The Ear Inspires the Pen

Mrs. G. P. Shotwell, 5110 Carita Street, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Twirling the dial not long ago, in an attempt to find a program to please a group of young girls and boys visiting in my home, I tuned in on "Children Today" over K F O X. My young guests enjoyed it thoroughly and were even provoked to a private discussion of their own about the questions and answers heard. We were curious as to how the children appearing on the program are selected, since they vary from week to week. Could we have some information soon in Radio Life, and perhaps a picture of the young directress, Maudette Winters, and the very fine young pianist, Betty Hazlett?

Maudette Winters

Betty Hazlett

Twelve-year-old Maudette Winters not only conceived the idea for "Children Today," but she also emcees and handles production under the watchful eye of her dad, Tom Winters. The youngsters appearing on the program are outstanding teen-agers in the Long Beach vicinity. Pianist Betty Hazlett is fifteen, studied piano from her mother and has been playing for eleven years.

Jack Townsend, 925 Marietta Street, Los Angeles 23, Calif.

Sirs: My pet air stories are "Big Town," "The Green Hornet" and "Mr. District Attorney." To me, as an old theater attache, all three are good stories, and I can't figure out why such programs, especially "Big Town," which teaches kids to go straight, are to be taken off the air. Is it because the sponsors can't afford to pay higher wages to such worthy causes and stories?

A budget retrenchment is in progress with many radio sponsors, Mr. Townsend, and the effect has been rather drastic on many of our favorite shows. The winter season might see a lot of the better shows returning, however, and there's always the chance another backer will pick up the check.

Mrs. M. Kent, 3011 Silver Lake Boulevard, Los Angeles 26, Calif.

Sirs: I would like to know what became of Bob Burns. I always enjoyed his programs so much.

Agency and sponsor seem set now on Bob Burns's new show, "Country Editor." If all goes well, the series should soon find a network and time. We're just passing on the latest rumors, of course, and we only hope they come true.

Sirs: The following verse is a contribution to your "Ear Inspires the Pen"—if you care to use it.

THE RADIO

It really is a blessing
To be alive, today;
When we have entertainment
Over every great air-way.

In every waking hour,
We may switch the good old dial,
And give to every station,
A meditative trial.

Music, fun and laughter,
Are all there for our choosing,
Or on some certain program,
We can get a good bamboozling.

There always is a program,
For any kind of taste—
We never HAVE to listen,
If we haven't time to waste.

The news, the sports, the fashions,
Are there to listen to;
Or you may have some comedy,
If that appeals to you.

And you may show your culture,
In learning, taste or guessing,
For in this age of radio—
We really have a blessing!

I get a great deal of pleasure out of your magazine, as I do out of ALL the various radio programs. Reiterating, we indeed live in an age of blessings.

H. R. Hamilton, 6920 Treasure Road, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I have been enjoying your Flashbacks series of pictures and have seen many of the stars I have been wanting to see. Others I would be interested in seeing in forthcoming articles are some of the other popular stars of early shows such as Tony Wons, Alexander Woollcott (the Town Crier), the Phil Baker program when it had "Beetle" and "Bottle," Gary Breckner, Cecil and Sally. Hope you will try to include them soon.

We've enjoyed digging up our old pictures for "Flashbacks," and will try to answer your interesting requests in coming issues.

B.L.C., Apartment 7, Crown Hotel, 677 East Colorado Street, Pasadena 1, Calif.

Sirs: Do you have a picture of Ilka Chase? Heard her as a recent guest on "Twenty Questions," and admire her for her many contributions in entertainment circles... writer, actress and radio personality.

Miss G. Wokasien, 3517 North 23rd Street, Los Angeles 16, Calif.

Sirs: I would appreciate it very much if you would write a story on Al Jarvis, as I enjoy his program very much and would like to know more about him. Would you print a picture? By the way, does he have a son?

Al Jarvis

Our last Al Jarvis story was February 1. Here's that picture, and Al has three sons. Jerry, who is sixteen; Michael, who is almost seven; and Jeffrey (better known as "Peanuts"), who is ten months old. Also, the Jarvises are expecting another child quite soon!

Mrs. Kay Robisan, Box 45, Santa Monica, Calif.

Sirs: I cannot find fault with the radio talent, for every one of them does a better job in his line than I could possibly do. And too, it is very unkind to find fault. All we have to do is turn the dial. Now, I really do have three favorites. Number 1 is Stuart Hamblen. I think he is a nice, clean and moral young man, born and raised in Texas and has had two of his sponsors for twenty years. Number 2 is Bing Crosby. How we need more like him! Number 3 is Frank Sinatra. I heard him the first time years ago when Major Bowes gave him a try.

Josephine Merritt, 5445 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood 27, Calif.

Sirs: I read a criticism of Mercedes McCambridge in a recent issue. I wish to say, in opposition to this writer, that I very much admire Miss McCambridge's voice and listen to all the programs I can possibly hear her on. I do not understand how she could get on anyone's nerves. In fact, I've often wished I had a voice like hers!

All letters to the Ear Inspires the Pen Department should include name and full address of the sender. Name and/or address will be withheld on writer's request. Opinions expressed in the letters printed are those of the senders and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of Radio Life.

Ed M. Johnson Jr., 1654 Judson Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: It was through a local radio program, "Children Today" on station KFOX, Long Beach, (5:45 p.m. Saturdays) that I discovered Radio Life. These kids talk about anything, and if they don't like something they plainly say so. Better be glad they like Radio Life! I heard them talking about the Long Beach pike on one broadcast, and the next day one of our daily papers jumped on the pike, too. Since then, there has been a big improvement on the pike. I think more people would enjoy this program if they only knew about it. The only thing I see wrong with the program is it's too short (attention sponsor). P.S.: What's wrong with Frank Sinatra? For my money he can act.

Mrs. Harry E. Shuman, 220 Frankfort Street, Huntington Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Wish in your Flashbacks you'd remember Eddie Albright, who used to be on KNX with his 10:00 o'clock family. Wondered about him so often, as his was one of the most enjoyable half-hours. Would love to see Jerry Lawrence as emcee on some good audience-participation show. He's too good for small-time programs. Surely missed him when he left "Meet the Missus." Wish someone would tell us what became of Al Pearce . . . he's always been good and an old-time favorite.

Eddie Albright is now program director at Pasadena's station KWKW. He's on the air at 9:30 a.m., 12:25 and 2:30 p.m. with the news, and has his own "Feature Story" program daily at 10:30 a.m. Al Pearce, when we last heard, was ranching near Los Banos (between Fresno and the coast). He may have sold that place by now and have another, but our location threads dim out at that point.

Sirs: I have been in forty-two states of the United States, but nowhere could I find a greater magazine for so little. When I read your articles about radio personalities, I could sometimes burst out of my skin to hear how some of them got a job in radio through sheer luck. It sounds very easy, but try to talk to some station manager or even some person in the personnel department of a radio station!

California Broadcasting Co.

Mr. Willard Forrester, 4660 Lemon Avenue, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Sirs: How about an article on "Candid Microphone"? That most interesting program has me curious. Also, I'd like to see a picture of Joan Schafer, of "What Do You Say?"

Radio Life told the "Candid Microphone" story October 27. Some facts which may interest you:

Joan Schafer

The hidden recorder is carried about the city under a man's scarf, in an arm sling, disguised as a hearing aid, inside a trouser cuff, or in any such ingenious way which may occur to Allen Funt and his crew. The idea for his show occurred to Funt in the army, when he first dreamed up a "gripe room," actually a recording booth where soldiers could march in, let off steam about the service and mail the remarks home. The results were so entertaining that they suggested a perfect carry-over into a civilian radio program.

And loved he will always be.

On my radio he would be

With kids like you and me.

So in memory of Mauri,
I can say honestly
That in his home up above
He'll rest happily.

Sirs: Could you please tell me the name of the theme song on "The Casebook of Gregory Hood"? I would also like to know the name of the person who plays for the program, and if he or she has made any recordings of it.

Dick Aurandt is "The Casebook of Gregory Hood" organist, and the theme is his original composition which he's titled after the program. No recording has been made, unfortunately.

Kenneth Holt, 6440 Sampson Street, Van Nuys, Calif.

Sirs: I have been very interested in Ear Inspires the Pen recently, and the people who have been trying to tear apart Frank Sinatra. I think that the argument is very silly. I agree that Sinatra may not be perfect, but who is? Also, several people have complained about the humor of "Digger O'Dell" on "The Life of Riley." The part of the "Digger" is meant to be taken humorously. You would have to be very morbid to take it otherwise.

Mrs. Bertha S. Mortimer, 1747 North Lincoln, Burbank, Calif.

Sirs: I think Radio Life is worth every penny of its low cost, as you must realize that I wouldn't be a subscriber so long if I thought otherwise. I read it from cover to cover each week, and think you do a wonderful job. I don't agree with a lot of the gripes in the "Ear Inspires the Pen," because as far as I am concerned I can always find some program that I like, and I don't see why other people can't do the same thing.

I, for one, am glad we have radio and realize we wouldn't have it without sponsors. So why gripe about commercials, or anything, for that matter? Good luck to you all, and just keep Radio Life coming even if you have to go up in price . . . you have to live, too.

W. Duncan, 1349 Glenmeyre, Laguna Beach, Calif.

Sirs: I have considered writing to say how I admire and appreciate Mercedes McCambridge's lovely voice, and always especially enjoy listening to a cast that includes her. How can anyone dislike it? What do they prefer, Lionel Stander? I listen to "Lora Lawton" especially for the beautiful voices of the dramatis personae, though I'm getting terribly bored with Lora's sufferings and don't know how much longer I shall hang on. It is rare to find such cultivated voices these days when volume, not timbre, seems to be the first requisite. So a long and happy career to Mercedes, Jan Miner, Ned Wever and "May Case." And I loathe "Hotbreath Houlihan"!

Helene Lyons, 910 Rosecrans Avenue, Norwalk, Calif.

Sirs: In one of your next issues would you please include something about "Hawthorne"? He is on KXLA daily at 10:00 p.m. We listen to his program regularly and would like to know more about him.

Our second Hawthorne article was May 23, and it was acclaimed excellent by Hawthorne himself. Watch for "The Hawthorne Thing" to go transcontinental soon, over a major network and with an important sponsor.

Nightly, 11:00 p.m.
KFVD

CULTURED, portly George Wilhelm, record host of KFVD's nightly "Spade Cooley Time," is an unexpected version of the chaps who disc-jockey cowboy and hillbilly ballads.

Mr. Wilhelm's education in the drama and the arts has been so formal that some people might be inclined to think him stuffy. He is moderator, also, of KXLA's interesting "American Repertory Theatre" (Saturdays, 6:15 p.m.), as an associate of Madame Maria Ouspenskaya, William Catrell and Alexander Koiransky. He has had ten years of distinguished experience in legitimate theater, was assistant director (1930) with the Cambridge School of Drama on Harvard Campus, and still gives private instruction preparing and coaching aspirants for screen tests and radio.

Moreover, George was once asked to resign from a station for refusing to play western music! "I'm afraid my tastes were terribly classical then," he apologizes.

Converted

If he's had to acquire his present loyalty for western melody, George Wilhelm is certainly one of his own best listeners now. His fans call him "Georgie Porgie"; and they write to him from as far away as Adak, Alaska, and Baton Rouge, Louisiana, to tell him they like the new importance he is giving their favorite kind of music through his show. Although KFVD is a 5000-watt local station, freak night-time coverage between the program hours of 11:00 and 2:00 a.m. reaches nine West Coast states and generally farther. "Spade Cooley Time" mail comes from Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, and from trappers within a few miles of the Arctic Circle; and George receives regular telephone calls nightly from Utah, Oregon and Nevada.

George's last vacation was taken especially to visit "Spade Cooley Time" listeners. With one of his former dramatic students, a Hawaiian boy named Gene Seman, he drove through Northern California, Oregon and the desert, and on the way stopped "to say hello" to the folks he'd met on the show. He went gold panning and fishing in the Rogue River, and was elected Honorary Tail Twister of the Spit 'n' Whistle Club (an affair exclusively for gentlemen, holding its soirees at Ye Okay Pastime Center, Gold Hill, Oregon).

"Spade Cooley Time" began over KFVD as a series on behalf of the Spade Cooley dances (now broadcast live over KGIL Friday and Saturday evenings at 9:30 p.m.) The show has never bothered to change its name, though the largest portion of its music features entertainers competitive to Cooley, and though Cooley himself only appears as an infrequent guest. "Max the Hired Hand" was initial jockey, for eighteen months; then Jack Sherman took the program; and George has had it since October of last year.

Los Angeles is the nation's hub for all the new western song releases, George affirms, and he runs part of "Spade Cooley Time" as an important opportunity to make record introductions. He recently began the fairly radical practice of including minstrel singers — Josh White, Susan Reed, Burl Ives, John Jacob Niles, etc.—insisting that their music belongs with that of the cowboy balladeers, and vice versa. Richard Dyer-Bennet's lovely and liquid version of "Spanish Is a Loving Tongue" was his first attempt to get his listeners to hear "something a little different," and all similar choices have been—"very well received." He has even presented the African Veldt songs of Josef Marais and Miranda, both of whom guested on the program and helped answer telephones when George was busy.

Still a Dramatist

George hesitates to talk overly about his work on the "American

Introducing Bill Gwinn

Your New Emcee on "What's the Name of That Song?" Is a Pleasant Northern Californian, Who Recently Taught School and Who's Been in Radio Three Years

By Jae Dunn

Wednesday, 8:00 p.m.
MBS-KHJ, KFXM, KGB, KVOP

A FORMER SPEECH and drama professor with a natural baritone voice and a flair for people is carrying on "What's the Name of That Song?" since the death of originator-emcee Dud Williamson.

Bill Gwinn flies from San Francisco to Los Angeles for the Wednesday and Saturday "Song" broadcasts each week. Immediately after the second performance, he boards a plane for home and his Sunday night paymastering on "Quiz of Two Cities." Bill does a house-hunting tour of the vicinity each time he comes down, but because of the Gwinns' many friends and activities in the Bay area, he wants to find "just the right" new Los Angeles home for himself and his family before they all make the move.

The Family

The Gwinns are four: Bill; his wife Dorothea (who until recently ran her own nursery school); and their two sons, Michael (age four) and Bill Jr. (age seven). Bill and Dorothea were married nineteen years ago, when Bill was still in Stanford working for his A.B. and M.A. in speech and English.

For eight years, Bill was head of the speech and drama department at the College of Marin. He has also been active in San Francisco's picturesque and exclusive "Bohemian Club" for quite some time, and it was there that he met San Francisco's KFRC station manager, Bill Pabst. Pabst suggested that Bill try narration of a radio "Sketchbook" series only three years ago; and, except for some sound-track work on a few training films for the army and navy, the program was Bill's first venture into the business. When the script dialogue didn't quite suit his "style of chin," Bill volunteered to write his own. He soon left his professoring entirely, to write six half-hours a week called "The Bill Gwinn Show." The following season, he also became San Francisco's emcee on "The Quiz of Two Cities" (vs. Stu Wilson in Los Angeles).

At the "Bohemian Club," (founded about 1870 by a colorful group of patrons of the arts, and boasting such past members as Jack London and such present ones as Jascha Heifetz, Lawrence Tibbett, Bing Crosby, Dennis Day, Herbert Hoover, Lauritz

Sportsman

During his summers, while he was still a professor at Marin, he was master of ceremonies for all the Camp Curry activities, and he just finished handling the Fiftieth Camp Anniversary Show. He hosted the Bracebridge Dinner at Yosemite last Christmas, as well as the New Year's show, and spent his days skiing. Bill is an enthusiastic sportsman when he has the time. He likes the hunting and fishing in Humboldt County, and his wife likes to trout-fish.

The Gwinns would like to have a boat—either a sail or cruiser. Bill took a four-piece band around the world on the Dollar Line when he

"Escape By Sea"

Looking for a Way to Have Fun, Get Exercise and Still Remain Solvent? Gaylord Carter Says an Auxiliary Sloop Is the Answer.

Monday-Friday, 2:30 p.m.
ABC-KECA, KFMB

By Jane Pelgram

FIVE DAYS each week, Gaylord Carter joins the cast of ABC's "Bride and Groom" show to play the strains of the wedding march, create background music for the wedding ceremony, and accompany Jack McElroy in the singing of the newlyweds' favorite song.

Evenings at home Gaylord digs into the work of composing scores for Shipstad and Johnson's famous Ice Follies. Many a night musician Carter and the show's choreographer work till the pre-dawn hours. Even on Sundays Gaylord is up early to play the organ at his church.

But this busy composer-musician bypasses vacations. As he says, "I don't need two weeks off to 'get away from it all.' Just a couple of hours' drive to the water's edge, and in no time I'm clear into another world—every Saturday!"

Carter doesn't harbor any mystic device that magically transports him beyond reach of all workaday problems. He simply owns a boat. The "Blue Fin," streamlined auxiliary sloop, pokes her slender, shiny nose out of the slip at Wilmington every Saturday, summer or winter, and under power gets out to sea. Once there, Gaylord kills the engine, breaks out his canvas, and is away with the breeze to Catalina, down the coast, or just around. Anyone who has enjoyed the snap of canvas in a good breeze, and the sight of the lee rail awash, knows the complete satisfaction Gaylord finds in his hobby.

Not a Rich Man's Hobby

"In the first place, most people labor under the idea that it costs a fortune to own a boat. With a little shopping around you can find a boat like mine for the same price you'd pay for any of the so-called big cars," explained Gaylord.

(Please Turn to Page 8)

▶ TWO OF THE COMFORTABLE BUNKS are shown converted into brightly upholstered resting spots for those who find business "below." The coil of wiring Gaylord's working over is used when the boat idles in the slip, and reaches a power source that operates the radio, lights and other gadgets on his sleek craft. ▶ FEW ATTENDANTS TO ABC'S "BRIDE AND GROOM" would recognize this pensive old salt as the usually impeccable organist who plays the romantic strains accompanying the wedding ceremony and festivities. CBS-KNX

JHERE'S MORE to Jane Ace than meets the ear. Jane, of course, is the well-meaning wife in the "Mr. Ace and Jane" series, the wife who says the wrong thing at the right time—and says it upside down. On first hearing, most "Janeisms" seem to be merely frivolous corruptions of conventional expression. A second look will often prove that a good deal of unintentional common sense is buried in them.

For instance, when someone says "hello" to Jane, her answer is invariably "just fine." Which serves to eliminate a few superfluous and banal exchanges. If she hasn't seen the person in quite a while, she adds "long face no see." If she hasn't met the individual before, she acknowledges the introduction with "pleased to meet your acquaintance."

Jane, who has an aunt made "immaturely gray" by worry, and other relatives "too humorous to mention," studied "domestic silence" in school. Before she was married she used to be "fool face and fancy free."

Truth in Jest

She tells her husband he's a "ragged individualist," occasionally rebukes him for being "such a tight-rope" and for "running around like a chicken with its hat off," but, generally speaking, she feels that she's got him "in the hollow of my head."

Once she decided he was taking her "too much for granite" and announced: "Let me tell you, my tarfeathered friend, one of these days you'll have to change your tic-tacs."

But she soothes him when he's been overworking by insisting: "Relapse, dear, relapse."

Jane, who doesn't drink or smoke because "I'm a totalitarian," knows a good idea when she hears one. "You hit the nail right on the thumb," she'll say. Or "It hit me in the face like a flash in the pan." But when she's frankly puzzled trying to figure out a problem, she's the first to admit that "it's really a stinkler."

When Jane makes her mind up about something, she's firm. She is convinced, for one thing, that "a vacation by car is not what its jacked up to be." She's equally certain that she "wants to earn some money for a rainy day so I won't be a parasol."

She knows how to keep a secret, too. "Dumb's the word," she solemnly observes, adding that she's willing to be sworn to secrecy "on a stack of wheatcakes."

When she has something to tell Mr. Ace, it usually takes her a while to get started. "Well," she will say, "to make a long story, I'll begin at the beguine."

Both Right and Wrong

Jane feels that "love makes the world go around together," but thinks a husband who runs around with other women is "a regular Bluebird."

She's very frank in her appraisals of people. "He looks like a page out of Escrow," she's likely to announce. Or, "she's as old as Macushla." Of course, when someone speaks with a "southern drool," Jane is quick to notice that too.

When she finds that she's "under the wrong impersonation" of who's who at a given time, she's apt to describe her error as a "case of misshapen identity." And when other people are wrong, she lets them know it. "You're barking up the wrong dog," she says.

If she has a secret to confide, she'll preface it with a whispered, "this is just entre nous and me."

And if you have any suggestions about anything, don't hesitate to tell Jane. "I want you to be suggestive," she declares. "But," she often adds, "don't monotonize the conversation."

Our favorite "Jane-ism" was re-

"Escape by Sea"

A boat like his means a twenty-five-foot sloop, with a concealed ten-horsepower motor. The attractively upholstered and outfitted cabin sleeps four comfortably; contains a stove, icebox and sink roomy enough to make cooking not only feasible but a pleasure; and enough storage space for all the towels, clothing or extra rations that even the worst land-lubber could wish. Of course Gaylord's boat has the added advantage of a radio, with a battery supply for operation at sea. This, too, can happen to anyone whose list of friends includes a radio engineer with time on his hands and a yen for a boat ride.

"The cost of maintenance is surprisingly low. Certainly less than most people spend tearing around in a car weekends to the mountains or on short trips. Counting your gas and oil for the engine, the rent of your slip (the dock or yacht basin space in which boats are moored when idle), the cost of raising, scraping and painting your hull yearly, even replacing your sheets (the ropes which control the jib and mainsail), and keeping the deck and cabin painted and clean comes to only about $600 each year. The cost varies with the owner's own inclination to tinker and paint and mess around with his boat. If you want someone else to keep up all these things the cost is going to run higher, but half the fun to me is working over my engine, painting and puttering."

Simple Operation

"I suggest a sloop like mine as a particularly practical boat because while I can go just about any place in it, handling her requires only two. As you can see, the motor is as simple as a car. A starting button turns the engine over, and the throttle can regulate the speed to an idle, or way out. She makes about seven knots under full power.

"I'm not eager to try handling my canvas alone, but I guess it can be done. I read about a man going up the inland channel clear to Alaska, in a boat just like the 'Blue Fin,' accompanied only by his dog!

"Once under way, there's nothing more difficult to do than watch where you're going, just as you would in regular traffic. Theoretically, a boat under canvas (sailing without use of the motor) has right of way over anything on the water except the ferry boats. I usually let the boatloads of fishermen go right on across my bow, though." Gaylord grinned. "Those fellows get pretty excited when they're onto a school of yellowtail or something. My only 'incident at sea,' so to speak, occurred when I sailed serenely through a group of boats on which people were fishing. There was some mighty inelegant language floating out over the water . . . all directed at me. I cleared out expecting a hook in the scalp from every boat I passed getting out!"

"My first boat was literally forced on me," laughed Gaylord. My first boss, Raymond Paige, wanted to sell one, and put the heat on me.

"I've never acquired any yachting clothes. I didn't learn a blasted thing in the navy that is of any use to me in operating the 'Blue Fin,' and the only thing about nautical terms I know is that you can feel salty as all-get-out using them."

Repertory Theatre" program, lest his western fans view him askance. But the group is doing some very unusual things, among them a recently concluded collection of twelve fifteen-minute broadcast talks on writing, featuring Lucille de Nevers.

A Hefty History

George's amazing background is really too extensive for elaboration. But he can chat delightfully about the days when he, for twenty dollars a week, stage-managed and rewrote the performance of "Lovelorn Lady" which was produced by one Ed "Duffy's Tavern" Gardner. He can recall how he once learned and performed eight Shakespearean roles in one week at the old Al Jolson Theatre; and how he co-starred with Phil Silvers in "The Play's the Thing" on the "borsch circuit" out of New York. He can tell you of his world record, for reading "Anthony Adverse" aloud over a public-address system in Portland, Oregon, for exactly thirty-six hours and forty minutes, as build-up for the picture's premiere. And, he can smile now at the time he put a play on the air without deletion, for a swank women's shop, on Sunday. (He'd then been used to the dialogue freedom on the stage, and it didn't occur to him to strike out such lines as "&$"% it, get that (&*)—%$ out of here!")

George is a big and athletic man. He taught fencing at the Universities of Oregon and Washington, at the Cornish School of Allied Arts, Cleveland Playhouse and Cambridge School of Drama. He was a champion weight lifter when he was fifteen. In 1929 he swam the Columbia River for nineteen hours in an endurance swimming contest. Three years before he swam from Toledo to Yaquina, Oregon, (twelve miles) in four hours and twenty-one minutes. He is still a member of the Royal Life Saving Society of London, holds medals and certificates from the National Swimming Instructors Association of Philadelphia.

His wife's name is Patricia. She was formerly a receptionist at KFWB and they have been married four years.

George would particularly like to mention the many western stars who have joined with him on his regular shows at Rancho Los Amigos. The activity is one of his most occupying, and with a regular troupe (including Bill Blancett, Rocky Mills, Bob McCollum, the Brown Twins, Stan Freeberg, Red Coffee, Sunny Ciesla, Dusti Lynn, Tommy Dickson and Little Ray), plus guesting celebrities, he has been making entertainment trips to the Rancho every third Sunday in the month for the past eighteen months.

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Attention, Camera Fans!

Lucky you! If you're a camera fan, you're invited to Columbia Square's big camera party to be held on August 17 (Tuesday), 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Hosts of the party are Maurie Webster and the Westlake Camera Exchange, sponsors of Maurie's show, "Behind the Lens."

Free flash bulbs will be supplied by the camera company and KNX will supply professional models, entertainers and its stages and studios as lens targets. KNX, Maurie Webster and Westlake Camera invite all fans to bring their cameras and shoot pictures just about anywhere in the Columbia Square forecourt and the first floor of CBS.

Camera experts will be on hand to advise and give tips on how to get the best results. More than a dozen door prizes will be given away—cameras and sound film among them.

And that's not all! Two weeks later, a picture contest will be held and camera fans who attended the party will be invited to enter the best pictures taken on the party day occasion. Radio Life Magazine will award the first prize—a Bush Pressman Press-Type Camera, valued at over $200—and will print winning pictures. Four hundred other prizes will be given, so your chance of winning an eight-millimeter movie camera or other valuable equipment is considerable.

Further details, names of judges and personalities to attend the party will be announced on "Behind the Lens" on Sunday, August 15, 11:00 a.m. And good luck!

There'll be another new voice in a regular Sunday night spot on ABC-KECA starting August 15. On that date Commentator Drew Pearson takes off for a well-earned vacation, and Al Capp, creator of the comic strip, "Li'l Abner," takes over for a four-week period. Capp, who was "discovered" as a radio personality when he appeared on a discussion panel on ABC's "America's Town Meeting" early this spring, will offer his views and comments on the news of the day at 8 p.m., Sundays on KECA. . . . Another ABC news analyst, Arthur Gaeth, heard on KECA at 9 on Monday nights, is currently on a four-week European tour, airing his weekly comments, via short-wave, from various news fronts on the Continent. . . . Also in Europe to gather eye-witness reports on the people and places he visits for his radio audience, is Ted Malone, ABC's human interest storyteller. Ted transcribed his daily broadcasts before leaving New York. . . . He's expected back in the U.S.A. for his broadcast of Monday, Aug. 23 (KECA at 10 a.m.).

Two of KECA's important Tuesday night offerings, The Monitor Views the News and America's Town Meeting, are going right on through the summer. Editor Erwin D. Canham will keep his "Monitor" audience abreast of important developments in Europe and the Near East . . . and up with latest developments in the presidential campaign. The "Monitor Views the News," as you know, is heard over ABC-KECA every Tuesday night at 8:15. . . . And "America's Town Meeting," that dean of all forum broadcasts, will not only be aired every Tuesday night throughout the summer on ABC (KECA at 9) but the hour-long debates on current problems will be televised as well for ABC's fast-growing list of television stations. George V. Denny, Jr., moderator and founder of "America's Town Meeting," is enthusiastic over the possibilities of his cross-country audience seeing as well as hearing the eminent statesmen, scientists, journalists and leaders from various walks of life who make up the panels for the Town Meeting sessions. America's Town Meeting is now sponsored in the Los Angeles area by Sealy Mattress Co.

Milton Cross' popular Sunday afternoon "Opera Album" is now an hour-long session for music lovers, ABC-KECA from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. . . . That's the program dedicated to the proposition that all animals deserve humane treatment, no matter what their condition or pedigree. . . . You'll enjoy the animal stories any Monday through Friday evening on KECA at 6:05 . . . and you'll hear about the deserving pets which the Los Angeles S.P.C.A. has awaiting homes. . . . Your Cue (Shows You May Like)

"Our Miss Brooks"

It's beginning to look as though CBS has a corner on our favorite girls. There's Marie Wilson of "My Friend Irma," Jane Ace, Lucille Ball of "My Favorite Husband," and now Eve Arden as "Our Miss Brooks," KNX, 6:00 p.m. Monday.

We were a little surprised in the initial stages to learn that "Miss Brooks" was a school teacher—a type with which we've heretofore not associated the glamorous Miss Arden. Turns out fine all around, however. The setting and viewpoint are different (a change from the student's point of view, that is), and Eve Arden gets her first radio chance to prove that she is a comedienne and an actress, a fact the movies discovered as long ago as "Stage Door." Happily, in this series she is not cast as the heroine's funny girl friend. The plot gives her no better chance at the hero, however. A handsome man teacher, played by Jeff Chandler, is the rather dense object of her affections. As the plot stands now, her chances of capturing his affection seems rather remote considering he is a biology teacher.

Most of the people who populate the script are pleasant, though hardly true-to-life. Jane Morgan gets a chance to show her considerable comedy touch in the role of the landlady. Joe Forte is the high-school principal. Dick Crenna is a problem student.

Eve has lost none of her ability at delivering biting comedy lines in this switch to a story show. We think you'll like her even better than before.

"Jeff Regan, Investigator"

The "investigations" launched by the title character of CBS's new 9:30 p. m. Saturday show, "Jeff Regan, Investigator," are designed to uncover the spurious insurance plots against the company, "American Insurance," that makes money while "Jeff" experiences all its difficulties.

Most significant thing about this show is Jack Webb's reappearance on the air as "Jeff Regan," and the way each successive script seems to be penned with Jack a little more closely in mind. Direction, too, is working toward more definite coloring of the stories through the presentation. That trusty old close-to-the-mike delivery that marks a Webb reading is getting back into the act.

Competent AFRA-ites complement the E. Jack Neuman-penned scripts that Jack Webb heads, and if action is your meat, you'll not be disappointed a whit by the lively tales that take "Regan" through unbelievable troubles and a series of plots that almost invariably have a snapper in the way of the least-suspected being the most-guilty.

You won't even rue the complete dissimilarity to the "Pat Novak" or "Johnny Modero" formats with their parade of off-side characters who be-friended and abetted the principal.

The machinations of trying to beat the insurance game don't need a series of dissolute but spectacular characters who operate from behind a haze of alcohol. The fresh approach has enough of the tough, enough action, and enough surprise. Getting enough of the Webb excellence at a mike is another matter. Welcome back, Jack!

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride . . .

To Michael Raffetto ("Paul" of "One Man's Family"), who does so much with his small part in the current film, "Foreign Affair."

To Kay Starr, who sounds like a real live singing sensation on the Steve Allen show and her own ABC program.

To Eugene Ormandy and the Hollywood Bowl orchestra on the CBS symphony program for the musical treat of the week—their rendition of the Second Daphnis and Chloe Suite by Ravel.

To KECA for the most honest statement of the week. The program logged for Wednesday, August 11, at 5:15 p.m. is listed merely as Recorded Music!

To the sharpest television panel we've ever heard—the kids on "Child's World." They discussed the things they would and wouldn't like to see on video—the result should give pointers to any TV producer.

To Bill Gargan, that handsome Irishman, and the fine substitute job he did on "Breakfast in Hollywood" last Thursday during the Garry Moore vacation.

To Agnes Moorehead's electrifying performance in "The Yellow Wallpaper" on "Suspense" July 29. Almost another "Sorry, Wrong Number!"

We View With Alarm . . .

Cliches that are deemed necessary in too many radio dramatic shows—we're thinking of: "We can't go on like this!" "This is bigger than both of us!" "You have yourself to think of." "You don't know what you're saying." "I never want to see you again as long as I live."

The hamming that spoiled an otherwise good script on last week's "Mystery Theater."

"Communism, U.S. Brand"

On Monday, August 2, KECA broadcast an hour-long documentary, "Communism—U. S. Brand," written by Morton Wishengrad and directed by Martin Andrews. David Broekman prepared and conducted the score.

The efforts of the above three, aided by an excellent cast, resulted in a splendid hour of enlightenment on the most controversial subject in the United States today. Partly dramatic and partly narrative, the Norman Rose-narrated program "analyzed the structure and workings of the party here in the U. S., summarizing the documented facts and presenting conclusions and recommendations."

The dramatic line of the broadcast followed an average young man, "Phil Blake," through his indoctrination into Communism and his efforts on the behalf of the party. That's not the newest story in the world, but the careful manner in which was presented "Phil's" absolute and sincere belief that he was right in his belief, made that aspect stand out as it has never before in either story or article.

The growth of "obedience" as a personal rule as well as the party rule was demonstrated by "Phil's" reactions in a series of incidents which in themselves demonstrated the actual machinery by which the party works. Joseph Julian played "Phil Blake."

A major portion of this documentary was based on Wishengrad's research of official documents of the Communist Party, speeches made by party members, the writings of Marx, Lenin and Stalin, and other published reports. What came out of the speaker at home as a result of months of research and work was a documentary with the kick of a .257 Magnum, and the unhappy realization that it is not only soap-boxing fanatics who have fallen prey—Joe Doaks down the block can be taken in, too, unless he's enlightened.

In response to numerous requests of listeners and stations, ABC re-broadcast the documentary on Sunday, August 8, at 6:30 p. m. The repeat broadcast was transcribed, ABC producers, who debated presenting the re-broadcast of the documentary "live" or transcribed, decided that since the demand was for the program as originally presented, the latter method would be the more faithful reproduction.

Meeting Marie

In the interests of press-agentry, we were privileged to pose for a picture layout the other day with Marie Wilson of "My Friend Irma".

Marie turned up looking like a pink bon-bon with a personality to match. Her pink and white complexion and her blonde hair were in a shade with her pink ruffled pinafore. To the chorus of friends and fans who call her "Sweet Marie" we'd like to add our voice. She gave us to understand that it was so nice of us to take the trouble to come over and appear with her.

We tried to confess that photos usually showed us to be wildly hilarious or absolutely stony of countenance. She claimed it was the same with her—"I look either dumb or sleepy!" We know that to be an untruth, but we did feel better about the camera.

As the photographer worried about the background and props in the picture, Marie revealed that the same thing happens to her on a movie set. "I stand there and they say, 'Straighten that rug' or 'Hit that wall with a light'—nobody looks at me." Purpose of the photo was to show the interviewer and the interviewee. Marie showed us how to look just past her instead of directly at her—"so your eyes will show in the picture," she smiled. Flattered beyond words by all this, we could only drop our purse and sun-glasses in reply. Marie interpreted this as all her fault. "Gee," she sighed, "I'm always doing clumsy things. I went to a party once and mentioned to the hostess that I was always knocking over dishes. As I said it I made a sweep with my arm—like this—and knocked a whole lot of dishes on the floor. They didn't invite me back for four months."

Those charm-school teachers oughta dash over to CBS and take a few lessons from Miss Marie Wilson.

KFWB Head Aids Chest

Harry W. Maizlish, not busy enough with the managership of Warner's KFWB, has recently added to his duties and public-service efforts by accepting the position of Public Information Chairman of the Community Chest of the Los Angeles Area. This means that Mr. Maizlish has the last word on programming radio and television activities for the Community Chest operation in this locale.

Helps Build

An invitation to a prominent Kentucky Kiwanian to be a guest letter-reader for one of KHJ's "Heart's Desire" programs set off a chain reaction of interest that has won for a partially crippled ten-year-old boy the granting of his most heartfelt wish, plus the establishment of a medical trust fund in his behalf.

The boy involved is Johnny Ventham, of Providence, Rhode Island, who had written to emcee Ben Alexander asking for a baseball suit so that he could "empire" neighborhood games. His crippled condition prevented him from playing. Mr. Twyman Humphry of Louisville, Kentucky, past president of the Kentucky-Tennessee District of Kiwanis, was in Hollywood at the time and was invited to read the boy's letter during a broadcast. He became personally interested in the writer, and after the broadcast arranged for Kiwanis International and Kiwanis in Providence also to intercede in Johnny's behalf. The result was a luncheon in Johnny's honor, attended by prominent Providence residents; interest in the boy himself; and the establishment of a medical trust fund by means of which it is hoped the defect which now handicaps him can be remedied.

Sportswise Bob Kelley will be up in the press box to cover the LOS ANGELES RAMS games for KMPC again this season. Kick-off will be the Los Angeles Times Charity event at the Coliseum on September 2 between the Rams and the Washington Redskins followed by an exhibition game between the Rams and Philadelphia Eagles in Dallas, Texas, on September 15. The regular pro-grid series hits the field on September 22. Bob has been the exclusive broadcaster for the Rams games since 1937—quite an achievement for our boy, Bob.

While on the subject of sports, if you're interested in viewing the calisthenics by which Hal Berger recreates his "Major League Ball" broadcasts, write the station for tickets to his Friday show.

Jeanne Gray labelled "Favorite Woman Commentator" by nationalmag, Radio Best, in a recent contest. Nice going for Jeanne, who now boasts four awards for her "Woman's Voice" in the past year.

A most pleasurable half-hour on KMPC's roll of musical favorites is, appropriately enough, Dal Williams' "FIRESTONE FAVORITES." Dal admits he is guilty of selecting music which he personally prefers—together with his listeners' requests—and luckily his taste concurs with that of his audience. Show is aired weeknights at 7:00 P.M. and introduces Broadway musical comedy hits . . . American ballads . . . semi-classical scores.

If you want to learn bridge in Six Easy Lessons, as outlined by bridge expert Robert Lee Johnson, visit your neighborhood Signal Oil dealer to obtain your copy of these attractive folders. They are in the hands of the more than 2000 Signal dealers on the Pacific Coast. Bob Johnson assures us that it works and Ely Culbertson has added his stamp of approval to the series.

Eddie Stanley (of the show by that name) finds himself amidst the latest electrical gadgets when his program emanates from the Electric Exposition at Pan Pacific Auditorium on Saturday at 12:00 Noon. We trust no short circuiting will occur.

Off Mike: The gigantic St. John's Hospital benefit at Pan Pacific on September 4 should really live up to the grand Hollywood tradition particularly when you view your celluloid heartthrobs ride elephants, dangle from a trapeze, and take over the clowning concession. Greek Theatre is staging some outstanding performances if you haven't already partaken of their fare. The hallways of "The Station of the Stars" somewhat empty these days as staff members tear off in different directions for their annual vacations.

F.M. FLASHES

An uncolored survey for station KKLA, in the interest of Frequency Modulation, was recently made. This survey was based on 300 contact calls, and was used as a base for the 150,000 FM sets in this area.

A very interesting point of the survey brought out the fact that only seventy-seven per cent of the people who own FM sets know that they have one. This was found to be the case in this particular survey due to the fact that only FM set owners were called.

Another illuminating percentage came out when it was found that of the 150,000 set owners, 129,000 prefer FM listening quality to AM, but do not like the programs.

Another preference was checked, and revealed that sixty-five per cent of FM listeners prefer popular music, eleven per cent prefer classical, and twenty-four prefer western.

It's a good safe bet that with the advantage of infinitely better quality on the side of FM, programming will be directed along lines that will satisfy set owners (whether they realize they've got FM or not).

Apparently the group who weren't hep to their FM ownership haven't heard the Hollywood Bowl auditions. Soft music that is soft, forte that is strong, and everything else designed in music to please the human ear comes across. The time, Sunday at 12:00 noon. The megacycles, 93.1... KNX-FM.

FM station KAGH (98.3 megs.), the only FM station, incidentally, that is on the air as early as 6:00 a.m., also carries a Sunday period of good listening for lovers of the classics. From 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. is the "Symphony of Sierra Madre," a collection of favorite symphonic selections, then from 3:00 to 5:00 a complete opera is presented. KAGH is preparing an ahead-of-time schedule for us to print.

Another tip for FM set owners "who don't like the programs." Have you heard KKLA's "Tempo Time" at 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays? The tape gets out and gets the story behind the story, by visiting the railroad watchman up in his tower, the happy fisherman aboard a sports-fishing boat, or any other well-known but little heard centers of activity.

And how about Gloria Grant's fifteen minutes Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:15 a.m.? Gloria is a seventeen-year-old who presents a teen-age slant on movie news. She doesn't concern herself nearly as much with what actress had too many at a party as she does with real news from the lots and sound stages of the industry.

IF POSSIBLE

"If I am elected 'Queen for a Day,' " began a letter recently addressed to Mutual's popular daytime program, "I would like to celebrate my and my mother's birthday. I was born on April 21, and she was born the day after."

"THE BAMBINO"

Bobbie Ellis, who's "Alexander Bumstead" on CBS's "Blondie" adventures, will play the role of Babe Ruth as a boy in the forthcoming film biography titled "The Babe Ruth Story." The film, under direction of Roy del Ruth, is currently in production.

ANTIQUE HUNT

Kate Smith is on a trek to find a set of chinaware reputedly owned at one time by George Washington. So far, her search for this rare collector's item has been fruitless, although she did find a set of glassware used by Abraham Lincoln at the White House.

HARDLY MIKE-SHY

The "Mike" situation is almost out of hand in the Harrison (New York) neighborhood where singer Julie Conway and her announcer husband, Bob Sherry, live. Julie (who's heard on Columbia's "Musicomedy") has a three-year-old daughter whom she calls "Miss Michael," to avoid confusion with the community's "Mike, the Boy," "Mike, the Baby," "Mike, the Cat," and "Mike, the Dog."

NOT YET

Despite the obvious title of his Mutual "Life Begins at 80" show, Jack Barry receives numerous requests from youngsters of seventy-five or so who wish to appear on the program. Jack firmly sticks to the rules and always replies: "Sorry sonny, you're too young. Come back when you grow up."

REWARD FOR VALOR

Organist Johnny Gart of Mutual's "Superman" adventures is determined to become a fisherman, whether or no. He has gone out with a rod and reel every single day this summer, since June 17, and his net catch thus far is nothing. He insists, however, that he'll break last year's record when, after ninety-two consecutive days of fishing, his grand total was three.

THE TWAIN MEET

Jo Stafford recently received unsolicited approval from two opposite musical poles. Said Deems Taylor in a "loughair" magazine article: "The touching simplicity of her style is exactly right." Remarkd bang-bang stylist Spike Jones to a music trade journal: "She's the end of the world. In fifteen minutes, Stafford gives her audience everything there is."

FOLIAGE

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

BY ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
2 notes—pleasing
3 notes—very good
Chord in G—tops

KWKW, 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

CLASSIC OF THE WEEK: Displaying marvelous technique and tone, David Oistrakh plays the Khatchaturian Concerto for violin (accompanied by the Russian State Symphony Orchestra) in a manner that leaves no question as to his fine artistry. . . . The ten sides comprising the album are the finest interpretation of this concerto to date, no doubt will never be surpassed, and rate the best—a glorious Chord in G! (Mercury.)

JAZZ OF THE WEEK: Louis Armstrong's All-Stars (with Jack Teagarden) played a jazz concert in New York's Town Hall to a capacity audience, and here are six twelve-inch sides of the cream of that jam session, complete with audience applause and reaction. . . . Satchmo and Big Tea walk off with all honors in both vocal and instrumental work, and no jazz library would be complete without this easy three-noter. (RCA-Victor.)

MALE VOCAL OF THE WEEK: Vic Damone has six easy-on-the-ears in his first album release, the majority of which are the slow ballad type which Vic does so well with warmth and sincerity. . . . Tunes are top standards with nice backing by Oscar & Camarata orchestras—and the album is an easy double-noter. (Mercury.)

REISSUE OF THE WEEK: Don't overlook "Paul Whiteman Selects Records for the Millions"—eight sides of top waxings of the past featuring Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong, Harry James, Frank Sinatra, Benny Goodman, Teddy Wilson, Claude Thornhill, Bing Crosby with the Whiteman band, Peggy Lee, Ivy Anderson and Helen Ward. . . . With the lineup like that, results can't help but be but good and rating an easy three-notes. (Columbia.)

CHILDREN'S ALBUM OF THE WEEK: The voice that charmed all America brings fresh appeal to the classics of childhood in "King Cole for Kids" on six unbreakable sides. . . . Nat sings a pair of lullabies, "There's a Train Out for Dreamland" and "My Sleepy Head," that are classics, and with the addition of the nursery rhymes, it's an easy two-noter. (Capitol.)

was just out of high school, and he formed a real affection for the water then.

He retains the professor's love of literature and poetry, and he apologizes that he'd like to have a poetry show on the air. ("Every ham wants to get up and read poetry in front of an organ, you know.") Bill admires Robert Frost, Edwin Arlington Robinson, Shakespeare and Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "Sonnets from the Portuguese," and one of his favorite pieces of fiction writing is John Steinbeck's "The Red Pony." He has a good collection of records and adds that he was for years with the chorus of the San Francisco Opera Company.

Bill met Dud Williamson often, when "What's the Name of That Song?" was visiting at the San Francisco Golden Gate Theatre, and he's particularly anxious to keep the show all that Dud wanted it to be, while giving it his own personality. He enjoys his new job very much:

"I like people and I like to sing and I like music," he says. "And the show is just about made to order for a person who likes all those things."

TELEVISION TIPS

should be a corresponding job opened in TV.

Producer Jerry Fairbanks has completed another series, "Television Closeups," for NBC. The twenty-six-release series pictorially reviews unusual magazine-type subjects of general interest, such as the world's first airplane, or the evolution of the knit-ting stocking.

Too, complete video film coverage of Europe now is being made by Fairbanks Productions for use in preparing new television pictures for NBC. More than 50,000 feet of travel and musical film already has been received by the producer from Paul Wickmann, veteran New York cameraman, and the Fairbanks European unit. Crew has been abroad covering every major city for more than three months. All footage is being shot especially for TV.

General Petroleum Company is sponsoring the exclusive J. Arthur Rank motion-picture coverage of the London Olympic Games to be shown on Don Lee video station KTSN. The series will consist of five ten-minute films which are scheduled for presentation on August 10, 13, 17, 20 and 24, at 8:05 p.m., preceding "Telenews."

Next week we'll tell you where and when to look for the televised Los Angeles Rams games, starting with the intra-squad exhibition contest.

If you're home of a Tuesday and possess a magic screen, watch KTLA's (Channel 5) "Who's That Girl?" The hour is 7:30 p.m., and the show is as fast-moving a half hour of good entertainment as you'll find, with the added attraction of a monetary and educational payoff for both at-homers and studio guests. Rita LaRoy femcees and parades some of her lovelies in a way that's a far cry from the tired routine of marching a parade of models around. Drama, interviews, prizes, pretties, education, 'n' everything!

Leave It to Jane!

Pretty Ilene Woods Has Talent, Career And Family at an Age When Most People Are Just Getting Started. Here's How—

COMING into her own this season as a radio personality is the just-turned-twenty-two-year-old Ilene Woods, who co-stars with Ray Noble on the Sealtest summer show. Ilene is considerably ahead of the game when it comes to reckoning her accomplishments.

At eleven, she annexed her first professional radio job in her home town of Portsmouth, New Hampshire. "I advertised fertilizer and garden tools," she recalls. At fifteen she began singing in many of the camp shows in the New England area. The 22nd Coast Artillery selected her as the only girl in the cast of its musical show, "Keep Mum, Chum." On Christmas Day of 1944, Ilene was a guest at President Roosevelt's party for servicemen. She met the late president, sang for the party and was driven to her train in the presidential limousine. The following year she sang at the March

New York Hit

While still a teen-ager, Ilene descended on New York and won a sustaining program through an audition at ABC. An interested and influential listener heard her show. It was Paul Whiteman, musical director

PROBABLY NO OTHER big-time program originates from such unradiolike surroundings. The musicians spill over the village hall's tiny stage, leaving room for only 150 spectators in the auditorium. (NBC photo.)

Summer School De Luxe

Music-Making Fred Waring Still Harbors an Unflagging Interest in Musical Education. Even His Summers Are Devoted to His Work

By Jane Pelgram

Monday-Friday, 8:00 a.m.
NBC-KFI, KFSD
Thursday, 7:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI, KFSD

FOR YEARS the precision with which Fred Waring conducts his orchestra and glee club has been admired by other conductors, many of whom wrote to this long-time music manufacturer with an earnest "how" between the lines.

In order thoroughly to assist these choral directors and teachers, Fred Waring finally gave up answering correspondence in favor of the more comprehensive coverage of pamphlets about his method. Even that finally proved inadequate, so several years ago Waring established a Choral Workshop.

Snapped Up Offer

Home of the summer Waring conclave is the picturesque Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pennsylvania, a little town lying just across the front lawn from the old Waring home. The place had long been a recreation ground for Fred, his family, and the now twenty-five-year-old Pennsylvanians. But fond as this group was of the place, tourist trade wasn't keeping it what could be termed thriving. So when the owners offered Waring the entire layout at a low figure, including the inn, country club, golf course and little theater, rather than abandon it

MAESTRO WARING puts a small group through some intensive rehearsal for one of the nightly recitals held for the amusement of the rest of the Workshopppers at Shawnee-on-Delaware. (NBC photo.)

THE WORKSHOP IS OPEN TO ANYONE with an intense interest in music. Its attendance includes housewives, office workers, doctors, accountants, radio music directors, and broadcasters, as well as music educators.

A VERY YOUNG GRACE MOORE POSED for this photograph the morning after her successful debut at the Metropolitan Opera. The occasion was the beginning of her first radio program, and photographer Jackson immortalized the moment with the click of a shutter.

Flashbacks!

No. 25 of a Series

FOR THESE photographs we are deeply indebted to Mr. Ray Lee Jackson, who for many years has photographed the great favorites appearing on the National Broadcasting Company network in New York. Information on the accompanying captions was gleaned from Mr. Jackson, who took these pictures originally and whose personal acquaintance with the stars of radio, past and present, should make him our number one authority on "Flashbacks!"

Two Pages of Radio Memories and History Aid Us in Recalling the Past for Fans

WITH A MACHINE-GUN STYLE of talking, war correspondent and commentator Floyd Gibbons was a compelling (and much imitated) radio newsmen. Jackson says, "A hard man to get a picture of—I had to follow him to Chicago to get this one."

MADAME FRANCES ALDA of the Metropolitan Opera was a favorite radio diva. Befitting the prestige of the Met and opera in general, Madame Alda always broadcast from her apartment at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

THE LATE COUNTESS Olga Albani was one of the great singing favorites of the early thirties. Her "Cities Service" program was especially popular with those who were learning to like the classics.

▲ A NEW AND PROMISING teenage singer posed for the Jackson camera before she essayed a brand-new radio career. It's Jane Froman in 1931 before her great success.

▼ NELLIE REVELLE WAS ONE OF THE FIRST AND BEST of the "cheerer-uppers." She was also well known as an authoress. Here she is with her orchestra—a group that includes Harry Reser on banjo, Andy Sannella with the sax and Donald Voorhees at the piano. In the center are Hugo Marian and the late Cesare Sodero. Reser became famous as leader of the "Cliquet Club Eskimos." Voorhees, now conductor of the "Telephone Hour" symphony, seems to have changed very little.

▲ ON A RECENT SUNDAY AFTERNOON, as soon as "Those Websters" got off the Mutual airways at 3:30, the entire cast assembled for a "kid" party. First on the docket was hopscotch. Here "Mom Webster," (Connie Crowder) picks up her token, while looking on are Frank Worth, Willard Waterman, Jane Webb, Clarence Hartzell, Billy Idelson, Joe Ainley, Eddie Firestone Jr. and Charles Lyons. (Rothschild photos.)

▲ BILLY IDELSON, WHO PLAYS "EMIL" ON THE SHOW, is being blindfolded for a game of "Button, Button." This time joining the group is writer Frank Hursley, at extreme right, separated from his wife and co-worker, Doris, by broad-backed producer Joe Ainley. Almost entire cast came to Hollywood from Chicago right after the war. Perhaps their difficulty in setting up new homes here was factor in drawing group into firm unit.

Cast Members of "Those Websters" Play Together as Happily as They Work, Here Have Fun at Old-Fashioned Kid Party

▲ AFTER "BUTTON, BUTTON," everyone moved onto the back lawn to play "Spin the Bottle." Here Clarence Hartzell ("Mr. Watt") does twirling, with Parley Baer, Firestone, Webb, Lyons, Worth, Crowder, Waterman, Idelson, Ainley and writer Doris Hursley in the circle, clockwise.

▼ TAKING IT EASY is host Waterman, who plays "George Webster," father of the air family. His home in North Hollywood, with spacious lawn, lots of garden furniture and enclosed barbecue is ideal for parties.

entirely, the maestro snapped it up. Now several years later it has proven an ideal place to gather for summer workshop sessions.

The entire company of Pennsylvanians live there each season, combining work and play. Even NBC's Fred Waring show is broadcast, summers, from the little town. Many of the famous Pennsylvanians are actively engaged with Waring in the Choral Workshop for the some six hundred gathered there this year.

Of course the majority of the Workshopers are music educators—teachers of public school and college music who will carry back a new enthusiasm and a fresh bag of tricks to their students this fall. Nearly all are outstanding individuals. One music supervisor from Maryland public schools flew to Europe last summer to renew the acquaintance he made with European music when conducting the official ATC overseas band during the war. One young woman from St. Louis apparently had been granted a thirty-six-hour day by the powers-that-be. Daily she taught school music and instructed English in a St. Louis university. She held the job of secretary to Vladimir Golschmann, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony, and still found time to be the assistant conductor of a community inter-racial choir!

Then there's a dentist who directs a church choir. This is his second year of attending the Fred Waring Music Workshop. He returns yearly because he enjoys the contact with music, and because even a week at the Workshop makes an ideal vacation.

At least once a week Fred holds a free-for-all discussion period. The Workshopers fire a barrage of questions at him, and he answers honestly and sincerely. During one of these discussion periods Waring was asked on what basis he chose his theme songs. "Which one?" he asked.

The student questioned, "How did you select 'I Hear Music'?"

"I happen to like it," Waring said. "I wrote it. . . ."

Many of the vocalists, including Daisy Bernier, Jane Wilson, Joan Wheatley, Leonard Kronendonck, Stuart Churchill and Joe Marine sing and illustrate Waring principles of "tone syllables" and enunciation. Because of last year's tremendously successful eight-week course, this summer is being stretched into a ten-week period.

Fred drives his huge school of eager pupils just as hard as he drives his own musical aggregation—when school is in session. When school's out, then the casually-clad Pennsylof the network, and he featured her on his Philco summer program. She filled out her spare time that season by singing at the Club Versailles, one of New York's top night spots. In 1946 she won the vocal spotlight on Don McNeill's "Breakfast Club."

Romance on Date

About this time, Ilene began double-dating with singer Johnny Desmond and his wife, Mrs. Desmond was very fond of Ilene and also very fond of another musical friend, Steve Steck, trumpet player and arranger with the Glenn Miller band. On a memorable double-date night, she arranged to have friend Steck drop by to meet friend Ilene. Foreseeing that objections might arise from the fellow who was squiring Ilene that night, the resourceful Mrs. Desmond invited an old girl friend of his to drop around, too. The result was that Ilene and Steve spent the evening together, dated for sure the next day and were married soon after.

The musical Stecks came to Hollywood and Ilene forsook her already established singing career to have a daughter, Stephanie Joan. Trying a return to the singing spotlight, Ilene found that at twenty-one she'd have to make a "comeback." Reasoning that if you can't step forward you might as well step sideways, the young singer began doing singing commercials. You've probably heard her in the past as the perky "P-R-E-L-L — Prell Shampoo!" girl. She also sang the Jello commercial on the Burns and Allen show, a stint that was invariably greeted with a round of applause by the studio audience. Bill Goodwin accused her of stealing the show on several occasions. Guest appearances on the Crosby and Jack Carson shows followed and last season Ilene was signed with Carson. The commercial people were sad, they wanted her to go on caroling the little jingles she did so prettily. She pointed out that as vocal star of one show she'd look strange singing commercials on another. "We'll put you behind a curtain so no one can see you," they offered. If it's any consolation to the commercial people, Ilene's smile as she related this story rather indicates that she enjoyed her stint with them. "Even sang the commercials around home," she admits.

Summer Star

Ilene is particularly happy with her lot as of this summer. Her husband, Steve, is now a member of the Crew Chiefs, vocal group on the Noble-Wood show. It's the first time that the Mr. and Mrs. have worked together and they enjoy it very much. Steve writes and arranges some of the vocal music on the show and in that sense the Stecks really do collaborate musically. Ilene has put lyrics to some of the special material that her husband has written. She also counts working with the very charming Ray Noble as an added pleasure.

Busy with a career and a baby, Ilene doesn't have the time to devote to her sports hobbies, swimming and golf, both of which she does extremely well. At sixteen she was runner-up for the women's golf championship of New Hampshire, and she's planning to get back on her game. She was a student pilot at one time, but her husband pressured her to give it up after she married.

Home rehearsals don't upset the musical Stecks. "His trumpet playing doesn't bother me—my singing doesn't bother him," laughs Ilene. Tiny Stephanie Joan, now two, is definitely musical according to her young mother. "She always walks on tiptoes, loves music, and dances and claps her hands whenever she hears it." As to her own musical tastes, Ilene confesses to liking all types, with special emphasis on standard ballads and meaningful lyrics. On both counts she selects Jerome Kern as a favorite.

Big Homecoming

Recently, the singer made her first visit in five years to her home town. Invited to a friend's wedding at a local church, Ilene lingered after the ceremony to chat with friends. She stepped to the door of the church and discovered a huge crowd was still waiting in front of the building. "Guess the bride hasn't left yet," was the first thing that occurred to Ilene. Gradually she realized that the crowd was for her! People yelled, asked for her autograph, youngsters ran up to be near her. "But I was more thrilled than they were," she admits.
