"EZ was formed in 1967 with the specific purpose of building a large, exciting group of radio stations...ones that could propel this company to the top level of the industry. We are proud of that heritage and we are proud of our "EZ" people. We've always tried to operate at the front of the pack in terms of company growth, programming, research and training, as well as, important industry issues and new technology. For me, that's what makes day-after-day, year-after-year, so exciting."

-Alan Box

t EZ, we are dedicated to training our people. An important part of being an account executive with EZ Communications is being actively involved in the "Promise for Excellence" program. The goal of this program is to continually encourage EZ's salespeople to grow, learn and strive to become the best trained salespeople in the business. As individuals work the "Promise for Excellence" program, there are different levels of achievement, the highest being a Certified Sales Professional.

By achieving the CSP title, a salesperson has achieved the highest level of recognition and commitment in the "Promise for Excellence" sales training program.

Each year during a four-day award trip we formally recognize the new and existing CSPs. We would like to introduce EZ's Certified Sales Professionals to you. They are:

TWO HISTORIC BEGINNINGS

It started in 1920 when an enterprising electric company named Westinghouse transmitted America's first commercial radio program on KDKA Pittsburgh. With that, a remarkable new industry was born.

In 1927, 16 independent radio stations joined to become a national radio network, the Columbia Broadcasting System. Our industry spread its wings and took flight.

Westinghouse and CBS share a pioneering tradition. Now, we come together to merge two great broadcasting companies into one.

THE NEW CBS

The new CBS is the nation's largest broadcaster. It will be the cornerstone of a vibrant global media organization.

The new CBS will be a major force in television and radio, news, sports, entertainment, program production, cable programming, marketing, distribution and technology in the United States and the world.

The new CBS will represent innovative programming, outstanding performance, superior community service and unflagging integrity.

ONE BRIGHT FUTURE

We will create a dynamic future—for our employees who are dedicated to providing excellence in broadcasting, for our affiliates who bring us into America's homes, for our advertisers whose support is key to our success, for our shareholders who have entrusted their resources to us and, above all, for our listeners and viewers, who deserve the very best we have to offer.

RADIO STATIONS BY MARKET

How this section is organized

This section profiles the commercial radio stations in each of the 261 radio markets where Arbitron surveyed radio listening in the Spring of 1995. Markets are listed alphabetically by Arbitron market title. For cross-references on hyphenated market names, see page 8. Please scan the call letter cross-reference chart at the beginning of each market to find stations in combo or duopoly listings.

Who is listed

Generally, we included all stations which have averaged one share or more over the last few Arbitrons surveys. In larger markets, we have included many stations which didn't meet the one-share threshold. Co-owned stations are always presented together, even if the combo or duopoly mate didn't meet the threshold. Non-commercial stations are listed if they are part of a group listed in our group section.

Duopoly and LMA listings

Stations and combos linked by ownership (duopoly) or full sales and programming LMAs are listed together, between cross bars, and marked as consolidated "Duopoly", or "JSA" "LMA" operations.

Usually, the first station listed in a combo or duopoly is the highest-rated. Basic information is included in that listing. Subsequent stations include only data different from that of than the first station. For example, if a duop's management team is the same for all stations except for the PD's only PD's are named under other stations

LMAs (local market agreements) and JSAs (joint sales agreements, a specific type of LMA) are strategic alliances between two or more owners involving programming, sales or both. Usually. Some LMAs in this book are nothing more than two separate operations sharing office space. Generally, LMA partners are listed together when they share the same address, phone/fax and have overlapping personnel. In the case of JSAs where there is not significant overlap, the stations are listed separately with the arrangement noted in each listing.

At press time, owners were limited to a maximum of 2 AMs and 2 FM's in any one market. Congress was on the verge of relaxing this restriction but it had not yet become the law of the land as the Source Guide went to the printer. However, several station groups listed are legally "over the limit." There are two ways for this to be possible.

Although a combined Arbitron share of 25 is the yardstick which merging stations must stay under, the inclusion of two stations in a given Arbitron-defined market does not necessarily mean they are subject to duopoly regulations. This kicks in only when the signals of two same-band stations overlap. In some of the more far-flung markets, it is not uncommon to find owners with three or more same-band stations with non-overlapping signals, and it is a possibility in any market.

The other way to go over the limit is through an FCC waiver. 1995 was the year of the mega-merger, and in a few cases the purchasing company was granted permission to do the deal with six to twelve months to sell stations in order to comply with ownership limits.

Demographics & Revenues

At the top of each market, the Arbitron 12+ population figure is given, followed by Arbitron's estimates of Black and Hispanic population, average household income and total retail sales for the market. All info is used by permission of Arbitron. Revenue estimates and projections were calculated by Radio Research Development Inc., and are also used by permission.

Check our group section for group execs and addresses

If a station or combine is group-owned, it is so noted on the bold-face line listing the owner, with the notation, (grp). Please check our group directory, beginning on page 1-1 for group information.

What the facility listings tell you

For AM stations, we've listed the day and night operating powers in kilowatts, and the antenna configuration. For FM stations, we list the effective radiated power in kilowatts and the antenna height above average terrain in feet.

AM facility boilerplate: Generally, lower AM frequencies yield better coverage for a given power level. "D" means day hours, "N" means night hours. "U" means unlimited hours, or fulltime (day and night) operation. "ND" indicates a non-directional antenna. "DA" means directional antenna. "DAD" denotes a directional daytime-only station. "DAN" denotes a fulltime station which operates directionally at night only. "DA1" means a directional station with the same pattern all hours. "DA2" means different directional patterns day and night. A complex AM directional antenna often, though not always, indicates restricted coverage in one or more directions. AM directional antennas can also be used to reinforce coverage; this is especially true of the older and larger AM stations.

FM facility boilerplate: Coverage is determined by the combination of effective radiated power and antenna height. Power is a relative indicator of signal performance. More is generally better, but greater antenna height generally yields better coverage, up to a point. The FCC has a complex set of rules which often require swap-offs; many stations must cut back their power if they are able to use a very high antenna site. Many different combinations of power and antenna height can yield the same geographic coverage area.

A word on FM antenna heights

Though the FCC now lists antenna heights above average terrain in meters, we elected to use English units. For stations licensed prior to the FCC's shift to metric, we have listed the station's actual, licensed height above average terrain, in feet, as listed on the station's license documents. For stations licensed after the FCC's shift to metric, we have converted the licensed height in meters to feet, using a conversion factor of 1 ft. = 0.3048 m.

We wanted to publish our client list.
Unfortunately, our clients want us to keep it a secret!

For over 10 years Peters Communications has been working with some of the biggest and most respected broadcast companies in the business. And even though you might not know much about us, our client list reads like a "who's who" in broadcasting. Frankly, we've been so effective as a "secret weapon" that many of our clients would prefer that you didn't know about it. We're flattered (even if it makes it hard to advertise). However, truth be told, since 1985, we've been quietly working with these companies to help create some of the most successful Oldies, 70's and Classic Hits stations in the country. Whether it's through a quick "market snapshot," a station checkup, or a long term relationship, our record of success is unequalled. When you're ready for personalized service, constant attention, and custom solutions, call us. We'll keep it our little secret.

Oldies – 70's – Classic Hits

116 ways
to grow
radio sales, increase revenue and pitch
new business.

Media Targeting 2000
is a landmark study
of consumers and media that confirms the selling power of radio.

Three jam-packed pages per category

Because the study contains so many categories (116), it's likely your radio station or ad agency will find one or more of your client's — or potential client's — products or services among them.

For instance, is your client a car dealer? Or, maybe you're prospecting for one? How about a furniture store, a fast-food restaurant, a pet store? There are three full pages of data allotted to each of those categories, as well as to all the others — each under the headings "Consumer Profile" and "Media Habits."

Confirms radio's power to reach consumers

The study allows you to let your clients see their customers as they are, including occupation, income and lifestyles. And most important, how they use radio. Like: During the day, people spend more time with radio than with any other medium; and, it's the number one medium they're exposed to prior to a major purchase.

An Arbitron donation

Jointly produced by Arbitron and the Radio Advertising Bureau (RAB), the study is Arbitron's gift to the radio and ad agency industries. One copy has been sent free to Arbitron subscribers and RAB members. Additional copies are available at $25 each. To get one, mail:

Samples?

How do they really work?

It's no trouble to ask the folks at Motown & Gamble or hundreds of other artists if Free Sample mailings work. We've used our CassetteVelo™ or SmartTargets™ Radio's version of what's been used to drive trial and top-of-mind awareness in high-competition intensive industries... the results speak for themselves. The success of any Brand Marketing Campaign we've used our concept has been proven. The long term benefits derived from our plan developed for their unique market. As A H.O.T. Traffic & Billing System!

SI is the industry's first new billing system in more than a decade designed to easily handle the complexities of running major market stations and LMAs.

What more than 2,000 radio stations needed from a system. This new system inspired features that have never before CBSI's Premier. It's possible, thanks to CBSI's performance Object Technology developers used H.O.T. to create a powerful, new DeltaFlex™ Traffic Engine to drive Premier — and give you the features you need.

- User-Defined Confirmations
Get absolute clarity of the contract for you and your client, and customize it for your specific needs.
- Exclusive CBSI Clipboard

- Pending Orders
Now your sales staff can enter their own orders at the station or from the field.

And there's more...
