Radio Life in NEW YORK

MANY of our reader-listeners thought we had been influenced by the dog-days in announcing with such a splash the appearance of two articles by Senator Stephen A. Day, whose ancestors, we have it, "fit" gloriously through most of our wars from Colonial times on, and then not having them appear. Well, the thing's as mysterious to us as it was puzzling to the readers. At the last moment something happened and the articles were not forthcoming. However, while eight stitches have unravelled we are able to take a tuck in the situation with the ninth and report: The articles in question are incorporated in a Congressional Record publication. You can get it, if you are interested, by writing Mr. Day's office in Washington. So forgive us. We were in there pitching at any rate.

READER "LDM" gave us a "tsck, tsck, tsck," last week, or rather gave Editorialist "H. H. H." the "tsck's" . . . LDM wrote that HHH was decidedly off the beam in his comments and could easily qualify as a first assistant to Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton Wheeler. We apprised HHH of LDM's sentiments and were taken pleasantly with his reaction. He said: "It's perfectly all right. Expressions of opinions and free interchange of thought have made and will keep the United States a great nation. LDM has a perfect right to criticize and is a better American than those who stay silent on issues that confront us as a people."

WE ARE sometimes puzzled by reader reactions. Some write under the assumption we are pro-Nazi and laud us for stands that for the life of us we cannot believe we have taken. Others tell us that our pro-British stand is commendable. We feel we should hasten to say that, as a magazine, Radio Life has no policy except to entertain and inform from radio sources. As a matter of fact as editors we are so completely obsessed with the idea that America is the finest of all Earth's lands that it sometimes goes to our heads; like last week, for instance, we intervened in a street fight between four gentlemen who turned out to be one Englishman who somewhat enthusiastically declared Great Britain ought to be wiped off the face of the earth; one Englishman who had a contrary opinion and smacked the first Englishman quite neatly and proficiently on the snoot; one German who said Hitler was none of America's business and one German who howled: "If you don't like America go back to Germany" and let go what might have been a Joe Louis if the other fellow hadn't ducked. When we butted in it was to say: "Save your energies for America," whereupon all four turned and one snarled: "Shut up you !;&! Communist. Who asked you to put in your two cents?" Things like this puzzle us and make us think that, after all, it might be better to sit tight, not talk so much and trust Franklin the First to see us through.

WE WERE told the other day that people like to read about top stars, no matter how much they have read about them. So we've almost decided on a format to include a weekly Star story, a success story in radio, possibly one short-short fiction story not necessarily related to radio, and a smattering of personality shorts with pictures. Since we are merely your editors, we thought you might write in and tell us what you think.

SUMMER listening's about over even though summer's not. Eddie Cantor comes back September 3, the Lutheran Hour with Dr. Walter A. Maier, October 19, Mrs. Roosevelt with a news commentary over NBC, September 28, Burns and Allen, October 7, Charlie and Bergen the latter part of September, among others, the whole list of which is to be reviewed within the next two weeks, to include Hope, Al Pearce, et al.

In the meantime, most pleasant listening and good wishes.

NEW YORK CITY:—Bandleader Carl Hoff is being sued by Reggie Childs to the tune of 50,000 smackers for trying to "steal" the latter's male singer . . . seems the lad auditioned for Hoff, who is in the market for a new vocalist, without mentioning his affiliations with Childs. . . . At the Penthouse Party rehearsal Friday, Yvette was handed a scare—a tiny parcel which turned out to be a bullet. It was a relief when she discovered it to be a gift from a Canadian flier, shot down over London. He had the bullet inscribed with his initials after it was removed from his body, and sent it to the songstress as a remembrance of the days when Yvette and Charles MacKenzie, the flier, were students at Pratt Institute. . . . Local lads in radio are having themselves a holiday—but without pay. The reason? Walter Tetley is in from Hollywood for a "vacation" and directors are so glad to have him back that they've got him racing from one job to the other. Walter returns to the coast shortly for Metro's "The Corn is Green" which will start rolling as soon as the play closes here on Broadway. . . . Wedding bells rang out last fortnight for actress Arline Blackburn (she played the title role in Kitty Kelly, remember?). She's now Mrs. John J. Trimble and you'll travel a long way to find a happier or nicer couple. . . . Milton Cross who announces those high-brow musical programs (the Met auditions for one) will himself embark on a concert tour. Milt was a singer before he begun reading air commercials . . . others commuting between radio studios and the straw-hat circuit are Ilka Chase, Robert Simmons, Jane Pickens, and Erin O'Brien Moore who will do the Tallulah Bankhead role in "Little Foxes." . . . Milton Berle's appearances on "Great Moments from Great Plays" won him more radio offers than he could handle in five seasons. . . . That's a smooth job Agnes Moorehead is turning in as "Maggie" in the air version of the comic strip "Bringing Up Father"—she jumps into the arrogant "Mrs. Jiggs" part directly from portraying the lovable old Aunt Hattie in the Joyce Jordan serial. . . . Aggie's considering a flicker contract with a salary way up in the four figures—but ten to one she won't take it. . . . Add Phillips Holmes to those looking for a radio spot. . . . Glenn Miller is dickering with a New York outfit for eastern distribution of oranges from his newly-purchased ranch in Duarte, California. Glenn bought the place while making "Sun Valley Serenade" and tagged it "Tuxedo Junction" after his famous recording. . . . Wonder what's in that thermos bottle Jessica Dragonette totes around the studios with her? . . . and while we're wondering, what's become of Annette Hanshaw, Nadine Connor and Betty Barthell? . . .

Program Changes This Week

Editor's Note: As rapidly as they are furnished by Log Editors of principal broadcasting networks and major western independents, complete program and time changes will be noted, week to week, in this section. Readers are informed, however, that even noted changes may not hold true, because of broadcasting problems, and nearly overwhelming pressure of world affairs, to which the Radio Industry, in interests of public service, sacrifices time, money and, in some cases, programs, that ideals of public service shall be maintained. "NP" means New Program. "NT" means New Time.

Fidler Wars With CBS On Talk Right

Goes to Mutual When Denied Criticisms of Motion Pix and Stars

FORTNIGHT AGO JAMES MARION FIDLER, caustic but dispassionate critic of motion pictures, their stars, directors, superlative flinging Fuglemen, summarily ended connections with Columbia Broadcasting System, hied himself and program to Mutual's key station KHJ, by last week was airing his comments to the West through MBS.

BACK OF FIDLER'S move radio officials and public saw figurative flames boiling up in a war of nerves, their own, Fidler's and the Public's, the flames throwing into relief the Federal Communication Commission's oft reiterated stand that Networks are not public utilities and do owe the public a reasonable responsibility in fair comment and free speech.

IN FIDLER'S WORDS this is why he left CBS:

"Despite the fact that I am a recognized motion picture authority and critic with 21 years experience, the Columbia Broadcasting Company insisted that I must give a "favorable" notice (three or more bells) to all so-called "big" pictures reviewed by me, and no less than two bells and favorable notice to any "B" product reviewed by me.

"In other words, even though a picture was downright bad, I was not permitted to say so. If I reviewed it at all, I had to give it good bell ratings and praising reviews. In such cases, I chose the only other path left open; I refused to review bad films.

"The only motion pictures the Columbia network would permit me to review honestly (if they deserved panning) were movies produced by independent or small companies, or in other countries. Obviously, then, Columbia was censoring me, not because officials of the broadcasting chain believed my reviews biased or inaccurate, BUT FOR REASONS BEST KNOWN TO THEMSELVES AND AT VARIANCE WITH A FRANK, UNBIASED REVIEW OF MOTION PICTURES ON MY PART."

In soft answer to Fidler's wrath CBS in the only statement attributed to it,

"Columbia has often differed with Mr. Fidler as to what is legitimate motion picture criticism. If he has found a network which will wholly accept his views on this subject, we are pleased."

During most of his 21 years as a motion picture columnist and, latterly, as a radio commentator, Fidler has flung many a stinging verbal barb at motion picture principals, their products and those who make them. Essentially an American with a provincial tenacity to cling to frankness, much that he has said has created enemies within an industry thought by many but weakly reflecting the democratic scene. Lending weight to such thought is fact that while still among the Nation's chief shekel garners, motion picture houses are still playing to still-dwindling audiences.

With good reason to chortle at their acquisition of the radio firebrand, MBS officials last week contented themselves with a fairly harmless observation:

"The movieland reporter will be heard on the West Coast in Los Angeles, San Diego, Bakersfield, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane. In the East he will be dialed by Salt Lake City, Denver, Des Moines, Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis.

"Contract calls for thirteen weeks, with options. It is anticipated that the program will expand to the Eastern Seaboard. In its former network affiliation the feature was released only on the West Coast."

Having severed his connections with CBS, Fidler continued to fulminate, gave his ruckus the flavor of an international situation by issuing a "White Paper," in which were these rilers:

1) "During the six weeks of my current series over Columbia, their censorship policy has hampered and worried me to the point that I have felt and feel that I have been denied the right of free speech. I consider the fetters that have been imposed by Columbia officials as

VANDA Does An ALGER In Radio

By Don Sabre

The CBS Producer Eyed
Entertainment World, Found His Place In It!

BUDD SCHULBERG, the trenchant writer of that hilarious, caustic, illuminating saga, "What Makes Sammy Run" could do a better piece on the subject of Charles Vanda. But he'd have to do it in reverse, for the simple reason that Charles Vanda, production director for CBS, is a straight-liner. If you don't remember what that is you were born at about the time Vanda was—June 6, 1903, almost a decade after the term "mainliners" to easterners meant the leading families north of the tracks as against "the people," who lived south of them, and "straight-liners" meant people on both sides of the tracks who could be counted upon as real human beings who took no advantages of others, but who plunged ahead to accomplishment by effort and wit and a keen eye out for Opportunity, and ability to slug that Goddess before she starts rapping once.

Life Magazine, pictorial big brother of Radio Life, not long ago referred to Charles Vanda as referred to by associates as "The Toad," an opprobrious appellation that was ascribed to his short and stocky compactness, but not to any characteristic of the Jerboa, whom Charles Vanda doesn't resemble at all.

Vanda's life is reminiscent of Schulberg's hero only in one particular: He has used every opportunity to make another opportunity. All similarity ceases; for Vanda, the records show, never won a succession of important posts in life that have led to his present CBS connection by double-timing, greasing the skids or in any way climbing to power, position and fame on the weaknesses of others. Getting somewhere, after seeing the way to go, is a Vanda trait.

He is a vernacular, mildly profane and occasionally wildly gesticulating chap who regards himself as CBS West Coast trouble-shooter, who leaves behind him a blaze of ruffled tempers owned by persons who find it hard to chop trees down because they can't see them for the woods. Vanda is a chopper. If a radio program, problem or situation can be tree-likened then Vanda is the guy with the verbal axe swung from brainy muscles who chops them down into cordwood convenient to handle.

He is as multi-faceted as the products his father sold back in South Africa—diamonds. His earlier career was as an advertising agency man, after graduation from College of the City of New York where H. V. Kaltenborn was teaching journalism, a subject Vanda liked and worked at. He went from superlative copy writing to England in 1924 as a direct result of learning to play saxophone, there to meet Lud Gluskin, present CBS Western musical director, to come back to America and try his nimble wits at glorifying American hotels, starting with the Park Central in New York. Hotel work—glamorizing cheesecake, (women guest legs to us), hoity-toiting social Sallies and, by journalistic legerdemain, passing out tailored interviews with celebrities, to have his eyes open to one salient fact: America was entertainment-nuts. The Vanda pathway of the future widened. Some distance ahead he saw himself as a chatter column writer, an exploiter of hotel service and entertainment, saw himself inevitably drawn closer to the people who were in the public eye and popularity.

"Never give opportunity a chance to knock even once. Slug her while she's getting ready" . . . This might be the watchword in the career of Charles Vanda, CBS production director, who has coupled ability with an instinct for knowing what's coming next.

By 1930 Charles was a handy-man for the Jan Garber orchestra. This meant he was business manager, publicity director and occasional sax player. It meant also that he was getting around, not at all modestly taking care to see that those who Jan Garbered knew that he, Charles Vanda, was part of the reason that the public pitched in their pennies to hear the orchestra. In California in 1930 he took on added stature as a shrewd merchant of fun and pleasure by becoming publicity director for smart hotels, both metropolitan and a few on the desert to which Westerners with dough hie themselves for expensive weekends. At the same time he raised his career sights, began handling exploitation for famed Cocoanut Grove, for Ted Fio Rito, Henry Busse, Freddie Martin, Raymond Paige, Leo Robbin, Ralph Rainger, Veloz and Yolanda. By the end of the year it was getting so that wherever Vanda went there was the center of the big entertainment draws. People in the business were beginning to say: "Vanda's handling the deal" and "Did you get a reaction from Vanda?"

More On Charles Vanda

About that time a few of the name band leaders were making their static-ushered debuts on radio. The Vanda sights went up a notch higher. Now this radio business. Look into it. Did. Wat'ell, nothing to it. Been peddling melodies, now peddle flesh. So, he became virtually all there was to incipiently struggling Columbia management, contracting for star services, selling beauty and talent, having troubles with the unions which were beginning to organize the callow industry and, in general, leading up to the day in 1936 (circa) when a CBS official said with astonishing daring: "We're going to try a transcontinental broadcast." The records show that the official paled at his own temerity and then wailed: "Where's Vanda?"

Well, Vanda was there, his nimble wits going clickety-click, his alert brown eyes taking in the spectacle of little Charles superimposed upon a nation of set owners, all gaping at the immensity of a national hookup out from Hollywood. Well, that's history now, as is the 2-hour inaugural broadcast of KNX some years ago. Vanda brought together more people with ability, looks and talent than the sanguine would-be director of radio destinies thought lived.

So, the guy's really got himself nailed down on the historical planks that have gone into the making of radio's complex structure. So why shouldn't he be a CBS spark plug, ironing out labor troubles, patching up programs, adding ingredients that spice the dish of entertainment? His rather capable nose scents a public reception natural and the Vanda wangle-jangle,

This is Raymond Clapper, distinguished Washington correspondent and NBC commentator.

Youthful Ezra Stone is back in his familiar and popular role as Henry Aldrich, the irrepressible imp of "The Aldrich Family," on the NBC-Red Network.

THIS IS DRESSER DAHLSTEAD, NBC's ace announcer for "I Love A Mystery," to be back on air at 8:30 p.m. October 6.

Hailing from the East, Richard Brooks, in addition to his radio experience has been a newspaper man and a free lance author, and went on speaking tour for Governor Lehman of New York during the last election.

MAN ON FLYING RADIO TRAPEZE

By Evelyn Bigsby

Richard Brooks' Life Proves Him Acrobatic In Making Air Career!

NUTS! This is like trying to squeeze blood out of a turnip," Richard Brooks muttered to uncompromising walls of his writing cubicle at NBC. "Here I've been pounding out five original stories every week for eight months. Today I'm a blank. I guess I need a vacation!"

Brooks furrowed his brow, scratched an elbow, doodled on copy paper, but wheedled no inspiration. He hearkened back to fairy stories, thought of "Jack and the Beanstalk," and being a satirist at heart, indulged a sorry feeling for the giant. The giant was a respectable, honest fellow, inflicted with acute thyroid trouble. Then he contemplated Jack as a rascal, who stole everything the giant owned, capped robbery with murder, and even inveigled Mrs. Giant into testifying against her spouse, the last straw in scandalous procedure.

"Come to think of it," mused Brooks, "the giant wasn't the ogre tradition has painted him. He was the fall guy, deserving of our all-out sympathy and understanding."

That was inspiration for "Heels of History". He'd unleash that satirical flair of his in a series of stories that would prove to air listeners that the past's ingrates, tyrants, monstrous meanies, were in reality much maligned, much misunderstood heroes. So originated one of NBC's most amusing programs that piques curiosity ("I wonder what Brooks will make out of Nero today?") and hits a modern nail with punchy little references linking past and present.

We smacked into appalling complications when we quizzed Richard Brooks as to his qualifications as a champion of heels. Huh! He's lived!

He was a spoiled only child, who lilted through Temple University, Philadelphia. He skinned by in classes, crammed furiously for exams, was debonair about journalism assignments.

His serious efforts involved his fascination for the stage. At every opportunity he slipped into the theater, asking himself "What makes people laugh? What makes people cry?"

He found out, the hard way. An A.B. degree in 1932 was a drug on the market as far as college boys looking for jobs, so Brooks realized immediately after graduation. His parents had sacrificed to see him through educationally. As weeks sped and he landed no employment, he grew increasingly sensitive.

Failure finally climaxed into decision to clear out of Philadelphia. Without a word to his family, he started out on what developed into an 18 months' bumming tour of a dozen states. He chopped wood and drove trucks for farmers in exchange for a bite to eat; shaved in gas stations, slept in barns; became deft at handling himself in box-cars and in exiting gracefully when kicked off; pounded highways until his feet were numb.

In 1932's grim days, few motorists picked up hitch-hikers. They were afraid of their grim eyes, their lips fixed in desperate lines. Farmers' wives shuffled out sandwiches hastily, just to be rid of men haunting their back doors. Exception was one impoverished farmhouse where hospitality was expressed by a plain bread and butter sandwich. The daughter of the house, confiding that she loved to read, admitted having only two books, the Bible and a Sears-Roebuck catalogue. Brooks promised an addition to her library, later selecting and sending her "Robinson Crusoe."

While living on the New Orleans mud-banks as guest of a family of nine, Brooks was notified that a friend had secured a job for him as sports writer on the Philadelphia Record.

It was quite a different man who went back to report for work—a man who had had time to re-evaluate life in general and himself in particular; who had been exposed to the seamy side and in process, had stripped persons and situations of their pretenses and superficialities; a man not embittered, simply disillusioned, wishing devoutly that he had taken advantage of his college opportunities and now exceedingly anxious to work and learn.

Mastering newspaper technique, writing and being paid for it, satisfied Brooks for three years until he moved on to Atlantic City as a feature writer. After two years, unable to restrain the impulse of all newsmen, he went to New York with prospects of a place on the World-Telegram. Instead, he exercised the unpredictable side of his nature and took auditions for newscasting and commenting at WLEW. He "stayed put" four years, wrote a play, did a show on the Red network, wrote stories with sad endings.

One more ingredient had to be tossed into his make-up before Brooks was destined to come to Hollywood. He invested in an experimental theater project, the Millpond Playhouse on Long Island. He wrote an unpublished book, "The Rest in Peace!

It can happen in radio!—During a recent broadcast of "Are You A Missing Heir?" actor Everett Sloan played a ship's purser who died at sea. Right after another actor breathlessly announced the purser's death to the captain, passengers and crew, Sloan hopped up to the microphone and played the ship's chaplain, preaching his own (the purser's) burial-at-sea.

"I put a lot of personal feeling in it, too," remarked Sloan after the show.

Radio Life Lines

BY "BUCK" HATHAWAY

Skimming over the water in a speed boat are three of action-loving "Regular Fellers," heard on NBC-Red every Sunday evening. Spray-swept, they are Eddie Phillips, Dickie Van Patten and Dickie Monahan and the dog, Bump Hudson.

Mary Mason plays "Maudie," teenage heroine of CBS's "Maudie's Diary," story of a sub-deb who lives on lemon "cokes" and thinks life is "too divinely utter." She's a graduate of Pasadena's Community School of Theater. Show replaces Haven MaQuarrie. 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Long Island's show place is Great Neck estate of Mark Warnow, conductor of CBS "Your Hit Parade" orchestra. Mark is an expert gardener.

Story of the Week: The panhandler asking Keenan Wynn for a quarter, saying: "I wasn't always a bum. I used to be a first class pickpocket but my sense of humor spoiled me." Keenan: "I don't get you." The B: "I just couldn't take things seriously."

Lines from Cleverness: Franklin D. Roosevelt: A mugwump is a bird who sits with his mug on one side of the fence, his wump on the other. . . . Whitey Ford: A beach is where people lie on the sand about how rich they are in town. . . . The Variety reporter who orally headlined the Prince of Wales abdication thus: Sex Exes Rex. . . . Glenn Wallich of Music City: Some bathing suits are open at front, back, sides and to criticism. . . . Xavier Cugat: Economy is the candles on a birthday cake of a woman over 40. . . . Bob Hawk: Anthropology is the study of man. Most anthropologists are women. . . . Charles (Johnny Presents) Martin: My money's quit ordinary conversation. It now talks in the Star Spangled Banner. . . . Ezra Stone: In buying defense bonds let's Stop, Look and Loosen. . . . My own contribution: Rulers who have had only a bowing acquaintance with Democracy now shake when they meet her. . . .

Directorial Language: Get into the onions (start crying) . . . Let's take this off stilts (make it more natural) . . . Fancy talk in her teeth (girl, too cultured for a tough part) . . . Slide into third base on this (Get it through your noodle) . . . We're melting wax (not getting anywhere in rehearsals) . . . Roll up that last one (let's do it over) . . . Loosen your girdle (take the scene less tensely) . . . That's "Sweet Adeline-ing" (really getting together as a cast) . . .

The Wonderful Cows of Ross: Lanny has 60 Holsteins, all named after songs he has sung. There's Estrellita, Maria Elena, La Boheme, Mimi, and Musetta among others. . . .

Fanfares to: Howard Barlow for a beautifully engraved Scroll of Recognition for 13 years service to American Music. Scroll by Sigma Alpha Iota, national musical fraternity. . . . Lurene Tuttle, for being Radio's first lady of Stock. . . . James Melton and Gladys Swarthout for that performance opening the Cincinnati opera season. . . .

This Was Funny: A vain actor was being panned over at CBS the other day. Said Bandleader Peter Van Steeden: "He's not as conceited as all that." Said Ed Byron (Mr. District Attorney director): "Maybe not, but on his last birthday he sent a telegram of congratulations to his mother." . . .

Ilka Chase Is Married Happily, gives these 10 commandments for marriage: 1. Don't give cause for suspicion. 2. Do not inflate your partner with too much praise, or deflate him with belittling. 3. Don't allow friends from the past to trespass on your married life. 4. Do not praise other husbands' wives—or wives' husbands. 5. Don't step on the weaker elements in your mate's make-up. 6. Do not become so completely forbidding that your mate has to meet people outside for recreational purposes. 7. Honor your mate's father and mother—but do not become too involved with them. 8. Don't plead for economy while being extravagant yourself. 9. Don't hold your mate to strict account for his or her promises made during the courtship stages. 10. While encouraging individual interest in hobbies, or activities, or even people, do not allow anything to grow so important that it comes between you and your mate.

Ahead of the News: "His Honor, The Mayor", the Free Company CBS series unit of last spring (Orson Welles) is to be serialized this fall. Walter O'Keefe was auditioned by Quaker Oats for the main role. . . . "What Price Glory" is to start September on NBC Blue, starring Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, originals of the film version. . . . CBS starts a new series called "Maudie". Bill Johnstone who played Joan Blaine's Father on "Valiant Lady" is to play similarly on the new NBC'er. . . . It looks like Frank Fay and Harry Salter's orchestra will be bagged by the Pot o' Gold Sponsor. . . .

Answers: Edwina Heglund—I don't believe that Music Corporation of America has any right to ban your Selectee Selector from the air. . . . File a test complaint with the Federal Communications Commission, consult an attorney and maybe you can sue them for damages. . . . Mabel Penrod—AFRA (American Federation of Radio Artists) is economically important to artists in radio. It's not a racket you may be sure. They won't issue memberships until you've proved yourself. That's the way it should be. However, get a job and they'll be fair. . . . Bert Eldridge: You've been slugged silly by gossips. There isn't a woman with that reputation in radio, let alone that woman who is beloved for sterling character by everyone in radio. Radioists work too hard and are too levelling to be that way. . . . Patricia Martin: Sorry, Patty. The chap's married and in love with the Missus. No can do. For me? Why not? . . . Dave Nelson: I've never met Louella Parsons and my article was one of fair evaluation of her. She wrote me to that effect. I don't like some things she's done, but that shouldn't make me a dawplucker. She's all right.

Closing Thought: It's better to be under the Stars and Stripes than to live behind Bars with Gripes.

like yours to help them pass from one day to the next."

In addition to this type of peril-defying fan mail, others have been received by CBS, urging that copies be forwarded to General de Gaulle, to hearten him in his Free France campaign. For months following fall of Paris, letters came from North Africa advising that people of Algeria and Morocco desperately needed uncensored news. Belgian refugees also wrote asking for news in French.

Since tightening of the censorship edict, such letters of course have fallen off considerably. Near-miracle is that, in face of drastic punishment, mail persists in coming through.

Several have informed CBS that its French news is recorded by themselves or intimate friends and typed on tissue-thin paper for distribution among neighbors to be compared with broadcasts transmitted from Goebbels' propaganda-factory in Berlin.

Columbia shortwaves news in French twice daily toward Europe and North Africa over WCBX, international station. Though primarily intended for fact-hungry listeners in the Eastern world, the programs are building extensive audiences in the Western Hemisphere.

MISS WASON'S ADVENTURES: Five feet tall and 29 years old is Betty Wason, Columbia's roving foreign correspondent, now back in her native America to tell this week of experiences in warring Europe that ranged from war-front-covering to being held a Nazi prisoner, under suspicion of espionage.

Miss Wason first went to Europe in 1938. She was in Czechoslovakia at the first Munich crisis, in Vienna at the time of the first post-Munich conference, the only woman at a conference attended by 500 men. She traveled with the Hungarian army when they took over their slice of Slovakia, in Rumania when Codreanu was assassinated, in Rome during the visit of Chamberlain. Early in 1939 she returned to the United States.

In January, 1940, she again left for Europe with no job and $250. She wasted seven weeks trying to get a visa to Finland and arrived just as the war ended there.

Miss Wason was in the capital of Lapland when the Nazis invaded Norway, reached a decision in 10 minutes to go to Stockholm. There, without a job, she had the Swedish equivalent of twenty-five cents. Her father in Indianapolis wired her that he could not send her any more money. To her aid came William L. Shirer, author of "Berlin Diary". Shirer hired her as a CBS correspondent.

She scored a scoop with a story of the Norwegian royal family's escape over the border under machine-gun fire. Alone she set out for Norway to meet Leland Stowe, the only other American correspondent in the oppressed kingdom. Both returned to Sweden with a story about lack of weapons among British troops, a story with which Stowe scooped the world.

Miss Wason went on the air with this story, learned two days later the broadcast failed to get through to the United States. The Norwegian campaign ended, and she moved in to the Balkans, arrived in Rumania in time to cover Russia's occupation of Bessarabia.

In Turkey she was of international interest. British thought she was a Nazi, Russians thought she was a British spy, Nazis set a man to trail her, the Russian OGPU offered her a job at $300 a month plus expenses, Turks wanted her to investigate an Englishman they suspected.

Uncomfortable was Turkey to little Miss Wason. She debated returning home, going to Greece where living was cheaper. Her job with CBS had terminated when the Norwegian campaign was over. She went to Greece, arrived the day Italians invaded and again was hired by CBS. The Greeks insisted they would take no woman to the front. Minds were changed by next morning. She traveled to the front wearing ski pants used in the Norwegian campaign. She had been machine-gunned and bombarded in Norway so the Greek front didn't frighten her.

When Nazis invaded Greece and Yugoslavia, she kept broadcasting until the Nazis closed in on Athens. She had received promises from several pilots that they would help her get out of the country. A British naval officer promised help also unless he were killed. She never heard from any of them so remained in Athens when the Nazis marched in. She made her last broadcast before their complete occupation. Two months were needed to get out of Greece. She was arrested by Nazis and imprisoned for a week at a room in Berlin's Hotel Adlon, near P. G. Wodehouse's suite. Let free, she traveled to Lisbon, sailed on the "Excalibur" last month home to the United States.

LULLABY BABY LADY: A dozen years ago in plain-squatting, mountain-rimmed Jennings, Oklahoma, Evelyn Ames was 9 years old, responded to many a hurry-up call from distracted village mothers whose babies, fretful and sleepless in heat of desert nights, needed to be sent sleepward on wings of lullaby. Evelyn Ames sang the songs that slumbered the young'uns, brought peace to infant-howled precincts.

From such beginnings has Evelyn Ames raised herself to an odd radio stature and title. Lullaby Lady is she of NBC's Carnation Contented Program, still singing to sleep bawling babies throughout the land's length and breadth.

Last week into background of Evelyn Ames went reporters pen and note-digging: What they dug up:

Evelyn Ames was born on land claimed by a grandfather in tumultuous opening of the Cherokee strip, the family still living on the ancestral acres thus claimed. There she vacations, pits her 21-year-old slenderness against rigors of plowing and haying, varying these strenuous farm tasks with arty needlepoint at which she is an expert.

She was educated at Oklahoma's small but intellectually potent Agricultural and Mechanical College at Stillwater, earned a B.S., left college—when continuing depression twisted, strained, finally collapsed family fortunes—to hook rugs, table-wait and do laundress work.

Her first appearance on air was with Rex Maupin's orchestra. Since, she has featured numerous transcontinentals, has appeared in minor contralto roles with Chicago City Opera, in Mid-West concerts.

She collects porcelain figures, likes Brahms and Strauss, the color blue and steaks; her pet dislikes are too-talkative women, big girls trying to be coy and gum snappers. She doesn't smoke and doesn't like night clubs.

She's five feet two inches tall, weighs 123, is a "brownette" with blue eyes.

THE PERSONABLE MR. BULL:

Handsome Bull of a man is six-foot-one-inch, 180-pound, brown-eyed, robust-voiced Frank Bull, Los Angeles advertising executive, who, a fortnight ago, irked by statements that modern kids lack sport interest and knowledge, went plumping on air from Los Angeles' KFVB with four adolescent experts to answer sports questions phoned, written or asked them during broadcasts. The four: Leonard Murray, 9; Bill Smith, 12; Pete Schwab, 13; Bob Oliney, 13.

Sport-minded is Frank Bull, who, in 1928 when radio was infant-toddling, abruptly left his desk in a metropolitan bank, turned to microphones of the sprawling industry to appear obscurely on Gilmore Jamboree, to win interest of radio executives, to begin a steady march toward solidity as advertising man and air shower.

More:—On Fidler

resulting in my carrying on a program so "old ladyish" as to constitute a slap in the face of this right of free speech so long recognized as the inalienable privilege of a citizen of this country.

"2) It seems to me that there is a serious question whether a network discharges its public duty when it restricts a commentator who is a recognized authority, and who had been broadcasting along established lines for seven years, so that he cannot continue to speak as an authority and as he has always spoken, but instead, must submit to censor and editing of his material to a point making fair and frank comment almost impossible."

Surprise in Fidler's career is that he started a popular newspaper column after radio commentation. With millions in his air audience, his syndicated column in more than 150 papers with a circulation of 7 1/2 millions, Fidler's comments on Hollywood, its movies and personalities are widely read or listened to.

that Fair he wrote and directed several hundred pre-opening broadcasts, resigned when the Fair opened to become a free lancer.

"Cavalcade of the Golden West", the celebrated theme spectacle of the 1939 San Francisco Fair was Linkletter's, as was "America, Cavalcade of a Nation." He was by this time the fair-haired boy of radio, smooth-faced, blue and eager-eyed, husky and tall with a downright modesty that could not hide the fact he was good enough to be employed by Ford, Chrysler, General Electric, Railway Express, Wells-Fargo and Pacific Telephone Company to write and produce stage shows as part of these companies' customer service policies.

Linkletter is an extraordinary ad-libber. The Shell Oil Company, casting about for a new program idea and someone to handle it, concluded he might have the goods. He did and proved it by taking the Company to a party, the first of a number of such that was to crack what is always a hard nut for big business: How to make the potential and actual customers develop a kind spot in the cardiac area for good old "Articulate Octane, The Gas That Doesn't Need an Engine To Be Good," for "Wheatment, the Tenderloin Bread with Energy Escalators," for "Your Telephone Is Your Best Money Maker, so don't stop talking. It makes s(c)en(t)se".

The onetime English student, abetted by Shell, made his appearance at somebody's party and there, without benefit of script or rehearsal, put over his own radio idea of how to have a good time—and don't forget Shell gas. He has gone to lowly homes of workmen in the substandard districts, to swanky beach parties, to exclusive Flintridge, Bel-Air, into shipholds, to stevedore waterfront parties, visited charwomen at midnight beer and skittles.

Currently Linkletter, who is 28, is a prodger of mass memories of events that are exploding under the noses of us all from minute to minute, day to day, as the old world goes rollicking not so merrily into destructive tailspins. As a prodger he conducts for the Los Angeles Times the program "Who, What, Where and Why?", the four "W's" being a minor variation of the kindergarten lesson all reporters learn, the reporting of who it was that figured in the news, what he or she figured in, when whatever happened to the who and where it happened.

Linkletter's introduction of the why is what has made the Times' program interesting. Most people are apt to confess they don't know why, despite the fact that newspapers, including the Times, have offered them several possible reasons for it.

Art Linkletter is interesting. As an ad-libber it is common belief in radio that he can talk his way out of most traps, because he has already fallen into every verbal manhole the mind of men can conceive during seven years of broadcasting from planes, boats, midways, rodeos, symphonies, man-in-the-street locations, stages and maternity wards.

Art Linkletter (in prison clothes) brings an oil company's program to the beach. Hilarious as was the program it has been discontinued, allegedly because it was beneath dignity of the oil company. However, it was fun while it lasted.

ART LINKLETTER POSES STICKERS

Do You Know Your Who,
What, Where and Why?
This Radioist Does!

THE NOISE in the steaming kitchen, clatter of pots and pans, students calling stridently to each other in the dining hall of the Union, made it difficult for English and Speech Arts Major Art Linkletter to hear what the man on the other end of the phone was saying.

"I said: Do you want to come to work as an announcer for KGB?"

"Who? Me?" Student Linkletter was incredulous. The "Who? Me?" sounded pretty dumb for an English major but this was a numbing moment.

"Who else? You're Art Linkletter, aren't you?"

"Sure, but you're not kidding, are you?"

"Not for twenty bucks a week, I'm not, son."

An aluminum pot went sailing toward the kitchen ceiling. It missed a rack of soiled glasses, came down with a clatter that matched the Indian yell of Art Linkletter foreswearing tuition-earning drudgery at San Diego State College for his genetic flowering as one of radio's young miracle men. The flash through the kitchen door was Linkletter on the way to his new job.

"Has Art gone nuts?" A coterie of coeds and moustache-nursing males asked the question in unison as Art rounded the campus on one heel, disappeared down a shaded street in the direction of town and radio beginnings.

Getting into radio was a natural for Linkletter, even though he didn't think so. In school he gravitated with the English student's flair to dramatics, wrote collegiate plays, musical revues, got to know the show business from a campus background.

There is an essential virtue and profit in confidence when linked to a knowledge of what one wants to do. Young student Linkletter had no doubt about his forte. It was entertainment, whether on radio, on stage or in pictures. It just happened that a kindly interested San Diego savant intervened for him in the radio offer. This friendly agency since then has set the pathway on which the Linkletter feet have trod. The pathway had lead through jobs as chief announcer and assistant program director for the San Diego Exposition of 1935, the Dallas Exposition of 1936, to San Francisco and the World Fair in 1937 as radio and public address director. For

Station In The Sticks

Country Boys Take No Straw Hats Off In Air Competition With Nets

WHAT'S the big city station got that the smaller stations in the outlying sections haven't got? Well, the large stations have bigger payrolls. But they also have greater income. When Colossal Jewelry Company can buy time signals in Los Angeles on a 50,000-watter for $85.00 per announcement, the Pee Wee Jewelry Company can buy it on a 250-watter in Smith Corners for $2.50. The big station has more multiplication.

City stations are departmentalized. They have a chief continuity writer with assistants. The copy chief of the country station is more likely than not also to be the chief announcer. The program director in the small town is probably also the bookkeeper, and the guy who owns the joint is nine-to-one the salesmanager.

The above comparisons are a bit contrasty, but they get the idea over. There are some in-between broadcasters who are neither too big nor too small, and it's the in-betweeners who have the toughest job. They have a copy chief, a chief announcer, a program director, a salesmanager, a commercial manager, a promotion manager, and a capital "M" Manager. But all these chiefs and managers must also be assistants in other departments.

Take the case of KFXM, down San Bernardino way, which kicks the gong of showmanship around with five-alarm performance. One of the staunch "legs" of the Mutual-Don Lee web, KFXM goes all out for features and special events in a way that will make many a city slicker station take notice. In the heart of the orange empire's lush San Bernardino valley, KFXM dominates an audience population of 300,000 . . . and there's a reason.

This story begins with the brothers Lee, Cliff and Gene, as they were twelve years ago. Gene was a radio nut and wanted a radio station so bad he could hear it. But J. Clifford had a job with a San Diego bank where the pay was sure as a Defense Bond, and besides Cliff didn't care for radio. But to make it short, the Lee boys bought out a license, moved their equipment to San Bernardino and started spinning the platters. Legend has it that the going was pretty tough for a couple or three years, and there were times when Cliff would go out behind the transmitter and attempt to kick himself in the britches for having allowed Gene to sell him a bill of goods.

However, they acquired one Maury Vroman, who had been in the merchandising business in Los Angeles, and who knew his way around. So Maury got together with Gene and applied Maury's ideas to Gene's selling and both of them went out to sell and things began to pick up.

George Burns came along. His nickname is also George. George said to heck with it. That is, he didn't agree with some of Maury's ideas. George skipped such theories as "consumer acceptance," CAB ratings, audience reaction and other high sounding phrases. Things began to hum louder. George had a lot of screwy ideas about promotion, but some of those same advertisers who fell under the Burns onslaught are still using KFXM exclusively and you couldn't get 'em off the air with anything short of the B-19 Bomber.

Aiding and abetting the above execs is Austin King, former publicity and advertising man from Los Angeles, who at present fits in as writer, producer, salesman or what'll you have.

Let's look-see at KFXM showmanship, starting with one where the boys set up a mike in front of a local shoe store, offered $2.00 off on a new pair for every pair of used shoes turned in for British War Relief. In three days, fifteen barrels of used shoes were collected for the war-harassed Britishers, and a smiling sponsor was glad he had tried radio to promote his sale.

Mention a food show to the San Bernardino gang, and they are off with a mike quicker than you can swallow a scalloped Blue Point. They covered three food shows in as many months from San Bernardino, Redlands and Riverside—36 broadcasts in all, and they gave away to the ladies enough food to stock the corner grocery store. Three announcements of a pet parade given in conjunction with one of the food shows netted enough mutts, pedigrees, felines, both the blue ribbon kind and the alley variety—besides a goat, a burro and a broken down plow nag—to make the Griffith Park zoo look understocked.

Each spring the Pittsburgh Pirates train at San Bernardino, and their activities and progress are covered, from what Manager Frankie Frisch feeds the outfit to what weight bat Arky Vaughn prefers.

Last semester KFXM aired weekly the University of Redlands, at Redlands, direct from the Chapel building on the University campus. Citizens of the valley got an earful of blue ribbon music from the University's famed music department, caught a listen to student debates and forums and were entertained by the dramatic department.

A word, also, about weekly blow-by-blow descriptions of boxing bouts at the Athletic Club, and ditto of the grunt and groan matches—the spin-by-loop broadcast of the visiting Hollywood Air Circus, the Easter Egg hunt at the transmitter grounds, their Safety Driving Patrol remote, or their mike at the Southern California Soaring Association which covered everything from the kink in the tow line to reporting the position of radio-equipped planes beyond the horizon bound for a distance record. . . . Or the Dollar Day stunt of releasing 200 gas-filled balloons on a busy street intersection. Each balloon contained a certificate good for one dollar in trade. The scramble was terrific. Then the delightful item of the Miss America Bathing Beauty contest at the ultra-swank Arrowhead Springs Hotel.

THE LADY ON THE COVER!

FOR THE past two years or more, Celeste Rush and her assistants, David Starling, Lucille Lane, and Helen Jobe, have been roaming through halls and libraries, and other assorted places where information is dispensed in Los Angeles and Hollywood. Intent, disconsolate, thirsty-looking individuals they are, too, all on a track—on a scent. "What did he do?" "Where did he go?" "Who was his sweetheart at that time?" "Is it all right to mention Napoleon, Beau Brummel, Madame de Stael—Tom Moore, Richard Brinsley Sheridan—Shelley—Walter Scott?" "DID they know him?" "WERE they there at the same time he was?" Weighty questions in the minds of these searchers for knowledge, for they refer to instants and people in the life, loves, and adventures of George Noel Gordon, Lord Byron, Sixth Lord of Newstead, Baron of Rochdale, Peer of the Realm.

Do you wonder, then, at the rapt expressions in the eyes of writer-producer Celeste Rush as she tries to decide which of the over 200 biographies of the poet is most likely to be an authentic basis for Chapter 11, Episode 110, of Book 7 for Wednesday's presentation of "Confessions of the Corsair" on KHJ? And can you possibly realize how increasingly difficult it is becoming to refer even to these widely disagreeing authorities since "Confessions" went on the air? Perhaps not, because until we tell you, you have no way of knowing that the reading public has suddenly swung back to Byron and his life history and that certain people in the know admit that this upward trend in the poet's stock is directly attributable to the great popularity of the KHJ radio show. Have you heard "Confessions"?

only when allowed to ad lib, with an ease and accuracy that has marked him as a man of unusual talent for radio.

He conducts two programs of his own—his popular De Soto Sports Bullseye over KFWB at 7 six nights a week and Frank Bull's Juvenile Sports Wizards, a new show heard each Thursday at 8 p. m. over the same station.

He is married to Peggy Price, former radio star. They have three daughters—Pat, Mary Lou and Sally. He is a member of the Wilshire Country Club, Los Angeles Ad Club, for two successive years has been voted president of Southern California Sportscasters' Association.

Goulash is his favorite dish, Zesto his favorite drink, Los Angeles his favorite city, California his favorite state. Among close personal friends are Dick Smith, "Pee Wee" Hunt of the Casa Loma band and Bill Spaulding. He likes dancing, riding, singing and shooting. Lionel Barrymore is his favorite actor and Bing Crosby and Fred Allen his favorite radio stars. He admits being "mildly" superstitious.

Still remembered in Los Angeles is the program, "The Two Professors," which Bull conducted with Harry Geise in 1932 and 1933. Bull and Geise held a firm policy of never reading complimentary fan mail, read only insults over the air, begged their audience to tune off, find a better program.

Kingdom Has Come", and a play, "Wooden Nickels," produced on Broadway.

"Then my dough started to run out, and before it did, I wanted to see California", Brooks relates. This time, however, he drove across the states where a few years before he had sore-footed it.

His first impressions of Hollywood were extremely adverse, largely due to the fact that the only three "friends" he knew were all too busy to greet him. Only because he wanted to see the picture at Grauman's Chinese, he decided to stay over night.

That changed everything again. Suddenly he felt sorry for Hollywood. Its denizens were smug, tanned, well-fed, but down underneath, Brooks sensed, they were hungry. For what?

To find his answer he stayed and his conclusions are set forth in a soon-to-be-published book, which is different in the respect that it does not tear Hollywood limb from limb.

He hit on the idea of a radio program of short stories about the little, unimportant people in town, and sold his "Back Street Hollywood" to NBC. As scope of the yarns broadened, the program's name was changed to "Side-Street Vignettes." His "Heels of History", which he originates for, and reads on Friday's broadcast, is creating more than a ripple in professional pools.

The irked old college prof who told Brooks, "If you ever get a news job, I'll eat the paper!" would certainly choke to death if Brooks took him up on his threat now.

2 lbs. fresh asparagus, steamed and ready

Put the yolks of the eggs in a sauce pan. Place the pan in a pot containing very hot water on range. Stir the yolks well and add a piece of butter the size of a walnut, until all butter is used. As the butter melts in the eggs, be careful that the sauce does not get too hot. Add salt and cayenne pepper, mix well, and serve with green asparagus.

CHEF MILANI is heard Monday through Friday at 11 a. m. over KMPC in a program entitled A DINNER FOR FOUR FOR A DOLLAR, NO MORE.

HEALTHY DUETS AND TRIOS—There are some vegetables which go especially well with others when it comes to dietetics. We have arranged them into duets, trios, and one quartette for you. Here they are:

Duets: Artichokes and onions, Brussels sprouts and potatoes, celery and potatoes, okra and green corn, squash and potatoes, tomatoes and celery, turnips and chard, asparagus and celery, pumpkin and string beans, cabbage and chestnuts, string beans and cauliflower.

Trinities: Spinach, carrots and onions; carrots, turnips and peas; Cauliflower, celery and celery root; carrots, onions and sweet potatoes; spinach, mustard greens and onions; oyster plant, cabbage and parsley; chard, carrots and onions; beets, beet tops and onions; string beans, cabbage and onions; spinach, onions and tomatoes; lima beans, kale and onions.

The quartette: Spinach, parsnips, parsley and celery.

THE SPICE OF SHAKESPEARE—"I know a bank where the wild thyme blows," in Midsummer Night's Dream; "There's rosemary, that's for remembrance," in Hamlet, and in the same play, "There's rue for you, and here's some for me; we may call it 'herb of grace' o' Sundays." Then, in The Merry Wives of Windsor, "We have some salt of our youth in us," and in Romeo and Juliet, "I am peppered, I warrant, for this world."

But Shakespeare is not the only one to have seen a literary value in seasonings. In the Bible, "the kingdom of heaven" is likened to "a grain of mustard seed," and more recently, Arnold Bennett speaks of "a saffron sky" in Hilda Lessways. As for that old saw, "Variety is the spice of life," it was Cowper who first used it in Task, where, more completely, it reads, "Variety's the very spice of life that gives it all its flavor."

SEPTEMBER MENU—Some time ago on one of our radio programs we suggested an acrostic menu for special occasions. However, a special occasion is not exactly necessary. Here's one for any day in September. The first letters reading downward spell the month:

Seafood cocktail
Elsinore olives
Pea soup, thin
Tender Made Ham a la Wilson
Endive salad
Mashed potatoes
Burgundy wine
English muffins
Raspberry sherbet

SALADATA—A good way to use onion in a salad is to cut one in half, then scrape some juice and pulp from it with a sharp knife and put it in the dressing. The next time you fix a potato salad, try some capers, picalilli, olives and radishes in it—one or all. As for fruit salads, it's a good idea to be sure to always put the softer fruits on top, so that their juices can drip down over the others and enhance the flavor.

CROQUETTERIES—Have you any left-over beef, chicken, ham, fish, mashed potatoes or rice in the house? Then the thing to do is to make some croquettes. And you don't have to limit yourself to the above ingredients either. You can make a croquette with just about anything. Just chop and mix a few things together, using a thick sauce for a binder. Then shape into balls for compactness, after which you can mold them into rolls, cones, nests, cutlets, or whatever you like. Now coat your croquettes with flour or crumbs and dip them in egg to which you have added a little water, and which you have beaten just enough to break up the white. When this is done, coat your croquettes with flour or crumbs again and then fry in deep fat at about 375 degrees for about three minutes or until nice and brown. Does this sound very complicated? All right then, we'll give you a few more definite recipes. You'll find them following this column.

IF-YOU-HAVEN'T-TRIED-IT-YOU-SHOULD DEPARTMENT—Removing the pit from large prunes and stuffing them with cream cheese and marmalade. Using pretzel sticks for food spears instead of toothpicks. Decorating a ham with canned cherries and fastening these with cloves. Making omelets from left-over vegetables, including spinach. Straining cauliflower and tomatoes for a soup, or making soups from fruits, like apricot or banana puree, cream of raisin, or green apple, tamarind or red currant soup.

Recipe for Macaroni Croquettes

Recipe for Sausage Croquettes

1 lb. Wilson Certified Sausage
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 eggs
Bread crumbs, very fine
Wilson Certified Laurel Leaf Lard

chop-em-down, let's-get-going-technic oils the airwheels and it gets done.

There's Hollywood Premiere fr instance. That's the Louella Parsons-mistressed show. Vanda supervises the ramified details that go to produce this program-prevue of motion pictures in the making. He has learned radio, and the public in reaction to radio, the technic by which oral stuff, supplemented by sound and music, makes a program a sort of audibly visual project. The big scene in a motion picture air-viewed by Hollywood Premiere, admittedly a good show, may be the least important in an air presentation. The Vanda touch ferrets out, mayhap, a minor picture scene, and it becomes the pivot point for the air show. What happens on a Hollywood Premiere before airing is, perhaps, as good a way as any to show the stature Vanda has attained, what makes him run.

Miss Parsons selects the picture to be air-scripted. That she is qualified no one doubts after years of experience. Writer Harry Kronman knocks out the air-script. Vanda and he study it before it goes to the agency for client approval. It's Vanda's job to see that when finally scripted for air it coincides with CBS policies, that it is good for home listening. In meantime he confers with Felix Mills on musical arrangements, for whatever the script calls for, from symphonies to circus bands, using instruments to establish characters, to apprise the audience of the comedy and drama the script is working to.

If Charles in his running up radio's mountains of accomplishment ever has taken advantage of anybody it would be of himself. He has given many a person credit for innovations that he, Charles, planted in the person's mind:

"Simply," he says, "because things go smoother that way."

"Radio," he vouchsafes with little pontifical posing, "is doing a good job now, but not as well as it can and will be doing. It must learn how to dramatize messages that have values for society. It has a job to do in defense, housing, slum clearance, to raise national morale, to educate in the dress of entertainment."

Which is pretty good social thinking, we think, for the son of a diamond merchant, for a young fellow who started out to run a $25-a-week job into the highest salary brackets of CBS.

Reasonable Facsimile

They took Art Cooper, sound effects man, away from the farm, but they couldn't keep him away from rural sounds. Art, who hails from a farm near St. Joseph, Missouri, was required to imitate an enraged steer during a recent broadcast of the Cugat Rumba Revue. Steers aren't a common sight around the Missouri countryside, but Art wasn't completely in the dark. He simply took two half-shells of hollowed-out coconuts, beat a tattoo with them in a sand-filled box, and brought forth as authentic a hoof-beat as ever came from any genuine Western steer.

The Gildersleeves

GILDERSLEEVE MAGIC: A high school girl is greeted with roars of laughter when she stands in assembly; an Oregon lumber mill worker has been given a raise and more responsibilities; the Dean of an eastern college is beginning to win vicarious fame as a humorist; a Hollywood shoe-clerk is selling more shoes to radio and picture people than has been his wont; an Army private has been singled out for superior attention and has been made a corporal.

The name was picked out of air by writer Don Quinn when the pompous, heavy-voiced sparring partner for Fibber McGee was introduced as a regular character on the McGee show.

The foregoing last week were notations on memorandum pads of alert press agents, culling from the nation's scattered and small group of surnamed "Gildersleeves" the experiences these Gildersleeves have had since Throckmorton P. Gildersleeve (Radio's Hal Peary) was mid-summer announced to star in a show of his own.

More--Station In Sticks

It was strictly business. Not one of the boys landed in the marital doghouse.

KFXM is particularly proud of its co-operation with the Army Morale campaign. It has a half-hour show each morning dedicated to boys in uniform at nearby March Field and Camp Haan. The program weaves in camp gossip and patter with music and has 30,000 soldiers tuned KFXM way. Each Tuesday evening a selected group of the boys from the reservation trek to the studios for a half-hour show that's a wow.

For a small outlying station, it can be said that the boys don't miss anything. They'll set up a mike anywhere at the drop of a battered campaign button and do it with big-time finesse. Their staff includes exactly 20 persons from top to bottom, all of them charged with putting KFXM on the air and they are all as versatile as a safety pin.

It isn't the power of a station—it is the spirit behind it. San Bernardino's KFXM has 50,000 watts of the latter!

Or What Have You?

For one autographed picture, Diane Courtney, diva of Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street sessions, can have any one of the following: "six or seven-foot alligator, boa constrictor, man eater, the bushmaster, a mongoose or gorilla."

Offer came from a worker on the new U. S. defense base in Port of Spain, Trinidad, who follows the "Basin Street" programs.

PLAY-BACKS

From Our Readers

This Department belongs to Radio-Listeners to express themselves briefly and critically on Radio and Radio Life. Avoid controversial subjects (religion, race, etc.) but otherwise be as trenchant and caustic as you will.

R. H. Moise, 1902 Keystone Street, Pasadena, Calif.

Gentlemen: May I stick in my oar,—at the risk of sticking my neck out—and express one man's opinion about the honorable F.C.C. I speak for no one but myself, but I should say the greatest service the F.C.C. can render the American public is to let the radio broadcasters alone and not muddy the water. Lots of people, including myself, get most of their entertainment via radio, and I feel safe in saying we probably have the best programs in the world. We can have our entertainment wherever we happen to be, beach, mountains, or anywhere in the country; if the young people want to dance, a twist of the dial will bring them good dance music, and the range of selections is almost unlimited. One can get practically anything wanted. We may not all agree on which are the best programs, but most of us can and do find something which we like.

I'm not quite clear as to just what—anything—the F.C.C. is going to do to radio, but whatever it is I'm against it, and favor letting it alone to work out its own destiny. Radio is rendering a distinct service to the country and ought to be left free to continue along the same lines. It is fine and clean; I've never heard the least suggestive or "off color" thing said on the radio, and I spend most of my spare time listening to various programs. Radio is the personification of freedom of speech, it gives everyone a chance to express his opinion, whether for or against any subject under the sun. I've been a supporter of the administration to the limit, but if it is going to allow the F.C.C. to mess up the radio situation, then I'm through, and favor abolishing the whole darn F.C.C. and sending the boys home where they can't do any harm. Maybe radio isn't perfect, I don't know of anything that is, and that goes for the F.C.C. too, but I still think radio can better work out its own destiny than the F.C.C. can, and render much better service to the people, as it has done so far without too much interference. Why not leave well enough alone?

If Earle C. Anthony happens to own two outlets in Los Angeles, one outlet for the red network and the other outlet for the blue network of the NBC, I can see nothing wrong with that; they both give us good programs. People listen to the programs they like best regardless of which network they happen to be broadcasting through, and to my way of thinking there are good programs on all of them. Let's keep this a free America and not ape the methods of Hitler Germany where they dish out what the propaganda ministry wants the people to hear and believe and even refuse them the right to listen to certain programs, particularly those broadcast from other countries. I hardly think we'll come to that here, but I still think radio can get along very well without any help from the F. C. C.

Sirs: For some time past various and sundry "cracks" appearing in your issues, "wise" and otherwise, have been getting under my skin, and I find it impossible longer to keep from popping off, so here goes.

First, for some time I have been burning within over your insufferable gall in characterizing William Also-randolph Hearst as "Old Venerable." If there is anyone in these more or less United States who deserves that tribute less, I haven't heard of him! It's my personal opinion that he, his "astonishers" and their associates, literary and otherwise, form the greatest of all existing menaces to the intellectual, moral, political, and economic welfare of this country.

Next—so long as the powerful newspapers, Hearst's and others, are what they are, it's a very good thing for their connection with radio to be looked into. You may not know as much as you should about the financial family relations of the radio and electric industries; if not, I commend to you Senator Norris' enlightening "family tree," read into the congressional record several years ago. You will find that the ownership and/or control of both are largely in the hands of just two of our "40 Families."

So—as I am through with you here, and otherwise—Vale, but not Ave.

To reader-listener A. L. Hancock: A thank you for constructive suggestions and bolstering of the editor's education into American financial families. Regrets that you are through. Yours was one of most cerebral and interesting letters of weeks. We hope the popoff has cooled you off.

George T. Atchley, 2737 San Marino, Los Angeles

Sirs: So you think it was no senile Hearst who exposed the sale to Russia of enough aluminum to make 2400 airplanes immediately after the aluminum drive? Would any LOYAL, sane man object to helping Russia shoot up Hitler? When we are giving England planes to fight the world's No. 1 enemy, what is wrong with selling Russia material to build planes?

You must be DUMB to commend Hearst for "exposing" the aluminum sale. Do you and Hearst want Hitler to win? If you want to be considered sane and loyal, you better stay off the Hearst-Heil-Hitler beam.

To reader-listener George T. Atchley: No more criticism need be directed at sale of aluminum to Russia than sales of aviation gasoline to Japan in its war against the China democracy, sales only recently terminated by long-aroused public opinion. Question: Is the American Legion, first of organizations in the front-lines of the struggle to preserve Democracy, sane and loyal? The Legion is reported opposed to Russ aid. Our plaudits to reader-listener Atchley, however, for forthright expression.
