The Ear Inspires the Pen

Ethel Morse, 5124 West 131 Street, Hawthorne, Calif.

I wish to salute the business acumen of the Alka-Seltzer people in sponsoring Fred Beck . . . If you listen to his utterances long enough you are bound to get a headache. His broadcast of August 9, in which he insulted the British Navy, was particularly offensive . . . then the next day he deplored the lack of understanding between nations! How hypocritical can you get! I would like to say how much I enjoyed his two-week vacation. His replacements were all wonderful, particularly Steve Allen.

Name and address withheld, Los Angeles, Calif.

Our family thinks that the program "Perry Mason" is one of the finest on the air. It sounds like it is really carefully written and such wonderful acting too. We also enjoyed "Pat Novak" and "Quiet Please" and wish they would return to the air. "Dragnet" on Friday night is a marvelous program.

Jan Larkin, 7402 Earldoom, Playa del Rey, Calif.

I have been listening to "Mr. Keen" for about four months, and the only reason I do is because there is nothing else of interest on . . . as for the star, he sounds like he has mush in his mouth. Would it be possible to see a picture of Charles Russell? I like him as "Johnny Dollar."

Charles Russell

Have you tried dialing "My Silent Partner," Faye Emerson's new comedy show, Thursday, KFI, 8:30 p.m.?

Mrs. Florence Owen, address withheld, Los Angeles, Calif.

How about an article and picture on Robert Q. Lewis? Who is he, what is he and why?

When Editor Evelyn Bigsby was in the East, she interviewed Robert Q. . . watch for the story at a near future date!

About Your Letters

All letters to the Ear Inspires the Pen Department should include name and full address of the sender. Name and/or address will be withheld on writer's request. Opinions expressed in the letters printed are those of the senders and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of Radio and Television Life.

Betty Sterling, 15021 South Hawthorne Boulevard, Lawndale, Calif.

Would like to see a picture of Gene Norman. I listen to his "Eastside Show" faithfully!

Gene Norman

Edith P. Long, 350 West Fourteenth Street, San Pedro, Calif.

How long, oh how long, are radio listeners to continue to be tortured by those awful commercials? Why don't advertisers realize that the buying public is composed of neither children nor morons, but of intelligent adults? They are succeeding in taking all pleasure out of radio listening. Tuning out the station for the great majority of commercials becomes very monotonous, but listening through them is torturous. The only other alternative is not to use the radio. The mere name of many products is enough to give one the shivers.

"Straight Gal" Comes Home

Shirley Mitchell Played Straight for Almost Every Comic in Radio, Returned to Local Air Shows to Take Up Where She Left Off Before

By Joan Buchanan

IT'S ALMOST traditional that when a pretty young actress gets married and leaves Hollywood, the rest of the profession mentally says goodbye forever. Domesticity settles in (usually around the hips) and the career flies out the window.

Shirley Mitchell, pert young comedienne and "straight woman," currently heard as "Penelope" on the Joan Davis show, demonstrates that neither a career nor marriage need suffer when you combine them. Two years ago, Shirley forsook her role of "Leila" on "The Great Gildersleeve," the society snob on the Joan

Davis show and comedy parts with Jack Carson, Jimmy Durante, Red Skelton and "Fibber and Molly" among others. She married young Dr. Julian Frieden and left for New York, where her husband had to complete his residency at New York Post-Graduate Hospital. She also settled down to doing even more roles than she had in Hollywood. You heard her as the "Mouse" on "McGarry and His Mouse," as the young wife on "Tales of Willie Piper" and on "Gang Busters," "Cavalcade of America" and "Counter-spy." She was most pleased at being able to do really sinister characters on "Perry Mason."

GAG LINES, STRAIGHT LINES AND SNAPPERS RUN RAMPANT HERE—it's the Joan Davis show. Shirley plays the unbearably arch "Penelope." Willard Waterman is the long-suffering department-store boss and Joan is the cause of it all. Shirley performed similar services as "Barbara" on an earlier Davis show.

PRETTY SHIRLEY MITCHELL is as adept at the gag lines as she is on the straight ones. Shirley does that rollicking Southerner, "Leila Ransome" on the "Gildersleeve" show, has had Southern friends actually plead, "Oh, honey, do youah Suthinah foah us all!" (CBS-Grant photos.)

Back Home

When the Friedens moved west this year, Shirley stepped off the plane and hurried right over to the "Gildersleeve" rehearsal.

Dr. Frieden settled into work at the L. A. County Hospital, established a practice in Beverly Hills, and the couple bought a home in Sherman Oaks. "I'm an excellent cook," Shirley offers brightly, not with any self-aggrandizement, but rather with a sense of discovery. "And I have Dinah Shore to thank!" Dinah and Shirley were roommates in the days before Miss Shore met Mr. Montgomery and Miss Mitchell was introduced to Dr. Frieden. Dinah with Fred," which fits just as well!

◀ CARMEN DRAGON HAS DONE some interesting theme-song work with familiar folk tunes. For ABC's "Railroad Hour," he did an exciting adaptation of "I've Been Working on the Railroad"; for the "Baby Snooks" show, he did a racy version of "Rock-a-bye Baby"; for "Family Hour of Stars," an arrangement of "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star." (ABC photo.)

Donald Voorhees's lovely theme for "The Telephone Hour" proved to be so hauntingly popular that it was completed and published under the title "Bell Telephone Waltz." Bernie Green's original music for "The Fat Man" was expanded by the composer and included on a program of serious music by the ABC Symphony under the title of "The Fat Man Polka," a satirical dance.

More Than a Theme

Meredith Willson's "You and I" was developed from the theme he wrote for the Maxwell House show and proved to be such a popular ballad that it topped the "Hit Parade" for many weeks. His newest theme, "Every Day," has also been published and is an equally tender ballad.

Themes taken from other sources that have become identified with a program: "Love in Bloom" has gotten to mean but one thing—Jack Benny and his frustrated violin solo. But did you know that it was Bing Crosby who introduced it in an old movie musical, "She Loves Me Not"—score by Ralph Rainger? And that Benny's rapid-fire sign-off (with a mad, mad, drummer) is "Hoorah for Hollywood," from an old Dick Powell musical, "Hollywood Hotel"?

MY TIME Is Your Time" brings inevitably the thought of the nasal tenor of Rudy Vallee; "When the Blue of the Night" means Bing Crosby and "Thanks for the Memory" is Bob Hope. Radio themes are such a positive means of identification that sometimes the original song loses itself in the star's personality. We've categorized some of radio's most interesting themes, using our own whimsical system. In identifying them, we've tried to give a little of their backgrounds. How many of the following could you have identified?

Theme songs that were just a natural: Dinah Shore had no other (and no better) choice than "Dinah, is there anyone finah?" Hoagy Carmichael couldn't have any other identification than his greatest hit, "Stardust." A good show example is "Duffy's Tavern," which chose "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," setting the stage and the mood instantaneously.

Themes written for a program and later published: The latest example of this was Fred Allen's sprightly walking music that came up behind Fred's lines as he said, "Come on,

Portland, let's take a stroll down Main Street..." Written by Allen's maestro, Al Goodman, it drew so many queries that Al finished the lead phrase, Mitchell Parrish (who supplied Hoagy's "Stardust" lyrics) added words and the De Marco sisters introduced it on Fred's program as "Riding on a Carousel of Love." Would have been trickier if they'd brought it closer to home and titled it "Strolling Down the Boulevard

"Amos 'n' Andy" have been heralded for years with the strains of "The Perfect Song." Appropriately enough, the lovely tune was the first movie theme song as well as one of the first of the radio themes. D. W. Griffith used it as the ballad behind the romantic scenes of Lillian Gish and Henry B. Walthall in "Birth of a Nation" in 1914.

Go to the Source

"Hit Parade" is hand-in-glove with

September 25, 1949

"Happy Days Are Here Again" and "This Is My Lucky Day" as theme songs. In fact these tunes probably mean "Hit Parade" to most people, though they both have a longer history than that. "Happy Days" should be recalled as the theme song of the Democrats during the 1932 election. Before that it was heard in a 1929 Jack Benny movie, "Chasing Rainbows," the work of songsmiths Ager and Yellen. "Lucky Day" has an even more glamorous background—Maurice Chevalier sang it to Claudette Colbert in a musical movie, "The Big Pond."

Orson Welles really started something when he used the opening strains of the Tchaikowsky Piano Concerto to introduce and tag his Mercury Players. It lifted the concerto from the obscurity of the concert hall to the popularity of the dance hall, where it was known as "Tonight We Love." It was particularly apt, however, as Welles closed his show with "And until then (pause), I remain (pause), obediently yours," as the majestic theme swelled behind the uvular Welles tones.

The leitmotif on "My Friend Irma," with its slow beat and tortured clarinet solo, is a perfect picture of the small-apartment-house dwellers, dwarfed by Gotham. It was equally poignant as part of Alfred Newman's score for the 1931 Goldwyn movie "Street Scene," one of the earliest movie scores available on record. Another famous "Big City" theme is that used by Goodman and Jane Ace for many years, and still

WILBUR HATCH is the musical conductor responsible for "The Whistler's" identifying whistle. Asked how he happened to hit on such a haunting sequence of notes, Hatch says, "I don't know—just came." The theme has had lyrics added by song writer Hal Dickinson and was published under the title, "The Whistler." Pictures of the individual who actually does the whistling are verboten by CBS. That part remains a mystery. (CBS-Polin photo.)

Jane's favorite song. It's part of Louis Alter's very descriptive "Manhattan Serenade."

Sponsor, Spare That Theme

Themes that have been changed in midstream: Programs sponsored by Philip Morris have traditionally come on the air with Johnny's "Call for Phill-ip Maw-riss." The music behind the call was once Cole Porter's "What Is This Thing Called Love?" with Eddy Duchin's familiar piano vamp. During the ASCAP quarrel it couldn't be used, and when the radio music problem was resolved, Philip Morris had switched to Ferde Grofe's "On the Trail," from the "Grand Canyon Suite," a piece of music which fortunately had the same galling sound as the Duchin vamp.

Red Skelton was once exploded outo the air with Vincent Youmans's "Great Day," very much in the mood of the riotous Skelton. When Dave Rose signed on as musical conductor, the theme became a lush re-

(Please Turn to Page 39)

MUSICAL DIRECTOR OF NBC'S "Richard Diamond," Henry Russell, wrote such an intriguing theme for star Dick Powell to whistle that fans wanted to know what the tune was and where they could get a copy. Lyrics were written by By Byington and the song, "Leave It to Love," will be recorded by Powell for a major record company.

"ONE MAN'S FAMILY" comes on the air to the tender strains of "Waltz Patrice," written by organist Paul Carson. The tune is named for Mrs. Carlton E. Morse, wife of the program's creator. During the ASCAP ban, "Destiny Waltz" was the signature.

THEME SONGS:

- "LORA LAWTON"—"Just a Little Love, a Little Kiss"

- Robert Q. Lewis—"All Alone"

RECORDS AND NEW GIMMICKS to keep listeners happy sound like two simple enough things around which to build a career. What makes it tough is the fact that the records' popularity changes almost daily, and the public's interest in games and contests oftener than that! But thousands continue to express themselves happily on Al Jarvis's "Honest Opinion." (Forney photo.)

Al announced the new show spot first of all as "Sound Off." That was tempered into "I Think," a title suggesting epistles a little less violent and a little more readable.

"When a certain used car dealer named 'Honest John' sponsored this sounding board, it was a purely commercial move to change the name to 'Honest Opinion.' As it turned out, that title best suits the spot," mused Al.

"Choosing the daily letters is my hardest work," he bemoaned. "Not because I'm looking for good ones, but because there are too few not readable. Instructors, pupils, housewives and businessmen from all economic strata have contributed in a way that gives me a good healthy respect for the folks on the other side of this mike. I could pull at random from this stack of letters and be sure to come up with an intelligent, valid opinion."

A few examples show why Al's choice of the morning's six orchid-winning letters (a literal term) is hard. One graduate psychologist wrote lamenting the unhappiness brought about by people allowing themselves to feel different. He wrote, in part: "How do we distinguish between Einstein and Jack Benny? Do we think of them as alike because they are both of a minority race and because both play the violin, or do we say that one is a great scientist and one a great comedian?"

Another was from an embittered young school teacher, holder of two degrees and a two-year background of college instruction, but no job. This young man deplored the lack of job opportunities.

Less of a problem showed up in the "honest opinion" of a bank teller. His beef dealt with the carelessness of people who come stamping up to his window and drop wads of crumpled bills on the marble slab, then admonish friend teller to please hurry.

Distaff Side Frankest

Before Al does any reading aloud, he checks by phone with his attorney to see if the sponsor, the station or Al himself could be made liable for his repeating the context of the letter. After he reads a letter, Jarvis wisely refrains from any anti-climactic comment, but he does send a lovely orchid to either the writer or to whomever the writer chooses. Most "honest opinion" expressors want the orchid to go to their mothers.

For the light touch, Al chooses a

THE CLAIM that radio listeners are an unintelligent mob who don't care what they are hearing as long as it comes under the heading of entertainment is a lot of bunk! I have plenty of proof of that!" is Al Jarvis's spirited denial of pure froth as acceptable listening fare for his audiences, anyway.

Al's proof lies in the almost 1000 letters he receives each week from listeners who want to express their "Honest Opinion." That title explains a daily half-hour of Al's KLAC record show allocated to airing listeners' viewpoints and reactions.

ago. A regular Jarvis follower wrote Al, bemoaning the fact that there was no channel through which hundreds of people with constructive criticism or real beefs could let off steam. Jarvis realized that our periodicals provide space for comment only on specific subjects or on the contents of the periodical itself. Why not, then, have an "air column," open to all subjects save the most violently controversial. Many a soul will hear his beloved ones verbally flayed without raising hand or voice, but let a man's politics or religion receive an aspersion and the same Mr. Milquetoast will come in swinging. Al can't prevent comment on these two tabooed subjects coming in to him, but he never includes them in the chosen six letters a day to be read on the air.

He Helps Fool the Camera

Kidding the Camera, Especially the Video Camera, May Mean Making the Subject Less Presentable as Well as More Attractive. Fred Williams, KNBH Make-up Man, Knows Both Sides of This Specialized Art Work

By Jane Pelgram

GETTING into NBC's studios, if you have no immediate business with a microphone or a television camera, isn't the easiest thing in the world for a non-employee.

Tourists know about this. And fans who lurk around the big parking lot gate have seen the soft-spoken police officers inside gently sidetrack drivers who thought they might just whisk Aunt Mame and her brood through for a look at the place.

Should the parking lot be negotiated successfully, a corps of good-looking stalwarts who man the entrance desk prove a barrier to all whose faces or whose business about the studios aren't well known.

Once inside the studio, the performers, musicians and directors bent on radio performance are on their own. The television players have one more man to brave. He is Fred Williams, KNBH make-up man. No amount of piety nor tears on the part of one camera-bound can get a performer past the deft touch with sponge, pancake and magic black sticks which renders star, extra or musician acceptable for the all-seeing eye of the television lens.

Any artist working for the first time at KNBH is in for a surprise if he or she looks around for the usual neat miss in starched white to administer the beautifying. The tanned, burly Williams looks as though he were just about to hoist a surf board to his shoulders and take to the water. He is as "un-arty" in was terrific, not only in singing a song, but in rassing up the southern cooking. Oddly enough, the two gals seemed to influence each other professionally. Shirley, appearing on the old Bob Crosby show, got to sing a song every week, backed by a most highly respected group of musicians. "And Dinah got to be such a good actress," laughs Shirley, "that I offered to stop singing if she'd stop acting."

Professional Interests

The actress's husband has refrained from medical discussions with her since he discovered that she was likely to give friends informal diagnoses at the drop of a hat. In fact some of them were calling her "Nurse Cavell." "I'm really not a perfect choice for a doctor's wife," sighs Shirley. "I faint at the sight of blood!"

Since their marriage, the Friedens have divided their friends between show and medical circles. The doctor often comes to programs on which Shirley is appearing if he is not working, and he enjoys both the shows and the friends.

The actress still laughs over her first domestic problem—the laundry. She tied her hair in an old bandana, lugged her washing to the nearest laundromat, not quite sure that this was how housewives resolved the laundry problem and rather hoping that she wouldn't run into any radio friends. Glancing up from the machine, she discovered herself toiling next to Sara Berner, pert little comedienne from the Benny and Durante shows, similarly garbed and equally in earnest!

appearance as he is skillful with any medium that lends to faces—or to canvas.

But NBC didn't choose Fred for his similarity to a weight lifter nor for his California tan. They surveyed his records from Disney's, where he worked as an animator to gain experience and facility with a brush; from RKO and 20th Century-Fox studios; glanced through his portfolio of make-up designs, created during several years of employment in these movie centers... then promptly tagged him as quite capable of either gilding the lily or turning the charmaid into a temporary video Cinderella.

A single glance at the Fred Williams art work hung about the walls of the make-up room is all it takes to reassure even the most particular of stars, fresh from a movie lot, that Fred's ability is special.

Clown-Crazy

It must be a tussle for Williams to stop where legit make-up ends and clown make-up begins. His hobby is clowns, with their myriad and wonderful faces. His pastime, executing wonderful likenesses in almost any medium, deals principally with clowns. For motion-picture work he has designed numberless clown make-ups, careful always not to infringe upon the traditional and established trademarks of any famous entertainers of the real big tops. When a national magazine carried a two-page color spread on famous buffoons, Fred was nearly delirious with joy. He still carefully saves his well tattered copy.

When he can't work at dreaming up Barnum and Bailey touches that would delight Felix Adler himself, Fred enjoys turning to a half hour or so of skillful application with the pastes and waxes that gives the subject great bleeding gashes or a face pulled awry by a beautiful strip of phony scar tissue.

Of the KNBH stars whom he has prepared for the camera, Fred's perfectly natural choice as the most pleasant is Lucille Norman. "Her coloring is so great," is his explanation.

Is Careful

Fall Shows Return

Jack Benny's welcome return (KNX, 4:30 p.m., 10:30 p.m., Sunday) was highlighted by an unusual switch—the star wasn't heard until twenty-two minutes of broadcast time had gone in introducing the rest of the cast. Most laughs went to Frank Nelson in the role of a rubber-neck bus driver. Best crack of the season was the one that went something like "We're now passing the home of Mr.

Orson Welles, created, produced, directed and furnished by Mr. Welles. The trees grew by themselves." All the regulars were in top form and the audience was extremely receptive.

"Theater Guild on the Air," KFI, 6:30 p.m. Sunday, presented a bang-up version of the Elmer Rice hit, "Dream Girl," with the original star, Betty Field, recreating her role. John Lund as the co-star was excellent, as was the rest of the Broadway cast. It's Miss Field's show all the way, however, as she runs through the lower-middle-class dreams and indulges in the satirical characterizations. "Theater Guild" promises to be in top form in spite of a network change. Opening announcement that "Dream Girl" was being presented for the first time on the air is not strictly correct. Didn't Joan Caulfield do it on "Theater U.S.A." last season?

"Hallmark Playhouse," KNX, 7:00 p.m. Thursday, has such a fresh outlook and such high intentions that it invariably turns out a good show. It's no criticism to say that sometimes the show needs an hour to exploit its adaptation fully. James Hilton returns as master of ceremonies, as charming and quietly humorous as ever. Initial play was an adaptation of "Yankee from Olympus," the story of Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. Robert Young gave a fine performance as Holmes and Lurene Tuttle was her excellent self as his wife.

"Club Fifteen," KNX, 9:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, retains the Andrews Sisters, but Dick Haymes is heard in the Bob Crosby spot and Evelyn Knight takes Margaret Whiting's place. Haymes is better than ever, and sounds very much like Bob Crosby in both his singing and his banter, though perhaps the whimsical Bob was a little more believable with the chatter. Del Sharbutt continues to do an outstanding job with his soup commercials and his light touch actually adds to the show.

"Supper Club," KFI, 7:00 p.m. Thursday, is heard only once a week in a half-hour version starring Perry Como. The mystery voice is still a part of the program and still so easy that virtually no suspense remains. (Rudy Vallee and Jane Powell were first guests.) Como sings heavenly, but as yet his song introductions and guest-star banter don't match those of the Bob Crosby-Jack Smith pattern. The Fontanne Sisters with Mitchell Ayres orchestra and announcer Martin Block are still heard.

"The First Hundred Years"

"The First Hundred Years," KECA, 9:30 p.m. Thursday, is a delightfully warm show, full of pleasant people and happy situations.

Barbara Eiler and Sam Edwards star as the newly married "Thayers," but the supporting cast is so good (and so numerous) that anyone is apt to step out and steal the show. Barbara Whiting ("Junior Miss" on another network) has done it as the romantic and misunderstood younger sister. Ricardo Cortez, sounding every bit as glamorous as he looked on the screen, has done it as the dashing writer who lives across the street.

Families and friends figure largely in each plot. The big cast gives the program an interesting cross-section-of-life slant.

Jean Holloway, scripter of many top air shows, must enjoy very much writing "The First Hundred Years." The program sounds that way—"endearing" is the word.

A delightful musical score, the work of Buzz Adlam, adds to the effect, especially in the places it backs up

NEXT WEEK

The Big Question next week is Television: Has It Doomed Radio (or can radio save itself?). We feel that you readers are entitled to know what's going on behind scenes in radio and video and hence we are expressing our opinion on this matter, not in a dogmatic way, but rather in a provocative mood to stimulate your thought on vital topics concerning these industries. You may not agree with us. Fine. Let Eye Inspire the Pen. We'll be happy to publish YOUR ideas.

For our other features we submit the following menu for next week's feast: a story, first-hand, on Robert Q. Lewis; an article on Nelson McClinch, KFY's trusty farm reporter; a video first reader explaining some of the terms employed in TV; another first-hand story—this one on Jack Berch; a Men of Music yarn on Eddie Dunstetter; an absorbing article on how television helps get jobs for vets; and a story about "On Trial," the show that proves that truth may be found in the conflict of two extremes.

All your regular features, of course. Next Week, 9 cents at your market. "Your evening's good reading and your week's good listening and looking."

KECA's Star Gazer, Frances Scully, has been a busy gal of late. . . She recorded twenty-five "Star Gazing" shows before she took off for a month of sponsor visiting in New York. . . Scully will stop in Chicago, make a hurried visit to Montreal and Quebec, before she arrives in the Big City. Frances' mike pal, Lou Cook, will handle the live chores on the Monday thru Friday show while she's gone.

TV-TOPICS: "Campus to Campus," Eastern Columbia's new KECA-TV show, bows in on Channel 7, Saturday, Sept. 24. . . The lively quarter-hour of collegiate melody will be heard in the fifteen minutes preceding the football game. "Campus to Campus" features vocalists Larry Stevens, Bunny Bishop and Jud Conlon's Rhythmaires with Jerry Fields orchestra, and Al Burton as producer. . . Isn't it fun to now see old radio favorites like the Barn Dance, Blind Date, the Lone Ranger, Fun Fair with Jay Stewart and so many others now on KECA-TV, Channel 7!

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

... To announcer Bill Forman for co-authoring (with Lou Huston) that fine "Whistler" script about the radio commentator who recorded his broadcasts in order to commit a murder while his voice was heard on the air.

... To Dennis Day's singing of "Younger Than Springtime." A perfect tune for the Day pipes got a perfect treatment.

... To the comedy timing of Dick Powell and Virginia Gregg on the "Richard Diamond" show.

... To Dave Garroway, the comedian heard on NBC, Monday nights at 7:30. Popular in the Midwest, his unusual humor will now be discovered by Coast listeners.

... To Phil Harris for covering up his fluff on the opening Jack Benny show. Phil referred to the Brown Derby as the Big Derby, then said, "Make that the Brown Derby . . . Okay, make it the Big Brown Derby."

... To the good job that emcee Harry Koplán does on the Saturday version of "Meet the Missus."

... To the interesting stories that can be heard on almost any Knox Manning broadcast.

... To the amazing broadcast of "Meet the Press" that featured the new head Kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan, Lycurgus Spink, and Drew Pearson, neither of whom pulled punches. If anyone had any doubts about where the Klan stands on anything, this one broadcast would have sufficed to clear it up. From another angle, it was the best comedy show of the year—and the most chilling.

We View With Alarm

... That phony sense of alarm and mounting tension that almost all audience-participation emcees build up on their telephone calls. "What did you say, Mrs. Hotchkiss? What! What!? Would you spell that please? Yes? YES? Oh, I'm so-orry, Mrs. Hotchkiss—that isn't right."

... That "Wendy Warren," after all the lolly-gagging around with "Anton," the soft-lights and sweet-music treatment, decided in answer to his proposal of marriage that she didn't love him "enough." And it only took about six months. Some day the soap operas are going to send out instructions in the exacting art they alone have mastered—love; what it is; the different degrees and how to measure them until you know when you love someone "enough." Until then the poor old human race will have to struggle along with just plain old love.

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

BY ANDY MANSFIELD

CONNIE HAINES-JOE GRAYDON (Coral): Here's this week's topper by a pair of kids full of enthusiasm in their recordings of "Wouldn't It Be Fun" and the Latin-flavored "Good for You." . . . Both have plenty of rhythm and excellent assists by vocal group and small combo, with "Fun" being the side to watch. . . LP-MICRO-GROOVE (Mercury): The always popular Strauss waltzes take on new beauty when heard on the full-bodied recording by the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra. . . "Village Swallows," "Thousand and One Nights" and "Tales From the Vienna Woods" (in its entirety) provide a lovely interlude from old Vienna. . . AL JOLSON (Harmony): "April Showers" and "Rock-a-Bye Your Baby" (both with Guy Lombardo) combined with "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum" and "You Are Too Beautiful" provide good material to compare the Jolsons of yesterday and today. . . First two are much the better sides in spite of Lombardo, and as re-issued on this low-priced label, how can you lose? . . . FREDDY MARTIN (RCA-Victor): Reminiscent of the "Sabre Dance" is the Martin version of "Love Is Such a Cheat," a gypsy song with tongue-twisting lyrics ably handled by Merv Griffin and the Martin Men. . . "My Own, My Only, My All" in calmer tempo is more listenable and with its picture build-up ("My Friend Irma") will be due for lotsa plays. . . GORDON JENKINS (Decca): In "Don't Cry, Joe" and "Perhaps, Perhaps, Perhaps," Gordie again has a pair of smart arrangements that showcase the voices of Tony Bavaar and Betty Brewer. . . Listen for the blending of voices and instruments on both sides—it's excellent. . . DEAN MARTIN (Capitol): Of the many entries in the "Lucky Old Sun" Handicap, we like this one to place second to Laine's winner. . . A strict tempo interpretation to a Paul Weston arrangement that has a full instrumental chorus takes it out of the vocal class, yet Dean's easy relaxed husky voice on both "Sun" and the flip-over, "Vieni Su," is a welcome addition. . . JULIE WILSON (Columbia): Some fine Winterhalter music backs this stage star's first for this label in "A Man Could Be a Wonderful Thing" and "Good-for-Nothin' Lover"—tunes ideally suited to Julie's style. . . We liked this platter more every time we heard it . . . maybe it's that little catch in her voice that reminded us of Helen Morgan. . . A.M.

The Ban Inspires the Pen

BAN DELAYED

While radioites and radio fans alike were still heatedly discussing the FCC ban on giveaway shows, something was done about it last week in Chicago. There, Radio Features (a giveaway packager) was granted a temporary restraining order against the FCC which will stop execution of the order until October 7. At that time, the pros and cons of the subject will be considered by a judicial panel. Meantime, Radio-TV Lifers are welcome to express their opinions about the subject. All we ask is that you make your statements brief.

Dorene Granade, P. O. Box 915, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

If Hollywood must have giveaways why not take the shows off the air and have a Hollywood giveaway hall—contact individuals by mail, thus giving unlisted and non-phone subscribers a chance at giveaways, clearing the everyday giveaway takers who wiggle in professionally day after day and finding out how interested people are in giveaways when they aren't on the air. A hall would then get the amateurs off the air and would give the air space to professionals who are always good.

Jack Benny, CBS comedian

As an actor, I am in favor of the ban because it would make jobs for actors. However, I am not against any show with real entertainment value.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Gillard, address withheld, Burbank, Calif.

Why doesn't radio ban many of the old has-beens along with giveaways? I have had a radio since the days of the homemade crystal sets and we are all thoroughly tired of Jack Benny, "Fibber McGee," Fred Allen and Louella Parsons.

J. M. Gibbs, 7942 Fountain Avenue, Hollywood, Calif.

I should like to say that radio giveaways should not be banned. Compare the good they do to what supposed harm they might do and there is no comparison. They are one of the greatest types of entertainment ever afforded the American public. So they are a gamble—ha! Sour grapes and jealousy is all that ails these would-be dictators of America's amusement. More power to giveaways, keep them going.

Mrs. C. W. Ramsey, 14712 Texaco Street, Paramount, Calif.

I am definitely for giveaway programs. I've never won anything, I don't even have a phone, but I do get a kick out of them . . . those that object to them are what I call selfish.

Winifred Harkon, 1121 North Detroit Street, Hollywood, Calif.

May I add my voice to the hubbub re "giveaways." I think there should be some changes made. They should be made to choose contestants fairly and no jackpot should go over a certain limit. Let there be more winners and smaller prizes.

Mrs. E. Gregory, address withheld, Sun Valley, Calif.

"Do people want giveaways banned?" My answer is no, but let persons that want to be subject to telephone calls send in their names to the programs in order to be eligible, thus eliminating tension on ones that aren't interested.

Hal Styles, 8800 Wilshire Boulevard, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The controversy on "Do people want giveaways banned" makes splendid reading. After reading all of the comments down to and including Jane Pelgram's, I said to myself, "They are all missing the point." Giveaway programs are not entertainment no matter how hilarious. As one steeped in every form of show business, it is not the type of entertainment we have grown to associate with the word. And then I read Editor Evelyn Bigsby's which was a bull's-eye, studied, tolerant but factual. There is only one kind of giveaway program that can never be banned. . . . I have wanted to do it for years. Soon I intend to. In the meantime, I hope you can keep this controversy raging. It's a honey. My own opinion is that giveaway programs as we know them today are doomed because they are steeped in the most common yet dangerous instinct in man—gambling.

Leo Wainschel, 7320 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood 46, Calif.

I believe in the democratic way of thinking about the ban of giveaway shows. It used to be nice to listen to the radio and hear a show on which a person won money or a nice gift, now it sounds silly with thousands of dollars in prizes for one person. Instead of making one person happy with $28,000, the sponsors should give 280 prizes of $100 and make it open to more than one person. Another way of thinking about the FCC ruling is that it would not be democratic if one organization is to tell or rather ban giveaway shows. If a sponsor wants to spend millions of dollars out of his pocket, then it's his right and privilege as an American citizen to spend his money any way he pleases.

H.J.H., 8824 East Virginia Avenue, Pico, Calif.

The FCC has poised a legal club over the heads of the giveaways and if some of them get the "clout" it's what they have been asking for. The properly and fairly conducted ones shouldn't and never will be barred. But quite a few of them which cater to professional contestism and noisy claquerism should be made to reform or get out. Indeed, the big new industry of hanging around studios and flashing pulchritude at receptive emcees is simply preposterous and should be suppressed. If the networks and sponsors want to more than double their home-listener audience, they will have to more fully take us into their confidence as to what techniques are used in the selections of entries for the programs . . . and if it is a contest, let the contestant earn his prize.

Mrs. E. P. Larson, 4239 Lennox Boulevard, Lennox, Calif.

In answer to your question "Do people want giveaways banned?", my answer personally is no. There are plenty of different types to go around. No one is compelled to listen. If giveaways are lottery, so are all parlor games our children play. It seems to me the people in favor of the ban have rather selfish reasons. I believe if they took a poll of all the shut-ins who can't get out to participate in other forms of entertainment, these same people would realize that you have to think of the other fellow, too. If a direct vote were taken of the people, I think the ban would be banished.

Esther Orum, 11929 Venice Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif.

I don't think the giveaways should be banned. If other people don't like them, they can always turn the dial.

Mrs. Bertha Groger, 216 West Walnut Avenue, El Segundo, Calif.

Why do away with something which brings happiness to so many? I have never won and chances are I never will. However, this does not keep me from enjoying the happiness of those who do. I think those against giveaways are just plain jealous. Listeners who just can't stand to have someone else win anything would think it fine if it were they. The actors and musicians are afraid too many people will prefer to listen to giveaways instead of them. Here's for more giveaways.

Peggy Mead, 1452 Rowland Avenue, El Monte, Calif.

I am very much in favor of the giveaways. I cannot see where there is any lottery in them. It is only another way to advertise merchandise and the government gets their taxes just the same as if the people were buying them. It is fun to hear the contestants and the funny things they do. There are thousands of people that never go to the shows that enjoy these programs and they are more fun to listen to than the jazz bands. I say keep giveaway shows on the air!

Radio Lifelines

By Evelyn Bigsby

BEFORE PROGRESSING FURTHER, I want to say that this column is prompted by absolutely nothing in particular and everything in general. Cumulative effect of several recent social affairs for returning radio shows set me thinking.

PEOPLE IN RADIO are just about the same as those anywhere else, although sometimes the stress-strain of radio seems to accentuate basic traits. During the decade I've been associated with radio folk I have met the warm, altruistic, well-bred, self-contained, humble and cooperative type many more times than the snooty, selfish, gauche, temperamental, high-hat and difficult. Personally, I don't like to arrive at an "unbudgeable" decision about someone after only one contact. It might be that person's b-a-aad day! (I know I have my ups and downs, days when interviews click off and others when they don't move the way I'd like to have them, and I certainly wouldn't want my interviewee to judge me by my operations on a down day.) Besides, an interview session isn't the ideal time to come to conclusions, for an interview is predominantly business, even if the assignment is a home-type story with accent on personal life and informal pictures.

AFTER ALL THESE YEARS IN RADIO, I've finally made up my mind that parties level off the stars more accurately than anything else. I consider it a rare opportunity to mingle with most of the radio personalities who attend the customary kick-off or anniversary broadcast party. Take writer Don Quinn and his charming wife, Edythe. You can travel the breadth of the United States to find as delightful and intelligent a couple. The Quinns were guests at the party NBC gave Jlm and Marian Jordan to celebrate their fifteenth radio year. Don's assistant, Phil Leslie, and his wife Helen are another worth-knowing couple.

ONE THING I DON'T LIKE is the personality "I knew when." I hate to see someone come up the line from nothing and end up too big for his derby. I thought Ralph Edwards (he and his Barbara can go down in your book as another swell couple) was typically gracious at the party he gave to start "Truth or Consequences" tenth air year. When I congratulated Ralph and wished him another successful decade, he said in a quiet, sincere way, "Evelyn, if it hadn't been for people like you, I would never be where I am today."

WE HERE AT RADIO-TV LIFE don't expect orchids, fruit out of season, fifteen-pound boxes of Blum's candy and other lovely gifts when we do a story on someone. We are actually thrilled when someone takes the time to sit down and write us a small note. But I often wonder about stars from whom you never get a peep, even when meeting them face to face at, say, a leisurely and gracious social function. It seems to me that it would be very thoughtful for such a personality to mention that he liked (or did not like) the story. If he did not like it, you might at least have a chance to straighten out something you may have inadvertently done.

LOUELLA PARSONS, being a newspaperwoman, naturally knows the value of good press relations. When I met her at the McGee party and mentioned the nice job she did on our recent 20 Questions, she thanked me for the opportunity and the "publicity." Dorothy Lamour is another person with discrimination and appreciation. (She was also a perfect hostess the other afternoon at a Hawaiian garden party at her home, where she previewed her new dresses which she will design and retail for the working gal.)

MY FRIENDS AND I certainly know me as a person far from being perfect. Granted I am probably not as warm, altruistic, etc., etc., as some radioites, I can appreciate this type person and sympathize with and understand the other. Ergo, no complaints. Just observations.

THE ONE REMAINING THORN in the flesh, which is a complaint, is the performer who thinks that "the press" always skulks around at parties with eagle eyes for news which they'll print regardless. So they never relax when the press is around. I wish such a handful of persons could be themselves regardless. Why do comedians always have to make with the forced gag? Why stay on mike? Why not get off mike, the same as we want to get off typewriter? Just be plain people and forget about the acting. These people who are always playing it big might relax if they would simply realize that this magazine is essentially a kind magazine. We don't gossip, we try not to tear things and people apart with cold intent, we try to make our stories and items fair but human, our criticism just but constructive. If, after ten years, radioites don't know this, it's discouraging. We are sure our layman readers do.

VIDEO In Review

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Looks Like

"Lend an Ear," the Hollywood hit that went on to become a Broadway hit, is to be televised on CBS-TV's "Tonight on Broadway" this fall. . . . The "Sandy Dreams" chillun are more than getting nibbles for movie appearances. "Candy" and "Stuffy" are actually being tested. . . . A television deal is being worked up for Elliott Roosevelt. . . . An "opportunity show," with Gabriel Heatter as emcee, is being worked up together for TV. (Can you imagine performing under the eagle eye of one Mr. G. Heatter?) . . . We will still be seeing "Crusade in Europe" on KTTV, as well as "Kieran's Kaleidoscope." The films were made by 20th exclusively for ABC use, but KECA-TV was not telecasting, and ABC relinquished its "first" to KTTV. The net decided to let KTTV finish out the series. . . . Columnist Erskine Johnson and photographer Coy Watson have joined forces for a Hollywood newsreel for TV. The duo will cover spots around town, chat with celebs, and peek behind scenes. . . . A new video show is being dreamed up for Benny Rubin. The fantasy will go on to the tune of a huge orchestra and the taps and tunes of many singers and dancers. . . . The Don Otis show has been renewed for KLAC-TV viewers for another fifty-two weeks. . . . Radio Manufacturers Association last week told the FCC that it would take "several years" to (a) develop and (b) distribute color receiving equipment. . . . The Revlon Products Corporation recently requested an option on the first commercially sponsored color television program broadcast by CBS. . . . KECA-TV is giving "Sleepy Joe" the largest TV stage set in use. Jimmy Scribner, who does the role, will now enjoy a one-room cabin, a cornfield and a garden well! . . . With $40,000 already invested in Ed Wynn, CBS-TV is going all out on his big Hollywood premiere. The plush-carpet-bleachers-klieg-light ceremony on September 22 (carried on KTTV's Channel 11 here) is being telecast in thirteen eastern and mid-western cities.

Television Tips

By Jane Pelgram

Browsing through old Radio Lives (we weren't always Radio-Television Life, remember?) one day recently brought us across a September, 1940, copy carrying a column titled "Televsually Speaking."

While the entire column intrigued us mightily, two lines literally leaped out at us. We quote: "Many persons have remarked: 'If W6XAO would spend a few extra dollars the viewers wouldn't be disappointed with television.'" Unquote!

Second highly intriguing quote was: "Viewers, perk up your ears: There is to be competition amongst the telecasting stations this fall. There will be at least three full-fledged, going-every-night television stations. There may be a fourth. Paramount's Television Productions and Howard Hughes's stations will definitely throw pictures into the ether before three moons roll around."

Well, W6XAO did spend a few more dollars. They also moved to a hill atop Hollywood so their signal would dazzle even far-flung TV set owners.

Then came a five-year period of TV inactivity while World War II was being fought, and the nation converted from war back to peace.

In the remaining four years six more channels opened, with each spending "a few extra dollars." Each sends out a good clear picture. All but one (KFI-TV is on a seven-a-week daytime schedule) telecast at least five nights. As far as acceptable fare goes, television-set sales seem to answer that irrefutably. The end of this year will see better than 200,000 sets bought and cherished dearly in the Southern California viewing area alone.

Three times as many have passed from dealer to owner this year as last; and last year saw three times as many changing hands as there were the year before. Try to think of one other single industry which can boast this progress while still in relative infancy.

True, there is still a minority which snivels about being disappointed in TV fare. Have you noticed that nine out of every ten of this group do not own sets?

Incidentally, wonder what ever happened to that Hughes fellow's plans re TV?

MAESTRO PENS TUNE

The maestro of NBC's "Hit Parade," Mark Warnow, has written a tune tagged "Twilight Memories" which will be published soon.

NAMED FOR FUNNIES

Harry Lillis Crosby Jr. was tagged "Bing" as a child because he was crazy over the comic strip "Bingville Bugle." The CBStar has always been known since then as Bing.

9:30 a.m.—KFWB, Peter Potter.

PROLIFIC ACTOR

J. Carrol Naish, CBStar of "Life With Luigi," has portrayed dozens of characters of various nationalities, but in the new film "Please Believe Me" he will be acting like an Irishman for the first time in his sixteen years of acting.

LUDLOW COMPOSES

Musical director Ben Ludlow of KHJ's "Scattergood Baines" series has just completed a tone poem, "The Pines," which has aroused the interest of several symphonic organizations desiring to include it on forthcoming winter programs.

SUPERSTITIOUS
 KFWB disc jockey Bill Anson has written music and words for songs and has frequently carried the vocals for recordings by other composers, but he's superstitious about singing his own songs.

BRONCO BUSTER
 Known for his sentimental way of announcing his KFWB show, Maurice Hart is also respected by his Encino neighbors for his prowess at breaking even the most recalcitrant of horses.

DUMB MISS DUFFY

Ed Gardner of NBC's "Duffy's Tavern" claims "Miss Duffy" is so dumb that she has to have her mind read in order to discover what she's thinking.

FIRST NETWORK

The first network was a telephone broadcast line that connected stations WEAF, NBC's WNBC in New York now, and WMAF in Round Hills, Mass., back in 1923.

early and a consistent television advertiser. They earn a plug for their product by having sponsored some of the earliest and best commercial telecasts ("Author Meets the Critics," "Leave It to the Girls," "Meet the Press" and "Try and Do It"); and now by their introduction of a tender dramatic series based on Kathryn Forbes's book "Mama's Bank Account." First chapter of "I Remember Mama" was unrolled for the press last week, starring Peggy Wood in the title role, with Judson Laire as "Papa," Rosemary Rice as "Katrin," Dickie Van Patten (the boy who played with Lunt and Fontanne on Broadway in "Oh, Mistress Mine") as "Nels," and Iris Mann as "Dagmar." Frank Gabrielson wrote the scripts. A little bit of folksy stuff goes a long way, ordinarily, but in the case of "Mama" the meaning of that phrase changes. This folksy stuff will go a long way, mainly by reason of excellent presentation, good acting, good sets and, the blessed result of real show know-how, humor. Plot is the least of it. In the first chapter "Mama," in whose characterization

Peggy Wood did wonders at blending guile and warmth, cemented relations between an estranged mother and daughter. The coffee company blended their commercials into the film in a logical fashion, and any comment that arose from this practice mentioned merely the way doctored-up printing on the Maxwell cans stood out. Without 'em we wouldn't have had the film though, remember? "Mama" will be seen on KTTV's Channel 11 at 7:30 p.m. each Sunday from here on out. Broad audience appeal of the episodes should make lovable "Mama" a formidable opponent.

Honesty Is a Popular Policy

record to suit the writer, and plays it following his reading. The disgruntled bank teller heard Dean Martin singing on record "The Money Song." The young school instructor was teased by "A Little Learning Is a Dangerous Thing."

The most controversial letters Al can remember came from women. One young Nordic bride, married to a Negro boy, wrote her honest opinion about a marital arrangement of this sort. "It was a fine, honest letter, not merely a lashing out on her part against the groups or individuals who had made it their business to pronounce her marriage tie at least 'unconventional,'" Al remembered.

"Another letter that almost got me into the soup for even reading it came from a woman who said flatly that she would rather be 'the other woman' than a housewife. She went on to explain why in the most challenging fashion. This particular expression of free speech resulted in such an avalanche of long letters that I was forced to limit all mail, from that day on, to 150 words or less.

"It isn't often we get anything so violently controversial," Al explained with real relief. "Some days everyone who writes sticks by simple subjects like death or taxes!"

is their tendency to prod the suffering subject about the eyes with sharply pointed sticks of pencil. His application is of melted-down eyebrow-pencil lead and brilliantine. A line of the mixture applied along the eyelid with a soft brush lets the artist make his getaway camera-ward without either a set of violently twitching lids or a near-permanent mark that only harsh scrubbing of the delicate lid can remove.

Like any artist, Fred enjoys the reaction to his efforts.

"Most non-theatrical people look forward to a make-up job. They wonder how they will look, and are almost always delighted."

Fred remembers only one painful instance when his art failed miserably. "A star with prominent, almost flapping ears was to appear on a television show one evening. I used spirit gum to hold his ears down, and it looked great. What I hadn't remembered was the heat of the lights, and halfway through the show out into position sprang only one of the star's ears. He's hated me for months!"

MUSIC is his life! Those four words aptly describe Curt Massey, the Texas-born baritone whose 190-pound, six-foot-two frame stands up surprisingly well for one of the busiest schedules of any singer in Hollywood.

Many of his musician friends have nicknamed Massey "Mr. Music," and it fits perfectly for the following reasons:

(1) He's heard five days a week with Martha Tilton (see cover) on his CBS program; (2) Saturday nights he's the star of Mutual's "Plantation Jubilee"; (3) he's the master of every musical instrument in a dance band but likes his "hot" fiddle and "Dixieland" trumpet solos best; (4) he writes songs—"Honey, I'm in Love With You," "Venuti Blues," "A d o b e Hacienda," and "Draggin' the Bow"; (5) he owns his own music publishing company, Essay.

All this does not leave Massey much spare time in the average working day, but what extra moments he can muster will find him on a golf course, usually Hollywood's Lakeside, where he plays in the low

Radio Is Still One of the Hospitalized Vet's Best Friends. It Cheers Him When He Is Blue, Soothes When He's Nervous And Shuts Up When He Wants to Be Alone

THIS disc jockey was different. He didn't have on a modish sport jacket (he was in a plaid flannel shirt); he didn't know his way around the platter bins (he had operated a crane in a steel mill before he went into service); he didn't walk around in smart suede shoes (he was in a wheel chair at Sawtelle, with his left leg in a cast following surgery). But he was just as anxious to whip a show into shape and get on the air as the mightiest platter spinner in Hollywood.

When William Warren (not the movie star, but Radio Program Director of KVAC) bundled the chap and his wheel chair into his car to drive the jockey from Wadsworth hospital, across the grounds south of Wilshire Boulevard, up the hill to the radio studio in the administration building the fellow beamed happily. He already had one request for his show. Some chap wanted to hear "Again."

Don, the ex-crane-wielder, is just one of the patients deriving tremendous therapeutic value from KVAC, Veterans Administration Center. "I don't have any radio ambitions," he mumbled modestly. "Just do it for kicks." But anyone could see that the incentive of being on the air every afternoon was helping Don get better faster.

◀ WILLIE BROWN OF TEXAS, a patient in Wadsworth hospital, gives a wide grin as he listens to his bedside network. Willie participates in the KVAC Radio Workshop.

ANOTHER PRETTY GAL brightening the listening at KVAC was Doris Day, who conducted platter program with frequent guests such as Jane Powell.

HERE IS THE KVAC RADIO WORKSHOP CAST rehearsing the ABC "Mr. President" script of August 14 for presentation over the bedside network. Left to right, seated, Bob Holland, Marine in South Pacific; Richard Ranier ("Mr. President") in Transport Command, World War I; Earl "Red" Coffee, who served in Italy; Ted Fickes (lying down), Kodiak, Alaska, World War II; standing, Carl Schwartz, E.T.O.; and Carla Durand, volunteer worker.

While Don was chatting and spinning his records, sick servicemen and women all through the hospital's reaches were listening through earphones. Those in the park heard the program over a loud-speaker.

There are 1500 sets of earphones installed in the four hospitals at Sawtelle: Wadsworth, with 1500 patients; Wadsworth annex, with 900; the Domiciliary, comprising 3500 World War I and Spanish American War veterans; and Brentwood, with 3000 neuropsychotic patients. The three-and-a-half-year-old KVAC is operated exclusively for these patients. Programs start at 6:30 a.m. and end at 10:15 p.m. At present, the operation is on one channel only, but in the near future they expect to have four so that selectivity will be available. Much of the air material is from major networks and local independent stations; some comes from Armed Forces Radio Service; remainder is done live by volunteers both inside and outside the hospital.

the hospital itself is an outstanding patient, veteran of World War I, who writes and delivers a weekly fifteen-minute news commentary. Disc jockeys can draw on a library of 20,000 selections.

Comedy takes top rank with patients of both World Wars I and II. Variety is a close second. But interestingly enough, World War I vets, when polled, ask for sports next, while servicemen from War II request mystery. Serial dramas plummet to the bottom of both lists, but regular drama is up close to fourth place.

Answering this demand for plays, the hospital's own Radio Workshop regularly puts on its own show, usually using radio scripts from "The Whistler," "Mr. President," or "This Is Your F.B.I." Under Miller's supervision, out goes a call over KVAC

SEEN ON THE Video Scene

ON THE NIGHT of July 4, families who spent the evening at their video set side (rather than brave traffic en route to any gigantic pyrotechnic display) were amply rewarded by a visit aboard the U. S. S. Valley Forge. Not only did viewers enjoy the televised visit with admirals, lieutenant commanders, commanders, captains and seamen by the score as KTLA's cameras roved the big carrier—at homeers saw a fireworks display it would have been difficult to beat. A cameraman followed the video crew around the seagoing metal monster both before and after the telecast. His pictures show some of the difficulties encountered in this undertaking.

▼ ONCE ABOARD, KTLA'S TRUCKS drove freely over the man-o-war's decks from aircraft storage hangar to flight decks, televising everything. The one-hour-and-forty-five-minute show was the first night telecast from a ship at anchor.

"Radio's Mr. Music"

program has changed his ideas about the best air audience for a singer.

"You can have half-hour extravaganzas," he says, "but I've found the real road to an audience—five quarter-hour shows a week. I've discovered that listeners can miss a single half-hour show too easily. One week the family may go to a ball game and the next week Louie's family drops in for a visit and the radio is silent and the third week there is a picnic which interferes. A whole month can go by before the family gets to hear the weekly performance.

"With five broadcasts a week—even though each lasts only fifteen minutes—it's next to impossible for even the lackadaisical listener to miss every one. And, even in a busy family of listeners, the chances are that the show will be heard at least three days out of five. The mail Martha Tilton and I have received since we started our intimate little musicals proves that."

Curt's late father, Henry Austin Massey, was a champion old-time fiddler and he insisted that his seven sons and one daughter be even more musical. And he was obeyed, especially by Curt, who not only developed a warm voice for ballads, but the ability to play well any orchestral instrument.

Curt was only twenty when he became a member of the orchestra at Kansas City's famed Pla-Mor ballroom, and it wasn't long before he was made its director. It also served as a melodic introduction to Edythe Williams, who was studying languages at the Kansas City Junior College with ambition for a diplomatic career. After a year's courtship, she gave it up for the more harmonious career of Mrs. Curt Massey. They were wed June 9, 1932.

Massey joined his sister Louise in the fall of 1933 in Chicago on the old "National Barn Dance," for which the two organized the famed "Westerners." With this group, Massey was featured on the old "Showboat," "Dude Ranch," "Magic Key," and Al Pearce shows before he turned baritone soloist in 1943. Since that time he has been starred on such air shows as Red Skelton's "Plantation Party" and with Dave Rose and the Andrews Sisters on CBS.

Besides being busy with music, his radio shows and his music publishing firm, Massey is treasurer of the Autry Mineral Co. (no relation to Gene) and owner of a service station at Pico and Doheny in Los Angeles. The Masseys have an unpretentious home in Beverly Hills.

for volunteer thespians. He casts the show, puts actors through their paces, and gets it on the air complete with manual sound effects and musical background (they have to use records for this).

Miller has problems to solve that no ordinary radio producer ever faces. Since the average stay of a patient is only two weeks, he has to move fast once a vehicle is selected and cast. Otherwise he is likely to find himself without a leading lady or heavy. Patients who have been in the hospital for lengthy periods often pull surprises on the producer by announcing suddenly that they are going to surgery (usually on the day planned for the performance). Miller has to be philosophical about this, and he is.

He has already licked the problem of getting his actors and actresses on mike in time for the cues. It was not easy, for half of his cast is usually in wheel chairs.

Name That Theme!

mind of Rose's talents, but Red's personality remained unexpressed. "Fibber and Molly" once tried to change their theme, but pressure from listeners (and Radio Life readers) was so insistent that it was changed back to the Billy Mills original.

Themes that are musical puns: When "Sam Spade" chortles "Good night, sweetheart" to the palpitating "Effie," it's inevitable that the sign-off should be Ray Noble's ever-popular "Good Night Sweetheart." Other themes spring as neatly from the show material. "The Carnation Hour," starring Buddy Clark, in choosing "Contented" is reminding listeners of the "contented cows" commercial that the product has used for years. The soap opera, "Lora Lawton," though it has another signature, sometimes sneaks in the haunting strains of Dave Raksin's "Laura" during particularly sentimental moments. One of the trickiest is the comment the music makes as "Mr. Keen, Tracer of Lost Persons" comes on the air. Noel Coward's lovely waltz from "Bittersweet" reassuringly intones "Some Day I'll Find You."

Best musical pun of all time, however, was the theme used by the San Quentin prisoners who produced a fine network musical show several years ago. Revealing that men can keep their sense of humor even in San Quentin, the prison band opened and closed the show with Vincent Youmans's "Time on My Hands!"
