Robert Martel, Omaha, Nebraska

Sirs: I have had, of late, the good fortune to peruse some of your exceedingly absorbing articles—namely the different "stuffed shirts" that swell the nation's cinema capitol. For the majority are "stuffed shirts" in the strongest implications of the term; and it seems to me that such highly proficient literateurs as you, could apply your efforts to matters of more importance.

I hope you won't interpret this criticism as in effect to anything but complimentary to yourselves, and that I may have the pleasure of reading your articles in the near future.

If Reader Martel has gleaned from Radio Life interviews that the hard-working, personable people of radio are only "stuffed shirts," it's impossible that we are the "highly proficient literateurs" he labels us.

Marilyn Lockwood, 807 North Edgemont Street, Hollywood 27, Calif.

Sirs: I think that Anita Gordon, the new singer on the Charlie McCarthy program, is one of the best singers on the air. I wonder if you would please print a picture and perhaps a short story about her?

Bee Dukall, 3506 West 59th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I really got a thrill when I tuned in one night at 7:30 and heard Henry Morgan.

On a recent visit to New York I first heard him and fell in love with him. In my opinion and that of most of my friends, Morgan is a rare gem of real humor.

Surely some sponsor must recognize Morgan's talent and appeal. Here's hoping we'll be hearing him regularly every night or on a half-hour program.

Wonderful Henry Morgan is heard every Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. on KECA. We hope his faithful fans are re-discovering him. He has been in the Army until recently.

Vivien Bean Griffith, 1511 Corona Drive, Glendale 5, Calif.

Sirs: Why do you neglect listing the programs to be found after midnight? We missed Betty Russell who was grand on the "Curfew Club," KFI, midnight to 1 a. m., but we found her again on Bullock's "Tuesday at Nine" as Elizabeth Russell. Al Poska is doing a splendid job on the "Midnight Flyer" now, and the news and music following Al Poska are worthy of mention. I feel as if these all-nighters deserve a little attention. I particularly enjoy the lack of commercials after midnight. What a blessed relief!

If a product is good, people will buy it without the incessant, inane pleas that clutter the airwaves with all sponsored programs, good or bad.

Radio Life aims to cover the programs that appear during the main part of the day and night. There are many good things on both in the early morning hours and late at night, but we just haven't room yet, to list them all.

Betty Russell is no longer on the Bullock's show, but we'll precast her return to the air when it occurs.

W. B. Covington, 1316 Fedora Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Can you tell me what has happened to the program, "It Pays to Be Ignorant"? For laughs it is tops and I hope they will be back on the air.

"Holiday and Co." took the place of "It Pays to Be Ignorant." If it returns to the air, Radio Life will precast it.

William E. Calfetto, United States Army Transport, Wilmington, Calif.

Sirs: Radio Life has virtually brought the studios and their occupants into the listener's living room, into a trapper's cabin and even into my forecabin on the second deck. You should get a medal for your excellent treatment of lesser known and unknown radio actors such as you featured in your article "Heard But Not Seen" (Lux supporting players).

list and I really appreciated seeing those pictures of actors, who up till now, were unknown to me and possibly a million other Lux fans.

Often, your pictures and stories are like personal introductions to favorite players and those who are known merely as supporting players. Some of the latter have more talent and ability than some with big star names who should not be allowed before a microphone.

My origin is Brooklyn—you know the place—but I have always felt that the garden spot of America is the area in Hollywood which radio occupies. That's because all the radio personalities and the people are the most thoughtful, considerate and generous to servicemen, more than any other place in the country. I know, because I was a serviceman and visited Hollywood's radio row.

We're overwhelmed. All we can say is we like Brooklyn, too.

Mrs. William L. Rose, Midvale, Utah

Sirs: I was especially interested in the article that showed GeGe Pearson and her lovely home. GeGe is my favorite radio actress, so was very happy to read all about her and to see her pictures.

I also enjoy Red Skelton, Jack Carson, Amos 'n' Andy and "The Life of Riley."

My favorite dramas are "One Man's Family" and the "Lux Theater." I love organ music and waltzes, and like to hear Bing Crosby and Kate Smith sing.

Mary Falsetti, 11808 Exposition Blvd., Los Angeles 25, Calif.

Sirs: Thanks for the wonderful story on Bob Graham. Ever since I saw him in "Week-end at the Waldorf" I have been anxious to hear him again. He really has a smooth voice and is very good looking. Very easy on the eyes.

Could you tell me when I can hear him on the air? I surely would like to know. I don't want to miss him.

As stated in our story, singer Graham is heard on the Fanny Brice show, Sunday, 7:30 p. m., CBS.

G. A. G., Pasadena, Calif.

Sirs: It seems as though many of the radio programs are going from bad to worse, and I mean the ones that use records. They are practically all swing and swoon, boogie-woogie, long symphony records (which are good in their place, of course) and Bing Crosby records. Now I like Bing, but we are certainly fed up with his records.

There are so many fine records on the market of classical recordings. Why can't we hear more of these on evening programs—I seldom listen during the day. We would like more with Nelson Eddy, Jeannette MacDonald and such fine recording artists. And, by the way, we never see anything about them in Radio Life.

I believe there are too many mystery and detective programs on the air, too—much too thrilling for children.

Have you tried "Concert Encores" on KGFI, 8:00 p. m., Monday through Saturday, "Newsical Time", on KFVD, 10:00 p. m., Monday through Sunday, among many others? We have done stories on Mr. Eddy and will do one on Miss MacDonald if she has a radio show of her own—not occasional guest shots.

RADIO actress Vyola Vonn is just as clever about hats as she is about cooking, clothes, and creating a delightful home for her radio-actor husband, Hanley Stafford. For Vyola, hats are always new and inexpensive, because she makes them of flowers!

Between his microphone chores as "Daddy" to Fanny Brice's "Snooks," "Mr. Dithers" on "Blondie," and many others, Hanley makes a hobby of growing beautiful blooms on the

By Evelyn Bigsby

HE TOILS, SHE REAPS the results of his effort, here scissoring some gorgeous daffodils to make a hat. Vyola got the idea for flower hats four years ago after pinning a hibiscus behind her ear.

Gene Lester Photos

HANLEY PAUSES FOR a bit of by-play. First time Vyola dressed up a "naked" black straw with some posies, he said, "You've got a lot of courage to do that. I've never seen fresh flowers on a hat before. Other persons commented, too, and convinced Vyola she had something new.

couple's two-acre hilltop property overlooking Sunset Boulevard's "Strip." He spends an average of two hours daily planning and working in the garden. When the grounds were being landscaped, Hanley, himself, shoveled the hundred and ten truckloads of top soil used to fill in a secluded glen leading west from the house. In this section he nurtures cuttings from plants whose flowers Vyola has used most successfully in her chapeaux-building.

Four-Year Hobby

Vyola has been wearing flower hats now for about four years. Her co-workers on "Blondie," Abbott and Costello, and other shows always await her newest creations with intense interest. She's become so skillful with manipulation of the blossoms, however, that sometimes strangers don't realize that her head-piece isn't artificial. One day, Vyola recalls, she was wearing a very trick "hat" which went completely unnoticed by the actress sitting next to her. Finally, in hopes of angling a tiny remark, Vyola turned and asked innocently, "Is my hat wilting?"

Now, whenever the Staffords feel it's time to leave a gathering, Hanley always grabs Vyola by the hand and exclaims: "We have to go! Your hat's wilting!"

SHE STARTS TO make a daffodil hat, beginning by placing blooms in the front and working backward. Perennials last longest, says Vyola. These daffodils were on her head three hours, then were placed in water; were re-arranged as hat that same evening and lasted until 2 a. m.; placed again in water; were worn next morning to rehearsal and that evening to dinner.

STEMS ARE KEPT SHORT and fastened to hair with bobby pins. Vyola seldom knows what kind of hat she's going to make until she starts creating. Sometimes she wires fragile stems. But whatever the bonnet, it seldom requires more than fifteen minutes to whip up.

GARDENING AND MILLINERY completed, Vyola and Hanley step out of the house ready for the studio. He's justly proud of his wife's ability and cooperates in raising most suitable flowers: paper-white narcissus, tuberous begonias, hibiscus, zinnias, hydrangeas, azaleas, camellias. Roses and all annuals do not last long enough for hats.

THE COMPLETED DAFFODIL HAT. Vyola has worn flower hats for so long now that she's uncomfortable in a regular hat and seldom wears one. Besides, her co-workers are so disappointed when she dons a felt or straw they exclaim: "Aw! Why didn't you wear your flowers?"

"MY HATS", CLAIMS VYOLA, "furnish Hanley with an incentive to work in the garden." Vyola seldom mixes flowers, using only one kind for a hat. To the studio she always takes a small bag with extra blossoms in case replacements are needed. Her most amusing experience was the time someone noticed a wiggly green worm on her floral head-piece.

◀ COMING UP—ONE "PEEKLE IN THE MEEDLE with the mustard on top"! Artie Auerbach, known variously as "Mr. Kitzel" and as Jack Benny's hot dog salesman demonstrates that his famous couplet is no idle boast.

*Sunday, 4 p.m. 9:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI, KFSD*

FOURTEEN years ago, one Artie Auerbach, photographer on the New York Daily News, got a leave of absence from his managing editor to take a brief fling in show business. Nowadays you hear Artie as the hot-dogman on the Jack Benny show. He comes on with "Peekele in the meedle with the mustard on top"—some "brief fling!"

Artie admits he had to conquer the world's worst case of stage-fright in order to appear publicly and even now is bothered by it. You see, Artie was a photographer and intended to go on being a photographer, but one day up in the Bronx he went into a drug store to call back to his paper—but let Artie tell it: "The little druggist was waiting on a woman who had just asked for a bottle of mercurochrome. To the tune of 'Yes, Sir, That's My Baby,' he sang, 'Mercurochrome? yes, ve got it—vot size do you want it?' He looked like a little Santa Claus, just a lovable little guy. I was so fascinated by his habit of singing his answers to the tune of popular songs, that I started hanging around the store just to listen to him. I got so I could imitate him so well that I could call up his wife and make her think it was him. That's the character that I do now on the Benny show."

In Broadway Show

For a long time Artie used his ability to imitate Maurice Ahdorf, the little druggist, just for his own amusement. Then one day he submitted some sketches he had written to the producer of a Broadway musical, and in his anxiety to sell them, he acted them out with such fervor that the producer said he would take them only under condition Artie appeared in them.

Artie, the man with the world's worst case of stage-fright, protested that he was a newspaper photographer without the slightest ambition in show business. "Finally," said Artie, "he offered me more money than I had ever seen before in my life, and stage-fright or not, I agreed. I got a leave of absence from the paper, and haven't been back since." Phil Baker, who was appearing with Artie in the musical, "Calling All Stars," offered him a role on his radio show. Since then, Artie has appeared with Al Pearce, Jack Haley, Eddie Cantor and now, Jack Benny. For a while his character was known as Mr. Kitzel, but he thinks it may be re-christened on the present show.

We asked him if he felt he was still a newspaperman, if he thought of himself as an actor. "I guess I finally think of myself as an actor—because no one else wants to," he added. To our query of whether good dialects can be learned phonetically, Artie answered, "There's a difference between just a dialect and capturing some quality of the individual. To me, there was something beautiful about that little druggist, and I wanted other people to hear it, too." Artie, uncomfortable if he is called upon to say anything mean or cheap in his dialect, feels as if he is maligning his friend.

What did the little druggist think of Artie's impersonation of him, we wanted to know. "He loved it!" Artie exclaimed. "Once after hearing me on the air he confessed, 'I never liked the way I talked, but when you do it—I like it!'"

"This is the kind of little fellow he was," Artie continued. "I noticed that often he would fold little pieces of paper and put them in a strong box in the back room. I asked him what he saved the little papers for, and he explained that when he left this earth, those were the things he could take with him. They were the prescriptions he filled without charge for people who couldn't pay him."

Admires Benny

Artie's admiration for Jack Benny as a person and as a comedian knows no bounds. He likens Benny before the mike to a conductor whom the cast constantly watches for timing and interpretation.

"The Jack Benny show is to radio what the old Palace Theater was to vaudeville, and now that I've made it, I feel as though those fourteen years haven't been in vain," Artie declared. Nevertheless, he confessed that he still carries his complete photographic equipment around with him, and thinks that the fact he was always sure of having something to

The Vogue For Bogue

By Betty Mills

You Know Him as Ish Kabibble, But How Would You Like to Meet Merwin Bogue, Who Isn't Like Ish at All?

↑ ISH CUTS HIS OWN BANGS because a barber is horrified when he learns what the comedian expects of him. You see them down only on Wednesday nights, for the rest of the time Ish's hair is neatly parted on the side and combed back.

WHEN tall, tanned, nice looking Merwin Bogue opened his front door and greeted us with a warm handshake, we scarcely believed that here stood Ish Kabibble, famed comedian of Kay Kyser's NBC show.

"You mean my hair," grinned Ish, or Mer'n as he's known to his wife. "It's just like everybody else's!" (And it is.)

That soup-bowl haircut of Ish's covers his forehead only on Wednesday nights or upon those frequent Kyser camp show tours. The rest of the time it is parted on the side, neatly combed back, and gives him the appearance of a respectable family man.

The Ish we met at home with his wife and kids that afternoon looked like just that. There was little resemblance to the slow-talking, country-bumpkin air comedian. When we couldn't resist telling him so, he smiled modestly and invited us to meet the family in person.

Meet Family

In the Bogues' large, pastel-colored living room, the first tiny miss to greet us was a blonde, blue-eyed youngster who solemnly stated her name was Janet. Next came five-year-old sister, Pam, followed by her tall, brunette mother. "Sorry, we're late," Mrs. Bogue apologized, "but the girls just got up from their afternoon nap."

"Pete," wailed a small voice in the back yard.

Who's that, we asked.

"That's Timmy," volunteered Janet.

"And who's Timmy?" we wanted to know.

"Oh, just Timmy," Jan airily dismissed the whole subject.

"Ah, Timmy's just a little kid," burst out Pete with a look-at-me-I'm-nine-years-old smirk.

"Hmmp," grunted his father, "you're not so big yourself."

This young, handsome son of Ish's prides himself on being a carbon copy of his father. He wears his hair like Ish, listens to his father's weekly air performance, memorizes his nonsensical poems and is the school sensation next day with his own renditions. Although he's never watched his Dad perform on the stage, he's picked up certain Ish Kabibble characteristics, such as counting on his fingers.

Felt Silly

"I had a heart to heart talk with his teacher the other day," Ish laughed, "and she wanted to know where he'd learned to count on his fingers. I felt silly telling her it was from me."

"Counting on his fingers" is a far cry from the days Ish used to be bookkeeper for the band. That was even before Ish Kabibble, the comedian, was born—there was only a trumpeter named Merwin Bogue. Ish says he's given up his trumpet and is concentrating solely on comedy.

"I have a new musical invention," he pointed out. "I call it the Ish Bone." (You'd really have to see it to appreciate it, but we'll do our best at a description.)

It's built from a music stand and includes a telephone bell and a kiddie car horn. You play it as you would the trumpet and it sounds like something that could put Spike Jones out of business.

"There's an old gag among musicians," explained Ish. "If you come to a difficult passage in your musical score, you just kick over your music stand and then you have an excuse for not playing it. And if an orchestra leader gets mad at you, he accuses you of being able to play the music stand better than your instrument. That's what I did."

In his leisure hours, besides dreaming up Ish Bones, Ish is a competent craftsman. The revolving, metal-topped coffee table, prominently displayed in his living room, is of his own design. For such works as these, the Bogue garage is well equipped with drills, saws and plenty of work space.

War Recordings

Next to his wood and metal carvings, Ish is proudest of his complete waxed record of the war. As an amateur recorder he was lucky enough to have picked up the first news of Pearl Harbor Day. From then on both he and his wife waxed every important speech and announcement . . . until V-E Day. It was then the machine broke down and wasn't repaired until after V-J Day.

"On V-J Day," recalled Ish, "I was in the South Pacific with Kyser. He

LIKEABLE Bill Leyden beckoned us into a comfortable cubicle at KMPC, where he was delivering his morning menu of music and laughs. Tagged "The Music Hall", the Leyden bill-of-fare ("Leyden with music" is the way he heralds it) is a two-hour offering of top platters, punctuated by the smooth-tongued emcee's choice chatter.

Tall, thirty-ish, with a moustached upper lip and a thick thatch of wavy hair, Mr. Leyden smilingly admitted that stereotyped radio programming is his pet peeve. "After all," he pointed out, "save in the instances of audience shows, when the imposing production technique can be appropriately applied, we should remember that, when we're talking into this microphone, we're chatting with people right in the easy, informal atmosphere of their own homes. There's no need to scream at them, or give them a big sales pitch. I believe in just talking to them in a friendly, natural manner that is both pleasant and sincere."

We witnessed the Leyden manner (and liked it) during our stay at the KMPC microphone, as we watched him casually ad-lib his way through a handful of commercials. "I haven't read a commercial the way it's written in years," the mike-man maintained. "I just garner the facts and then tell them in my own words. Usually, I haven't got it written down on paper at all. I hate typewriters." Another Leyden dislike is "drooly announcers".

Bill's big ambition is to venture into television production.

Fired and Hired

The mickeman's ether career had its start in his late teens. He first became a page-boy at Chicago's NBC studios, then attended the network's announcing school. Following this period, he was sent to a Cleveland station for his apprenticeship at the microphone. He remembered with a shudder his initial commercial broadcast, an announcement for "Color-back". He was supposed to say "Just sprinkle a few drops on your comb and watch your gray hair disappear."

"I left out the word 'gray.'" Bill related grimly. "I was fired." But he was very ambitious and very young. ("I was the youngest of the NBC announcing school students, and that accounts for my moustache. I grew it then—with the aid of mascara," he recounted, grinning.) The station took pity on him, considered his youth and anxiety to make good, and hired him back three days later. They had him paying for his prize boner, however, with his assignment to special events, which meant garnering microphone experience the hard way.

His air chores then included doing everything from conducting inter-

Morgenthau Commentates

Commencing with his April 10th broadcast, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury under President Roosevelt, became a weekly news commentator over Station KFVB. Morgenthau's program will be broadcast by direct wire from New York, each Wednesday night, from 7:15 to 7:30 p.m.

Fate's Hand

Fate dealt a tragic hand to the writer of last Wednesday's "Dr. Christian" script. A prize-winner in the CBS program's annual script competition, Flight Officer Norman Farber could not hear his work on the air. His radio play, "Boost for Heaven," drama of the death of an Air Force cadet, was written and submitted in the show's contest just before he left for overseas duty. He was killed in action in China.

Mama Again

It's good news from the Hugo Butlers. Mrs. B., who is known to listeners as "Betty" on NBC's "One Man's Family," gave birth to a 7 lb., 2 oz. baby girl a week ago. The Butlers named their third child Elizabeth, much to the disgust of five-year-old Mike. He wanted his little sis to be dubbed Mary or Linda.

"We compromised," laughed the proud mama, "and named her Mary Elizabeth."

For Boys Overseas

Thanks to Hollywood's KFVB, the only station in the country to broadcast and record every minute of the Hunter College UNO meet, American armed forces stationed overseas will have the opportunity to eavesdrop on the historic event. The KFVB waxings are being beamed abroad through Armed Forces Radio Service.

Announcer Returns

Major Frank B. Goss, formerly an announcer at CBS and soon returning to his post there, has just recently arrived back in the States from India, where he was stationed at the Assam Area Command as Officer in Charge of the AFRS station at Panitola.

Higson Hits Jackpot

"Flushiest" college boy in Hollywood this week is twenty-year-old Jimmy Higson, philosophy student at UCLA and musical conductor on Hoagy Carmichael's NBC airshow, "Something New." Jimmy and his Teen-Agers band just finished a successful stint at the Orpheum, and that, plus his radio paycheck, netted him a neat $1500—which is a nice way to work (or play) your way through college!

JEAN GILLESPIE, who plays Alan Young's girl friend on the comic's ABC show, poses in her demure Easter bonnet of crisp straw and taffeta.

Something New

"Are you interested in news about a new baby?" said a nice-looking man who looked into Radio Life's door last week. We said yes, we were. "Well," he continued, "a boy, weight 7-11, was born Monday night (8) to Mrs. Murry Wagner, wife of the CBS staff announcer and actor. His name will be Elliot—but he can pick out his own name when he gets older."

"By the way," he added, "if you're wondering who I am—I'm Murry Wagner."

"LUM AND ABNER", ABC's lovable homespun laugh team (Chet Lauck and Norris Goff), are celebrating the start of their sixteenth year on the air. In the beginning, they almost became a blackface act!

Setting the mood for our first peacetime Easter since '41, American Broadcasting Company opens its series of appropriate religious ceremonies with a special broadcast of the 34th annual Easter Sunrise Pilgrimage service from atop Mt. Rubidoux, near Riverside. You'll hear this traditional service, one of the most historic in the land, over KECA from 5:15 until 6:00 on Easter morn.

Throughout the day special programs and the Easter motif on regularly scheduled programs will be in order. Special musical programs are being arranged by Paul Whiteman for his "Radio Hall of Fame," Basil Adlam for "Hollywood Music Hall," for the Ford Sunday Evening Hour, and many others of ABC-KECA's popular Sunday fare.

ABC's lineup of star talent continues to grow ... Among the recent arrivals is Ed Sullivan, Broadway columnist and showman, who is heard on Tuesday nights at 8:15, under the Edgeworth Tobacco banner. Sullivan's commentaries reflect his thorough knowledge of our many-sided world ... events of the day, sports and show business. He got his start as a Broadway columnist, as did Walter Winchell, on the old Evening Graphic, a New York tabloid which went out of business several years ago ... And speaking of things contractual ... There's the fine new five-year contract which Swift & Co., have just signed for continued sponsorship of a half-hour spot in the Monday thru Friday "Breakfast Club with Don McNeill." Here's that program's lovely new fem vocalist, Ilene Woods ... "Dark Venture," ABC's top thriller-chiller, now heard at 8:30 on Tuesday nights over KECA, has a brand new sponsor ... the Wildroot Co. Inc.

Proof that pioneering sometimes pays is given by the record of "My True Story," Monday thru Friday drama program heard over ABC-KECA at 10:30 a.m. Instead of following the soap opera tradition of daytime radio where a daily episode ends with the characters in the midst of a crisis and the listener on tenterhooks, "My True Story" always presents a complete story on each broadcast ... a well-knit listening unit of Broadway caliber. That the customers like it has been proved by the fact that "My True Story" is today the fourth most popular among all morning programs.

"Lead A Band" heard on Wednesday evenings at 6:30, is an equally popular weekday listening spot ... That Perry Ward, popular emcee of ABC's "What's Doin', Ladies" show, will be included in David Milsten's new book of broadcast anecdotes entitled "It Happened On The Air," which is due off the presses this summer. Several of the funny incidents which have happened on Perry's show will be described in the book. "What's Doin', Ladies," as you know, is a KECA Monday thru Friday regular at two o'clock.

TWO POPULAR MALE VOCALISTS, WHOSE VOICES ARE HEARD OVER KFI, ARE JOHN CHARLES THOMAS AND JOHNNY DESMOND. BOTH ARE BARITONES, BUT EACH HAS HIS OWN DISTINCTIVE STYLE.

John Charles Thomas

Heard on the Westinghouse Program each Sunday at 11:30 a.m., John Charles Thomas sings old favorites, semi-classical selections and operatic arias. He is supported by John Nesbitt, the "Passing Parade" story teller, Victor Young's orchestra and the Ken Darby Chorus.

Johnny Desmond

Singing on the Philip Morris Frolles of 1946, Johnny Desmond offers romantic and melodic numbers each Tuesday night at 8:30. Sharing the spotlight with Desmond are Margaret Whiting, the Quintet, Herb Shriner, cracker-barrel commentator, and the orchestra under the baton of Jerry Gray.

... and "in the act" is Ramsay Ames, lovely young screen starlet, appearing frequently of late at CBS' "You're in the Act" microphone. The famous Nils Thor Granlund (N. T. G.), emcee of the airshow, names Ramsay as "one of the most beautiful girls I've ever known." Miss Ames' talents are varied. She sings, dances, writes music, used to lead a rumba band in New York's swank Stork Club. "You're in the Act" is heard Monday through Friday, 12:00 noon, CBS-KNX.

Meredith Willson

After More Than Three Years with AFRS, Top Composer - Conductor Returns to Air To Resume Manifold Musical Activities

Thursday, 8:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI, KFSB

ONCE on the air, Meredith Willson ("Willson with TWO 1's") read a script line which said he was collecting miniature orchestras. As a matter of fact, Maestro Willson was doing no such thing, but his admirers seized the mere mention of his hobby as a scriptural, rather than scriptural truth and proceeded to shower him with tiny orchestras.

His friends in the radio business chimed in—Kay Kyser contributed a frog orchestra, Paul Whiteman presented him with one of delicate glass, Alfred Wallenstein found some glass frog musicians, and others swelled the collection until now Willson has an assortment of two hundred miniature bands.

Dwelling on the thought of talented Meredith being taken seriously, we wondered how the dialers of the Burns and Allen show are accepting him as a bumpkin-type character on the program.

▼ IN WILLSON'S SOUND-PROOFED suite on the second floor of his home, he strides a cock-light chair and bends intently over a composition. Wife Peggy, knowing that interruptions "drive him crazy", doesn't call Meredith to meals when he's wound up in a writing session (which sometimes last three days). She brings sandwiches and milk to him. (Note library in background, Valley Forge drum on floor).

Gracie pipes up with something like this: "Good morning, Meredith. You're up early today."

MEREDITH: "I've been out visiting my friends, the birds, Gracie. Each morning we commune together."

GRACIE: "Oh, that's sweet. Can I fix you a nice poached egg for breakfast?" (Meredith is supposed to be boarding with George and Gracie).

MEREDITH: "Oh, no! Not after being out with the birds. I'd know that some feathered mother had thought of that egg as Sonny Boy."

GRACIE: "You're too tender-hearted, Meredith. There are mama pigs, too, but I still wish the market would sell us a few slices of Junior."

MEREDITH: "I'll just have a bowl of Grape-Nuts. I don't believe they have any folks!"

Then George Burns comes in. "Look, Meredith," he asks, "do you know a nice hotel where you might get a room?"

MEREDITH: "It just so happens I do, George."

GEORGE: "Good."

MEREDITH: "The manager of the Hotel Bottomely is a friend of mine."
GEORGE: "Fine."

MEREDITH: "I can get a room there any time I want it."

GEORGE: (Hoping to oust Meredith from their house) "Wonderful. Why don't you move in?"

MEREDITH: "If I ever go back to Cincinnati, I certainly will!"

In AFRS

What's happened to Musician Willson?, you may ask. He's reading corny lines with George and Gracie while acting as orchestra leader for their program. When did he get out of the army and what else is he doing?

Plenty, is the answer. After three and a half years heading Armed Forces Radio Service's musical department (six months of this was spent as an unpaid civilian) Meredith Willson has bounded back into private practice. His chiffon music and his Snerdish characterization on Burns and Allen's program are well known. But let's find out more!

Go out to the new home in which he and Wife Peggy are snugly settled on the outskirts of Beverly Hills and you'll discover Meredith in his sound-proofed suite at the northwest corner of the second story. Maybe he'll be playing on the beautiful maple spinet, made for him by Steinway and autographed by Theodore Steinway himself. Or in a specially-made chair with arm rest much like that on a classroom chair, Meredith will be pouring over an arrangement or composition. You may look for something outstanding from him soon—in the symphonic line.

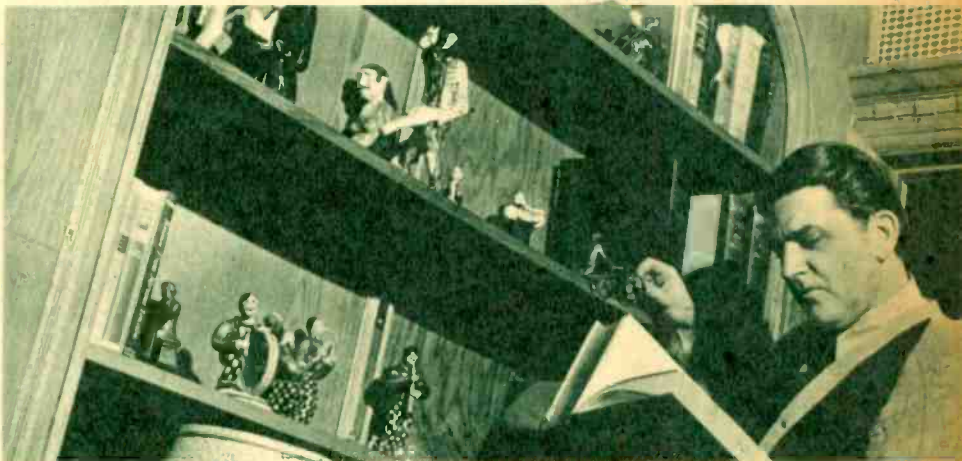

Meredith still has his 1938 Chevy (the left front fender is now badly

This one is Mexican, is perched on lid of beautiful Early American piano made especially for Willson and autographed by Theodore Steinway himself (at right of figurines).

▼ ALFRED HERTZ GAVE WILLSON the miniature opera shown in background, which is one of walls of the Willsons' maple-furnished den. All of the new home is done in Early American and Mrs. W. has become an incurable antique-hunter, constantly on the search for more unique items.

▼ BATTERED 1938 CHEVY is Meredith's favorite spot in which to compose. While cruising around in this car, he wrote "Two in Love", "Iowa", his new song, "I'll Never Say Goodbye to You Again", and several others.

go back to made him succeed in show business. "A camera is a passport to adventure," he said fondly. "With a camera you can go anywhere and pay your way."

Yes, Artie's still on leave of absence from his paper. "Every year when they send me the renewal, Gene McHugh, the assistant managing editor, sends me a telegram: 'Remember, a legitimate livelihood still awaits you!'" Artie laughed.

We asked Artie about a sensational murder case that we had heard he had covered as a newspaperman. "I'd rather you didn't say anything about that," he said. "You see, when that case happened, the defendant had a little daughter about two or three, who by now is a young lady. Every time that case is mentioned or rehashed, that girl might see it, or someone who knows her might read it. It isn't fair to her, is it?" You can see that Artie Auerbach has more in common with the kindly little druggist than his dialect.

No Gum Wrappers on the Ground

views high above the Ohio horizon in a Navy dirigible, covering the Cleveland Air Races ("That started my interest in aviation," Leyden interpolated), broadcasting in a diving suit from the bottom of a forty-foot tank with an octopus sharing the tank with him ("My listeners didn't know it," grinned Bill, "but the octopus had been dead for ten years!"), and taking his microphone inside a cage full of lions "that were very much alive!"

Later, Leyden (still miraculously alive himself) returned to Chicago, where, among other mike chores, he was master of ceremonies on the widely-diverse "Make-Believe Ballroom" broadcasts and the Grant Park Concert airings.

When World War II came along, Leyden answered the call and the lure of the skyways with three years' service in the Air Corps, eight months spent overseas as a fighter pilot in the European theater.

Hired On Spot

In the fall of last year, he received his discharge at McClellan Field. "It was in October, and I looked up at the California sun, and said 'That's for me!'" Bill smilingly related. "So I hied myself to Hollywood, and became the only announcer at KMPC to be hired without an audition. That just happened because they were already familiar with my work in Chicago."

Mr. Leyden is married (seven months now) to Frances Manning, whom he met in Fresno while he was there taking night-fighter training. "She doesn't like the name 'Frances', incidentally," Bill informed us. "I call her 'Frankie'."

"Also, not incidentally," he added, "tell the people we need a place to live! Right now, we're camping—and I mean that literally—in a single hotel room."

Mrs. Leyden shares her husband's enthusiasm for such healthy outdoor pursuits as hunting and fishing. The Leyden indoor interest is his extensive record collection (which he started when he was just fifteen). His personal platter favorites include Duke Ellington ("He's ten years ahead of his time!"), Peggy Lee ("She's too good!"), and Frank Sinatra ("No matter what they say about him, he can't be touched!")

Foregoing "shop talk" for a moment before our departure, we asked the KMPC mikeman to tell us his idea of an ideal vacation. "The remotest spot in the world," was his prompt reply. "Up where there are pine trees and peace—and where a fellow can walk all day and not come across a gum wrapper on the ground."

bashed in) in which he likes to drive while writing music. In this car, such popular numbers as "Two in Love," "Towa," and "You and I" were written.

New Song

The other day, Meredith backed the car out of the garage and went for a brief ride. When he came back, his newest song was done. He titled it from the last line and without hearing the melody, we think the words portend a hit number.

"I could say goodbye to summer
If somehow it had to be—
I could say goodbye to spring
And the warm caress of an April evening,

I could say goodbye to winter,
Holly wreaths and 'Silent Night'
And to friends—

The stormy weather friends

Who'd string along—

Whether wrong or right.

I could say goodbye to many things
Deep inside my heart.

I could take that heart and twist it free

From ev'ry kind of memory

And I could say goodbye someday to life itself—no matter when
But I could never say goodbye to you again.

was allowed to announce the news to his men. We have a record of it and all you can hear Kay saying is

"Holy Mackerel! Holy Mackerel!"

Ish left Kyser in March, 1945, for the Army. But they met last summer when Kay and his troupe went on an overseas tour. "I joined the show and played camps with them until they returned to the States. I followed shortly afterward, was mustered out of the Army and re-joined the show last November."

Young Pete's awfully glad to have his pops back home. Not for the usual reasons, but because it makes him the most popular kid on the block. Dad brought home the usual souvenirs, but among them were Japanese $1,000,000 notes and Pete is tops with the neighborhood.

"Inflation has come to our house," laughed Ish.

Sirs: How does it happen that whenever the announcer says: "The program originally scheduled will not be heard", we get such lovely music and programming on Los Angeles stations? It is almost worth staying tuned in for—just to hear that welcome announcement. Of all the places I have been in the U.S.A., I have never heard such a jumble of poor production and drivel as on Los Angeles radio. With the exception of a few network programs, which strangely enough, are not heard here at the right time, the radio bill-of-fare is fit for nothing but to wear out the old broken-down radios here to get ready for some decent programming on F. M.

Staff musicians standing by are responsible for the emergency music you enjoy. Hollywood and New York supply most of the network programs heard coast-to-coast, not just in Los Angeles. Have no idea where good production is to be found if not on the nets.

Mrs. Ida Mae Delles, 4102 El Camino Real, Palo Alto, Calif.

Sirs: I have so many favorite programs, it's hard to say what I like best. My husband says all I do at night is crank those radio knobs from one program to another and I'm sorry to say that some are on at the same hour and I have to miss one or the other. The only gripe I have, I guess, is "Mr. and Mrs. North". They aren't real. They are supposed to be man and wife, aren't they? Well, for a murder story man and wife, there are too many endearing words flying, although some are supposed to be sour. "The Whistler" isn't as good as it used to be. "Life of Riley" is a scream. Joan Davis and Jack Haley were better together.

Reader Delles has set us to wondering what "Mr. North" would say to "Mrs. North" if all she did at night was "crank those radio knobs from one program to another"!
