colleagues are plied with searching questions.

One of the most popular features of 1955 Club life was a series of regional dinners, or "national nights," which acquainted the members with the history, customs, arts, and cuisines of France, Israel, Greece, Hawaii, India, Austria, Mexico, and Norway.

"Book evenings" centering about works of Club members proved impressively stimulating.

One of the Club's many services is that of a Placement Committee, which finds jobs for many members; another is a Group Insurance Plan which furnishes members inexpensive protection of life and health.

The Club publishes a weekly BULLETIN which keeps the membership informed both of the Club's doings and the whereabouts, nature of work, and personal data of the 1500 members. A Who's Who of the membership is in process of publication.

As the service with the most subscribers, Pulse calls your attention to the huge backlog of data available for the 107 markets listed to the left; the other 31 are new markets added this year.

Let us explain the many reasons why Pulse, with the largest sampling outside U. S. Census, is winning ever-widening preference. Now well over 500 subscribers, 1955 was the biggest year in Pulse's experience, dating back to 1941. Wire or phone for details.

Advertising Agency Competition Is Keen

By
BILL NUGENT
Staff Writer
Radio-Television Daily

COMPETITIVE belt surrounding advertising agencies stretched to new lengths in 1955. America's consumer goods makers, riding the crest of the healthiest economy in history, shuffled advertising accounts at the rate of better-than two a day.

The "big switch" left few agencies untouched. For some, it meant new life, new power and a record-breaking share of the nation's advertising dollar. For others, the reverse was true.

Agency zig-zagging by blue-chip giants comes as no accident. It's the direct result of new concepts in today's selling. Marketing and merchandising pressures, more violent than ever because of television, enveloped practically every shop along the Madison Avenue circuit uprooting accounts that had been resting leisurely for years.

Time was when the only function of an agency was to prepare ads. This is no longer true. Today's sponsor expects a complete merchandising and marketing service. If he doesn't get it, he goes a-hunting.

A record number of agencies felt the pinch last year. Before the smoke clears from this season's hop-scotching, over $150,000,000 in major client billings will have changed hands.

The migrants came from virtually all product fields. Two top soft-drink firms, Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola, diverted allegiance from agencies which had directed their spending for decades. Breweries, with combined billings of over $25,000,000, left several of the better-known ad-sleuths crying in their beer.

Automobile and cigarette makers did their share of transplanting in the past year, too.

Studebaker named Benton & Bowles while Packard tapped D'Arcy over Ruthrauff & Ryan. In one of the biggest stories of the year, Philip Morris switched $8,000,000 in business from The Bicw Company to N. W. Ayer. L&M Filters, which grew up in Cunningham & Walsh, decided Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample could do a better job.

Soap, drug and toothpaste companies provided plenty of ad alley gossip as did watch-makers, cosmetic firms, appliance makers, food packers and airlines.

Some of the big changes included Whitehall Pharmacal from Biow to Ted Bates; Westinghouse from Fuller & Smith & Ross to McCann-Erickson; Bulova from Biow to McCann-Erickson; Swift from J. Walter Thompson to McCann-Erickson; Frigidaire from Foote, Cone & Belding to Kudner; American Airlines from Ruthrauff & Ryan to Lennen & Newell; Toni from Weiss & Geller and Leo Burnett to North; Revlon from Norman, Craig & Kummel to BBD&O and a host of others.

Hardest-hit agency was the Biow Company. That firm had over $30,000,000 in billings lopped off within two months. Among the winners were McCann-Erickson (upped over $50-million in billings), BBD&O, J. Walter Thompson, Kenyon & Eckhardt, Benton & Bowles, Ted Bates and Young & Rubicam.

Estimates for the total 1955 advertising expenditure by American business have been placed at $9-billion—a gain of almost 10 per cent over the previous year. A higher figure for 1956 is freely predicted.

Radio and television garnered a sizeable portion of that amount. The video medium accounted for over $1-billion in advertising dollars representing a 25 per cent gain over 1954. With Young & Rubicam leading the pack, the top 35 agencies billed over $800-million in both radio and television.

No knowledgeable adman would dare predict the life-expectancy of an account within his own organization. Last year's wholesale head-rolling makes that pretty clear. But one thing is certain.

Agencies can look forward to bigger billings in 1956. Just where those plums land depends on the agency itself. Ability to keep pace with today's rapidly-changing selling trends is a necessary factor for survival on Madison Avenue.

The Position of Closed Circuit Television

By
JOE MORRIS
Managing Editor
Radio-Television Daily

MOST facets of TV have a very bright future but the current candidate for the title of "Most Likely to Succeed" is the closed circuit application of the medium. There are those who predict that closed circuit TV in all its phases and fringe features will, within 10 years, be an industry with a larger annual dollar volume than TV broadcasting. This of course would include equipment manufacturing, industrial application, use in the home, in buildings, as a communication medium in education and other phases as yet undeveloped and undiscovered.

Prevailing opinion is that its role as a communication and entertainment medium will eventually be taken over by networks. This holds true both among networks and to a great extent among executives of independent companies engaged in producing closed circuit telecasts.

During 1955, new exploration in use of closed circuits brought astounding results. As a medium of entertainment, it garnered heavy financial returns; as a medium of communication, it found wide use in industry for trans-continental business conferences; as a sales tool, it was put to use selling broadcast TV to potential sponsors and was offered to advertisers as a merchandising adjunct to sponsored programs.

Currently, networks which use it, apply it as an adjunct to the TV sales department. However, the natural outgrowth of this is eventual domination of the medium's application on a commercial basis, both as a communication tool for industry and as an entertainment vehicle. First steps have been taken in this direction. Production of several telecasts sold by closed circuit firms has been network handled. The resources available to networks—for this role make it inevitable that they will dominate the field since no closed circuit company would be able to muster equivalent staff and equipment to furnish competition.

New developments in the medium currently being rushed are large screen color and merchandising in department stores. There are five large screen color projectors available at present. The use of large screen color at first will be backed up with a safety factor of 21-inch screen color receivers spotted throughout reception locations to safe-guard against breakdowns in the large screen apparatus.

Consensus of opinion is that there will never be a sufficient number of events of national interest to support a closed circuit TV firm. However, many new theories of programming are being put into effect.

in an overlap into the educational TV area, a series of lectures will be presented this year on a commercial basis. These lectures will not be of general interest but will be aimed at specific professional groups throughout the country, presenting experts in each field in teaching roles.

As a merchandising tool in department stores, the closed circuit TV set uses 21-inch color receivers placed throughout the store to bring customers an electronic merchandising display at one location without requiring them to make a tour of the entire building. Use of the medium in a monitoring role in factories and buildings is becoming widespread since a simple set-up using a portable-size camera and a receiver can be installed for as little as $1,000.

Color makes the medium particularly appealing to a client as a sales or merchandising tool since color is still enough of a novelty to guarantee him an audience motivated by curiosity about color TV if not about his product.

Currently, closed circuit TV is in a big boom as a medium of communication for large firms. One company holds a closed circuit conference each week of the year, utilizing it to approve TV commercials prepared by its various agencies. Two large advertising agencies are planning to install permanent closed circuit links between branch offices in key metropolitan centers.

In the educational field widespread experimentation with closed circuit TV is in progress on all academic levels, from kindergarten to university graduate instruction, and indications are that it may be the final answer to alleviation of the crucial teacher shortage existing throughout the nation.

Glowing Future Predicted for RTES

By
CLAUDE BARRERE

Secretary
Radio and Television
Executives Society

ABOUT a thousand hard-headed men and women in the broadcasting business ranging from Chairmen of Boards of some of America's major enterprises down to junior Time Buyers and Salesmen belong to the Radio and Television Executives Society. Why?

We could say it's because of the inborn industry slogan of "Service." We could equally well recall the statement of an old Greek philosopher that "All of our acts are motivated by selfishness."

The growing recognition that the RTES, through its various activities, is increasingly serving the industry and the individual therein is the true answer to why so many are members and are supporting it with time, money and energy.

It is recalled that the RTES was formed in 1952 by bringing together the Radio Executives Club of New York, which was founded in 1939, and the American Television Society, junior by a matter of a few months. These two organizations resembled each other in many phases and were quite different in others. The teaming of their various qualities brought about the stronger, sturdier, organization now in its fourth year. The present membership shows a well-balanced representation amongst the networks, stations, station reps., advertising agencies, film organizations and the many other services allied to broadcasting.

How, then, is the RTES serving the industry and its members? The showiest aspect is, no doubt, its monthly luncheons, a forum attended by consistently large numbers of members and friends. It is pleasant to point to such speakers this current season as Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and George C. McConaughy, Chairman of the FCC, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Sir Ian Jacobs, of the BBC, Louis A. Cowan, Irving R. Levine, and special events with the American Women in Radio and Television, the Peabody Awards luncheon and the huge Christmas party. Yet these "showcases" have perhaps less weight than such things as the Listening Post, the Time Buying and Selling Course and the Workshops.

The Listening Post is something of which the RTES and its members are particularly proud. Its intriguing name originated before the RTES was formed when a group of well-known people in the industry, on a very informal basis, endeavored to help their friends and acquaintances who suddenly found themselves in the unaccustomed predicament of being unemployed. As one of its founders put it: "We lend a sympathetic ear to our friends and keep the other to the ground to hear of openings, hence the name." Frequently, he it said, they didn't wait for openings but energetically sought out possible spots for which their friends were qualified.

With the monies collected through the Christmas parties the RTES was in a position to help the Listening Post, all of whose members also belonged to the Society. They gave it a headquarters with the necessary administrative personnel and wider publicity, promotion, etc.

It is significant that the Listening Post is not a placement service. It will not accept applications from persons who are in jobs, but insists that they must be, or officially are about to be, unemployed. Furthermore, it will not accept, as applicants, persons who are trying to get into the broadcasting field, nor those, who through other affiliation, might better be helped to locate jobs.

Each week applicants have the opportunity of sitting around the table with members of the Listening Post. This helps them to orientate themselves as well as to acquaint the Committee with their qualifications. Call it an informal screening and counseling session. The applicants are then given leads to likely openings for which they are qualified.

As can well be expected the applicants outnumber job referrals. Perhaps as much as ten to one. However, as people in key positions in the industry become acquainted with the Listening Post's services they are more and more inclined to tap this pool of available talent. The files are thick with commendatory letters from employers who found the man or woman they needed through the Listening Post. There is also quite a collection of notes of gratitude from ex-applicants.

Strict statistics of the Listening Post activities are not available. While applicants far exceed placements, it is estimated that an average of something better than four jobs a week are filled through employers and prospective employees being brought together through the Listening Post.

When a commercial draws the viewer into the picture to such an extent that he sees himself enjoying the benefits of the product . . . you can be sure that commercial is drawing a lot of sales, too.

Random Information Bits On Buying Habits

By
RALPH H. WEIL
Executive
Vice President. WOV

A THOROUGH follow-up on several random bits of evidence (a costly wedding dress, a pack of cigarettes, a new automobile and a tin of olive oil) will help clear up the remaining mysteries surrounding the character and activities of the Italian-language market in the U. S.

Purchase of the Wedding Dress: The wedding dress alluded to, questioning shows, cost approximately as much as a standard fur coat, which puts it into the "considered purchase" class. Obviously the family's income was such that the price was not an obstacle. As is usual, such an important purchase was carefully considered by the bride-elect and her family. With such a sum involved it was naturally selected from a shop which measured up to the entire family's prestige ideals. Their choice of a shop was directly influenced by the family's Italian language listening habits and the gown was sold either by a Fifth Avenue shop—or perhaps one in the Bronx—which has used Italian language broadcast schedules regularly for years, with intensified schedules preceding the wedding boom seasons. The family listening habits tell us something about the family tastes . . . including second and third generations (since the American-born, American-schooled bride herself is either second or third generation). With better than 95% of Italian-American New Yorkers understanding English, only a scant 5% listens because of language limitation. The others listen by choice . . . because it is a beloved part of their heritage. They want to retain it and why not? People who have never yet even visited Italy are imbued with bantering pride about the district from which their forebears originated. Programs from these "home towns" once or twice removed, fascinate the entire family. Many of WOV's produced-in-Italy features are daily broadcast fare for stations in other cities. (These are all flourishing, with the tabs picked on a multi-city basis by a single sponsor).

But The Brand Of Cigarettes Is American:

Naturally it is. One of the big standard brands too. National advertisers have found they can garner a bigger share of sales for their brand by using, instead of ignoring, the Italian language broadcast way to influence the Italian Market in their favor. Automobile manufacturers and dealers have caught on to the same fact. They are frank and grateful in their acknowledgement that Italian broadcasting produces a welcome volume of inquiries leading to actual sales.

But Olive Oil Is An Italian Staple.

Right again. The taste for nationally advertised American merchandise and services coexists with the taste for Italian cuisine. Nor should one overlook the fact that grocery stores featuring full lines of Italian type food products magnetize the third generation Italian-American as well as the first. They enjoy roughly the same forum type popularity as the legendary country store of earlier rural America. And incidentally, the majority of these store keepers keep radios tuned steadily to Italian language broadcasting. In New York the number of such stores is 2,700.

Therefore Sherlock Concludes: That there is no end in sight for the influence of Italian language broadcasting on that portion of the American public which is of Italian descent. Today's bride gowned in the expensive finery she acquired as the result of Italian language advertising impact is tomorrow's Italian grocery store customer. Since Italian listening is a happy part of her heritage it is also one of the best ways of influencing her choice of furniture retailer, electrical appliance shop, real estate dealer, etc. (A large summer colony in Long Island has grown up as the result of several years of Italian language broadcast advertising with the young married and middle age groups naturally accounting for the major portion of purchasers).

That if Americans of non-Italian origin are being swept up in the current fashion for things Italian (clothes and hair styles to name but two) it is clear that with Italian-Americans this taste has been fostered from infancy on and can be considered a lifetime preference.

That Italian language broadcasters, in the WOV tradition, can be counted on to keep the ear-appeal and heart-appeal of programs in prime condition, and of prime influence. They've had long experience with audiences that listen, not from language limitation but from choice.

"BUT, DADDY, DIDN'T YOU WRITE THE COMMERCIAL?"

Yes, Virginia, there are people who write BBDO television commercials. But they don't get a credit line. Not because we aren't proud of our work. And not only because a long list of our TV writers, artists and technicians would eat up high-priced time. But mainly because BBDO wants to leave the viewer with a stirring memory of just one name—the client's.

M-E (McCann-Erickson) loves you, and we just don't care who knows it! After all, you—the talent, the producers, the packagers, the people with ideas—helped make this the biggest quarter in McCann's history, so why shouldn't we? To be specific, our little affair this year will give birth to TV and radio billing weighing in at over $75,000,000, and that's a heap of lovin' in anybody's book.

Most important of all, our romance has made McCann clients the happiest mothers-in-law on TV, with big bouncy shows like Climax, Shower of Stars, Studio One, Disneyland, and many, many others.

M-E loves you, so, please, keep right on calling us with those big, bright ideas. (If a man answers, keep talking anyway; we're a pretty broad-minded lot.)

in fact

McCann originates and produces more television throughout America (from I.D.'s to hour shows) than any other agency.

Top Agency Presidents

• Pictures and profiles of the men who held the billing reins for the top twenty-five ad agencies in the nation. Total investment by these agencies in radio and television in 1955 amounted to more than $675,750,000.

BEN DUFFY, president of BBD&O, has spent his entire career with the firm. Starting at 17 as an office boy, the young Irishman became head of the media department in 1928 when the George Batten company merged with BD&O to form the present company. Baptized Bernard Cornelius, sometime in this period Ben lost his given name, and now only uses it for the most formal signatures. In 1934 he became director of media; in 1938 a vice-president and director; in 1941 executive VP; in 1945 general manager; and finally, in 1946, president. In 1951 Ben found time to author the standard "Profitable Advertising in Today's Media & Markets." He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Audit Bureau of Circulations; member of the Advisory Committee on Advertising of the Proprietary Association of America.

NORMAN H. STROUSE, the new president of J. Walter Thompson, has spent virtually all of his business career in advertising. He was an advertising salesman with the Seattle Post-Intelligencer for four years before joining the J. Walter Thompson Company's San Francisco office in 1929, where he served in a variety of capacities, including account representative. Strouse enlisted in the Air Corps, as a private, declining an officer's commission, early in the Second World War. He ended his service as a Major, with a Legion of Merit, three campaign stars and a Medal of Merit from the Philippine Government. In 1945 Strouse went to the Detroit office of the Thompson Company where he became a vice president, and later manager of the office.

ADOLPH J. TOIGO, president of Lennen & Newell, Inc., is a strong believer in research, and has spent much of his agency career as a research director. While holding a full time job with John H. Dunham, a Chicago agency, after his graduation from the University of Chicago in 1929, he was a football line coach for Stagg. In 1936 he came east to manage the research department of Benton & Bowles, and four years later moved to Geyer, Cornell, & Newell in a similar capacity. In 1943 he became a vice-president and research director of William Esty Co., and soon became chairman of the plans board and supervisor of the Colgate account. In 1952 he helped change Lennen & Mitchell into Lennen & Newell, and became a vice-president.

SIGURD STANTON LARMON, president and chairman of the board for Young & Rubicam, Inc., began his career as a salesman in 1914 with various companies before becoming district manager of Columbia Phonograph Co. in 1922. In 1925 he joined N. W. Ayer & Son as an account executive. Larmon became associated with Y & R in 1929, reaching his present position in 1942. Born in Stanton, Iowa, July 21, 1891, he attended Dartmouth College, receiving his B.S. degree in 1914 and his M.A. in 1948. Larmon is a member of the U. S. Advisory Commission on Information, a trustee of the Committee for Economic Development and a member of the Research & Policy Committee for the government. He is also vice chairman of the U. S. Council of the International Chamber of Commerce.

MARION HARPER, JR., president of McCann-Erickson, was born on May 14, 1916, in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, attended Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and was graduated from Yale University in 1938. During the following year he joined McCann-Erickson. After serving successively as manager of copy research, vice-president in charge of research and merchandising, and assistant to the president, Harper became president of McCann-Erickson in December, 1948. At that time the agency had 24 offices and 1,200 employees. Today it operates from 34 offices in sixteen countries and its employees total 2,775. During the same period, the agency's business volume has more than doubled. Harper is also the author of "Getting Results from Advertising."

WARNER S. SHELLY, president of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., can really claim to have started his career at the bottom. His first job, in 1920, involved working under the Hudson River on the Hudson tubes. This was a full-time job, and he was also taking full-time courses at Fordham University Law School. His double career caught the attention of friends who worked for N. W. Ayer & Son. He joined Ayer in 1923, worked up steadily through several departments to become a vice president and manager of client service in the New York office in 1938, and a director in 1951. In the latter year he was also elected president. In the average year he travels about 50,000 miles by plane visiting clients throughout the country and as far away as South Africa.

ATHERTON W. HOBLER, Chairman of the Executive Committee of Benton & Bowles, Inc., has been associated with the firm since 1932 when he joined as an equal partner, becoming president a year later. A University of Illinois graduate, Mr. Hobler entered the advertising field as an assistant in the media department of the Gardner Agency in St. Louis, but after six months joined the Appleton Manufacturing Co. as an auditor. By the time he was 24 he had complete authority over sales and marketing, but returned to Gardner in 1919, and by 1922 was vice-president and general manager. Three years later he came to New York as an account executive with Erwin Wasay & Co., and later became a partner. The native of Chicago became chairman of the board of B & B in 1941.

MILTON H. BIOW, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Biow Company, has never worked for an agency other than his own. Born in New York on July 24, 1892, and attending schools there, Milt entered the advertising business as a young man, founding his own firm in 1918. He has a keen interest and appreciation of English antiques, whether it be furniture, silver, china or glassware. His mid-Manhattan air-conditioned town house on East 62nd St. is filled with fine pieces, as are the offices of the Biow Co. Strongly disliking personal publicity, his biography in Who's Who is limited to a few lines. He married the former Milise Lane Banning on January 9, 1944. Biow's first principle is to constantly re-examine advertising and merchandising, to quote him, "with an ear to the familiar cash register ring."

FAIRFAX M. CONE, president of Foote, Cone & Belding since 1951, formed the company in 1943 in association with Emerson Foote and Don Belding—all three vice-presidents of the dissolved Lord & Thomas Agency. He started out with L & T as a copywriter after three months on the staff of the San Francisco Examiner. Within nine years he became a vice-president of the agency and manager of the San Francisco office. In 1941 he became executive vice-president and manager of the Chicago office. Since the formation of FC&B Mr. Cone has been successively chairman of the executive committee, chairman of the board, and since 1951, president. He is also a past chairman and currently a member of the advisory council of the AAAA.

JOHN P. CUNNINGHAM, president of Cunningham & Walsh, Inc., has been with the same firm, or its predecessors, since he entered the advertising field as an artist fresh from a World War I tour in the Navy. A Harvard graduate, he started in the art department of C & W's predecessor, the Newell Emmett Co., and quickly moved into copy territory. He was appointed vice-president in 1931 and later became the agency's creative head. When C. D. Newell retired in 1949, Cunningham became executive vice-president. At this time the agency changed its name to reflect current principals. He was elected president in 1954, at which time Fred Walsh became chairman of the board. During World War II, he was a chairman of the creative advertising committee for the U.S.O.

JAMES H. S. ELLIS, president of the Kudner Agency, Inc., has been with the firm since 1935, when it was founded by Arthur Kudner. A native of Rensselaer, Indiana, Jim Ellis entered the advertising field after service with the A.E.F. in the first World War. His first position was with a firm in Columbus, Ohio, and in 1928 joined Erwin, Wasey & Co. as copy chief. On the death of Mr. Kudner in 1944, Mr. Ellis succeeded him as president, and in 1945 became head of the newly formed Kudner Agency, Inc. Jim is board chairman of the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau and a former member of the Board of Directors of the American Association of Advertising Agencies. A resident of New York City, he is married to the former Maxine Courtney Ford, and the father of three sons.

LEO BURNETT, chairman of the board, Leo Burnett Company, Inc., started out to be a newspaperman on his home town paper, the St. John's (Mich.) Weekly, and after his graduation from the University of Michigan, worked for the Peoria (Ill.) Journal. He moved on to become editor of the Cadillac Motor Car Company house organ, and advanced to the position of advertising manager. Mr. Burnett held positions with the Homer McKee agency, Indianapolis, and Erwin, Wasey & Co., Chicago, before opening his own firm—with a staff of seven, and three accounts—in mid-depression 1935. Best known for his creative work, Mr. Burnett is still actively in charge of the agency's creative work. The parents of three children, the Burnetts live on a farm in Lake Zurich, Ill.

BARTON A. CUMMINGS, president of Compton Advertising, Inc., is probably one of the youngest chief executives of a multi-million-dollar corporation in the nation, heading up an agency that has more than doubled its billings in the past 8 years. Following his graduation from the University of Illinois in 1935, he joined his father's agency in Rockford, Ill., and later was associated with Swift & Co., and Benton & Bowles. During the early part of the war, he worked with the OWI and the OPA, later joining the Navy. After V-J Day, Bart spent a short time with the Maxon Agency, and in 1947 joined Compton as an account executive. Three years later he became a vice-president, and in 1952 was elected a director. In January 1955 he was elected president.

HENRY G. LITTLE, chairman of the board and president of Campbell Ewald Co., Detroit, has been in advertising for 36 years, all but three of them in the agency field. He started with Lord & Thomas in 1919, and seven years later was transferred to the San Francisco office. In 1935 he opened an office in Dayton, Ohio, to handle the Frigidaire account. After becoming a vice-president he left the agency to manage the Cincinnati office of Roy S. Durstine, and then moved to the general managership of Campbell Ewald Co. A year later he became executive vice-president and a director. He was elected president in 1952, and chairman of the board in 1953. Henry was recently elected chairman of AAAA board of directors and its operations committee.

WILL C. GRANT, president of Grant Advertising, Inc., established his agency in 1935 at Dallas, Tex., after selling advertising for R. R. Donnelley & Sons from 1932 to 1934. He also sold for W. F. Hall Printing Co. Grant opened the home office in Chicago in 1937. The New York office opened three years later, and several foreign branches are now open. Grant was born in Dallas on Aug. 9, 1906 and attended high school there. He entered Southern Methodist University in 1924. While working his way through, Grant sold so much advertising for the student annual paper that the university abolished the paper on the grounds that big business was not a suitable student endeavor. Grant is also a member of the Indian Hill Club, and the Racquet Club.

HOWARD D. WILLIAMS, newly named chairman of the board of directors of Erwin, Wasey & Co., received his B.S. degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1911. He joined the Chicago Sanitary District as an engineer the same year. Williams has successfully worked for James McCreery & Co., New York City, Stewart Dry Goods Co., Louisville, and the National Cash Register Co., Dayton, where he was vice-president in charge of foreign operations, before entering the advertising field. At Erwin, Wasey & Co., Williams held several posts, becoming president and general manager in 1947 and now chairman. He is a member of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, director of the Advertising Research Foundation and a 32nd degree Mason. Williams is a World War I veteran.

CLIFFORD I. FITZGERALD, president of Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, Inc., has swapped titles of president and chairman of the board with H. M. Dancer for twelve years. After graduating from Dartmouth College, the young native of St. Louis founded the Fitzgerald Advertising Agency in New Orleans in 1927, at the age of 24. In 1937 he left his partners to manage the Chicago office of Sherman & Ellis & Co., In 1941 Cliff joined Blackett-Sample-Hummert as vice-president and over-all supervisor of the agency's Procter & Gamble account. In 1943, the organization became Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, Inc. Cliff married the former Isabel Hanway in 1924, and is now the proud grandfather of six.

WILLIAM B. LEWIS, president of Kenyon & Eckhardt, Inc., brought a broad background of experience in broadcasting to the firm when he joined them in 1944. Starting as an apprentice at J. Walter Thompson, he joined CBS in 1935 as commercial program director, and a year later became the first vice-president in charge of programs, and the network's youngest vice-president. In 1941, at the request of New York's Mayor LaGuardia, Lewis went to Washington as Chief of the Radio Division in the Office of Facts and Figures, with the job of coordinating the government's radio activities. When the OWI was formed in World War II, he was appointed Chief of the Domestic Radio Bureau, and organized and operated the Radio Allocation Plan. Returning to CBS briefly, Lewis joined Kenyon & Eckhardt in 1944 as a vice-president.

ROBERT M. GANGER, chairman of the board of the D'Arcy Advertising Co., spent twenty-four years with Geyer, Newell & Ganger, Inc., and its predecessors, and did a three-year stint with P. Lorillard and Co., before coming to the D'Arcy agency in his present position in 1953. Fresh from Ohio State University, he started with the Geyer Co., of Dayton, Ohio, as an office boy, and in four years—in 1930—was a branch office manager, and in another three, a vice-president. A native of Greenville, Ohio, Bob became a director of P. Lorillard in 1950, and in 1952 was elected president, to become the youngest of prexies in tobacco's Big Five. In 1953 he assumed his present post with D'Arcy. Besides introducing Embassy and Kent for Lorillard, Bob's achievements also include the "Man of Distinction" campaign.

ROBERT M. WATSON, president of Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc., joined the firm as an account executive in the San Francisco office in 1940, and subsequently became manager of that office. In 1943 he moved to the New York office, and in 1946 became vice-president. Six years later he was named executive vice-president in charge of eastern operations. Before joining R & R Bob had been a newspaper reporter, copy writer, salesman, and retail advertising and sales promotion manager. Mr. Watson married the former Frances Baldwin, and is a resident of Greenwich, Connecticut.

ROBERT E. ALLEN, president of Fuller & Smith & Ross, Inc., joined the agency in 1936 as an account executive, after having his own agency in Philadelphia. In the position of account executive Bob directed the advertising and marketing activities of more than a dozen clients, and gained the experience that has won him a reputation as an expert in marketing and a champion of integrated merchandising. In 1945 he was made a vice-president, and after the death of the late Allen L. Billingsley in 1954, he was elected to the presidency. From 1950 until his election to the presidency, he had served as manager of the agency's New York office. A graduate of Temple and Columbia Universities, he is, at 42, among the youngest presidents of any major agency in the nation.

ERNEST A. JONES, president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., at 40, is the youngest president of a major advertising company in the nation. With MJ&A since 1938, he came to New York in 1950 to open the New York office, and was elected vice-president at that time. A graduate of the University of Michigan, he returned to Detroit in 1953 as executive vice-president and account supervisor of the Dow Chemical account, and more recently of the Pontiac Motor Division account. While a senior at Michigan, W. A. P. John, then president of MJ&A, visited the campus and was impressed by Ernest, who was business manager of the Michigan Daily. He offered him a job soon after his graduation in 1938.

MAURICE H. NEEDHAM, founder and president of Needham, Louis & Brorby, Inc., has led the agency which bears his name a long way in the 31 years he's served as chief executive officer. From a single room and three modest accounts billing $270,000, NL&B has grown to occupy the top three floors of Chicago's newest and tallest structure—the Prudential building. It represents 17 of the nation's top advertisers, whose billings amount to more than $30,000,000 per year. Needham recently delivered a talk entitled "Towards the Complete Man," outlining the belief he's held since college days that it's the man with a broad base of education in the humanities who makes the most effective leader in advertising, or in any other business.

WALTER C. AYERS, president of Brooks, Smith, French & Dorrance, Inc., is a "salesman." He has been a retail and wholesale salesman, field training supervisor, district manager, branch and sales manager. This covered 17 years before he joined BSF&D's merchandising staff in 1939. A year later he was vice-president in charge of research; by 1954 a senior partner; in 1950 executive vice-president, and in 1955 he became president. Commenting on business, Ayers recently said, "With the U. S. national product forecast at $415 billion in 1960, and with competition in almost all major industries in the 'dog eat dog' stage, it seems we are heading into the toughest fight in the history of business for the greatest stakes in the history of business."

RAYMOND F. SULLIVAN, president of Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, upon graduating from Yale in 1920, joined Ruthrauff & Ryan as a copy writer and within six years became a vice-president. By the middle thirties he was a director of the agency. In July, 1946, along with Donald T. Stauffer, Robert T. Colwell and Heagan Bayles, he founded Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, Inc., and became president of what is today's largest post-war agency. Under Sullivan's leadership, SSC&B has grown from $4,500,000 billings in 1947, the first full calendar year of operations, to approximately $33,000,000 in 1955.

FRANK WHITE, chairman of the board, McCann-Erickson Corporation (International), was born in Washington, D. C., and educated at George Washington University. Beginning as an accountant in 1921 he later became assistant to the president of the Union News Company, 1924-29 and then treasurer of the Literary Guild of America from 1929-35. In 1942 he became a vice-president of CBS and in 1948 president of Columbia Records, Inc. This began a series of presidencies: president and director of the Mutual Broadcasting System, in June, 1952, president and director, NBC, January-August, 1953, and chairman of the board of McCann-Erickson Corporation (International) since January, 1954. He is a director of the Better Business Bureau of New York, and also a member of the Armed Forces Advisory Committee for the Northeast Area, and Sigma Nu.

FRANK SILVERNAIL heads the radio-TV time buyers department at BBD&O, and is considered a veteran of the field. Before joining NBC as merchandising counsel in 1929, Frank broke into the broadcasting game as a guitar artist on WEAJ in the early days. He was first with Pedlar & Ryan before joining Young & Rubicam in a similar capacity and then later, in 1943, moved to BBD&O. A graduate of the University of Rochester, Frank often recalls his undergraduate days where even then he laid plans for a career in sales promotion and time-buying techniques, techniques that have embarked him on a time-buying vocation that comprises handling radio-TV campaigns for every type of product from soap to cigarettes and from beer to automobiles.

LESLIE L. DUNIER, director of radio and television for the Emil Mogul Company, became interested in radio after doing a short stint with the Armed Forces Network in England during World War II. He began his advertising career with the Sterling Agency, then for a number of years headed his own agency and specialized in servicing radio-television spot advertisers. At Mogul he plans the air media strategy for Esquire Shoe Polish, Manischewitz Wine, Rayco Seat Covers, Block Drug, National Shoes, Barney's, and many others. When time allows Les enjoys traveling and meeting with the many station people he has done business with through the years.

RICHARD P. POWELL, vice-president in charge of information services for N. W. Ayer & Son, has a background of newspaper work, public relations, and free-lance writing involving scores of magazine stories, articles and serials, and ten mystery novels. After graduating from Princeton University in 1930, he joined the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger, where he worked at everything from police reporter to feature writer. In 1940 he joined Ayer's public relations department, but in 1942 was called to active duty in the War Department's public relations bureau. Later he served on MacArthur's public relations staff, and handled many of the press arrangements for the Japanese surrender ceremonies. Returning to Ayer, he was elected a vice-president in January of 1952.

NICHOLAS E. KEESELY, senior vice president in charge of radio and TV for Lennen & Newell, Inc., has many current hits to his credit, including "Two for the Money," "Queen For a Day," "Home," and "Today." Born in Philadelphia in 1910, Nick attended Temple University and the Charles Price Advertising School. His first radio advertising job was with N. W. Ayer & Sons, starting in 1928. In his fifteen years with the firm, he held the positions of everything from producer to account executive. In 1943 he became program sales manager of CBS, and later with MBS. He is a member of the New York Committee of the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences, and is on the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation's Radio Committee.

WALTER WARE, director of television for Scheideler, Beck & Werner Agency, broke into commercial TV in the days of hall-room studios, and hot lights. The native Kentuckian started in radio on the home-town station, WLAP, Lexington, and in 1941 joined the Maxon Agency in New York as a copy writer. He put his theatrical knowledge to work in television experimentation in 1945 by launching the first experimental TV show from the Dumont Wanamaker studios. He is credited with the success of New York's first women's daytime show, "Missus Goes A'Shoppin'", telecast direct from supermarkets. Walt set up the TV department for SB&W when the agency was launched in 1951.

JANE DALY, vice president and radio-TV director of the Earle Ludgin Company, Chicago, joined the company as a young secretary in 1942, and then later became the first vice president at the year-end corporate meeting. Three years after she joined the agency she became the assistant time buyer, and soon after that became head of the radio-TV department. As newest of the agency's vice presidents, Jane continues as radio-television director, a position which she has held for the past several years.

ARTHUR A. KRON, executive vice president, treasurer and radio-TV director of Gotham-Vladimir Advertising Co., is unique in having been with the one agency his entire career, joining Gotham in 1916. Virtually a one-man agency, he is the founder of the International Advertising Convention which he initiated while president of the International Ad Association. Also active in other professional groups, he is charter member of the Association of International Ad Agencies, and the Association of Ad Men & Women, vice chairman and treasurer of the New York World Trade Week Committee, as well as active in the RTES, Radio Pioneers, and others. Chief interests on the outside are golf, gardening, and pistol-shooting.

LYNN DIAMOND, radio and television time buyer for the Emil Mogul Company, joined the agency's time buying department in March of 1953 as executive assistant and was upped to radio and television time buyer in July of the same year, working primarily on the Rayco Auto Seat Cover account. She joined the agency after two years at Cecil & Presbrey, where she was assistant to the account executive on Tintair. Her present job is a prodigious one, since Rayco is a chain of franchised retailers with over 100 stores in approximately 90 markets, and each outlet operates on an individual budget allocation. All radio and television advertising is planned on a local spot basis.

HERBERT GRUBER, business manager of the radio and television department of Edward Kletter Associates, Inc., was previously head time buyer at the now defunct Cecil & Presbrey, Inc., before assuming his present duties, where he is concerned primarily with the purchase of all radio and television time and the execution of all such contracts for clients. A veteran specialist in the time-buying field, Gruber, previous to joining Cecil & Presbrey, Inc., had been with the Biow Company for several years in the same capacity as the post he now holds. Delving in both art and the more strenuous game of tennis, both actively and passively, form two of his most favorite pastimes.

JAMES C. DOUGLASS, vice president in charge of radio and TV for Ted Bates and Company had been, after the war, production manager of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company's radio unit in Sydney, Australia, working for their ad agency, the George Patterson Company, Ltd. He was also formerly vice president in charge of radio and TV at the Erwin Wasey Company. After graduating from Hastings College Conservatory of Music and the University of Nebraska, Jim joined WAAW (now KOWH) in Omaha, as assistant manager in charge of programs. Later he shifted to Central States Broadcasting System as program director, and then later to CBS as program production manager in St. Louis. During the war he was a Lieutenant Commander in the United States Navy.

ROBERT FOREMAN, vice president of the radio-television department of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, is the youngest man to have been made a vice president of the agency. Starting in the trade copy department 17 years ago, then into consumer advertising, Bob was a VP 10 years later. He headed the first segregated radio group of the agency and, in that capacity, helped with the development of the famous "Chiquita Banana" and "Willie the Penguin" commercials. The author of a bi-monthly radio-TV copy column, Bob has an avid interest in early Americana, and lives in a 150-year-old farm in Westport, Conn.

GERALD GIBSON, chief time buyer at Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield, Inc., returned to his native state of New Jersey to embark on his agency career with McCann-Erickson, where he estimated radio-TV time for Lever Brothers' products, after he had begun his broadcasting career as a time salesman for WJOY, Burlington, Vt. He joined Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield in 1953, as time buyer on the Pharmaco and Minit-Rub accounts. He was subsequently promoted to his present post as head of the time-buying department, supervising the purchase of spot radio and TV and network buying for such accounts as Borden, Bristol-Myers, Curtis Publishing Company, Sonotone, and other top-notch clients.

WINSLOW H. CASE, vice president of Geyer Advertising, Inc., has been associated with Stinson Aircraft, La Driere Art Service and Chesterfield cigarettes and has served on the advertising faculty of the University of Columbia since first entering the advertising field back in 1927. Formerly associated with Campbell-Ewald as senior vice president, he is known as a major contributor in the development of that agency's television department, working closely with Chevrolet officials in their TV expansion. Active in the presentation of "Famous Jury Trials" and the Notre Dame grid games on DuMont for Chevrolet, Case supervised more than sixty remote events at N. Y.'s Madison Square Garden.

ROGER PRYOR, vice president in charge of radio and television at Foote, Cone & Belding, started off in show business at the age of 18, when he played summer stock and gradually moved to leading parts on Broadway and Hollywood. With an exceptionally large background in the entertainment field, Roger finally moved into radio, first as an orchestra leader, then as MC on the Gulf Screen Program. He joined Foote, Cone & Belding in 1947 as director of television. Among the clients he has presented on TV are Union Oil, Sunkist, Pepsodent, Kleenex, Toni Home Permanent, B-B Ball Point Pen, Rheingold Beer, and the New York Central Railroad.

DAN SEYMOUR, radio and television supervisor of J. Walter Thompson Company, is a well-known radio veteran, as well as a pioneer in television, both as a performer and as a producer. His greatest fame came as the emcee of the very popular "We the People" show on radio, and Dan was largely responsible for the long list of firsts accredited to the show. While at Amherst College, Dan was active in campus dramatics, and at 18 went abroad as a guest of the Austrian Ministry of Education to study and teach stage techniques. Dan was with Young & Rubicam for five years in a position similar to his present one with the Thompson Agency, which he joined in 1955.

HARRY WAYNE McMAHAN, vice-president in charge of TV-radio commercials and a member of the Creative Plans Board at McCann-Erickson, Inc., is the author of "The Television Commercial," and "TV Production Handbook," which is scheduled for publication late this year. Mac was born a Hoosier, raised in Texas and transplanted to California before moving to New York two years ago to join McCann-Erickson. In 1935 he wrote and produced his first advertising film, and in 1939 founded Five Star Productions, Inc., in Hollywood. Since then he has written more than 3,000 commercials, and supervised production on more than three times that many. McMahan's articles in television production have appeared in trade publications in both Britain and America, and have been translated into Spanish and Japanese.

SAMUEL H. NORTHCROSS, vice president and director of television for the William Esty Company, is a scholar with a background in both the newspaper and audience measurement field. After graduation from North Carolina University, Sam studied at Oxford University, England, and returned to enter the newspaper field as reporter and country editor for the Washington Herald. He spent five years with the George Gallup organization in public opinion and audience research, before joining Young & Rubicam for a two-year period. A veteran of the Army Air Corps, from which he emerged with the rank of captain, Sam was a vice president and manager of television production for Esty for five years before his appointment as over-all director of the agency's television department.

JOHN R. SHEEHAN, vice president and director of radio and television for Cunningham & Walsh, Inc., launched his career as a featured vocalist at WGY, Schenectady, under Kolin Haeger. Moving over to the business side of radio, John became assistant to the station manager and, in 1936, joined General Electric as manager of international broadcasting. In this position he inaugurated, staffed, and managed GE's full-time FM station and had supervision of the planning and editing of GE's documentary and institutional films. After Pearl Harbor, he was appointed Chief of Facilities and Radio Operations of OWI, and was responsible for all communications for both OWI and the Armed Forces Radio.

MYRON P. KIRK, senior vice president and director of television and radio for the Kudner Agency, Inc., is a veteran advertising man, and was a pioneer of many of today's radio and TV formats. He received training in the banking, brokerage, agency, theatre, radio, and movie businesses and, from 1938 to 1941, he served as a vice president of Famous Artists, and had previously been a vice president of Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc. He joined the Kudner Agency as director of radio and was among the first to recognize the potential of TV. He is credited with many of the experiments which helped the medium come of age. Becoming vice president of radio and television, he helped set the pattern of the original Berle show and of the Caesar-Coca show.

JOHN PAUL MARSICH, assistant media director for the Kudner Agency, has attended Columbia and New York University, graduating from NYU with a degree in Business Administration. He began his advertising career with NBC in 1940. In 1943 he left NBC to join the service. As a lieutenant in the navy, he commanded an LSM in the Pacific Theater until the end of hostilities, whereupon he returned to the television department of NBC. By 1949 he had advanced to supervisor of production costs on all network shows. He served in that capacity until August of the same year, when he accepted an offer from Kudner to join the agency as assistant business manager of the radio-television department.

GEORGE POLK, radio-TV supervisor with Batten, Barton, Durstine, & Osborn, Inc., attended Hotchkiss and Pomfret Schools in Connecticut. With BBD&O since 1950, George is a graduate of Erskine College, South Carolina, getting his BA degree with the class of 1950. He started his advertising career in the mail room of BBD&O and, progressing steadily, he went on to research, time buying, to his present post, where he works with Robert Foreman, vice president in charge of the radio-television department. George, still single, is a native New Yorker.

LOCKE TURNER, media director of Batten, Barton, Durstine, & Osborn, Inc., Los Angeles, joined the firm after graduation from Stanford University, and has now been with BBD&O for the past seven years. He began as a trainee and was promoted successively to production and account duties. Prior to being named media director, he was an assistant account executive on the Rexall Drug account for a period of four years. He was married to Barbara Walsh early in 1955, she being the assistant to the research director of BBD&O, Los Angeles.

FRANK MINEHAN, vice president, media director and member of the plans board at Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, had before that post spent a short time as media director at Pedlar & Ryan. With Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles since 1946, Frank had been media director and a Brand Man at Lever Brothers Company in Cambridge, Massachusetts, before coming to New York. After graduating from a finance school in Boston, he began his business career as a public accountant and school teacher. After joining Lever Brothers Company, he switched to advertising and he has continued brilliantly in the field since that time.

GEORGE KERN, associate media director of Lennen & Newell, Inc., started in the advertising business in 1923 with the Chicago office of the George Batten Company, now known as BBD&O. After several years there in various departments and capacities, including several weeks in the New York office, George joined Blackett, Sample, Hummert (now Dancer, Fitzgerald & Sample) in 1931, as an assistant account executive on the Parker Pen, Insulite, Stewart-Warner accounts, remaining there for several years. In 1940 he joined Benton & Bowles as chief time buyer. During World War II, he served on the staff of General MacArthur in the Moral Services Section. Prior to joining Lennen & Newell, he was associated with Benton & Bowles.

LEONARD F. ERIKSON, vice president of McCann-Erickson in charge of the central radio-television department, started with CBS in the early days of commercial radio, after receiving a degree in journalism from the University of Wisconsin and a graduate degree from the Harvard School of Business Administration. His first major position with CBS was as Western sales manager working out of Chicago, and later on as general sales manager in New York. After 14 years with the network, Leonard went to BBD&O in 1945 as assistant to president Ben Duffy, and handled liaison between management and the radio department. His next move was to Kenyon & Eckhardt, where he was vice president and director of radio and TV.

HENRY FOWNES, vice president, director of the radio and television department, and manager of the New York office of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., started his advertising career in the mail room of Benton & Bowles. It wasn't long before Hank was appointed to the post of assistant executive on the lucrative TIDE account, but soon after left to become a radio-television producer with Fenton Productions. In this post he serviced numerous accounts, among them those of Cadillac and Pontiac, whose primary agency is the MacManus Agency, with head offices in Michigan. When they decided to open offices in New York, Hank was chosen to head the air waves department, later becoming manager of the New York office and vice president.

WALTER CRAIG, vice president in charge of television for Norman, Craig and Kummel, started his career in show business, but in 1930 moved into the ground floor of radio as program director of the old World Broadcasting System. A native of St. Louis, Walter left World to found his own producing firm, and created top shows for clients such as Chevrolet, United Drug, Coca-Cola, Beechnut Packing, Carter Products, and Wheaties. Illness forced him to retire for two years to his home in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, where he raised cocker spaniels and Guernsey cattle. Unable to leave the field completely, however, he acted as radio consultant for Street & Finney, until his return to full harness in November, 1942, as program director for WMCA.

GEORGE WOLF, vice president and director for radio and television for Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc., joined the firm in 1953 after seven years with Foote, Cone & Belding, where he was director of radio and TV, supervising a large part of the agency's eighteen-million-dollar-a-year airtime billings. George started out as a free-lance radio writer and producer, contributing to many of the leading programs of the pre-war era. After Pearl Harbor, he served with the Signal Corps Motion Picture Center, assigned to writing and producing documentary training films. After the war, Wolf wrote and produced a weekly network institutional show for NBC, in addition to working on special assignments.

ALVIN KABAKER, manager of the Hollywood office of Compton Advertising, Inc., is unique in that he was a practicing attorney before turning to the advertising field. Receiving both a Bachelor of Arts and a law degree from the University of Chicago, Al practiced law two years before venturing into advertising as a copywriter with Blackett-Sample & Hummert of Chicago, the predecessor of Dancer-Fitzgerald & Sample, Inc. Rising to the production field, he supervised shows such as "Beulah," "Mystery Theatre," and "A Date With Judy," while manager of the Hollywood office. After seventeen years with DFS, Al moved to Compton this year as manager of the Hollywood office.

NORINE FREEMAN, media director for Western Advertising Agency, Los Angeles, was a news reporter for more than fifteen years on mid-Western newspapers, such as the Toledo Blade, the Toledo News-Bee, and the Cincinnati Post. With this background of newspaper reporting, she left the newspaper field for publicity and public-relations work in New York, where she was an account executive with Earle Ferris, Inc., and later radio director of Carl Byoir Associates. Norine left New York for Chicago, where she became publicity director and radio-TV planning director for W. B. Doner and Company. She went to Los Angeles in 1951, and was media director for the Gables Company, before joining Western Advertising Agency.

PETER ARNOLD KRUG, director of radio and television for Calkins & Holden, was formerly with Hicks & Greist for seven years in the same capacity and, prior to that, served as business manager of the radio department of Donahue & Co. He has directed radio and television activities for such clients as Prudential Insurance of America, Stokely-Van Camp, Marculus Manufacturing Company, Oakite, Stereo-Realist Cameras, and other nationally-known accounts. His non-agency experience includes five years as program director, writer and performer with WEBR, Buffalo, N. Y., and an earlier stint with WNBX, Springfield, Vt., now WKNE, as station manager.

BETH BROBERG, media director for the Mayers Company, went from USC to Foster & Kleiser Company, where she learned the advertising business working in various departments, including the posting and sales. She left Foster & Kleiser after four years to join West-Marquis, Inc., where she started as a general employee and at the end of a two-year period, was assisting the media director, production manager and chief accountant. Two years later she joined the Jere Bayard Associates as media director where, for three years, she selected various media and kept all agency media records. She was associated with Grant Advertising Agency before joining the Mayers Company in 1951.

JOHN GAUNT, director of television and radio for Grant Advertising, now divides his time between supervising such programs as ABC's "Make Room For Daddy" and "Lawrence Welk Show" and NBC's "Roy Rogers Show", in addition to creating filmed commercials for national Grant clients. Formerly a director and producer of many top-rated network shows, Gaunt, when recently asked to define his position, replied, "Television and radio broadcasting today is made commercially possible only by combining the talents of two widely divergent types of creative people—the artistic theatrical type and the sales managerial type—each is able and resourceful."

H. PIERSON MAPES, general manager and vice president in charge of radio and TV in the New York office of Hutchins Advertising Company, Inc., joined the May Radio Corp. in 1930 and became sales promotion and merchandising manager in 1933. In the same year he moved from May to Philco as sales promotion manager. Coming into TV via radio advertising and merchandising, Mapes joined the Hutchins agency in 1945 and has been responsible for the radio and television activities of Philco Corporation ever since, with a notable series of shows, including "Radio Hall of Fame," "Bing Crosby Show," and the "Philco Television Playhouse" on NBC-TV. Pierson also supervises planning of Philco conventions and other national activities.

DON BLAUHUT, radio-television director of Edward Kletter Associates, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio State, which he gained in three rather than the customary four years. A native New Yorker, Don has been associated with the H. B. Humphrey Agency, and in 1950 joined the Peck Advertising Agency as the assistant to the director of radio and television, and the following year was advanced to become director. In 1952 he joined Raymond Spector as radio-television director, where he worked principally on "This Is Your Life." In 1953 the young veteran of World War II joined Kletter in a similar capacity, and is working on such programs as "The Red Skelton Show," "Meet Millie," "Douglas Edwards With the News," and "Masquerade Show."

VICTOR SEYDEL, vice president for radio and television for Anderson & Cairns Agency, never had any doubt about his career. A star performer on the school and dramatic society boards of Grand Rapids, Michigan, and later Pottstown, Pennsylvania, Vic was all set to enter Michigan University, when an RKO theatre manager offered him a summer job as a song and dance man in Chicago. The job lasted two and a half years, and Vic's been connected with show business ever since. He started in radio with the old Blue Network, now ABC, as a director, and worked on such top shows as "Counter-Spy" and "Ladies Be Seated." In 1944 he became Eastern radio and television director in the New York office of the Walker & Downing Agency, and later moved on to Anderson & Cairns in a similar capacity.

FRANKLIN ROBERTS, vice president and director of radio and television at the Will Roberts Advertising Agency in Philadelphia, brings a wealth of varied experience to his duties. While studying at the University of Pennsylvania, Frank was both a campus correspondent and sports writer for the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. Upon graduation his first position was with the Harry Feigenbaum Ad Agency as radio continuity writer. He soon became a director for radio and television and, in addition, wrote musical jingles for both mediums and created TV commercials. From there, Frank moved to his present position, where he maintains an active interest in Philadelphia's television association, and is an active sportsman.

EDWARD RATNER, radio-TV director of Friend-Reiss, has had a varied career as a ghost writer for a syndicated column, a short-story writer, and a free-lance script writer, although he is only 31. A veteran of World War II, in which he served as an aerial gunner, Ed received a degree in English from NYU and received his first experience in advertising as a radio-TV copy chief with Product Services, Inc., where he created and scripted numerous shows for both mediums. A native New Yorker now residing in Hudson County, New Jersey, Ed is a member of the Radio Writers Guild since 1946, and a director of the Metropolitan Advertising Men.

BARBARA JONES, Donahue & Coe time buyer, is a graduate of Smith (cum laude) and formerly on the staffs of Mademoiselle, Life, and Television magazines, free-lancing with scripts to all major outlets. The blonde member of the Jones Girls' time-buying triumvirate, none of whom are related, Barbara, after a stint with the package firm of Video Associates, Inc., embarked on her agency career with Grey where, for over five years, she ran the gamut of production, business management, talent buying, et al, to become the administrative assistant to the radio-TV vice president. She's been in her present post for over 30 months, and lives in Greenwich Village.

EDNA S. CATHCART, chief television and radio time buyer for J. M. Mathes, Inc., is one of that small group of advertising personalities who have maintained a long and unbroken association with one firm. Edna started with the Mathes firm in 1937, and since then has gained a broad experience in all branches of the advertising field. Her first taste of huckstering was with Young & Rubicam, where she spent three years. At present Edna is responsible for the purchase of all broadcasting time for the firm, which handles such accounts as Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., Ludens, Inc., the Northern Warren Corp., Bates Fabrics, and the Capehart Farnsworth Co.

WILLIAM L. WEDDELL, vice president in charge of broadcasting for the Leo Burnett Company, Inc., joined the firm in 1946 after a long association with the National Broadcasting Company, which he joined in 1929, soon after his graduation from the University of Chicago. With NBC he served as sales promotion manager, account executive, and chairman of the operations committee in Chicago. Later, he became radio director for Erwin Wasey & Co. Bill is a member of the National Committee on Television and Radio Policies of the AAAA.

CHARLES W. CURRAN, television film producer at McCann-Erickson, Inc., commenced his advertising career with general agencies in Chicago before coming to New York. In 1931, after his play "Ad-Man" was made into a feature by RKO-Radio Pictures, Charlie went into film production with several major companies. During the war he served at the Naval Photo Center as head of writers and directors division. He's been in the production of film for television since 1947, and was given many awards for the work of his company, Times Square Productions, Inc., before returning to the agency field. He also found time to author the "Handbook of Television and Film Technique." Charlie is a member of the Variety Club, the Lambs, RETS, and SMPTE.

JOSEPH P. BRAUN, vice-president in charge of media at Kenyon & Eckhardt, Inc., joined the firm in 1933 as an office boy. Over the years he has advanced through various jobs within the agency, including media clerk, research reporter, statistician, and space buyer. In 1942 he was appointed media director, and in 1947 was elected vice-president. He was elected a director in the same year. Joe is a member of the AAAA Media Committee and a director and member of the Executive Committee of the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau. He is unusual in the advertising field in that Kenyon & Eckhardt has been his only agency affiliation.

WICKLIFFE W. CRIDER, vice president in charge of radio and TV for Kenyon & Eckhardt, Inc., has been with the firm since 1952. A graduate of Penn State, he began his advertising career as an apprentice with J. Walter Thompson Co., and soon worked his way to the radio publicity department, and thence into production. He moved to BBD&O as a developer of new programs for radio and TV. He ultimately became vice president of that department.

WILLIAM R. SETH, JR., vice president and director of radio and television of Lewin, Williams & Saylor, Inc., has a solid background in local radio. A graduate of the University of North Carolina, Bill has been an announcer, disc jockey, and news editor, and has managed stations in Fredericksburg, Virginia, and Youngstown, Ohio. For a time Bill was with NBC Spot Sales and, in 1948-49 was the director of advertising for Muzak. Prior to his present connection, he was vice president in charge of television and radio for Needham & Grohmann, and earlier was radio director of O'Brien and Dorrance. A member of AFTRA, Bill keeps his perspective by doing occasional spot announcements, in addition to being account executive for four advertisers.

TOM McDERMOTT, vice president of radio-television programming at Benton & Bowles, has set an astonishing record for a young man in his early thirties. Tom got a head start as a writer and producer of shows while a student at Manhattan College, as a youthful organizer of a local dramatic society, and as a summer theatre producer. Prior to entering advertising, Tom worked on the staffs of WNYC and WOV and wrote and directed for Irene Wicker, "The Singing Lady." He has directed "When A Girl Marries," "The Prudential Family Hour," and has written, produced and directed scores of other top-flight shows. A lifetime student of the drama, Tom has studied at Fordham, Columbia, and NYU. He joined B&B in 1942.

JEAN L. SIMPSON, radio and television time buyer at Doyle, Dane & Bernback and formerly time buyer at Anderson & Cairns Agency, is a native of New Jersey, specifically, Passaic. She went out West for her education, receiving a B.A. degree in sociology from Oberlin College in 1947. She began her time-buying career with Anderson, Davis & Platte in 1950, continuing after the agency merged with John A. Cairns Company to form Anderson and Cairns. She's a specialist in the spot field, handling only spot radio and TV while other colleagues handle network purchases. Her outside interests lie mainly in the field of architecture, being the wife of architect John E. Grocco.

ROBERT W. DAY, vice president and radio-television director of Albert Frank-Guenther Law, Inc., has a well-deserved reputation as one of the leading radio-television authorities for Wall St. After graduation from Harvard, he was associated with Broadcast Advertising, Inc., in Boston, where he served as the merchandising representative for network food programs from 1939 to 1942. The war years were spent as a lieutenant in the Navy, and the first post-war period with the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company. Bob has also been radio-TV director of Lynn Baker, Inc., and H. B. Humphrey in New York.

PAUL GUMBINNER, director of radio and TV for the Lawrence C. Gumbinner Advertising Agency, Inc., was one of the creators of the station-break and singing commercials. In 1929, Paul sold the idea of a fifteen-second singing commercial to George Washington Hill of the American Tobacco Company, and then made a tour of the country, explaining the methods radio stations could use to gain revenue by selling station-break time. Paul pioneered in the creation of filmed television commercials in 1947, using his own apartment as a studio, and shooting exteriors on Riverside Drive.

MILDRED FULTON, chief time buyer for McCann-Erickson's Bulova Watch Company account, has served in the same capacity for nine years. Starting on the account in 1947 with the Biow Company, Mildred moved with it to McCann-Erickson in January, 1955. Her experience before that was rather varied, having worked with organizations ranging from tree surgeons to country clubs. During the war she worked as secretary and administrative assistant to Edward W. Barrett, former assistant Secretary of State, with the Office of War Information. Moving to New York City in 1945, Millie entered the advertising field with Free & Peters. She is a native of Stamford, Connecticut, and among her many hobbies, she enjoys doing portraits in oil best.

BERNARD G. RASMUSSEN, manager of broadcast media at Fuller, Smith & Ross, Inc., started as an accountant with Seagram Distillers Corporation. A native of Brooklyn, with a degree in Business Administration from Fordham University, during World War II he saw service as an Air Force navigator in Europe. Bernard joined Ruthrauff & Ryan in 1947 as a timebuyer. He has been with Fuller, Smith & Ross, Inc., in his present capacity since 1952.

JAMES ZABIN, radio and TV director and partner in the Posner-Zabin Agency, has a well-versed background and a wide community of interests that include trusteeship in the N. Y. Society for Ethical Culture, a board member of the Riverside Community House, member of the New York Financial Advertisers, and former officer of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers and other professional groups. The co-author of "Understanding Advertising," Zabin is equally talented in his artistic pursuits, having exhibited in numerous shows. He began his ad career with Paramount Pictures, later going with United Artists and thence to the Hann-Metzger Agency (now Buchanan Company) for 15 years.

MARVIN L. GRANT, vice president, radio-TV director, and account executive of the Dobin Agency, gained his triple-threat versatility as a free-lance writer-producer-director with the William H. Weintraub Co., where he had an outstanding record of many national radio programs to his credit. He moved over to the Mann-Ellis Agency in a position similar to his present one, where he had overall supervision of radio-TV from time buying through production, as well as executive on six accounts. Grant joined Dobin in his present position in 1955.

KENNETH G. MANUEL, vice president and director of TV and radio at D. P. Brother & Co., entered broadcasting as the discovery of the veteran Harry Bannister, quickly becoming a full-time newscaster and commentator on WWJ, Detroit. He became a TV pioneer when he inaugurated the first major educational telecast, "Television University," staged on WWJ-TV in collaboration with the University of Michigan, the University of Detroit, and Cranbrook Institute of Science. Manuel's alma mater, the University of Michigan, where he was an outstanding sports star, continued the series on the same station as "Telecourses," and has won many commendations for it.

PHILLIP ROUDA, Chicago vice president in charge of radio and TV for Bozell & Jacobs, Inc., joined the agency in October, 1944, as a copy-writer, after serving with the Army Air Forces as a radio instructor. He has been with the agency for ten years. His previous background included motion picture work with National Screen Service and Filmack in writing and production and also varied motion picture and other advertising. His radio and TV work at Bozell & Jacobs includes program and spot buying for the cream of the agency's clients. He has won six Chicago Federation Advertising Club awards for individual ads and campaigns handled as creative account executive. He was educated at the University of Chicago.

EVELYN LEE JONES, business manager of the radio and television department, and chief time buyer of Donahue & Coe, Inc., joined the agency as a copy writer, later shifting to the administration and business division. She has been with the agency since 1943 and, prior to that, Evelyn was at City Hall as Civilian Defense Volunteer Aide to the late Fiorello H. LaGuardia. Immediately prior to World War II, she was director of advertising for Theatre-on-Film, Inc. Evelyn has been on the board of directors of Advertising Women of New York, Inc., from 1954-55. She attended Columbia University and Rochester University. Marriage entered the picture in 1934 when she met Charles Reed Jones.

RINO NEGRI, vice president and member of the Executive Committee of the Emil Mogul Company, is a leading authority on the advertising and marketing of Italian-American products, particularly in the radio-television media. Born and raised in Venice, Italy, Rino is a graduate of the College of Milan, and speaks and writes five languages fluently. He got his start in advertising as an Italian language announcer at WOV, New York. Rino became associated with Mogul in 1945, and since then has directed the very successful campaigns for Ronzoni Macaroni Company, Berolio Importing Company, Gem Oil, and Berio Olive Oil, which have proven his mastery of the Italian-American market.

ALVIN Q. EHRLICH, vice president in charge of radio and television for Kal, Ehrlich & Merrick, of Washington, D. C., is a pioneer and long-time leader of the advertising field in our nation's capital. Al, always active in civic and advertising affairs, was twice president of the Washington Advertising Club, has been a director of the Better Business Bureau, and is a member of the Radio Pioneers. He entered advertising in 1929 as manager of Raleigh Haberdasher's advertising, and joined the Kal Agency in 1932. Within three years he was a partner in the firm, and after three years in the service during the war, rejoined the firm which reorganized as Kal, Ehrlich & Merrick.

JOHN P. ATHERTON, vice president and director of radio and television for the Atherton & Currier Agency, brings a unique talent to his position. John is an accomplished musician and composer, and has created both music and lyrics for many of the agency's radio and television jingle commercials, in addition to many musical novelty announcements. He studied at the Oberlin (Ohio) Conservatory of Music and, after receiving a B.A. degree in music from Bard College in 1942, he spent the next 38 months in the U. S. Army, 20 of them in the South Pacific theater. On his return in 1945, he joined the agency and, in addition to his musical work, has assumed the duties of radio and television director.

KAY OSTRANDER, time buyer for the Dan B. Miner Company in Los Angeles, went to work as a secretary for McNeil & McCleery, a Los Angeles agency in 1948, where she remained until 1950. She first became interested in advertising agency work while employed by CBS-KNX in the post-war days. The vice president in charge of radio and television at the Miner Company, Hilly Sanders, offered her the job as time buyer for the agency. Kay has just passed her fifth anniversary with the agency and looks forward to being with Dan B. Miner Company long enough to have one of her daughters replace her at the job.

ROGER C. BUMSTEAD, media director of David J. Mahoney, Inc., was formerly with the Maxon Agency as a time buyer. He assumed his present post in January, 1954. His responsibilities at Maxon included recommendations on spot-time purchase, market research, rating and cost per M analysis. The accounts he served included Packard Motor Car Company (television network programs and radio announcement campaigns), Snow Crop Marketers and Gillette Safety Razor Company. Prior to that he was with the Katz Agency for over two and a half years in the promotion and sales data department.

HAROLD A. DAVIS, head time buyer for Erwin Wasey & Company, joined the organization in October, 1953, when he switched over from Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield, where he was assistant to the head time buyer. While there, he became buyer on the Bristol Myers, Borden's and Welch accounts. He got his start in the advertising business at Benton & Bowles, after spending four years with the Air Force, serving in China with the 14th Air Force, and then taking a Bachelor's degree at Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. His first position with Benton & Bowles was that of budget coordinator on Procter & Gamble.

JERRY BERGHOFF, executive vice president and radio-TV time and talent director of Berghoff Associates, Inc., Los Angeles, has a background of actor, producer, director, and writer for radio-TV shows in Seattle and Los Angeles. He organized the department of radio-TV at Berghoff Associates in 1949, and now directs all media, space, and time buying, besides handling account executive duties for the agency's fifty national manufacturing accounts. He is a charter member of Sigma Beta Chi, an honorary fraternity, married, and the father of one son, Eddie Marc.

E. A. "TIM" ELLIOTT, media director and vice president of the Fletcher D. Richards Agency, has spent his entire career (over a quarter of a century) with one agency. He directs the purchase of TV and radio time for U. S. Rubber, Eastern Airlines, Dixon Ticonderoga Pencils, Waterman Pen, American Machine & Foundry, among others, as well as serving as account supervisor on many key accounts. He came to Detroit from Canada when he was 19 to join Campbell-Ewald and when the separate corporate entity of Campbell-Ewald of New York became the Fletcher D. Richards Agency he was made a board member of the new organization, as well as remaining a vice president and media director.

WILLIAM W. LEWIS, radio-TV director on the General Electric account at the Maxon Agency, is a former director of the radio-TV department at the Geyer Advertising Agency and first entered the broadcasting field through the writing route. He's a graduate of the Pasadena College of the Theater in 1941, has acted in two off-Broadway shows, and later developed an interest in radio writing. He did a few free-lance scripts for NBC, where he was subsequently employed as a continuity writer and announcer. He worked on early experimental shows until 1943, when he entered the Army Air Corps, serving as a pilot until the end of World War II. After discharge he worked with Redwood Products, Inc., in a promotion capacity, then later started a 1,000-watt radio station in the Boston area.

WALTER BOWE, time buyer at Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, Inc., has been head of the department at Ogilvy, Benson & Mather, Inc., after receiving good training at Benton & Bowles in a time-buying capacity. A well-rounded agency time buyer, Walter currently handles time purchases for Pall Mall, Speidel, Vim and other top accounts. He spearheaded the large-scale radio campaigns for Lever Brothers' Good Luck Margarine, in conjunction with the New York state conversion to yellow oleo three years ago and brought fast sales results to the sponsor. Walt's radio baptism dates back to high-school production in his home town of Syracuse, New York, followed by workshop experience at Syracuse University's Radio-TV School.

NEWMAN F. McEVOY, vice president and media director of Cunningham & Walsh, has had previous experience in retailing and in industrial marketing which has provided the background and insight so vital to this highly specialized advertising function. He has been buying space and time for national and local advertisers since 1928. Among the accounts for which McEvoy has supervised media planning and buying are Chesterfield, Sunshine Biscuits, The Texas Company and E. R. Squibb & Sons. He has served as president of the Media Men's Association and is an active member of the Radio-Television Executives Society.

DONALD QUINN, media director of Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield, Inc., has been responsible for radio-TV time on a wide variety of programs, ranging from the "Garry Moore Show" to "Hilltop House," and has supervised extensive spot buying and participation programming. Don entered the advertising field eight years ago via the research department of Lennen & Mitchell, but soon after switched to media work. Later, while at Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc., he continued the radio-TV work which opened the path to his present post. Born in Northampton, Mass., Don currently resides in Bronxville, New York, with his wife Margot and their two children, Susan and Douglas.

LYDIA RHYDHOLM HATTON, chief radio and TV time buyer for Foote, Cone & Belding in Los Angeles, spent one year at Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, then transferred to the Washington Square College of New York University, majoring in retailing and advertising, where she received her B.A. degree in January, 1948. Shortly thereafter, she joined the media department of Alfred J. Silberstein-Bert Goldsmith, Inc., in New York City. Lydia entered the doors of Foote, Cone & Belding for the first time in September of 1949 as a member of the typing department. In October of 1952 she was named chief time buyer. Lydia was born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio.

Network Radio To Experience Renaissance

By
ROBT E. KINTNER
President
American Broadcasting
Company

THE time to sell network radio, not to sell it short, is now.

This medium possesses the power and magic needed by national advertisers and requires only a vigorous and positive selling approach, such as was used to create it from nothing after World War I to one of America's great sales agents before World War II.

By virtue of its coast-to-coast facilities, network radio at a very low cost-per-thousand delivers potential clients quickly and efficiently. The key to success lies in finding the proper means and time for the particular product.

Network radio commercials also serve as the perfect complement to other forms of advertising. It's a known fact that people associate what they hear on radio with commercial copy placed on television, in newspapers or magazines! And once again, at a low cost, network radio can buttress the campaign of many advertisers.

Back in the early days of the industry, our predecessors had to use every bit of ingenuity and resourcefulness at their disposal to put across to the public a then unknown and unpredictable form of communication. When their critics said it couldn't be done, they did it, to paraphrase a line from Edgar Guest. Radio executives admittedly had one advantage in those days over present-day men; there was no past experience to guide them.

Creativity, time and money have been lacking in the more recent years of network radio because of the pressure of developing television. But the time has come when TV has reached a degree of maturity and at ABC for example, greater attention is being placed on radio.

We have added new program properties including Walt Disney's "Magic Kingdom" bringing to the aural medium the talent of one of America's great creative artists. This new daytime entry is planned to meet some of the desires of morning audiences, yet while it is new, it is really only old time showmanship of which Disney is a master.

With the "Breakfast Club," also heard in the morning, ABC has found this property as valuable as ever. To insure its financial success, we have found it necessary to change our selling techniques, accommodating advertisers in smaller segments, from five minutes, one-time only to any other amount of time over a year or more. The results have been gratifying, proving that network radio needs only the right combination of time and program for the advertiser to buy.

ABC has experimented in other areas of programming, particularly the nighttime, and will continue to try new ideas and techniques to eventually discover what the public and the advertiser wants, knowing that ultimately our endeavors will pay off. Since we are in business for a profit, we have faith in what we're doing and have no intention of going out of the radio business.

While research men have come up with every kind of statistic about radio ("radio set sales are greater than television," "radios are everywhere," "radio appeals to the individual at work or play") television has still copped the headlines on sales and programs. Many radio executives have succumbed to thinking negatively and defensively as a result. Personally, I think this is a great failure on their parts.

Other industries have suffered set-backs such as motion pictures, records, etc. But we have all seen how they have snapped out of the doldrums and are now doing well.

Difficulties often serve to rally the best in a person or an industry, and I sense that this is happening in many areas of network radio at this very moment. Self-confidence is being restored and better efforts are being made to compete with other media. It is quite possible that network radio, within the next year or so, will experience a renaissance, gathering strength as the industry learns to utilize fully its tremendous but now latent potential.

Radio networks can still do the best job in many fields of endeavor and I believe they will continue to do so.

Not expecting miracles overnight, ABC believes that with patience and ability, we will accomplish what some pessimists say can't be done and return network radio to its respected position in American life.

Radio's New Threshold Of Achievement

By
ARTHUR HULL HAYES
President
CBS Radio

THE exciting thing about radio today is that it keeps breaking through its own high "ceilings."

In 1955, there were just short of 15 million radio sets produced--the biggest year for set production since 1948. Equally impressive is the fact that this tremendous year for radio set production came at a time when there were already a record number of radios--some 132 million of them--on the job in the nation. Also, out-of-home radio grew to be as large in numbers as the entire medium of television. And still radio continues to grow, expanding as rapidly as the manufacturer can make listening available in new and different ways.

Such vast acceptance of radio, of course, means that advertisers must continually re-examine it as an advertising medium. Last year, therefore, was one in which the greatest emphasis was placed on informing advertisers of radio's basic low costs and vast audiences. It was a year of enlightenment for many advertisers. Now, in 1956, radio emerges as a powerful all-purpose tool for the big national advertiser, and one highly effective, as well, for the low-budget advertiser who needs both frequent and continuing exposure.

Thus, at the beginning of 1956, we find Chesebrough-Ponds entering daytime radio with co-sponsorships of many different Monday through Friday programs. Hazel Bishop is purchasing a full 15-minute show each weekday, Monday through Friday. Lever Brothers, after a brief absence, is returning to network radio in a similar way. The F. C. Russell Company is purchasing evening segments of "The Bing Crosby Show." F. W. Woolworth has gained customers and prestige through its presentation of an hour-long "live" Sunday musical program. The Insurance Company of North America chose network radio for its fabulous Christmas Eve "Christmas Sing With Bing." And all this activity is taking place on one radio network--CBS Radio.

These new purchases of network radio, of course, augment a list of long-established ones--General Motors, Brown & Williamson, Liggett & Myers, General Foods, Longines-Wittnauer, Wrigley's, Campbell Soup Company, Standard Brands, Pillsbury Mills and many more.

Among all the radio networks, there has been a definite accent on the versatility of radio. Radio's new audiences, its audiences of all kinds of people doing all kinds of things, has been our hue and cry. There is no time of day or night when there is a dearth of listeners, whether at home or away. During one specific 15-minute period on a Sunday afternoon, for example, Nielsen found that more than 3 million auto radios were in use. And during many weekday evening periods, auto radio listening adds more than one-third to the in-home audience.

There have been many and varied approaches to reaching these vast audiences on the move, busy with their avocations, driving about the country, and those merely relaxing at home. One pattern seems to have wooed and won more listeners more consistently than any other. And that pattern is the one which CBS Radio adopted. Regular programming of popular stars and programs--the established favorites--has regularly gained for CBS Radio greater audiences than any type of programming by any other network. The serial-dramas continued to draw the biggest audiences in daytime radio. CBS Radio, through nearly all of 1955, produced all ten of the most popular daytime shows. In the evening, favorites Bing Crosby, Edgar Bergen, Our Miss Brooks, Amos 'n' Andy, Gunsmoke, among others, continued to out-draw the competition. Day and night, listeners continued to choose the name stars and the big shows as their favorite form of radio entertainment.

And while all the business of programming and selling was going on, there were other examples of radio's inherent ability to serve its listeners more effectively than anything else known to man. The devastations of hurricanes and floods were reported almost the instant they struck. There were many exciting on-the-spot reports from Geneva as well as everywhere else in the world--including Russia, for the first time since 1947. Radio news rose to new heights during the year; CBS Radio exceeded previous peacetime records with 101 news broadcasts a week.

Last year, network radio regained a great part of its glory and is now on the threshold of new and greater achievements.

Radios Bought Every 4 Seconds In America

By JOHN B. POOR

Executive
Vice President
Mutual Broadcasting System

TODAY'S miniaturized radio receivers, research-developed in the war years, blue-printed for consumers in 1950 and made available on a mass scale last year, are charting the metamorphic turns in current broadcasting operations.

And they're doing it intangibly as well as tangibly.

Most obvious effect has been the sudden realization of the tremendous number of sets in use, approximately 125-million, or one for every 1.4 people. The RAB's latest brochure states there is a radio for every person in America over nine years old . . . and recent RETMA figures show that there is a radio purchased in the United States every four seconds -- 365 days a year!! I'm sure these radios were not bought to be used as book-ends.

These startling statistics have awakened broadcasters and advertisers to the co-related fact that radio is the most mobile of the mass communications media. Perhaps the best tribute to the manufacturer's ingenuity has been the development of the miniature tube and the transistor which has made radio so small and portable that today there are people who literally "wear" their sets. It can be listened to -- and be a constant companion -- no matter where the listener might be and no matter what he or she are doing at the time they're listening.

The most pregnant intangible effect, on the other hand, was the realization too that radio's very acceptance as an essential part of our daily lives had obliterated the aura of romance, of mystery, of actual luxury that had previously excited listeners, and naturally advertisers.

This aura now surrounds television, the luxury item. Radio is the accepted thing, the life necessity as common to the American people as the shoes they wear, the bread they eat and the automobiles they drive. Radio is part of everyday life. People would be lost without it.

But they wouldn't realize that loss until radios were taken from them. That's how well radio has become integrated into our standards of living. It has even become the No. 1 item on Civil Defense lists.

This absorption pattern has not been sudden. Originally, as a luxury item, radios were handsome furniture pieces in living rooms -- just like television sets are today. Then gradually came the need for second, third and fourth sets in homes -- just like there is similar need today for more tv receivers in homes. This prompted development of smaller, table models.

But now the radio-tv receiver set parallel changes markedly. Radios were made, too, for automobiles and trucks. America began spending more of its time on wheels. Radio listening became more mobile -- more and more of the personalized and companionate type than the central entertainment unit in the home.

War-time development of pocket-sized sets rushed this pattern much faster. Today radio sets, in most homes, are in every room that's used. They're carried in pockets. They're in the cabs of trucks, in cars and taxicabs, in busses, on farm tractors and on motorcycles and bicycles. Last year over 13-million radio sets were manufactured -- and they were almost a fifty-fifty split in types between automobile sets and small portables, table models and clock-radios.

This mobility, as we call it, has prompted the new selling and programming techniques we initiated in 1955 and which we will continue to emphasize, with the cooperation of our 560 affiliated stations, throughout 1956.

Mutual foresaw changes in listening trends two years ago when the J. A. Ward survey was authorized to measure total radio audiences throughout the day plus the activities and locales of listeners (bedrooms, living rooms, dens, offices, kitchens, etc.). From the welter of statistics that became available to us, Mutual initiated its new programming and selling concepts last year. Continued faith by the nation's top advertisers in Mutual's effectiveness encouraged us to develop the multiple-broadcast, shorter-time-period pattern that now marks our schedule.

Mutual is unique in that it operates solely as a radio network. It is our belief that network radio, with its vast potential audience, is a valuable and essential means of national communication. We feel that the industry has an obligation to those who invested their money in the millions of radio sets. Conversely, we believe the adequate fulfillment of this obligation will, in itself, bring about the necessary economic stability, and establish, on a firm basis, the true impact of this medium with both the listening public and the advertisers.

Radio Now Provided With Fresh New Role

By
ROBERT W.
SARNOFF
President
The National
Broadcasting Company

THE broadcasting industry, as it enters 1956, can look back upon a year in which these three facts became clearly apparent: first, television is now well anchored as a powerful moving force in the nation's economy; second, the growth of color television into a national service will soon hit snowballing dimensions; third, the new program and sales concepts of network radio, whatever the title given to them, have provided radio with a fresh and hopeful role in the age of television.

For Pat Weaver and myself, and for everyone at NBC, the year just ended has been one of progress and promise. We expanded our color TV schedule by 500 per cent to reach a total of 46 hours live color programming per month. We created new programming forms such as "Wide Wide World," "Matinee Theatre," and "Project 20," and new radio services such as "Monitor" and "Weekday." We pioneered the "Color Spread" sales plan, making big-time evening hits available for the first time to a wide base of advertisers on a single-insertion basis.

During 1955, NBC ordered a $12,000,000 expansion of its color production facilities in New York, Hollywood and Chicago, to be completed by September, 1956. These added facilities were designed to permit doubling our color schedule to 80 hours a month. As part of this project, the NBC-owned station in Chicago, WNBC, becomes the world's first all-color station.

The Maurice Evans dramatic series opened up new vistas in television's constant effort to upgrade its product, and developed new Sunday afternoon audiences.

The year was marked by a more mature approach to world problems. Koestler's great drama, "Darkness at Noon," and the dramatic history "Nightmare in Red," brought thunderbolt impact to the subject of Communism. The full-hour "Meeting at the Summit" provided a stirring prelude to the Geneva talks.

"Wide Wide World" freed television from the constraints of the studio and set it to moving back and forth about the United States, across borders into Canada and Mexico, and over water to Cuba with electronic speed. And the great fulfillment of this program is yet to come -- when transoceanic television becomes a reality within a very few years.

A new kind of television documentary was pioneered with "Assignment: India," a full-hour "by-line" presentation featuring Chester Bowles.

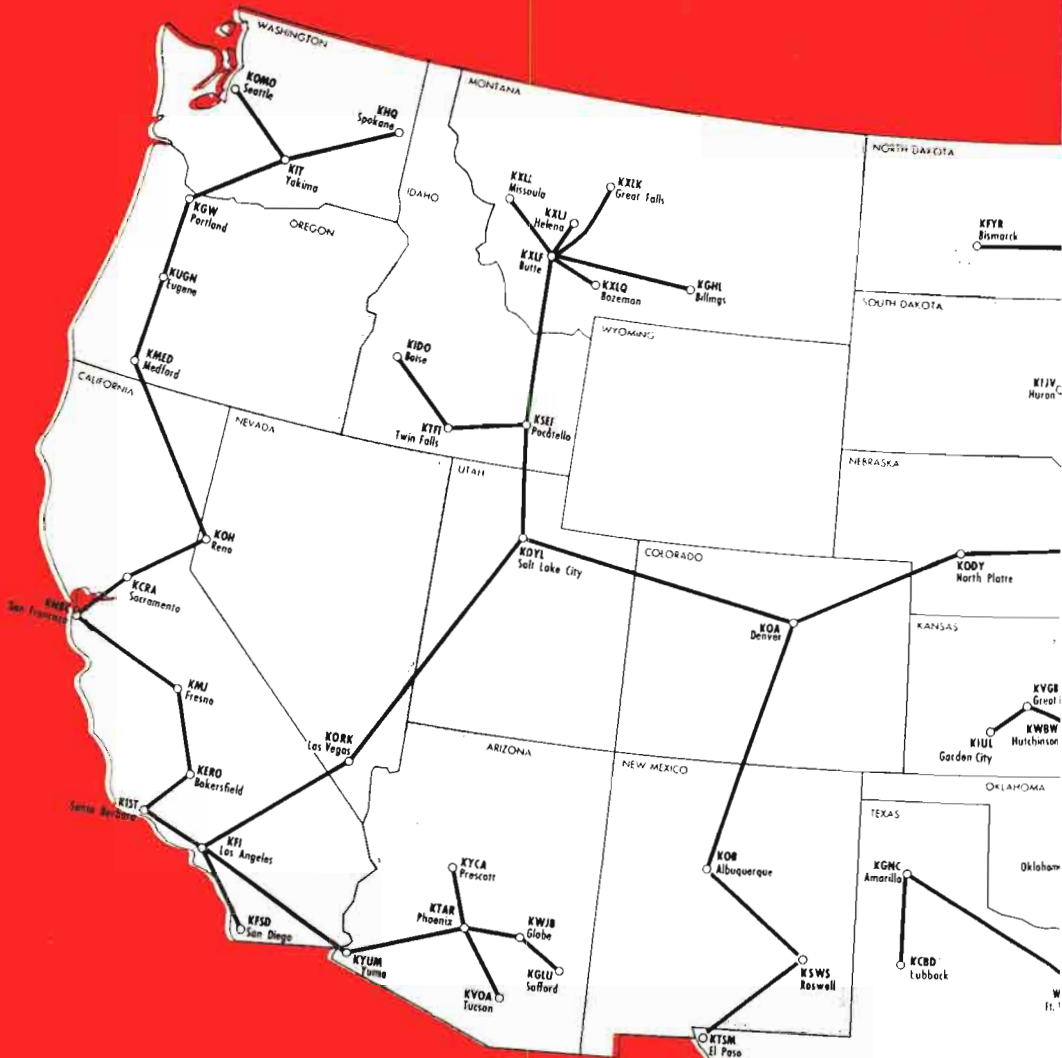

During 1955, the NBC enlightenment campaign was broadened, with more entertainment programs inserting elements of cultural and educational value into the format. We also set up the television industry's first Children's Program Review Committee to provide us with added guidance in improving our children's shows.

Looking toward television's talent needs of the future, NBC created the Talent Development Program, a multi-million dollar project designed to seek out and develop new stars, writers, producers and technicians.

Greater flexibility in programming was accompanied by greater flexibility in sales. Multiple sponsorship advanced to a point where it accounted for more than half our entire schedule. The network served 231 clients in 1955 as against 210 in 1954 and 165 in 1953. All in all, NBC-TV showed an increase of 34.6 per cent in total gross billings over the previous year, and a gain of 22.5 per cent in overall income.

Keystone Hits America's Prime Audience

By
SIDNEY J. WOLF
President
Keystone Broadcasting System, Inc.

THE primary motivation of advertising is to substantiate sales incentive at trade and consumer levels. In order to do this it is basic that to move goods it is a necessity to also move people.

Keystone moves people in a key way . . . it gets people into motion and keeps them moving in the interest of and in the direction of its advertisers' products. The Keystone Broadcasting System audience listens . . . and moves! Keystone delivers one of the most prime audiences to the advertiser that exists in the nation today. From a fall, 1955 government report, these facts emerged: Keystone's market of Hometown and Rural America contains 25,058,420 radio homes consisting of 87,704,470 people. Within this grouping there are over 4,000,000 farms and less than 30% of them have television. Here in deed is an undeniable primary market which deserves principal consideration for any well-directed sales program that lists national coverage as a requisite.

The Keystone story would not be complete without the almost fantastic kind of merchandising that exists within the realm of Keystone affiliates. This story is unique in the annals of the radio industry . . . unique because of the geographic and population setup of the area in which Keystone operates. Here in the small, widely scattered communities throughout the nation are the small town nuclei of American community living where station personnel is closely associated with the merchants of each specific community. Here a pattern of close cooperation with retail outlets of advertised products happens day in and day out with results that amaze advertisers of every conceivable type of product. Merchandising contests held by several of Keystone's clients have paid off in rich dividends.

Keystone's steady growth is an indication that this approach to advertising is a sound one. Keystone's long list of customers who stay around year after year for this successful treatment is ample testimony to the fact that the advertising dollar spent in the rich Home Town and Rural America market is an investment hard to equal in the media field. Keystone's biggest growth year was 1955 with the list of Keystone's affiliates growing to 875 stations.

1956 will probably be Keystone's biggest year in volume of sales to date and this in itself is a commentary on the need for using Keystone as a supplement to the rapid expanse of television . . . getting through to the vast daytime market where TV is not a factor in the audience story.

SERVICES OFFERED: The Keystone Broadcasting System is a transcription network which services local radio stations with programming transcriptions, and KBS makes their time available to national advertisers and their agencies at an attractive network package rate.

At present, there are more than 875 Keystone affiliates, located in towns with 10,000 to 250,000 population where they reach both the small town and rural markets. For the most part, these Keystone stations serve those areas which are beyond clear reception areas of the large metropolitan radio stations or other high-power stations. The number of radio homes in the Keystone primary coverage area total more than 25,058,420 based on Nielsen reports, or one-half millivolt where Nielsen report is not available.

Keystone is a flexible media easily purchased, whole or in part. Entire areas or spot coverage may be selected . . . whichever meets the needs of the advertising program. Regardless of the schedule, Keystone makes its time available at a considerable savings.

In operation, Keystone offers the same advantages as the wired networks. Instead of a large number of individual transactions, KBS reduces your problem to one order, one time clearance, one series of Affidavits of Performance, and one invoice.

Many of the nation's largest advertisers are using the facilities of Keystone. Types of programming vary from 25 word spots to one hour shows.

Spot Can Make Or Break National Business

Station Representatives

VERY often the question comes up as to what the Station Representatives Association is doing for the industry. Before explaining this, it is important to understand the basic fundamental upon which this Association operates. We believe that a healthy broadcasting industry should be our aim. With this in mind, we can consider only one thing—what is in the interest of the television and radio stations? Because we are their sales representatives, it is natural that we should be particularly interested in their economic health. The SRA, therefore, feels that basically the good of their own industry is tied so closely to what is good for broadcasters, that, for all practical purposes, their aims should be identical.

Everything in the broadcasting field depends primarily upon the good economic health of all broadcasters. The amount of public service they can perform and the amount of talent they can develop depend upon economic well being. We realize our responsibility in seeing to it that, so far as we are able, the broadcasting business develops financially.

It is a fact that most major radio and television stations depend upon national spot business, for which we are responsible, to such a point that what we do can virtually make or break the broadcasting business. We realize this responsibility and accept it.

Along with this responsibility goes the need to do two things:

1. Pave the way for the development of a maximum amount of National Spot business.
2. Wage war on anything contrary to the best interests of our clients—the broadcasting stations.

During the past year, the SRA has done a great many things—some of these activities have appeared in the trade press but most of them have not. The station representatives have individually developed a number of fine presentations to sell both radio and television. Through the offices of the S.R.A. the various representatives went over their individual presentations with competitors, and, it should be noted, that ours is a very competitive business. This exchange of information is beneficial to all representatives because obviously there is no monopoly on ideas. The representatives, therefore, not only effectively sold the medium on an industry-wide basis, but actually shared their ideas and plans with other strong competitors.

As salesmen we realize that the best way to assure yourself of a sale is to make it as easy as possible for the advertiser to buy. This has meant more and more research to show agencies and advertisers that Spot Television and Radio is the best buy and at the same time simplify as many steps along the way to make our medium one that can be handled as inexpensively as possible. We know that even though what we are selling represents the best advertising buy that it is still expensive for advertising agencies to handle. Step by step we are whittling away at this problem. We are trying to eliminate all of the costly bottle-necks.

A good example of this is the standard availability form which was introduced last year. Each one of our members and even some representatives who are not members are, as new forms are printed, accepting the new form. This has been approved by the AAAA. In the industry we know the difficulties that were encountered when an advertiser suddenly put on a large coast-to-coast spot campaign. An agency suddenly needs a great many new timebuyers which usually results in the addition of novices. Standard forms overcome many of the difficulties in training these new people. More and more we are standardizing procedures. This makes spot easier to use and results in what we are trying to accomplish—more income for the stations we represent.

We have many problems that will never be solved, but they can be kept under control by constant surveillance. One such problem is the matter of local versus national rates. In the stations' own interest we have been attempting to establish definite policies on what should be considered local and what should be considered as national business. The definitions can be easily set forth but the interpretation is another matter altogether. By keeping a close watch in this matter, we have saved the industry hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Famous on the local scene...

No man, no company, no broadcasting facility ever attained national prominence without first achieving greatness at home.

So with the group known collectively as Storer stations.

Look at each one individually. You will find the church, the school, the home — and the station — working together to improve the community.

The adherence to the tradition of leadership at "home" has made Storer stations national institutions.

A Storer station is a local station.

SEVEN COMPLETE BMI PROGRAM PACKAGES

● THE AMERICAN STORY

Prepared by BMI in association with the Society of American Historians. Each fifteen-minute program written by an outstanding American Historian, expert in the period or subject. Here are the fascinating and inspiring stories of our country from the age of discovery to the age of the atom. Top prestige programming.

● STORIES FROM THE SPORTS RECORD

Eye-witness accounts of dramatic action on the baseball diamond, in the prize ring, on the gridiron and elsewhere. . . . A complete script package available three times weekly as a 15-minute presentation.

● THE BOOK PARADE

Sparkling 15-minute scripts written by the most prominent of literary figures. This series is being hailed as "a conspiracy against ignorance" and has skyrocketed into national prominence. Another BMI script for top prestige programming.

● MILESTONES

Full half-hour presentations . . . simple to do, saleable, excellent listening. Usually four per month, sometimes five. Each script commemorates a special date or event of national importance.

● ACCORDING TO THE RECORD

Timely facts about the unusual, with musical cues that fit neatly into a dynamic 5-minute show. . . . Highly commercial. . . . Available 7 times per week for 52 weeks. Now in its 12th successful year

● YOUR CONCERT HALL

Full-hour or half-hour programs, three times weekly. Authoritative scripts which make concert music popular music. This series has proved that good music has a loyal and solvent audience. Continuity is held to a minimum — music at a maximum.

● MEET THE ARTIST

Behind the scenes . . . three-a-week 15-minute scripts loaded with factual biographical material about recording artists in the public favor. Fills a vital need in areas where such data is not easily available. Highly commercial.

For Sample Scripts and Complete Details Write to BMI Station, Service Department

GET LOST!

That's mighty easy in this TV-Radio business. Very Easy! Once you decide that you don't need creative, down-to-earth and on-the-spot selling plus live active promotion—you're done. You'll get lost mighty fast if you decide you're too big—or too small—to keep punching away at those that buy.

YOU'VE gotta keep SELLING and PROMOTING your station . . . for some eoger-beover is selling his property against yours. We'd like to help.

There's only 1 Independent in Southern California

powerful enough and popular enough to register audiences in radio survey ratings of both Los Angeles and San Diego

KBIG's 10,000-watt Catalina Island signal focuses all its strength on its mainland market, wastes none out to sea, booms across salt water (finest natural conductor of radio waves) KBIG covers Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara, and all Southern California.

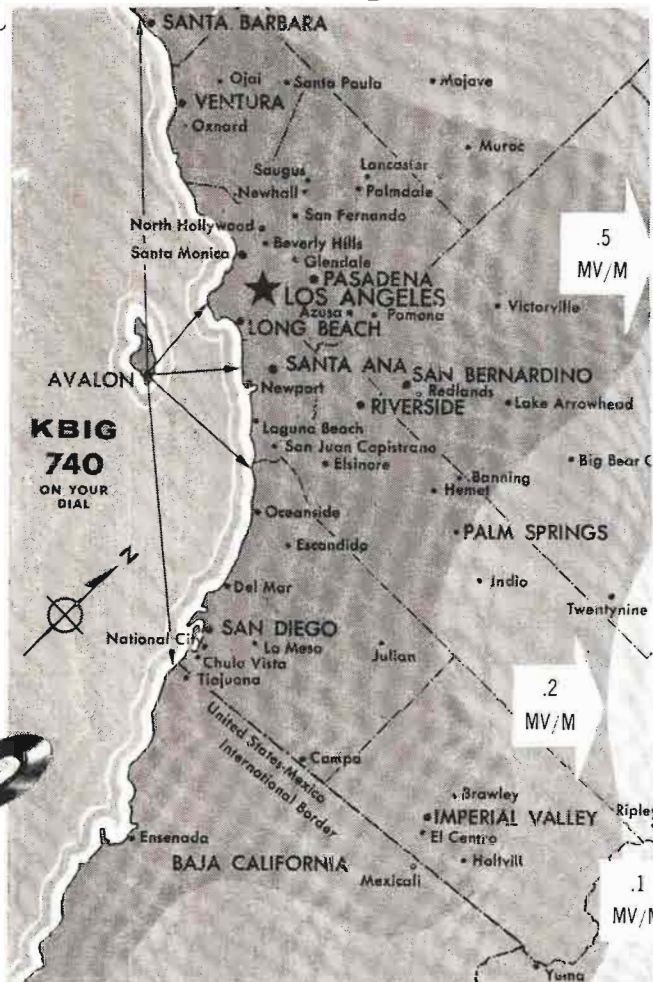

KBIG helps you to make the Whole Sale, to all the Southland, at Wholesale Prices!

Prove It To Yourself! Compare KBIG's base hour rate ($132) or base minute rate ($20) with any combination of newspapers, outdoor, television or radio you need to get this same coverage. You'll see why KBIG is the Giant Economy Package of Southern California Radio.

Call Weed or us — get the whole KBIG story.

BULLETIN FROM

Betty Thomas

Merchandising
Director

F

A.R.T.B. *** You buy it when you buy KFWB, Southern California's leading Independent radio station . . . A.R.T.B. *** is the rating your cash register understands as KFWB kicks out your message to the huge Southern California market which today does 25% of all the grocery business in the 11 Western States.

W

Now KFWB is ready to convert A.R.T.B. into sales for you with a smashing new Merchandising Program tied into every major market chain and Independent Grocery in Southern California. The KFWB merchandising plan is the shortest distance between your advertising and the customer's sales dollar.

Don't send a boy
to do a MAN'S work

Apparently, it is recognized that a multiple number of smaller Georgia radio stations are indicated if one hopes to approach the effectiveness and economy of WSB Radio. This is a protective concept which has prevailed, ineffectively, for the past 20 years. No other Georgia radio station, or combination of Georgia stations, gives you as many listeners per dollar as you can get on WSB Radio. Ask your Petry man to show you the facts.

WPOR

WPOR is not Portland's only station . . . but

It's the only station in Portland where radio is not a secondary operation.

It's the only station in Portland that features Music News and Sports.

It's the only station in Portland that raked up 15 quarter hour firsts out of 24 tested in a recent Survey. It's the only station in Portland that doesn't claim or charge you for questionable coverage outside the greater Portland market —

And it's the only station in Portland that can truthfully say.

"Portland's Favorite Station — Ask Anyone!"

Kansas City's Most Effective "ONE-TWO" ADVERTISING PUNCH!

KMBC-TV

Coverage-conscious advertisers get more than their money's worth when they swing their schedules to KMBC-TV, Kansas City's most powerful television station. With a giant 1,079-foot tower (above average terrain) and a 316,000-watt color-equipped RCA transmitter, KMBC-TV is the giant among television facilities in the Heart of America.

The new KMBC-TV "Big-Time" Daytime format is unquestionably the No. 1 TV buy in the market. Comparison of ratings, cost per thousand and complete versatility of commercial handling show that this fresh, new programming — featuring the Heart of America's finest TV talent — is far and away the best place to put your television advertising dollars.

KMBC-TV
CHANNEL 9

For the broadest broadcasting coverage in the Heart of America market, use the area's most effective one-two advertising punch — KMBC-TV Television plus KMBC-KFRM Radio! See the Colonel from Peters, Griffin, Woodward, Inc.

KMBC-KFRM Radio

Listeners and advertisers alike are finding the New Sound of KMBC-KFRM more and more irresistible! Some of the biggest names in the Midwestern broadcasting world — plus top ABC personalities — produce a new brand of radio that's tailored to the tastes of today's radio audience. Music, News, Sports, Major League Baseball, Farm Service, Women's Programs — there's quality service and entertainment for everyone via the New Sound of KMBC-KFRM.

By skillfully integrating personalized air salesmanship with the radio services modern-day audiences demand, KMBC-KFRM has created a climate for selling that's unduplicated in the Heart of America. You'll see what we mean when you buy your next schedule on KMBC-KFRM.

No matter who asks the question

 is the answer!

43.7% average share-of-audience per latest Hooper. Latest Omaha-Council Bluffs PULSE has KOWH on top in every time period. So does Trendex. KOWH is first in every time period of every Omaha survey. Good coverage, too on 660 kc. Call the H-R man, or General Manager Virgil Sharpe.

SATURATION SELLS GOODS

The most successful advertising technique is "telling your sales story to as many people, as many times as you can, within the limits of a sound budget." This is the WKBW SATURATION FORMULA which is bringing increased sales results for WKBW advertisers; and we have the renewals to prove it. A WKBW saturation campaign gives you more than twice as many listeners for your advertising dollar. That's why your sales results will be more than twice as good. For details call any office of AVERY-KNODEL or WKBW direct.

You'll be surprised what $100 a week will buy!

50 ROCKEFELLER PLAZA, NEW YORK 20, N. Y.

IN NEW YORK...

Over half of the population of the New York City Metropolitan Area speaks a language other than English. Spanish, Italian, Polish, German, and Russian can be heard on the streets of New York at any time of day or night. Over a million families still use the language of their origin in the home. It is no wonder that WHOM, which for over a quarter of a century has been giving service to these foreign language groups, is the foremost foreign language radio station in the East. WHOM speaks the language they understand and therefore has become a great influence in the buying habits of millions. That influence can be put to work . . . SELLING FOR YOU.

. . . "Fiesta Mambo," a bi-lingual, Spanish and English program designed to satisfy the current rage for Latin Rhythm that is sweeping the country. Don Mambo draws his following from both the Spanish and English speaking after hours listeners.

- WLIB has more Negro listeners than any other New York station—network or independent (Pulse).
- WLIB is the only radio station in New York City with studios in Harlem.
- WLIB is first in 24 out of 25 quarter hours every morning.
- WLIB is the only New York station broadcasting Negro community news and special events on a regularly scheduled basis—every hour on the half hour.

The Italian Influence

In every phase of American life, Italian creativeness plays a leading role in satisfying our demands for better living. From music to motor cars, from fashions and furniture to films and food, we eagerly accept the good things the Italian Influence brings us. Here in New York, with more than two million Americans of Italian origin, the Italian Influence makes its most penetrating impact.

Let WOV show you how to direct this influence to the profit of the product

you advertise.

OF GOOD

MUSIC

America's Number One Good Music Station, WQXR, becomes America's most powerful good music station with our new 50,000-watt transmitter.

This means that the demand for the best in music and The New York Times news puts our television-proof program policy in the "big time."

Twenty years of sticking to one idea — good music and news — has enabled WQXR to build an audience of 659,000 families of higher-than-average income in the world's richest market — New York. Our new top-powered transmitter will extend that market further.

Now more people will hear WQXR's excellent programming, more people will hear our sponsors' messages, more people will buy WQXR's advertised products and services. That's what you want, isn't it?

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS

WFIL-TV, like the booming 30-county Delaware Valley, U.S.A. which it saturates, is a modern success story without equal.

- Advertisers in Delaware Valley use WFIL-TV more than other Philadelphia stations—50% more than Station A, 70% more than Station B.
- WFIL-TV's unparalleled point-of-sale merchandising support in 3 great supermarket chains has increased food billings 387% in 4 years.
- Delaware Valley's most popular local programming is created by WFIL-TV. "BANDSTAND", for instance, topped all competition since it began, October, 1952.
- Only the WFIL stations—in all of broadcasting—hold more than one du Pont Award—for community service.
- Respected advertisers like FORD... ALKA SELTZER... RCA... ATLANTIC REFINING... KELVINATOR use an annual average of 5¼ program hours per week on WFIL-TV—and have for the past 5 years.

The surest road to top sales in the teeming Delaware Valley, U.S.A. is WFIL-TV—proven competitively superior service to advertisers and community... NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS.

JACK LOGAN starts the day "bright" with music, news, weather. 6 to 9:30 A.M.

AL NOBEL provides pleasant listening with melodic music, home service tips. 3:30 to 6 P.M.

Three's Better Yet!... with Mrs. Pittsburgh!

Mrs. Pittsburgh starts her day with Logan, and keeps tuned to KQV most of the day! Why? She likes the informal style of Logan and Nobel . . . hears her favorite CBS shows in-between. (Mr. Pittsburgh says KQV sports, weather and news shows are great, too!)

Only BIG radio is BIG enough to reach BIG Texas . . .

Texans are where you find 'em!
 In selling Texas you don't look down your nose at folks with rural addresses. Bless them, they make up 35% of Texas' 8½-million population.

Any plan of advertising that touches only Texas' widely separated big cities does some powerful hop-skip-and-jumping, but omits a heap of good people who are able to get their entertainment and information only by Radio!

In selling Texans you've got to go BIG with radio — to reach them wherever they are . . . in the cities, the towns, the villages, or the wide open spaces.

Any mass selling of Texas begins with big WFAA's 98% coverage of the largest, richest market area in the Southwest—the tail is wagging the cow.
