Is Query That's Pet Peeve of Monty Margetts, Who Regales Viewers Daily With Culinary Efforts Which Ofttimes Fail

By Shirley Gordon

Monday through Friday, 1:00 p.m.
KFI-TV

I ONCE got into a heck of a deal with meringues. You know, I'm firmly convinced that eggs are my deadly enemies. I think that they definitely have individual personalities, and that they have just one thing in common—they all hate me."

Expounding on the subject of eggs in this un-domestic-science-like manner was Monty Margetts, whom televiewers find in "Cook's Corner" Mondays through Fridays at 1:00 p.m. on KFI-TV.

"Some people," Monty commented, regarding the time of her telecast, "eat lunch while they watch me cook. I think that's real rugged of them."

Running commentary like the above is typical of the patter that falls at a fast rate from Monty Margetts's quick tongue as she filts her five-foot-one from refrigerator to mixing bowl to stove. (The stove is an O'Keefe and Merritt—one of her half-dozen or so sponsors. But she has given it the identity of "Walter"—"because I used to do a show with him"—Walter O'Keefe, that is.) Monty's flitting figure is a problem to her show's producer, Bud Lilly ("Did you ever see anyone move so fast?" he moans between shouts of direction to the number-one, -two and -three cameramen in frantic effort to keep Monty and her maneuvers in focus.

Monty's culinary tries also come in for their share of attention from the production crew.

"Who ever heard of peanut butter on apples?" the boys in the booth deride as Monty whips up something novel.

And the next day, when the Skippy peanut-butter jar is brought out again, the producer calls out on the cameraman's intercom, "Get set to switch to the combination she turns out, whatever the heck it is today—probably Skippy on raw liver."

But the heckling—most of it is exchanged within Monty's earshot while she is doing the show—Monty takes in her stride, shooting back sharp answers, much to her audience's added amusement. "Besides," she flashes a triumphant grin, "no matter what they say, the crew shows up the minute the program's finished to devour everything in

▲ AFTER THE RECORDS ARE HEARD, they are referenced and cross-referenced in a card file so no matter what a script may call for or what sort of tune is needed to round out a program, that record may be found quickly.

THE BIGGEST poll on disc-jockey favorites lies not in Down Beat, Orchestra World, Band Leader or any similarly worthy publication. It lies smack in the hearts and homes of the millions who eulogize their favorites by "Oh, I wouldn't miss his program for anything in the world. He plays just the kind of records I like!" Not many average listeners realize that nearly every platter purveyor has a record librarian's memory, taste and effort augmenting his own choice. In the case of network shows this is particularly true.

She was too busy—first for six months as head of the CBS mail room; then as "record librarian." The job was designed to cover reorganization of the CBS record library. It has grown to cover the receiving, filing and cataloguing of all new record releases. That includes listening to each, more than once, for as Nancy explains... "I've learned that on a second or a third listening I often notice good things about the record which on a first hearing I missed." When records are damaged, Nancy orders the replacements.

Never Off Duty

She times all records, marking on the center margin the exact number of seconds the disc runs. Nancy tapes interviews and times live interviews when they occur on the shows she programs. She researches and writes entertaining questions for Tom Hanlon's nightly "Merry-Go-Round."

Nancy loves every minute of the more than fifty hours she puts in at actual work... fifty hours being thus qualified because during all of her waking hours Nancy is on duty. Driving to and from CBS she listens to all the other stations' discers. She has a tremendous record collection of her own, and she reads every newly printed scrap about the music world.

Alan Reed Has Become a Changed Man
With a New Name and Greater Ability*

AT LAST Alan Reed is beginning to find his ten-year-old ambitions are coming true. In radio for some twenty-three years, Alan has gone overboard for the video medium. In fact, he's been so certain of the field that a decade ago he changed his name and personality in preparation for the big day.

Back in New York Alan was doing thirty-five shows a week; he was the star of "Abie's Irish Rose," and work became such a routine that Alan started feeling that he was anonymous. Then too, there was the family—wife Finette Walker, former musical star, and three sons, Alan Junior, Steve, and Kit, who just weren't seeing their dad except for Sunday dinner, and even that was a rare occasion.

So Alan decided to turn over a complete new leaf. He discarded his Teddy Bergman moniker, a name which had become so closely associated with a master dialectician that radio knew him by no other qualification, and changed into actor

Alan Reed . . . Reed for a family name on his wife's side, and Alan, because of his eldest son.

Rocky Road

At first, it was a struggle for him to talk people into hearing his new talents. Most didn't understand, but one-track-minders became convinced when he performed the title role in Broadway's production of "The Pirate" with Lunt and Fontanne, "Hope for a Harvest" with Fredric March and many other Theater Guild productions. Along with work in stage shows, Alan created the pompous "Falstaff Openshaw" on Fred Allen's former aier.

Since he has cast his lot with television, Alan couldn't be happier. He feels that video is the most stimulating of all entertainment mediums, and although there isn't as much money in the game yet, no field matches its challenge.

Here Comes Hank

Hank McCune Put Radio Comedy On TV Film, and Found Success After Much Travel and Turmoil

▲ WELL, LOOK WHO TURNED UP ON ONE of Hank McCune's comedy shows—young-timers might not recognize him, but who else has to be introduced to Hoot Gibson, idol of small fry for a generation? As you can see, Hoot put Hank straight on the movie technique of twirling a six-shooter.

▲ STAR McCUNE GETS on the good side of director Harold Schuster. Though the films are shot on sixteen-millimeter, the quality has been compared to that of the best thirty-five-millimeter used in TV films.

*Thursday, 7:00 p.m.
KNBH, Channel 4*

HANK McCUNE is among the group which believes that television is worth everything. In fact, Hank is one of the leading demonstrators of the theory.

Well known locally for his own comedy shows, and before that as leading comedian on the UCLA campus, Hank has a TV program, now being seen locally, which is bearing the fruit of lots of experience and much hard work.

He worked from fifteen to eighteen hours a day five and a half days a week getting his comedy show in shape for the TV bubbles. His program, shot on film and edited before unwinding in front of the video cameras, required sometimes as many as twenty hours of shooting per day in the initial stages of the venture.

With twelve half-hour programs completed at this writing, Hank is over the hump and the show is an established one. He's traveled 18,000 miles by Greyhound bus visiting every television station in the country to get the program set up. He made four such circuits around the Chicago-New York coaxial-cable country alone. Now that the program has settled down, Hank's resettling too, in his native California.

Anything for Laugh

He admits that he and the other radio-ites in his cast aren't used to the arduous occurrences of picture-making, but avers that he'd kill himself to put over a laugh on film. And he nearly did. During one chapter of the program, Hank was called upon to duel with screen hero Glenn Langan, who happens to be an expert duelist. In the movies, these conflict scenes are shot at a slower speed with the aid of a special camera attachment. McCune, blithely ignoring these mechanics, faced Lang-

"Night Beat"

The Frank Lovejoy fans who called us up to bemoan the great loss to radio when he deserted "Mr. Malone" for the movies should be very happy to find "Night Beat" on KFI, 7:00 p.m. Monday. Not only is Mr. Lovejoy his same attractive self, his show is pretty good too.

Here is one instance of a radio melodrama holding up to the very climax, through the use of that old movie device, the chase to save a life (thank you, Mr. D. W. Griffith). Lovejoy plays "Randy Stone," a newspaper reporter on the lookout for human-interest stories. On this occasion he meets a doctor's assistant who has mistakenly led a patient to believe he is to die. The chase through the city ensues in an effort to prevent the man's unnecessary suicide. Director

NEXT WEEK

Can a movie star go serious as newsmen?

Can a radio star be a top air director?

Can a band-leader be comic on television?

These are pertinent queries asked and answered in next week's Radio-Television Life.

You'll find included in its pages stories and photos of vocal lovely Nancy Martin, "Blue Note Pianist" Herman Chittison, "The Answer Man" Joe Mansfield, band-leader-comic Frank DeVol, actor-turned-director Elliott Lewis, brunette "Blondie" Ann Rutherford, movie-star-turned-commentator Robert Montgomery, and the entertaining video offering, "Girls Only."

Plus happy candids of such radio-TV favorites as Margaret Whiting, Drew Pearson, Robert Young, Lucille Ball, Ashmead Scott of "Your Witness," folk singer John Braislin and John Beal, Blanche Yurka and Henry Hull emoting on "Tele-Theatre."

All this — and those prairie pals, "Red Ryder" and "Little Beaver" on our cover.

By VIRGINIA WEST

As you've no doubt heard, Bob Garred, one of the West's outstanding newscasters, has joined ABC-KECA's lineup of important newsmen. . . . Signed for one year, Garred is on the air with the latest news from around the world every Monday thru Friday morning at 7:30, and on the same weekdays at 6:05 p.m. The prominent young newsman began his career while a student at Stanford. . . . His love for sports tossed Bob into radio as a special events announcer, and his natural ability and excellent diction won him widening recognition. On graduation in 1936, he was awarded his diploma . . . and a job as newscaster. Garred has been in the news business ever since, with the exception of four years spent in the Navy during which time he achieved the rank of lieutenant commander.

There are many reasons for the success of the Phillips H. Lord production, "Counter-spy," but one of the most unusual reasons, we think, is the fact that Lord has endowed David Harding, hero of the series, with a complete history. Harding, in his mind's eye, is a man with definite personality. . . . He knows what he looks like, what kind of family he comes from and many other personal aspects of his life. . . . The writing staff must make each script fit this man, letter perfect. The one and only David Harding, Counter-spy, heard on KECA-ABC every Tuesday and Thursday night at 7, has been portrayed by Don McLaughlin for many years. . . . Another in KECA's list of exceptional adventure dramas is the Sherlock Holmes tales, enacted every Wednesday night at 8 . . . dramas based on the famous stories of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. In this series, too, the roles and the actors are skillfully matched. . . . For example, the role of Dr. Watson is played by the English-born Eric Snowden, whose background and many years in the theater have fitted him admirably for the part.

AROUND RADIO: Did you know you can now visit Jack McElroy and his popular "Welcome to Hollywood" show any Monday thru Friday morning at a later, more convenient time? The doors open at 10:15 a.m., and visitors are yours for the asking. Jack and his crew traveled to Honolulu a few months ago, you'll remember. . . . Now another of ABC's popular daytime shows, Surprise Package, with Jay Stewart, is planning a trek to the Islands in March. —Advertisement

Warren Lewis, musical conductor Frank Worth, scripters Russell Hughes and Larry Marcus have started the series off with a quality first broadcast that augurs well for the rest of the season.

"Memory Lane"

Many of our "Ear Inspires" correspondents have been writing us about KXLA's "Memory Lane," 10:30 p.m. Sundays, and for ages we've been trying to get to a radio at that late Sunday time. Now that we've finally made it, we're not going to miss the show again.

Old records, we love 'em, especially when they're presented by someone who knows something about them. Collector Lou Stevens, assisted by Tom Brennen, knows a good deal and presents his discs with tenderness and affection for their age.

A recent program is indicative of the treasures included on each broadcast: Nora Bayes singing "Homesick" (1921), the Peerless Quartet with Henry Burr as soloist (1919), Billy Murray and Ed Smalley doing their famous version of "Toot Toot Tootsie" (1923), Byron Harmon and Frank Stanley's "Dixie" (1903), Lewis James and Franklyn Bauer singing "Sleepy-head" (1926), Nick Lucas doing "Just a Little Closer" (1930). Record surfaces, from the incredibly ancient "Dixie" to the Nick Lucas "newie," are excellent. Comments by the spinners are pertinent to the records. Our only criticism of the show is that it's not long enough for a real enthusiast.

"Think Fast"

We admired "Think Fast." KECA,

9:00 p.m. Sunday, much more after we discovered that not only the answers but also the questions on this battle of wits were spontaneous.

Judged by Mason Groves, the panel consists (at this writing) of news correspondent George Coombs, composer-conductor David Broekman, Eloise McElhone, professional girl, actor Leon Janney and bridge-canasta expert Oswald Jacoby. A "King" chosen from the panel and a "Pretender" who has first chance in answering questions start off the game. Categories are chosen from among such subjects as "Famous Brothers," "Children's Games," "Nicknames," etc. Particularly bold "Kings" may choose "Blind Bat" subject—no one knows what they are in advance. He then makes up three questions on the topic.

All this spontaneity makes for occasional slips. Ballerina Margot Fonteyn, a star of ten years' standing, was placed in the "New Star" category. Howard Keel, new star of "Annie Get Your Gun," was called "Harold Keel" with no protest from the experts. Oddly, "Vagabond Lover" was not identified as Rudy Vallee, nor "Shine On, Harvest Moon" as Ruth Etting's big hit, but everyone knew that Louis Bleriot was the first man to fly the English Channel!

The program has a clattery, loose sound, peculiar to simulcasts heard on the radio. Janney's and McElhone's battle of vivacity, which may be cute on TV, sounds strained on the air.

Listeners are invited to send in categories to use as "Blind Bat" subjects. Those muffed by the panel entitle the sender-inner to a watch. Or something.

"Adventures of Maisie"

If you liked Ann Sothern in her "Maisie" pictures, you'll love her on her new transcribed series depicting the adventures of the same character on KFI, 7:30 p.m. Monday. She's the same brash Brooklynite with the underlying sweetness and the traditional heart of gold. Miss Sothern continues to play her for all she's worth.

These broadcasts are another in the series of transcribed shows from MGM and seem as fine as the others we've heard. A fine cast of radio actors supports the star, and production quality, including Harry Zimmerman's music, is high.

So far, the air "Maisie" seems to follow the romantic fancy of the screen character—she falls in love on every show, but relinquishes her hero and goes her own way at the end. We're glad she does, it bodes a long series.

"Handy Hints"

By Dorothy Gardiner and Keith Hetherington, stars of KTLA's "Handy Hints," Monday through Friday, 6:45 p.m.

This week we start an exclusive new Radio-TV Life feature in which we'll endeavor to pick five of the most practical "Handy Hints" sent us each week at KTLA for our program and pass them on to you Radio-TV Life readers. If you like this column, please let us hear from you.

First, we want to explain our new KTLA-Radio-Television Life contest. Each week we'll pick the best Handy Hint sent directly to Radio-Television Life, 6361 Selma Avenue, Hollywood 28, and use it, with your name and address, in this column as well as on the air over KTLA, Friday evening at 6:45. A lovely gift will be sent to everyone whose hint is used here as the KTLA-Radio-TV Life Hint of the Week.

Now for this week's best hints: A wire coat hanger makes an excellent plant trellis by merely bending into a figure eight and straightening out the hook which you then insert in the ground to hold up the trellis.

No. 2: Use ice cubes to water your plants—easy, practical, no excess water.

No. 3: Nail an old dishpan to your garage wall and use it as a hose holder, wrapping hose around it.

No. 4: To renew old, shabby lampshades, take some yarn (any color you desire) and starting from top, wrap around the shade. Presto! New shade.

No. 5: Use a flashlight (rounded head) instead of a darning egg for nighttime darning.

No. 6: To hold yarn while you're knitting, put it in a discarded teapot and pull yarn through the spout. It's foolproof.

No. 7: To avoid key-fumbling, notch one of the keys with a file and you'll be able to feel your way to the right key every time.

No. 8: To avoid putting thirty-five-millimeter slides upside down in the projector, clip one end of the slide. It works.

No. 9: When repairing anything with small bolts, screws, etc., lay parts on the sticky side of a piece of adhesive and you'll be able to replace in the same order in which you removed them.

No. 10: To remove dents from unpainted woodwork, rub a few drops of water over the dent and hold a lighted match close to the wood.

Remember, we'll be right here in Radio-TV Life next week, with nine more handy hints plus one KTLA-Radio-TV Life Hint of the Week sent in by you. And don't forget to see us every night, Monday through Friday, 6:45 p.m., KTLA, Channel 5.

ABC newscaster Bob Garred was once a young man with a horn instead of a mike . . . but he took only two months of trombone lessons.

"What's Cooking?"

sight. So it can't be as bad as they like to make out it is."

Is "Mrs. Taylor"

Besides which, Monty makes no claims about her cooking. Her chosen profession is acting. A radio veteran, she was formerly active on the San Francisco aiflanes, doing everything from newscasting to all-night disc-jockeying. In Hollywood, she is heard infrequently (because of her present heavy video schedule) on top dramatic programs and regularly on NBC's "This Woman's Secret," as "Mrs. John Taylor" ("Old Taylor," we call her.), a role she has portrayed for the past five years. She is also seen, about every three weeks, by video-viewers as "Miss Peabody" of "The Ruggleses" show.

When she first began doing "Cook's Corner," last March, she appeared during the week alternately with a genuine home-economics expert, and her chore was mainly the reading of commercials, at which she is an old and a skilled hand. Since then, she has developed the show into one unlike any other cooking feature on camera. Unless it is something which requires more than the time allotted her (it has grown from ten to twenty minutes), Monty performs the entire culinary operation for her viewers to observe. On how it comes out, she takes her chances.

When she took on the show, she made no claim other than a shaky ability to bake a potato. "I've always been too busy to learn to cook."

One of her first jobs on the "Cook's Corner" feature was simply to cut a cake. "I messed it up good," she recalls with a toss of her brunette curls. "It fell completely apart."

Another time a little girl asked Monty's help on a divinity-fudge problem. "My father," the youngster wrote, "says my divinity looks like gravy with rocks in it."

"So I made two batches of divinity to show her how to do it," Monty reports, "and you know what? One turned out like solid porcelain, and the other looked like gravy with rocks in it."

Burned Bread

On other occasions, Monty has made a three-time unsuccessful try at turning out a ring mold ("My mother cringes at my cooking efforts!") and has burned a sampling of oven-toasted French garlic bread to a flaming ash. (Shortly after this calamity, she relates, she was halted on Hollywood Boulevard by a perfect stranger who pointed at her and, between spasms of hysterical laughter, sputtered the words "Garlic bread!" with uncontrolled glee.)

By ANDY MANSFIELD

FRANK SINATRA (Columbia): If you haven't heard "God's Country," you're missing one of the week's best bets, for here are lyrics that make you stop and think. Sinatra and the Jeff Alexander choristers have a great arrangement, fine material, and that's about all it takes to produce a hit.

. . . Let's watch this one become another "Lucky Old Sun," especially when paired with "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy."

RED NICHOLS & FIVE PENNIES (Capitol): Here's another fine jazz item long overdue in the double-tempoed version of "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

. . . Heard first as a four-beat blues, the Pennies switch to a rousing up-tempo with glorious solos by Red and Joe Rush-ton's sax. Listen for that ensemble drive in the closing double chorus that'll have you jumping.

. . . EDDY HOWARD (Mercury): You won't believe it till you hear it. Yep, it's "Rag Mop," and not bad for a band usually on the sweet side. Reverse is more to Eddy's style—a slow waltz that might click because of the lyrics. Titled "Daddy's Little Girl," Eddy makes the most of the sentimental thought behind this 'un.

. . . EVELYN KNIGHT (Decca): To excellent support by Gordon Jenkins's orchestra and chorus, Evvie sings "You're Always There" and "I Remember the Cornfields," a tune reminiscent of an old English folk song. Both are done in the easy relaxed style that makes for good listenin' to the Lass with the Delicate Air.

. . . TEX WILLIAMS (Capitol): It won't be another "Smoke," but if you like bright, up-tempo'd Westerns with catchy lyrics in the individual Williams style, don't miss "With Men Who Know Tobacco Best, It's Women Two to One." Need we say more? . . .

AMES BROTHERS (Coral): "Music! Music! Music!" and "I Love Her Oh! Oh! Oh!" are both naturals for the four baritones. "Music" should be the selling side, but the flip will take you back to the vaudeville days at the Palace and the Early Twenties with its fast tempo and dated arrangement.

THE GREAT GILDERSLEEVE (Capitol) tells the amusing story of "Gerald McBoing-Boing" for the kids, but Mom and Pop will probably enjoy it even more. Story in rhyme about the lad whose voice was one continuous sound-effect should give you a faint idea of the situations confronting Gerald. . . . (P.S. . . . Watch for a new album by Pete Daily's Band that'll include most of the Dixieland favorites of yore. It'll be a honey! . . . A.M.)

The Ear Inspires the Pen

Mrs. Eleanor Boling, 10311 South Felton Avenue, Inglewood, Calif.

For quite some time we have enjoyed Radio-TV Life and on several occasions I have thought of giving my opinion on various subjects such as commercials. There are many fine products on the market which, if judged by the air advertisements, wouldn't go over with the public very well . . . such as the Life Savers commercials. That, to me, is so utterly foolish. . . Then the one from Sav-On Drugs where the woman lets out a loud cackle which sounds as though we are about to hear an egg ad! The Campbell Soup people have changed their singing commercial with the girl singers . . . to me it was far better with the male singers.

Now is it true that to be called on a radio quiz one has to join a radio syndicate? I have had friends tell me so and I do listen to all of them and have entered several. If it is true I will use my stamps to write to our son in the Air Corps. I know I will receive an answer then and that my letter will be welcome too.

Somebody put the wrong bee in your friends' bonnets, for, as far as we know, there is no such thing as having to join a radio syndicate in order to qualify for a quiz show. If these friends have done so, they should be chided for falling under false pretenses. Usually, all the qualifications needed are for the entrant to send in name, address, telephone number (according to the program's rules), and then to wait until chosen. In studio audience participation, all contestants are chosen from the audience and we have yet to hear an emcee ask first, "Do you belong to a radio syndicate?" Of all things!

Robert McAndrews, Managing Director, Southern California Broadcasters Association, Hollywood and Vine, Hollywood 28, Calif.

What a breath of fresh air blew our way when we read the second letter in the January 6 issue expressing knowledge and appreciation of the fact that commercials pay for our system of free broadcasting. In an era when most of us write only to condemn, this gem of understanding on the part of a member of the listening public gives us a mighty warm feeling.

Since you withheld publication of the writer's name, this is the only way we can tell her that the broadcast industry in the southland says "Thank you kindly, dear sir or madam."

Radio-Television Life thanks Managing Director McAndrews and reprints the lauded letter.

Name and address withheld, Los Angeles, Calif.

A lot is being said about sponsors who give us the programs . . . that their commercials are annoying to listeners, etc. Perhaps some are a little, but if announcers' voices are good, we should be happy to listen. After all, the sponsors are paying for our programs. Just think, we would not have them if there were no sponsors. I try to confine my purchases to those of commercials on the air as much as I can so I can keep the programs on the air.

Sherry Kaplan, 10919 Hartsok Street, North Hollywood, Calif.

When I hear a certain singer, Ken Carson by name, I would love to shout out about him so the whole world could hear. He has many fans out here and listening to him is as important to us as eating. He far surpasses many of those well-known singers you hear so often. I think he's slightly terrific. Would you please do a story and print a picture of him?

Ken Carson

Ken has been on our waiting list for some time . . . should be a story coming up in the near future.

Name withheld, 741 Cicla, Los Angeles, Calif.

I wonder if readers who own television sets have had the good fortune of tuning in Al Jarvis around five each evening to see Dr. Wilson? He brings such beautiful messages of faith into the home and is possessed of the kindest and warmest personality I have ever seen. My family would not miss this portion of Jarvis's wonderful program.

Why do ladies in audience-participation shows insist on telling funny incidents in their lives only for the radio audience to find the same stories in the different digest magazines? As an example, on three different shows three ladies told how they accidentally fed dog food to their husbands or company. As Louella Parsons would say, "Well, really!"

Bulah Bowman, 11733 Kittridge Street, North Hollywood, Calif.

I am so glad reader George Weaver set me straight. I was under the impression I had enjoyed the Metropolitan's broadcast of "Der Rosenkavalier" even though I didn't understand German. I'm so glad he told me. I might have gone on all my life thinking I'd enjoyed it. . . . I don't have to have a great "doctor" tell me whether I enjoy opera or not and I have always thought Milton Cross has the perfect voice.

Mrs. C. W. Cabeen, 616 North New Hampshire Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

I am sure that the many friends of Andy and Virginia Mansfield will be as happy as we to find them back on KMPC with a better-than-ever show. The hour is early, but a wonderful way to start the day. We also like Andy's "Record Notes to You" in Radio-TV Life, but miss not seeing his picture there. How about printing a picture of both of them for us?

Watch for an Andy and Virginia feature some time in April. Also, readers may be interested in hearing their novel show Monday through Friday, KMPC, 6:00 a.m.

Name and address withheld, Long Beach, Calif.

(In the following paragraphs, I deal with a subject I haven't yet seen broached in "Ear Inspires the Pen." Personally, I believe your indispensable little magazine is just the place for a discussion on this subject, which should interest the radio producers if they wish to avoid censorship of their programs.)

If you publish my letter, kindly avoid printing my name, but do give it readily to anyone interested enough to inquire.)

Recently when I dialed in on an audience-participation program, the emcee was trying to persuade a girl of fourteen or fifteen to kiss either him or one of his male assistants. In spite of the fact that the girl demurred and was obviously embarrassed, the emcee continued to entice her, in what seemed to me a caddish tone of voice. The emcee discontinued his conduct toward the child only after she declared her wish to keep a New Year's resolution not to kiss a boy until she was sixteen. That girl deserves a gold medal for decency.

On another occasion I heard a group of children, aged six and a half to eight, asked by an emcee the meaning of such words as alimony, courtship, bigamist and can-can. Which none of the little folks knew, thank heaven!

Once I heard an emcee remark to a tiny tot of five and a half, "What a pretty dress you're wearing! And you have a nice petticoat under it. What else do you wear?" "A slip," the child persisted, thereby defeating the emcee's obvious plan to trick her into saying "panties," which would have been good for a laugh from the studio audience.

I heard a prominent newscaster report that a woman was so shocked "that she was about to have kittens." What sort of man is a newscaster who will broadcast such obscene stuff into the home of the country? Are we a decent people, or a smutty rabble?

The foregoing are samples of what a tuner-in may hear almost any day of the week. I think they proceed from mentalities that should be cleaned up or denied the use of the airlines. They shock a decent adult and menace the morals of our adolescents and pre-adolescents. I am surprised and dismayed that advertisers do not do a better job of monitoring their programs. And I am discouraged because of parental callousness and lethargy regarding the character—or lack of character—of some of the programs sent into their homes.

Joe Roy Humphreys, 10341 Wilsey Avenue, Tujunga, Calif.

I am only eleven years old and have been buying Radio-Television Life for two years. So I don't know much about radio, but I think people who complain about the way sponsors advertise their products are silly. The sponsors pay for the program, don't they? They only take a few minutes of the programs, anyway.

That's the right attitude, Joe.

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Rumors Are Flying

KTTV is going to concentrate on drama and music, leaving the sports routine to someone else. . . . The popular "Easy Aces" may soon be seen on KTSL. . . . Metropolitan newspaper food and night-club editor Paul Coates cut an audition at KNBH recently for a very interested sponsor. . . . NBC-TV may get the nation's number-one personality, Harry S. Truman, to appear on their television net. He likes to be around when H. V. Kaltenborn does his famous impersonation of the president.

Looks Like

The Mexican government must pass a ruling allowing the two-country telecast before KLAC-TV can go ahead with their proposed remote telenovela of the jai-alai games from Tijuana. No FCC ruling exists covering transmission from one country into another, so the Mexican government is now setting up such a measure and will vote affirmatively on it. . . . Gosden and Correll will produce the "Amos 'n' Andy" series for CBS-TV, but outside of that will take no other active part, according to trade reports. The auditions for the show are complete, and will be ready for filming within sixty days. . . . KLAC-TV is adding a new television studio and five new offices to the facilities it now owns. . . . There should be film galore for viewers to enjoy within the next six months or so. KTLA just paid twenty-seven thousand for twenty-five old films made between 1938 and 1943, featuring the big names from that period; KECA-TV just procured thirty-nine J. Arthur Rank pictures, heretofore not seen on video, for filming; Commonwealth Film and TV, Inc., announced recently that it has just acquired eighteen features for release to television stations, featuring such names as Benny, Robert Young, Virginia Bruce, Jimmy Durante, Barbara Stanwyck, et al. . . . The 3,950,000 television sets installed throughout the country as of January 1 are, according to NBC's survey, four times the number existing a year ago. . . . The total number of stations serving them is ninety-eight. . . . Don Lee television plans to enter the business of syndicating its own kinescoped shows and specially produced films for TV. . . . Tenor singing star Allan Jones and his manager Eddie Sherman have organized "Telemusic, Inc." and will produce one-hour capsule editions of famous operettas on film, starring Jones and his actress-wife, Irene Hervey. They are now negotiating with eastern representatives on video rights to more than forty light operas. . . . Jackie Gleason, star of KNBH's "Life of Riley," has received such reaction to his musical satire of "Laura" that he is going to record the material for Mercury as a two-sided record. . . . In a survey recently conducted, West Coast kinescope came out way ahead of the eastern product in quality. . . . Starting the 23rd of this month, KNBH will start running thirty-four Laurel and Hardy comedies never before seen on TV.

"Think Fast" Fans

A week or so ago one of our "Ear Inspires" contributors, in a missive signed "Name Withheld, Laguna Beach, California," aired the hope that they might see "Think Fast" on television. You can. The show is now on at 6:30 Thursday nights, KECA-TV's Channel 7.

Stop, Listen, Look (Shows You May Like)

"Wedding Bells"

Our first reaction to the thought of an entertainment program comprising a real-life wedding ceremony was somewhat on the negative side. We didn't particularly warm up to the idea of something so sacred as a marriage ceremony being subjected to a theatrical spotlight. (We're agin marriages on roller skates, horses, tight ropes stretched across Niagara Falls, et cetera.) However, watching the premiere telecast of KLAC-TV's "Wedding Bells" (Channel 13, Monday, 8:00 p.m.) changed our mind—or at least our attitude toward this particular exhibition of a marriage-vow ceremony.

The program, we thought, was handled in complete good taste. Our only suggestion would be that the spot interviews with the spectators, which preceded the ceremony and did not contribute in any way to the program, be eliminated. They brought to our mind a sight-seeing busload of tourists invading the privacy of a Hollywood family's front yard—while to have the marriage ceremony viewed by the large number of unseen strangers who make up the video audience somehow seemed not the same breach of good taste.

Jimmy Wallington handled a touchy task ably, although to us he is a little bit too well identified with his professional emcee's role not to inject involuntarily a slight overshadowing of theatricalism. Neither his manners nor his approach were the cause of this; it was simply the familiarity of his name and voice in the show-business status.

The bride and groom on the premiere showing of this unique video wedding series were a young couple whose sweetness and good looks projected a most pleasant warmth into one's living room, and the seriousness and import of their nuptial vows we considered an excellent influence to be injected into every home.

Thinking it over, in fact, we decided that watching and listening to a sacred marriage ceremony performed, and seeing two people seriously intent on building a good and happy life together, is certainly a more positively wholesome and beneficial influence for the American television viewing family to be exposed to than many another form of video fare.

"Yer Ole Buddy"

Almost since Paramount television started on this coast, Bud Steffan has been carrying on some pretty funny stuff behind the title "Yer Ole Buddy" (KTLA, 7:50 p.m. Thursday), a moniker as well designed as any we can think of to discourage at least our enthusiasm over watching.

Don't be misled into missing Steffan's antics. "Buddy" refers not to a friendly cowpoke ready to tell you of the joys of a herd of dogies on the run . . . it refers to Mr. S. His first name is "Bud."

Show is strictly a dialogue deal, and its stellar light is as sharp as the well-known tack at this business. Bud weekly turns out the script for "Sandy Dreams," a fine children's show on the same station. He also moderates "Movietown, R.S.V.P.," and if you have seen the show you know that takes some doing.

There is no way to recount "Yer Ole Buddy's" amusing chapters by a breakdown of what to watch for. Bud may come on one night and talk about all television directors; another night about scripting; another night about the tricks a camera can play on the unsuspecting actor. Whatever it is comes off well.

The show is only ten minutes long, so you have nothing to lose by joining the Thursday class.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

"Hollywood Reel"

The fifteen-minute Hollywood newsreel, bowing back onto KECA-TV's Channel 7 each Sunday at 5:45 p.m., is just what the name implies. Movie faces on film, doing things that may or may not spell news, but that will always spell interest to the legion of fans who range from those interested merely in what new antic may be brewing on the film front to those who predicate the shade of their lipstick on some film favorite's choice.

Coy Watson, a name you have seen on photo credits in our magazine and in others, handles the lensing and directorial chores. Erskine Johnson, movietown columnist, handles the mentary, intro and sign-off.

First show of the new sponsored series (Star-Kist Tuna) found a good mixture of elements on parade. Dinah Shore, her family and clothes provided a newsy, folksy touch; Dane Clark provided a mixture of laughs and a keep-fit set of exercises; amour was provided as models traded furs. Re-running of footage on the Frank Morgan funeral was the one quence we did not like. It seemed too id to grab shots of some of the movie gs at a time they certainly wouldn't op proceedings to let the cameraman ow, one way or another, they aren't in the market. A parade of albearers is the sort of thing that efinately does not stimulate the fur- er interest of normally sensitive, nking people. However, the windup ip to Republic Studios with Gorgeous eorge and his valet was both in- reasing and amusing.

As far as the actual quality of the m, editing and general presentation es, the "Hollywood Reel" seems to : on a par with most newsreels . . . id that's good. Over sixty movie mes have already been caught at ay, work or hobby by this "news- el" camera, and more are certain e on parade, filmed and edited to an interesting Sunday night fea- re. If the movie folk are your dish, u couldn't find a more informative teen minutes on them, nor a more ertaining one, than the Channel 7 wsreel.

Off Lens (Personalities)

Telecast May Prove Test

The new NBC-TV series of hour-long amatizations, presented under thecky Strike banner and produced and rted by Robert Montgomery, may ve as a guinea pig of sorts. Warners is rumored contemplating suit against NBC as well as all concerned with the Lucky Strike Theater presentation of "The Letter." It seems Warners filmed the same Somerset Maugham story in 1940. NBC claims it obtained live television rights from playwright Maugham, and NBC also refrained from kinescoping the show so that no possible connotation of "filming" could be placed on the telecast. (According to the recently visit- ing head of New York's World Tele- vision, kinescope isn't considered film anyway.) Further rumors have it that NBC will welcome a test case; and that Warners deliberately did not complain before the telecast because they didn't want to stop the proceed- ings and thus ruin all chances of mak- ing a test case of it.

One of producer-director Montgom- ery's biggest hopes regarding this se- ries was that it would cement rela- tions between pix and television. Either way the suit goes could fill his plan with holes.

Wrestlers Off TV

It seems that TV wrestling fans will have to (a) get themselves out to the local stadiums for their grunt-and- groan kicks or (b) for thirty days forego the treat of watching a bunch of sweaty bodies tugging at one an- other's head-holds and arm-locks. The boys are off the channels for a spell.

No suits are pending over this fla- grant violation of contracts, because (and here we quote a trade paper quoting a station manager) "suits such as this would be impractical be- cause promoters usually don't have sufficient money to warrant court ac- tion."

On the other hand we hear that one agent manages better than ninety per cent of all the local wrestling lights. He should have something salted away . . . his boys have been a big item for some months. It seems to us that some sort of issue should be made of this, if only for the purpose of prov- ing that a contract is a contract.

TELEVISION

Tips

By JANE PELGRAM

Recently, Henry White, head of World Video (New York's top inde- pendent TV packaging agency) and vice-president of the East Coast pro- ducer organization (I.T.P.A.) visited this Coast to discuss the East-West producers' association merger. He ad- dressed a meeting of Hollywood's Television Producers' Association, and brought the members, by means of a question-and-answer session, up to date on Gotham video activity.

Mr. White's initial statement con- cerned the direction in which televi- sion, generally, must go. His own successful enterprise boasts such suc- cessful shows as "Front Page" (Thurs- days, 8:30 p.m., KTTV); "Actors' Stu- dio"; "Celebrity Time" (Friday, 7:30 p.m., KECA-TV); "A Couple of Joes"; and the Wendy Barrie Show (Sunday, 6:30 p.m., KECA-TV). We quote Mr. White as exactly as our nearly for- gotten art of shorthand allows: "It is becoming increasingly apparent in the East, at least, that television must start building for the people who supported radio. Up to now we have been building and selling programs to the five million-dollar-budgeted com- panies . . . and it has been very pleas- ant. We are running out of those five-million-dollar budgets very fast. Now we have to work up shows for the two- to three-thousand-dollar-per- week budgets."

It is heartening to know that some of the West Coast's top shows, almost any of which can and do give Eastern emanations costing more a run for their money, fall in this cost bracket, and lower.

During the question-and-answer ses- sion, a query came up about the qual- ity of Eastern kinescopes seen here. (Practically every television viewer lists this among pet peeves.) It seems that this situation is one that time, mechanical ingenuity and science alone can solve. In the case of World Video, at least, two kinnies are taken. From these two, the better is chosen for relaying a show. Two are taken because of the fluctuation in both the quality of raw film stock and the me- chanical perfection of the machinery used.

While a great portion of the meet- ing was taken up in technical discus- sion, two or three interesting rumors out of New York were repeated.

One pertained to the long-standing, much-affirmed and much-denied story that 20th Century-Fox was negotiating for ABC television. It seems that they were, quite definitely, and only a few added million to the many million bid proved a stumbling block. An- other "rumor" was that MGM is "in- terested" in buying Mutual as a tele- vision network.

tastes, but since actually working with records I find how little I know. I was what is usually referred to as a 'classicist.' I have discovered there are classics in all kinds of music."

An eternal game goes on between Nancy and the men on whose shows she helps. "We try and judge, from the new releases coming to the station, which will be the hits. It's a game full of surprises, believe me."

In addition to helping Paul Masterson line up his "International Disc Jockey," a show which plays the American record preferences of foreign entertainment centers as indicated by actual cables from abroad, Nancy lines up the aforementioned "Merry-Go-Round," a seven-times-a-week show; "Castle of Song," "Solo Performance" and "California Holiday."

"There are two schools of thought I encounter concerning my work," Nancy always chortles. "Half my friends say, 'Gee, you must go insane sitting up there listening to records and knowing you have to remember them!' The other half say, 'Gee, you must have an easy job of it—just listening to records all day!'"

During her work week, Nancy lives in a Westwood apartment. Her current project is her "farm," a four-acre site and small house in Reseda, California, where Nancy spends each week end with her grandmother and "Demon," a cat she says is rightly named.

Ever Since TV

Alan is working on his own show, "Hugo's Place," which will star him as "Hugo Strauss," owner of a delicatessen, who thinks he's related to the great Johann, so calls his two children "Johann, the Fifth" and "Johanna." Notably, Alan's whole family are to be seen in the show, marking wife Finette's coming out of retirement and son Alan Reed Junior's giving up his role as "Junior" on radio's "Life of Riley."

The premise of "Hugo's Place" is situation comedy, with Alan having something to do with all the residents on the street.

Strangely, television has played even a romantic role in Alan's life. He met Finette in 1931 when she was doing a show in the CBS windows with green make-up slathered all over her face and black lipstick on her mouth. She still looked mighty pretty to Alan, so he wrangled an introduction and six months later, green paint or not, they were married. Things have been pretty rosy ever since.

IF, IN whatever radio role she is assuming, Martha Wentworth sounds to you as real as if the character she is portraying had actually walked in off the street, it is because that is the basis on which she builds her every characterization.

"How else," she posed the question, "can an actress begin to make a portrayal live other than to build it carefully from the genuineness and reality of her own experience and contact with real people? Whatever the character I am playing, you can know that it has come from actual people that you and I see every day on the street."

Radio dialers have sampled characterizations spun of the Wentworth reality regularly on a variety of programs—hearing her in such portrayals as "Mrs. Fussy" and "Molly the Moocher" on CBS's "Red Skelton Show," "The Duchess" on Mutual's "Red Ryder" (a role she portrays on the screen in eight "Ryder" pictures a year, and one which she originated on mike eight years ago), "Mama Bower" on "Guiding Light," "Del Shipley" on "Aunt Mary," "Christine Barnes" on "Today's Children," the lady wrestler on the NBC Harris-Faye program, these in addition to parts on such other shows as "The Whistler," "Family Theater," and the Gene Autry program.

MARTHA looks at the past, at the present and at the future with no regrets, no bitterness and no fears. She has a definite idea about what's ahead for the Wentworth career.

Strongest Influences in Martha Wentworth's Life Have Come From a Fairy Tale and a Hymn

In view of such a schedule, it is hardly a surprise to learn that the versatile Miss Wentworth has worked so consistently for the past eighteen years that she has been too busy to take a vacation.

"But then," she smiled, "I work at it because I love it. And too, I feel free to do it. My children are grown and I have no special responsibilities."

Proud Grandma

Martha told us proudly of her son, youthful lecturer Albert S. Otto, who has recently received three new contracts for university lecture tours; of her daughter, an ex-Earl Carroll beauty who quit "to keep the wolves away" and married the boy who had carried her books home from the Santa Monica high school; and of her two small grandchildren.

She talked excitedly of her new home. She has purchased a "little cement brick cottage on a terrace" in Pacific Palisades, eliminated its "dust-catchers" and completely modernized it.

"This," she stoutly interjected, "results from the outlook I have received from the inspiration of the hymn 'Onward, Christian Soldiers.'"

"Onward means ever forward, not looking back or turning backward. I apply this thought to everything—including my house. It's the atom bomb!"

Second prime inspiration in Martha's life has been the theme of her favorite fairy tale, "Cinderella," which her mother read to her regularly. "Mother passed on just a year ago," Martha told us. "She was to me one of the greatest women on this good earth and I owe everything to her."

"When mother would read me the story of 'Cinderella,' she would always say brightly, 'Remember! Cinderella married the Prince!' All during my life, I have remembered her saying that and it has helped me many, many times. Oh, I don't mean I've taken it literally—like Rita Hayworth. I'm beyond that. But, for an instance, at an audition, if I become discouraged I will say to myself, 'Now remember, Cinderella married the Prince.' I hold that thought, and always it seems things work out right for me."

Martha declared that she herself enjoyed the childhood of a fairy princess, having her every wish fulfilled. Her mother was a concert singer; her father a millionaire (Cinderella did marry the Prince).

"But," Martha inserted, "although I had the best of everything a child could want, mother always kept constantly before me the picture of life on the other side of the car tracks as well.

"Which was fortunate," the actress went on, "as there came a time in later years when I left the theater world for a time and knew real personal destitution."

Was Ziegfeld Beauty

The Wentworth theatrical career has included study under Dave Belasco and Butler Davenport, and appearances in the shows of the late Flo Ziegfeld and Jake and Lee Schubert.

"At fifty, I find myself able to look around me in all directions and feel complete contentment with what I see. There are no regrets in the past, no bitterness in the present, nor fears in the future."

Martha holds strong hopes for the future and backs them up with solid positive thinking in the right direction. Of the television medium, she expresses a desire to recreate the "Witch's Tales," a program she performed in New York.

But motion pictures hold the strongest place in her thoughts of things to come. Strong-mindedly, she declared her destiny to be the fulfillment of such a place on the screen as was held by Marie Dress-

SUPPOSE you wanted to attend a broadcast or a telecast of Don Lee's "What's the Name of That Song?" Assume that you were free on Wednesday night for the radio performance. Even assume that you're lucky enough to get tickets for this Bill Gwinn featured vehicle. Okay, so you're tied up on Wednesday eve. How about taking in the television version of "Song" on Thursday? Assume that you can come up with some ducats for the TV airer.

What we are trying to tell you is that it makes no difference whether you attend the radio or television program. They are both one and the same. In fact, "What's the Name of That Song?" is perhaps the only TV show that is a carbon copy of its radio brother, having made the transition without revision or alteration.

Moreover, it's no accident that the parallel holds down to the last detail. When the creator of the program, the late Dud Williamson, built the show, he planned it just that way. Dud was a veteran of vaudeville with a mind and eye for the visual. It's a certainty that Dud was one of the earliest in the entertainment field who foresaw the tremendous potential of TV. He first presented "What's the Name of That Song?" more than ten years ago. The format of the show hasn't changed one iota since.

New Emcee Found

With the sudden and tragic passing of the talented showman, his widow, Rita Williamson, launched a nationwide hunt for a personality to take over the emcee role. Bill Gwinn's hat was tossed into the ring and the San Franciscan was invited to Hollywood for an audition. Gwinn, who at the time had had but three brief years of radio experience, stepped into the breach and came up a winner. It was a great personal triumph for him, for he is one of the very few in radio who ever managed to take over a show that had been built and popularized by another entertainer.

And so "What's the Name of That Song?" rolls on, a "natural" on radio, a "natural" on television.

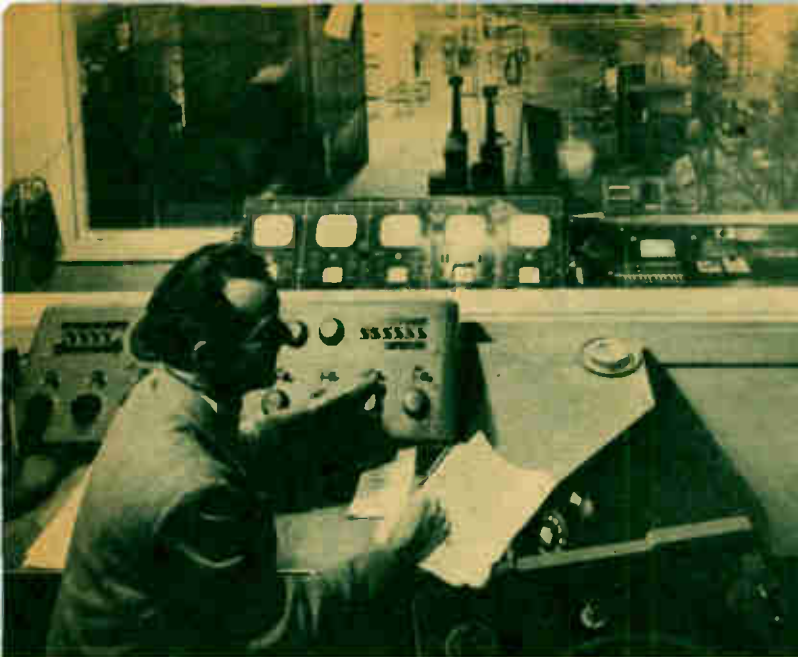

SHOWN WITH THE POPULAR radio and television emcee is Rita Williamson, owner of the "What's the Name of That Song?" show for both mediums. It was Rita's late husband, Dud Williamson, who created the musical quiz program.

Audio Engineers

EVER since the marvelous day entertainment was projected onto the faces of boxes placed in homes and labeled television, talk in some-odd millions of American homes has centered around what is "seen on video." The quality of images has been judged freely by both technicians and rank laymen. New entertainment idols indigenous to the medium have been set up. Violent disputes have raged over East and West Coast supremacy in fare. But no one ever talks about the men who send along the sound accompanying these pictures. And pictures without sound would be far worse than sound without pictures. The latter state has done, and is still doing, all right under the name "radio."

Two such of these technically minded artists who bring TV shows to life with sound for KECA-TV's shows are Tom Ashton and Murray Jarvis, respectively Chief Sound Engineer and his assistant.

Each received his tutelage in the motion-picture industry. Tom Ashton, Chief Sound Engineer, can hark back to picture-making on the old Mack Sennett and Thomas Ince lots, where he played roles in pictures Murray wasn't yet old enough to see.

For eighteen years after that he was connected with motion-picture sound departments, in charge of recording music, singing and dubbing, this last not only a most complicated and highly technical operation of sound work, but one that requires the ultimate in diplomacy to keep the temperamental stars happy.

"I am anxious for the opportunity to do older characterizations—the seamy ones. I can so clearly visualize myself in roles of the 'Tugboat Annie' sort. And I feel that I am almost ready, I am coming into that middle-age fat, and I have the talent and must exploit it. This is not ego. It is not for the sake of money or of art, but merely what is meant to be, as the culmination of a God-given talent. If one is able to climb the Matterhorn, there is no reason why he should not reach the edelweiss at its peak.

"My agent shares my belief in my future," Martha smiled with satisfaction. "He keeps in mind that such a thing happened to Barry, so he keeps calling me 'Mrs. Fitzgerald.'" engineering corps in April of 1948, and last year was transferred to KECA-TV, just two weeks before the station went on the air. Unlike most people, Ashton's hobby is not divorced from his work. Electronics as an avocation and study found him building some of the first electric radios in Los Angeles.

Murray Jarvis, son of a theatrical family (his father was one of the original Floradora Sextette boys) also got his start on movie lots, moving from a studio mail room into publicity, thence to sound and camera work. It was a case of joining an old friend from Universal Studios when Murray entered KECA-TV's employ and found his chief to be Tom Ashton.

The two ABC sound engineers explain their work as being the technique of motion-picture sound pick-up with no "retakes." Things have to be right the first time. Tom Ashton sits in the sound-control booth high above KECA-TV's big studio, and mixes together in their proper proportions all sounds accompanying the televised show below.

"The boom microphone down on the show stage must follow the actors around the set, just out of picture range, and yet be as close as possible to the actors when they speak in order that the sound be lifelike," he explains. "The boom microphones are augmented by a number of other mikes carefully placed at strategic points around the various sets which we may not be able, or have time to reach with a boom. On some shows I use as many as twelve microphones, some hidden, some suspended from the stage catwalks. All these cannot simply be turned on and left on. That would result in a bad acoustical effect, and someone making a noise near one of the mikes could seriously interfere with a show. It is up to me as sound engineer to turn on the right one at the right time, and to the right volume level for realism and effective showmanship.

"Too, leveling of the casts' voices must be watched. The mike has a curious faculty of exaggerating everything, so the actor with a clear strong voice, working with a thin-voiced actress, must be toned down.

"While I am doing this, I also have to be adjusting the volume level on music, sound effects and announcers' microphones, following my script, interpreting notations made during rehearsals, turning pages, watching the picture and listening to my 'mix' of sound on one loud speaker and the director's cues on another. Then microphones have to be faded from one set to another with the picture to make the fades and dissolves realistic. Believe me, I sometimes need six hands."

Ashton never fails to laud his partner in sound.

"My work requires the help of an exceptionally alert and dexterous 'mike boom' operator who has to have a fine memory, a sixth sense and a crystal ball. I'm fortunate enough to have Murray, who worked with me at the picture studio, as my operator. He does a remarkable job in memorizing the actors' speeches on short notice, in order to know who to 'go for' next at the end of a line of dialogue. You see, if the microphone is not near the player and pointed at him, that actor will sound quite distant and might even cause the loss of dialogue vital to story points.

"In addition, Murray has to worry about getting that boom around, under, over or behind whatever stage setting the show calls for. That is a job in itself. There are three cameras to take care of the pictures, but only one boom mike. Cameras, too, can dissolve—while the boom has to be dollied about."

Murray and Tom communicate from floor to booth by means of earphones and small speakers. During rehearsals it is feasible for Tom to leave the booth for a conference on stage, but during a live show this procedure is out. It would look pretty funny for an engineer to wander on stage during "Mysteries of Chinatown," for instance.

The duo handle sound on all the live shows emanating from KECA-TV's stages. The remotes are handled by the remote crew from the big mobile unit.

Jarvis and Ashton cite Charles Ruggles, of the Sunday night Channel 7 family comedy, "The Ruggles," as being an exemplary showman.

an in the fencing scene and nearly got his eye put out. The cameras kept grinding until the action was completed, though both McCune and Langan were shaken. "I could do a fantasy for video on just the stuff that's happened to me since I started getting into television," Hank sighs.

Actually, Hank is playing himself, "with a little more story," he adds. He's been compared to Harold Lloyd in character and appeal, the young man who naively feels he can do anything and gets knocked around trying, occasionally coming out on top. The comparison pleases Hank mightily; when he was a child, Lloyd was his favorite star.

The McCune films are shot at Edgar Bergen's television studio and feature an imposing cast of radio-TV actors, Frank Nelson, Arthur Q. Bryan, Larry Keating, Charles Maxwell, Tammy Keiper and Bill Demling. Hank assists writers Demling, Dick Miller, Stan Locke and Dick Conway in scripting the series, each of the pairs working in teams and producing a script every other week.

Biggest thrill for the young comedian came during a recent trip to New York when he watched 100 people evaluating his show at an audience-testing audition in an advertising agency. The audience sat at dials, turning them one way for approbation, the opposite way for negation, while charts recorded the mass reaction. Hank's show received the highest rating of any of the shows run off for the group. The audience gave Hank a great hand when he stepped onstage after the showing. "At last," he breathes, "I know how Bob Hope must feel!"

oughly that it simplifies our work. He knows how much voice is necessary from his position in relation to the boom mike, or how little. The value of a camera and mike are second nature to him. Ashmead Scott's 'Your Witness' is another very professional show we enjoy putting on the air."

These two men who make KECA-TV's pictures sparkle with life through keeping the right sound going out are partners in a mutual-admiration society.

Tom Ashton will earnestly insist, "Believe me, without Murray over here we would be dead!" while Murray Jarvis believes that any work commendation from Ashton "is the greatest compliment of all!"

Lucky video viewers benefit directly from the friendly feeling and teamwork flowing along the delicate line between mike boom and sound-control panel. How fortunate they are friends—not enemies.
