Hollywood's Unpatriotic Englishmen— Who Are They?

MILLION DOLLAR KID TURNS PATRIOT

WHILE others were hounding their Congressmen to keep them out of the draft, Jackie Coogan—million-dollar-kid discovery of Charles Chaplin—was busy hounding his local draft board to enlarge its quota and let him into the Army. Now, at Camp Roberts in California, the "Kid"—aided by radio star Tommy D'Andrea—whipped up this set of pictures to illustrate Army life.

JACKIE VS. TOMMY. Jackie (r.): "How did that dope get into the Army?" Tommy: "The sap! He enlisted, I was convicted—er, conscripted!"

TOOTSIES get attention after hike. Tommy: "I wear size twelve; they gimme sevens." Jackie: "What a location trip! Is De Mille doing this?"

SELF-RESTRAINT is a first rule in any man's army. The lads, falling afoul of a typical top-sergeant, show total and magnificent self-control

NO PROBLEM at all is this business of standing at attention and catching up or sleep. Jackie and pal keep one eye open, one shut!

"THOSE SEVEN BRITISH ACTORS SHOULD BE MORE CAREFUL WHAT THEY SAY." Beneath this headline in eastern papers ran a story which in essence stated that several prominent Hollywood English actors, publicly boasting of their patriotic efforts for England, were privately jeering at Americans for being easy marks.

A shocking charge! Your editors investigated. Now, based on documented inside information, they say this: "Certain British actors not only should 'button up their mouths' but should realize that it takes more than a holier-than-thou attitude and carefully preserved accent to make a true Englishman."

THIS is the story: A group of Dallas, Texas, businessmen planned an aid-England benefit. They contacted Hollywood for previously promised star talent to entertain at a great two-day festival. Fifty-two patrons had been sold banquet reservations at one hundred dollars per table. Texans planned to swell Britain's war chest for a grand total of twenty-five thousand dollars. Stars' transportation would be paid not out of proceeds but from pockets of Dallas businessmen.

What happened? Hollywood's biggest celebrities were approached. Almost all begged off with the excuse that previous commitments and studio work would not allow time for the trip. Some excuses were valid, but Movie-Radio Guide knows some who in this emergency could have arranged to attend—further knows that a few are those who have sneered at Americans—further knows that the most snobbish among them are barely tolerated in English society.

Miraculously, the event in Dallas was a success. Who is responsible? Why, Arthur Lake, otherwise known to movies and radio as Dagwood Bumstead. He and his friends who received a call to help save the benefit quickly responded. They enlisted the aid of Errol Flynn, Maureen O'Hara, Alan Mowbray, Gracie Fields and Maureen O'Sullivan, real British stalwarts. Alan Jones, Bruce Cabot and Susanna Foster went along. So did Daisy and Baby Dumpling. Risking bad weather that might have caused him to miss his Monday broadcast, Arthur Lake went to Dallas. The good citizens of that city contributed thirty thousand dollars for the defense of England—and America!

AT HOME sat certain veddy, veddy British actors, their blood apparently too rich for contact with America's common folk, their talents seemingly reserved for events at which their profiles would show best for local Hollywood publicity.

The guilty know who they are. Blondie, hold open that door! We want to do something about these patriotic phonies. We want to kick them out—kick them out of favor with all good Americans and Englishmen!—The Editors.

HOLLYWOOD'S NEWS PICTURE OF THE WEEK

CLAUDETTE COLBERT seems all alone as Quentin Reynolds, center, relates harrowing experiences of the war to George Murphy

MOST lionized personality to hit the Hollywood cafe-society front in many a moon is Quentin Reynolds (talking above with Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck at a party given in his honor at the Mocambo). Just returned from real battlefronts, first in France and, after that nation's collapse, on the bomb-raked home front of London, Reynolds was given a warm reception by a Hollywood he once covered. His dispatches from London to Collier's have set a new high in war reporting. Even more stirring and heart-moving have been many of the personal letters he wrote to friends in Hollywood. In London, where babies are born, live and die in air-raid shelters, he made a vivid short subject, "London Can Take It," which is as fine a piece of screen reporting as his written dispatches. He is returning to London shortly, where he will make a sequel, to be called "London Can Give It."

Hollywood Love—It's Complicated

Photographs by Jack Albin, Bruce Bailey, Walt Davis

PRODUCER GENE MARKEY, ex-husband of Joan Bennett and Hedy Lamarr, is now taking lovely, blond June Storey places—Ciro's at the moment. Which is out of the ordinary for both Markey and Miss Storey. Gene is not a frequenter of Hollywood's night-spots, and Miss Storey, who lives at Laguna Beach, has never shown much love for Filmtown's night-life

ALICE FAYE AND ROSEMARY LANE compare rings—neither wedding nor engagement—at Ciro's while Buddy Westmore, of the famous make-up Westmore family, laughingly looks on. Buddy is the steady boy friend of Rosemary, who is now starring with Rudy Vallee in "Time Out for Rhythm," new film about backstage goings-on in musical comedy for Columbia Pictures

Studio Previews Are Hilarious Affairs

THIS TOO IS HOLLYWOOD

—Schuyler Crail

PRELUDE TO THE PREVIEW of "Strawberry Blonde" at Warners Studio was a Gay Nineties party and revue. Here Gary Cooper takes a whack at Perc Westmore's "Blond-I-Meter"

THIS WEEK IN HOLLYWOOD

Ginger Rogers-Jimmy Stewart romance rumors bloom again; follow the goings-on of the stars on these pages!

JIMMY STEWART, 1940 Academy Award winner, expects to take a voluntary reduction in pay from twelve thousand dollars a month to a pitiful twenty-one dollars before April 1, if the Westwood draft board will take cognizance of his increase in weight. Last November, when Stewart weighed in, he was ten pounds under the 140-pound minimum of flesh required for Stewart's six-foot-two-inch altitude. He was rated Class I-B, and immediately news vultures clawed at him and charged that he was unpatriotic simply because he was skinny. So Jimmy started a personal intensive campaign to increase his weight to meet the Army red-tape requirements. Then, during the past fortnight, he called for a re-examination and a reclassification as I-A. He got what he wanted. His draft-board chief reports nineteen men have been ordered inducted from his district between March 17 and 31 and that Jimmy undoubtedly would be included. M-G-M officials have waived Stewart's contract for the year of his training-period and will put it back into effect upon his return. Meanwhile, Hollywood is whispering that the old-time romance of Ginger Rogers and Stewart is beginning to glow again. Ginger and Jimmy, when both won Academy Award Oscars last month, went into a powerful embrace of congratulatory nature, but spies since have recorded that the two acting champions have been having secret trysts. Ginger and Jimmy refuse to comment, but the public is aglow over the prospect of the two developing into a serious romantic twosome.

Selznick Reorganizes: Signs Somerset Maugham

David O. Selznick, producer of award-winning pictures for 1939 and 1940, in "Gone With the Wind" and "Rebecca," respectively, gave a mistaken impression recently that he was quitting the motion-picture business. What really happened was that Selznick merely dissolved the old Selznick International Corporation, in which Jock Whitney was interested, and has now started on his own under the firm name of David O. Selznick Productions. Already scheduled for filming are two features, "Claudia," a Broadway play which he bought from John Golden for $187,000, and "Jane Eyre." Last week Selznick again surprised Hollywood when he signed W. Somerset Maugham, the celebrated and internationally famous author, to write his first original screen play. Maugham's novels, of course, have frequently been adapted to the screen with great success, among the latter being "Of Human Bondage," "Rain," and "The Letter." The two latter have been made twice.

Portentful Potpourri

Barbara Stanwyck's a smart actress; she gambled with Frank Capra and took the female lead in "Meet John Doe" on a no-salary-all-percentage deal, and now all the studios are rushing her. Warner Bros. wants her for "The Fortunes of Mamie Q," by Lester Cohen . . . Orson Welles' much-disputed and litigation-threatened picture, "Citizen Kane," will be released by RKO despite rumors to the contrary. Meantime, Welles and his staff will meet in Mexico City in mid-April to make plans for his second picture, "Native Son" . . . Vic Mature, toast of Broadway and king of the Essex House, will leave the cast of Gertrude Lawrence's hit play in June to return to Hollywood to make a picture for Hal Roach, to close his contract . . . Richard Carlson is building a new home to accommodate the addition to his family which is expected come June . . . Mark Hellinger, after a quarrel, has left Warner Bros.; the same studio has upped writer Jerry Wald to associate producer . . . Don Ameche has accepted an invitation from the Committee for Commercial and Cultural Relations Between American Republics and expects to do a good-will tour of South America within the next few months . . . M-G-M has bought "DuBarry Was a Lady" for Ann Sothern at a price of eighty thousand dollars; that makes two musicals coming up for Annie, who used to do stage musical-comedies under the name of Harriet Lake . . . Another story-purchase is the buying of the Literary Guild book of the month, "Benjamin Blake," for Tyrone Power, by 20th-Fox, at an announced price of fifty thousand dollars . . . Well, well, well! Diane Lewis (Mrs. Bill Powell) talking about babies with Anne Shirley at the Paramount studio restaurant.

Woof! Woof!

Hollywood dates and their kaleidoscopic switches are something to watch. On Sunday, March 9, Franchot Tone staged it to Ciro's and there met his pal, Pat di Cicco, who was squiring starlet Betty Aveye. He begged a dance with the former New York model, who is, or recently announced that she was, engaged to Orin Lehman, nephew of New York's governor. Tone and Miss Aveye spent twenty minutes dancing together. P. S.—Next night Franchot took Betty to the Mocambo.

Important Castings

To John Wayne, the Gary Cooper-like guy who first made good in Republic horse-operas, goes the envied part as one of the two male romantic leads in Cecil B. DeMille's big-budgeted Technicolor epic, "Reap the Wild Wind"; Wayne will play the hard-driving sailing-ship skipper of Key West, Florida, when it was a "wreckers'" headquarters . . . Joel McCrea, with Rowland Brown, is backing the independent production of the Edward Anderson original "Thieves Like Us" which will star his wife, Frances Dee, and Thomas Mitchell . . . Universal is plotting two more pictures starring

HOLLYWOOD HEARTBEAT

DIRECTOR Charles Vidor and his wife, Karen Morley, are Reno-bound . . . Charlie Chaplin's appearance at the Biltmore Theater the other night with wife Paulette Goddard caused considerable whispering . . . Cary Grant and Barbara Hutton are so very much in love—and now all legal barriers are out of the way of their marrying . . . Barbara Bennett Downey, recently separated from Morton Downey, and Addison Randall are dating.

Franchot Tone; Margaret Sullavan will co-star in one, Virginia Bruce in the other . . . Lynn Fontaine, the talented stage actress, has been tested by Warners for the top feminine part in "King's Row" . . . Gregory Ratoff has persuaded his wife, Eugenie Leontovich, last seen in 20th-Fox' "Four Sons," to play the ballerina in his Columbia picture, "Tonight Belongs to Us," originally titled "Ballarina," and in which Loretta Young is the star.

Sixteen-Millimeter Sound-Stage Opens

Hollywood's latest, where the newest is always "firstest," is a completely equipped sixteen-millimeter sound-stage, with several permanent sets, process-doubling equipment, the latest in cameras, and overhead lights mounted on mobile parallels. Dedicated with a cocktail party March 11, the Barret O'Shea Sound Studios, located at 1710 North LaBrea Avenue, will be available for rental at fees ranging from seventy dollars a day down, and expects to find its services in steady demand for the shooting of screen tests by agents, the making of feature movies by amateurs, and the manufacture of commercial film subjects.

Gene Autry Not Good Enough?

Patricia Morison has been suspended by Paramount Pictures, following completion of her work in "One Night in Lisbon," because she refused to accept the assignment of a loan-out to Republic studios, where she was desired to play in Gene Autry's picture, "The Singing Hills." Criticized for spurning the Autry picture deal, inasmuch as the tuneful cowboy is number one box-office attraction in his field and undoubtedly would help to build up the screen name of Miss Morison, she quickly explained to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE that her rebellion was based not on Autry nor the fact that the picture would be a western, but on the type of part she would have to play. The script called for her to be a haughty society girl, and she felt it would hurt rather than help her career. Meantime, the Republic studio opportunity has been shifted to Virginia Dale, another young Paramount player, who has done good work in recent pictures.

More Heartbeats

At last Big Boy Williams admits, as MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE first scooped the nation with the news, that he and Lupe Velez will never marry . . . Alice Faye and her radio singing-announcing boy friend, John Conte, are warming up again . . . With Bill Holden getting a new contract and Brenda Marshall's option being picked up, the so-much-in-love couple celebrated with champagne at Brenda's home—and watch for quick wedding bells! . . . The story goes that Loretta Young is frowning on sis Georgianna's romantic leanings for Billy Halop . . . Linda Darnell's number two boy friend (Mickey Rooney is number one), named Jamie Forba, will be shown Hollywood next month by the brunette 20th-Fox beauty . . . Gloria Dickson is wearing Ralph Murphy's solitaire . . . The Wallace Beery courting of Mrs. Loreen Robinson, wealthy widow, continues apace.

Get Your Man With Technicolor!

Celebrated director Rouben Mamoulian is going in heavy for the subject of color psychology in his screening of the 20th-Fox Technicolor epic, "Blood and Sand," starring Tyrone Power and Linda Darnell. Mamoulian explains that red, yellow, orange or purple dresses cause a girl's swain to become amorous and bring the wedding-bells nearer; recommends combinations of whites and blues for the suggestion of innocence and purity—which he applies practically in his costuming of Miss Darnell in the picture. "It's old stuff," explains Mamoulian. "The old master portrait-painters—Rembrandt and Michelangelo—used colors similarly. I am only bringing an old idea up to date and streamlining it."

Who's Who in Hollywood

Anna Lee: She's the English actress making her American screen debut opposite Ronald Colman in RKO's "My Life with Caroline." Miss Lee is a 112-pound blonde with deep blue eyes—but married to English-director Robert Stevenson, who also is at work on the RKO lot! Perhaps you saw her in the British picture, "Ebb Tide."

Odds and Ends

Rita Hayworth wears a $55,000 necklace in "Blood and Sand," and the jewelry from Flato's has its own personal bodyguard—a tough-looking guy! . . . Joan Crawford drops all those funny-looking hair-dos and has gone back to a shoulder-length bob for Metro's "A Woman's Face" . . . Oil right, boys, the line forms at the right; it seems that Ann Miller, the nineteen-year-old brunette twinkletoe expert, has just inherited a quarter of a million dollars worth of oil property from her grandpappy . . . Speaking of trade deals, gorgeous Gertrude Niesen is busy making "Rookies on Parade" for Republic's headman Sol Siegel—who is paying rent to Gertrude for the use of her North Faring Road mansion!

Call out the guard; a national-defense bottle-neck is threatening Paramount's shooting of "Hold Back the Dawn" because the studio is having trouble locating one hundred pounds of gunpowder required for the picture. Seems that all gunpowder in America is being addressed to Berlin by the R. A. F. . . . Taking a leaf from Harvard, Hollywood's Black-Foxe Military Institute has polled their favorites and announced Linda Darnell as their ideal sweetheart, Lana Turner as the ideal sister but "not exactly the sisterly type," and Jimmy Stewart as the best all-around actor in the movies.

Reviews

This trio of films offers sparkling adventure on screen

"Road to Zanzibar"

Cast: Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour, Una Merkel, Eric Blore, et al. A Paramount picture, produced by Paul Jones; directed by Victor Schertzinger, who also directed "One Night of Love."

THIS is a "must see" comedy for any fan of Bing Crosby's or Bob Hope's, so that leaves out hardly anyone in the United States or Canada. There's Dorothy Lamour too, for luscious curves and mellow music in romantic settings with crooner Crosby.

But the news of "Road to Zanzibar" is that the same cast top their excellent and screamingly funny work in the preceding Paramount production, "Road to Singapore."

The story is a travesty on South African safari pictures, and the "director's touch" is obvious in several scenes marking high spots for laughs. In one the map of Africa is flashed on the screen, and the voice of commentator Knox Manning describes the progress of the Crosby-Hope expedition. (Backgrounds for jungle scenes were filmed by famed explorer Osa Johnson.)

As Mr. Manning's description continues, a dotted line begins threading itself across the map, and winds up in a maze of tangles and loops! In another, Hope and Crosby are captured by Zulu warriors, whereupon the native chiefs hold a powwow which is translated into English in the form of superimposed sub-captions of a screaming nature. In a third, Dorothy Lamour is paddling Crosby in an African canoe when Bing gets romantic and discusses with her the peculiar jungle pictures they have seen in the past where the hero or heroine suddenly started singing to the accompaniment of a full orchestra. Crosby says, "Why, in one picture the hero dipped his fingers into the stream, like this, and a harp started playing." And as Crosby dips his fingers a harp does play chords, a bird in a tree blends in with the flute accompaniment, and Crosby and Lamour are off in a Crosbyish romantic song—and with full orchestral accompaniment!

It is impossible to describe the smart dialog and wisecracks exchanged by Crosby and Hope. In this clever comedy every line seems to bring a laugh. There's never a dull moment.

Excellent supporting performances are contributed by Una Merkel and Eric Blore, and in conclusion the verdict is: Yes, you can take the kids or your mother-in-law to see this zany screen play.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT: Los Angeles Times (Edwin Schallert), "More weird and crazier than 'Road to Singapore.'" Variety, "This is top-layer comedy stuff for any man's theater." Hollywood Reporter, "One of the greatest pieces of entertainment that was ever offered theaters."

DEFINITELY ON THE ZANY SIDE, "Road to Zanzibar" is funnier, better than "Road to Singapore." The same comical team of Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour and Bob Hope have a high old time in musical-comedy film

"Topper Returns"

Cast: Joan Blondell, Roland Young, Carole Landis, Billie Burke, Dennis O'Keefe, Patsy Kelly, H. B. Warner, Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, et al. A United Artists picture, produced by Hal Roach and directed by Roy del Ruth, who also directed "My Lucky Star."

PERHAPS the best in the whole, hilarious "Topper" series is this latest, which has the genial ghost returning again to the mirth of moviegoers everywhere. It had to be better, because—at first—the mere sight of a ghost, in the image of Roland Young, materializing via trick photography was enough to bring down the house. Now, with the novelty of such trick photography worn off as the series progresses, accent on character and plot comes to the foreground and the result is a better film.

The plot is a whodunit in which ghosts replace the Philo Vances and the Michael Shanes. Gail Richards (Joan Blondell) and Ann Carrington (Carole Landis) return from the Orient for a meeting with Ann's father. Gail, obviously mistaken for Ann, is murdered by some unknown assailant. Gail, able to materialize and dematerialize at will, teams with the similarly gifted ghost, Topper, to solve the mystery.

The piece is replete with sinister figures, disappearing doorways, sliding panels and disappearing bodies. But particularly amusing is the performance of Joan Blondell as the wisecracking ghost who is constantly—and eternally, perhaps—compromising the rather conformist soul of the spirit, Topper. Carole Landis delights with a well-turned-out performance, and Rochester is hilarious as the chauffeur who, when things get really tough, looks out at the audience and makes the observation, "I'm going back to Mr. Benny. He was never as bad as this."

The picture is played strictly for laughs, and while, as pointed out, there is much more meat to this than the others, still the disappearing routines are worked out so perfectly that even though you see it—you still don't believe it.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT: Hollywood Reporter, ". . . The performances are uniformly first-rate . . ." Variety, ". . . This picture runs the gamut of hilarity . . ."

"The Penalty"

Cast: Edward Arnold, Lionel Barrymore, Marsha Hunt, Robert Sterling, Gene Reynolds, Emma Dunn, Veda Ann Borg, et al. An M-G-M picture, produced by Jack Chertok; directed by Harold S. Bucquet, who also directs the "Dr. Kildare" series.

A SLENDER, sensitive youth—buried far down in the cast list—rises above such stellar names as Edward Arnold and Lionel Barrymore to steal this moving, powerful screen play of a youth who found redemption on a farmstead after his father, a crafty killer, had all but made a first-rate criminal of him.

Gene Reynolds is the youth, and his theft of the picture is not because Arnold and Barrymore were asleep at the switch. Both of these veterans turn in their usual, finished performances. It is because young Gene Reynolds makes his unfortunate lad of the film come alive with such force, follow the slow, hard path to redemption so simply and humanly and flare into a glowing, blood-chilling climax in which he levels the gun his father taught him to shoot at his father rather than be forced to give up the life he had come to know and to love.

Edward Arnold plays the father, sought by the FBI and as cruel a character as you'll want to meet on screen or off. Crux of the story is young Reynolds' love for this father, whom he believes wholly admirable. Eventually Reynolds is placed in a reformatory, later released to live on a farm owned by Robert Sterling. There the transformation in his sense of values occurs.

Behind—and subordinate to—the story of the youth runs a love-story, that of Sterling, the young farmer, and Marsha Hunt, his school-teacher sweetheart. Lionel Barrymore, in the grandpops type of role for which he is particularly noted, is both splendid and lovable.

Strong in story, outstanding in portrayal and deft direction, "The Penalty" is a moving film that moviegoers will not want to miss.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT: Variety, ". . . A highly entertaining picture . . . with freshness of detail . . . honesty of approach and credibility." Hollywood Reporter: "A gem of entertainment which bathes its audience in a floodtide of warmth . . ."

CHORINES are well paid, but the weekly pay-check of this trio, (l. to r.) Lana Turner, Hedy Lamarr and Judy Garland, is fabulous. Tony Martin is the lucky man include a girl who did have that sparkling personality they wanted.

Where Do the Girls Come From?

They were all hand-picked. Talent-scouts were sent all over the country searching for beauty. Schools, offices, beauty contests. Billy Rose's Aquacade, Earl Carroll's Theater, the Folies Bergeres, Charlot's Revue, the ranks of artists' models and the regular film chorus list were combed. Of the thousands appraised only thirty-six made the grade!

Georgia Carroll, chosen by New York artists as "America's most beautiful model," was the first girl to be signed. She happened to be in Hollywood at the time seeking a picture career.

Nina Bissell came down from San Francisco to visit relatives in Hollywood and brought only a suitcase, expecting to stay a few days. She was at the Pirate's Den—a small Hollywood night-club—one night and a talent-scout saw her. Came a test and now she's a Hollywood resident.

Virginia Cruzon was an usherette in Grauman's Chinese Theater, and an M-G-M executive noticed her as she showed him to his seat. That girl stands out even in the dark!

WHO, WHAT and WHY IS A CHORUS GIRL?

The spirit of Ziegfeld will never die! Here are the glamorous girls who hold beauty's torch aloft

BY HELEN HOVER

TOGETHER with death, taxes and John Barrymore, the American institution that shows no sign of abating is that species of femina known as chorus girl.

And now make way for her again! She's back again in all of her sequined glory in "Ziegfeld Girl," M-G-M's extravaganza of girls—girls—GIRLS! The theater marquees will wink the names of Jimmy Stewart, Hedy Lamarr, Judy Garland, Lana Turner and Tony Martin as the stars of the picture. But that's not so at all. There are thirty-six stars—thirty-six long-legged darlings who dance and prance and fill in the background. They're the thirty-six most beautiful girls in all of these great, big United States, and if anyone wants to dispute that title the girls are willing to be photographed in hair-curlers and cold-cream to prove it!

The most intensive search went into the selection of the beauties who lend their haughty presence to this film, which sets out to out-Ziegfeld Ziegfeld even in his best days. The search for Scarlett O'Hara was a cinch compared to the manner in which bathing-beaches, schoolrooms, drive-in stands and even the backwoods were ransacked for beautiful girls. Earl Carroll, who spends every waking hour looking for a de luxe type, screams like a mad banshee anytime the name "Ziegfeld Girl" is mentioned. Four of his most beautiful girls in the show at his theater-restaurant were stolen for the M-G-M picture.

In order to entice these visions of loveliness to leave chorus-line, classroom and home for the studio set, the highest salaries ever paid to chorus girls were dangled under their little noses. Ordinarily, movie chorines get eleven dollars a day. The "Ziegfeld" girlies received from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars a week, plus overtime, which increased the weekly take-check from twenty-five to fifty dollars. That's good pickings for doing nothing but looking beautiful, which means just looking natural for these girls.

So, readers, meet the girls in "Ziegfeld Girl." Step right up and ask anything you want to know about them. From letters and personal queries these seem to be the questions topmost in people's minds:

What Are the Physical Requirements of a Film Chorus Girl?

Briefly, she must be beautiful. More specifically, here are the measurements of Georgia Carroll, who is the top showgirl in "Ziegfeld Girl" and whose measurements were the yardstick by which the other girls were selected:

Height, 5 feet 7½ inches
Weight, 128 pounds
Neck, 12½ inches
Bust, 35 inches
Waist, 25 inches

Hip, 36 inches
Thigh, 19½ inches
Ankle, 8½ inches

That's the ideal figure, but many beauties with those measurements didn't qualify. Robert Z. Leonard, Adrian, Cedric Gibbons, Pandro Berman and Busby Berkley, all connected with directing, clothing, designing and producing the picture, spent eight long afternoons doing nothing but looking at hundreds and hundreds of beautiful girls. And they said it was work! "Whew," said Busby Berkley wearily, after he had blond and brunette spots before his eyes, "aren't there any homely girls in the world? With so much beauty they all begin to look alike after a while. The girl who stands out from this mob must have something more than perfect measurements and features. She has to have—well, call it eagerness!"

So, added to tape-measure perfection, a girl must have eagerness, which is another word for personality. The beauty jury overlooked a missing inch in length and an extra inch around the ankle every so often to for U. S. C. He turned around to squelch her, but was himself squelched by her blond loveliness. He became a U. C. L. A. fan, and Anya became a "Ziegfeld Girl."

Lorraine Gettman was a fashion model. Her picture appeared in the rotogravure section of a Chicago paper, advertising a permanent wave. Busby Berkley didn't care a hang about the wave, but he did like the girl it was on, so he set the wheels rolling until he found her, tested and signed her.

FRANCES GLADWIN was the "Goose Girl" at Hollywood Park race-track. This signified that she was queen of the little lake in Hollywood Park over which a flock of geese floated on racing days. Adrian passed her on his way to the two-dollar window, asked her to come to see him, dressed her as a showgirl should be dressed, and Frances was a "Ziegfeld Girl."

Many of the other girls are models and showgirls plucked from other shows and pictures. Practically every girl is a beauty-contest winner of some sort, but they all admit that the contest did nothing for them but give them ideas that they ought to be in pictures.

Should I Leave Home to Try to Crash the Hollywood Chorus Line?

Not unless you have enough money to tide you over a non-working period and are willing to compromise with a waitress job—just in case. There are plenty of beautiful girls in Hollywood, and even if you won a beauty contest, that won't get you anywhere. Outside of "Ziegfeld Girl," which places a very high standard on its chorus, most film beauties are hired through routine channels such as Central Casting. You won't be called unless you're a member of the Actors' Guild, and you can't become a member of the Actors' Guild unless you have worked in a picture. It's a cock-eyed circle, and many a girl has broken her heart trying to find a way to break through. Briefly, there are more beautiful girls than there are jobs, and Actors' Guild is trying to lessen the competition. By eliminating the newcomers, the working conditions of the girls already in the business are stabilized, which is an effective way of making a precarious livelihood less precarious. However, don't let that discourage you completely. There are some ways of getting in. One method is to get a letter from the manager of your local theater. That's often a big help. Having a director ask for you is another way, but often it's easier to get an audience with the President!

How Moral Are Chorus Girls?

Forget your precious conception of the chorus girl with minks, yachts and thousand-dollar bills in her Christmas stocking and Christmas every day and the my-heart-belongs-to-sugar-daddy slant.

Only men around the set are studio grips and electricians, and they're fine if you like the brawny type.

The hours are long—up at six a.m., often work until eight p.m., home and flop into bed for a fresh start in the morning. That doesn't allow much time or vim for partying. Besides, the girl most in demand is the dependable, hard-working girl who gets her eight hours' sleep and reports on the set in time.

One girl in "Ziegfeld Girl" did hit it high. She went to parties, stayed out late and rushed onto the set with puffy eyes. One morning she found it physically impossible to be up at six, and she didn't report on the set until noon. Because she had appeared in earlier scenes and she was needed to keep the line-up accurate, she was let off with a reprimand. But she couldn't resist those party invitations, and once again she overslept. This time she was promptly bounced and another girl replaced her. You can rest assured that this girl's Hollywood career is finished. The blackball goes into effect—to protect other studios rather than to crucify the girl—and never again will she get work from any other film studio.

MOST of the girls are youngsters, sweet kids who wash their stockings and undies before turning in. The majority of them live with their mothers, and these mamas see to it that Hollywood doesn't turn their darlings' heads. Several of the others are married and carry on a circumspect home life with their husbands.

As a rule, the girls are the bread-

—Clarence S. Bull Photographs

FULFILLING ALL OF THE PROMISE of her childhood, Judy Garland would have gladdened the heart of the late Flo Ziegfeld with her fresh beauty. Unlike many chorus girls, Judy IS the stuff stars are built of. She has beauty, ambition, talent, and a heart-warming way of putting a number over winners of their families, and this responsibility serves as a stabilizer against the excessive glamour they're exposed to. One is helping out a dentist husband who is just starting in his profession. She is paying his office rent, for his equipment and the salary of his nurse. Another has a six-year-old daughter, and on her days off she attends parent-teacher meetings. Vivian Mason, a luxurious brunette who has dated Franchot Tone, supports her family and is saving her salary to buy a pair of artificial legs for her crippled father.

What Are Her Chances of Stardom?

Less than one in fifty. There were over fifty beauties in "The Great Ziegfeld," made five years ago, and only one girl in the chorus stepped out of the ranks to film prominence. She was

Virginia Grey.

Showgirls are not star material. It requires no dramatic ability to swagger haughtily and look blankly beautiful. In fact, the less emotion and expression a girl has—vital qualifications to a successful actress—the better prepared she is for the phlegmatic career of a showgirl.

Trouble is, the life of a showgirl is so easy, requires so little training outside of the beauty she was born with, and there is so little responsibility attached to it that most girls become lazy and find it too much trouble to tackle the job of becoming actresses. They fall into a rut, they associate with each other, begin to look alike, talk alike, dress alike, smile alike. Their individuality is then destroyed and so is their potential value as actresses.

The girls who made "Ziegfeld Girl"

ALL CHORUS GIRLS aren't gold-diggers and night-clubbers. The freshness of Claire James is maintained by an "early to bed, early to rise" routine will be displayed in a glittering showcase when the picture is run. Perhaps a producer or agent will pluck one or two girls out of the line and try to develop her into a feature player. Otherwise, the prestige of appearing in this picture will get the girls all the jobs they want in other Hollywood musicals and they will have rather regular work for a while at eleven dollars a day. But they will still be as far away as ever from stardom despite such success.

It all boils down to this: The Hollywood showgirl puts in long hours when she gets work, worries a lot when she doesn't, her career span is about three years (directors and audiences recognize and tire of the same background faces), her chances at stardom are discouragingly low, and with the exception of "Ziegfeld Girl" which paid fancy salaries, she doesn't usually earn much from her profession—not even enough to buy her own mink coat.

Fact is, chorus girls who are considered by their sisters in the line-up to have made good are those who have married well!

"MEN OF

1. BOYS TOWN is an actual township in Nebraska where homeless and underprivileged boys may find sanctuary. A valiant priest, Father E. J. Flanagan, founded it to prove that crime, spawned in the slums and gutters of great cities, can be eliminated

2. SPENCER TRACY again plays Father Flanagan and was deeply moved by the thought that, with Mickey Rooney growing to manhood, this is probably the last time he will play this part. In one scene Tracy and Rooney—saying good-by—simply stand apart and look at each other. But it is one of the most touching and meaningful sequences ever filmed. Afterward Tracy continued to stand there, speechless with emotion. It is an unwritten law among his co-workers that after such a scene no one speaks to Tracy. He remains lost in the character which he has just portrayed

3. NORMAN TAUROG, director of "Men of Boys Town," is famous for his handling of children. In this scene child actor Larry Nunn was supposed to be bitter, disconsolate and ill. But the lad was too gay and carefree to suit the sequence. Taurog learned from Larry's mother that his pet cocker spaniel had been poisoned recently. Going back to the lad, Taurog told him about his own cocker spaniel, said it, too, had been poisoned. Tears flowed down the youth's cheeks and the scene was filmed. On the last day of shooting Taurog brought the youngster another cocker spaniel, identical with the one he had lost, as a bonus

4. THIS FILM PICKS UP where the first Boys Town film left off. Whitey Marsh (Mickey Rooney) is adopted by a wealthy couple but becomes involved, innocently, in a robbery and is sent to the state reform school

OF THE WEEK

Norman Taurog

NO MORE apt choice for the directorial assignment on a film which is at once a crusade for youth and against crime born of homelessness and neglect of youth could have been made than that of Norman Taurog. Taurog is the ace of children directors. His understanding of their problems, their joys and their tragedies is deep-seated, sure. "Really," Taurog says, "every actor is a child at heart, capable of making believe. The difference between children and adult actors is that children can lose themselves in a part but, the moment the cameras stop turning, they can forget their experience of the moment before as completely as if it had never been. Adults do not make the transition from make-believe to reality so rapidly. After a tense emotional scene, for example, Tracy goes off by himself and no one dares talk to him for a while. Larry Nunn, on the other hand, can go through a scene where tears roll down his cheeks and a few minutes later I'll find him playing football with the gang as if nothing had happened. Mickey Rooney used to be the same. He'd wring tears from propmen on a set, and five minutes afterward he'd be pulling the chair out from under some unsuspecting director. But now Mickey is different. Mickey is growing up and into a grand actor."

5. TAUROG'S SECRET lies in his ability to touch to life the almost forgotten tragedies of youth. He makes the death of a boy's dog a telling symbol of the tragic youth he delineates on film. So this scene in which Father Flanagan and Whitey attempt to console Peewee (Bobs Watson) upon the death of his pet strikes a universal and sympathetic chord

6. TO HAVE SCENES STOLEN from under his very nose was something new for Mickey Rooney. Darryl Hickman, as a toughie, did it

7. THE FIRST BOYS TOWN FILM was made almost entirely at Boys Town. This sequel is largely concerned with a Boys Town youth out in the world. Whitey's confinement in a reform school leads Father Flanagan to expose that school as a breeder of crime. Above, Whitey—following his adoption—has an uncomfortable experience with his first girl friend

BIRTH of a GLAMOUR GIRL

Gently, Deanna Durbin has spanned the awkward gap between sweet childhood and lovely maturity

AS THE picture above reveals, Deanna Durbin has grown into a mature and very lovely young woman, who, unlike that posed picture, remains as simple and sweet as when she first stepped before a camera to win the hearts of movie-goers everywhere. Interesting, however, is the fact that Deanna has reached that stage of adulthood where she can at least simulate the coldly exquisite glamour girl she appears in this study. Actually, there has been little change in Deanna. As a child (right) her reactions to various situations were always on the adult side, although given with the direct and disarming forthrightness of a child. One of the few child stars to triumphantly weather the awkward, adolescent age, she emerges now in "Nice Girl?" in a full-blown, romantic role. The transition from sweet child to lovely womanhood was so gentle that fans find it difficult to realize she is engaged to youthful director Vaughn Paul. For her charm, talent and matchless voice Universal is said to pay her $1,750 a week, with a $50,000 bonus for each film.

IMPORTANT CHANGE!

Here is news of an important change in the interest of the listener's greater convenience and greater enjoyment. Many readers have expressed their preference for detail of music and drama programs where the information is available at the proper time for tuning in, without continual shuffling of pages back and forth—that is, in the program section. Hence, in deference to the wish of our readers, this change: This week and hereafter you will find each week's detailed information about music and drama programs in the program section under the time-listings of the programs themselves. Therefore, the departments devoted exclusively to music and drama have been discontinued to make room for additional features. Furthermore, beginning with the issue of April 19-25, you will find in the program pages special highlight boxes of "Today's Best Listening"—highlights of news, new programs, special events, variety, music and drama for each day of the week. Watch for these and other improvements to give you more complete and convenient radio-program service than ever before.

RADIO'S NEWS PICTURE OF THE WEEK

UNITED STATES MARINES have pretty well seen the world, but seldom have they been treated to a show like Ginny Simms and Kay Kyser put on at their San Diego base February 26. To show their appreciation they made Ginny honorary platoon sergeant, Kay a modest regular sergeant. Lieut. Col. John Groff (center, left) did the honors. The visit, which cost Kyser's Lucky Strike sponsor an added six thousand dollars, went over so big, both at camp and on the air, that Kay has been asked now to do every other broadcast from some West Coast Army, Navy or Marine camp. Taking a whole day for the jaunt, Ginny, Kay and the gang were met at the entrance by Colonel R. Winans, who presented them to General W. P. Upshur, issued them uniforms. At dress rehearsal for the evening broadcast and later, in the mess hall, the Marines sang and cheered the Kyser troupe to the echo. They cheered again in the camp auditorium as "College of Musical Knowledge" went on the air with Major Woody S. Van Dyke, noted film director now in service, and Lieut. Col. Groff acting as honorary judges. Probably no other show people could have carried off this sort of stunt with quite the genuine, good-fellow touch of Kay and Ginny. And probably one of the year's best radio pictures is this of Platoon Sergeant Ginny enthusiastically saluting Old Glory (above)

PICTURES ALONG THE AIRIALTOS

From New York, from Hollywood, from Chicago, Movie-Radio Guide's lensmen bring you candid gossip pictures of radio personalities at work, at play

—Gene Lester

ALERT, COLORFUL HEDDA HOPPER misses few bets on the Hollywood news beat, has made herself ranking broadcaster of movie gossip (Mon., Wed., Fri., CBS). Proof was studios' refusing to favor rival Louella Parsons over Hedda in releasing film-star guests for La Parsons' new air series

→ JAY JOSTYN—"Mr. District Attorney" to many listeners—dines here at Toots Shor's with Mrs. Thomas Meighan (left) and Maxine Jennings Byron, one-time RKO starlet and now wife of Eddie Byron, who directs the crime show. Jostyn acts on many other shows, once did forty-eight roles in one week

← BITTEN BY the camera bug long ago, Ransom Sherman naturally brought along his candid when he interviewed beautiful model Doris Simpson on "Club Matinee" March 13. Doris, signed by NBC Artists Service, has posed for several national magazine covers. She'll sing on NBC

→ BETTY GARDE has been vacationing at the exclusive Escabron Beach Club in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Miss Garde left for the Indies shortly after completing a series as star-mother of "My Son and I," popular serial first introduced on the air on Kate Smith's variety show

THE EDWARD G. ROBINSONS, in New York for a flying visit, were caught by the camera dancing at the Stork Club. Robinson's picture-making contract with Warner Bros. keeps him in Hollywood, where he broadcasts his "Big Town" crime thriller Wednesdays, CBS. Mrs. Robinson is the former actress Gladys Lloyd

BILL PERRY AND PHYLLIS ROGERS have a late supper date at the Marine Bar of the Hotel Bryant on Broadway after the Fred Allen broadcast, on which Phyllis is a member of the Martins quartet. Her escort, the perennially popular tenor of "Saturday Night Serenade," will do a Broadway musical soon ↓

The 97 lb. Weakingling

who became
"The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man"

"I'll Prove that YOU, too, can be a NEW MAN!"

Charles Atlas

I KNOW, myself, what it means to have the kind of body that people pity! Of course, you wouldn't know it to look at me now, but I was once a skinny weakingling who weighed only 97 lbs. I was ashamed to strip for sports or undress for a swim. I was such a poor specimen of physical development that I was constantly self-conscious and embarrassed. And I felt only HALF-ALIVE.

Then I discovered "Dynamic Tension." It gave me a body that won me the title "World's Most Perfectly Developed Man."

When I say I can make you over into a man of giant power and energy, I know what I'm talking about. I've seen "Dynamic Tension" transform hundreds of weak, puny men into Atlas Champions.

Only 15 Minutes A Day

Do you want big, broad shoulders—a fine, powerful chest—biceps like steel—arms and legs rippling with muscular strength—a stomach ridged with bands of sinewy muscle—and a build you can be proud of? Then just give me the opportunity to prove that "Dynamic Tension" is what you need.

No "ifs," "ands," or "maybes." Just tell me where you want handsome, powerful muscles. Are you fat and flabby? Or skinny and gawky? Are you short-winded, peppy? Do you hold back and let others walk off with the prettiest girls, best jobs, etc.? Then write for details about "Dynamic Tension" and learn how I can make you a healthy, confident, powerful HE-MAN.

"Dynamic Tension" is an entirely NATURAL method. Only 15 minutes of your spare time daily is enough to show amazing results—and it's actually fun! "Dynamic Tension" does the work.

Send for FREE BOOK

Mail the coupon right now for full details and I'll send you my illustrated book, "Everlasting Health and Strength." Tells all about my "Dynamic Tension" method. Shows actual photos of men I've made into Atlas Champions. It's a valuable book! And it's FREE! Send for your copy today. Mail the coupon to me personally. BAND OF THE WEEK is Raymond Scott's. In five years it has grown from a sextet, misnamed quintet, to a full-fledged orchestra. Raymond Scott's is the most exciting, unorthodox and ultra-modern music of the times

ON THE BANDWAGON

IT WAS Raymond Scott's faculty for discovering the unexpected and exciting in music which got him his first job as a bandleader. Young Scott was a staff pianist at CBS in New York when his genius for turning out unusual modern musical compositions came to the attention of the network executives. They promptly gave him an opportunity to organize the famed Quintet, which made its initial bow in December, 1935, playing Scott's composition the "Toy Trumpet." The tune caught the fancy of the public to such an extent that it catapulted Scott into national fame. Scott's Quintet, incidentally, is not composed of five men, as you might surmise, but instead has always had six. Scott calls it a quintet because, as he says, he likes the sound of the word. The young maestro-composer was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., thirty years ago. His name is really Harry Warnow and he is a brother of Mark Warnow, noted "Hit Parade" orchestra-leader. Raymond once had dreams of becoming an electrical engineer, but was persuaded by brother Mark to leave Brooklyn Technical High School and enter the Institute of Art. His job with CBS was secured when he auditioned for a staff pianist position. Later Columbia honored him by giving him the high-sounding title of Composer and Technical Consultant on Popular Music. Scott and his Quintet have also appeared in motion pictures. They were a featured attraction in "Nothing Sacred," which starred Carole Lombard and Fredric March. Last year Raymond decided he wanted a dance band in addition to the Quintet, which plays instrumental. Accordingly he began a quiet search for musicians, trying different arrangements and building toward his eventual goal, music typically Scott in character yet basically music for dancing. The band is now making theater appearances throughout the country. The personnel as seen above

Because the Raymond Scott band is an orchestra which cannot help but reflect the genius of its composer-leader, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE nominates it as the BAND OF THE WEEK! Next week: Alvin Roy.

Bandata

The title of the movie "Show Business," in which Glen Gray and band appear, has been changed to "Time Out for Rhythm." Glen, by the way, waited eleven years for this chance to act before the camera. But in "Time Out for Rhythm" he is allowed to speak only one line. That's Hollywood for you... John Kirby and his band, now heard on "Duffy's Tavern" (CBS, Saturday), is the only colored bandleader who has a major Coast-to-Coast broadcast spot... Despite having to arise at an early hour when they were in Hollywood making a picture named after their radio show, Horace Heidt and his "Pot o' Gold" crew found that Hollywood is a healthy place. Every member of the company gained weight. Some of them as much as ten or twelve pounds... Vaughn Monroe's orchestra will not be hit hard by the draft. Seven out of the fourteen musicians in his group are under twenty-one years of age!... There's talk of Henry Armstrong, the colored boxer, forming a band of his own. Recently he traveled with Count Basie's band as a "looker-on"... Will Osborne has changed his mind about quitting the music field. He's in Hollywood organizing a new fourteen-piece band.
