Some time ago you "Viewed with Alarm" the "Grand Slam" show and its lucky ladies, who without answering a single question, get a prize anyway. As a constant listener to this program . . . and I admit also a sender-inner of entries for the past three years . . . I feel you were a bit over-ambitious. You see, even if the contestant does not know a thing, I think she or he is entitled to a prize . . . ever since either has sat on the stage, the nerves are at a high tension. I am on the listening end, and there has to be a certain amount of justice. In case that the contestant on the stage is five times correct and makes a "Grand Slam," the sender-inner gets a consolation prize, equal to the one the contestant wins. When she or he does not answer correctly, the prizes are divided and the very accurate Irene Beasley gives sometimes "split prizes," in case the contestant is almost correct.

No, I have never won, but I trust that sooner or later one of my entries will be used . . . but anyhow, I think it is one of the fairest competitions between contestants at home and at the studio that there is.

Mrs. Virginia Iman, 5909 Willoughby Avenue, Hollywood 38, Calif.

Can you tell me what Jack Owens is doing since he left the "Breakfast Club"? I enjoyed reading the write up in the Hollywood Shopping News about Evelyn Bigsby . . .

Jack's the writer of pop tunes like "Hut-Sut Song" and "Cynthia's In Love," and since he left the "Breakfast Club" we gather he's devoting his time to song-writing.

Name and address withheld, Sun Valley, Calif.

I have just finished listening to "Richard Diamond," Friday, KFI, 9:00 p.m., and I am a steady listener to the program. I think it's pretty good, but there is only one thing I think takes away the quality of the show and that is that Dick Powell is slightly "hammy." If he is going to be a private detective, let him be one, but he tries to be a detective, a singer and a comedian . . . I think he should stick to one thing.

Mrs. Jane Morgan, 320 Grand Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Your cover for December 9-16 was certainly tops. Enjoyed the article on Sinatra and Kirsten very much. It was well worth waiting for . . . I certainly think "Light-Up Time" is one of the best fifteen-minute programs on the air. Sorry the "frost warnings" had to cut in on it, but realize they are necessary.

My request is for a picture of KMPC's Bill Harpel. My favorite announcers are both Bills . . . Stulla and Harpel, and you'll notice they each have six letters in their last names. Guess they've hit the right combination. At any rate, their voices are soothing, yet extremely interesting. Please print Harpel's picture soon, so I can visualize him as I listen to him.

What ever happened to the policy once adhered to by the networks of not programming the same musical selections more than once an hour? Recently we have heard the same tunes over and over again ad nauseam. For example, Jack Smith did "Dear Hearts and Gentle People" and fifteen minutes later a contestant on the Arthur Godfrey show did the same song . . . and speaking of Godfrey, why must his contestants (or those on Horace Heidt's program) feel they must present one of the current top three tunes? Surely the musical output of the past years can provide some songs almost as good as "Don't Cry, Joe," and Rogers and Hammerstein did put out a few good ditties before "South Pacific."

Let us hope that "Mule Train" has clippity-clopped its way to oblivion in the wake of the red-eyed cows of the "Ghost Riders in the Sky," where they are no doubt wistfully joining the "Little Dogie" that "got along" in the "Last Roundup." Probably they were all being herded by "Nature Boy."

Of course for anyone who gets fed up as I do with the monotony of the programming there is always KFAC, the station that really gives a variety plus quality in music.

Musical rights still requests that two hours elapse between song repeats. However, in the case you mentioned one sang out here, the other coming from New York, and the West Coast has no say about what music shall emanate from the East.

Cora Dunham, Pomona, Calif.

Often we read letters complaining about favorite programs coming on at the same time. I too have a complaint of the same kind . . . two of my favorites, "Behind the Story," KHJ, and "Inside the Doctor's Office," KNX, both come on at 4:30 p.m. My favorite program is "Voice of Prophecy."

About Your Letters

All letters to the Ear Inspires the Pen Department should include name and full address of the sender. Name and/or address will be withheld on writer's request. Opinions expressed in the letters printed are those of the senders and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of Radio-Television Life.

Elizabeth S. Pallos, Sunland, Calif.

What has happened to my two favorite programs, "Pat Novak" and the "Damon Runyon Theatre"? Instead of stretching our imaginations to the breaking point in shows like "Hearthstone of the Death Squad" and "Mystery Is My Hobby," sponsors should realize that we who listen after 8:30 p.m. are big boys and girls and enjoy our realism mixed with plausibility and interspersed with a bit of whimsy . . . life's too serious as it is these days. I suppose "Novak" worked too fast to suit his station and "Broadway" sold so much Vano that they'll never have to advertise again.

Sorry to see one of your readers pan Mercedes McCambridge. We've followed her since the old days of "Lights Out" and "Mary Marlin" and think she's one of the most outstanding and versatile gals on radio.

Your assumptions on "Novak" and "Damon Runyon" may be right, for the first show was sustaining and went off with no notice, while the latter had a sponsor who canceled with almost as little notice.

Roy Swanfeldt, 415 North Alabama Street, San Gabriel, Calif.

Some footnotes and postscripts on the Southern California side, re your December 9 article, "Why Is a Call Letter?" For instance, KAGH, Pasadena . . . Andrew G. Hervey, owner of the station; San Diego's KFSD had its origin in the slogan, "Kiss From San Diego"; KHJ . . . in the days when the Los Angeles Times owned it and "Uncle John" Daggett managed it, stood for "Kindness, Happiness and Joy"; and when KLAC's ancestor, KMTR, first went on the air from a little two-story frame building on Van Ness, just north of Sunset, those call letters meant "K.M. Turner Radio."

Thanks, Roy.

Mrs. I. Wilson, address withheld, Los Angeles, Calif.

On the December 6 "Fibber and Molly" show, "Molly" and the quartet sang "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer." My children were so entranced with "Molly's" rendition, we wondered if it's possible to get a record of it?

NBC informs that "Molly" has not recorded the song, but Gene Autry made a Columbia recording of it some time ago which is still available.

Jean D. Rath, 1312 Westminster Avenue, Alhambra, Calif.

I feel a long letter coming on, prompted by one Charles Baker in the December 16-23 issue. There isn't a shred of a doubt in the minds of the majority of radio listeners that radio sleuths are trite, hackneyed and generally overdone. How these illiterate attempts at entertainment can catch a sponsor is beyond me, when many excellent shows do a thirteen-week stint and "go by the board" with nary a nibble from a prospective client. Most recent departure from the airlines was the delightful tale of a newly married couple, "The First Hundred Years." (Incidentally, "Hailmark" used the original script in this series in which Robert Walker starred. Frankly, Walker suffered by comparison to the excellent portrayal of "Chris" by Sam Edwards in the regular series.) The entire original series was a perfect example of excellent casting, direction, writing and skilful use of music.

A couple of years ago, a summer replacement entitled "Rogue's Gallery" with Dick Powell enchanted a large audience. Dick's alter ego "Hugo" and his residence on "Cloud Eight" added a bit of whimsy to the show. The merits of this program probably had a great deal to do with Powell's present "Richard Diamond," which is now beginning to wear a little thin like the rest.

Another summer replacement of two years ago was the "Mr. Tutt" series. There was a wealth of humor and unexpected endings in the twists in the way that they worked in favor of "Mr. Tutt's" clients.

The program missed most in this household is the one that graced the Mutual network several years back, "The Scarlet Queen." I doubt seriously if many of the readers ever heard it, for if they had, I'm sure that it would still be on the air and well sponsored. In all my radio experience, I've never heard or listened to a show that had everything to offer in the way of dramatic entertainment.

It was authored by the team of Bob Tallman and Gil Doud (also writers of "Sam Spade"), with original music by Richard Aurandt. If my memory serves me correctly, it was for the music on this show that Dick Aurandt received a musical award that year. The dialogue was superb in an adventurous setting climaxed by music really out of this world. The cast was headed by Elliott Lewis and was perfectly wonderful as was the part of "Gallagher."

At the time "The Scarlet Queen" was giving many of us a thrill, I was privileged to be a student in the radio department at USC. Frequently we were asked to write themes about our favorite radio program, giving reasons why and defending analytically to the best of our ability. It was my privilege to direct my efforts in favor of the "Queen," and I converted many of my fellow students to this program. We moaned and wailed when the series ended, and at the time I was quick to write the only fan letter I ever wrote in my life in favor of any radio program.

There are able writers, directors and producers who can turn out good shows if given the opportunity. It's not the fault of the listeners that the air is overburdened with certain types of shows, but of the sponsors who have the mistaken idea that's what we want. I'd relish the return of the "Scarlet Queen" and click my heels together to see some of the shows like "Mystery Theater" and "Hearthstone" go, but in a hurry.

Is What Evelyn and Vic Mortenson Will Always Think of Australia, Where They Were Feted for Three Royal Weeks as Winners of "Queen" Show

HIGH ATOP SUBLIME Point Lookout, Bulli Pass, New South Wales, the "Queen" and her "Consort" viewed some sixty miles of beach, emerald-green valleys and sun-basking foothills of the Great Dividing Range, principal mountain feature of Australia.

MEETING WITH A KOALA BEAR, held by E. J. Hallstrom, chairman of Sydney's Taronga Zoo Park Trust, brought "oohs" and "aahs" from the Mortensons. (Australian Official - Fitzpatrick photos.)

WHAT'S it like to be "Queen for a Day"? Ask the lady who was one — brown-eyed Evelyn Mortenson of Calnoga Park, who not only had a twenty-four-hour reign in Hollywood, but spent three royal weeks in Australia all dolled up in a sleek $4500 wardrobe and accompanied by lanky husband Victor.

The fabulous holiday for Mutual-Don-Lee's "Queen" came about when the show did some shrewd cooperating with the Australian government on the premise of better relations between countries. Their first idea was to present the "Queen" with some of Australia's rare flowers, but it was abandoned when they discovered that the blooms were too scarce. So, instead of sending a part of Australia to America, a "Queen" was to travel to the southernmost continent, and last October Mrs. Mortenson, housewife, became the lucky winner.

IN AUSTRALIA'S Blue Mountains are the Jenolan Caves, where Evelyn and Vic descended into huge limestone caves to see the strangely shaped and richly colored formations wrought by the action of lime and water. The caves cover an area of eight miles.

↑ FLOWERS FOR THE "QUEEN" were presented by two Australian beauties. All through the holiday Evelyn brought looks of approval with her fashionable $5,000 wardrobe. She and Vic have two sons, ten-year-old Dennis and fourteen-year-old Robert.

Just a week before attending the popular participation stint, the Mortensons saw their first radio program. Victor was bored and it took all wifely persuasion possible on the part of tiny Evelyn to maneuver her tall, reluctant husband down to the "Queen" broadcast. When she was picked as a contestant, Victor patted his wife's back, then sat back and wondered "What next?" First was her wish for two Boy Scout uniforms for two youngest sons, then came the winning round of applause and finally jovial emcee Jack Bailey placed the crown upon Evelyn's auburn head, proclaiming her "Queen for a Day" bound for Australia and a three-week return trip with all expenses paid.

Fun Starts

Then Vic flew into action . . . called his office at Bendix Aircraft, which he was to return to the next day, and got an extension on his vacation . . . made arrangements for a relative to care for their three sons, Bob, fourteen, Doug, ten, and Denny, eight . . . and finally went clothes-shopping for himself. After all, the husband of a "Queen" must put on a good appearance. All this time Evelyn was being fitted into her tremendous new wardrobe, whisking off to beauty salons and trying to keep her wits about her before beginning the 25,000-mile jaunt.

They took off a few days later, stopping in San Francisco to transfer to a DC-6 "Discovery" and, in twenty-nine hours actual flying time from the bay city, landed in Sydney, Australia. From this point on, the couple were no longer just Mr. and Mrs. Average American, but visiting royalty to be treated with nothing but the best. Evelyn was recognized as the "Queen" and Vic as her "Consort." While being cleared through customs (incidentally, the wardrobe was delayed and Evelyn had nothing to wear except what was on her back for the first few days), one official grabbed her hand and, shaking it vigorously, announced, "I have never met royalty

◀ IT LOOKS LIKE Vic and Evelyn got the cold shoulder from this sady-eyed kangaroo, or maybe he just turned his head away from the camera. Reports from the Australian press noted that the Mortensons were completely delightful with their simple charm and directness.

↑ BACK HOME in Canoga Park, Evelyn and Vic have that feeling of blissful weariness after their gala three-week tour through five of the six Australian states. They couldn't have had a happier holiday . . . their first in fourteen years. (Associated Newspapers, Sydney, photo.)

RED SKELTON is congratulated by scripter Richard Vodra and director Norman Macdonnell at the conclusion of "Search for Isabelle."

HOW SERIOUS can you get? It's a rare shot of the usually joyful Skelton that pictures this expression.

Skelton Plays Straight On "Suspense"

THE HAT MAKES all the difference. Red claims he's happier and more at ease with it on.

IT WAS pretty darn exciting—Red Skelton was going to play the lead in a "Suspense" drama and he had told his comedy cast several weeks in advance to be sure and listen. He told them every week.

Bill Spier, producer of the show that has presented Gene Kelly, Frank Sinatra, "Fibber and Molly" and Hal Peary in its melodramas, believes that listeners are intrigued by "cross-casting" of comedy personalities, that there's a thin line between the humorous and the sinister.

Skelton's (and "Suspense's") great day arrived and everybody in town wanted to crowd into the engineer's booth and into the small no-audience studio at CBS to see the redhead at work. Edna Skelton Borzage accompanied Red to the first rehearsal. "Now, remember," she said, "no ad-libs—if you do, you won't get paid."

Cross His Heart

"I won't," Red promised solemnly. Director Norman Macdonnell pegged Skelton's charm as "freshness and freedom," merely had the comedian read through the first rehearsal in order to preserve spontaneity. Red took his job very seriously, worked hard, but found time during the breaks to tell jokes, give imitations and generally carry on the way he does. Before Edna left the studio, she called to caution him once more, "Now, remember, you promised."

"I won't, I won't," Red reiterated.

At the dress rehearsal, recorded so that producer Bill Spier may confer with director Norman Macdonnell, Red was scared and said so. "I've never done anything like this before," he said, wide-eyed. Press agents and photographers covered the rehearsal thoroughly, some less than a couple of inches from the star, now concentrating all his effort on the script—and with no ad-libs.

Halfway through the script came a line that indicated the hero (Red) was going into a store. As the star read this, he put on his neat gray fedora, kept it on throughout the recording. Once the dress rehearsal was over, Red yelled "Edna!" and headed for the control booth to listen to the playback. "Look, I'm shaking," he exclaimed, holding out a very steady-looking paw. Why did he put on the hat? someone wanted to know. "I don't know exactly," he smiled. "It gives me confidence, I guess—you know, like Ed Wynn and those shoes of his. I always feel as if I could do anything if I have my hat on."

Red admitted that it bothered him not to hear audience reaction the way he does on his own comedy show. "It's like pictures—no," he

(Editor's Note: Recently we published an article about the disc jockeys, suggesting that some of them were running a good deal into the ground—wielding too much power over artists and popular music. As yet, we haven't received a thundering disagreement, but it's only fair to print a straightforward account of the way most disc jockeys run their job. KECA's Ira Cook speaks for the platter spinners. (Watch for second answer to our article soon, when a publicity agent steps forward to take the blame!)

R.L.: Did you read the article "What's wrong with the disc jockey" in the November 13 issue of Radio Life?

Cook: Yes.

R.L.: What was your reaction?

Cook: The article contained much food for thought. It should be read by all disc jockeys.

R.L.: How long have you been spinning platters?

Cook: I started in 1938. Of course in those days we did everything around the station. After I returned from the army, I started specializing in records.

R.L.: Do you believe a single disc jockey can make or break an artist, or a tune?

Cook: Definitely not. For example, some years ago, I was much impressed with the talents of some newcomers; namely, Frankie Laine, Kay Starr and Mel Torme. I played their first releases constantly. Not until they came up with real hits did they start to click. And even then, it took all the disc jockeys, not any single one, to put these nice people on top.

R.L.: In making your daily programs, do you play what you like or what your listeners request?

Cook: Naturally, I always try to play what the listener likes. I don't often take requests, because frequently requests come in for tunes that I feel will not appeal to the majority of the audience. On each program I attempt to schedule the kind of records that have general appeal. I might add that I do pay close attention to the mail I receive, and usually I can get a good cross section of the musical likes and dislikes of my audience.

R.L.: Some people say that without the disc jockey the recording artist would be in pretty bad shape. Do you agree that the disc jockey is more important than the artist?

Cook: Definitely not. Without the recording artist, the d.j. would be in pretty bad shape. Without the disc jockey, the artist could still make a living. The way I look at it, you just can't beat talent. I greatly admire vocalists and instrumentalists who can perform well enough to stand head and shoulders above the masses.

R.L.: Do song pluggers and record companies contact you frequently?

Cook: Very frequently.

R.L.: Do they influence you in any way in selecting music for your programs?

Cook: Not noticeably. If they send us pre-releases that are outstanding, naturally we'll play them because we feel that they will appeal to the listener. If their material is not so good, we simply pass it up.

R.L.: It's been reported that some disc jockeys resent having song pluggers constantly calling them to play certain numbers. How do you feel about this?

Cook: The song pluggers or song contact man's job is to get his tune played as often as possible. He has a good excuse for contacting us frequently. It's part of this business. Personally, I've found the song contact men to be a very sincere group of fellows. Furthermore, I've learned a lot about music from them. Very often I pick up interesting musical sidelights that I can pass on to the listener to make the program more entertaining. When the song pluggers stop calling me, then I'll start worrying.

◀ "SWEETEST TELEVISION STAR OF THE YEAR" was the honor awarded to blonde Mary Hartline by the National "Sweetest Day" committee. "Junior Junction" fans hear the pretty actress on ABC's Saturday show.

Disc Jockey Answers Back

R.L.: Do you feel that people tune to your program to hear you or to hear your music?

Cook: THE MUSIC — definitely. Through the years, I've discovered that the less you say the better off you are. After all I don't have the voice of Harry Von Zell, or the humor of Bob Hope. I'm on the air to entertain with records. A few intelligent comments on the records plus the commercial messages provide all the necessary talk. I'm sure the listener is not interested in what I did over the week end.

R.L.: Do you play many records with "off-brand" labels?

Cook: The label on the record makes no difference to me. It's what's on the record that counts. If the material is good, if the performance is acceptable and if the quality of the record is good, it will be played on my program.

R.L.: How do you feel about having the record artists drop in on your show? Are you in favor of these "in-person" interviews?

Cook: If the interviews are not too long, and if they are well planned in advance, I think they are great. Once again we must direct our attention to the listener in this matter. I feel that most people want to hear the voices of their favorite music makers. But it is important to make the conversation short and to the point. Too much idle chatter will hurt everyone concerned.

R.L.: Do you feel a person must have special qualifications to become a disc jockey?

Cook: As far as I can determine, all you need is a pleasant, friendly voice, a knack of ad-libbing and a stack of records . . . oh yes, and a big batch of LUCK!

In the meantime, a still plenty thrilled Evelyn is cramming her memory full of the exciting events that took place since she became "Queen for a Day." before, but I am very pleased to meet you!"

After a motorcycle corps escorted the Mortensons to their hotel, the whirl began . . . flowers arrived even from the Australian Minister of Information and from the Australian-American Association . . . receptions attended by invitation-bearers only were held . . . and scenic tours were taken through five of Australia's six states. Almost before the Mortensons could catch their breaths they had become front-page features in the country's newspapers.

And while Evelyn and Vic acquainted themselves with the country and the people's accent ("a" is pronounced "i") and sayings ("You had it" for "You'll be tired out"), the Australians were also carefully looking over these Americans and commenting not nearly so lavishly over the pretty "Queen" as over her handsome "Consort." It seems that Victor caused quite a feminine stir, and the Australian ladies were quoted in a Sydney journal as exulting to one another "My dear, isn't he (Vic) gorgeous?" The article is now pinned about Vic's desk at work . . . at least that's what he said when his wife wasn't listening.

Screen Test Maybe

Mr. Mortenson was also reported as "a younger, much more handsome edition of Randolph Scott!" Those Australian girls! But Paramount Pictures Inc., here in Hollywood, must have thought so too, since they've notified Vic to come out for a screen test. And who knows, maybe the chief dispatcher at Bendix Aircraft

"They told me that all artists must have a weasel," replies Gracie. "No, no," says Burns, "they mean something to hold the picture while you paint it." Gracie: "Aren't they clever little animals!"

On newsman Ed Murrow's program while nominating awards for various things: "The broadcaster who has consistently talked as much or more sense than anyone else on the radio—Elmer Davis, Nineteen hundred forty-nine award for patience and fortitude—Judge Harold Medina. Symbolic object of 1949 was, in our opinion, the deep-freeze. Honorable mention, at least, in the category of the 'most valuable man of the year' would go to the engineers on this network, because if they should fall asleep during one of these discourses we would be in trouble."

On "You Bet Your Life": Optometrist: "You see, Mr. Marx, people never get it straight that there's a difference between the oculist, optician and optometrist." Groucho: "They're all the same to me. When I get the bill, I still can't believe my eyes."

NEXT WEEK

Two particularly novel and interesting shows—one radio, the other video—receive well-deserved attention in your next issue of Radio-Television Life with our spotlighting of "Hollywood Byline," the program on which a reverse press conference allows the stars to query the reporters; and "The Black Robe," a TV feature that takes viewers inside a big-city night court.

In additional stories, we talk with a video cameraman, a television weatherman, and the boys who built and manage Loyola University's station KLU.

Our picture stories include a lens-eye view inside the home of cover girl Janet Waldo and hubby Bob Lee; an interesting round-up of mike personalities who engage in big business off-mike; and choice candid photos of more and more of your favorite microphone and camera personalities.

All of this, next week!

"Get More Out of Life"

Recently completed was the series on law for the layman on CBS's "Get More Out of Life" program, KNX, 12:00 p.m. Saturday. The new series introduces specialists in home medical care, building repair and maintenance and home economics as well as common legal practice.

Though the program is sponsored by a book-publishing company and its commercials make the program ring with a sub-network quality, we've gleaned so much incidental information from it in the past that it's well worth catching if you're interested in any of the subjects it touches. Actually we feel no need of sending for the sponsor's product—we get a lot of information from the show itself.

George Hamilton Combs, legal expert, again gives his interesting answers to law queries that might arise in the usual household. Hubbard Cobb gives valuable advice on build-

By VIRGINIA WEST

There's always good listening on ABC-KECA, morning, noon or night... but we'd like to call your particular attention to some daytime shows which are recent additions to the lineup. . . . Of course, there are old favorites like Jack McElroy and "Breakfast in Hollywood," and that master of mirth and melody, Zeke Manners, heard as usual at 7:00 and 7:45 a.m. respectively . . . and "Breakfast Club" with Don McNeill at 8, with that laugh-happy audience participation show "Ladies Be Seated," now in its new morning spot at 9. . . . But we especially want to call attention to "Quick As A Flash," a fast-moving session with bright young man, Bill Cullen, as emcee. If you're not a regular fan, you're missing something.

Cullen is an old hand at audience participation shows. . . . A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., he attended Pittsburgh University, turning to radio and an announcing job at KDKA to help with his expenses. By the time he'd attained his B.A. degree, he'd decided on radio as a career, and soon went to New York where the networks were quick to take note of his ability. He came to the fore as an emcee of informal comedy shows and quiz programs. . . . Listen any Monday thru Friday morning, and you'll see why his talents were quickly recognized, for Cullen gives you a listenable, laughable and altogether entertaining half-hour. . . . That's KECA at 9:30.

Have you caught Victor H. Lindlahr and his food advice, now on ABC-KECA five mornings a week at 11:15? So popular did his broadcasts prove, his sponsor decided to expand the show to its new Monday thru Friday status.

That longtime favorite commentator, Edwin C. Hill, with his "The Human Side of the News," is once again a five-a-week feature on ABC, under sponsorship of Miles Laboratories. You can hear Hill any week-day evening at 6, over KECA. . . . America's Town Meeting, ABC's public interest discussion feature, took top honors among the "Best Educational Programs," and placed second among public service programs in Motion Picture Daily's 14th annual poll for Fame. Voting were newspaper and magazine radio editors. . . . "Surprise Package" winds up its "Second Honey-moon" contest this week. . . . Better listen . . . KECA, Monday thru Friday at 2 p.m.

ing and repairs and how to cut costs in home maintenance. In addition, a home economist and a physician are heard in their subjects. The program is conducted by Len Sterling, who acts the average man in questioning the experts — but he asks the right questions.

"Command Theater"

An attempt to make a radio show out of a bunch of records comes off pretty well on KNX's "Command Theater," 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Opening broadcast featured, among others, the voice of Grace Moore, a welcome touch from the not-too-distant past.

Program is slanted to semi-popular taste in the Romberg-Kern vein with singers of the Robert Merrill-Jeanette MacDonald field. Also included are Broadway musical medleys. As a replacement for the long-running Mishel Piastro symphony program, "Command" is a wise choice to hold the symph's old fans. Bob Lemond, who is a very good announcer indeed, is the host and a listenable one. One thing, there's an awful lot of commercial for a program of this type.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

. . . To announcer George Bryan on Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" show. Last week the program started out with Bryan saying "We've often wondered what would happen on this show if Godfrey didn't show up—tonight we are about to find out." He then took over Godfrey's post and presented and interviewed the first two acts. Arthur bounced in halfway through the program with the words, "You know, this is the best show on the air. I've just been listening to it." Gaught in a traffic jam, the redhead had spent forty minutes trying to go thirteen blocks. We can imagine the nightmare that descended as broadcast time came with no star! The whole network should be thankful for their George Bryan.

. . . To whomever is responsible for restoring Bing's theme song, "Blue of the Night," to its old radiance. Just noticed that the cigarette music has been taken off the opening signature. Another bright move, commercial-wise, was Bing's explanation of his pipe-smoking picture on the cover of a national magazine. Seems he uses another product of the same sponsor in his pipe.

. . . To Groucho Marx's great singing in the final commercial of his new DeSoto series. The strangled Marxian obbligato is still at its facetious best.

. . . To what remains the most consistently sensible soap opera on the air, "Wendy Warren and the News," and to the most consistently believable heroine, "Wendy," as portrayed by Florence Freeman.

. . . To Eddie Cantor, now emceeing NBC's "Take It or Leave It," for collecting more than $25,000,000 turned over to charitable and philanthropic organizations during over 80,000 miles of travel in 1949.

. . . To a fine comedian, new to us, Frank Fontaine, who guested on Jay Stewart's "Carnation Family Party" and did an enchanting routine about a little American-Italian being interviewed as a sweepstakes winner. Please, somebody, invite him back.

. . . To Bob Elson, whose versatility as an interviewer is extraordinary. On one recent "On the Century" broadcast, he questioned a big-time football coach, a gynecologist and an economist in rapid succession, handling each interview with equal intelligence.

. . . To Roddy McDowall's "Collector's Corner" on his KMPC record program. Young Roddy is able to personalize his introductions because of his contact with some of the artists involved. We particularly liked his story of his mother's meetings with the great Irish tenor, John McCormack. According to Roddy, the tenor's usual leave-taking was "May God bless you and keep you in the palm of His hand."

. . . To Joe Yocam and Marcia Walton for their delightful coverage of the Rose Parade on KFWB. Both were charming, natural and indefatigable. Marcia, we believe, is one of the few women on the air who can do this sort of thing without affectation or mannerisms.

. . . To the Orange Bowl clash between Santa Clara and Kentucky—especially the third quarter. And to the Rose Bowl battle—especially the last quarter. Good listening for even a non-football fan.

We View With Alarm

. . . The greedy sound of commercials which implore listeners to buy the three-pound can of lard, several cartons of cigarettes, giant-size boxes of this and bottles of that.

. . . The mystery shows which have villains confess thusly in order to get the facts straightened out in the last minute of the program: "How did you know that I had been a sleight-of-hand artist and was able to slip the poison out of the doctor's pocket? I suppose you also know that I have a twin brother whom I sent to your office while I was murdering Mr. Blank two blocks away because he was blackmailing me for embezzling money from his company to bet on the races." The master-mind detective usually does not know all this, but is conveniently told by the victim himself, obviously a simpleton without the moxie to knock off a fly.

. . . That they're torturing that child again on "Rosemary."

. . . The constant infidelities of soap-opera husbands. This strikes us as one of many false notes persistently rung on the daily serials. Men of the leisure class or those of the unemployed masses may have the time for this sort of thing, but the type of lower-middle-class husband and father represented on most of the soap operas would be too busy to fit it into his schedule.

... The grating sound of a transcribed commercial (of local origin, we believe) that breaks into the middle of Cecil Brown's excellent taped interviews from Germany. Almost reminiscent of the war years when a commercial announcer would follow the telling of a life-and-death news story with "And now some important news from the sponsor."

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

Invited to the Reception?

We are the proud possessors of a most unusual wedding announcement. Here's how it goes: "Mr. and Mrs. CBS announce the marriage of H. 'Andy' Brown of 'Amos 'n Andy' to Miss Abigail Simpson of Texas. Sunday, the eleventh of December nineteen hundred and forty-nine. Hollywood."

The announcement is printed on a nice white card in the best of taste, befitting the importance of the occasion—the capturing of the most confirmed bachelor on the air. It must be catching—even Dick Tracy finally broke down and married Tess Trueheart. Only stalwarts left are Lil Abner and Sam Spade.

New Clues

Still following "Hollywood Calling's" clues on the "Film of Fortune"? New ones are: "A car plunges from a viaduct. A fortune comes to a man who waits. A girl is carried from a balcony."

Off Mike (Personalities)

Along Radio Row

Daws Butler has dropped us a very nice note to say that he enjoys our "Pit and Podium" column. We enjoy Daws as "Beany" on "Time for Beany," too. . . . Lurene Tuttle quoted as saying that women like their men devilish. Listener response to the "Sam Spade-Effie" romance leads her to this belief—and as "Effie," she should know. . . . Les Mitchel, triple threat (producer-director-host) on "Skippy Hollywood Theater," has been elected president of the Sunland-Tujunga Chamber of Commerce. . . . A top radio star, we hear, was so lonely during Yule that she ate Christmas dinner in the kitchen with her maid. . . . Scripters Bob Carroll and Madeline Pugh of "My Favorite Husband" confide that they find star Lucille Ball every bit as funny as her radio audience does. . . . Office visitor Jim Hawthorne jubilated over dropping thirty-six pounds—at the holiday season, too, when everyone else is adding like mad. . . . Another office visitor, Patty Andrews, admiring of the gallery of male stars on the walls of R-TV. L. . . . Group crowded into the sponsor's booth during the Groucho Marx-Bing Crosby taping were so overcome by the artistry of Groucho that they rushed downstairs to tell him so as the show broke. Halfway down, they met Mr. Marx looking so sedate and unfunny that they fell back and let him pass without saying a word. . . . One of the holiday sights we'll treasure is that of Harry Koplan, emcee on "Meet the Missus," who sidled up to us in the Broadway-Hollywood with the words, "Where in the world is the hair-ribbon counter?"

Brokenshire Fights Smog

New York radio announcer Norman Brokenshire, the NBC spieler who refused a free three-day all-expense trip to Hollywood as the guest of Walter O'Keefe and the "Double or Nothing" airshow because he "preferred New York's winter weather to the Los Angeles smog," has finally given in to the pressure applied by the local Chambers of Commerce and Hollywood stars and arrived on Thursday, January 5, via American Airlines to begin his sight-seeing whirl.

"After all," said Brokenshire, "I want to give Southern California a fair chance to prove its hospitality—smog or no smog!" Brokenshire taped a special interview with O'Keefe for broadcast over NBC's "Double or Nothing" program during his brief stay.

In addition to Brokenshire, two other free Hollywood trip-winners from Gotham, Mrs. Frank W. Bannerman, a 53-year-old Long Island housewife, and Martin Cinquemani, a wounded war veteran from Brooklyn who is paralyzed from the waist down, visited "Double or Nothing" on Friday, January 6, returning to the East on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Bannerman won her flight to Hollywood after explaining why "Boy of Mine" was her favorite song—having lost her only child in World War II—while Mr. Cinquemani selected "When You're Smiling" to portray the work he does for the foundation, G. I. Joe, Inc., helping wounded veterans.

Is It Safe?

Rhoda Williams, who plays Robert Young's teen-age daughter on NBC's "Father Knows Best," just completed a beginner's course in driving school. Recently she posed with Young for some publicity photographs in connection with the National Highway Safety Campaign. The pictures were to be used in illustrating safety techniques taught to novice drivers. Rhoda was given a chance to show the results of her schooling by being permitted to drive the car to be photographed from its shaded parking space.

A little bit flustered by this first attempt at driving before witnesses, Rhoda forgot to take the car out of gear before pressing the starter.

Post Script: The fender is fine now, and NBC has patched the wall so you'd never know there'd been a hole.

The return of Ann Sothern to KFI in "Adventures of Maisie," heard every Monday night at 7:30, is one of the finest things ever to happen to the radio industry. Flip, wise-cracking Maisie, the good-looking blonde from Brooklyn, gets into scrape after scrape but, in her own dizzy fashion, solves all of her problems in a way that makes listeners love her. For mischief, fun and romance look for KFI's "Adventures of Maisie," every Monday night at 7:30.

"Crime Does Not Pay," another of KFI's newer shows, presents "Death Is a Song" this Friday at 9:00 p.m., starring M-G-M's Mexican-born actress, Margo, who plays the part of a dancer and singer whose willingness to make "easy" money implicates her in a murder. Series of stories in "Crime Does Not Pay" have been adapted for radio from the Academy Award-winning M-G-M film shorts, adding considerably to KFI's already imposing array of NBC shows. Tune it in every Friday at 9:00. You'll like the dramatic suspense, mystery and thrilling action.

to You

By ANDY MANSFIELD

CLASSIC OF THE WEEK (Capitol-Telefunken LP Microgroove): Here is a long-awaited recording of the famous Gliere Symphony No. 3, based upon legendary Russian folk-lore, yet able to stand on its own for pure beauty and musical structure. Abounding with stirring climaxes, warm-bodied melodies and tonal colorings, the work is given a superb reading by Rachmilovich and the Academy of Santa Cecilia, Rome, Orchestra. . . . THE MAN WITH THE HORN (Decca): Six outstanding sides featuring Billy Butterfield (with Bob Crosby Orch.), Bobby Hackett (with Bill Challis Orch.), Randy Brooks, Roy Eldridge, Louis Armstrong, and Muggsy Spanier (with their bands) with some of the best horn work on wax. Here's an item for collectors of re-issues of yesterday that is tops. . . .

RALPH FLANAGAN ORCH. (Bluebird) has four more sides that equal his first releases on this label—"Dear Hearts and Gentle People," "Where or When," "Way Back Home," and "Trail of the Lonesome Pine"—all styled in the simple melodic manner that makes for top-notch dance music and easy listenin'. . . . DINAH SHORE (Columbia) does the "Scarlet Ribbons" tune in lullaby mood, backed by a run-of-the-press version of "Sitting by the Window," but for a pair of real goodies don't miss her waxings with the late Buddy Clark of "Lucky Us" and "Nobody Home at My House," easily the pop record of the week. . . .

VIC DAMONE (Mercury) has a pair of extremes in (a) "In the Still of the Night," given a high production touch that is meat for the Damone pipes, and (b) "Kiss Me," a tune that (in spite of its title) inspired no romantic ideas and could easily be dropped from Vic's repertoire. . . . MARTHA RAYE (Discovery) has an unusual side in the Kreisler violin solo, "Lotus Land." Utilizing an echo chamber throughout against modern backing by Phil Moore, Martha's adaptation as a song without words is certainly most different and pleasing. . . .

MEL TORME (MGM): Given the right material, the Foggy One can always be counted upon to turn in a swell job—and he does just that in "A Cottage for Sale" and "Gone With the Wind"—a pair of whispery ballads given the lush Torme treatment but nice. . . . FREDDY MARTIN ORCH. (RCA-Victor): Sure to be heard many times during his Palladium stint is "Timbales," not only written but recorded some time ago by pianist Barclay Allen. It might be another "Cumana," and all Martin

RADIO-TV

Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

JIMMY DURANTE CAME BACK last week to Hollywood from New York, where he wowed 'em at the Copacabana. He's so modest he waves off any mention of his smashing success, but he packed in the customers for all three shows every night. The word "night" is used loosely, as his last show was at 3 a.m. and Jimmy didn't wind up his stint until 4. Then he got squared away for a 5 o'clock breakfast and to bed just as most other hard-working citizens were rolling out. All of his radio shows from New York, five in number, were taped, and that saved a lot of grief, as his time was pretty full and irregular.

JIMMY OF COURSE LOVED seeing hordes of his old cronies. Everyone wanted to see him. The Copa jammed 600 people in and still left crowds waiting on the streets, even for the 3 a.m. show. Garry Moore did one of his typically nice things and called Durante on both his opening and his closing nights. (There'll never be another team like them!)

JIMMY IS ANXIOUS to get a couple of good pictures under his belt in 1950. He's also sticking with radio for some time longer, and says not to expect him on TV for a couple of years. He'll be phenomenal, I'm sure, when he does hit that screen.

GUESS OLD HOLLYWOOD looked good to him after all the haywire schedules in Manhattan. He got about four hours' sleep the night before he left New York because there were so many odds and ends to tie up after his last show. Too tired, he caught a cold and, home at last, was cutting his Friday rehearsal short at Hollywood's Radio City so that he could get to the doctor. "Ma nose is runnin'," he barked, "and with me dat's a major project!"

HOW HECTIC? Things were popping so fast around the office when last week's magazine was put to bed that half my column was left out, as whoever reads it must have surmised. It was all my own fault . . . sending page 1 and its duplicate to the composing room and staching page 2 (and its dupe) in the desk drawer . . . carbons were in case anything happened to originals en route to plant. Anyway, on the lost page I was gathering up the loose ends from the holidays, and though now we've all sunk back into our usual ruts, I'd still like to salvage a couple of items from those Lifelines.

ONE CONCERNED THE AIR DEBUT of Jack and Mary Benny's daughter Joan, which occurred the Sunday before Christmas and was really a present to her. She played a Camp Fire Girl, and well, too, even though she isn't one. Joan wasn't the least bit nervous, but her mother was. The studio audience knew who Joanie was, but the radio audience, which probroyalties on this disc go to his injured ex-pianist. . . . Swell idea, Freddy! . . . A. M.

ably didn't, may have been puzzled by Jack's parting crack, "Wonder why her father doesn't dress her better?"

ANOTHER PAIR OF ITEMS which fell by the wayside: radio actress Helen Gerald was married over the holidays in New York to James Dolan, assistant musical director for Toscanini, in St. Patrick's Cathedral. They honeymooned in Florida. Edward Arnold and his writer, Jean Holloway, were wonderful donors to our holiday charity project, along with Norma Jean Nilsson, Anne Whitfield and Henry Blair, who helped swell the food items to well over 300 and the gifts to over 500.

IN A FEW DAYS, one of my good friends, Commander Scott, will celebrate his fifteenth radio year. He is to be congratulated on his longevity. "Scotty's" programs have always been meaty and diversified, which is more than many other perennials can claim. Another milestone which is coming up is KTLA's. It telecast its first program February 1, 1943, when there were only 300 TV sets here. Station was on but two days a week. By the time it went into commercial operation on January 22, 1947, there were all of 1000 receivers in L. A. What'll it be like three years from now?

KNOW NOW, FOR SURE, that the delightful and hectic blur known as "the holidays" has passed. Next to our office there is a complacent little dachshund who parks in the sunny doorway of the Hobby Shop. For Christmas he wore red ribbons around his sleek little black neck. Now he's just plain black again.

MORSES ADOPT BABY

Carlton E. Morse, the "International Santa Claus" who traveled to Rome this Christmas, is adopting a four-year-old French girl whom he has cared for through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children. The child, Jacqueline Comptet, was flown from a Paris orphanage to the party in Rome, and it was the first time the Morses had seen her.

GROWING OLD

Anne Whitfield aged nine years in an hour between signing off as five-year-old "Phyllis" on the NBC Harris-Faye show and going on at six as "Sally," fourteen-year-old gal friend on KECA-TV's "Ruggles" program. Conventionally, Anne is really a flexible eleven.

"MR. AND MRS. AMERICAN CITIZEN"

NBComedian Eddie Cantor and wife Ida were honored by Los Angeles Lodge of B'nai B'rith as "Mr. and Mrs. American Citizen." Last year's titlebearers were Melvyn Douglas and wife Helen Gahagan.

TAKES UP FLYING

John Milton Kennedy, announcer of CBS's "Lux Theater," has taken up flying and hopes to have his private license in another month.

MOREY'S FALLS

After KTSL comedian Morey Amsterdam wrote "Oh Why Did I Ever Leave Wyoming?," the state was so pleased that it named one of its most scenic waterfalls "Amsterdam Falls."

AMATEUR VENTRILOQUIST

Johnny McGovern, who portrays "Randolph" on ABC's "Date With Judy," is an amateur ventriloquist. His favorite woodenhead, "Little Joe," was recent guest on Charlie McCarthy's show.

MOORE'S IDEA

CBS' Garry Moore says he has developed his own five-year plan. In five years he says he is going to marry Rita Hayworth's baby girl. Admits Garry, "I know she won't make me much of a wife at that age, but wow! What a mother-in-law I'll have!"

GODFREY PLUGS SELF

Last month denizens of New York's radio row were wondering about the meaning of the latest slogan "B. L. T. N." spouted by CBStar Arthur Godfrey. After unsuccessfully trying to figure out what product he was plugging, maestro Archie Bleyer finally asked for an explanation. Answered Godfrey, "Better Late Than Never." He was referring to his recent tardiness.

★ ★ "SWEET SUE"

owner and get a brother or a sister pup.

The contest is simple. Choose a name—the best you can think of—for the pup displayed, and send the name to "Man's Best Friend," KTLA, Los Angeles, California. Accompany your name choice with (1) the reason why you want the dog and (2) where you would keep him and what provision you have made for his care.

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Looks Like

If you didn't own a TV set at the time KTLA showed the wonderful early film series that included such treats as "A Star Is Born," "Jamaica Inn," "The Beachcomber," "Major Barbara," "Pygmalion," "Dinner at the Ritz" and more, be cheered. KTLA has re-leased the whole lot and will reshow them. . . . KTTV has set up its own private packaging plant, under the aegis of Norman Chandler himself, to handle the distribution of KTTV video shows. . . . KECA-TV is adding a nighttime hour to its schedule; KTLA one Sunday hour. . . . In New York City, during Christmas week, total sales of TV sets passed the one-million mark! according to NBC surveys. Rest of country in that week purchased 472,000 sets. . . . The operation of "Phonevision," the home pay-per-picture television device, was demonstrated by owner-originator Eugene McDonald, president of Zenith Radio, for the movie studio heads. Idea was to interest the movie moguls in releasing pictures for his test scheduled in Chicago next month. . . . Tex Ritter's rodeo has been signed for television in the East and will be kinescoped for national showing. . . . Jackie "Life of Riley" Gleason and Joe Bigelow are now lining up financial backers for their musical "Sing Along," which they aim to take to Broadway after a Hollywood tryout next spring. . . . The assistant to Paramount's number-one designer, Edith Head, is lending her talents to dressing up the characters on KTLA's "Beany" series. . . . Bill Welsh will emcee the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences dinner on January 27. Tickets for the public can be obtained at Academy headquarters, whose phone number is in the book.

Rumors Are Flying

A television show is in the writing works, designed to star Celeste Holm (we hope this one is a true rumor!) . . . Bobby Ramos, star and skipper of KTLA's "Latin Cruise," is being considered by Robert Rossen for a good role in the forthcoming motion picture on Thomas Lee's "The Bulls." Bill Gargan is practically rolling in movie offers that have arisen as a result of his "Martin Kane, Private Eye," KNBH series. But instead of movies, Bill is going ahead and incorporating more TV production firms. . . . We might see the Andrews Sisters on television this year after all. Their spring vaude tour carries them into some mighty tele-conscious cities with plentiful kinescope equipment and outlets for kinnie on this Coast.

Stop, Listen, Look (Shows You May Like)

"Man's Best Friend"

Most of the television channels did something a little bit special to celebrate the New Year, and to remind people that just this or that side of one year ago most of the Los Angeles area channels started telecasting.

But to KTLA, which has been on the air for several years, and more especially to Herb Wagner, owner and emcee of "Man's Best Friend," goes the kudos for the real novelty. (Saturday, 7:10 p.m., Channel 5.)

As regular viewers know, Herb Wagner is one of the West Coast's best-known dog owners and trainers, and one who fortunately realizes how much more difficult it would be to train some of his own friends than it is his dogs. By this patience he, the dogs and his show viewers all benefit. But December 30 hit a new high with the New Year's Eve party the pups put on. The Wagner dogs were shown suitably hatted for a party and seated at the gay little table. Hostess Gypsy, the Doberman star who does everything but write (she can talk!) poured for her friends, all of whom chose milk as the celebration libation. Then each dog was given his choice of, and a portion of, sponsor Dr. Ross's dog food. Not one guest touched his plate until all were served and the go signal given. After their repast, the dogs took up horns and in the best tradition blew the New Year in.

The cameramen who handle this chore deserve some sort of special accolade for the job they did. Obviously they were canine fanciers themselves, who missed nothing in the way of wagging tails, eager, prancing feet and sly dabs at one another's plates—all the antics dogs go through that can set a roomful of adults to clucking and crooning as they watch.

We couldn't help thinking, after the show was over, how greatly some of the television fare we have heard touted as great stuff could be improved if the same amount of patient training and rehearsal was engaged in by the human show stars.

Each week Wagner and his co-emcee Dick Garten continue with their contest. Prizes in this contest are puppies—marvelous little fellows brought to the show from some of the best kennels in Southern California. At the time the pup is shown (and breeds range from Dalmatians to collies to police to cockers) his breeder's address and phone number are given, so in case you aren't lucky enough to win one, you can still contact the

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

"Just for Fun"

One Sunday recently we caught a show on KFI-TV, Channel 9, that reminded us more strongly of radio than almost any other TV'er. The Evan Sax-Don Seldon production is "Just for Fun" (5:30 p.m.), a gags-and-games half hour patterned after "Truth or Consequences" and "People Are Funny" of radio fame.

While the finished production isn't as smooth as an Edwards- or Linkletter-emceed package, one particularly redeeming feature lies in the fact that teen-aged youth has its fling at the fun that belongs to teen-aged youth.

The stunts include the usual sort of thing—a boy starts out on a shoestring, literally, to trade that shoestring into whatever he can. The youth in this case had only a barrel around him and the string on his foot, and managed to run this garb into a shirt and pants kindly donated by understanding viewers in the same block with KFI-TV.

Another stunt was built around two boys with bolts of material and dress-makers' dummies. Boy, who dressed his model most tastefully won a prize.

Choice of participants all through the show was good. Emcee Sax isn't long out of the teen-aged group himself, a factor that probably lends insight into his stooge's adaptability. But best of all were the prizes. Every time a winning participant turned around he found himself winning something highly acceptable. Those who lost received Sun Vista products for their troubles, and must have had a lot of fun on stage. Sun Vista is the sponsor of this juve show, and should they take an audience poll, they would find their faith in their novel vehicle substantiated. Now if they keep faith with their faith and present their own commercial in more palatable form, we'll all be happy. The laughs are there to be had for the simple dialing to Channel 9.

"Uncle Icky"

Each Wednesday night in the half hour from 6:00 to 6:30, KECA-TV runs off an old silent motion picture, dressing up the occasion through featuring puppets who comment on the screened antics of silent-flicker stars.

The film we have seen on this program is some of the best available. Not only are big-timers of old paraded, the films themselves are of superior quality. Lacking are the usual gray-ness and flickering that make the treat of watching old mimists at work rather difficult. The video outlet, incidentally, isn't telling where it procures the films—a wise move—so don't bother 'em by asking.

During the show, two other small characters "entertain" with their exchange of comment on the film and their reading aloud of the subtitles flashed. "Uncle Icky" and "Philbert Fuddlemore" get off some sharp patter, but we remember hearing sharp patter exchanged by attendance at regular movie houses during a picture, and that didn't entertain us, either.

Possibly we feel more strongly than most viewers about gagging up the treat these motion pictures offer. The commentary seems a violation. "Icky" and "Philbert" are contributions to the video scene, but in this case both their appearance and the running of the film would benefit by separate appearances.

The program also features Ken Walker, Walt Disney artist, who weekly appears to sketch, from the pictures selected by emcee Jeff York, some lucky moppet's likeness. York makes his selection from snaps or portraits sent in by fond parents. Jeff is allowed but a few moments to recreate, and the Disney technique is not the least interesting part of the show by any means. The results are wonderful, and proud families can pick up the finished drawing and the original photo at KECA-TV Center.

No old-movie lover ever reaches the point of satiety, apparently, so for you who are on to the three local houses catering to your trade and who possibly know about the private sessions of silents, here is a prize showing you can watch without stirring from your own set-side. ("Beanie" is no more of a Wednesday for this scribe!)

For the uninitiated, here is a good, easy way to discover a brand-new interest.

On Lens (About Studio Happenings)

Father Wrote 'Em!

One Tuesday night (7:00 p.m., Channel 13) when Vance Colvig Jr. had finished satirizing subheads and interjecting his own brand of comedy into an old silent starring Poodles Hanneford, he got a telephone call. "Pop" was on the other end of the wire, and wanted to know why the blankety blank his subtitles weren't good enough for Vance. The surprised Vance naturally asked . . . "Your subtitles?"

"Sure! I wrote 'em!" came back Colvig Sr.

It seems that at one stage of Pinto Colvig's colorful career, he had done a stint for the studios, writing scripts and subtitles. He had seen the old show on video, and recognized both it and his snappy dialogue.

D ID I LET Beverly go into show business?" laughs Joan Davis. "I'd have liked to see anybody try and keep her out!" Miss Beverly Wills, Joan's teenage daughter, is the hilarious "Fuffy Adams" on "Junior Miss," and a trouper of long standing.

Joan made her debut as "The Toy Comedienne" at seven. Daughter Beverly outdid her mother by sneaking onto a stage at the age of three as her mother exited. She sang "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and created a sensation. By the time Beverly was very little older she did a regular spot in the after-piece of Joan's vaudeville act. "She was in heaven," sighs Joan.

Anything Joan Can Do

From then till now, young Beverly has engaged in a spirited competition with her talented mother. Joan is her idol and Joan's goals have been adopted as her own. Before Beverly was out of rompers she could give a letter-perfect imitation of her mother. Joan was a good dancer—Beverly became a good dancer. Joan was a whiz at ping-pong—Beverly became a whiz, too. In everything from radio comedy to at-home spelling games, the two are challenged and challenger. "Not long ago," says Joan, "I mentioned that once I had gotten all A's in school—Bev came home this semester with all A's."

The Joan-Beverly relationship is unique in show business. It's been the fashion in recent years for show people to keep their offspring out of the business. Joan grants that many youngsters are too shy, others have the hopes and not the talent to make the grade. She is happy that Beverly's great desire to make good was backed up by the ability to follow through. It would have been cruel, she claims, to discourage her.

Daughter Gets No Aid

Beverly has all the self-confidence in the world. This amazes her mother, who confesses to an inferiority complex. "The difference between us is that I would like to hide when someone asks me to entertain—Beverly offers 'What would you like to hear?' before anybody asks." Joan is proud that her daughter won the role on "Junior Miss" by eliminating the competition in an extensive audition. The comedienne doesn't coach her daughter in any way. "She would sound too much like me—she must rise or fall on her own." Not that it isn't a help having a top comedienne for a mother. Joan visited the "Junior Miss" show one day and discovered that Beverly was doing her warm-up from the "Leave It to Joan" program. "She won't steal my material until after I've tried it," explains the comedienne. "That way she doesn't risk taking any poor material."

Beverly visits the rehearsal and the broadcast of "Leave It to Joan" every week. She's very solicitous about her mother on these occasions. "She keeps asking me if I'm sure that I feel all right," smiles Joan.

REMEMBER how grandma always used to say "boys will be boys" when Junior dunked his little sister's pigtails into the inkwell? We had forgotten how true the adage was until a visit with David and Ricky Nelson found us confronted by a pair of curious-eyed, completely unsissified young gentlemen, who were taking a break between rehearsals of ABC's Ozzie and Harriet adventures.

Armed with melting ice-cream bars, thirteen-year-old David and his nine-year-old "kid" brother, Ricky, raced up a steel stairway, each trying to outdo the other in making the most clatter, then bounded into the sponsor's cozy booth, momentarily out of breath.

After testing the springiness of the chairs with a couple of hardy bounces, David swept a disarrayed lock of soft blond hair off his forehead and sat back erectly with arms akimbo. Ricky was still bouncing.

Since they've taken over their roles as the Nelsons' sons (child actors Tommy Bernard and Henry Blair portrayed them until March of last year), David and Ricky have been having as much a "ball" on radio as they do at home. Both admitted to having "butterfly" symptoms the first time they did the show, but now they're old hands at acting. Neither has any qualms about making "fluffs" because the show is taped.

Big Money

With their salaries banked and put in trust until they are twenty-one, David and Ricky are given an allowance by Ozzie and Harriet for their parts. David gets a dollar and Ricky does too. Just a short time ago, the younger son was earning only fifty cents, but after some "confidential talks" with his mother, he's been upped to his brother's class as far as finances go. These weekly reimbursements see the two through stacks of comic books (jungle type preferred) and movie matinees. For their pick of the pictures, both would rather see comedies and real dramas and they kind of wrinkle their noses at Westerns. ("Hopalong Cassidy" gets by, though.)

True boys, these Nelson heirs. David's the serious one; Ricky the wiggleworm. During the shows, David is as patient as a boy of thirteen could be expected to be, pays attention to his script and listens prudently to Ozzie's coaching. Ricky, on the other hand, squirms about, laughs loudly when he hears the grown-ups chuckling, and ad-libs to others' comments. Usually he gets away with his monkey-shines, but knows how to snap in line when told.

MONTIE MONTANA AND "REX," stars of the Monday KLAC-TV Rodeo. Both these performers have seen plenty of action on the range and in rodeos about the country—and both seem to enjoy television.

Learned Riding Before Acting

KLAC-TV, Channel 13

PROBABLY televiewers who have children of grammar-school age are already familiar with Montie Montana. The trick rider and roper and well-known rodeo performer stars with his educated horse, Rex, in a miniature Western show which plays to more than 400,000 school children every year. Tales of the treat at school are sure to come trickling home, as is the news that "Montie" is a real cowboy!

Montie's miniature Western show, sponsored by the bakers of Weber's Bread, is presented to the moppets without charge. Montie rides Rex, who dances, counts, answers questions and does other amazing tricks. A colorful part of the show is an authentic stagecoach, pulled by four brown and white pintos driven by another rodeo star, Jess Kell. During each performance, Montie briefly explains the gaits of a horse and the name and purpose of each piece of saddle gear, and tells about some of the cowboys' apparel.

Early in November, when the youthful looking cowboy bowed onto KLAC-TV as star of "Weber's Rodeo Ranch," we turned out to see the fun and to meet a real cowboy who says, "I'm afraid the kids who don't know me won't think I'm the real thing. You see, I don't play a guitar."

Montie and his friend Jess Kell, a tanned man with bright blue eyes, widely spaced teeth and a great sense of humor, had Montie's fifty-eight-foot trailer parked across the street from the Cahuenga Boulevard video station. Montie took us over the trailer, which not only houses the six pintos who pull the sixty-year-old stagecoach during performances, but which also contains a small harness room and compact, complete quarters for Montie and Jess.

During the summer, when schools are closed, the duo travel the rodeo circuit of such big-time affairs as the Salinas, Cheyenne, Pendleton, Fort Worth and Calgary rodeos, as well as many in Southern California. This trailer transportation serves only the men, however. Louise, Montie's beautiful and talented wife, an equally accomplished and intrepid performer, and the Montana children travel by train. Junior, aged thirteen, and little Linda, only three, sometimes join the rodeo circuit as part of a "family act." And no son was ever prouder of "Daddy's" affiliations. Montie is Honorary Sheriff of the San Fernando Valley, a member of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Silver Mounted Posse, and Chief of Staff of the eleven Auxiliary Poses in Los Angeles County.

Montie has nothing but enthusiasm for television. "I have a lot more confidence when I'm on a horse, and Rex is as much a part of the Weber Rodeo as I am," he enthuses. "Then, too, if anything goes wrong, I can always put Rex through a few tricks until I remember my lines. If Rex runs out of stunts (a highly unlikely happening) I still have Button, Cisco, Pancho and Junior to fall back on," he chuckled, indicating the five pintos waiting to be hitched to their little coach.

The Montana-ranch-born and -raised "Montie" has a healthy respect for those gentlemen of the range whose hard riding is usually accompanied by a tune or two on the guitar. On many occasions the movie cowboys and the actual rodeo recruits join forces to entertain.

"Hoppy" is one of the most popular, according to Montie Montana. "He doesn't pretend to be anything he isn't."

Asked about the abilities of some of today's other popular chap-garbed heroes, Montie beams. . . "They ride real well for fellows who didn't know how until they became cowboys!"

Mother Knows Best . . .

Beverly has appeared with her mother in one movie—she played Joan as a child. On an earlier Joan Davis show, she was heard as her mother's sister. Recently Joan was pleased to hear that the producer of "Leave It to Joan" was planning to use Beverly as the voice of Joan's conscience. She discovered subsequently that it was one of the reasons Beverly came to rehearsal . . . she was asking the producer to have her written into the show. "The hot breath of youthful competition," sighs Joan. "I've got it in my own home."

Joan Davis claims she knew she had a comedienne in the family when Beverly spoke her first word. It was the conventional "Mama," but the baby's voice cracked a la Davis on the second syllable. "Another comic!" exclaimed the young mother. The Davis-Wills competition dates from that moment.

Beverly would have been thrilled to hear the words of a teen-ager who stood with a group outside CBS waiting for the stars to emerge. They saw Joan leaving the building after her broadcast. "Come on," cried the teenster, "let's get Beverly Wills's mother's autograph!"

The hour of bedtime is still a bone of contention with Ricky, who trundles sleepily away at 8:30 p.m. while David gets to stay up until nine. But no matter how hard he tries to keep wide awake, Ricky figures he'll still be meeting the early curfew until he gets to be eleven. Boy, will that be the day when he can stay up and watch television with David!

Take After Pop

Stepping into their dad's cleats (Ozzie was star quarterback at Rutgers), both boys are football fiends. Ricky plays end while husky David completes the offense lineup as quarterback. Right now, they think that to be a professional football player would be just "it," and they talk in terms of Bob Waterfield. Each admits he plays "all right."

The incurable musician of the Nelson family is Ricky. David says he took piano lessons "once" and that was enough for him. But Ricky is fascinated by drums and even picks out a beat when the musicians on the show are warming up. Whenever his folks suddenly discover Ricky's disappeared (he can't sit still and doesn't know why), they usually know he's in a safe place . . .

decided, "in pictures you go through a scene and everyone standing around makes a noise and then you shoot it. Here you have to wait five minutes after it's over to have 'em say it stinks!"

Just before the show went on the air, Red shouted to the engineer in the control room, "If I go into 'Willie Lump-Lump', cut me off, Frank." And then to director Macdonnell, "First mistake I make, I got my hat all ready."

The good-little-boy charm of Skelton with his innocent smile and soft brown eyes was completely winning as he stood at the mike. He wore a neat gray suit and a neat gray hat. And he didn't ad-lib. He gave a good show, remained completely serious. Skelton, the famous comedian, had completely given way to Richard Skelton, a nice little boy from Vincennes, Indiana, who hoped that the people would like him.

IN RADIO

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD ANNE WHITFIELD celebrated her fourth radio anniversary with a party to which etherdom's younger generation came dressed as their favorite radio people. Appropriately attired (as "Queen for a Day"), Anne is assisted in cutting the cake by Dawn (Edgar Bergen) Bender and Jerry (Ralph Edwards) Farber. Ready to help eat it are Jeffrey Silver, Gil Barnett, Michael Chapin, Henry Blair, Gloria McMillan and Joan Ray.

TOMMY BERNARD, "Pinky" of "One Man's Family," had no choice but to come as "Hop-along-Castody."

ANNE DUBS JOAN RAY, "Cookie" on the "Bloodie" program, first-prize winner in the parade of costumes. With her are Jill and Gil as "Amos 'n' Andy," Jeanine Ann Rossie impersonating her radio mother, Alice Faye, and Joan Marlowe as "Baby Snooks."

WHEN WORD OF THE PARTY reached Adolph Wenland, "King of the Giveaways," he asked to supply the prizes. To the Whitfield back yard came a truckload of giveaways and with them the "King" himself to see that the young professionals who never get a chance to compete for prizes enjoyed the thrill of winning them off the air.

DAWN BROUGHT HER YOUNG NEPHEW, Chick, to act as "Charlie" for her Bergen, and Jerry was kept busy distributing stage money and fizzy water to prospective participants in his role as "Aren't We Devils?" Edwards.
