On visits to radio shows one comes in touch with a very important person who gets very little publicity. I am speaking of the pages, and one could benefit from the way they handle thousands of folks with courtesy and kindness. Three of them at ABC are Don Selten, Bill MacArthur and John Pranz. As a group I have seen up to 1000 children handled so well by these pages. A complete writeup on "Fun Fair" would be appreciated.

We hope you discovered our "Fun Fair" feature in the August 7 issue. We—and the pages—appreciate your kindly interest.

Name and address withheld, Los Angeles, Calif.

Where is the man? Naturally, there is only one that I mean . . . "The Man Says Yes." I used to wonder why so many people wrote constantly asking about Bob Shannon and finally I listened and now I am one of his fans. Please, can't he come back? That show has everything . . . questions, answers, participation, suspense, music and Shannon!

Now how about a sponsor?

Paul McGrath

Esther Orom, 11929 Venice Boulevard, Venice, Calif.

Would you please print a picture of the man on "Inner Sanctum"? He is the one who tells what is going to happen.

Here's the Broadway star, Paul McGrath, who does the role.

Mrs. Tillison, Ventura, Calif.

What happened to the Western Caravan with Tex Williams? I like his band so much and never before missed his show.

The program is off radio and television temporarily.

J. P. Daubner, 2549 Silver Lake Court, Los Angeles 26, Calif.

Will you please tell me who the man is that sings the "Dream Girl" commercials on Eve Arden's show? We think he has one of the most beautiful voices on any program.

The voice that certainly does deserve admiration belongs to Ken Carson.

If you can televise anticipation—this is it! Lee Hogan, television star ("Designed for Women" on NBC-KNBH), sits down to a real old-fashioned shortcake. Crusty, golden shortcake . . . to serve with ANY fruit or berries . . . is ready in a JIFFY with FISHER'S BISKIT MIX! It's easy . . . just one of TEN shortcut recipes on the FISHER'S BISKIT MIX package. Look for the red spot with the name "FISHER'S" through it.

As a reply to the complaint about the Horace Heidt show and the unfairness in the introduction of the contestants, I would like to quote from the experience of two young friends, a singing team from Muir College who were on the show recently from Pasadena. From the original auditions up through other rounds they were treated with every courtesy by Mr. Heidt and assistants. Through the proper selection of their number and the help of the arranger they were given every opportunity to do their very best. With several rehearsals and an appearance with Heidt, they went on the program and did a fine job. In presenting them to the audience Mr. Heidt gave them as good a buildup as the other contestants including Ralph Sigwald, then a ten-time winner. The singing team received thunderous applause, but they had no beef when they placed second to Ralph. And what happened? They were given their own weekly show on KWKW for their appearance. Their names are Don Bowling and Frances Dempster, now heard every Saturday at 10:30 a.m.

Thank you for your fairness in replying for Mr. Heidt.

Ronald Zion, Baywood Park, San Luis Obispo, Calif.

For a long time I have wanted to know what the musical excerpts are that are played on "Lone Ranger" and "Green Hornet."

"The William Tell Overture" is heard on "Lone Ranger" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Bee" on "Green Hornet."

About Your Letters

All letters to the Ear inspires the Pen Department should include name and full address of the sender. Name and/or address will be withheld on writer's request. Opinions expressed in the letters printed are those of the senders and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of Radio and Television Life.

Michael E. Kuh, analyst, Tele Vision Consumer Reaction, 240 South Wetherly Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif.

I have sold and serviced television receivers; produced live and film television shows; head a business based on Television Research and am Chairman of the Research Committee of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. Because of this I feel duty-bound to answer Mr. No-Name's letter which appeared in the "Video in Review" column of your July 3 issue.

The first mental reaction I have to this letter is, "This man does not own a television receiver." If indeed he does, it is very unfortunate that he is not aware of what television really does have to offer Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Televiewer and family. It is not true that all that television has to offer the local viewer is boxing, wrestling, baseball, children's shows and Milton Berle and Arthur Godfrey; and any statement made to that effect is both unfair and untrue.

The facts of the matter are that every week the six operating television stations in this area offer the viewer in excess of the average figure of 180 diversified entertainment hours of viewing. Over 525 different programs have been offered for public viewing since the first of the year; and in this count film features, film shorts collectively are counted as a single program.

The most valid and noteworthy reason for purchasing a television set is that whenever something of great importance is happening your television receiver will take you direct to the scene, or rather take the scene direct to you in your living room, so that you can see what's going on WHEN IT HAPPENS, AS IT HAPPENS. That's something in the way of an extra privilege that up to now, with television available to anybody who will buy a receiver, no one ever dreamed of being able to take advantage of.

Yes, it's a long list of credits to give television; and it is difficult to imagine any individual who would question the advisability of purchasing an apparatus which would guarantee them all of the above and more at the flip of a knob. Mr. No-Name, television brings you every form of entertainment, sport, culture and information.

It is true that not all programs on television are perfect and the answer to a dream come true. Far from it. But every program that I have mentioned in this letter to you needs no defense for its quality or alibis for lack of it.

If what I have said is true, and it is, my answer must be "What more do you want? What are you waiting for?"

Dinora Visnick, 15319 South Lime Avenue, Compton, Calif.

The Chesterfield Supper Club with Bill Lawrence is terrific. In my opinion he has one swell voice. Is it true he was discovered on Arthur Godfrey's talent show? A picture, please.

Bill Lawrence

Bill was discovered on Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" show. He also sings on El Godfrey's daily afternoon stint.

Name withheld, 1420 Wilson Avenue, Glendale, Ca

Couldn't help wondering what the big noise is for about Abe Burrows. I heard last night for the first time and now I know why. Everybody raves about him. He's the best comic I've heard in years . . . Steve Allen excepted.

Nothing irritates me more than the many pixies who have written complaining about "Sky King," "Jack Armstrong," etc. I am sixteen now and have listened to all those "bad," "suggestive" shows for years and I am not a young crook. Such shows point out to us that "crime does not pay" and do not under any condition suggest that punishment for crime can be avoided.

We appreciate immensely this youthful opinion on the effect of serials.

Mrs. W. A. Wright, 1619 East Eighty-seventh Street, Los Angeles 2, Calif.

I read all of your articles and of course do not agree with every one of them, but then this would indeed be a dull life if we all agreed on everything, wouldn't it?

Your wedding picture issue was indeed a sentimental one. I don't think that there was a single married couple who read it that didn't reminisce, yours truly included!

Re first comment: Yup! As to the second: Sigh.

Sandy Jacobs, 1231 Mullen Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

In my opinion, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are worthy of a story in your magazine because they are two of the swellest guys on earth.

Dean and Jerry graced the March 6 cover of R-TV Life complete with a story. We'll encore 'em later.

Dot and Bill Paine, 433 West Camino Real, Menerville, Calif.

How about answering a fervent plea of ours for a story on Mel Torme, who is still slugging his way to the top?

Real credit goes to Judy Canova, whose excellent singing of "Riders in the Sky" sounds as if she were really thinking the words and feeling the emotional value of the song which has been hacked to pieces by lesser artists.

Somebody had better put Meredith Willson back on! Just about the time we are settled down for week after week of fine musical listening, off goes Meredith. What a way to treat one of the most likable, intelligent and talented artists in the music world today! And they leave Arthur Godfrey on . . . phooey!

Many of the stories that we would like to do are stymied by the fact that the artists are not available. Re Mel Torme: your request has been placed on our "waiting list." Meredith will be back in August!

C. G. Morrison, 455 East Ocean Boulevard, Long Beach, Calif.

In your magazine please do not allow television to make a stepchild of AM radio. Remember there are millions of us radio fans who do not have television sets and never will have unless it has much more to offer than now.

See, we aim to please the AM-ers, the TV-ers and the FM-ers. In re your opinion of television offerings, look back and compare radio of today with the crystal-set era, and you'll realize how fast TV has done so much!

Jay Scott, Route 2, Box 527, Lakeside, Calif.

We believe you are missing the boat by leaving FM logs out of Radio Life. We live 100 miles from Los Angeles and listen to over seven FM stations from that area all the time. There must be many others who live in Southern California and listen to grand FM reception.

It's that ol' bugaboo of space pressure that restricts us in printing the FM logs, although we do plan to run them soon.

Jean Remington, 7218 Trask Avenue, Playa del Rey, Calif.

I read the letter about the mistakes found in your magazines and I think the letter writer has no consideration for the work that goes on with the radio and television logs. It is understandable that programs change at the last minute after you have gone to press.

You're awfully sweet.

T. Crayton, 8330 Alhambra, Paramount, Calif.

I think the word "snuck" is a good American word. Also "crick" is something other than a "pain in the neck." I get kind of tired of people griping about our radio programs.

Top Columnists Answer 20 Questions

Louella Parsons, Erskine Johnson, Sheilah Graham and Frances Scully Relay Favorite Stories and Advice as They Answer Twenty Questions About Hollywood Legends

Question: What is the greatest human-interest story you've ever covered on the Hollywood beat?

Louella Parsons: "... The life, career and death of Charles Ray.

"I choose the story of the homespun star who became a millionaire and died a near pauper because it is the most outstanding case of 'going Hollywood' I have ever encountered. At the height of his fame, Charles built a home in Beverly Hills with marble bathtubs and gold shower knobs. His butler wore knee breeches. His private life of luxury (bordering on the royal treatment) was in the most violent contrast to his screen roles of the timid, shy, bashful hero. When he quarreled with his producers and tried to branch out for himself as a 'lover' in 'The Courtship of Miles Standish,' he lost every nickel he had made, and died in almost destitute circumstances. He was a great star—but he WENT HOLLYWOOD, and it ruined his life."

Sheilah Graham: "Margaret O'Brien's opposition to the marriage of her mother to Don Sylvio. And later the break-up of her marriage, due primarily of course to Margaret's opposition. I covered this story on the long-distance telephone. Mrs. O'Brien called me from Palm Springs, Florida, to tell me that she was going to marry Don Sylvio and when I asked 'How is Margaret taking it?' she blurted out all the details of Margaret's antipathy to the whole idea. 'She hasn't stopped crying since I told her,' she told me. This, of course, was a scoop for me, and I also got the first story of Mrs. O'Brien's separation from Sylvio. When I called her quite casually to find out how things were with the family, 'I'll tell you later' she said rather ominously. That evening she called me to say that the marriage was off, had never been consummated, but she insisted that Margaret had nothing to do with it."

Erskine Johnson: "When he broke into show business as an unknown hooper, Fred Astaire played a theater in San Francisco. Headlining the bill was a vaudeville star, Joe Neimeyer, also a dancer, who took young Fred in tow and gave him a lot of pointers. One day Astaire introduced me to his stand-in on a film set. Fred was paying back an old debt. The stand-in, down on his luck, was the same Joe Neimeyer, white-haired but still handy with his feet."

Frances Scully: "In 1941 when I was femceeing my original servicemen's show, 'Your Blind Date,' it was the custom to invite the audience of servicemen to come up on the stage, where I had a 'blind date' for each of them. One evening a young soldier came up and said that he didn't know how to dance and could I please introduce him to a girl who wouldn't mind teaching him. I found a lovely little blonde girl who took over that task. In 1943, when I was down at Union Station seeing a Navy man off, an Air Force Lieutenant and a very pretty girl came over to say hello. They were the couple I had introduced at the 'Blind Date' show; he had just returned from active service overseas and they were married that very day!"

Question: What is the hottest scoop you've ever had?

Louella Parsons: "The biggest scoop I ever had, and the 'cleanest,' because all other papers were many editions behind me, was the divorce story of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks. At the time, Mary and Doug were the King and Queen of Hollywood, and Pickfair was the palace where they entertained real kings and queens and dignitaries when they visited Hollywood. Supposed to be ideally happy and famed all over the world as a most happily married couple, the story of their contemplated divorce was banner-line-high in importance in world news. I got it because, as much as I hated to believe it, I had heard whispers that all was not well between them. Almost apologetically I went to Mary and told her what I had heard. I could hardly believe my ears when she said, 'It is true, Louella. Douglas and I are parting, and you may print it.'

Sheilah Graham: "The hottest scoop—and I mean literally—was the Howard Hughes plane crash in Beverly Hills. I was due to go on the air in ten minutes on that Sunday when I was called and given the story. So I had it first on the air. At that time there was not time to check how badly Hughes had been burned in the crash or whether he would live."

Erskine Johnson: "I announced the marriage of Bob Taylor to Barbara Stanwyck. I walked up to Barbara and said, 'Are you going to marry, Bob?' and she said, 'Yes.' Very complicated!"

Frances Scully: "This is a scoop I didn't use on 'Star Gazing,' but gave to ABC news commentator Hank Weaver. We scooped everyone else for a week. Here's the story: When Loretta Young appeared as Queen of the California Millinery Show at which I was femcee, she told me during luncheon at the Ambassador that the preceding Sunday when she arrived at Mrs. Bob Hope's home to attend the charity garden party for the Carmelite Nuns, the police had preceded her and closed all the games! Loretta then pitched in with Dolores Hope and auctioned the donations instead of selling chances on them."

Question: What experience in the past has been most valuable in your work as a columnist?

Louella Parsons: "Curiosity! Without genuine and sympathetic interest in other people and what they are doing, you will never be a columnist, my friend."

Sheilah Graham: "I was a great reader and loved to write as a youngster, but what has proved most valuable in my present work as a columnist is a lifelong curiosity about what makes other people tick."

Erskine Johnson: "Ten years as a copy boy and reporter on Los Angeles newspapers."

Frances Scully: "I think my many experiences with Irene Rich have had more influence on my career than anything else. When I first went out on my own professionally on the air, Irene took me aside and explained the importance of such things as punctuality . . . never wearing your troubles on your face . . . the importance of smiling . . . never paying any attention to gossip even if their remarks are directed at you. I believe all this advice has meant a great deal to me."

Question: What is the most heart-breaking story you've covered on the Hollywood beat?

Louella Parsons: "The romance, marriage and suicide of Paul Bern, the brilliant producer, who married beautiful Jean Harlow at the height of her fame. Jean loved Paul with admiration and respect for his fine intellectual qualities and his sweetness, but he brooded that he could not bring her real love that would hold her and make her happy. On the terrible day for the entire industry, not many months after their garden wedding, Paul shot himself through the head in their home."

"A sad sequel to this tragedy is Jean Harlow's death at the time when she was one of the most loved stars in Hollywood. She was in love with William Powell and heart-broken because he felt after his unhappy marriage to Carole Lombard that he didn't want to marry another popular actress. Her death came so suddenly, and saddened not only her mother and Powell, but the entire world."

Sheilah Graham: "The most heart-breaking Hollywood story happened outside of Hollywood—the Carole Lombard crash in an airplane coming back from a bond rally."

Erskine Johnson: "The actress who won two Academy Awards—and now can't get a job."

Frances Scully: "I was doing the 'Hollywood and Vine' show from the Brown Derby. As was the custom of this ad-libbed show, we visited with stars who were lunching there. This particular noontime a well-known radio performer had planed into town, so naturally Bob Latting and I gave him a whirl at our ABC mike. When he left he was headed for the airport to return east. The next day while I was sitting at our special Table 22, I received a phone call from a little boy who asked to speak to the star I had had on the air the day before. When I explained that the gentleman had left for the East, the child, with a quiver in his voice, said, 'He was my daddy and I thought that maybe this time he would call me and mommie, but I guess he doesn't want us any more.'"

Question: On the basis of your inside knowledge of the workings of stars and studios, what pitfalls or mistakes would you warn a young movie hopeful against making?

Louella Parsons: "... Inexperience, conceit and temperament. No matter what you hear about 'Cinderella' stories and overnight success, the groundwork for stardom is hard work, training and self-discipline. The really great actors in Hollywood have never stopped learning. It is only the fly-by-nights who think they know it all. If you sincerely want a career in the theater, approach it with humility and the knowledge that it is a long, hard road of denial and sacrifice ahead."

Sheilah Graham: "I warn all newcomers, especially young girls, although this also applies to young men, against using the night-club

Traffic

The Word "Traffic" Usually Brings to Mind a Vision of Moving Cars on a Crowded Boulevard. Radio Station Traffic Operations Are Even More Involved, and Can't Have Any Tie-Ups

W HEN KHJ-Don Lee's Tony LaFrano picks up the telephone and says, "Elinor, tomorrow 'Ladies First' will originate from Studio Two, because we'll have to have 'Queen for a Day' in One," he sets in motion one of the least-known but most important departments of the network—the Traffic Department.

The word "traffic," to most people, brings to mind a vision of signal lights, police officers, and violation tickets. Just how the word can relate to a network radio station operation is a mystery which might require some clearing up. Traffic is the nerve center of a broadcasting station, where the process of controlling the flow of radio programs along the network wires is coordinated. Tony LaFrano's call to Elinor Barney, Traffic Manager of Don Lee and KHJ (FM, AM and KTSL Television), tells her that the schedule will have to be set up to inform the program artists, the engineers, master control, and recording, that "Ladies First" will originate in a studio other than its regular one, so that the proper lines will be called into operation at broadcast time.

Errors Expensive

Because of the exactitude of the work, where a typographical error could cost the network thousands of dollars in lost revenue, Traffic requires quick-thinking, clever persons to keep in mind the myriad details of changing programs, not only from day to day, but even several times a day. The personnel must be highly efficient and reliable, decisive and without temperament. Working with Elinor, who herself is all these things, are Traffic Assistants Jim "Butch" Swain and Gloria Murison.

The Traffic Department makes up each week a work sheet of the programs for two weeks ahead. This sheet is changed from day to day to conform to the advance changes in the program schedules as the week progresses. Since there is a time lag in the operations of departments dependent upon the information received from Traffic, the daily program boards must be up to date and set a full day ahead of time. This is so the boards, from which Butch and Gloria type the operations sheet or resume each day, will be complete and correct as of the time the resume or final operations sheet is taken from them.

The information from which the work sheet, or step one, is corrected and kept up to the minute, comes from a variety of sources . . . sales orders, Mutual program schedules, Don Lee program changes, and the Mutual conference call. The conference call is a fifteen-minute period set aside each day when the network lines are reserved for communication between New York and all stations on the system. During this period, stations "fill" with local programs

THE Santa Monica station, KOWL, is combining entertainment and public service these days with its Saturday broadcasts of the "Amateur Hour" emanating from the Santa Monica Ambassador Hotel. The hotel, now turned over to the Kabat-Kaiser Institute, organization endeavoring to cure infantile paralysis victims, is also the location of the radio station.

Bill Mason, KOWL special-events announcer, hit upon the idea of producing an amateur show that would entertain the patients, provide good listening for at-home dialers and also give the young patients themselves a chance to participate.

The program is tape-recorded Friday evenings for the convenience of the patients.

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Rumors Are Flying

George Jessel's NBC variety show, "This Is Show Business," may be one of the big fall entrants. . . . Garry Moore may revive "Club Matinee" as a thirty-minute five-a-weeker. No truth to the rumor that he'll return to the Durante show as "Junior." . . . Still on the fire is Barbara Jo Allen's own show as "Vera Vague." . . . If things get hot on the NBC giveaway front next fall, Jack Benny may have his own giant giveaway. Recalling the gigantic results of the "Why I Can't Stand Jack Benny" contest, this could assume considerable proportions. . . . Mutual also may have a huge giveaway. (America has its own share-the-wealth plan!). . . . ABC is

NEXT WEEK

"Hollywood Calling!" Herewith the latest entry in the titanic race of giveaways. This show was a long time in the making and is openly making a bid to squelch Jack Benny on an opposite network this fall. What thinking went into its making? What faults in other giveaways did this one try to avoid? What improvements did it introduce? This story, together with a cover picture of emcee George Murphy, should be as compelling a piece of reading as to be found anywhere . . . next week!

"Kukla, Fran and Ollie"—Prime favorites, especially of the teetertotter set (but frankly a "must" for just as many adults) are presented by picture and word.

Our Behind the Scenes in Radio series continues with a piece on musical contractors. Who are they, what do they actually do? Don't miss this informative article (and the surprise ending!).

interested in "Wizard of Odds" as a thirty-minute five-times-a-week series. . . . Jay Stewart auditioning another audience-participation show on ABC. . . . And the Masterson-Nelson-Reddy combination will have still another participation show on the air this fall. It's "Auction-aire" and will emanate from the East. . . . Jack Carson auditioning a situation-comedy show at CBS. . . . Latest "switch" rumor is that "Cavalcade of America" will make the trek from NBC to CBS. . . . Alice Faye and Phil Harris may team in a movie musical for Twentieth, the studio where Alice made so many of her hits. . . . "One Man's Family" fans said to be expressing their approval of the time change by flooding the Carlton E. Morse office with mail. . . . Wildest, or maybe biggest, rumor of them all has CBS planning a million-dollar giveaway, underwritten by Lloyds of London. . . . Warner Brothers said to be interested in starring Arthur Godfrey in a movie—wouldn't he be cute in Technicolor?

. . . Phil Foster, the young comedian who made a hit on "This Is Broadway," auditioning his own show for NBC, "Inside Brooklyn." . . . Kenny Delmar's "Senator Claghorn" show rumored set for NBC. . . . Norman Corwin to do documentaries on the U.N. for NBC this fall. He's been associated with CBS throughout his past air career.

Looks Like

Earl Godwin switches his newscasting from ABC to NBC. . . . "People Are Funny" returns to NBC on Tuesday, September 20, with a repeat to the East on Saturdays. . . . UCLA's student station KTRO has asked the FCC for a commercial license. They have 5,000 student listeners. . . . Dorothy Manners takes over Louella Parsons's chatter time on ABC while Lolly vacations. . . . Robert Montgomery's commentary on MBS to be titled "Montgomery Speaks." Reminds us of the old ad, "Garbo Talks." . . . Eddie Albert will star in a series of daytime radio shows for NBC starting next month. . . . Gale Gordon, "Harry" on "Junior Miss" and "Mayor La Trivia" on "Fibber and Molly," is making his first movie, "Woman of Distinction." . . . "Railroad Hour" to be cut to thirty minutes when it resumes its fall term on ABC. Was formerly a forty-five-minute show. . . . "Halls of Ivy," the new show by Don Quinn of "Fibber and Molly" fame, starts for sure on NBC for a thirteen-week run in October. . . . Radio isn't doing so badly. Statistics released by the Broadcast Measurement Bureau reveal that 94.2 per cent of all U. S. homes have a radio, representing a gain of over a million and a half radio-listening homes above the 1948 total. . . . Perry Como will tape-record his fall "Super Club" series.

"Meet Corliss Archer"

If you liked "Corliss Archer" the first time you heard her, you'll like her now. The old girl hasn't changed a bit since the days she was the subject of the Broadway play "Kiss and Tell." On the present CBS series, KNX, 6:00 p.m. Sunday, "Corliss" returns to the air with the same cast: Janet Waldo is "Corliss," Irene Tedrow and Fred Shields are her parents and Sam Edwards is her boy friend. On the opening broadcast, Hans Conried was a cast addition as "Hoffenberger."

The public's insatiability for adolescent comedy is seemingly not yet on the wane. "Corliss" is a caricaturization of the average teen-ager, and as such she appeals to the vast horde of mothers, fathers and aunts of teen-agers. All the real-life "Corlisses," "Janies" and "Judys" we've known have left the program strictly alone. They prefer something a little more sophisticated.

"Make-Believe Town"

CBS's new daytime serial, "Make-Believe Town," heard on KNX via transcription at 10:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, started off backwards on its first broadcast, then quickly recovered itself. The announcer presented the series with "CBS brings you . . . 'Make-Believe Ballroom'—uh—'Make-Believe Town!'"

With Virginia Bruce as hostess, the series about Hollywood gets a ring of authenticity and a charming personality to introduce the stories to listeners. Each broadcast is a complete thirty-minute dramatization about the denizens of the film world, proving that, after all, they're just like "you and me."

The first story was the one about the girl who didn't want to be a Hollywood star. We've known two instances of this in real life—one girl got a better deal from J. Arthur Rank and the other went to Broadway to star in a play. You can see how true to life "Make-Believe Town" is. Of course, the heroine in the story did become a movie star, and she married a glamorous young producer too.

By BARBARA HATHAWAY

It's not hard to recognize your chance of a lifetime when it comes... knowing when to expect it is something else again. However, ABC has created another whopper of an opportunity for you to be looking in the right direction when that chance heads your way!

King and $1000 Winner

Sunday night, 6:30 on KECA, John Reed King MC's "Chance of a Lifetime," which is everything the title implies. Prizes valued at $500,000 are offered to participants, coast-to-coast. You'll have to hear it to believe it, then if "Chance of a Lifetime" still sounds too good to be true—watch for it to show up on television some day—it's one of the first radio shows designed with a format directly applicable to TV with no alterations.

Remember, KECA-TV starts Sept. 16!

Make a note: Martin Agronsky moves out of 10:30 p.m. spot on KECA and into 6:15 a.m. for his daily news commentary, starting this Monday (Aug. 15), while "One for the Book," novel combination of news oddities and music, goes full half-hour, 10:30 to 11:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday on KECA. . . . That their portion of "Stop the Music" will definitely not be stopped, was decided by Speidel Company. They signed a 52-week renewal contract with ABC, covering sponsorship of the 4:30-to-4:45 segment of the popular Sunday show.

Remember, KECA-TV starts Sept. 16!

TWO-PART HARMONY—ever realize how many successful shows feature two stars at the helm? In noticing Shellah Graham and Erskine Johnson taking turns at the mike in Jimmie Fidler's 7 p.m. Sunday night vacation spot—it calls to mind many outstanding partnerships on ABC. . . . Jane and Goodman Ace, Eleanor and Anna Roosevelt, Lucille Norman and Gordon MacRae, Kate Smith and Ted Collins, Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard (they've just signed long-term contract with ABC). Listen for these famous twosomes on KECA!

Remember, KECA-TV starts Sept. 16!

Student announcers please note: how'd you like to get this line in a script. "Now, Hazim Atif Kuyucak and Ahmet Emin Yalman . . ."? Those are two guests you'll hear introduced when America's Town Meeting comes from Ankara, Turkey, this Tuesday (Aug. 16), 8:30 p.m. Advertisement Page Ten

Radio in Review

This is the sort of story that proved so effective during the 1930's that the industry actually exerted pressure to have them soft-pedaled. Thousands of young girls descended on Hollywood, convinced that all they had to do was walk past a movie studio and a jaded producer would immediately recognize them as "that girl there, that one with the sensitive face—have you ever thought of going into pictures, dear?" But the stories are extremely effective, and "Make-Believe Town" does them well. Ralph Rose's production is of the superior sort that made his "Tell It Again" so entertaining. Colleen Collins as the Svenska heroine gave a charming performance on the first show and Paul Dubow as the jaded producer was almost believable.

"Make-Believe Town" should stack up as good entertainment of the superior soap-opera type, with none of the disquieting overtones of the documentary.

"Broadway Is My Beat"

"Broadway Is My Beat" moved from New York to Hollywood without the slightest notable change in the program. Its ingrained "New Yorkiness" remains intact at KNX, 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

"Detective Danny Clover" is one of those rare sleuths (rare at least on the air) who is attached to the police department, and yet who is not a figure of fun for private eyes to show up as a footless bumbler. "Danny," as the title implies, pounds the beat on glamorous Broadway, where he unravels the big and little crimes that take up the time of a variety of typical Broadway characters—small-time gangsters, gamblers, taxi drivers, show girls, night-club owners and prize fighters. You can see that the setting is a veritable jump into the plot. Larry Thor makes "Detective Danny Clover" a more appealing character than most radio sleuths. He reminds us a little of the kindly detective in the old play "Broadway."

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

. . . To one program that has guest interviews of great listening interest, "Life Begins at Eighty," whose guest oldsters have brought a wealth of wonderful stories and memories to the mike. Where else could you find an interview with a man who accompanied Amundsen and Peary on their polar explorations? Only one of the fascinating personalities interviewed on the program in recent weeks.

. . . To American poet Samuel Untermyer, who proved to be such a live-wire guest on a recent "Twenty Questions." Untermyer not only asked good questions and contributed to the final answers, he also added the light touch. When "Poet and Peasant" overture was used as a subject in honor of poet Untermyer, he quipped, "Well, there's no doubt about my being a peasant, it's the poet that's in question!"

. . . To Burl Ives's stint as sub for Walter Winchell. The balladeer is one of those wise performers who doesn't deviate from the style or the songs that made him famous, and his fifteen minutes are pure Ives. Even his commercials for Kaiser-Frazer are listenable.

We View With Alarm

. . . Another mannerism to add to our list of words we could do without during radio interviews with celebrities—"Actually" as in "Well, actually it isn't" or "Actually I was in Boston at the time."

. . . The amateur standing of young Guy Madison, who appeared as "Amory" on the "NBC University Theater" broadcast of F. Scott Fitzgerald's "This Side of Paradise." Madison, who conveyed none of the misguided idealism, juvenile standards or even the youth of the character, emerged from the broadcast with his reputation as a "simon-pure" still intact.

. . . That joyful middle commercial on "The Whistler" that manages to break the suspenseful mood as cleanly in two as if they'd played a Betty Hutton record instead of a sponsor's plug.

. . . The decision that has the new show about Hollywood, "Make-Believe Town," heard in the afternoon on all the CBS outlets—except KNX in Hollywood, where it's pegged at 10:30 p.m. Statements that start out with "This afternoon's story . . ." or "Tune in every day at this time . . ." sound just plain silly when they bounce into the living room about the time you're setting the clock and snapping out lights.

. . . The cigarette commercial on NBC's "The Big Story" that becomes ridiculous when it's read after the dramatic opening. Recently the program started out with a girl being strangled. In the next instant, the commercial announcer cried, "Guard against throat scratch!" Took us several minutes before we realized it wasn't part of the plot.

Duo a Hit

When singer Jack Smith and maestro Frank De Vol appeared on London's BBC radio show, "In Town Tonight," they were pleased to spot Benny Goodman, his wife, and actress Merle Oberon in the audience. Pretty illustrious attendance, they thought.

But when the popular musical duo left the show and passed out the stage door, it was they who were literally mobbed for autographs, while the Goodmans and star Oberon were scarcely noticed by the pack of Smith-De Vol fans.

Pit and Podium

By Joan Buchanan

If you're interested in owning a record of your very own name set to music in any style that pleases you, dial KECA any week-day morning at 11:45, and listen to the offer made by pianist Felix De Cola. If you are the lucky winner of his musical question, you win the name-song, played on the air and recorded for you. De Cola dropped in the other day to tell us about the show and instead was barraged by questions. What is the most requested style? According to the musician, most people request a light ballad treatment, occasionally will request their name musicalized a la Beethoven or Tchaikowsky. What, we wondered, would happen if someone asked for Schonberg, the difficult composer who says that violinists should have seven fingers on each hand in order to play his concertos? The problem hasn't arisen yet, admitted De Cola. An extremely clever fellow at the keyboard, De Cola avers that no one even comes close to Alec Templeton at this sort of improvisation. "Do you know," he exclaimed, "that Templeton is able to play two different melodies with one hand while he plays a third melody with the other?" No, we didn't know, and somehow we wish we hadn't found out. The thought has been bothering us like an unsolved mathematical problem:

One of the most entertaining and informative music-appreciation sessions on the air remains the Green Room intermission on CBS's Sunday symphony. Last week Whittemore and Lowe, one of America's top double-piano teams, revealed some interesting facts about their career and their profession. Piano teams, a form of entertainment of which we are inordinately fond, are quite recent developments, according to the duo. Very little piano literature has been written for teams, and a great deal of the music used is transcribed from solo compositions. The problem is to inject a new duo-piano quality, quite different from the original solo.

Whittemore and Lowe hoaxed themselves to success in an almost slapstick manner. After graduating from music academy, Whittemore was given a trip to Cuba by an aunt who lived there. He was invited to bring along a friend. Arthur Whittemore asked Reid Lowe from the same school. Desiring to impress a couple of Bennington girls who were also sailing, the two boys signed the passenger list as a team of duo pianists on a concert tour—after first ascertaining that there was but one piano on board. They impressed the girls, but they also impressed Whittemore's aunt. On arrival, the boys discovered that she had booked them into an impressive concert hall in Havana. The two had never played together before, but they made such a valiant effort on that

Radio Lifelines

By Evelyn Bigsby

Is television killing radio? Ask this question and start an argument you can't finish! If you are a TV convert and your friends are not, already you have probably had a few debates in which no one has convinced the other side of anything. In the radio-video industries themselves they argue the question just the same as you do, with perhaps more heat and frequency, for to these workers the outcome is a bread-and-butter proposition.

The trade paper Variety recently asked this dynamite-loaded query in a typical headline: "Has AM (radio) Entered Its PM?"

Those who think radio will stay point out that there are many news and musical programs which are so effective on radio that it would not be worth a sponsor's extra thousands to televise. "And what about the soap operas?" they demanded. "How can a woman look at 'Helen Trent' and do the housework?"

One Network?

Because some programs don't lend themselves too gracefully or profitably to television and because they cost too much proportionately and will never reach the masses that radio does, those who argue that radio is here to stay do seem to have some valid points. Many believe that eventually there will be one strong, top-notch network and that it was this conviction that motivated CBS's William Paley to buy Benny, Crosby, Burns and Allen and a flock of expensive stars to assure that his would be the Number One skein.

Perhaps you are one who is sold on television but who thinks it may stunt its growth with meager material or monotonous performances. There is no one who won't admit that today's occasion that two careers were born!

It's big news when Igor Stravinsky, the man who created a musical revolution that may well rank in later ages with the ones engendered by Haydn and Beethoven, signs on to write original scores for a radio show, NBC's recently auditioned "Nightmare." Strange that Igor was once considered so unorthodox and uncommercial that audiences rioted at his concerts! Radio and movie music has, however, been so derivative and reminiscent of so many Stravinsky scores that probably the only riot that will occur will be the maestro's, when he's accused of stealing his own stuff. That's what happens when you get into the game late!

video programming can be improved, but in defending what there is to see now, these people liken the just-born era through which video is passing to the early days of radio. "Give 'em time!" is their theory.

The question of using up talent is not so easily dismissed. Hearing Milton Berle once a week is one thing. Looking at a performer is another, for the impact of sound plus sight is much heavier than sound alone. It might simmer down to the place where a star would make video appearances twice a month, alternating with another star. Edgar Bergen has wanted for a long while to try this in radio as a panacea for the doldrums.

If yours is a family with a TV set, you have no doubt done what the others have: for the first three or four months following installation you have boycotted movies, shunned books, and let your records gather dust. TV has been the big thing. Then the novelty has worn off and your yen to mingle in a crowd has asserted itself. Your looking has leveled off. But in the meantime you have been weaned from radio.

TV or Not TV

Deep down inside, most radioites are convinced that television is going to outstrip radio. Proof is the number of stars working in video for peanuts just for the opportunity of getting in on the ground floor.

Gals (yes, and guys) are reducing for the merciless cameras and the less attractive are going in for face-lifting and nose-fixing. To get into the feel of a looking audience, performers are doing summer "straw hat" theater and vaudeville.

For there is one fact they cannot overlook: every day TV sets are being sold in increasing numbers. At last count (July 15) there were 2,000,000 in the United States, New York led with 685,000; Philadelphia had 190,000; Chicago, 163,000; Los Angeles, 150,000. Prices on sets are dipping noticeably, thus stimulating increased buying. (Last week RCA clipped $100 from cost of some of its models.)

Apparently there is no getting around the maxim: "A single picture is worth a thousand words."

"JOCKO" IN MOVIES

Tudor Owen, who portrayed "Jocko Madigan" on ABC's "Pat Novak" series, will play the role of a stage manager in Bob Hope's next Paramount flicker.

VIDEO In Review

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Looks Like

Video, in one instance at least, proved to be a boon at the box office rather than a hindrance. KTLA beamed the run of the Roller Derby, picking up the spectacle four out of each seven nights. A questionnaire was set up and issued to patrons at the gate of Pan Pacific Auditorium, asking "From which medium did you first hear of the roller derby?" One thousand six hundred and one persons first heard of the derby through television, and 165 heard of it on other media. . . . Looks as if you can have a motion-picture contract and still appear on television. Here's how. Acquire the distribution rights in this community to some video brand, as Bob Hope did to DuMont. (He is said to have bought a large block of stock in the company, also.) Then work for a studio, like Paramount, that is reported to be heavily interested in DuMont. They won't care if you appear on the network in which they are interested. It isn't for sure that Mr. Hope will make his television appearance on DuMont this fall, but the word is out that negotiations are on. And Mr. Luckman of Lever Bros., Hope's regular sponsor, evidently thinks Hope is such a good kid that he gave him an okay to go ahead. . . . KNBH dropped "Nocturne" from its channel, but will find another spot for the Luscious Lucille (Norman). . . . Milton Berle will completely bypass radio next year, concentrating, naturally, on television. And why not? His former Texaco contract called for $2,500 per TV show and $2,000 per radio show. The new pact gives "Miltie" $12,500 weekly for the next two years. Why two years? Does Berle think he will be worth more at the end of that period, or does Texaco think he will be through? . . . ASCAP has again extended (to September 1) the right of television to use ASCAP members' music. The union has been dickering, meanwhile granting extensions, for several months with the television interests. . . . The new "Cinemascope" previewed a week or so ago by KLAC-TV seems to some of the movie folk working in radio like the perfect medium for telescoping their shows. Already NBC's Screen Directors' airshow is looking into the use of Cinemascope for their "Playhouse." Of course can't be used on video, because the radio show used stars and screen plays featured in the picture, with the film director handling radio-director chores. The screen plays cannot be cleared, nor could the contracts of the actors and directors. Don Sharp, who owns the package, said that eighteen original scripts have been prepared. . . . Judy Canova's agent is getting up a combination radio-television package for the star for this fall's entry into video. . . . Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler is reported as being prepared to negotiate baseball contracts, radio and television alike, as far ahead as 1956. The cash involved would definitely improve players' welfare, and the days when radio and television were regarded as box-office threats are dead, in baseball, at least. However, boxers and their managers in the East are insisting that video does ruin the house take, and are insisting that video be allowed only outside the 200-mile radius of the city in which the big bouts are staged.

Stop, Listen, Look (Shows You May Like)

"Children Should Be Heard"

Doing a reverse on the parable "Children Should Be Seen and Not Heard" is KFI-TV's youthful participation show, "Children Should Be Heard," (Sunday, Channel 9, 2:30 p.m.)

Emceed by that personable young Harry Koplan, the program is charming to watch, principally because of the unabashed questions the young quizzers spear at guests.

Premise of the stint is to get the children to speak their minds, and Koplan cleverly phrases the questions up to the youthful level. He uses extreme care in clearing up any issue that involves the youngsters in a cross-wire conversation.

Last week's guest was producer Merlan C. Cooper, whose picture "Mighty Joe Young" was the topic under fire. Persistent queries on how the movie was made were asked, with Cooper giving intelligent and direct answers to all. About the only question which met with hesitation was whether the ape was real. Gracefully hemming and hawing his way out, Mr. Cooper revealed that it was a secret as valuable to him as the Coca-Cola formula was to the beverage firm.

Telling of the fabulous sum the movie was making during its premiere in New York, one youngster was prompted to gasp, "Gee, in just plain-ol' New York?" Brewing worry was the idea that the animals in the picture might have been hurt, a thought the producer velvet-touched when he explained, "Oh, no, not really hurt. I always like to make a picture with a happy ending."

One requisite of the boys and girls appearing on the panel is that they be good conversationalists, and parents who feel their offspring have a natural gift of gab and would like to have them appear on the stint are invited to drop a card to KFI-TV, 141 North Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles.

Jim Hawthorne Show

The Jim Hawthorne show (new time 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, KTTV, Channel 11) is just that . . . the Jim Hawthorne show. In the presence of the bespectacled, check-coated Hogan, no one else has a chance.

Everyone who used to hear Jim's brand of breakaway whimsy on the radio knows what to expect . . . talk about a bus line from the La Brea tar pits to Iceland, the difficulty encountered crossing the Bering Straits, purchase of Pomona to fill the gap.

Jim rattles through a half hour in this fashion, using his wonderful "talk-back-a-scope," a device by which viewers are enabled to "talk back" to Jim; and also literally using a couple of luckless stooges. These stooges are in the guise of visitors from Bakersfield and other outlying towns whose mere names, under the facile Hawthorne touch, set viewers off into uncontrollable mirth. The dialogue these "visitors" and Jim go through is impossible to recreate for the simple reason we laughed so hard we can't remember.

But it was awfully funny. Jim doesn't have to say anything remembrance-worthy or have a great format for a video show, any more than he did for his air stints. His personality is so definite and so definitely engaging that he is the show.

Of course, attached to the show's contest are some wonderful prizes you might be lucky enough to avoid winning. A 100-pound cake of ice; a Cadillac water bottle (fill the bottle with water and you can pour right into some friend's Cadillac); a one-way bus ticket to the Arctic; fifty prizes each of which is a bottle cap from a famous soft drink; or even a one-day subscription to the Los Angeles Times.

All through Jim's show some stooge—a cute-enough-looking girl who did the stint quite ably—kept putting in with the star and his dialogue. Finally, at the end of the show, her presence and bits of interruptions were explained in an extremely obvious pitch for another KTTV show. The plug served no purpose, but we enjoyed the Hawthorne half hour sufficiently to go along with the gag. . . . "Pantomime Quiz, Pantomime Quiz, Pantomime Quiz!"

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

BY ANDY MANSFIELD

KLAC, Sunday, 11:30 a.m.

RECORD OF THE WEEK (Mercury): Here's a pair of waxings by Frankie Laine that should rate with the best in his book—"Now That I Need You" and "My Own, My Only, My All." Both are in the easy relaxed style and not the frantic up-tempos that Frankie used to like, yet there is a decided beat provided by Carl Fischer's backing. . . . Very easy listening and perhaps another hit record for Laine. . . . JACK SHEEDY'S DIXIE-LAND BAND (Coronet): Of the four sides just released, this San Francisco group of seven plays to best advantage on "Down in Jungletown" and "Gambler's Blues" ("St. James Infirmary"). . . . Latter side has maestro Sheedy and Joe Amyes in a clever vocal similar to the Armstrong-Teagarden version of yesterday. . . .

ELLA FITZGERALD (Decca): Here's a reissue that will bring back memories of a great band, Chick Webb, and his star pupil and vocalist, Ella Fitzgerald, singing her own tune "A-Tisket A-Tasket" and Charlie Shavers' "Undecided." . . . They were great when first recorded and they're just as good today. . . . LES BROWN ORCH. (Columbia): To music with a solid beat, Stumpy Brown makes with the vocal to "Just a Gigolo" with just a trace of bop—not enough to distract from the band's fine arrangement in similar vein, featuring some great sax ensembles. . . . Reverse "Cross-Town Trolley" in novelty is only a fair contrast. . . . HELEN FORREST (MGM): Tops in the girl-vocal department this week features the popular hits from "Miss Liberty"—"You Can Have Him" and "Homework" in the easy ballad-swing style so characteristic of La Forrest—who, by the way, hasn't had a hit-platter in some time . . . maybe this is it. . . . GORDON MacRAE (Capitol): Two contrasty sides featuring excellent assists from the Starlighters and Paul Weston's Orchestra spotlight this top vocalist's rendition of "Twenty-Four Hours of Sunshine" and "The Wedding of Lili Marlene." . . . "Sunshine" has a clever Jolson takeoff in its spoken lyrics to make it the selling side. . . . "Marlene" is a very lovely ballad with MacRae and the Starlighters in a tribute to this wartime dream girl. . . . GUY LOMBARDO ORCH. (Decca): Here's a pair of top novelties by the Royal Canadians featuring Kenny Gardner on the vocal: "Scotch Hot" is the European way of doing the Hop-Scotch polka—Ay, 'tis a verrra bonnie air—and "Dangerous Dan McGrew" is the song version of the Robert Service epic, but with a very swishy ending. . . . Whoops! . . . A.M.

Behind the Scenes: Traffic

of interest to their listeners. The network lines then carry messages from New York with daily changes or corrections in the program schedule.

Because of the time differential in New York and Hollywood, and the fact that Don Lee carries Mutual programs at times other than those at which they are received from New York, Don Lee also has a daily fifteen-minute period when those program changes and corrections which apply to Don Lee are broadcast on closed circuit to the regional network stations for corrections on their local program schedules.

Speed of communications is the essence of correct and properly coordinated network radio program scheduling. Last-minute messages regarding special events, new programs or program changes come to Don Lee by direct teletype from New York. The two key stations of the Don Lee network, KHJ, Los Angeles, and KFRC, San Francisco, are also linked by direct teletype. This enables corrections or changes to be made almost up until air time. The teletypes are under the capable hands of Lorraine Holmelund.

With multitudinous programs originating in the studios at 1313 North Vine Street, a major problem is that of scheduling studios, engineers, announcers, sound men and producers. This calls for split-second liaison between the Program and Traffic Departments, an assignment and responsibility which falls to the diligent care of Jean Lang. Jean has served for five years in the various departments of the Program division, gaining a well-rounded background for her present intricate and important job.

One thing even all the well-oriented people in Don Lee's Traffic Department are not always prepared for is the last-minute scheduling of a special event. There is a fire of major proportions in an outlying Los Angeles city, or some endurance flyers pass an established mark. The Don Lee Special Events Department's George Martin goes out on a rush call with his portable tape recorder, and edits his tape down to program length. This show is then to be inserted in the Don Lee schedule as quickly as possible because of the news value of the story it tells. All the facets of Traffic are called into operation and a last-minute shift in the program schedule is arranged.

With the inception of Daylight-Saving Time in the East and some Middle Western states and cities, almost the entire Don Lee schedule of programs has been transcribed for playback at convenient Coast listening times. The arrangements for this mass transcription operation are a function of the Traffic Department. A recording order must be issued for each program to be recorded.

circuit as a way of crashing into pictures or furthering their careers. Another pitfall to avoid is getting your name linked in too many romances. Producers are shy of party girls and boys or those who think that a lot of romances will open the door to a film contract."

Erskine Johnson: "Don't 'go Hollywood' if fame catches up with you. In the words of Sam Goldwyn, 'I discover a nobody and make him a somebody. Then he thinks I'm a nobody and I have to discover somebody else.'"

Frances Scully: "I should say 'drinking,' which is a pitfall for all aspiring young people in show business. They have only to look back to see what this pitfall has done to many stars and realize that alcohol in excess not only results in ruining a career, but takes its toll of looks, happiness and, worst of all, health."

by KHJ's Norma Young

LEMON BISQUE CAKE

1 pkg. lemon gelatin
1½ c. boiling water
½ c. light corn syrup and ½ c. sugar or ½ c. honey
Grated rind of 1 lemon
Juice of lemon (4 T.)
1 tsp. pineapple flavoring
1 large can evaporated milk
2 T. melted butter or margarine
1½ c. crushed vanilla cookie crumbs

Place can of evaporated milk, mixing bowl and wheel egg beater in coldest spot in refrigerator overnight, so as to chill well.

Dissolve lemon-flavored gelatin in boiling water, add either corn syrup with sugar, or honey. When cool, add lemon juice, lemon rind and pineapple flavoring. Place in refrigerator to chill, and when it starts to congeal, empty contents of milk into bowl and beat until stiff. Fold into this the gelatin mixture, a small amount at a time, still continue to beat.

Melt butter or margarine and to this add 1 cup of the cookie crumbs, place in bottom of a large glass baking dish that will fit in freezing compartment of refrigerator. Pour into this the gelatin mixture, putting remaining crumbs on top, and let freeze until firm.

If drawer of refrigerator is large enough for the mixture, that may be used.

Note: If Radio-Television Life readers have any cooking or household problems, telephone Norma Young, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., HU. 2-2133.

KINGFISH: "Now dat you is a radio comedian you gotta have a amanuensis."

AMOS: "Whas dat, amanuensis—?"

KINGFISH: "Someone who writes your letters, takes your calls—"

AMOS: "Oh, you mean amanuensis the phone!"

The first radio gag men had it soft. Dial your memory back a coupla kilocycles to 1922. Some pioneer mikeman clips a funny out of the paper and screams it into the ether. Twenty, maybe thirty miles away pop is scratching on the old regenerative or the crystal set, and the whole family is shh'd into deathly silence. Faintly the words are discerned above the caterwauling static:

"Who was the lady I seen you with last night?"

such magazines as "Judge," "Life" (then a funny instead of a foto) and "College Humor." And they were lifted from vaudeville acts.

"Why is a husband like a furnace?"

"Because if you don't watch him, he'll go out!"

or

"What does an elephant have that no other animal has?"

"I dunno. What?"

"Baby elephants!"

"All right, you're so smart. What do Elks have that no other animal has?"

"That's easy. Baby elks!"

"Nope. Parades!"

Stop rolling in the aisle and take your seat, lady.

The first radio comedians were chiefly ad-lib lads who could go on for fifteen or twenty minutes, trading silly sallies. Much of this stuff would seem very thin and lifeless today, but twenty-five years ago it was such a miraculous novelty to have noise of any kind come out of LEYDEN DEMONSTRATES how to make a radio joke really hilarious. Or at least sound like it to the listener at home. This is what the studio audience saw just before you heard that giant laugh at the end of a too-familiar gag.

Who Was That Comedian I Saw You With Last Night?

Is the Question Posed by KFWB Emcee Bill Leyden

"That was no lady. That was my wife!"

That hit the jackpot! That sent the laughmeter past 1000! That topped this one! That had 'em rolling in the aisles; that wowed 'em; mowed 'em down! And why not? If a man told a joke twenty, thirty miles away and your magic radio set clutched the words right out of the clear air and laid them in your lap, you'd be an ingrate if you didn't laugh. This was truly the magic age. The stereoscope was doomed. Bicycle manufacturers saw the handwriting on the wall. And some sects denounced those sacrilegious comedians who tampered with elements out of our earthly realm.

While no accredited historian of radio humor will produce a specific joke and say "This was the first gag to make Marconi wish he had become a jockey instead," there are numerous jokes current around the early 1920's that we can be reasonably sure had their debut on the kilocycles.

This Killed 'Em

They were freely borrowed from earphones and loud-speakers that the public wasn't too critical.

As listeners became more discriminating and competition within the industry increased, the smarter boys (or those with the weakest memories?) resorted to writing down their gags.

These "work sheets" could hardly be dignified by calling them "scripts." They consisted of a string of two- or three-line gags, with little or no build-up, characterization or sequence of any kind.

After the funniest gag—or what in the opinion of the cast was the funniest gag—the orchestra played a chord in G, and the soprano sang "Ramona."

As radio came into what might be called its adolescence, say in the late 20's and early 30's, performers got rather self-conscious. They wouldn't risk ad-libbing. Everything had to be written down, even to pauses and directions for stammering. A performer who, by accident or whim, deviated slightly from the script sent the whole cast into a panic of fear.

Mercifully, this rigidity was broken up by a few bold comedians with vaudeville experience—Fred Allen, Bob Hope and that fellow who plays

"I want one day without pigeons." "I'm a minister's daughter and I'd like to paint the town red without my father's congregation watching me."

"I want a day's supply of hot dogs for two friends who have invented an automatic hot-dog-frying machine." "I need a mosquito net for my apricot tree." "I need a telephone pole for a radio aerial." Four Thousand Wishes

Monday-Friday, 11:30 a.m.
MBS-KHJ, KGB, KFXM, KVOE

THE FOLKS down at "Queen for a Day" never cease to be amazed at the wishes that turn up in their audiences every day. After compiling more than four thousand wishes made by the would-be "Queens," the staff has formulated an interesting theory about them. It's been discovered that the wishes fall into two categories. The first are the pattern wishes, basically those of all American women. The second are those of the individualists, the ones that make good copy and bring forth the inevitable "What won't they think of next!" According to the "Queen for a Day" staff, the two groups are about evenly divided as to success. Each group can boast its share of chosen "Queens."

Here are some of the "pattern wishes" with a listing of some of the actual desires voiced by contestants under each category:

"Geo, I Wish . . ."

Career ambitions: To talk to a dramatic coach; get a radio audition for her husband; make a news broadcast; sing for a motion-picture producer; take a screen test on roller skates; show Walt Disney her sketches.

Clothes and beauty: To get a new set of false teeth; a white shirt, size eighteen and a half, for her husband; a new pair of shoes; pictures of herself before and after a Westmore treatment; to be a blonde for twenty-four hours.

Romance: To meet a troop ship and kiss all the boys; meet a man—object matrimony; to have a wedding dress and veil in which to be married; to celebrate her second wedding anniversary; to be whistled at by a man.

Escape: To get away from home for twenty-four hours; have someone wait on her all day; have her whole house cleaned for her.

Philanthropic: To take orphaned children to dinner at a restaurant; send candy and cigarettes to a vets' hospital; send vitamin capsules to Chinese children; send oranges to the children of British factory workers; provide a student with a scholarship; provide a blind girl with a Seeing-Eye dog.

Pleasure: To go on a whirl of Hollywood night spots; take a trip; meet celebrities; go deep-sea fishing; go to the races.

The individualist is quite another matter. She has something quite definite on her mind and she follows no pattern! Here are some of the statements made by these imaginative gals: "My ears stick out plant." "I'd like to give my brother some embalming fluid to start him up in business." See what we mean?

Past Favorites

Many of the "Queen for a Day" wishes remain unforgettable to the staff. Some of their favorites have been: The woman who wanted a baby, but her husband insisted that he was the only member of the family who knew how to take care of one. She wanted to borrow a baby for a night so that she could prove he was wrong. . . . And the gal who wanted help in tracing the history of the button collection bequeathed her by her aunt. . . . One woman wanted to visit Hollywood night spots dressed in a bathing suit. . . . Another wanted to shave the member of the State Barber Examiners Board who, although she had been a practicing lady barber for forty years in another state, refused her a license until she attended barber college. . . . And even one who wanted to take a honeymoon alone so she could get even with her husband, who, after they were married, had trotted off to Niagara Falls by himself!

That the Early Bird Catches the Worm Has Long Been a Lesson Taught to Students of Drama. Perhaps This Story of Ed Begley's Career Might Serve as Valid Proof That . . .

Age Is No Barrier to Success

By Gaye Howe

WHEN a man has reached the age of thirty it is usually generalized that he, besides being in the prime of life, is settled in his profession. Completely disrupting this surmise—that a man can undertake a goal at that age and make a success of himself—is the example of Ed Begley.

A good many years bridge the time Ed won a Charlie Chaplin talent contest, ran away to join the circus, washed dishes, supervised a pick and shovel and split steel in a Connecticut factory and the present day, in which his name is synonymous with astute air acting.

As fabulous as his late entry into dramatic circles was the perseverance he applied to win his first radio role. In 1931, during which time he was working in a factory making a living for himself as well as a family, Ed joined a group of earnest actors, the Hartford Players. Through word of mouth he heard that the home-town radio station, WTIC, was auditioning for talent. Managing to obtain the afternoon off, Ed rushed to the station for a try. The first day, he sat. The auditioner told him to return the following morning. Hopes high, he returned—and sat. By the time the third day had rolled around, he was determined he would wear a hole through the chair until they gave him the wanted audition.

Big Chance

"Sorry, the parts are all taken," was what he heard at the end of the sit-down siege. Crestfallen, Ed just stared at the man, who, sensing his disappointment, added, "But here, read this part. It's already taken, but I might as well hear what your voice is like." He heard and Ed got the part. At the first, during the preliminary rehearsals of the play, Ed remembers "I became terribly nervous. After all, here I was a mature man and doing the role of a college boy. I thought I should at least try to sound like one, so I raised my voice to a youthful pitch . . . what was supposed to sound like a prep-school boy. 'No, no,' cried the director, 'for gosh sakes, sound like yourself!' When Ed finally became convinced that his voice should return to natural range, he was highly successful—so much that he stayed on with the group, doing an assortment of programs ranging from philosophy to minstrel shows.

Breaks Big City

"Then I suddenly wanted to try for New York," he explains. "When I arrived, I made a regular blitzkrieg of auditions at all the stations." They paid off well with one part rolling in after another until, to the present, he has a backlog of some 12,000 air performances. Among his best-remembered parts were "Mr. Dittenpfeffer" on the Alan Young show and perhaps one of his greatest portrayals, that of the celebrated detective "Charlie Chan." Somehow, into that role Ed inflected just the right amount of philosophy, the subtle spice of Oriental wit, and the soft, steady voice which held a clever degree of Chinese dialect. Now on NBC's "Richard Diamond, Detective" series as "Lieutenant Levinson," he is once more proving his capability.

On Broadway, it was he who created the role of "Joe Kelly" in the 1947 Critic's Prize Play "All My Sons," while another of his stage successes includes the all-time great "What Price Glory."

In his personal life, Ed lives in a Hollywood hilltop home where he spends much of his leisure time in the kitchen creating dishes of Spanish, Italian and Swedish origin. However, if anything went wrong with the plumbing, or if there were any repairs to be done, Ed wouldn't be

THE WEALTHY, pompous father of Barbara Stanwyck was characterized by Begley in Hal Wallis's spintangler, "Sorry, Wrong Number." Recent movie credits find him acting in "Tulsa," "Sitting Pretty," and "It Happens Every Spring."

↑ WHEN NOT DISPLAYING his thespian talents, Ed puts in energetic hours at home "watering the lawn," amusing his baby daughter and being an active member of the Lambs, Masquers and Hollywood Comedy Club.

"SUNDAY NIGHT HI-JINKS," POPULAR LOCAL VARIETY SHOW heard on KFVB in 1930, featured Johnny Murray as emcee and Minerva Urecal as "Pasquale." Minerva is now doing movie characterizations and Johnny is heard on KFI's "Johnny Murray Talks It Over."

In the 1920's Hill had a fling at the movies, working for Fox Film Corporation as newsreel director, scenario editor and supervisor. But his Hollywood career was short-lived. He returned to New York and got back his old job. "A real newspaperman," he said, "will never be content with any other job." Later, as a leading writer for King Features, Hill began his column "The Human Side of the News," the same title that he uses today for his Monday-through-Friday broadcasts.

Hill's first radio appearance was made in 1931, and his deep, rich voice made him a "natural" for the new medium. The next year, he was heard five nights weekly with his

EDWIN C. HILL

The Man Who Broadcasts "The Human Side of the News" Has Eighteen Years of Radio to His Credit, But They Stem From Fulfilling Another Ambition

Monday-Friday, 6:00 p.m.
ABC-KECA, KFMB

GO FULFILL successfully a boyhood ambition is, as many biographers have noted, a rarity. Most youngsters who want to become engineers, firemen, ball players, airplane pilots or Bing Crosbys when they grow up are sidetracked somewhere along the way by the exigencies of life. But Edwin C. Hill, distinguished newspaperman and ABC commentator, from the time he first learned to read and write wanted to be a reporter. And since his school days in Aurora, Indiana, he has never been anything else.

Upon his graduation from Indiana University, Hill, who spent most of his free time working for the college paper, landed a job as a cub reporter for the old Indianapolis Sentinel and launched himself on a career that was to make him one of the best-known reporters of the nation.

Even before he went to New York as a reporter for the Sun, Hill had covered such important assignments as the funeral of President Benjamin Harrison, the national political conventions and other leading news events of the day. His warm human-interest style which was later to gain him national recognition had begun to take form.

Hill's first big break came when he was sent to cover a news story about a small fire in the empty Palace Theater. Hill's story of the fire and what might have happened was so dramatically written that it was put on the front page. Within a few months, the Hoosier boy was one of New York's crack reporters.

He remained with the Sun for many years, covering the biggest stories of his time. He met the great and the near-great. He traveled with Theodore Roosevelt; he went to Europe, Africa and South own program, and the popularity of his warm comments spread until he was acknowledged one of radio's top assets. In addition to his regularly scheduled broadcasts, Hill was called upon often to conduct special programs in which he gave his impressions of outstanding news events.

Hill has published a novel, "The Iron Horse," which deals with the conquest of the West by the railroad builders. He also has written two other books, titled "The American Scene" and "The Human Side of the News."

August 14, 1949

Who Was That Comedian?

the violin. They started issuing mock-serious commands to their stooges to "stick to the script."

Growing Up

In no time at all lesser lights and shameless imitators were writing "Stick to the script" gags into the script itself. The result was a run of quips such as:

COMIC: "If you don't keep away from my girl I'll—"

STOOGES: "You'll what?"

COMIC: "Wait till I turn the page and I'll tell you!"

Today, comedians refer shamelessly—even proudly—to their gag writers. Not many years ago a radio comic would no more admit that he hired a man to write his gags than a Victorian miss would admit to having limbs (much less legs). Yet, neither the comic nor the Victorian miss could stand without support, and the initiated knew it.

Funnymen who once hid their gag writers in the back room with their family skeleton now parade these merriment mechanics for laughs.

BENNY: Me hire gag writers? I live by my wits.

ALLEN: Yeah, I know your writers . . . Horowitz, Rabinowitz, Liebowitz and Halfwits.

Benny and Allen accused each other of stealing gags, as did Hope and Skelton. The ether audience loved this righteous indignation rally. And then Milton Berle blithely admitted, even gloated about stealing gags from all other comedians. The pendulum swung from I-create-all-my-own-jokes to I-steal-jokes-from-everyone.

Even with the finest brains in the industry switching gags, refining, distilling and distorting funny quips, radio humor neared the saturation point. The rich natural resources of comedy, inexhaustible in the days of vaudeville, seemed vitiated with hundreds of comedians' demands for fresh material each week—sometimes each day.

Big-name comics flopped. Enter the quiz shows.

Then a marvelous discovery was made. People who no longer laughed at comics would laugh at each other. Nothing was funnier to a guy from Brooklyn than another guy from Brooklyn, unless it was a guy from Texas.

With the profit motive added in the way of prizes, radio got a new boost. The audience became the performers, and the comedian who formerly was paid to make a fool of himself was paid to coax housewives and shoe clerks to make fun of themselves.

Democracy had come to radio.

Radio humor has come of age during the past 25 years. Just as the first receiving sets were crude and cumbersome, so was the first radio humor. Lagging behind the technical development of the industry but still advancing, radio became smoother, more subtle.

Nowadays

Such masters as Benny, Allen, and Henry Morgan created a special type of comedy, tailor-made for radio, specially suited to the medium. Critics and discriminating listeners hail Allen and Morgan in particular as brilliant satirists.

In other words the humor of these men has a purpose—to make people think as well as laugh. They pour you a gag with a head on it:

MORGAN (as an official granting building priorities): "You want lumber, steel, glass. Yes, certainly. I suppose this is for a race track, night club or cat sanatorium?"

VETERAN (timidly): "No, for a house to live in."

MORGAN (furiously): "For a house? . . . To live in? Certainly not!"

or

HOPE: "Some people wave the flag so that they can waive the flag. Get it—wave the flag so they can waive the flag—?"

For the purposes of this article we disdain from overlooking the fact that Morgan has had great difficulty holding a sponsor. It is a commentary on something or other that Morgan had to be sponsored by another comedian last season.

Nevertheless, I feel that radio humor has advanced through the

Age Is No Barrier To Success

the one called upon. "My biggest achievement," he boasts, "is to water the lawn."

Married to a former actress, he has a son and a baby daughter. The latter, judging from the way Ed hastily dug into his pocket and produced the latest snapshots of the laughing-faced cherub at the mention of children, has already, according to the candid proof, acquired much of the Begley charm.

Now a devotee of the West, Ed didn't really want to come to California. When motion pictures began to offer him roles, he refused because of the stories he had heard that people out here were cold and scheming. An offer to portray the water commissioner in "Boomerang" was accepted, for it was filmed back East. Then he was asked to act in "Sitting Pretty" out here. He came. "But I was determined to rush back East as soon as I was through." However, a rush of movies followed, including "Sorry, Wrong Number," "Deep Waters," "Tulsa," "The Great Gatsby" and his recent ones, "It Happens Every Spring" and "Stars in My Crown." Now Ed insists, "I'll never leave."

As to the people he was told he would surely have to cope with, he claims he has never encountered them. Perhaps the reason is that Ed relies on an ancient philosophy of human nature that "if you dig a hole for someone, you're sure to fall in it yourself."

years. I cite a few gags sent in by listeners as examples of the type of humor that is appreciated by the educated, sophisticated audiences of today. Compare today's hep humor with the jokes mentioned earlier as typical of radio's childhood:

"Why is a husband like a furnace?"

"Because if you don't watch him he'll go out!"

or

"I dunno. What?"

"Baby elephants!"

All right, professor, let's have that Chord in G. This is where I came in. "Ramonaaah!"

◀ IT'S A WELCOME back to the air for Joan Davis, now heard on "Leave It to Joan," as a whacky but good-hearted salesgirl. Joan also resumes her movie career in the new "Turned-Up Toes."

▲ IN THIS SCENE from CBS-TV's "The Goldbergs," a drama of family life, Philip Lee as "Jake Goldberg" and Eberhard Krumschmidt as a neighborhood art dealer are seated. Behind them is Gertrude Berg as "Molly," and in the far background are Arlene McQuade as daughter "Rosie," Larry Robinson as son "Sammy," and Eli Mintz as "Uncle David."

SEEN ON THE Video SCENE
