Mrs. John C. Schobert, 1134 Glendale Blvd., Los Angeles.

Sirs: We certainly like reading Radio Life, but one complaint: the radio log is not always accurate. Would it be possible to get stations to send in corrected logs for each week?

Note: The quick shifting of events in radio often causes program changes at so last a minute that many a time a program comes to air without even station staffs aware of changes in time to apprise radio periodicals. Reader-listener Mrs. John C. Schobert may be interested in this: Daily newspapers contain an average of 2 errors per daily hundred loggings—Radio Life 3 per 100 weekly and Radio Life's nearest competitor for accuracy (a national magazine) provides 7 errors per 100 loggings per week.

Patricia Byrne, 616 So. Adams, Los Angeles.

Sirs: Could you help to return "Keeping Fit in Hollywood" to the air? Many have been benefited by this program.

Note: We will do what we can, Patricia Byrne.

Mrs. Clarence Peterson, 727 Columbia Ave., Los Angeles.

Sirs: Thank you for the order for the Junior Sun-Frez-Ett. I enjoyed the ice cream very much. We love reading Radio Life. I can hardly wait from one week to another as I read it from cover to cover.

H. G. Pierce, Olive View, California.

Sirs: One issue cluttered up with your (Buck Hathaway's) personal feud with FCC was enough. Now you're puerile and in bad taste. Is R. L. your toy or OUR magazine? Get out of politics lest you put R. L. on the rocks. It's been done before.

Note: All sorts of people make a world, thus greetings to reader-listener H. G. Pierce and an answer to his question: Radio Life is YOUR magazine. To a grateful heart do the editors take the sharp prodding of Mr. Pierce.

Elaine Ryan, Tujunga, California.

Sirs: You make the statement: "Shirer is no student of causes and effects." I ask you how a man with such an important position, as when he was head man of all European correspondents, could be so irresponsible? From the opinion of a good many people William Shirer is one of the best correspondents known. As to your reference to Mother Goose, maybe you ought to be reading such stories. They're interesting really.

Ed. Note: Agreed is Radio Life's editor with reader-listener Elaine Ryan. William Shirer is a top-flight foreign air-correspondent. In answer to Miss Ryan's question: No intent was made to say William Shirer was irresponsible. What was said was that 'Berlin Diary' is not an objective book. A writer could be a good reporter which William Shirer is, but few reporters have the faculty of analysis with which a book of socio-political importance should be loaded. The editor still fondly reads "West of the Moon", recites Mother Goose rhymes in happier moments.

ants. will even accept a Mother Goose spell-down challenge from Miss Ryan.

Mrs. Creta Walker, 211 Mira Mar Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Just to say "thank you" for the privilege of obtaining Radio Life each week when I buy Saturday groceries at Swenson's markets.

John C. Dahj, 6251 1/2 Temple Hill Drive, Los Angeles.

Sirs: I got to hand it to you mugs. With all the bilge-water that leaks up from radio and motion picture in the form of propaganda for the wares they air and screen, Radio Life sure turns garbage into flowers. For my 2 cents keep it up. Make Radio West twice, three times as long and don't lose your gutty way of tackling things. Some people get you wrong, I think. Most Americans

Radio Life in NEW YORK

NEW YORK CITY.—I doubt if there is another man in radio who has put his finger into as many different pies and pulled out as many successful plums, as Ted Collins. Ted's latest venture came to the fore this week when movie producer Alexander Korda announced that he has completed arrangements with him for the use of his vast mechanism set up to gauge public taste in entertainment. Using as a basis the fact that more than 30,000,000 persons have read Rudyard Kipling's "The Jungle Book," Collins will collaborate with Korda in estimating both the minimum and maximum popularity of the yarn as a screen play—a survey which is expected to cover a period of more than six months. Responsible for such widely heard shows as the Kate Smith Hour, Henry Aldrich, Abbott and Costello, and Claudia—and credited with the initial broadcasts of more than a score of songs that later became America's greatest hit tunes—Collins has organized and perfected a system of research as a measuring rod for projected radio programs, which has gained him recognition as one of the foremost popularity prophets in the amusement field.

RAMBLING IN RADIO.—In spite of persistent rumors, Ed Wynn will not do a radio show this fall. Nor has Jane Pickens any microphone plans—though the pair were rumored to be readying a show together. I spent an hour or so with them in the garden at 277 Park Avenue where they both have apartments and Janie admits she would like to do radio work if "the right spot comes along," but Ed hasn't a thought of returning. He leaves next week on a cross-country tour with his Broadway hit, "Boys and Girls Together" but beyond that, he has no plans . . . and speaking of the Wynns, that was young Keenan reminiscing at the NBC Soda Fountain with Graham McNamee about the days when he'd rush down to rehearsals to watch his dad go through the antics of the Fire Chief—Graham was Ed's stooge in those days, remember? . . . Announcer Paul Douglas and the cinema's Virginia Field have been doing the town up right since Virginia arrived here . . . ditto for bandleader Artie Shaw and the moneyed Barbara Bannister. . . Phil Baker's managers released the information weeks ago that the comedian was signed for a new fall series—and at an exorbitant figure. Why then, is he still auditioning for sponsors? . . . Local character actors and actresses are a little more than perturbed with the news that "Bringing Up Father" will be broadcast from the Coast when Agnes Moorehead who plays "Maggie" heads for Hollywood and a role in the new Orson Welles flicker. . . .

Program Changes This Week

Editor's Note: As rapidly as they are furnished by Log Editors of principal broadcasting networks and major western independents, complete program and time changes will be noted, week to week, in this section. Readers are informed, however that even noted changes may not hold true, because of broadcasting problems, and nearly overwhelming pressure of world affairs, to which the Radio industry, in interests of public service, sacrifices time, money and, in some cases, programs, that ideals of public service shall be maintained. "NP" means New Program. "NT" means New Time.

wind-helped planes in them as he scurries, nose-news-wrinkled, across the lands. But all top-flight news analysts are ready to do in emergency what John B. Hughes this week was reported to have done.

What Hughes did: Four-thirty a. m., Sunday, left Chicago after a day and night inspecting defense production plants and interviewing production executives after hours.

By telegraphic pre-arrangement, interviewed various local authorities and observers at airports across central western route to West Coast. Held interviews on board plane with a high army official and a governmental executive. Inspected two army bomber bases adjacent to airports.

Arrived in Portland, Oregon at 4 in afternoon to begin a series of interviews with local executives until 11 p. m.

Monday. Up at 5 a. m. to write broadcast on Oregon defense participation, to go on the air at 8 o'clock. Breakfast interview with Chamber of Commerce representatives. At 10:15 a broadcast, being interviewed for local listeners. At 12 noon, talk on progress of western aviation at Chamber of Commerce luncheon in honor of the 50th anniversary of United Airlines.

Two-thirty, a news commentary broadcast for the Don Lee Broadcasting System, Pacific Coast affiliate of Mutual. Three o'clock, a broadcast on another network, interviewing United Airlines president W. A. Patterson. Three-fifteen, a private interview with E. P. Hoyt, publisher of the Portland Oregonian, one of the best informed observers of Pacific Northwest activities, political and industrial.

Four o'clock, press conference with local reporters. Four-forty-five, Hughes leaves by plane for San Francisco, arriving at 8:15 and spends four hours recording a narrative for a motion picture short on the work of the famous Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children. Two fifty-five a. m., leaves by plane for Los Angeles, arriving just in time to rush to the studios of KLL and begin writing broadcast to go on the air again at 8 o'clock that morning.

Said Hughes, "That's just an ordinary routine. You should have caught me in Detroit."

Hitler Objectivized

By early last week official sentiments for war had been brought out into the public commons by the President in an unwontedly forceful talk to the nation, highlight of which was that America (the United States) was pledged to give all aid to the fight to end Hitlerian ambitions in Europe and his threats to

Welles Returns

Despite a conviction of radioists that majority of people prefer entertainment that is fleeting and non-taxing of mind, but long on transient emotionalism, fact remains there is a goodly sized body of Americans who lean far to the conservative left of a line whose opposite right is a decibelled admixture of corny tragedy, tear-jerking serial situations, comedies loaded with anciently creaking cliches.

To this left wing group of listeners CBS this week brought reason for it to sit snug-tight around radios this winter. Announced CBS: Orson Welles would be back on air September 15, would be heard in West from KNX from 6 to 6:30 p. m. for a new sponsor, Lady Esther cosmetic makers.

An emotional air rabble-rouser himself, Welles, deposed radio authorities, has never been guilty of kotows to neurotics without imagination. His rabble-rousing has been done with Mephistophelean dramatic cunning, of which in witness was cited the radio drama from which, spring-board-like, he jumped overnight to national fame a few years ago, after a few seasons of amazing experiments in the legitimate theatre with his Mercury Players who will appear with him in the CBS offering. Second exploit was last season's CBS' "His Honor, the Mayor" against which aging William Randolph Hearst directed his ire, less, so thought many, because of the air-drama but more on account of a picture (Citizen Kane) associated in the popular mind with the life of the publisher himself.

"Infinite variety" is goal of Welles in these new programs. He will participate as star, writer, director and producer, intends to exploit every worthwhile element of entertainment, drawing upon every field of artistic endeavor in blending music, comedy, drama, interviews, guest artists and other features in his first CBS series of broadcasts in 18 months.

stability everywhere. Not alone did the President talk. During the week isolationists and non-interventionists carried on their wide-open warfare of words against participation in what they insisted was still a local European affair. In the midst of verbal turmoil and hard-rung or crafty phrases from both sides the public waited the next in a parade of swift-moving unfoldments.

In Los Angeles Jay Moidel, a carrot-topped attorney, member of the liberal "Attorney's Club" of that city, and a speaker on regularly scheduled Bill of Rights program from KMTR, did his bit to unravel a current mystery:

Why has Hitler chosen to attack Russia, second of his arch-enemies in Europe?

Radioed Moidel: Hitler is invading Russia . . . for these reasons:

"1. To divide American sentiment—by the invasion of Russia,—knowing the traditional American hatred of everything Communism stands for and represents.

"2-A. To cripple American aid to Great Britain by attempting to make America believe he has engaged in a 'holy crusade' against Communism and that if America aids Russia Uncle Sam is preventing Hitler from stamping out Communism. If enough public sentiment can be created against helping Russia—and England is pledged to assist Russia—the flow of American aid to England will diminish.

"2-B. Hitler hopes that with enough sentiment created against helping Britain assist Russia in her defense against the German invasion American aid to Britain would diminish and England would become consistently weaker while Germany gained in strength.

"3. Germany would gain strength—at the same time England became consistently weaker—under this plan—because of Hitler's acquisition, not of all Russia but merely of the Ukraine where he will get enough wheat, oil and ore to carry on indefinitely his campaign for conquest of the world.

"Hitler's clever propagandists are also telling the American people that:

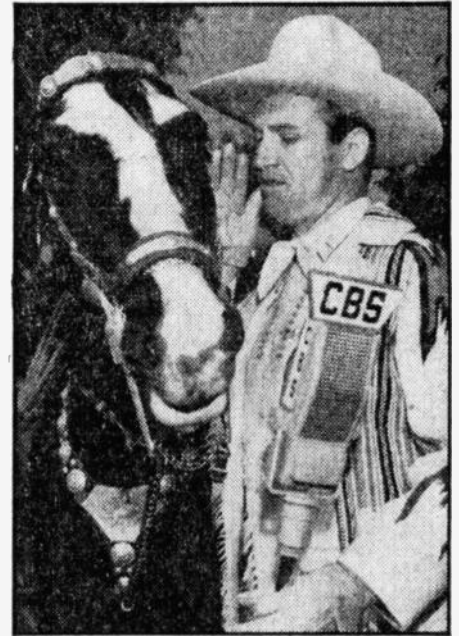

"He has been diverted from his invasion of England by a tremendous new war front.

"The fact is that he has only increased the length of his battlelines in the final drive against Britain. He has no intention of trying to conquer Russia. The great Russian Soviet would only be a liability to him. He proposes to take the Ukraine and let the rest of Russia starve. Perhaps into the slavery other conquered peoples have experienced in Poland, Holland, Belgium, France, Greece and other countries fallen in the onward march of Hitlerism against humanity. Advancing eastward he proposes to take over the Dardanelles, encircle Turkey and render her helpless, attack the Suez Canal from the side."

World Eavesdropper

Eaves of the earth are the dense atmospheric layers from which surface lights are reflected, against which bounce heaven-bound radio waves to be bounced back in multi-leagued steps to earth and into the nation's radio sets.

UP FROM RAVIA. Little town in Southwest came Gene Autry to loom as one to take the place of the revered late Will Rogers.

Little that is bounced up to and from these eaves of the world from places of origin escapes listeners in a vine-covered cottage near Bellmore, Long Island. The ears are high-powered short-wave receivers, listeners crack technical staff-members of NBC's eastern listening post, companion of the company's recently established Western post situated in bustling San Fernando Valley near Los Angeles in California.

Delays caused by censorship, garbled accounts of humanity-effecting events abroad, so hampered work of news and radio broadcasting that "eavesdropping" has come to play an important part in national news gathering.

Inside the listening post a battery of highly sensitive shortwave receivers, labelled "England," "Italy," "Germany," are designed to do their job of overseas listening. Location, far from Manhattan's steel-ribbed towers, offers ideal reception conditions.

Jules Van Item is responsible for the shortwave monitoring staff. He reports to A. A. Schechter, head of the News and Special Events Division of the National Broadcasting company. Van Item was born in Holland and is now an American. He has lived abroad, principally in Germany, France, Rumania, Hungary, Spain, Portugal, Argentina and Uruguay, and speaks a dozen languages fluently.

Because monitors must distill real news through a haze of atmospheric difficulties and propaganda, they must have special qualifications. More than a mere smattering of a minimum four languages is required, in order to distinguish propaganda from policy trends, news from lies. They must be able to write (preferably from newspaper experience), have a European education or have lived abroad. Most monitors are young—better to stand strain of eight-hour-a-day Johnny-on-the-spot routines.

These Four Men!

Every alert American, world citizen, knows that England's Churchill, the United States' Roosevelt are two men pitted ideologically against Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini.

What few know, however, are backgrounds of the five men who in their ways have done the most in this century to do one of two things: (1) to destroy all ways and evidence of the life democratic, and (2) to preserve and strengthen the processes of democracy fast coming, so experts contend, into maturity.

Last week, then, to background the careers of four of these (the exception, Mussolini), to explain the manners by which they arrived upon their currently expressed destinies, NBC, through C. L. Menser, newly appointed national production chief, announced:

Living biographies of the four most important men in the world today—President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Premier Josef Stalin, Reichschancellor Adolf Hitler—to be presented by the National Broadcasting Company over NBC's Red Network (KFI, 7:30 p. m.) Sundays, September 7, 14, 21 and 28, rebroadcasts to the world over international short-wave stations WRCA and WNBI.

Entitled "These Four Men," the series will be designed to deal objectively with the human elements in the lives of the characters. Their backgrounds, their parentage, their development through the years and the world forces which made them what they are, will be described in detail.

Idea for "These Four Men" came from Menser and Phillips Carlin, Red Network program manager, in discussion of what new and outstanding service radio could render audiences in a critical time.

Feeling was that the public was hungry for reasons why Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin and Hitler hold attention of the world. Soon the general plan for the broadcasts was on paper and radio; telegraph, telephone and cable lines hummed to obtain necessary authorization and services of most outstanding biographers, dramatists, stars, directors, musical conductors.

Too late came the announcement of

Natalie Huribut

Mrs. Y. Johnston

The Great (Hal Peary) Gilderleeve in act of proving that the Fair Sex—in this case Lurene Tuttle—by force or stealth must appreciate his distracting personality. Giving somewhat indifferent aid to the harassed Lurene are, left to right, Len Levinson, Great Gilderleeve writer, Bill Byrd, radio columnist, Hal Peary himself, in center back. Buck Hathaway, radio columnist, the series for inclusion in Radio Life, September 7-13, week in which the Life of Churchill was portrayed. On Sundays to come, the 14th, 21st, 28th, will be aired the lives in this successive order: Stalin to be played by Paul Muni; Hitler to be aired indirectly through the "Rebecca" technique of identifying characters through auxiliary characters and situations; Roosevelt to be played by veteran actor Bill Adams.

Notable, thought Menser, was fact that this is first time in Washington history permission has been given another person to simulate the voice and impersonate the character of the President of the United States.

KFI, 7:30 p.m. Sun.

The Ravia Kid

The eyes of Gene Autry are modest-blue, his hair taffy-colored as a honey-based candy-pull and his frame ambles easily up to six feet. His staunchest friends are those who probably have never seen him as his richly-timbered voice rolls in on them through radios on Sundays when, as foreman of "Melody Ranch," "somewhere in the West," he gathers a "gang" about him, becomes the melodic moving spirit of a 25-minute program of western songs and stories.

In 1929 Gene Autry punched telegraph keys and the rumps of winter-range wild steers being roundupped for their spring transformation into steaks and roasts for the nation. In those days in way-stations, around campfires on the range Gene Autry sang, plunked a guitar, told stories, became known as the Yodelling Kid from Ravia. To Ravia in Oklahoma came one day late great American homespun humorist, Will Rogers, to tell Autry a future waited him in entertainment.

The Ravia Kid packed meagre belongings, drifted to Broadway to bug-eye metropolitan station managers as he pleaded for a chance in dusty Stetson, shabby guitar, range clothes, running-down high heels. Most advised him to go home, start humbly, come back later.

On Ravia's KVOO Gene Autry launched program called "The Yodelling Cowboy," an acorn that burgeoned after Ravia rootings until the shade of achievement's oaks spreads today far beyond Ravia's sun-hot dustiness.

After Ravia Autry emceed National Barn Dance, conducted a "Conqueror Record" program for nation-ranging merchandisers Sears, Roebuck & Company.

Most Autry "aficiandos" think of Autry as a motion picture star who entered radio. It was the other way round. In 1940 makers of a chewing gum—Wrigley corporation—brought the Melody Ranch idea to him. He was then a much bellettered film cowboy with authentic up-bringsings in lore and practices of the range-lands.

Gum-chewing, soft-spoken is Gene Autry today, pungent the spiritual relationship between him and the late Rogers who first encouraged him. To Autry last week as his Melody Ranch program brought nostalgic song and music to listeners, came signal honor: radio folk hailed him as the "West's Ambassador to the nation," the nation east, north and west of the Pacific.

Commercial Television

As the week drew to a close Philco Radio and Television corporation had securely riveted its position as owners of the first American television station (W3NE) to go on air under license granted for 60 days, starting September 1 in Philadelphia, the granting of which was news by the Federal Communications Commission a near fortnight ago.

Philco has been engaged in television research and experimentation since 1926, its work in this field having resulted in several contributions to television. A part it played was in obtaining high fidelity and detail in television pictures. When 343 lines were considered generally acceptable, the company pioneered transmission of 441-line pictures in demonstration at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, January, 1937. When 441-line pictures were widely used, it emphasized importance of still greater detail for public benefit. In approving 525-line pictures as standard for television in the regulations it issued last May, the Federal Communications Commission formally recognized progress the industry had made in this brand of research.

Important was Philco's contribution to development of alternate-carrier synchronizing. Field test of this method of synchronization demonstrated a five-fold increase in synchronizing signal from same transmitter power. In opinion of engineers, alternate-carrier synchronizing will extend appreciably the effective service area of any television station employing it, make possible trouble-free reception in areas where the picture was formerly destroyed by static from such everyday devices as vacuum cleaners, kitchen mixers, electric razors, doorbells and automobiles.

KATE SMITH

Here we see Kate as behind-the-scenes-folk know her — jovial, toothsome, amply lovely. Center is she with Ted Collins, her business manager. The duo is one of the smoothest in Radio. Below, head-dressed as a Shoshone or Blackfoot Princess—or something—a Tribal honor, one among many honors the Great Smith girl has won. Fans look for her return to Columbia's gay air season September 19

Pre-Casts and Pre-Views

In this department are reviewed and commented upon what have been judged to be most likely programs of interest for the week in which Radio Life is dated. It does not pretend to be all-inclusive. Reader-listeners are, as always, referred to daily highlights for other subjects of interest. It strives to be but another service to readers intelligently seeking extra aids to better listening.

THE FAMILY HOUR—Musical.

HEARD: KNX, Sundays, 1 p.m. (45 min.)
CAST: Gladys Swarthout, Deems Taylor, Ross Graham, Al Goodman and orchestra, chorus of mixed voices.

SPONSOR: Prudential Insurance Company.

RADIO LIFE RATING: Superlative.

This program is one of most sensibly devised in the musical field. Its appeal carries from the very young to rocking chair oldsters of the listening family. Little need be said of Diva Swarthout. She remains in excellent and entrancing voice, with Goodman backing the voice effectively. Well known and loved musical selections range from Beethoven's Ninth Symphony to such melodic contraptions as the "Hut Sut." Keen-witted Deems Taylor does a part in the manner of his appearance in the Disney spectacle "Fantasia." Melodies are supplemented with dramatizations of stories which music imparts or which inspired the composers. Ross Graham, male foil to Diva Swarthout does much to enlarge the captivating impressions of this program.

ROMANCE OF THE RANCHOS—Drama.

HEARD: KNX, Sundays, 6:30 p.m. (30 min.)
CAST: Frank Graham and others.
SPONSOR: Title Insurance and Trust Company, Los Angeles.

RADIO LIFE RATING: Good.

Frank Graham in a new series of dramatic narrations linking moderns with vividly lived days of California's Spanish Occupation. The plays tell the stories of the great ranchos granted settlers by the King of Spain, from which most land titles in the state derive. Graham describes scenes of rancho life and history which are dramatized by leading radio actors and actresses. The September 14 program deals with "Rancho Santa Gertrudes," now Santa Fe Springs.

THAT BREWSTER BOY—Drama Serial.

HEARD: KFI, Mon., 5:30 p.m.
CAST: Eddie Firestone Jr., and others.
SPONSOR: Quaker Oats.
RADIO LIFE RATING: Fair.

This program is a slight cut above the usual run of those dealing with the daily lives of members of an American family. Below standards of One Man's Family and The Aldrich Family stories, it nevertheless has interesting moments in recounting the movement of an American youth through his times and under the aegis of his familiar Lares and Penates. It does give a transient impression of proving something about young manhood and womanhood of today.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER SPEAKS—Commentation.

HEARD: KFVB, Mon.-Fri., 9:45 p.m.
PRINCIPAL: Eleanor Wilson McAdoo.
SPONSOR: Budget Finance Company, Los Angeles.

RADIO LIFE RATING: Good.

Eleanor Wilson McAdoo should be on a major network station, but gratitude may be expressed to her present station and sponsor for bringing this charming and simple-hearted daughter of World War I President, the late Woodrow Wilson, to the air in thought-provocative analysis of the world of yesterday in relation to stirring events of the hour.

Virtually born in the theory and practice of statesmanship of the American order, Mrs. McAdoo was swirled up in the swift dream of First War developments, was a naive but intelligent worshipper at her great father's mental feet. By virtue of a native and quickened intelligence she has developed a faculty of unclouding the troubled present by tracing today's happenings to their roots in the post-War I world. By far and large she ranks among the finest of radio commentators on a subject with which few are competent to grapple. KFVB and sponsor are to be respected for their service to the public, albeit this departmentalist still avers her greater service lies with more distance-ranging, audience-commanding networks.

THE THIN MAN—Mystery Drama.

HEARD: KFI, Tues., 8 p.m. (30 min.)
CAST: Claudia Morgan and Lester Damon with supporting others.

SPONSOR: Woodbury Face Cream.

RADIO LIFE RATING: Good.

An air-revival of those interesting motion-pictured dramas in which Bill Powell, Myrna Loy and the dog, Asta, awakened to mysteries and solved them with a combination of sterling dramatic situations, highlighted by sophisticated lines. Miss Morgan and Mr. Damon, with the canned assistance of Asta, do excellent work in air-equalling the flicker versions. Each drama is independent but connected serially.

BRINGING UP FATHER—Comedy.

HEARD: KECA, Tues., 7 p.m. (30 min.)
CAST: Agnes Moorehead as "Maggie"; Nell O'Malley as "Jiggs"; and Helen Shields as daughter "Nora."

SPONSOR: Lever Brothers.

RADIO LIFE RATING: Fair

An air version of the daily newspaper comic strip on the slapstick situations arising in the life of Maggie, Jiggs and beautiful Nora, this program burlesques what are projected as everyday family impasses and situations. Rated and included as diversional entertainment because there is laughter in it, smatterings of pathos and listening time not mis-spent.

ARMY CAMP NEWS—Variety.

HEARD: KECA, Wed., 8:15 p.m.
CAST: Hank McCune and others, including Skitch Henderson and lovely Martha Tilton, singer.

SPONSOR: None (sustaining).

RADIO LIFE RATING: Good.

CINDERELLA Dons a Radio Slipper

Discouraged Kathleen Fitz Wrote a Letter. It Opened Her Door to Radio!

By Marcia Sinclair

Cinderella of Radio Is She!

CINDERELLA'S story is not a fairy tale, for it actually happened to someone we know. Instead of a forlorn, bedraggled little girl sobbing by the cinders, there was young Kathleen Fitz; instead of two horrid step-sisters and an abusive step-mother, there was a mean cold that laid Kathleen flat in bed for three weeks; instead of wistful standing by while the others swished to the ball in their new gowns, our Cinderella was stranded in New York with only $15 between her and an indifferent world. In our modern version, it was a gracious godfather who came on the scene to change the story and make Kathleen "happy ever after" (we hope).

Weak from her illness and discouraged to the nth degree, Kathleen penned a note to Walter Huston, who was starring in the New York show, "Dodsworth," and whom she had met once at a very large party. She understood that the show was going on the road and that the metropolitan cast might need an actress to play Huston's stage daughter. Asking for an appointment, Kathleen posted her missive special delivery, then waited in hope and trembling.

The wand waved. Kathleen was summoned to the theater the following afternoon. Huston eared her story attentively, patted her on the head, dismissed her.

Just about then the coach almost turned into a fat pumpkin. Kathleen felt overwhelmingly disconsolate as she trailed into a Mayflower Donut Shop and mechanically ordered a cup of coffee. In miserable gulps its warmth slid down her tight throat. Then she dragged back to the hotel.

In the lobby she was paged to the telephone by a call from Mr. Huston. In her excitement, she literally fell into the booth and dimly heard him ask her to be at the theater that evening to read for him between acts.

In the fairy tale Cinderella was the belle of the ball and wed the prince. In our story, Kathleen received the part, completed the last four weeks of the New York run, and traveled 16 weeks in the eastern seaboard road-show edition. Then she was cast in "Three Men on a Horse" in New York, "Boy Meets Girl" in Chicago, played the lead for Norman Bel Geddes in "Iron Men", and smash-succeeded for two years on Broadway opposite Eddie Albert with the original "Brother Rat" company.

After playing at Elitch Gardens, Denver, in the summer of 1938, she visited California. As Kathleen prepared to wing back to Manhattan, a query from her mother signaled a stop light. "Why don't you try radio?" Mrs. Fitz suggested.

Kathleen did and out-auditioned 17 other women for a part in "Brent House." Subsequent were roles in "One Man's Family" (she was the red-tressed divorcee who nearly involved Clifford) Lux Theater, "I Love a Mystery", "I Want a Divorce", "Unlimited Horizons", "Stars Over Hollywood", "I Was There", and "Those We Love." Currently she is being heard in "Forecast" and "Hollywood Premiere." Last December, when Irene Rich's plane was grounded, Kathleen substituted for la Rich on "Dear John" and gracious Irene, cutting in from Chicago, openly thanked Miss Fitz for pinch-hitting.

We think Kathleen is the exception to the trite description, "beautiful, but dumb." She's beautiful and plenty smart. Graduate of Stanford, M. A. from Wisconsin, with work partially completed for her Ph. D., Kathleen planned to make psychology her profession and the theater as her hobby. Before she earned her break in "Dodsworth", she taught in a nursery school for problem children, sang with Anson Weeks' orchestra, and played locally in "Reunion in Vienna" and "Dinner at Eight."

Archaeology is her hobby and she delves voraciously into the ancient civilizations of Mexico, Peru, Mesopotamia, the American Indians and the Mayans. Her idea of seventh heaven is time unlimited in the Metropolitan Museum. Sixth heaven is symphonies and rhumba-ing; fifth heaven mezzanine is biographies and non-fiction, mystery stories; runner-up is going everywhere by plane. Also in higher bracket classification are swimming and knitting (Kathleen clicked off seven gift sweaters last Yule). She dotes on ice-cream cones; makes her home with mother in Los Angeles; goes out with Eddie Albert and with Al Capp (Kathleen says he and she are friends because he doesn't listen to her on the air and she never looks at Li'l Abner).

Our Cinderella prefers simple clothes, with the accent on print dresses and suits, never wears a hat. "After two years, I've finally gone Hollywood", she proclaimed. "Explain further, please", we requested. "Well", Kathleen admitted, "I have just bought a pair of slacks!"

Happy Jack

Happy Jack Turner's record of only two missed broadcasts in 20 years on the air almost became three missed broadcasts the other day when the train on which he was returning from La Crosse, Wis., for his NBC show, was an hour late arriving in Chicago. An electrical storm had upset the railroad signal system.

Thousands Of Crabs

Mutual System soundmen scratched their heads, made bleak looks and soured generally one day last week. Reason for their depression: A script called coyly for this—"The sound of thousands of crabs scuttling across rocks on a barren island. Add the sound of two men crushing the crabs with clubs."

Mutual's technicians solved the problem thus:—

Their fingernails scratching on the leather top of a stool made noise of hosts of approaching crabs. To simulate sound of two men crushing crabs, they soaked paper towels, placed them on the floor, put a regular peach basket on top of the mass, smacked it all with clubs cracking through the peach basket to make noise of cracking crab shells. Squash of the wet paper towels underneath made the sound of smashed crabs.

Barber Airs Series

For the third consecutive year Gillette has elected Red A. Barber of WOR, New York and Bob Elson of WGN, Chicago, two of the country's best known play-by-play baseball announcers, to describe the World Series, which will be heard once again exclusively over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Sixty Seconds

By VIOLET MOSS

AT FIRST, his mind seemed completely blank. He'd once heard that wasn't possible. Yet, for a second or two, his brain seemed paralyzed. He couldn't focus his thoughts. But then, how could a man concentrate when that cold gleaming metal was staring him in the face? He tried not to look at it and instead met the uncompromising eyes of the man opposite him—and cold perspiration broke out on his forehead. He must stall, he thought desperately, but how? The other's grim expression plainly said that he would stand for no tricks.

"Well,"—the man's crisp voice cut into the silence so suddenly that he almost jumped—"where are they?"

Where are what? For a moment, he couldn't remember. Oh, yes, the jewels. Where are the jewels? What should he answer? So much depended on this. It was awful to realize that he might lose everything now, after he'd worked so hard to get this far.

In the past, he'd sometimes imagined himself in such a situation, but had always fancied he could carry it off lightly, without breaking. Yet here he was trembling, frightened, every moment seeming an hour. He wondered if the man who watched him could guess how he felt; if he noticed that his knees were shaking, his teeth chattering.

Coward, he said to himself, brace up. Plenty of other people have been in spots like this, and have pulled out of them by quick thinking. But somehow he couldn't get control of his mind. He was overcome with fear. He knew he should say something—anything—rather than stand here petrified. Yet he was afraid to talk. This way, he at least had a few seconds left. He was clinging to time.

Then the man opposite moved impatiently, and he realized the crucial moment had come. He must speak now—or this was the end. He wet his lips nervously, and suddenly something clicked in his mind. He remembered a newspaper article he'd read. He knew exactly what to say.

The weak sound of his voice surprised him. "Most of the Russian Crown Jewels are now in a New York art gallery." Dimly, he heard a burst of applause.

"Absolutely right!" The other man spoke cheerfully into the microphone. "And the answer to that final question makes you the winner of tonight's quiz. Here's your $25, sir."

He left the studio, mopping his brow, and beaming. A radio quiz winner!

BETTY HILL'S SOCKO SAGA!

The Story Of A Gal Who Clicked Soundly On Her First Audition

THE PROGRAM "This Is Judy Jones" performs weekly miracle in resurrecting the dead jokes, situations and clichés that long ago were believed to have breathed their last. Yet it is a funny and entertaining program, albeit Grandfather remembers his grandfather telling the story about the fellow who painted himself in a corner of the floor; remembers, also, how funny the fellow looked when he slipped off the ladder and had the paint can fall neatly over his head.

Perhaps life's everyday events, like history, repeat themselves and what was a laugh-maker once is a laugh-maker again. For the fact is the bony old skeletons of the revived jokes and situations contrive to pad the program along, make for pivotal points around which Betty Hill, radio's newest girl star, plucked from a Hollywood Nitery where she was singing, Irene Tedrow as her temperamental Billie Burke-ish mother and Ben Alexander, as Judy's (Betty Hill's) boy friend, revolve in something quite different from a set of old humor fabrications.

And this something different might be called the "socko-saga of a weird but wonderful wisp, who's been where she's going." And she, of course is Judy Jones, a part into which Betty Hill went with all the aplomb of a veteran microphonist, coupled to her own naturalness, a zest for living that expressed itself in something more than mile-a-minute dialog.

Betty Hill, with hair like mountain-see honey, brown eyes, is cute and 5 feet 4 inches of proof that it doesn't make any difference how many people are crowding the escalators leading up to the height-misted sign "Success." All you have to do is be yourself with some stuff to give and get on. If nothing else the ride will do one good. Which was nearly the way it happened.

First, though, she was standing out there in the middle of the floor at Lindy's on Wilshire in Los Angeles. A spotlight was warmly bathing her young throat and eager face with the halo-like hair framing it. And she was singing! Singing because it's fun to sing and maybe somebody'll notice. And, of course, you couldn't help noticing her, nor help listening to that rich contralto that was just knocking the boogies out of all the woogies. And when she trilled out on one of those sweet sentimentals it was to be expected that heavy-bosomed dowagers, squired by tired-eye-circled gents

Radio Life Lines

By "BUCK" HATHAWAY

Evolution of a Radio Program: It starts with an advertising agency which wants a client who wants to go on air. Agency gets the client and now needs a show. It goes looking for one. Scores of programs are auditioned, a show is selected. Then actors and actresses are auditioned for good casting for the client to hear. (He hasn't heard anything yet.) Show is presented to client. Client passes on show. Show goes on air. Show reviews appear in trade papers. Finale is that of a lost-pound account executive stopping at the corner drugstore, muttering: "Give me an aspirin, please."

Thing That'll Never Happen: Ginny Simms leaving the Kay Kyser program. My guess despite fact it's announced Ginny will leave band October 1 to devote full time to Pixies.

Ransom Sherman (Hap Hazard) comes up with a way to make a home demonstration of how it feels to talk into a mike. Have a friend hold a French phone parallel with your body, receiver end down in palm of his hand, mouth-piece at top, a few inches from your mouth. Speaking thus without physical contact with the instrument, you get the same insecure sensation the "mike" gives.

Evolution of a Commentator: William Shirer, CBS ace commentator, wrote in Berlin Diary, May 7, 1937: "Fear I'll never make a broadcaster." Written after his broadcast on German reaction to Hindenburg disaster. Same Diary, September 5, 1937: "I keep thinking of all those CBS vice-presidents sniffing at what they heard." From Radio headlines, August 12, 1941: "William Shirer signed by CBS for 52 weeks as commercially sponsored commentator." Time Marched On!

Notes on a Couple of Girls: Just learned why Maryeda Green (story on her this issue) hasn't been heard out here (West) . . . She has been interview-shy, which, however, doesn't dignify producers and directors who ought to know what makes good radio in a character actress. On her good friend, Lurene Tuttle: One of the most competent of radio actresses and a jitterbug, I hear. Collects records by the Dorseys, Duke Ellington, Goodman . . . Hear her on "The Great Gildersleeve" . . . what an ingenious ingenue. . . .

Parks Johnson and Wally Butterworth Posers: (1) How many feathers on a hen? (2) How many towns in Pennsylvania? (3) Can fresh water fish live in salt water? (4) Is it possible to square a triangle? (5) Do you think the man who brags he is boss at home lies about other things, also? (6) Who first used "God Save The King"? (7) How long does it take a snail to crawl a mile? (8) If a person is consistently inconsistent, is that person consistent or inconsistent? . . .

Add Sad Ironies of Life: Harry Kronman, Hollywood Premiere writer, has life-longed for a redheaded girl to go sweet on. He found her in Rosella Towne, a natural auburn-ovely. Just the other day she dyed her hair—brunette. . . .

They're Bugeyed About This: The superman of radio who's like a flame to fluttering moths of femininity. Found himself almost inextricably mixed up with four sweet gals, all of whom thought they were the "onliest only." . . . Then he fell in love—deep-dyed-in-woolish kind of love—with a gal in the script department of a network station. Had to unwriggle from the others. He invited them all to his apartment, left door open. They arrived one by one, announced themselves as his "onliest only." . . . When he arrived his problem was solved. There were no girls waiting. . . . Funny how things get around.

Fine Art of Conversation: Most actors, writers, producers and composers in radio are as full of clichés as hounds with fleas. Milton Berle, in town for Mutual's Three Ring Time with Charlie Laughton, reports these gleaned from opening remarks of radio intellectuals in Hollywood bistros: "Glad ta see yuh, kid." . . . "How yuh been, chum?" "Swell, fellah Howzit wi' you?" "Leinmee congrats yuh, guy, yuh look terrific." "Thass wha' yuh think!"

Betty In Pomona: Well, still waiting, habe?

Answers to Parks and Wally: 8000 feathers on an average hen. . . . One. Bloomsburg. All the rest are boroughs or cities. . . . Answer unknown. . . . With the aid of a good lawyer. . . . Who knows? . . . Samuel introducing Saul. Samuel 10:24. . . . 44 days making no stops in a day of 24 hours. . . . (That's my answer, I paced a snail when they said it was "anybody's guess.") . . . Have you stopped beating your wife? . . .

Note To The Baroness Jeanette DeChavannes:— Yours is the most engaging accented voice in Radio, and you should be selling Gallo Wine by the Gall-owns (by Golly). . . . At least, you've made me a mildly bibulous fan of Tawny Port by Gallo. . .

Subdivision Names in Radio: Bert Parks, Rex Beach, Veronica Lake.

Closing Thought: The best way to take life is in little doses. Too much of it will kill one.

WHAT PRICE GLORY? To be found out over NBC, September 28 when Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe come together again in Radio's version of the famed motion picture play.

AND BOB HOPE, of course, September 23 the Pontiff of Peppodent returns with new situations, lines, gags and all around fun.

NOW ON AIR is Eddie Cantor, whose "Time To Smile" program comes back with renewed and freshened promise of an interesting winter season for this affectionately regarded comic and his listeners.

The Lady Broadcasts

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's weekly series of comments on the news, beginning Sunday, Sept. 28, on the NBC-Blue Network, will be carried over the most extensive web of stations ever arranged on that network for a quarter-hour program. There will be two live broadcasts, the repeat airing to the Pacific Coast being heard from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m., KECA.

Lombardo Tour Ends

Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians, heard every Saturday at 7 p. m. over the Columbia network, will finish up a whirlwind five-weeks tour of one-night dance and concert dates on September 24th.

KNX, 7 p. m. Sat.

Several readers have written for the new Brandywine Mushroom folder. It describes 17 ways to serve these delicious tid-bits. A postcard to Radio Life, 1029 W. Washington will bring it.

MAD AS A MARCH HARE, but as canny as a Scot is Henry Morgan. He has refined technic of satirical fun-poking at sponsors and programs to point where a witty insult pays off in the merchandising end.

HERE'S MORGAN, Puck of Radio

What's Dignity? Nuts
With Dash of Ironic
Sauce Says This Guy

By Kindred Bent

IN A BUSINESS WHERE the cliché is a Prince Consort of the Royal House of Humor and the dessicated remains of yesterday's jokes are often objects of glib—and, as often—unfunny worship, Henry Morgan is a precocious jester for whom radio's sacred cows are just so many big and little sponsors, traditions and customs, rigged out in the cheap finery of self-adulation, self-importance.

In less words, Henry Morgan, all there really is to Mutual's "Here's Morgan," makes fun by poking fun at people who take things and themselves too seriously.

Morgan is the kind of guy who is reasonably convinced that if you take 500 drooling phrases to point up the virtues of "Bubbling Blubber, the Soap with the Frantic Foam," the phrases won't make the blubber or the foam any more frantic—and one might as well say so.

Sponsors don't like this sort of thing, but there are always sponsors waiting to pay him up to $300 a week when, as it often happens, one of them cannot stand the insults they theoretically believe Morgan is paid by them not to make over air.

Morgan has learned to do for cash what many a person in radio wishes he could muster up courage to do: Lay a swift verbal haymaker to the chin-whiskers of that school of commercial artists which believes that repetition is the life of trade, that the best way to a sponsor's heart—if not the public's pocketbooks—is to spread on the old salve in sufficient quantities to make the average listener sprain thumb and forefinger tuning the sponsor and his commercial gems off the air.

Morgan started his career on New York's WOR. For a time he did routine announcing, but there grew within him gradually an inward pressure. It threatened to burst his mental seams. What gripped him was the almost reverential way in which he was supposed to intone the blessings to humanity various commercially sponsored products were supposed to be.

For instance: "If you got to use soap it might as well be this one. Soap's soap, folks."

Worried sponsors brought him on the carpet. He was wrong, they contended. Soap wasn't soap when it was their soap. Their soap was . . .

"Yeah, I know," he interrupted, "your soap's the compressed elixir of life. It turns a back-alley Sally into a Park Avenue beauty. If you had a bottle of mayonnaise handy you could eat it for a salad. But on the other hand, friends, your soap is soap and soap's like what I told the folks: 'It's soap, folks.'"

Of course, you couldn't do anything with a fellow like that so Henry Morgan looked for another sponsor. He's never had much difficulty getting one. And the reason is not hard to find. Anybody who can attract attention as easily and winningly as this radio screwball must help a product sell even though he pokes fun at it. He takes the public into a confidence in which the sponsors themselves share. And this confidence? Maybe it's a shrewd guess that most people know that there are just so many standard ingredients for everything and anything. And words alone won't add to any product what isn't there, nor will fancy labels or handsomely pictorialized advertising.

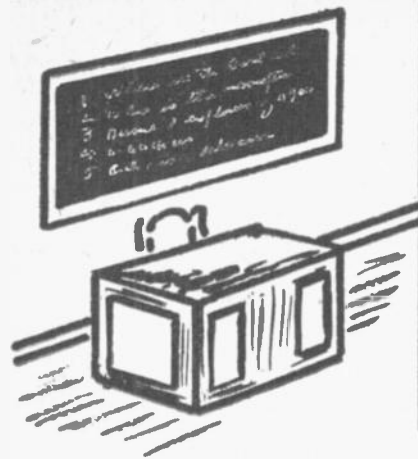

Maybe Henry Morgan (who was born Van Ost) was born with an oversized spleen. He might have developed into a caustic sourpuss who took his own opinions too seriously. Instead, with canny good sense, he turned a natural resentment against overstatement into a humorous character. This character, as you hear him on the air, vents his spleen by making capital of the statement, and fun for the listeners who, quite likely, share his intelligent disapproval of broadcasting's heavy-larded hokey.

As such he is a quickening tonic to increasing listeners. They send him letters by the hundreds. Over the air he promises to answer personally all letters that he gets, "provided," he explains, "that I answer only those that slide down a banister after I throw them all upstairs." He often invites listeners to his commercially sponsored programs to tune him out if they don't like him.

"There are," he states with laughable frankness, "a lot of other programs on at this time that are as good as I am."

Legend has grown up fast around this young fellow who has been in radio but a short time as time goes. Of legends

From Classroom to Stage Was a Dream That She Realized!

By Carl Hailing

THE day Maryeda Green (born Boyd) was born, sunshine hung as a golden veil over the wheat-blessed Iowa, province of stalwart pioneers, and one of the strong handles to the American Bread basket.

The elder and paternal Boyd handed out cigars to the males of LeMars, Iowa, and hied himself off to the grain elevators, after making sure that everything was all right with mama Boyd. Conscientious Iowans with religion deeply invested in their daily lives, the parent Boyds envisioned the hazel-eyed Maryeda as a contribution to the advancement of the state in which they lived. Knowledge was the thing that made a state and people great and those to whom the Lord had bequeathed hard-won privileges must take unto themselves the advancement of knowledge. Thus it was that Maryeda Green, in later years to emerge as one of America's fine actresses—to play hard-bitten female roles with a verve and laugh-making suggestion of such characters' implicit profanity—was born in rebellion.

"The folks wanted me to be a school teacher," said this comely, healthily alert American girl. "Dad insisted that education was the whole end of living, that to be a teacher was acceptance of God's Will."

Maryeda accepted this provincial dictate long enough to romp through LeMars' primary and high-schools, to be admitted to Iowa State Teachers College, there to spend a year only to be stirred with feverish dissent against a future circumscribed by wheat-billowing fields, tow-heads absorbing lethargically the three R's, bucolic cross-roads soirees, the winter sleigh-rides, summer picnics, harvest bees—all of which, Maryeda confesses, "were wonderful when seen in the perspective of years, but hard to reconcile as a complete life for a girl who had begun to dream of the stuff out of which is fashioned the Bernhardt's of this world." She laughs, a high, tinkly and melodious laugh and pokes fun at herself: "What a call I have to drag in Bernhardt!"

Call? Maybe not, maybe yes, Maryeda

MARYEDA GREEN

--Girl From Iowa!

Green. You're not the world's best actress, certainly, nor its most widely known, but who can laugh off your 14 years of lead-playing stock, can forget—if they saw you—your work in Linger Longer Letty, Twin Beds, Baby Mine, the Girl of the Golden West that had them jamming in at the Old Belmont in Los Angeles when the Western theatre was roaring, at its vociferous and entertaining top?

Well, she would try to do a hinterland version of the Immortal Sarah. There was more to education than teaching school in the village, and towns of the Bread Basket. Entertainment was an education, for it taught and gave people a respite from realities, sharpened an appreciation of and made for a disposition of the problems of everyday living.

She stood at the blackboard this fine summery day some years back. The drone of kids' voices in group recitation fell on the air like the wing-hum of swarming bees. The droning gave way to the roar of Metropolis, to auditorium-shaking applause, the full stridency of the world in action. She wanted to be where she wasn't. And where she wasn't was where the gods of the Lyceum smiled or frowned on pretensions of their acolytes. Emulating Columbia University's famed George Santayana who looked out a window of a classroom, turned to his bug-eyed class, and said:

"I'm sorry, gentlemen. This class is dismissed. I have an appointment with April." . . . Maryeda turned about, walked out of the room and to the principal said:

"I'm sorry. I'm through teaching this minute. Somehow I feel I have a rendezvous with another destiny."

The rendezvous was with Elias Day, great American teacher who, from mid-

West Chautauquas as a spring-board, plumped many a contemporary American performer to fame. After a year with Elias Day at Chicago's Lyceum Arts Conservatory, Day, who was rarely given to warm-hearted approval, said:

"It'll be your fault, Maryeda, if you don't make out in the best traditions of the art."

Perhaps there is a trace of inhibitions loosened in the fact that the demure miller's daughter elected to play, has done her best work in roles of hard-boiled women. Outwardly and characteristically she is still as sweet as Iowa corn, a product which she did not carry with her into her career, not this glittery Babe who has brought an essential simplicity to motion picture character parts, commercial photography, modeling, and a radio-dramatic internship with Jacksonville's far-ranging WMT.

The miller's daughter is in Hollywood now, and Radio can't be far around the corner. That's my guess, for radio is no static (pardon—no pun intended) business. It is fast-paced and alert and on the lookout for new voices owned by competent actresses. I can do no better than to recommend to those looking for the gilt-edged stuff this girl who once looked out of a window in an Iowa classroom and said:

"Children! Take a recess," and to herself: "Little Maryeda's got to go places."

Linda! No R in August

Attracted by the quaintness of the name, Linda Carlson of the Parker Family cast on the NBC-Red Network spent part of her August vacation in Bivalve, N. J. Yes, the town is a real one.

More on: Here's Morgan

of his radio rise this one is as good as any. It's in character, also.

He was announcing a brand of popular priced hosiery, the announcement of which strove to convey without actually saying so that a run in the brand was virtually an impossibility. Said Morgan: "Ladies, take it or leave it. You wear long socks, I don't."

The irate sponsor called the station, demanded what Morgan meant by deviating from the script.

Morgan, called to the phone, explained: "Listen, mister—even shoes wear out. What do you want for your dough? Promises of miracles?"

His comments have the refreshing zip of cold weather. And, on the weather, his reports are hilarious. For instance: "Hot weather followed by showers followed by steam on pavements followed by the day after." Or, "Heavy coastal winds followed by sailboat sails being blown off." "Snow tomorrow, followed by small boys with sleds and dignified old men getting conked on the bean with snowballs by little boys with sleds following snow."

He takes delight in ripping the armor of self-conceit from pontifical claimants to universal wisdom. Taking off the famed Westbrook Pegler he said: "The United States is a union, therefore everybody's a union member."

Early in his career he had a run-in with WOR's management. They gave him a stack of records, told him to play them and shut up. At the first opportunity he astonished listeners by breaking into a recording and offering to auction the station with its vice-president tossed in "merely to clear the place out."

Well, there's Morgan. He has brought to radio what it has long needed—an internecine figure who pans radio for a public that, according to the tycoons of sales and products, is entitled to have ears but no tongues.

Here's Morgan, folks. Let him give tongue to that devastating comment you made the other night on the arrogant pretension of the sponsors of "Vitaminic, the Cigarette That Helps You Live." . . .

Here's Morgan! Beside himself with Puckish enthusiasm, but, we guess, also on the side of the Vox Poppers whom radio won't let pop.

interest in military camp affairs. Hank McCune does commentary on sports in camps, Henderson plays piano, Miss Tilton sings, soldiers take part in impromptu numbers. Recommended for bringing civilians closer to those who were civilians yesterday, are the nation's warriors today.

MUSIC FOR AMERICA—Musical.
HEARD: KFI, Thurs., 9:30 p. m. (30 min.).
CAST: Claude Sweeten and orchestra, Joe Kerans, narrator.
SPONSOR: None (sustaining).
RADIO LIFE RATING: Good.

A patriotic-motifed program of music that is essentially American, ranging from simple ballads, through classics back to popular numbers. Narration and recitations on an American folk theme, the poetry and prose of such as Walt Whitman, Bret Harte, Robert Service, et al. Well balanced, entertaining and educational.

MAUDIE'S DIARY—Comedy-Drama.
HEARD: KNN, Thurs., 7:30 p. m. (30 min.).
CAST: Mary Mason as "Maudie," Bob Walker as her boy friend, Davy; and others in support.

SPONSOR: Continental Baking Company.
RADIO LIFE RATING: Fair.
This is the serial story of a 17-year-old girl who exists on "lemon-cokes," speaks "sub-debese," records her escapades in a diary. Program based on eight-year-running magazine stories. Maudie is leader of sweater-and-saddle brigade in her home town. Dave and she get into scrapes and out. Another one of kids of the "Devil-May-Care" age.

SALVATORE SANTAELLA—Ensemble Music.
HEARD: KMTR, Fri., 4:45 p. m.
CAST: Salvatore Santaella and ensemble members.

SPONSOR: None (sustaining).
RADIO LIFE RATING: Excellent.
Music in the grouped virtuoso manner under direction of a musician who, to our mind, should have received more widespread attention than he commands on a secondary station. Programs are popular and classical with excerpted bits from symphony movements. A notable musical group and eminently worth hearing as a habit.

INSIDE THE NEWS—Commentation.
HEARD: KFI, 10:30 p. m., Sun.-Fri. (15 min.).
PRINCIPALS: Jose Rodriguez and Sid Sutherland.

SPONSORS: Thrifty Drug Company.
RADIO LIFE RATING: Excellent.
The popular drug and accessories chain made no mistake in presenting to West-erners this alert and knowledgeable duo. Commentation of current events is forcefully logical and informative, springs in both cases from backgrounds of the two commentators as newspapermen and writers, observers of the world scene. Interest is heightened by fact neither one knows what is in mind of other as they sit in dissection of news.

KNICKERBOCKER PLAYHOUSE—Drama.
HEARD: KFI, Sat., 7:30 p. m. (30 min.).
CAST: Varies week to week, but best of professionals.

SPONSORS: Drene and Teel (Procter & Gamble).
RADIO LIFE RATING: Good.
Time element in choosing each week's drama in New York and airmailing West prohibits titling of each week's drama. Program, however, is based on original plays, dealing with plausible situations and developments in life, with logical accents on thrill, comedy and outright dramatic values.

Bacon and braize all in a dutch oven on a slow fire, until short ribs of beef begin to brown. Now add 1 cup of water and 1/2 bottle of Hauser brand sauce. Then cover dutch oven and let simmer until meat is tender. Twenty minutes before serving, boil the contents of a 7 ounce package of egg noodles in 1 qt. of salted water. When noodles are tender, take from fire and drain. Now mix 2 tbsps. of melted butter with noodles and put them in a large platter. Then pour on top of the noodles the sauce made with the short ribs of beef. Garnish with ribs and serve.

Chef Milani's Sunday Dinner

For Eight Persons

Creme Cardinal
Radishes, Green Onions and Elsinore Olives
Small Tenderloin Steak, Fetera
Potatoes au Gratin
Buttered String Beans
Watercress Salad
Cantaloupe Basket
Coffee "Monarch Brand"

Recipe for Creme Cardinal

2 lobsters	Salt and pepper
3 ounces butter	1 pinch cayenne
1 onion sliced	2 egg yolks
1 carrot sliced	1/2 cup cream
1 leek	1 small can Brandywine
1 branch celery minced	Mushrooms
very fine	1 Pony Brandy
3 ounces flour	1 Pony Dry Sherry
2 qts. milk

Pound the shells of the lobster very fine, in a mortar. Then put in a casserole with the butter, the sliced onion, and the sliced carrots, the leek and the celery, and simmer for 20 minutes. Take care that it does not burn, and simmer slowly. Then add the flour, mix well, add the milk, season with salt and pepper and the cayenne, boil for half hour, then strain through a sieve or a cheese cloth. Return to the casserole, bring to a boil and bind with the yolk of eggs and the cream. Put in a soup tureen. Cut the tails of the lobsters and the Brandywine mushrooms in small dices, put them in a casserole, season with salt and pepper and the brandy and the sherry. Bring to boil and pour into the soup.

Recipe for Small Tenderloin a la Bob Davis

8 small tenderloin
Salt and pepper
4 tbsps. oil
1/4 lb. butter
8 thin slices of Wilson Tender-Made Ham

Season the tenderloin steaks with salt and pepper. Roll in oil and broil. When done place each tenderloin steak on top of a slice of Wilson's Tender-Made Ham. Melt butter and pour on the steaks, and serve.

Recipe for Cantaloupe Basket

8 small cantaloupes
1 qt. vanilla ice cream
1 pint of whipped cream

Cut the cantaloupes in the form of a basket, using part of the rind for the handle. Carefully take out the pulp with a teaspoon. Fill the baskets with vanilla ice cream mixed with cantaloupe pulp, and decorate with whipped cream.

THESE ARE ALL FRUITS—Can you identify them?

King David, Black Republican, Red Siberian, George the Fourth, Joan of Arc, Grand Duke, Lloyd George, Kush Batash, Tazizaoots, Brown Turkey, Rocky Ford, Jujube, Klondyke, Yellow

Egg, Golden Drop, Golden Nugget, Vicar of Wakefield, Gold Mine, Red Trousseau, Black Prince, Rose of Peru, Seek-no-further, Northern Spy and Gloria Mundi.

All right, we'll tell you.

Gloria Mundi, Kind David, Northern Spy and Seek-no-further are varieties of apples. Black Republican is a kind of cherry. Red Siberian is a crabapple. Rose of Peru, Black Prince and Red Trousseau are names of grapes. Gold Mine is a nectarine. George the Fourth is a peach. Golden Nugget, Joan of Arc and Vicar of Wakefield are pears. Golden Drop, Grand Duke and Yellow Egg are plums and prunes. Lloyd George is a raspberry. Klondyke is a strawberry. Kush Batash and Tazizaoots are dates, and a Jujube is a Chinese date. Rocky Ford is a melon. And finally, Brown Turkey is the name of a fig.

BREAD HISTORY—Rome existed for nearly six hundred years before it had any professional bread-makers, and part of the diet of a Roman soldier was bread soaked in vinegar. The ancient Hebrews baked their bread in the form of flat cakes and on metallic plates, and they always saved some of the dough from the last batch to leaven the next. Grape juice and wheat bran, mixed and dried into cakes in the sun, once served as yeast cakes, and these cakes were then soaked in water and boiled with spelt flour before being used.

HAVE SOME ASKUTASQUASH—All right then, just drop the "askuta" and have some squash. Askutasquash was the original Algonquian Indian name for this food and meant "vegetable that is eaten green."

Summer or winter there are a lot of squashes to choose from. There's the crookneck, or cushaw or China squash, with a bend at one end and a bulge at the other. Then there's the cocozella, a variety of vegetable marrow which grows a yard long. Zucchini's, of course, you are quite familiar with. They look like cucumbers with a striped skin. And scallops too are popular. Sometimes called cymlings or pattypans, their color is pale white-green color, and they have a flat top, a small, round bottom, and scalloped edges. The chayotte, on the other hand, is not so well known. It is a pale yellow squash about the size and shape of an eggplant. Then there is the banana squash, the Hubbard squash, excellent for pies, a marblehead squash with a light bluish shell, and an acorn squash, which looks like an acorn and is nice for stuffing. And, oh yes, we musn't forget the turban squash, which also looks like its name implies, is a red-orange color, and weighs up to eight pounds.

Generally speaking, these squashes may be baked, fried, boiled, steamed, mashed, candied, scalloped, mixed with apples for pies, added to batters for pancakes, or even made into bread, and you'll find three special ways for preparing them among our recipes this week.

IT'S A CINCH!—And it's a swell cake when you use it too. What you do is simply take the "cinch," add water, and then just mix and bake it.

The "cinch" we're talking about is a new ready-to-use cake preparation, and when we say preparation, we do mean preparation. Nobody can claim they can't bake a cake when they know about CINCH. Yes, that's really the name of this wonderful product, and it's just as easy as it sounds. You can get it in different flavors, and use it for other confections if you like—but try a cake with it first; any kind of a cake—upside-down, layer, cup cakes—it's always a cinch with CINCH!

FUNFARE—Somebody told us the other day about a young bride who dressed to kill and cooked the same way. We think she's the same one who wanted a pound of mincemeat from a nice young mince and who when she returned from her honeymoon in France said that the best thing she had enjoyed was the French pheasants singing the Mayonnaise.

Recipe for Italian Squash or Zucchini Marinata

- 2 lbs. of Zucchini
- 1 bunch of mint
- 1 head of garlic
- 1 cup of oil
- Salt and pepper
- 1 cup of Wine vinegar

Wash and dry the Zucchini, then cut both ends off. Then slice them to 1/2 inch thick. Pour oil in a frying pan, and fry zucchini to almost brown on both sides. Then make a layer of fried zucchini in a deep bowl, sprinkle salt and pepper and slice 1 clove of garlic very thin and put one slice on each zucchini slice. Then make a layer of mint leaves and pour 1 quarter of a cup wine vinegar. Then make another layer of zucchini, garlic, mint, and vinegar, and salt and pepper to taste and do that until all zucchini are used, serve them on meats, chicken, game.

Recipe for Zucchini Squash with Eggs

- 2 lbs. of Italian squash
- 4 eggs
- 8 slices of Wilson's Ol' Fashund Bacon
- 2 cloves garlic
- Sprig of parsley
- 1/2 grated parmesan cheese
- Salt and pepper

Wash zucchini well, cut both ends off, and then slice them. Chop Wilson's Ol' Fashund Bacon and put to melt in a Dutch oven, when bacon gets hot put to saute the garlic minced very fine and the parsley. Soon as garlic and parsley comes to a golden color, add the sliced zucchini, season with salt and pepper. Cover pot and let simmer until zucchini are done. Then heat 4 eggs with 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese and mix together with zucchini, when eggs are set serve.

Recipe for Italian Squash Florentine

- 2 lbs. of Italian squash
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup flour
- 2 cups oil
- Salt and pepper

Wash squash and dry them, cut both ends off. Then cut zucchini same as you do shoe string potatoes. Flour them and shake them in a bag, then heat the eggs with 2 lbsps. of water, dip the shoe string zucchini and fry them in oil until crisp. Drain them on an absorbent paper, sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve.

Chef Milani's Super-Economical

"Dinner for Four, for a Dollar, No More"

CHEF MILANI'S DOLLAR (FOR 4) DINNER No. 1

- Wilson's Certified Mor a la Mrs. Whan
- Boiled Potatoes with Butter Sauce
- Sliced Cucumbers and Green Peppers with Oil and Vinegar Sauce
- Bread and Butter
- Coffee
- Casaba Melon for Dessert

Recipe for Wilson's Certified Mor a la Mrs. Whan

- 1 can of Wilson's Certified Mor
- 2 eggs
- 1 lb. of Italian squash
- 4 slices Wilson's Ol' Fashund Bacon
- 1 onion and 3 cloves of garlic
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 bottle of Hauser brand sauce

First, you chop 1 onion and 3 cloves of garlic. Now chop Wilson's Bacon. Then saute onion and garlic with the Wilson's Bacon in a thick skillet. After that open a can of Wilson's Certified Mor and cut the meat into inch squares. Now take 1 lb. of Italian squash—wash and cut both ends, and dice into inch squares. Then put to cook the squash and Wilson's diced Certified Mor with the sauted onion and garlic. Season with salt and pepper. Now cover pan and let simmer until squash is tender. Ten minutes before serving break 2 eggs in a deep dish, beat them, and mix with meat concoction. When eggs are set serve. And Hauser brand sauce with this will be very delicious.

CHEF MILANI'S DOLLAR (FOR 4) DINNER No. 2

- Meat Loaf a la Spagnola

WORLD ON YOUR DIAL

By
EARL G. DE HAVEN

LAST WEEK we received a very interesting personal letter from Mr. Fung Chien, Director and Chief Engineer of the Chinese International Broadcasting Station XGOY. This station is known as "The Voice of China" and is the official radio outlet of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The letter was in reply to a report on reception of XGOX 15.2 Mc. sent in October of last year. Going by regular mail the report was long delayed in reaching Chungking. The reply came through in 39 days however, having flown air mail from Chungking to Hong Kong.

We quote in part from Mr. Fung Chien's letter: "By reports received from our listeners abroad we learn that our station XGOX on 15.2 Mc. is not so well heard as XGOY on 9.63 Mc. despite the incessant efforts of our engineers for improvement. However recently our transmission directed to your country is ONLY on 9.63 Mc. for the summer months. . . . Many thanks indeed for your good wishes to our leader Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and our people. The warm sympathy tendered to us by your people gave us enormous encouragement in carrying on our resistance against the Japanese aggressors. Please also convey my gratitude to all your friends out there. We feel grateful to you for publishing articles in your 'Radio Life' about our station."

Reader-listeners of RADIO LIFE should tune in for the North American transmission of XGOY on 9.36 Mc. which is now heard between 6 and 7:30 a. m. Pacific Standard Time. You will find reception improved over that of XGOX which was formerly heard in the late afternoons with reception rather inconsistent. The news and other program features of this hour are in English of course. All who are interested in social and political developments in the Far East should not mind arising an hour or two earlier in the morning to tune in "The Voice of China."

Consistent daily reception of RADIO CENTER, Moscow, continues to be short wave "hi-lite" at this time. Heard each afternoon between 3 and 4 p. m. with a complete English program on 15.18 Mc. the "Radio Center" broadcasts carry a note of positive assurance and optimism even greater than those emanating from the B. B. C. in London. The initial 10 or 15 minutes of the program features the tuneful Balalaika music so typical of the land of the Soviets. Official Soviet War Communiques are usually read just before sign-off at 4 p. m.

In conclusion may we suggest that the B. B. C. features, "Britain Speaks" and "Democracy Marches" be listened to in the daily NORTH AMERICAN service 4 to 7 p. m. over GSD 11.75 and GSC 9.58 Mc. 7's for now and good listenin'.

Please a friend. Give your neighbor a copy of Radio Life.

Sirs: Heard on Great Gildersleeve:

Fellow passenger (on train across dining car table from G. G.): What do you mean, talking that way to a perfect stranger?

Gildersleeve: Stranger, you're far from perfect.

Vera Hammer, 3623 E. First St., Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on Eddie Cantor:

Dinah (to Cantor): I'm worried about you, Uncle Eddie. You're working too hard, with your new stage show and radio programs.

Cantor: Yes, I don't know how I'm going to manage.

Von Zell: Why don't you give up your newspaper route?

Mrs. A. E. Shaffer, 5417 Pelleur, Compton, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on College Humor:

Announcer: Eddie Cantor is all right! Look at those five nice daughters he has.

Beulah: That's nothing. He's just Mama Dionne in slow motion.

Mrs. Thelma King, 812 East Grand Ave., Alhambra, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on Breakfast at Sardi's:

Tom Breneman (to woman guest): Hello. I wonder could you tell me what a "rump session" is?

Guest (after slight hesitation): Why yes, I believe I can. It's sitting on your rump and having a session.

Jacqueline Callahan, 1114 Highland, Glendale, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on All Aboard:

Art Baker: What is the chief cause of divorce?

Woman Contestant (with spirit): Men! (Answer should have been "cruelty").

Pauline Frazee, 2308 Westboro, Alhambra, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on All Aboard:

Art Baker (to young girl contestant): If a nice young man whispered honey-sweet nothings in your ear, what melon would you think of?

Contestant: Mush-melon.

Miss F. M. Hunt, 1324 1/2 Fourth Avenue, Los Angeles

Sirs: Heard on Kraft Hall:

Jerry (back from hospital): No, my nurse doesn't knit.

Ameeche: Why not?

Jerry: She got word from the War Department that her socks had already crippled two divisions.

R. H. Patchett, 1092 Gardenia Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

On Hollywood Boulevard Quiz:

A soldier was asked what these three bowls were—Hollywood, Salad and Dust. He named 1 and 3 correctly, but said the second was a famous one put out by Thrifty Drug Company.

Kudo's End

Persistent belief among many a sponsor and radio entrepreneur is that intelligence of average listener is only a cut above average radio program. A result of this belief has been marked persistence with which many a program lambasts listening ears with repetitious commercials. Radio theory is that such repetition opens wider the lobular mounts of unheeding and non-understanding minds, by sheer weight of such repetition forces remembrance of sponsor's message, what he has to sell.

Fortnight ago Kraft Parkay, sponsors of "The Great Gildersleeve," starring Hal Peary, brought an end to this attitude toward listeners. What Radio Life readers for many a moon had vociferously campaigned for came to pass: Kraft Parkay eliminated the middle commercial, thus permitted a radio show to move smoothly and entertainingly from its opening to its closing commercial. Amazed was an erstwhile commercial-bludgeoned audience, both air and studio, at this original display of broadcast intelligence on part of sponsors, show producers and writer, Len Levinson. To Kraft Parkay went a many-thousanded kotow from grateful listeners. Guess was that, shortenings being shortenings, Parkay would find itself short on shelves as grateful housewives responded to company's kotow to average listener's intelligence.

Mrs. John F. Hunt

Cleaning car upholstery, as well as indoor upholstery, rugs, etc., was a very tough job until the development of Cali-foam, a new Radio Life advertiser. Sold by markets, Cali-foam is made by General Household Corp., CA 1-5014.

More on: Betty Hill

(whose interest perked when little Betty came out into the spotlight) — these dowagers now, starting to cry into their cocktails in remembrance of the sweet little girls which once they were.

Anyway, there she was singing and after her number had raised her percentage of encores for the evening she was back in the dressing room, and one of the girls told her of the escalator . . . we mean this audition they were doing over at NBC.

And the next day, there she was. One of the auditors was saying: "You'll do, Miss Hill." Just like that and here she was, first time in an audition, first time in radio and—socko! starts the saga. She's a star already.

And all these nice people around her. Irene Tedrow, just the kind of a mother a fast-talking, compounded-witted flibber-gibbet daughter of the streamlined age should have. That sweet Mr. Sheldon who "is my beau since grammar school in the serial," Betz Bowman, "my girl friend who is really Marvel McInness" and "do you really think I'm doing all right the way I am doing it?"

Doing all right? Babe! You ought to listen to yourself. In his palmy days the late Scott Fitzgerald would have sighed with relief at you as a prototype of the Jazz Age. Doing all right? Well, maybe your lines could be better, but that isn't your fault. What you do with them is nobody's and everybody's business in interpreting daughters of the Furious Forties, the zip and the jangle, the innocent spangle of modern youth at its effervescent heights. You'll do.

For those who want an insight into the composition of the modern girl, her reactions to life and what it is casting up in the making of the young in these strenuous times of streamlined educations, capsuled philosophy, and live-for-today outlooks, "This Is Judy Jones," with Betty Hill providing the insights, is recommended.

The program, when it isn't bemused with stock situations, is an excursion around town to meet the boy and girl friends, to discuss the oddities of parents, the boss and "what's doing now, pals?" from one end of town to the other.

The plot isn't important, for as listening reassures us, Myron Dutton, a capable serial writer, perhaps never has figured that out. Maybe with good reason, for, when one deals with a prospect like Betty one deals with a teaspoonful of quicksilver figuratively. It won't stay put but goes on quivering with the force of its inherent instability which is, as chemists know, one of the stable qualities of quicksilver. Which is to say that Betty Hill, Irene Tedrow, Ben Alexander, Marvel McInness, Elliot Lewis as a middle-aged man next door and Creighton Leighton, Judy's eccentric boss, are all caught up with that fever put to action and words which is "This Is Judy Jones," product of our times.

THE LADS ON THE COVER

Many a psychologist and savant in behaviourism has in radio's past pondered the symbolism of Charles McCarthy in the lives of Americans, old and young. Most of us have seen in the popular reception of this painted and clothes-bedecked, false-haired assembly of carved wood evidences of humanity's atavistic appendage, which is to say the popular mind still can credit to the inanimate a personality and an influence in the affairs of mortals much more alive in the sense of being creatures of flesh and blood.

Despite savants and academicians Charles McCarthy, alter ego of one Edgar Bergen, vaudevillian and ventriloquist risen to high estate in entertainment's world, remains much more than mere carved wood, springs, rubber muscles and a string-worked garrulous jaw. Life that is breathed into him is that of Bergen, the Bergen in every man who outwardly is one character, inwardly is another. This is the best guess into the personality of Charles McCarthy. He is thought to express that which Bergen as an individual would hesitate to say. No such restraints hamper McCarthy, who last week returned for his seasonal glibfest on the Chase and Sanborn program. Phenomenon of McCarthy is that to his alter ego he is unpredictable, a ready foil for Bergen who finds it easier to wise-crack extempore through his wooden stogie than to originate his witticisms himself.

Last week, however, both Bergen and Charlie were in deepest doldrums. Word had passed through two military services, the Air Corps and the U. S. Marines, that cast "grave" suspicions on little Wooden-head. He had enlisted in both services contrary to law. Looming was a late September court-martial at March Field. Fearful lest he be judged untrue to his country, Charles last week got off this knotty broadside: "In these disturbed times I thought it best to keep one foot on the ground. Now I find myself up in the air. I was willing to "plank" my life down for my country and now, horrors! Bergen, the Marines are getting ready to land on me, while the air corps prepares to clip my splintered wings. Woe is me!"

In attempt to stave off censure Bergen and Charlie planned to visit Camp Roberts, near Paso Robles, September 14, there prove that at heart McCarthy is a misunderstood patriot, traitor to none but himself in his zealousness to serve all branches of service.

Congratulations to KMPC-ers, who have just been given their permit to go 10,000 watts. This makes KMPC Southern California's largest independent station.

Announcing Eastern-Columbia Prize Winners

PRIZE WINNERS IN the three-months-long Eastern-Columbia-Radio Life Contest which ended August 31 were announced this week by judges of readers' letters on the subject: "I have visited your Radio Department, and the radio I like best is because"

Scores entered but only 11 could win. The names and addresses of those who won follow with congratulations from Radio Life and Eastern-Columbia stores and respects to others who took part but did not win. Everyone tried and there were too many close ones for judges' comfort—but here are the Winners:

First Prize—Mrs. Jane Hardey, 225 W. Las Tunas Dr., San Gabriel, Calif., $150 U. S. Savings Bond.

Second Prize—Frank McCormack, 235 E. Calaveras St., Altadena, Calif., $100 Bond.

Third Prize—Miss Mary Ruth Edgerton, 340 Laurel Ave., Arcadia, Calif., $50 Bond.

The following each, a $25 U. S. Savings Bond:

Fourth Prize—Mrs. John Goff, 1450 E. 62nd St., Los Angeles.

Fifth Prize—Mrs. Esther Pierce, 2231 S. Del Mar Ave., San Gabriel, Calif.

Sixth Prize—Mrs. Edith Allen

Davies, 832½ Seward St., Hollywood, Calif.

Seventh Prize—Mrs. Cora M. Bowers, 6217½ De Longpre Ave., Hollywood, Calif.

Eighth Prize—Mrs. Alice Overman, 6582 S. Van Ness Ave., Los Angeles.

Ninth Prize—Mrs. Cora Nell Byroad, 2034 E. Chevy Chase Dr., Glendale, Calif.

Tenth Prize—Julian Hughes, 726 S. Spring St., Los Angeles.

Eleventh Prize—Mrs. Elizabeth Gipson, 105 S. Vega, Alhambra, Calif.

The Radio Life Music and Voice Scholarships should have been announced as to winners a fortnight ago, but judges in this one have run into trouble. They have agreed on two winners in the Piano division, but are still trying to make up their minds about 10 contestants in the Voice Division. The plan now is to call the 10 together in elimination auditions and from the 10 choose those who seem best qualified by talent promise to make best use of teaching. Letters will be mailed these 10 directing them when to appear for finals. When victors have been chosen names of the two winners in both divisions will be announced, together with pictures of them. So be patient. This judging business is no pipe.

Smart Peoples

Members of Merle Kendrick's orchestra on the NBC-Blue Network's "Bringing Up Father" program won their posts only after demonstrating ability to play Bach as well as Boogie-Woogie.
