What of Hollywood?

All ears are tuned to "The Circle" these Sunday nights. Newest glamour show to hit the air, launched with a great splurge of publicity and a $30,000 payroll, it has caused divided comment. Which brings us to the subject of our editorial cartoon this week. Everyone is familiar with Old Mother Hubbard who went to the cupboard, found it bare, and so could not feed her poor dog.

Since "Hollywood Hotel" proved that listeners liked a Hollywood show, sponsors have been calling on the film city for more and more assistance. Today, almost no star is left who hasn't or isn't making radio money on the side. But one of these days, mark our words, the Hollywood cupboard is going to be bare.

Perhaps the time isn't yet. The Kellogg Circle interests us because of its earnest effort to entertain without using the ancient comedian-singer-orchestra formula. The program hasn't found itself as yet, but it may. If it doesn't, we think no listener will disagree that a glamour girl or a Hollywood he-man is just as dull and annoying as any other bore. If it does find itself, it will demonstrate only that a new method of presenting stars can keep the cupboard from going bare for a little while longer.

Eventually radio must find new stars for itself. We think that day is not far away. Sponsors and broadcasters, where will you look when the cupboard is bare?

Banish Whistling

Audience-whistling is on the wane. One reason:

"May I congratulate RADIO GUIDE on its timely editorial and cartoon against the nuisance of stamping and whistling. We at NBC's Hollywood Radio City have been faced only recently with this unpleasantness. How it was started or by whom, we don't know, but we do know that we shall do everything in our power to eliminate it. The advertising agencies who produce our programs have promised us their full cooperation, and with the added help of such a widely circulated magazine as yours, I feel sure that we shall be able to curb this unseemly noise, which is harmful to network program and sponsor as well as extremely unpleasant for the listening audience. Very sincerely yours, John W. Swallow, Program Director, Western Division, NBC."

Congratulations to John Swallow for his part in this campaign to rid the studios of whistlers. Now, readers of RA-DIO GUIDE, do your part, too. Whenever you hear a studio audience whistling, write to the sponsor and tell him you don't like it. Whip the whistlers!

Eddie Cantor

To do a charitable act for publicity purposes is such a habit with many radio and movie stars that we are often fooled into believing that a gilded lady's heart really is of gold. To do it because of one's convictions is something else. Eddie Cantor is one star whose sincerity never has been and never will be questioned. For years he has supported a boys' camp for underprivileged tenement kids. Annually he raises huge sums of money for helpless, hungry persons. His career as a practicing benefactor came to a climax, we think, when he led the recent "March of Dimes" program on the air. With the greatest names in radio offering their services, Eddie Cantor acted as master of ceremonies for a difficult full hour in order to raise funds for the President's drive against infantile paralysis. He was never better as a showman and entertainer. He was never enlisted in a better cause.

Echo

It is a pleasant experience to find one's judgment seconded and one's proposals imitated. Particularly when the seconder is a big-shot. Remember that editorial we ran months ago called "It Can Happen Here." It warned that any president of our country is only a hair's-breadth away from dictatorial control of broadcasting, according to the present law of the land.

The law says: "Upon proclamation by the President that there exists war or a threat of war or a state of public peril or disaster or other national emergency, or in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States, the President may suspend or amend, for such time as he may see fit, the rules and regulations having application to any or all stations . . ."

Last week a big-shot newspaper, the Chicago Tribune, retold our story in slightly different words. The great midwestern newspaper also recommends that this dangerous grant of power in our radio law be changed and that right quickly. Congress is in session. Congress, as representative of the people, should take back unto itself the rights it so recklessly and carelessly entrusted to a single individual. Personal control of broadcasting is much too great a temptation and responsibility for any one man no matter whether he be Republican or Democrat!

GREAT AMERICANS

THINK ABOUT RADIO

RADIO IN PRISONS by Lewis E. Lawes

Famous Warden of Sing Sing Prison

THE other evening, I made one of my accustomed tours through the cell-blocks. As I strolled along I could hear laughter issuing from practically every cell, and could see, of course, that the radio was creating this atmosphere of joviality.

"Hello, Warden," the men greeted as I passed by. "They got a swell program on tonight."

I knew the program they were referring to. It was one of the prominent half-hour variety shows, and a favorite among the prisoners. But whether it was really as humorous as the mirth of the men seemed to indicate was a question; because prison, after a period of time, exerts an unfortunate, though to be expected, influence over the inmates incarcerated there.

Confined as they are, and with anything of tremendous importance rarely occurring to liven up their existence, they seize upon the slightest and most insignificant happening as material upon which to build something of moment to them. As a result, one can hear them laughing in the prison yard over the most trivial incident, or gravely arguing about the smallest matter imaginable.

Thus it is not difficult to understand why the remarks of a radio comedian, of a man who is expected to be comical, will move the men to hysterics, regardless of actual humorous quality.

As I continued my inspection, the hilarity gradually subsided and was replaced by an air of almost complete silence. I knew what was responsible for the change in attitude. The men were now listening to another type of program, a leading symphony orchestra; for it is our object, as far as possible, to provide a variety of entertainment for the confined men. And we do this for several reasons.

In the first place the types of inmates are as numerous as the types of programs, and therefore the tastes of all must be taken into consideration. There are many educated men to whom good music constitutes the essence of recreational enjoyment. Then there are prisoners for whom the drama holds the most desirable form of relaxation. But with practically few exceptions, every inmate eagerly listens to the news broadcasts so that he may participate as best he can in the constant movement that takes place in the world of which he was once a part.

The prisoners receive only broadcasts selected by our civilian program-director, and these presentations are transmitted from our central receiving-station to earphones in their cells. This means, of course, that the inmates do not have the privilege of choosing individual programs, but we so vary the types of shows that the desires of all are reasonably well satisfied.

Taking into account the practises of years ago, in which inmates, when not working, were confined completely to themselves, not even being allowed normal communication with one another, it is obvious to anyone what a tremendous blessing the radio is in the lives of men otherwise restrained from any direct contact with the world outside.

And in this connection, the radio medium contains features not possessed by the most complete library. It establishes a relationship with the living, vibrating human being other than with the cold, dead print of a book or of a publication.

But while a library can never be replaced even by the most advanced radio methods or technique, nonetheless what the men need most in prison is that which everyone on the outside appreciates, perhaps the least: contact with his fellow man. And radio provides this vital and valuable link for the man behind bars.

father to visit Sans Souci Palace in Potsdam . . .

The adjutant returns with the sixty-two-year-old homespun Bach, his clothes dust-stained, his boots unpolished, his wig awry. He is made to stay for the evening concert at the palace, and next morning Frederick has Bach playing the great organ there and trying the new pianoforte just invented by Silbermann to supersede the tinkly harpsichord. The august music enthusiast then drags his guest through Potsdam, makes him test all the church organs in the city and generously presents him with a valuable ring and a purse of gold ducats.

Radio has made it possible for metropolis and out-of-the-way hamlet to share alike when great music is broadcast. This season, more than ever before, listeners everywhere await fine recitals, operas and concerts that are theirs just by the twist of a dial. To enhance every listener's enjoyment of fine music, the editors of RADIO GUIDE are presenting this series of biographies of Musical Giants, of which this is the sixth.—Editor.

IT IS May 7, 1747. A powerful king and his ministers sit around the council table after a war recently won by their nation. Financial and economic affairs must be straightened out, political policies changed, the depleted army remanned and newly equipped. It is a serious conclave with vital discussion.

An adjutant enters and salutes the monarch.

"Speak!" he commands.

"Sire, he has arrived."

"Let him enter."

"He is at the inn, after a long ride in the coach. He desires to change his clothes and—"

"It is my desire that he come here at once—as he is. Bring him without delay." The adjutant leaves.

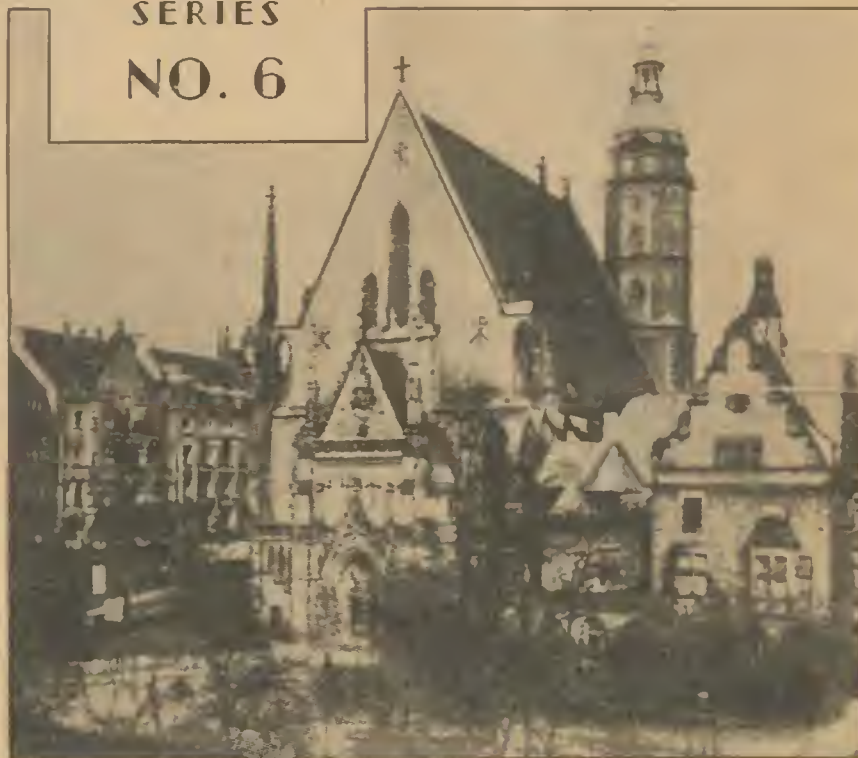

The thirty-five-year-old ruler turns to his ministers and cries out excitedly: "Gentlemen, old Bach is here. The meeting is adjourned. But don't go away. I promise you that you shall hear something." Insincere murmurs of pleasure accompany astonished glances. Are not matters of state more important to a king than the visit of a mere musician?

Not when the king is Frederick the Great of Prussia, and the musician Johann Sebastian Bach! . . .

The latter's son, Wilhelm, in charge of court music for Frederick, often has told him about the genius of his father and played Johann Sebastian's works for the regal music-lover, who himself is a skilled performer on the flute and a composer of some talent. He extends through Wilhelm the invitation to the St. Thomas Church, Leipzig, today.

The period during which Bach was director of music for this church was productive of his finest works positions to Bach and playing the flute for him. (What the latter thought has not been recorded by history. It is safe to assume, however, that in view of Frederick's real ability, Bach could not have agreed with a dictum spoken a century or so later when a caustic critic said, "Never criticize the compositions of a prince, for heaven only knows who might have written them.")

Frederick must have recalled to Bach that he was born portentously in the same year, 1685, which brought Handel and the elder Scarlatti into the world; and one can imagine the visitor relating how much he admired Handel, even going to the city of Halle in 1719 to pay his respects but arriving there just after his eminent colleague had left for England. (The meeting of the pair of immortals never took place, much to the lasting regret of both.)

Frederick, with a knack of knowing everything that went on in Germany, could have asked about the story of Marchand, French organist, who challenged Bach to a public musical contest when the latter appeared in Dresden. The concert was arranged. Bach went to the hall, where a crowd of the curious had collected, but after a long wait no Marchand came. Friends had given him the tip about the German's prowess as an organist and improviser, and the French challenger sneaked hurriedly out of town.

"And is it true that you once walked twenty miles to hear a great organist?"

"Yes, Sire; I was only twenty. In Lubeck lived Buxtehude, then an old man but still a marvelous performer. As I had no money for the long ride on the stagecoach, I simply went on foot."

"And did you almost ruin your eyesight by sitting up nights as a boy and copying manuscripts of famed music with only a flickering candle as light?"

"I did indeed, and my reward was that my elder brother, who was also my teacher, discovered my nocturnal activities and as punishment tore up all the work I had done so laboriously."

ONCE in reminiscent mood and encouraged by Frederick, Bach doubtless went on to make him laugh by telling how, while in charge of music at the church in Arnstadt, he had angered the consistory through his independence and firm-mindedness. "The members accused me of refusing to rehearse the choir sufficiently; accompanying the hymns with curious variations and irrelevant ornaments; indulging in too long organ preludes, and making them too short when scolded. Also, Sire, they lectured me because I allowed a 'stranger maiden' in the organ loft when I was practising."

"Oh, oh, you rascal!"
 "Well, she was my cousin, Maria Barbara, whom I married soon after. Alas, she died thirteen years later, but left me seven children. I took a second wife and thirteen more children came to bless our union." (An irreverent wag has remarked that Bach was the father of the fugue and of twenty children.)

Among Frederick's friends were the Duke of Weimar and the Prince of Anhalt, at both of whose courts Bach functioned in the capacity of organist, conductor, choirmaster and what not musically. At the Anhalt establishment, he created some of his finest works. Another connection was with the Margrave of Brandenburg, who commissioned him to write the six orchestral scores known today as "The Brandenburg Concertos."

WISH I could know what Bach played for Frederick during the several days in Potsdam. Perhaps the towering C Minor "Passacaglia"? Some of his best toccatas and fugues? Excerpts from the concertos, suites, chorales; passages from the monumental oratorios? The musical monarch must have been fascinated and entranced...

Three years later Bach died, survived for thirty-six years by the king.

The musician's life was spent entirely for his music and his home. His art he looked upon as a form of worship; his every manuscript, even the smallest, is inscribed "In nomine Jesu" (In the name of Jesus). Deeply religious, he climaxed his high faith in the pages of his oratorios; there are moments in the "St. Matthew Passion" and "St. John Passion" which make it impossible for the hearer not to offer the tribute of tears.

But Bach could be humorous, too, even in his fugues, some of them quite jolly, a real surprise for those who imagine all fugues to be scholarly and dry. His "Phoebus and Pan" is a rollicking conceit. His "Coffee Cantata" is an uproarious burlesque, mocking a young lady inordinately addicted to the fragrant drink just become popular at that period.

Bach's muse found expression in practically every form. He did not invent new ones, but developed and enriched the old, some of them so amply that his predecessors seemed

HIGHLIGHTS

PREVIEWS OF SOME OF THIS

The lovely Madeleine Carroll, screen actress, co-stars with Orson Welles in the "Campbell Playhouse" presentation of "The Green Goddess" this Friday night over CBS.

Thursday: "Good News of 1939" presents a preview of "Honolulu." The stars will be Eleanor Powell and Robert Young. Miss Powell recently received the honor of being requested to entertain at the President's Birthday Ball in Washington. (NBC, 9:00 p.m. EST, 8:00 p.m. CST, 7:00 p.m. MST, 6:00 p.m. PST.)

Thursday: Franchot Tone, a frequent visitor to radio, and Sylvia Sidney, who makes few appearances, will co-star on the "Kate Smith Hour" in Irwin Shaw's "The Gentle People." This is the latest Group Theater Broadway production. It will be significant to Tone, for he was originally brought to Hollywood from the Group Theater. (CBS: 8:00 p.m. EST, 7:00 p.m. CST; for the West, 9:30 p.m. MST, 8:30 p.m. PST.)

Friday: The long-time favorite, "First Nighter," with regular stars Barbara Luddy and Les Tremayne, will present this week "Small Town Editor." The play is dedicated to the best-known small-town editor in America, William Allen White of the Emporia (Kansas) Gazette. (CBS: 8:00 p.m. EST, 7:00 p.m. CST, 6:00 p.m. MST; for the West, 10:00 p.m. MST, 9:00 p.m. PST.)

Friday: William Archer's "The Green Goddess," the melodrama made famous by George Arliss, will be presented by "Campbell Playhouse." Orson Welles will play the part of the sinister Rajah of Rukh. The screen's lovely Madeleine Carroll will appear as the wife of a British army officer in India and a captive of the Rajah. (CBS: 9:00 p.m. EST, 8:00 p.m. CST, 7:00 p.m. MST, 6:00 p.m. PST.)

UNCLE SAM AT THE FAIR —Sunday, NBC

Cabinet members and other ranking officials of the United States will present an outline preview of the government's participation in the New York World's Fair of 1939 in a series of programs beginning this week. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, chairman of the U. S. Fair Commission, will inaugurate the series. By way of setting a healthy, happy scene, his subject will take the proverbial short cut to a man's heart—"Food." In the subsequent discussions in the series, economic, social and educational phases of public welfare will be outlined. The programs are designed to give to all the nephews and nieces of Uncle Sam who propose to visit the fair a preliminary picture of the services available to every American.

FOUR-STAR SHOW —Sunday, CBS

A vocalist extraordinary, a likable brat, a namby-pamby comedian, and a novelty quartet combine talents this week to give the "Screen Guild Show" a brilliant program. Headline attraction will be Bing Crosby, America's vocal institution, who is even more popular today as a straight singer and a jester of ceremonies than he used to be as a hot-cha crooner. The little spitfire of the screen, Jane Withers, will be present and will do a novelty duet with Bing. "Woo-woo" Hugh Herbert, flighty film comedian, and the Yacht Club Boys, composing-singing quartet, will be additional features. The entire program will be in the nature of a review, similar to the first January 8 show.

THIRD TIME CHARMS —Tuesday, NBC

Bob Hope is happily married to Dolores Reade, and Shirley Ross is really Mrs. Ken Dolan, wife of a Hollywood agent. Bob and Shirley see each other very often, however—on the air and on the screen. The fans ask for it. Even though, peculiarly, no one has tried to conjure up a romantic affair for the public print, the pair has proved to be one of the most popular of radio and film teams. The "memory" of "Thanks for the Memory" isn't going to die as long as the public keeps asking for more Hope-Ross pictures and radio engagements. This week will mark the third time in three months that Shirley has appeared on Hope's show, both return visits being due to the listeners' enthusiastic response. Although Shirley is a comparative newcomer to films, she is well acquainted with Hollywood, having moved there with her family from Omaha, Nebraska, in time to enter grade school. She stepped from the University of California into Gus Arnheim's orchestra as a vocalist.

WEEK'S BETTER PROGRAMS

O-KAY —Wednesday, NBC

Glib Kay Kyser, who is officially prexy of the "College of Musical Knowledge" but who is more in character as the campus cut-up, has just started on his second year for the sponsor who specializes in rapid-fire auctioneers. In slightly over a year the blond, bespectacled North Carolinian has pulled his musical quizzicale into the company of the most popular programs on the air. His orchestra, with its warm, colorful, danceable music and novelty effects, has long been around the apex in public favor. The musical appeal is by no means the only factor in bringing the "College" to a position where the filling of ticket demands is months behind. The sheer attraction of Kay's personality has done much to make a slightly novel quiz idea the agent for lifting the presentation out of the rut of question-and-answer routine. Through an hour program from his neighborly salutation. "Evenin' folks; how y'all?" to his casual "So long, evuhboddy," Kay unaffectedly displays a contagious good-humor, a clowning instinct and a genuine chumminess that makes him one of the best m.c.'s as well as one of the foremost bandleaders. Brain-teasing questions, toe-teasing music and a kidding maestro of ceremonies make a real triple threat.

BOTTLE, BAKER, MISCHIEF-MAKER —Saturday, CBS

If you've never been to Honolulu, and if you haven't yet heard Phil Baker in his new series, there is still plenty of time this week and hereafter to kill two birds with one stone—figuratively speaking. Of course, the trip to Honolulu is only a fictitious setting, but Baker is there in fact as well as fancy. If numerology has anything to do with Phil's career, the letter "B" must be the alphabetical key. Besides his own last name, among the "B's" on his program are the same old Bottle, Harry McNaughton, and "The Man in the Box," successor to the former elusive Beetle. Phil has in the past teamed at one time or another with Ben Bernie, Fannie Brice and Bert Lahr. And the title of his present program is "Honolulu Bound." The others of the present cast, the Andrews Sisters and Eddie DeLange's orchestra, do not carry out the numerological implication, but their close harmony and rhythmical offerings are sufficient excuse for their place on the program. Phil's accordion-playing puts the last dab of polish on his music comedy show, one of the week-end highlights.

AGELESS MUSIC —Saturday, NBC

Has it ever occurred to the many listeners to the "National Barn Dance" what a nice sidelight on life presents itself when two certain performers appear on the same program. There's Henry Burr, "The Dean of Ballad Singers," well past the half-century mark. For twenty years Henry was among the five best sellers in phonograph recordings, and in all more than nine million of his records have been sold. He made the first record of "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet." The white-haired gentleman's voice is still true and clear as a bell, and the expressive quality somehow makes one reminisce of apple blossoms, country lanes and moonlight. Then there's young Skip (born Charles) Farrell. Skip is twenty years old and he's a real comer. He's from Springfield, Illinois, and came to Chicago a few months ago seeking a job. As a last resort he entered a Chicago amateur show, won it, and jumped right into the big-time with the "Barn Dance." Skip really has something in his vocal cords, something you might easily interpret as a youthful, dynamic expectancy of things to come. The two "boys" fulfill the picture, "The old men shall dream dreams and the young men shall see visions." Remember that when you hear Henry and Skip singing on the same "Barn Dance" program.

THE RADIO PLAYBILL:

THIS WEEK—"THE SHADOW"

THE CAST

SPINE-TINGLING excitement and a touch of mysterious magic colors a lesson in crime suppression in "The Shadow." Desperate criminals, mad inventors, imperialists, smugglers, crackpots, spies, and madmen are some of the types of characters that fall one by one under the craft and supernormal powers of the man known only to the public as The Shadow. Only to his close companion and aide, Margot Lane, is the mysterious agent known in his true identity as Lamont Cranston. Through a superior mental power

Cranston is able to make himself invisible, and by means of this power he is able to accomplish heroic feats in his crusade for law and justice. The locales for his dangerous adventures range from America to the South Seas. Each program is a complete unit. The production aims not only to present good entertainment but also to impress upon the public consciousness that crime does not pay. "The Shadow" may be heard on Sunday over MBS at 4:30 p.m. Eastern Time and at 5:30 p.m. Eastern Time, 4:30 p.m. Central Time.

LAMONT CRANSTON (played by Bill Johnstone) is a wealthy, much-traveled young man. He has learned to practise the occultism of the East so that he can by the power of hypnotism will that no one see him. Thus, as The Shadow, he campaigns forcibly against the forces of evil. He wages unusual battles with his wits and his penetrating intellect, and sometimes, dangerously, with fists or weapons

MMARGOT LANE (played by Agnes Moorehead) is the confidante and admiring companion of The Shadow. She is the only one who knows his true identity. She is also a valuable assistant in his exploits, investigating, contacting, and so on. Margot has the normal feminine weaknesses but possesses an unusual strength of character. Her regard for Lamont prompts her many excursions into hazardous situations

COMMISSIONER WESTON (played by Dwight Weist) is the city police commissioner who is so often aided by The Shadow in solving difficult crimes and bringing the criminals to justice. The commissioner sometimes questions the correctness of The Shadow's tactics, but is invariably convinced by the worth-while results that the phantom-like character is a trustworthy ally in his own fight against crime

EVERETT SLOANE is a key man in the production. He is a specialist in the art of duplicating the voices of youngsters, as often required in the plot of "The Shadow." He is also a master at "doubling." Whenever you hear a newsboy or a weak young man who is led astray, or some similar supporting character in the story, it is in all probability the voice of this talented and youthful supporting player

AARTHUR VINTON is another reliable actor who is often heard in various roles in these thrill dramas. Now and then, as in all stories, a voice is needed that is clear and resonant, yet not too young. Vinton has such a voice, calculated to ring true in any capacity. He is called upon for widely different characterizations. He portrays any role from that of a racketeer to that of a loving and devoted father

ROSA RIO has a musical mission in the battle against evildoers. If it is true that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," then Miss Rio may be credited with making the villains a little less ferocious. She plays the atmospheric organ music that sets the stage for the story and rings the curtain down at the end. Her musical bridges create the proper mood and help keep the action in the true key

KENNETH ROBERTS gives full play to his expressive voice in acting as announcer and narrator for "The Shadow." Well known for his finely modulated speaking voice, Roberts fits ideally into the scheme of the show. He opens, sets the scene and closes each program. The pleasing Roberts tones serve as a soothing interlude between the exciting scenes and balance the tense action of the drama

Bill Johnstone won over forty-five actors the right to succeed Orson Welles. Agnes Moorehead was once a stooge for Phil Baker, now is Margot in "The Shadow"

Dwight Weist, who plays the part of Commissioner Weston, made his debut as an impersonator in Cleveland in 1932, has since appeared in many drama shows

Everett Sloane is the man-of-all-work in the show—more correctly, the boy-of-all-work, for Sloane is particularly adept in the art of portraying youthful voices

Kenneth Roberts, announcer for "The Shadow," wanted to be an actor; his parents inclined toward a course in law. He compromised by becoming an announcer

NEXT WEEK—"THOSE WE LOVE"

COMING-OUT PARTY

RADIO GUIDE is proud to acknowledge the debut of its sister publication, Radio Digest, filling a long-waiting place in the radio family. Radio Guide doubles your listening enjoyment; Radio Digest makes the enjoyment permanent. One of the truest criterions of a society's merit is how well that society preserves its record for the future. Paradoxical as it may seem, radio, one of the most characteristic marks of today's civilization, has been one of the most transient in permanent record. Now, with the "coming out" of Radio Digest, great entertainment, excitement and inspiration are preserved for you in a magazine welcomed by the stars.

Photographs by Charles P. Seawood

Lauritz Melchior, star of Metropolitan Opera: "Now I can be assured of having the best broadcasts even though work may prevent listening."

Ezlo Pinza, renowned operatic basso: "I think Radio Digest is a splendid idea. The only thing I can't understand is why it wasn't done before."

Ken Roberts, announcer: "It's nice to know that by reading Radio Digest I can enjoy the fine programs I've missed because of heavy schedules"

Edward G. Robinson, "Big Town" star: "Memorable broadcasts should be kept alive. Radio Digest presents a living record of the best in radio"

Claire Trevor, "Big Town" actress: "I'm glad that someone finally published a magazine like Radio Digest. It's really an excellent idea"

Mary Margaret McBride, well-known CBS columnist, is among the outstanding radio personalities who heartily endorse the Radio Digest idea

Rosina and Josef Lhevinne, radio piano team: "The magazine is, we are sure, an important addition to American periodical literature"

Lily Pons, operatic soprano: "How nice that Radio Digest will pick out the most exciting broadcasts and put them in black and white for me"

Kate Smith, lovable songbird of radio: "In remedying this, radio's only real deficiency, Radio Digest is performing a very valuable service"

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air..."—Wordsworth

Agony and Art in Song

PROBABLY nothing in the world of music is more frequently—and more fruitlessly—discussed than singing. When it comes to vocalism, everyone appears to be a critic, especially since radio has brought it into the home daily for the greater part of the twenty-four hours. Hardly an air program without its crooners, torchers, concert artists or opera stars. Mama may prefer tenors or opera soprano; Papa (if trained in chorusing "Sweet Adeline" or college songs) usually gives his loyalty to more robust utterances; the youngsters know what they like, from Uncle Don to Maxine Sullivan. Dialing brings it all to easy hearing; take it or leave it—or tune in on the quiz sessions or news commentators.

The American ear and aural taste have been vitiated to some extent through the "popular" type of sounds regarded by many of our compatriots as singing. Whispering, moaning and bawling satisfy many listeners more than the artistic production of tone. Consequently they enjoy "Flat-Foot Floogie" better than a Schumann lied or an operatic number. The girl who seems to bring her voice out of her stomach and has never taken a vocal lesson is nearer to their understanding than Kirsten Flagstad and her refinements in song. The recently published encyclopedia, "Oxford Companion to Music," gives the English view of torch singers: "Those ladies who have the right emotional flavor, voice and personality to put over the sensations of unrequited love."

Singing as an art has been assiduously cultivated by all nations with any considerable degree of ordered life. Ancient Greece and Rome led in the practise. In fact, there are historians who tell us that Nero did not fiddle but sang. Regular schools of song existed in Europe as early as the fourth century.

With strange premonition of things to come, twelfth-century St. Bernard warns singers "not to produce tone through the nose." He also said that "it is necessary that men sing in a virile manner and not with voices shrill and artificial like voices of women, or in a manner lascivious and nimble like actors."

The other day I saw the advertisement of a man who alluded to himself as "voice-trainer for singers in the popular field. Learn how to be a successful performer on the radio and in night-clubs." Generally, such teachers are not voice-trainers but voice-strainers. Many a fake pedagogue has made a naturally sweet voice into cries like that of a peacock, or a cavernous rumble like the snort of a rhinoceros.

Radio announcers should not be permitted to glorify the vocal groaners, cooers and shouters. Furthermore, to keep up a high appeal, the leading vocal artists should never compromise with agents and sponsors by programming cheap types of songs.

In many cases, serious singers have no conception of how to put over a popular song. They sing it as straight music and not only bore the listeners who prefer their light music by experts, but shock those who expect a higher standard from serious artists. If they do it as a bid for popularity, they are sadly mistaken. I think I resemble most dialers in my liking for opera from opera singers, Schumann, Schubert and Brahms from lieder-singers and "Flat-Foot Floogie" and "A Tisket a Tasket," from Jane Froman and Frances Langford.

Speaking Up

By V. V.

"You know, it's funny, as far as radio is concerned, Carnegie Hall with its wooden walls could have been built yesterday—there's hardly a modern steel and concrete hall that can beat its acoustics." Deems Taylor talking. "All the wood used in its construction acts as a natural sounding-board, and it is just as acoustically perfect for these Philharmonic broadcasts as it has been for concert audiences during the last fifty-seven years."

Up in the control-room, perched directly above the orchestra behind the wall of the stage, engineer Robert Anderson agrees, as does James Fasset, general production manager. He and the four other men in the tiny, box-like room follow the clock above the engineer. At three sharp, announcer Frank Gallup slides into a seat and sounds his familiar "Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen..." into the microphone. As Barbirolli raises his baton, Gallup's microphone is cut off. The music is picked up by the three microphones suspended over the orchestra.

Back in the control-room you learn from the engineer that radio sets are not built as yet to receive more than a certain range of sound, so the full force of the orchestra is never heard over the air. To retain its dynamic and tonal values is the delicate job of the engineer, guided by young Rolf Kaltenborn. Son of the famous H. V., he is making a name for himself in the production end of radio, and has taught himself to read score for this particular specialized work. Arrows marked in the orchestral score point to approaching loud and soft passages in the music. Anderson turns the dials on the control panel at the direction of Kaltenborn so that crescendos and diminuendos sound natural and not too sudden.

The strongest tangible link with the millions who benefit from all these anonymous activities is Deems Taylor. His intimate conversational chats give each listener a sense of participation in the program. His eyes focus intently on his script, but even the men in the control-room have no feeling that he is reading. His talk is just as much of a relaxation for them as for you in your armchair. For thirteen minutes they smoke and listen, approving or disapproving. They enjoy the fan mail he gets every week, and take it for granted that they'll never get any. Someday he'll talk about them... the invisible, unknown manipulators of sound who bring you your Sunday afternoon music as perfectly as they know how.

Suite for Ballet "Casanova" (Deems Taylor)

Afternoon of a Faun (Debussy)
Chef Ku Lautori (Lipatti)
Symphony No. 1 (Enesco)

ENESCO'S short guest period with the Philharmonic is rich in unhackneyed music, spicily tinged with Roumanian flavoring, today represented by his own fervent and colorful score and that of his compatriot, Lipatti. As a composer, Enesco adheres to the established ideals of beauty and goes in for none of the melodic boycott and sour harmonies of some of the most advanced modernists.

Deems Taylor's ballet measures are as enlivening as his Sunday remarks on the Philharmonic programs.

ALTHOUGH picturesque, this Ford program needs no special elucidation, particularly because friend Crooks sings all his numbers in our tongue, with the exception of the "Manon" aria, in which the enamored Des Grieux, preparing for priesthood, spurns his tormenting charmer—only to follow her almost immediately.

"THE BARBER OF SEVILLE"

by

Gioacchino Rossini

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11

On NBC at 2 p.m. EST; 1 p.m. CST; 12 noon MST; 11 a.m. PST

THE CAST:

Rosina	Lily Pons
Count Almaviva	Nino Martini
Bartolo	Virgilio Lazzari
Basilio	Ezio Pinza
Figaro	Richard Bonelli
The Maid	Irra Petina
An Official	Giordano Paltrinieri

Conductor - - Gennaro Papi

MERRIEST of evenings at the Metropolitan so far this season was "The Barber of Seville." So elemental is its humor, both in story and music, that its appeal remains unlesened through the years, even though one may not understand every word of the Italian text. At the opera house. Americans get the drift of the lines by watching the facial play and comic pantomime of the performers on the stage. Radio listeners, if they cannot procure a libretto, at least have the outline of the tale as given on this page and amplified by the instructive commentation of Milton Cross.

ACT I

Scene I

A street in old Seville. Dawn.

Young, handsome Count Almaviva and his musicians serenade Rosina, beautiful ward of Dr. Bartolo. The Count, left alone, watches for Rosina but instead encounters Figaro, the famous Barber of Seville, gossip and go-between for lovers. Figaro sings his gay "Largo al factotum," boasting that no one can get along without him. "Figaro here, Figaro there, Figaro everywhere." The Count begs Figaro to arrange a meeting with Rosina, asking that he be introduced as "Lindor," aria "La Calumnia" the musician relates how they will blacken the young man's character in order to disgust Rosina. However, Figaro reveals to the girl that Bartolo wishes to marry her himself. Bartolo accuses his ward of a romantic interest. The Count, simulating a drunken dragoon, staggers in, but Bartolo furiously refuses him quarters and rushes off to get exemption from that duty. The lovers exchange quick vows before the old man returns with soldiers, who try to arrest the Count, but he secretly whispers his identity and they release him.

ACT II

A room at Bartolo's house.

A strange music-master enters (the Count in another disguise) and announces that he is substituting for the suddenly indisposed Basilio. Rosina's music lesson is flavored with the flirtation of the lovers. Figaro comes and starts to shave the protesting Bartolo, but manages to steal the key of the balcony. Basilio enters in perfect health and the Count secretly bribes him with a purse. Figaro diverts Bartolo's attention by getting soap in his eyes, but the latter realizes that he is being duped and the three plotters make a merry exit.

In the final scene of this act, Bar-

Lily Pons as Rosina in the "lesson scene" from "The Barber of Seville"

so that the girl may not be influenced by his title. He and Figaro hide as the aged Dr. Bartolo emerges to give orders to the servant that no one be admitted except Basilio, the music-teacher, who is helping the guardian to marry the ward for her dowry.

Scene II

A room at Dr. Bartolo's.

Rosina reads a note from "Lindor" and sings "Una voce poco fa," expressive of her delight. Basilio tells Bartolo that Count Almaviva is also a suitor for Rosina's hand, and in the tolo convinces Rosina that "Lindor" is really acting for Almaviva. Furious, she decides to marry Bartolo at once, ordering him to have "Lindor" and Figaro arrested. The happy old man goes to get the police. Figaro and the Count enter by means of the stolen key and Rosina reproaches them angrily. The Count, delighted that she prefers a poor lover to a titled rich one, admits his identity. Basilio arrives to act as notary and marriage broker for Bartolo, but a pistol persuades him to perform the ceremony for the young couple instead.

THE INDIANAPOLIS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8

On CBS at 3 p.m. EST; 2 p.m. CST; 1 p.m. MST; 12 noon PST

Fabien Sevitzyk, conductor

Symphony No. 8 (Beethoven)
The Pleasure Dome of Kubla Khan (Griffes)

Tales from the Vienna Woods (Strauss)

Overture to "Ruslan and Ludmilla" (Glinka)

SEVITZKY is doing exceptionally good work; his city may well feel that its orchestra has been put among the major symphonic groups.

Plaudits to the conductor for his Johann Strauss gesture. The waltz with its nostalgic introduction typifies a once gentle Vienna now grown stern. Beethoven's No. 8 was called by him "the little symphony in F," one of his brightest and most cheerful works. There is no slow movement, its place being taken by the famous allegretto, than which there is no prettier and daintier example in all the symphonic repertoire.

The lamented Charles T. Griffes was a great loss to American music. Although dying young, he left several orchestral works which rank with the best.

THE NBC SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11

On NBC at 10 p.m. EST; 9 p.m. CST; 8 p.m. MST; 7 p.m. PST

Arturo Toscanini, conductor

AN ALL-BRAHMS PROGRAM

Symphony No. 4
Liebeslieder Waltzes

16 singers, 2 pianists, orchestra

Academic Festival Overture

BRAHMS had enduring love for the typical three-quarter rhythms of Vienna, where he spent his happiest and most successful years. One remembers his famous saying in which he regretted that he had not composed the "Blue Danube" waltz.

The "Liebeslieder" (Love Songs) are set to poems romantic, sentimental and whimsical. The form of the music is unusual, employing two pianos and a vocal quartet, the latter on this occasion augmented to a chorus of sixteen voices. Brahms has written nothing more tender and heart-warming than this music of simple loveliness.

The piece was scheduled for performance last week, and it is devoutly to be hoped that Toscanini will really play it this time.

NEW YORK.—According to the latest listeners' survey, Charlie McCarthy still has the largest audience of any show on the air. Jack Benny is in second place, followed by the Lux Radio Theater. Bing Crosby is fourth, then comes Major Bowes, who still seems to be quite popular, although you rarely ever hear anyone talk about his program any more. Burns and Allen, Rudy Vallee, Fred Allen, Edward G. Robinson, Orson Welles, Al Jolson and Eddie Cantor follow in the order named. Kate Smith and the "Good News" show are running neck and neck as percentages go, with Kay Kyser and Fibber McGee next in line. Walter Winchell tops the news commentators, with Lowell Thomas the runner-up.

Kay Is Kayoed

Went over to Kay Kyser's show last Wednesday night, my first visit in about five weeks. Kay had a lot of new gags to put the audience in the proper spirit before the show went on the air, but something happened that was not expected. As soon as Kay came out on the stage a woman in the audience started to heckle him. He said everything anyone could say in a very diplomatic manner to try to shut her up, but she just wouldn't shut. Finally Ben Grauer, thinking he would try to save the situation, thrust a piece of paper in Kay's hand. Then the Prof. said: "Friends, we have a very unusual guest in our audience tonight and I've been asked to introduce her. She's the only woman tobacco-grower in the country and she hails from my home state of North Carolina, let's give her a great big hand." And who should stand up but the woman who had been annoying Kyser all evening. The audience howled

From the Kyser program I went over to catch Fred Allen's repeat show at midnight. A half-minute before the program is ready to go on, Fred rushes down the aisle and up to the stage and sorta outa breath he tells the audience, "I just got in from Hollywood, folks, I'm out on bail." Of course this brought plenty of howls and put the audience into the proper mood for the many laughs that were to follow. Incidentally, that program had a few lines cut out of the script for obvious reasons. Peter Van Steeden was supposed to say, "Jack's (Benny) got the heart of a lion," and Fred was to answer, "Oh yeah, Benny could eat the M-G-M trade-mark and he still wouldn't have the heart of a lion. He's as yellow as a twelve-dollar diamond." You understand, of course, that they didn't want Benny's name and diamonds mentioned in the same breath.

Up in the Air for An "Airing"

There's no telling how far or how high your reporter will go to cover a broadcast. When "Howie Wing," the aviation serial, was broadcast from a United Airlines plane as it flew over New York City, I was among those present. It goes without saying that the big city is a beautiful sight to behold at night from the sky, and it was fun picking out the Empire State Building, Radio City, Times Square, and other notable spots while flying five-thousand feet above terra firma. The broadcast went off without a hitch. Bill Janney, who plays the title role, and Barbara Weeks, who portrays Donna Cavendish (she is also "Her Honor, Nancy James"), were seated side by side in a double seat. Only one microphone was used, and all during the broadcast it had to be shifted back and forth in front of their faces as they read their lines. Seven CBS technicians were used, which gives you an idea of what it means to put on a broadcast from a plane. Two were stationed in the ship, two on the ground to pick up the broadcast by short wave and transmit it to the studios, where three engineers were sending it out to the network. A good time was had by all.

Columbia's "Tune-Up Time" had a unique show the other Thursday night . . . Dick Powell and Joan Blondell did a dramatic sketch, "Life At Home," with Powell on the stage of CBS Playhouse No. 1 and Joan working from a studio at KNX in Hollywood. The whole show ran off just as smoothly as though they were working on opposite sides of the same microphone. A. H. Petersen of Columbia's traffic department told me that this is an unusually stiff assignment for the engineers. Facilities have to be set up to take care of the normal time-lag of approximately three-fifths of a second between New York and Hollywood so that the show won't lag. It also requires three separate "mixing-points," one in Hollywood, one in New York and one in Chicago. It made me stop and think what a whale of a lot of effort goes into these shows which we listeners often take so casually.

A dress rehearsal of "Tune-Up Time" is no little affair, either, what with Walter O'Keefe and his regular cast, the thirteen Kay Thompson Rhythm Singers, the guest stars and, last but not most assuredly not least, Andre Kostelanetz' orchestra, which numbers forty-five. Mix all those in with the usual amount of officials and production men, the sound-effects men and the stage hands, and you've got, take it from me, a crowd. When it came time for Mr. and Mrs. Powell to rehearse their sketch, who should step up on the stage to read Joan's lines but her sister, Gloria—and a right nice job she did of the reading, too.

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

BY MARTIN LEWIS

"Seen Behind the Scene"

The stage-setting for "Honolulu Bound," Phil Baker's new show, is quite something to behold. A replica of Waikiki Beach with a nice inviting ocean backdrop and palms and green foliage all around. They even have the sound-effects booth hidden with a decorative foliage screen. The sound-effects man told me he couldn't see over it, and had to peek through the bushes in order to get an exact timing on his effects. After the broadcast, the town's young stage-door johnnies with autograph books in hand congregate at the exit door and rush up as the Andrews Sisters and Elise Cooper show their faces . . . While I was at the rehearsal of the Bob Benchley show, singer Dick Todd came in with dark make-up on, and you'd imagine he'd just returned from Florida. The truth is, he just rushed over from the Strand Theater, where he'd been playing a stage show . . . Saw Frank Black traipsing through the corridors of Radio City holding a neatly wrapped package. A visit to the maestro's office a few minutes later finds him in the act of opening the packet, which reveals a lunch set up by his frau . . . At a "Johnny Presents" rehearsal the new maestro, Johnny Green, actually blushes when he is introduced to the gals in the "Swing Fourteen" chorus for the first time.

Just in case you youngsters are wondering why Irene Wicker's Sunday morning program was changed to a later hour, here's the real lowdown. Many letters were received by the charming Miss Wicker requesting the change in time because a great many children attend or should have been at Sunday school at the hour she was on the air. The mothers stated they were having trouble because their offsprings wanted to stay home and listen to Miss Wicker's program. Always ready to oblige, the HOLLYWOOD.—By now it's little news to the nation, but Nelson Eddy's surprise elopement January 19 to Las Vegas, New Mexico, with divorcee Ann Franklin is still the most-discussed tidbit of the week. Everyone expected the marriage eventually, however, for Eddy has been most kind and attentive to Ann, and only Ann, for nigh onto five years! He was a good sport on the nuptial day. In Las Vegas, wags tied tin cans to his automobile; he good-naturedly ordered them left on the ear while the wedding party drove around the town heading a voluntary caravan of citizen celebrants, who gave Ann and Nelson a great many laughs. Of course, at the subsequent coffee-hour program, Eddy was ribbed unmercifully. Rice was actually showered upon him when he was introduced. And now, all Nelson and Ann have to do is to try to get their honeymoon-concert tour under way. When they return in May, perhaps their new Beverly Hills home will be completed. Conscientious, foresighted and hard-working Nelson had selected the ground, approved the plans for it before the elopement!

Eddie Cantor, Money-Raiser

Whether you like or don't Eddie Cantor, when you add up the score of the veteran comedian's leadership in raising funds for worthy purposes you must take off your hat to him. Cantor is a money-raiser par excellence. As master of ceremonies at the "March of Dimes" hour January 22 from Hollywood, he did a terrific job, provided, with the help of showdom's best brains, a standout program not early to be forgotten. Only a week or two before, on his way through Chicago en route here, Eddie made a deal with the owner of a great drug-store chain who said, "Look, Eddie; if you jerk sodas behind the fountain of my biggest store for one afternoon, I'll contribute to the anti-paralysis fund the gross of two weeks' sales of ice cream in all my stores!" Eddie accepted the offer . . . Incidentally, while Cantor was piloting the "March of Dimes" airing, he was told that President Roosevelt was calling him on the phone. Eddie thought for a minute he was being ribbed, but after the show he called long-distance, found that F. D. R. was calling, and received the Chief Executive's thanks for his splendid job.

Off a Live Mike . . . Mrs. F. D. R. to Circle

"The Circle's" remarks, through the voice of Carole Lombard, in behalf of womanhood and what it stands for are paving the way for a guest appearance of the First Lady, probably late in March. Her radio fee will be turned over, as usual, to charities to which she already has pledged her annual income . . . Born at 6:50 a.m. January 24, at Cedars of Lebanon hospital to Dorothy Devine, wife of rasp-voiced Andy, a son, named Denny: weight, seven and one-quarter pounds. Mrs. Devine and son are doing nicely in the same hospital room where four years ago her first child, Tad, was nursed . . . Edgar Bergen is busy overseeing the building of a playroom-theater addition to his home, where he intends to show his friends he can entertain without Charlie McCarthy . . . Bob Young has installed electric gates and wires about his ranch home and heavy grill work and alarms over his home's nursery window to protect his two youngsters . . . Surprise January 24 on the very good Bob Hope show was the unbilled appearance of Benny Rubin in the supporting role of an "Indian." Meaning, perhaps, a sort of test for something bigger? . . . When Virginia Verrill gave her all in singing "Hurry Home" on the Jack Haley January 20 opus, she meant it for her mother, Aimee, who a week before underwent emergency surgery in New York City . . . Martha Raye "showed" a dowager at Victor Hugo's who too loudly voiced her disdain for screen actresses. Martha borrowed a man's pipe, loaded it and sat there smoking the thing just to give the lady something good to talk about . . . Sight for sore eyes: Jell-O show's "Rochester" dogging it about town in a black town-car driven by a blacker chauffeur . . . H. G. Wells, still smarting from the Martian disintegrators, refused to let Bill Baker produce a sketch from Wells' "The Man That Worked Miracles" on Texaco Theater January 25. Reggie Gardiner was substituted in an original bit . . . Those "Sons of the Pioneers," now heard Saturday nights over Mutual stations, are really ex-cowboys and their theme, "Tumblin' Tumbleweed," is but one of four hundred western songs composed by the six drawling harmonists . . . "Gracie," a college epithet for a dizzy coed, has been approved by H. L. Mencken as good slang, so how about "Georgie" meaning a sucker?

Rom-Astics and Golags On

Mark it down as a scoop that Genevieve (Madaline Lee) Blue and Harrison Holloway, KFI-KECA manager, will wed in June or thereabouts. Every time Amos 'n' Andy put a girl in their show, she wins a hubby. And say girls, you must see that new spring shade of "Genevieve Blue" which was named after Madaline's radio name . . . Nan ("Those We Love") Grey is a daily visitor at the bedside of the appendectomy-convalescing jockey, Jack Westrope . . . Judy Garland and Jackie Cooper say they are just good pals . . . Glenda Farrell is the reason radio-producer Tom Lewis wants to stay in Hollywood . . . Can it be that the thick pink sweater Lucille Ball has been knitting is to be worn by director Al Hall? He should hope not.

A Horse on Don Ameche

Master of ceremonies-singer-actor Don Ameche, aside from his Saturday and Sunday jobs on the Chase and Sanborn Hour, is so busy at the 20th Century-Fox studios making "Alexander Graham Bell," in which he carries the title starring role, that only once has he seen the race-horses that he owns in partnership with Chet (Lum) Lauck! Moral: Don't ask Don for any "hot tips" on his bangtails. In tribute to his past luck there, Ameche really should attend the races regularly—for it was not at the parl mutuel windows, but in the grandstand, that Don won his greatest stake in April, 1937. It so happened that Danny Danker, then building the coffee-hour cast, spied Ameche at the races, sent a note to him and asked him if he would be interested in the master of ceremonies job. He was, and look! . . . By the way, here's a secret: His wife's (Honore's) favorite radio voice is that of Phil Stewart, ex-Wayne King announcer.

Long Live One Man's Family

Their sponsors have signed the cast and writer Carleton Morse of "One Man's Family" to a new seven-year pact, which guarantees the show continuing on the air through 1945. The long-term contract is exceeded only by the recent signing of Bing Crosby to a ten-year air term by his sponsor . . . But there's a fly in the OMF ointment. While the east is sure of seven years more of work, their pay envelopes will not grow fatter. Nevertheless, additional radio revenues have been thrown their way for work in a new mystery serial, "I Love an Adventure," also written by Morse, which is at the present time being tested on West Coast afternoon audiences . . . By the way, ex-Chicago air star Lucy

Tops!

CHICAGO.—With the first month of 1939 behind us, Chicago continues to hold its blistering pace as the origination-point of the country's most popular serials. The latest national survey shows that of the five leading script-shows in the country today, four of them emanate from the Windy City! Chicago has already been recognized as the script-center of the country in point of quantity output. But now survey figures prove that Chicago is also the home town of the most popular shows, as well. The best-liked serial in the country today is "Ma Perkins." In second place is "The Guiding Light." New York's top-ranking five-a-week program is "Pepper Young's Family." In number four position is "The Story of Mary Marlin." And in fifth spot is "The Woman in White." Four out of five originating in Chicago!

Smart Buyer

One sponsor is apparently the smartest user of daytime radio in the country today. For the first four programs are all sponsored by one firm—a soap company (Procter & Gamble). That radio advertising pays is attested by the fact that each year the soap firm is pouring more and more of its advertising appropriation into radio. Apparently they feel they can get more results per dollar spent from radio than from any other medium. And they are the biggest network radio advertisers in the country today. In 1938 they spent over six million dollars on the three networks. In 1937 the soap firm's radio expenditure was four and a half million; in 1936, three and a third million; and in 1935, slightly more than two million. That this firm is constantly increasing its radio appropriation, that it is the number one radio time-buyer in the country, that it sponsors the four most popular serials in this country today is all mute testimony bearing out the power of radio advertising.

Next Most Popular Shows

But back to the country's leading script-shows. In addition to the "Big Five," other shows that follow, in popularity, are as follows: (6) "Big Sister," (7) "David Harum," (8) "The O'Neills," (9) "Hilltop House," and (10) "Road of Life."

Radio's Ace Writer

The survey also re-establishes the superiority of a Chicago writer, Irna Phillips, in the art of authoring script-shows. Of the five most popular serials on the air, Miss Phillips is author of two—"Guiding Light" and "The Woman in White." A third show, "Road of Life," is in tenth place.

I'll never forget the hullabaloo along radio row about a year ago when it was first announced that the most popular serial on the air at that time, "Today's Children," was to be replaced by a newcomer. People said the author, Miss Phillips, didn't know what she was doing in taking the top program off. Her best friends urged her to change her mind. But Miss Phillips remained firm in her decision to replace the program. She felt that, from a dramatic standpoint, "Today's Children" had been squeezed as dry as it could be. So, against the advice of practically everyone in radio, "Today's Children" came off and "The Woman in White" went on. That Irna knew what she was talking about is attested by the fact that "Woman in White" has been near the top consistently, and right now is reposing snugly in fifth place. Miss Phillips once more proved that she was the peer of all script-writers. Other authors who are in the "Big Five" are Orin Tovrov ("Ma Perkins"), Elaine Sterne Carrington ("Pepper Young's Family"), and Jane Crusinberry ("Story of Mary Marlin"). It's interesting to note that the authors of the five most popular programs, with one exception, are women. Which seems to indicate that if you want to appeal to feminine listeners use a feminine script-writer.

Crippled "First Nighter"

The night your Tattler watched a performance of "First Nighter," the personification of that character, Bret Morrison, was on crutches while introducing members of the cast. Although cutting his foot in an ice-skating accident, Bret didn't let that injury cut any ice as far as his radio shows were concerned. Bret was there—injured leg and all. Since the "First Nighter" cast must be dressed formally, Bret had a pair of monogrammed "formal" black crutches instead of the ordinary white ones, while his foot was bandaged in somber black bandages instead of the usual white wrappings!

"First Nighter" Tidbits

Barbara Luddy and Les Tremayne make a very charming couple on the CBS stage. They look just as nice in real life as you imagine they do when you hear their voices on the air. Barbara unconsciously uses a cute gesture of putting her hand to her ear when broadcasting. Crowds swarm Barbara and Les for autographs following show, in typical Hollywood style... "First Nighter" and "Barn Dance" only two Chicago night-time shows now airing repeats. "First Nighter" repeat for West Coast is broadcast at 11 p.m. CST. CBS studios are jammed—with many people standing—for both the 7 and 11 o'clock shows... In real life, red-headed director Joe Ainley is married to pretty Betty Lou Gerson, star of "Arnold Grimm's Daughter"

... Tom Wallace, executive of agency handling "First Nighter," is in the control-room with director Ainley and engineer Gregg during broadcasts.

Correction

The serial "Guiding Light" did observe its second anniversary as related in last week's column. However, the show which was moved from New York to Chicago, and which features Ken Griffin and Betty Lou Gerson, was not "Guiding Light," but "The Road of Life," authored by Irna Phillips. Miss Phillips also writes "Guiding Light," thus giving rise to the confusion of the two.

Sports, Winter and Summer

Janet Logan, Sandra Sinclair of "Romance of Helen Trent," is combining business with pleasure in week-end jaunts to Kenosha, Wis. She takes along her skis to relieve the advance work she's doing for a Radio-Stage Guild show to be presented there... The cast of "Those Happy Gilmans" gave announcer Don Gordon an elegant fly rod, following his final broadcast in that serial.

Adieu!

With this column, your Tattler wishes to say good-by to RADIO GUIDE readers. And a million thanks to all of you—scattered from Coast to Coast, who have written such nice things about Chicago and this column. Your Tattler is leaving GUIDE to devote his time to presentation of his own gossip show on the Chicago CBS station, WBBM, and in writing radio shows. We hope you heard our "Lights Out" show, "The Stage is Set for Murder," written in collaboration with Chicago writer Adela Kay. Until we meet again (fade out) your Tattler closes with this theme: "Thanks for Everything."

RECORDS OF THE WEEK

A department reviewing the recordings of your radio favorites

Schumann and Gershwin:

MYRA HESS is one of the rare members of her sex to reach concert virtuosity on any instrument, in this case the piano. To make her bow to record-buyers, Miss Hess has chosen a sure-fire favorite among piano concerti, the warm, brilliant and charming Concerto in A Minor by Schumann. And she leaves little doubt in your mind that she is an artist of top caliber. The accompanying orchestra is directed by Walter Goehr. It was recorded abroad. (Victor album 473. $6.50.)

By far the best of the Gershwin albums is now out on Decca, fittingly played by the Paul Whiteman Concert Orchestra. The inevitable Rhapsody in Blue starts it off, but two unrecorded and much less familiar works follow . . . the Second Rhapsody and the Cuban Overture. Both typically Gershwin, with emphasis on the piano passages, neither of these top the popular appeal of the famous Rhapsody, but are refreshing in their unfamiliarity and originality. The overture naturally borrows many Latin rhythms for its effect. The album concludes with the excellent American in Paris which Gershwin wrote mostly abroad, and describes his feelings walking about the French capital. These are all works of more importance than anything else Gershwin wrote, and thus the album is of far more value than the medleys of his show tunes which both Victor and Columbia have issued. (Decca album 31. $5.50.)

Pop:

Undecided, new swing tune, gets polished off by both the veteran Benny Goodman's band (Victor) and the newly formed John Kirby orchestra (Decca). Kirby is one of 52nd Street's best swingmen, and his little band sounds great. On the other side is a fine Billy Kyle tune, From A Flat to C.

St. Louis Blues, like Alexander's Ragtime Band was treated last year, is due for a resurgence of interest due to its being the title of a movie. From the Paramount picture cast, Matty Malneck and his little trick band may be heard playing this famous Handy tune on a Decca record. But the Malneck group borrows trumpet tricks from Benny Goodman's man Ziggy Elman, and there is a touch of the corn with the accordion.

Speaking of Ziggy Elman, two swingers are out by his own picked band, and both creditable stuff. Best side: 29th and Dearborn. (Bluebird.)

That old turkey Trees gets swung by Bunny Berigan's band. (No gags about swingin' on trees.) Trumpeter-leader Berigan stars. On the other side, Black Bottom (And no gags.) Victor.

Bob Hope and Shirley Ross, creators of both tunes on film, sing the sophisticated lyrics of Two Sleepy People and the new Thanks for the Memory (not the usual words.) Decca.

Any Artie Shaw release is news, and he keeps up his high standard of good swing on well-chosen tunes. This time it's Kariball, the jungle-drums song, and old-but-good It Had To Be You. Very worthy. Bluebird.

BACH, THE MASTER

pygmies in their treatment of the same modes. To indite some cold, analytical summing-up, it may be said that he was an original, lofty and living voice in music, combining the ancient classical formalism with the warm spirit of emotion, enhancing the technics of all instruments, and devising harmonies both novel and daring—in some instances foreshadowing those of Wagner! Upon the Bach masterpieces, his best successors build triumphantly. It has justifiably been said that without Bach there might have been no Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven and Brahms.

BACH BIBLIOGRAPHY

A whole library of books has been published about Bach and his music, a few biographical, most of them analytical, and none that make light reading. Those who seek a serious approach to the composer can find it in Philipp Spitta's volume on the life of Bach; likewise J. Fuller-Maitland's. Excellent also are Charles Sanford Terry's "The Music of Bach," and "Bach, the Master," by Sir Hubert Parry. Consult, too, the biographical essays in the various music encyclopedias, notably that in Grove's.

IMAGINE THEIR JOY

WHEN THEY FOUND THEY COULD PLAY

This easy as A.B.C. way!

LEARNED QUICKLY AT HOME

I didn't dream I could actually learn to play without a teacher. Now when I play for people they hardly believe that I learned to play so well in so short a time.

*H. C. S., Calif.

WOULDN'T TAKE $1000 FOR COURSE

The lessons are so simple that anyone can understand them. I have learned to play by note in a little more than a month. I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for my course.

*S. E. A., Kansas City, Mo.

SURPRISED FRIENDS

I want to say that my friends are greatly surprised at the different pieces I can already play. I am very happy to have chosen your method of learning.

*B. F., Bronx, N. Y.

PLAYS ON RADIO

I am happy to tell you that for four weeks I have been on the air over our local radio station. So thanks to your institution for such a wonderful course.

What Instrument Would You Like to Play?

JUST name your instrument and we'll show you how you can learn to play it—quickly, easily, in spare time at home. Never mind if you don't know one note of music from another—don't worry about "special talent." And forget all you've ever heard about music's being hard to learn.

The truth of the matter is that thousands now play who never thought they could! Yes, men and women everywhere have discovered this amazingly easy way to learn music at home. Now they are enjoying the thrilling satisfaction of playing the piano, violin, guitar, saxophone or other favorite instruments. Some of them are playing in orchestras and over the radio; others are teaching music, making money in spare or full time. And thousands are having the time of their lives playing for their own enjoyment and the entertainment of their friends.

It all came about when they wrote to the U. S. School of Music for the Free Booklet and Demonstration Lesson that show you how EASY it is to learn music at home this modern way. No tedious study and practice, no tiresome exercises. You learn to play by playing—start right in almost at once with the melody of a simple tune! It takes only a few minutes a day and the cost is trifling; you save the expense of a private teacher. Does it sound too good to be true? Mail the coupon and get the FREE PROOF. U. S. LISTENING TO LEARN

... A Ceaseless Search, an Unquenched Thirst for Knowledge ...

Person-to-Person

• In the Alameda City School of the Air plan all programs are dramatized (Listening to Learn, Jan. 28). Recognition of this work now comes from the National Education Association and will be publicly expressed for the benefit of Coast-to-Coast listeners on the NEA's Our American Schools program February 15. On this date the Alameda air-school will take over the program to show what they are doing in California. Many interested eyes have been focused on Alameda's experiment and this broadcast presents itself as an unusual opportunity to ear-witness a first-hand demonstration.

• Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., came into the radio picture over Mutual last Wednesday night, February 1, with the premiere of a series of public-health forums.

• Scripts for the Department of the Interior's new series, What Price America, have been written by Bernard C. Schoenfeld, who will be remembered for the excellent job he did with the Office of Education's Brave New World series last season.

• Meet the Faculty (below) is the first of a picture and brief biography series presenting the men and women engaged in various phases of radio-education. The purpose of this series is to acquaint the fast-growing number of people interested in this educating medium with the nationally recognized experts active in the work. Behind it there is also a much more sinister purpose—and that is to prove to "die-hards" and "doubting Thomases" that a change has actually taken place in the quality and potency of the educational broadcast and that it is an inspiring and vital aid to education both at home and in the classroom, for adults as well as children.

"The Home of the Dragon Bones"

ON FEBRUARY 8, "New Horizons," Wednesday program in Columbia's American School of the Air series, will take listeners into the hinterlands of China, Korea, Siberia and Turkestan (see map above). Here they will be treated to a glimpse of the strange animals living there today, as well as those that inhabited the continent millions of years ago. Asia, today, is the home of animals that are both rare and elusive. During this broadcast the American Museum's scientists will tell of their experiences hunting these creatures for exhibits in the museum halls. Asia, in the past, was the home of giant reptiles and mammals, and in their search for the remains, the "dinosaur hunters" will reconstruct the ancient, prehistoric history of Asia. Time: 2:30 p.m. EST; 1:30 CST; 12:30 MST; 11:30 a.m. PST.

AMERICAN MUSEUM NOTES

GIANT PANDA—beautiful spiral-banded bear; first discovered by Marco Polo in 1292; found only in the treeless, wind-swept forests of Turkestan.

GIANT PANDA—rare; pictured alone in the mountains of southeastern China; a living question mark to mammalogists, for it has characteristics similar to both the raccoon family and to the bear family.

SNOW TIGER—long-haired; one of the most beautiful and ferocious of the cat family; larger and more powerful than its relative of southeastern Asia; inhabits cold regions of Siberia.

PROTOCERATOPS—long-tailed monster wearing horn flange on its head; a dinosaur that lived in the Gobi Desert of Mongolia millions of years ago; the finding of several nests of dinosaur eggs containing some of the unhatched young near the bones of the Protocebratops was the first positive proof that some dinosaurs laid eggs.

You Don't Have to Miss It All

THERE will be many more interested individuals unable to attend the annual American Association of School Broadcasters' five-day meeting in Cleveland this month than the eight thousand expected to attend. Thanks to Larry Roller and the Mutual Broadcasting System, those who cannot be there in person will be brought the highlights of the convention day by day via radio. The schedule of broadcasts, as arranged in conjunction with the National Education Association, follows:

February 25—A preview of the exhibits.

February 27—Interview with Edmund E. Day, president, Cornell University.

February 28—Educational Policies Commission will be represented in a talk by its chairman, Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of Denver, Colorado, schools.

March 1—Panel discussion on the causes and cure of crime, by J. A. Johnston, warden of Alcatraz Prison.

on: Austin H. MacCormick, commissioner of correction, New York City; Harold H. Burton, mayor of Cleveland; William E. Grady, associate superintendent of schools, New York. Larry Roller, educational director of stations WHK-WCLE in Cleveland, will be moderator.

March 2—Harry Elmer Barnes, New York, "Purposes of Education."

March 2—Summary of entire convention and results obtained, statement of future objectives, a word from the national president and music by the Detroit School Men's Club Chorus.

In addition to the schedule above, Joseph Ries, educational director of stations WLW-WSAI, is making plans for a special broadcast of a classroom demonstration of utilization of Mutual's Nation's School of the Air.

Thus, even though you can't get down to Cleveland for this meeting, you don't have to miss everything.

Schedules and exact times for the broadcasts will be found in Radio Guide for these dates.

Radio Guide's February Educational Program Classifier will appear in the issue dated February 18, 1939

Eight Years Old and Still Going Strong

Eight years is a mighty long life for a radio program idea; and when the program happens to be of the educational variety, this phenomena approaches the miraculous. But such is the distinction of the perennial favorite of the serious listener, the University of Chicago Round Table Discussions, which series, on Sunday, February 12, celebrates its eighth year on the air.

This series came into being at a time when the mere mention of "educational program" was enough to cause Mr. Average Listener to feverishly dial for "just anything else." But it came, brought a radically new practice in broadcasting with it, gained enough followers to merit its continuance, and exerted a significant influence in changing the popular attitude of antagonism toward educational programs.

Recognition for the success of this venture goes to persistent Allen Miller and his conviction that such an idea was not impossible, Miller, now director of the University Broadcasting Council, had a tough job selling the round-table stunt because that job meant inspiring a broadcaster with the courage to attempt something which at that time was generally considered taboo. It was after Miller took Judith Waller into his discussions of round-table possibilities that the proposal finally evolved into a local broadcast over station WMAQ. At that time Miss Waller, now director of education for the NBC central division, was vice-president and general manager of station WMAQ. During the Round Table's two-year run as a local program many problems had to be worked out. In October, 1933, the Round Table went network, with the radical departure in radio technique that made it the first program to be presented on an NBC network without the use of a manuscript. It has been a regular weekly network feature ever since and one of the most popular educational programs on the air.

The "University of Chicago Round Table Discussions" may be heard Sundays from 12:30-1 p.m. EST; 11:30 a.m.-12 noon CST; 10:30-11 a.m. MST; 9:30-10 PST.

First broadcast was February 1, 1931.*

Singing Lady consulted with the NBC officials and thus the change in time was made.

Purely Personal

It's a six-pound-eleven-ounce boy at the Ward Wilsons'. He's the "Man in the Box" on the Phil Baker show . . . Is Lily Pons expecting a visit from the stork? I hear, yes . . . A little more than a year ago Lew Lehr bought a house in Rego Park, which is about twenty minutes out of New York. Within the next few weeks the guy who made a lot of extra greenbacks because he found out "Monkeys are de ewaziest people" will move into a brand-new 12-room house that he just purchased . . . Harry McNaughton is happy because his frau, who is one of the country's leading women golfers, has taught him enough about the game in the last year to reduce his score by twenty strokes . . . More sickness in the studios! Last Tuesday night Kay Kyser's throat was so sore he was worried because he didn't know if he'd be able to talk on his program the next night. After a little doctoring and doing very little talking during the day, Kay did okay . . . Tommy Riggs was spraying his throat all during the program last Saturday night . . . That same night Donna Dae, Fred Waring's songstress, came to the studio suffering from a severe case of la grippe. Fred wanted her to go right back home, but like a good trouper, she insisted upon staying. All during her number she kept her fingers crossed, hoping she wouldn't sneeze, and it worked . . . Wally "Vox Pop" Butterworth and his frau were banged up pretty badly when the cab in which they were riding collided with a truck . . . Wally had three stitches taken in his scalp, his right hand is all bruised, and Antoinette's right eye was discolored.

Another item appearing here a few weeks ago was in the form of a suggestion to Benny Goodman's sponsor. It was our feeling that because the bandleader fell all over his lines he shouldn't be allowed to talk on the show. If you've been listening to the program you know that Goodman must now contribute fifty cents into the "huff box" every time he misses. Of course there were a few words put in the script on purpose for Benny to mispronounce to make it sound funny, but you should have seen his face turn red the first time he huffed accidentally.

Airaves

Radio Row is still raving about the all-star "March of Dimes" program Eddie Cantor put on from the Coast. There wasn't a dull moment in the entire hour and it was nice of Cantor to give credit over the air to his regular producer, Vic Knight, for the grand job he did producing this show. One half-minute after the program went off the air, the phone rang in the control-room at the studio. It was President Roosevelt calling Cantor to extend his gratitude and to tell him that his entire family enjoyed the program immensely. Eddie also pulled a classic line on this show that I understand he tried to put in his own show four times but it was blue-penciled. He stated that he didn't mind if his children liked swing music, because he would much rather have them "hailing bandleaders than heiling bundleaders." Very good!

Solution to Puzzle Given Last Week

Gilman is OMF's latest cast addition. She plays the role of Laura Parker, the 18-year-old daughter of a wartime chum of Paul.

Backstage Stuff . . . Allen's Transfusion

At Jack Benny's January 22 show, when he made a "transfusion" for the benefit of his pal, Fred Allen, the sound-machine employed looked like a home heating-plant. Don Wilson, complaining of the limp Jack wrote for him the week before, and which Don made good by being kicked by his horse later in the week. Mary telling of the cyst in her left eye, which she is "letting grow good and big so I can get a couple of weeks off in the hospital!" . . . At "Good News," Frank Morgan describing a friend as "the kind of guy who would marry Hedy LaMarr for her money," and Fannie Brice showing off a new Baby Snooks scarf about to be put on the market . . . Ned Sparks, at "Texaco Theater," discussing his recent hospital sojourn and telling Dave Broekman it was a "swell place to practise being a sour-puss comedian: you don't get any laughs." Frances Langford and Jon Hall showing their approved plans for a 57-foot ketch and now worrying if they'll have time off this summer to sail it through the Canal to Frances' home state, Florida . . . At Woodbury Theater, Tyrone Power entertaining his cast with a concert of rumba recordings he brought back from South America . . . At "Kraft Music Hall," guest Anita Louise putting the sartorially flamboyant Bing Crosby in the shade by appearing in canary-yellow slacks and a brilliant angora sweater . . . At Hollywood Guild's rehearsal, Fred Astaire running a tap-speed contest against the rhythm of Oscar Bradley, and winning from the latter half of a baton broken on one of the down beats . . . Jose Iturbi, guest January 22 of "The Circle," learning to "plink" a piano from Chico Marx, master of the one-finger technique.

NOTICE: The programs as presented here were as correct and as accurate as the broadcasting companies and RADIO GUIDE could make them at the time of going to press. However, emergencies that arise at the studios sometimes necessitate eleventh hour changes in program listings, time, etc.

If your favorite station is not listed at quarter or half hour periods, consult the time listings immediately preceding. The chances are that a network program of 30 or 60 minutes' duration is on the air at a quarter-hour when you do not find your station listed.

PLEASE NOTE:

Symbols in parentheses, such as (sw-9.83), after a program listing indicates that this program may be heard by tuning in 9.83 megacycles on your short-wave dial. For foreign short-wave programs, please see page 35.

"Richilien," fascinating story of the brilliant French Cardinal's administration of France, in the work of Bulwer-Lytton (1802-1871). Descended from a long line of illustrious ancestors, Lord Lytton was a man of immense knowledge and experienced in affairs and pleasures. As philosopher, historian, politician and landlady, he was ideally equipped for handling the theme of today's play.

Most persecuted people in the world today, the Jewish people, subject of this episode, have found the greatest measure of tolerance in America. Fleeing from religious hatred and economic stress, they have been coming since the colonial period, always making valuable contributions, not only to our physical development but also to our cultural and social institutions.

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections
No MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequencies and short wave channels

ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD
Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.

NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED
On the market five years! 100,000 customers in U. S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Circle of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception (no harm set)—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radios for doublet aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios.

BEFORE
I there away with Aerial entirely—just place an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator (size 1 1/2 in. x 4 in.) behind your set. Complete Simple Instructions furnished with unit. Easily connected by anyone to aerial and ground of set. Your radio will then operate and tune in the same manner as if it were connected to an aerial. Operates on both short and long waves.

AFTER
at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.

JUST MAIL THIS COUPON
F & H RADIO LABORATORIES, Dept. 69, Fargo, N. Dak.
Send F & H Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check here if sending $1 with order—thus saving postage cost—same refund guaranteed. Check here if interested in dealer's proposition.

The relationship of music to other forms of art is the theme for the new semester on this program. Today, guest speaker
John Martin, dance critic of the "New York Times," directs an exploration of music's relationship to various forms of dance.

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

No personal replies to questions unless accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Frances Shuford, McColl, S. C.—Sully Mason was born in Durham, North Carolina, January 15, 1908. He attended the University of North Carolina, where he and Kyser were fellow students. Sully is five feet ten inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. He is married and has one child.

Mrs. Vince Hetherington, LaSalle, Ill.—Freeman F. Gosden (Amos) was born on May 5, 1899, in Richmond, Virginia. He is five feet eleven inches tall, weighs 150 pounds. Amos has blond hair and blue eyes. He is married and has two children, Freeman Junior and Virginia Marie. Charles J. Correll (Andy) was born in Peoria, Illinois, on February 3, 1890. He is married, has no children. Andy is five feet seven inches tall, weighs 190 pounds, has black hair and blue eyes. The team made their debut as "Amos 'n' Andy" over WMAQ, Chicago, March 19, 1928. Their network debut followed a year and a half later.

L. Speers, Braceville, Ill.—The theme song of the "Voice of Firestone" program is "In My Garden."

Mr. Jay G. Feldstein, Pittsburgh, Pa.—The theme song of the Joe Penner program is "When the Pussy Willow Whispers to the Catnip."

Miss Mildred Lane, Bertha, N. C.—John Perry in "John's Other Wife" is portrayed by William Post, Jr. Adele Ronson plays the role of Elizabeth Perry, Franc Hale portrays Annette Rogers, Elaine Kent plays the part of Carolyn Prince, Allen Green is portrayed by Milo Bolton, John Kane plays Lanny, Lyda Kane plays Molly, Mary Cecil has the role of Grannie, Margaret O'Connell portrays Jill Throop and Dr. Tony Chalmers is characterized by Alan Bunce. Stanley Davis is the vocalist-whistler-guitarist on this program. The theme song is "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Miss Grace M. Smith, Charles City, Iowa.—Permit us to correct a statement we made recently. The Four Notes on the "Fibber McGee" program is not composed of Harold Peary, Dolores Gillen and Ethel Owen. These three people were members of the cast. The Four Notes are Marjory Whitney, Lee Gotch, Bob James and Lee Gillette. Harold Peary is still a member of the cast, but Miss Gillen and Miss Owen did not go to Hollywood with the show. Neither did Hugh Studebaker, therefore he is no longer heard on this program.

Mrs. Mary Izard, Galveston, Tex.—Matthew Crowley is not appearing on the "Myrt and Marge" show at the present time. He is the narrator on "Pretty Kitty Kelly."

Miss Gertrude Lawrence, Wilmette, Ill.—Ned Holden in "Guiding Light" is portrayed by Ed Prentiss. Prentiss also plays the part of John Stewart in "Painted Dreams." Freeman F. Gosden (Amos) takes the role of Kingfish on "Amos 'n' Andy."

Carolyn MacKaye, Philadelphia, Pa.—Orson Welles is married. He has one son.

Mr. E. Fostit, Wausau, Wis.—The theme song of "One Man's Family" is

"Destiny Waltz." "The Coronation March" from "Le Prophet" is the theme song for "A Tale of Today."

Miss Dorothy Arnold, Kennewick, Wash.—Major Bowes was born in San Francisco, California, June 14, 1874.

Miss Gertrude Howgard, Meadville, Pa.—Arthur Wright sang with Kay Kyser's orchestra for approximately two years—between 1934 and 1936. Wright is now singing with Buddy Rogers' orchestra.

Paulina Cox, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Elaine Sterne Carrington is the author of "Pepper Young's Family." Stuart Metz is the announcer. On this serial Curtis Arnall plays Pepper Young. Elizabeth Wragge portrays Peggy Young, Jack Roseleigh plays Sam Young, Mary Young is portrayed by Marion Barney, John Kane is the character Nick Havens, Eunice Howard has the role of Lina Benton, Jean Sothorn portrays Edie Gray, Biff Bradley is played by Laddie Seaman, Curt Bradley is portrayed by Edwin R. Wolfe, Greta Kvalden plays the role of Hattie, Madeleine Pierce plays the part of "Butch" (Hattie's baby) and Jim Krieger characterizes Frank Hastings. The theme song of this serial is "Always."

Mr. Donald S. Stackhouse, Durham, N. C.—Address "The Breakfast Club" in care of the National Broadcasting Company, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Illinois.

Mrs. Fredric Drake, Syracuse, N. Y.—Virginia Clark, leading lady of "The Romance of Helen Trent" serial, was born October 29, 1909, in Peoria, Illinois. She was reared in Little Rock, Arkansas . . . attended the University of Alabama. She obtained the role of Helen Trent in November, 1933. Her maiden name was Virginia Bowers. Virginia has one son, Gordon Clark, Jr., who is nine years old. In private life Virginia Clark is Mrs. J. O. Bengston, wife of a Chicago business executive. She is five feet four and one-half inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, has brown eyes and light-brown wavy hair.

Mr. Bill Short, Tuckahoe, N. Y.—Annette Hanshaw was born in New York City, October 18, 1910. Annette was educated in public schools, convent schools and a boarding-school, both in and near New York. Annette is five feet two inches tall, weighs 103 pounds. She has blond hair.
