Back to School Time

Like many other parents across the country, the radio and TV stars are getting their youngsters ready for school and are viewing the day with emotions.

"Destination Unknown"

THIS STORY will give TV-RADIO LIFE readers a chance actually to see part of a TV program even before it goes on the air. As a matter of fact, to make the situation even more unusual, it's a quiz-type, audience-participation program—and you may be the winner.

Quiz shows are a dime a dozen on TV. So are audience-participation programs. Strangely enough, KTTV's "Destination Unknown" combines both of these elements to make it a really different type of production.

"Destination Unknown" is an Open Road Production and was created and produced through the combined efforts of Lynn Rogers, Bill Steen, Rick Spalla, Elmer Haskins and Bill Burrud. Burrud does the actual narration and production of the weekly telecasts.

At the present time the twenty-eight-year-old producer is one of the busiest men at KTTV, doing three full-time shows—this one, "The Open Road," and "Before Your Eyes." While not the hottest things in the TV world, all three of these are entertaining, educational and well-supervised programs. In contrast to many types of shows seen on the screen today, they are a credit to the industry as a whole. In addition, all three have steady, reliable sponsors.

Format

The fifteen-minute format of "Destination Unknown" is simply this: narrator and producer Bill Burrud gives clues and shows pictures of two well-known places. The name of the place is never actually told on the air. That's up to the viewers to decide.

The person who sends in the correct name, and also answers an essay question for the sponsor, is awarded a week-end vacation at one of California's leading resorts. The grand prize will be a ten-day trip to Mexico City.

This week on KTTV, Channel 11, Monday, September 14, at 7:15 p.m., the pictures you actually see on this page will also be shown on your TV screen. As he does every week, Burrud will supply additional facts and pictures.

To our knowledge, this is the first time any publication has been able to show pictures of a TV quiz show—even before the program is put on the air. If you tune in, we think you will enjoy this fifteen-minute travelogue—and you might also be the lucky winner.

▼ CAN YOU NAME THIS FAMOUS LANDMARK in Southern California? If you can, you may be the lucky winner of the weekly Travel-quiz conducted by "Destination Unknown" on Channel 11. Additional film shots and facts of this location and the above vacationland will be shown this week on KTTV.

Can "Show of

THIS fall, NBC-TV's "Your Show of Shows" starts its fifth year. Again, Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca will cavort. Again, ace producer Max Liebman will be on tap. But will the millions and millions of listeners still be looking? Can "Your Show of Shows" go on to greater heights? Can it maintain its quality and quantity? Can it last and how long?

These were some of the pointed questions your TV-Radio Life reporter put to gentle-speaking, forthright Max Liebman when he was recently vacationing in Beverly Hills.

"Last season," he observed, "our rating dropped five points. I think it was due to over-exposure. Oddly enough, the dip came just when we were doing our best shows."

Over-exposure (stars appearing so much before the camera that lookers weary of them) can be a dangerous pitfall in TV. As Liebman put it, "In most families, the parents either send the children on vacation or go away themselves to get away from the children. The same is true in TV. There comes a time in a show when certain facets, certain phases, or the over-all patterns begin to have a familiar look to the viewers." When this happens, it's time for a shake-up.

Some Changes

This season, Caesar, Coca and satellites will not be exposed to lookers every week. Every fourth week they'll have "time out." Furthermore, those performers who comprised "regulars" last year will be "irregulars" this season. The Billy Williams quartet will appear on ten of the thirty shows for the 1953-54 season. The Hamilton Trio will perform on fifteen of the series. Others of the old standbys will be back from time to time, but not weekly.

"This was a tough decision for me to make," remarked Liebman. "It took four years to build these personalities. Then at their height, to send them out was difficult." But it was done to make a better "Show of Shows."

When the program first began, another factor was involved—a factor which has undergone change. Four years ago, TV was a novelty to which ardent fans devoted enormous portions of leisure time. As "Show of Shows" ascended the rungs of popularity, lookers formed the habit of staying home Saturday evenings to watch this ninety-minute extravaganza.

But now, according to Liebman, "the great Saturday night habit of socializing has become competitive again." People are inclined to step out or play cards. To compete with this socialization trend, Liebman is shrewdly changing the aspects of his show.

During "Show of Shows" weekly hour and a half, many acts have been presented in the past. This year the acts will be fewer and longer. There will be no set rule, but as few

Shows "Survive?"

By Evelyn Bigsby

as three "items" may comprise the entire program; for example, a domestic sketch, a movie satire, and a Gilbert and Sullivan adaptation. There will be a guest star weekly, which means an element of freshness and surprise. This may counteract the looker's attitude of "Whadda they gonna do this week that they didn't do a dozen times before?"

Humor Mill

Along with the weekly surprises, there will be the ever-entertaining faithfuls, Caesar and Coca. Earlier this year, there were rumors that "Show of Shows" was having trouble—that Caesar "wasn't speaking to Coca, that Coca wasn't cooperating with Liebman, that Coca, in fact, had gone after Max with a paper knife. There were rumors that the show was to be cut to an hour, that it was to be split into three half-hours, that Caesar and Coca were sundering as co-stars and that each was heading up his own show. Further rumors intimated that Sid and Imogene were holding out for more money. Any one of these rumors, if substantiated, might have pulled the rug out from under "Show of Shows."

Rumors are all they were, according to Liebman, who obviously enjoys speculating on how some of the tales started. The gossip about Imogene Coca feuding with Liebman began, so Liebman thinks, from the fact that she instituted a "friendly suit" against him in order to collect a contractual amount of $3500. Liebman asked her to undertake legal proceedings, as this was her only recourse to gain relief from a quirk in her contract. Only the story leaked, however, the $3500 came out in print as $35,000.

Truthfully, claims Liebman, either Sid Caesar alone or Imogene Coca alone could be the star of a big TV show. The false report that Coca wanted to split with her co-star and head her own TV venture probably started from an innocent reply Imogene gave to a New York interviewer. In it she expressed the whimsical opinion that it might be fun to work in a situation-type comedy where she would do the same role week after week, without having to jump from one production number to another in a bewildering variety of parts.

Mushroomed

From such a casual observation as this, the tale of Coca's wanting her own show probably grew. Liebman also thinks a disgruntled lesser-employee may have given some of these smoldering rumors an additional fanning into flame. The gossip made it difficult for everyone concerned. As great as Caesar and Coca are individually, "something happens" when they perform as a team. Liebman calls it "theatrical chemistry." Truthfully, both Sid and Imogene want to stay together.

Like other rumors, the ones about money were also false. Caesar, said to have been "holding out" for something like $12,000 a week, was actually under three-year contract to NBC. Stipulations in this contract were that salary be increased each year. "He doesn't care about more money," Liebman stated simply. "He doesn't want the raise."

Money for the show itself is something else, however. To buy talent and produce a ninety-minute TV opus requires wads of that green stuff. Last year, published figures for "Your Show of Shows" gave $82,500 as the weekly cost for talent and production alone (no time included). With money requirements like this, it becomes a speculative matter of "how long can the sponsor ante up?" People begin to worry that lavish TV programs will price themselves right out of the market.

According to Liebman, "Show of Shows" is costing fifteen per cent more this season (for talent and production) than it did last season. "I think we have reached a peak," he summed up briefly. "However, in terms of three half-hour shows, our hour-and-a-half costs are not expensive."

In terms of keeping "Your Show of Shows" on top of the heap by cutting the length of the program into either an hour or thirty minutes, Liebman has only one answer: "I'm willing to do anything to retain the largest audience. I prefer an hour and a half to one hour because it offers more opportunities in what is presented. I realize that what is happening in TV, in many respects, happened in radio. In radio the one-hour shows gradually gave way to half-hour programs. Due to economics, radio sponsors couldn't carry the one-hour load. But anything that tends to defy the traditions of radio, I'm for!" Which means that Max Liebman prefers the ninety-minute production.

His Role

Liebman's opinion carries great weight. Though billed as producer, and though admittedly under contract to NBC along with Caesar and Coca, Liebman actually owns "Your Show of Shows" and NBC actually "sub-lets" Caesar's and Coca's contract to him. True, NBC might decide to place any one of the three on other programs, but chances are this won't happen. One network official expressed his and the feelings of his co-workers when he labeled Caesar, Coca and Max "the unbeatable three."

The trio is anticipating something exceedingly exciting this coming December, for their show has been selected by NBC for experimentation with color TV. "Color may make a big difference," observed Liebman, as he asided that though TV as a medium was a "wise old child," it was still a child. TV's mechanical aspects can conceivably add tremendous luster to even the brightest program.

No show, almost everyone will admit, is ever better or brighter than the brains behind it and The Brains of "Show of Shows," Max Liebman, has not only amazed lookers by coming up with something interesting for four years, but what's more, he hasn't missed one single week. Asked how he managed to "hold up" and whether he worried about "the well running dry," Liebman admitted that he did worry when the show was new. Now he doesn't. The ideas seem to keep coming and once the show goes on camera, Liebman adopts the attitude that "it's in the lap of the gods." He remains calm under all circumstances, even when the scenery starts falling (as it did once last season).

"I'm not a desk man," confessed Max (as he prefers to be called), "I work in the salt mines—seven days a week and four nights. When 'Show of Shows' started, I frankly didn't think we'd last as long as we have. The lawyers drawing up the contracts kept discussing matters about 'the third year' while I sat back and said to myself, 'There'll never be a third year.' As we start our fifth year, I hope to recapture those five rating points we dropped last year and I hope to add two more. I envision this as a season that will bring us back and beyond everything that's gone before."

▲ BILL DAVIDSON at home, going over scripts he has prepared for his KECA-radio broadcasts. But he usually discards them in favor of ad-libbing when he gets before the microphone. (ABC photos.)

THE ARTIST AT WORK. His painting is relaxation for Bill Davidson, who has had several of his works displayed by the Businessmen's Art Institute of L. A. ▶

I'VE LEARNED a lot in twenty-two years of broadcasting," states KECA's towering Bill Davidson. "But I learned the most important thing of all—how to relax—just two brief years ago."

Like so many others in the broadcasting industry, Bill was nursing an ulcer and headed for a nervous breakdown. But a simple box of crayons prevented him from cracking up.

Bill and his family were vacationing at Laguna Beach. One dismal day they were confined to their hotel room and Bill became restless with his enforced inactivity. He sheepishly asked his son, Bill, Jr., if he might borrow some crayons to while the time away. As Bill sketched the gray coastline with its faint shadows he began to relax. Tensions seemed to leave his mind and body.

This unpremeditated drawing lesson started Bill Davidson on a new hobby which worked wonders on his ulcers. The more he pursued his art the calmer he grew. In due time he joined the Businessmen's Art Institute of Los Angeles. As a matter of fact some of Bill's paintings were placed on exhibit by the group a few months ago.

Jack Bailey, Ira Cook and Eddie Dean are a few of his radio freres who are members of the Art Institute. Members are free to work in any medium they wish but they must adhere to one strict rule . . . no shop talk. "Can you imagine Jack Bailey not talking about his 'Queen' show?" smiled Bill. "Believe it or not, we find our art classes so absorbing that talking about radio is the farthest thing from our minds."

Memorable Coverage

Bill has done about everything there is to do in radio and more besides. Thinking back over the past two decades his most memorable experience occurred when he covered the opening of the San Francisco Bridge.

Cheerfully he climbed the 700-foot tower. The fog rolled in as the ceremonies began. Fortunately Bill's intuition had prompted him to prepare a script in advance. His two "unprepared" colleagues stationed below couldn't see a thing and they kept switching to Bill in the tower, who blithely described the proceedings from his script. Bill was really high man on the totem pole.

Two hours later he proceeded to descend from the tower and his legs were so numb from standing in one spot that he could barely stand on them. He didn't have enough money to hire a cab, so he wobbled home. He spent the next two days in bed. The following year when he was asked to climb the tower again for a broadcast salute commemorating the bridge's first anniversary, Bill, needless to say, declined with thanks.

Radio isn't as hectic for Bill any more now that both have ripened to maturity. Bill keeps busy with his KECA afternoon airer, his art, and his family. Bill has always been at ease with the microphone but not so with the ladies. That is all but one lady, Lillian Hirsch, his wife. Cupid overrode his shyness seventeen years ago and he proposed to sweet and lovely Lillian three days after meeting her.

He's candid enough to admit the one big fluff of his career. "Although I learned a lot in twenty-two years of broadcasting," he says, "there's one thing I'll never live down. In 1930 when I heard the Andrews Sisters audition, I opined 'They'll never make it.' I couldn't have been more wrong."

This Week in TV

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Around TV Row

Former President Harry S. Truman makes his first non-political appearance on TV, Sunday, September 20 on NBC's "Excursion." (This is the junior edition of CBS's "Omnibus" series.) The commercial one-shot is expected to fetch Truman approximately $8,000. . . . ABC-TV is bidding their time on their Joel Grey and Sammy Davis, Jr. properties. They will not launch these two until later in the season. . . . Bob and Ray, comics, have switched their TV-activities from NBC to ABC. . . . Martha Rountree and Larry Spivak have had an amicable split. Spivak bought full ownership to "Meet the Press" and "The Big Issue" (Mutual radio). Miss Rountree holds full rights to "Leave It To the Girls" and other properties. . . .

Transition dept.: NBC's "Philco Television Playhouse" will be given the radio adaptation treatment for ABC.

"Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street," one of radio's longtime properties has been wrapped up as a TV package and is being peddled among the ad men. . . .

Joan Crawford makes her TV debut in Revlon Theatre's "Because I Love Him" stanza. . . . Ray Bolger's telefilm "Where's Raymond?" has its premiere

October 8. . . . KNXT's Shakespeare credit course is the first such education effort between a commercial station and U.S.C. . . . Mary Wickes, veteran trouper, has been signed for the role of housekeeper on Ezio Pinza's "Bonino" show. . . . Reed Hadley ("Racket Squad") has been signed for a leading role in the film "House in the Sea." "Strike It Rich" was handed a five-year contract renewal by the sponsor. . . .

Hopalong Cassidy is inked to appear in Macy's annual Thanksgiving Parade. Incidentally Gladys George, beautiful star of yesteryear, will soon be seen in some of Hoppy's telefilms. . . . KTTV's Norma Gilchrist and TV producer-director Bud Cole were married last week. . . . "Space Patrol" returns to the videolanes, by popular demand, as an across-the-board feature. . . . Danny Thomas and Loretta Young debut their respective shows the last week of September. . . . KTLA added another program feather in their cap when they scheduled "Biff Baker, U.S.A.," a former CBS feature. Gene Raymond hosts "Fireside Theatre" this fall. . . . "This Is Show Business" returns to the videolanes with the happy trio of Fadiman, Kaufman and Levenson, but with a revised format. Fortunately they saw the folly of their ways and are dropping the "problem" segment of their stanza in favor of anecdotes and an exchange of show biz news items.—M. R.

Paul Coates, Confidential File

Hard-hitting Paul Coates is giving the TV treatment to his newspaper column. He plans to bring to viewers the kind of expose' he's been writing about in his pillar. Whether it be gambling, graft, or prostitution, Paul intends to tell televiewers all about it.

His initial stanza was an expose' on a lady nudist and a B girl. The lady nudist conducted herself with a great deal of decorum. She was dressed. Even though the camera's concentration on her bare shoulders tried to make you believe otherwise.

Her information about nudist colonies was scant. Their premise—that there is no shame in the human body —permits wholesale sun bathing. Before individuals are eligible to join their group they are carefully screened and only those having the highest moral and character references are admitted. But the law does not permit nudist colonies in Los Angeles. Enough said.

Paul dwelled a little longer on his interview with a masked B-girl. B-girls are his pet peeve. The B-girl's answers were as direct and cutting as were Paul's interrogations. She was a divorcee who had answered an ad for a cocktail waitress only to learn that the establishment wanted a hustler for the bar. She took the job because, as she explained, she figured if she didn't take the sucker's money someone else would do it. Her reason for appearing on a show which was out to do her no good was frankly for the financial remuneration.

A film insert showing the downfall of a wayward stranger on Main Street preceded this interview. It was a cumbersome film and took too long to get to the point. It slowed the show up considerably.

The entire show needs some re-vamping but it has good potentialities. The prolonged build up about the three million people in Los Angeles and the inside track that the newspaperman has with the multitude is, for our money, over-production for this type of show.

Fortunately the station and sponsor announce disclaimers of Coates's views. Coates bars no punches and it's quite possible that he'll embarrass the police department with such remarks as—"I've got a new campaign . . . I don't like this business and I'm out to get you!"

Isn't the police department out after the same B-girl racketeers?

Next week: Gardena and poker. We think it might be good.—M. R.

Food Talks

Lucy and Desi plan their social gatherings according to the eating likes and entertainment preferences of their many friends. It works out like this: Lucy will decide to invite the "bouillabaise" crowd one evening.

These are friends who dote on Desi's famous recipe. Another time the chill gang are asked for dinner and an evening of fun at Desilu ranch.

Off Lens ( Personalities )

No Jinx for Joan

In the Oct. 31, 1952 issue of TV-RADIO LIFE (page nine to be exact) we predicted:

"Keep the name of Joan O'Brien in mind when you think of girl vocalists. With the proper training and guidance, she could develop into one of the really big names in show business."

The cute, blonde singer on Cliffie Stone's "Hometown Jamboree" was only sixteen years old at the time, and it was the first recognition given to her by the press.

Again, on March 20, 1953, (page 39), TV-RADIO LIFE stated:

" . . . it'll be kind of interesting to watch Joan O'Brien grow older. Show business, like fate, has many strange twists. But from all indications—beauty, talent, sincerity, and any other attributes you care to mention—Joan O'Brien should blossom into one of the nation's most popular vocalists."

Result: this week CBS-TV announced that Joan will appear as the featured female vocalist on the coast-to-coast "Bob Crosby Show" for a week beginning Monday, September 14.

"Beany's" Problems Solved

We don't want to fall into the "I Told You So" category BUT we did tell you that "Time for Beany" would appear on KTTV. Now that it's official, look for "Beany" on Channel 11 as a Monday-through-Saturday feature.

To make way for "Beany" and to log it in its original time slot—6:30 p.m.—the station cut "Ramar of the Jungle" to a fifteen-minute stanza. Once and for all the "Beany" dilemma is solved.

Picnic for Betty White's "Bets Pets" is scheduled for Sunday, September 27 at South Gate Park. Members and their families are invited to bring their lunches. Coffee will be provided, according to Lois Shepard, secretary. 230 Howland Canal, Venice, Calif. Betty will be there herself from 3 to 5 p.m.

The Ken Mayer club is still going strong, headed by ambitious Leslie Lupton.

Bea Burns, proxy of "Real George" club for KTTV's handsome George Putnam sent us an honorary membership. For info on the "Real George" write to 2815 W. Ross Ave., Alhambra, Calif.

Judy Kunz and Norma Lyle want to join a club for Les Brown, the popular orchestra leader. FanFax just found out that Les will soon make his 15th appearance at the famed Hollywood Palladium on September 4. We also have a fine feature story coming up on Les. Watch for it, you Brown hepcats.

Harry Rodcay, the Hawaiian singer on Cliffie Stone's popular "Hometown Jamboree" has a club started for him by Pat Otis, 12328 Shoemaker Ave., Norwalk, Calif. How about a club for the rest of Cliffie's gang—the one and only Tennessee Ernie, the fun-loving Bucky Tibbs, young but talented Mollie Bee, the blonde with the voice and everything else to match, Joanie O'Brien, etc., etc.?

"The Octavettes," another club for Liberace, got their first members through this column. It was a year ago, and the club is getting bigger and bigger. FanFax dood it!

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

It has been the policy of TV-RADIO LIFE, for many years, to print the en-tire names and addresses of people who take the time to write a letter to the "Ear and Eye Inspire the Pen" column.

Unfortunately, we shall not print the addresses of our readers any more in this column. We do not want to do this. We believe that any person who has an opinion on a subject should not be afraid to have his name and ad-dress published. We think our readers agree with this because they have al-ways listed their names and addresses on letters and we have printed them.

However, recently certain parties have taken unfair advantage of our readers and have used their addresses for their own selfish purposes. We want to protect our loyal readers and ourselves.

Therefore, and once again we are sorry, but we shall not print the ad-dress of persons who send letters to this popular column. We shall con-tinue to print the names and city. We would also appreciate it if our read-ers list their address when they write us, because we might want to con-tact them personally.

A survey taken by TV-RADIO LIFE recently showed that this column was the most popular item in the maga-zine. We want to keep it that way.

Thank you—and keep those letters coming.

Mrs. Dorothea Schommer, Los Angeles

Well, I've been stroked the wrong way, but definitely. And must get my two cents in. Mary Ann Owens is a darling and has one of the sweetest voices I've ever heard. And she's 100 per cent. So there.

Billie Hatfield, El Monte

I think Alice Lon has a very good voice and a lovely personality, but I don't think she will ever make the "Champagne Lady" Roberta Linn did.

Mrs. C. Muecke, Pomona, Calif.

I wonder why there aren't any day-time programs for children other than "Ding Dong School" and "Sheriff John's Lunch Brigade." We watch these two programs almost every day and enjoy them very much. Too bad there aren't more programs during the day instead of all of them in the early evening.

Mrs. J. L. Hamilton, Los Angeles

I do not watch: Betty White, Platter Panels, Groucho Marx, quiz shows or give-away shows, or Liberace. Am I so much in the minority or are there others who feel these programs are an affront to their intelligence?

Marjorie Hunt, Los Angeles

I don't think any female vocalist is going to make or break the Lawrence Welk show. For twenty years he has been my husband's and my favorite. Seems to me everyone is happy now. We are. Love them all.

Mrs. E. A. Wilson, San Pedro, Calif.

I for one think it is time that the public give Mr. Lawrence Welk credit for knowing how to run his own business and just turn the dial if you don't like the orchestra. "Alice from Dallas" has everything it takes to be chosen out of over 2,000 girls. She is beautiful, a little shy (just enough) and her voice blends beautifully with the boys in the band.

Harry Heyer, Santa Monica, Calif.

Thanks to TV-Radio Life for entering Adlai E. Stevenson and Drew Pearson in your "Faces We'd Like to See" feature. We've always known your publication to be progressive and unafraid.

Regarding Dean Pratt, we've seen him on "Hollywood Opportunity" and agree that he is a talented kid. However, it seems to us as if KTLA has loads more problems than alone finding a spot for him. In our opinion and those of many of our friends, KTLA has lost considerable ground in recent months which fits in with your recent criticism of some of KTLA's shows.

D. L. E., Los Angeles, Calif.

I would like to know how Eddie Albert gets by with that sad affair he stumbles through on Channel 4, concerning which he has the audacity to call "Nothing But the Best." The first word of this title would have been sufficient; but if he must have long titles, why not "Nothing But the Worst"?

Shirley Offutt, San Diego, Calif.

Will you please publish this for Korla Pandit's fans? I suppose they do not even know Korla has a new record out. The record "Moonlight and Shadows" and "What a Difference a Day Makes" is so beautiful.

I think we fans should begin writing again to let Korla know we haven't forgotten him. Why not tell Korla about it, he's in San Francisco now, why let him leave thinking we don't care? Even though he probably knows we do.

I, for one, and a million others cannot understand why he had to go to another city to get a sponsor, when Desconso Gardens sponsored him, thousands came. When they only had hand-fulls before. Don't know why they don't sponsor him, their sales would go up like a rocket, as Desconso Gardens did.

Frank Cassatta, Hollywood, Calif.

Just wanted to tell you that at our house we think Andy Mansfield's new Saturday night program, KFI at 10:05, is really worth staying home for. Until we had such a really good representation of Benny Goodman's really fine records, we'd forgotten how long it has been since there was real danceable music. Andy is doing a wonderful job in bringing this out.

B. J. Bink, North Hollywood

I like the new way of printing "Flicker Fare." It's so much easier to find.

Lucille Curtis, Van Nuys, Calif.

Every day on Bill Stulla's "Parlor Party" they sing a few songs, and the same day on "Lucky U Ranch" they sing one of the same songs. It has happened about five times.

As far as we know, this is just a coincidence. Popular songs of the day are fairly limited and duplication is almost unavoidable.

Hazel Mathewson, Culver City, Calif.

Would not be without TV-RADIO LIFE; it's better than a story book. With all the controversy on Mary Ann Owens, I'd like to say that I have to agree with Mrs. Barrymore's letter, and each of us having a right to our opinion likes and dislikes, it's certain that she has too. However, because I don't like Mary Ann's voice I no longer watch that program. But why pick on only Mary Ann, when there are so many others whose voice or singing is no better; and it isn't always the voice so much as some of the very tuneless songs they have to sing. Because I enjoy the Spade Cooley show, in general, I most certainly do not like some of his singers, and some of them I must say are not one bit better than Mary Ann. I'm sure Mary Ann is a very sweet girl, and she has the most adorable giggle or laugh that I've ever heard on TV. We can't please everybody, that's certain, so why be worried.

Ruth Whitaker, Norwalk, Calif.

I think Alice Lon the "new Champagne Lady" is just sensational.

Elsie M. Davis, Lawndale, Calif.

Why is it that so many stupid programs can continue year after year, while top TV entertainment such as Korla Pandit's beautiful music must go elsewhere?

William Thorne, Pasadena, Calif.

I think that any parent who has the so-called "pull" would do the same thing for their children that Jack Owens is doing. I'm sure he is very proud of his daughter, Mary Ann.

Jack D. Spence, Los Angeles, Calif.

My wife and I went out to see Lawrence Welk recently and we enjoyed the program very much. That Alice Lon is really a doll. We heard a singer named Eddie Johnson, I believe, who was really terrific. I think he is better than any singer that Welk has got and I hope he signs him up.

PICK of the PIX

by Aubrey Dahl

It happened again on the night of August 29, when a picture I had recommended highly was cancelled without notice and I'm beginning to get miffed. The picture was "Vice Versa," a comedy which has been shown only a couple of times on TV, and the substitute was, "There Goes My Heart," a veteran of some one hundred local showings. The station that did the damage was KECA, Channel 7, and so, my congratulations, gentlemen, on your intelligent programming and your thoughtful explanations.

"Angel With A Trumpet." (13) Sept. 12, 11:05. This is a somewhat grandiose British picture about the adventures of an Austrian family whose main function seems to lie in the manufacture of pianos. The children grow up, go to war, get married, beget more children and everyone goes on manufacturing pianos. An engrossing picture, withal, with a couple of good performances by Eileen Herlie and Oskar Werner.

"Journey Together." (7) Sept. 17, 12:45. Here is another British film, and an excellent one, about the training and combat activity of RAF personnel during World War II.

"They were Sisters." (7) Sept. 15, 10:45. James Mason marries into a family whose sisters are very loyal to each other, a situation which seems to unsettle him so much that he dedicates himself to ruining his wife's health. Phyllis Calvert is the sister who finally undoes him, while his daughter is portrayed by his real life wife, Pamela Kellino... an oddity of sorts, I suppose.

"Saints and Sinners." (13) Sept. 17, 10:35. This very amusing picture, made in 1949 and featuring the famous Abbey Players of Dublin, deals with the superstitions exhibited by the inhabitants of a small village when they become convinced that the world is coming to an end. Seemingly upright citizens rush to confess their misdeeds to the parish priest, while some who were thought to be sinners turn out to be not so bad after all. The movie's theme, and a sound one, I think, is that there are too many people in the world ready and anxious to throw the first stone.

"Miss Annie Rooney." (11) Sept. 12, 9:00. Must be about that nauseating little orphan... and that goes for both Annies.

E. E. Weinberg, La Mesa, Calif.

Can you do us a favor and see if you can find out why Channel 5 is so weak here that "Frosty Frolics," "Lawrence Welk," and all the other good shows are being blacked out by Channel 6, which is located across the border at Tijuana. I asked several TV experts and they say that Channel 5 is not powerful enough to overcome Channel 6.

Mrs. V. F. Bourbonnais, Long Beach, Calif.

Rita LaRoy's "Glamour Session" has been of great help for me and I know for thousands of others. We need more of this sort of program as it helps the little woman so much while she is sitting in her own home.

The Herb Holmes Family, West Covina, Calif.

In regards to Mary Ann on Jack Owens' show: we just love her. We never met Mary Ann, but had the pleasure of meeting Jack and Jack, Jr. at our Church Fiesta. They were the most friendly people we've ever met. Best of luck to a "lovely" family.

R. J. Olivares, Gardena, Calif.

In reply to the letter from Santa Ana, I may be only fifteen but I'm able to recognize petty jealousy when I read it. I think Bill Leyden is one of the funniest guys on television and as far as his commercials go, his way of presenting them make it a pleasure to listen. I enjoy every hilarious moment of it. I am sure I'm not alone in my opinion.

Richard Magdaleno, Canoga Park, Calif.

There has been a lot said about many programs, but not very much about one of the best of them all; and that's the Patti Page show.

Mrs. Robert Moore, Los Angeles, Calif.

I don't like to be a complainer and I am not particularly interested in the reason, as it is none of my business. But the music they had on the program, "Under Arrest," was very good. The beginning and end were especially good. Why did they change the music? The program itself is very good and I sure wouldn't be able to picture anyone other than Ned Weaver as Captain James Scott.

San Diego DIAL DATA

By Maurine Skinner

SAN DIEGO—(Special)—Mary Jo Egan, second week winner of the Junior Cook Contest, came through with the Grand Prize Award—an Amana Home Food Freezer—with her Upside-Down Berry Cobbler. Mary Jo has one more year at Fallbrook High. In Mari Hume's interview with the winner, Mary Jo revealed that winning this contest was the final push needed for her decision on choosing a career—of course she's going on to become a Home Economist. Good Luck, Mary Jo!

The first Service Football game of the season will be televised Saturday, Sept. 12 at 2:00 p.m. with unusual interest for San Diegans—Edwards Air Force Base at Naval Air Station, San Diego.

Coming up for a good viewing this Fall Season on Channel 8 will be another Jack Benny Show Sept. 13; Jackie Gleason, Sept. 19; This Is Show Business, Sept. 20; Fred Waring, Sept. 27; A brand new show, "My Favorite Husband" starring Joan Caulfield and Barry Nelson makes its debut Sept. 22 at 11:00 p.m. This is a gay, domestic comedy based on the original stories, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat" and "Outside Eden." Miss Caulfield will portray Liz Cooper, the glamorous but often scatter-brained wife of a successful bank executive. "My Favorite Husband," which made its debut on CBS Radio Network in 1948, enjoyed a successful two-and-a-half year run with Lucille Ball as Mrs. Cooper. Speaking of Lucille Ball, "I Love Lucy" returns to Channel 8 Sept. 26th . . . and it's almost time to change back to Standard Time again . . . Sept. 27.

Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

En Route Home From Alaska:

THE NEXT FIVE YEARS WILL WITNESS significant changes in Alaskan broadcasting, chiefly because TV is at hand. As I mentioned previously, grants have been made for three TV stations (two in Anchorage and one in Fairbanks). Young "Augie" Hiebert, associated for ten years with famed Colonel Lathrop, is heading a group of Anchorage businessmen for one Anchorage TV venture, while Kiggins and Rollins hold the other Anchorage license and the sole grant, to date, for Fairbanks.

THIS KIGGINS-ROLLINS OUTFIT is interesting because it stems from San Diego. Two of the key men, James Duncan and Wilbur Williams, are Southern Californians—Duncan used to be with KTLA and KFMB-TV in San Diego and Williams was assistant supervising engineer at Channel 8. They hope to be telecasting by the first of the year.

I DON'T KNOW WHAT THE LATHROP STATION in Fairbanks, KFAR, is planning to do about TV. I gained the definite impression that it was too KFAR away from everything to groove into the usual amenities and exchanges with visitors, so the report from this outlet will be a big, fat blank. Sorry about this, because I'd heard KFAR was an important outlet if for no other reason than it monitors Russian programs and is monitored by the Russians.

FAIRBANKS' OFFICIAL HOSTESS, Eva McGown, more than made up for the situation—you may recall that the fabulous Mrs. McGown, who has lived for forty years in Alaska, was honored by being a subject of Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life." She's still thrilled over her TV appearance and showed me pictures of it.

BACK IN JUNEAU WHEN OUR ship docked for a few hours, Jim Lawson, manager of the CBS affiliate, came aboard to pay a call. He said "Our Miss Brooks" was the most popular show on his outlet and that listeners flooded his station with protests when Eve & Co. went off for the summer. Lawson opined that TV was at least five years away from Juneau but I guess "Miss Brooks" will be top video fare there when it does appear.

I'M SHARPLY REMINDED, when thinking of Eve Arden's vehicle, of "Papa" Freund, camera genius about whom I wrote a recent yarn that prompted an immediate protest from Captain Donald W. Norwood of Pasadena. Apparently I got mental indigestion trying to assimilate all the impressive facts in "Papa's" biography and without meaning to, credited him with dreaming up the Norwood Director. Freund was granted a license in 1942 to manufacture and distribute it only. Apologies to Captain Norwood, who invented this exposure meter, and who also has a long list of photographic innovations, most recent of which are the Norwood Flashright and Speedright.

ALONG THE PHOTOGRAPHIC LINE, one picture I'd like to have caught at Juneau was that of the blind and almost deaf dog which had the reputation of never missing meeting an incoming ship. I tried to find this faithful animal but failed. Seems he picked up the vibrations from the ship's whistle, then hurried down to greet the vessel and claim his reward—bones and other doggy delicacies.

LAST PORT WE TOUCHED HOMEWARD-BOUND was Ketchikan, where the CBS people gave us such a grand reception on the way north. This time a friend of Hollywood's Sybil and Hal Bock, "Mac" McCreight, was standing on the pier ready to escort me to the crab cannery and other interesting spots. "Mac," who sells Macintosh clothes like crazy to discriminating men of Alaska, proved to be a keen raconteur. (During the eight years he has been probing every part of the territory, he has acquired a fantastic stock of anecdotes.) "Mac" came aboard to have luncheon with our party just before we sailed. One thing he was especially eager to order was fresh milk, which I think I mentioned as being scarce. It's almost impossible to keep cattle in Alaska and airborne milk sells for about sixty cents a quart. The ships, of course, carry a round-trip supply out of Seattle. Saw only one "big" dairy, near Fairbanks, where they have to keep the cows inside more than half the year, putting them up in quarters with special windows, exercise room, and food.

ENOUGH OF MY "REPORT" ON ALASKA. Have some new slants on Statehood (against it) and my fill, for awhile, of glaciers, mountains, streams, fish, wildlife, waterfalls, snow, ocean, lakes, pine trees and scenery in general. Despite my month's stay, I'm still what's known as a cheeckako, or newcomer. Only if I go back sometime and spend the winter will I be a qualified Sourdough.

Home Again.

HOLLYWOOD SEEMS AS HECTIC as ever, but the Fall season has great elements of excitement. Will spend the next few days trying to catch up with developments for the coming TV-radio season, which, to this Sourdough of going-on-fourteen winters in the Hollywood hinterlands, looks like a whale of a proposition!

HAYNES

Dick Haynes, heard daily on KLAC and KLAC-TV, has been made an honorary member of the California Highway Patrol.

Radio in Review

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Radio Ramblings

NBC is not neglecting radio. They are planning twenty-eight new fall shows, which will debut in October to the tune of five million dollars. These top calibre shows will offer ether listeners Laurence Olivier, James Stewart, Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn starring in regular series. Just as soon as dates and times are set, TV-RL will have a complete listing of this radio fare.

"Lux Radio Theatre" highlighted its twentieth anniversary season last week by presenting Olivia de Havilland with a citation for her distinguished performance on "Lux." Miss de Havilland was also on hand to launch the new season, and coincidentally her twentieth performance on "Lux" with "My Cousin Rachel." Her initial appearance on radio's longtime stanza was in 1936 when "Lux dramatized Saturday's Children." Sammy Kay switches from video to radio on ABC beginning September 15. . . "Sgt. Preston of the Yukon" returns to Mutual's airplanes on the same date. . . Richard Widmark inaugurates "Suspense's" eleventh season with "A Message to Garcia" on the 14th. . . KVOE drops its network affiliation and operates as an indie. . . Bob Hope will be back on the radiolanes with his daytime stint September 21. Pamela Mason will be his first "guest lady editor" for the new season. . . Lowell Thomas has accepted the radio chairmanship for National Bible Week, October 19-25.

KFI's "Cabbages and Kings" joins the Armed Forces Radio program roster. . . Actor Paul Frees takes over the host chores on "M.O.P." airers which moved over to KECA. Harry Engel and Phil Berg got FCC approval to operate the first commercial radio station on Guam. . . Hawthorne isn't putting all his eggs in one basket. The zany comedian has opened a furniture shop on Melrose Avenue. Pete Hanley subs for the vacationing Johnny Desmond on ABC's "Breakfast Club". . . Remember child actor Henry Blair ("Little Beaver," "Ricky Nelson," and "Donnie" in the Beulah show)? Well, Henry's grown up to the ripe age of twenty and enjoying his first European vacation. M. R.

Art's Philosophy

A Philosophy that pays: Art Linkletter's ideals in living are provocative and yet practical. Says Art, "I believe a man can do no more than he can . . . I spend my time getting ready to do the very best I can; and I believe if that isn't good enough they should get another boy . . . my pattern for the future is bound up in a desire to use my talents for the good of mankind. Lest you think this grandiose, consider my principal belief: I believe in people. I have always been more interested in people than in ideals or things. . . . My faith in their basic good is such that I want always to be doing something wherein I can underscore the good and diminish the evil . . . my goal is to help people know that they are a part of a perfect pattern first traced by God and that in the return to this ideal, we must all do our share."

With thoughts like these, no wonder Art Linkletter is such a sincerely liked and respected man.—J.H.

Dr. Popenoe's Past

(Following are excerpts from two letters anent DR. PAUL POPENOE, prominent family counselor on ART LINK-LETTER'S program. We thought Dr. Popenoe's unusual hidden talent would be of interest to his many listeners).

Dear Mr. Guedel:

The reason I write you instead of the normal addressee is that he, your confrere Dr. Popenoe, continues to amaze me and I am not sure I am speaking of the right man. Perhaps it's his grandfather.

I am a member of a committee forming an agricultural co-operative in Riverside County . . . to exploit the by-products of dates and the date palm tree. . . . I have compiled a library which comprises a great deal of knowledge on the subject. And who turns out to be the ultimate authority on the subject? Dr. Paul Popenoe. Is there no limit to the man's virtuosity? Could this be the same bouncy citizen who sparkles so frequently and energetically on Linkletter's program.

If so, please advise me. We shall undoubtedly need his services as consultant, elder brother and parish priest.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) Duncan Underhill

Dear Mr. Underhill:

It was a pleasure to see your letter. In 1911 I made a trip to North Africa and brought back 1000 date palm offshoots for my father, who had a subtropical nursery under the name of the West India Gardens and who was interested in getting and distributing all subtropical fruits that would grow in this part of the world. . . . (He introduced the Fuerte and Puebla varieties of avocado).

The following year (June 1912) I started around the world with my younger brother, Wilson Popenoe, to get further date varieties. We went through Northern India, where we found nothing of value; then to Eastern Arabia and to Iraq, the principal commercial date growing region of the world, now as in the past. I brought 16,000 offshoots to this country, most of which were planted in the Coachella Valley. . . . I had one of the finest collections of oriental and other literature on date growing, which I turned over to the department of horticulture at UCLA.

Cordially yours,
(Signed) Paul Popenoe

Rex Koury

Rex Koury, music director for ABC's Western Division, is rounding out twenty-five years of professional life. His first organ-playing assignment was in a small new Jersey movie house. The regular organist, after being badgered for weeks, finally permitted the youngster to fill in the five-minute "breaks" with the admonition: "play real softly."

Today, Koury batons the ABC's radio network "Cinema Time," and other programs. His TV scoring of the "Tale of Two Cities" earlier this year was very commendable. The two half-hour presentations were scored with the opulence of a screen production and the on-the-nose timing of radio. This was no mean feat in a spectacle with a cast of 150 people.

Koury also batons the CBS "Gunsmoke" whose theme has been published as a popular Western tune,

RECORD

Notes to You

By ANDY MANSFIELD

Many a record player, along with his or her favorite selections, will be going to college this fall. Since space is always a problem with collegiates, the 45 rpm players and unbreakable records are the most practical and economical solution so that "they shall have music wherever they go." . . .

and what better going-away gift than one or more of these new albums just released this week? . . .

"PREMIERED BY ELLINGTON" (Capitol) features eight dance selections in the modern mood by the Duke and his Men that were originally introduced over the years by this great band—"Stardust," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," "Liza," "Three Little Words," "Stormy Weather," "Cocktails For Two," "My Old Flame," and "Flamingo" in new arrangements are more thrilling than ever . . . "NEW ORLEANS" (Columbia) features Jo Stafford and Frankie Lane in solos and duets so typical of this birthplace of jazz. "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans," "Basin Street Blues," "Floatin' Down to Cotton Town" and "Raminay" are a few of the eight reasons why this is a top collection. . . . "SO THIS IS LOVE" (RCA-Victor) features Kathryn Grayson in songs from the soundtrack of this film based on the life of Grace Moore. Running the musical gamut from "I Wish I Could Shimmy Like My Sister Kate" to "Mi Chiamano Mimi" from "La Boheme," Miss Grayson does extremely well with many songs from many eras.

"BENNY GOODMAN PRESENTS HELEN WARD" (Columbia) features BG's fine new dance arrangements of "You're a Heavenly Thing," "What a Little Moonlight Can Do," "I'll Never Say 'Never Again,' Again," and "I've Got a Feeling I'm Falling"—all spotlighting his most popular vocalist who emerged from retirement this year to sound better than ever.

Timed to coincide with the film story of her life, Decca has just reissued an album of songs by the late GRACE MOORE—truly great recordings of "Un Bal di Vedremo," "Love Me Forever," "Vissi D'Arte" and Schubert's "Serenade."

P.S.: The above items won't guarantee a Phi Beta Kappa key, but they'll surely provide the necessary relaxation between cramming sessions—A.M.

On the Ball

With Ted Hilgenstuhler

Before the baseball season comes to a close, let's give a little credit to a couple of guys who haven't received much publicity this year.

I am speaking about Fred Hessler and Eric Paige, who help out Bob Kelley and Mark Scott, respectively, on their KMPC and KFWB baseball broadcasts.

Kelley and Scott certainly get their share of press notices — favorable and otherwise—but no one has ever written anything on Fred or Eric. These are the "thumbnail" sketches which both boys gave me when I talked to them:

FRED HESSLER — Born March 20, 1912, in Sheboygan, Wisconsin. Reared and educated there and got his first radio job with WHBY in Sheboygan in 1936. Attended University of Wisconsin for three years. "Although I played quite a bit of softball, baseball, and basketball in school, I don't think you would consider me as the 'athletic type.'"

Worked as the "sports voice" for WTAG in Green Bay, Wisconsin, and for the Wisconsin network. Covered the baseball and basketball games of the University of Wisconsin in 1940 and 1941. Also did play-by-play of Three Eye League games.

During World War II spent three years in the Air Force. Settled in California after the war, and worked originally as staff announcer for KLAC. Wanted to get back into sports, however, so he grabbed a job with KGER in Long Beach, doing high school and junior college games. It paid off.

In 1950 he got the "big job" he still holds—Director of Sports for Armed Forces Radio Service. He does more play-by-play accounts than any local announcer, but of course we civilians don't hear them. Has also called Tidewater Associated football games for five years.

This coming football season he will do the color for the L. A. Rams games along with Ole Kel. When Kelley handles the telecasts, Fred will do play-by-play over KMPC. Married, with two children.

ERIC PAIGE—Born July 2, 1923, in Newark, New Jersey. Reared in Caldwell, New Jersey, where mother owned a beanery. Played football and baseball in high school and college. Attended Susquehanna University for a year and a half. Entered the paratroopers in 1943.

After discharge in 1945 attended Seton Hall for two years. Gave up "pre-med" course, auditioned for radio job, and landed staff appointment at NBC station in Beckley, West Virginia. Covered basketball and football games

The multiple sclerosis telethon was, on most counts, a good job. It is too bad, though, that at last reports the goal of $200,000 was not reached, since the show was certainly for a worthy cause. There seems to be only two answers for the not-so-sensational contributions: one, too many telethons of late; and two, the rather unpleasant publicity that followed on the heels of the cerebral palsy telethon. When one campaign is laid open to doubt, all others are bound to take a beating. All kinds of credit should go to Pete Potter and Jack Rourke and to the indefatigable Roscoe Ates, but no credit at all should go to James Mason. His bringing in of his wife for the purpose of a joke—all at the expense of multiple sclerosis—was in extremely bad taste. Since when is it funny to make this disease the subject of humor? The dramatic highlight was the appearance of Shirley Temple. Her plea for contributions was very moving, particularly when she told that her brother had the disease. This moment brought tears to the eyes and chills up and down the spine.

Paul Coates is certainly getting to be a popular man around the TV lanes. He has produced a real shocker in "Confidential File" over KTTV. The use of film clips was not only effective in the account of B-girls but it was startlingly frank. Looks very much like Paul is on a real crusade—one that could possibly be dangerous for he's playing with dynamite. He deserves a lot of credit. His show is at least something different and has a punch. The only drawbacks are those Stewart-Warner commercials. They go on forever. This is one sure way to convince an audience to buy of West Virginia University, plus high school and Legion games.

In 1948, while working at Charleston, West Virginia, selected by RADIO BEST as "one of top ten sports announcers in the nation."

In 1948, the New York Yankee organization signed him, and he worked with Mark Scott on the Norfolk games at night, and re-creation of Yankee games in the afternoon. Handled Yankee games in 1950, Portsmouth contests in 1951, and the Yankees and Norfolk again in 1952.

March, 1953, he came to the West Coast to work with his ole partner, Mark Scott, on the Hollywood Stars games. Eric also has his own show on KFWB at 7:40 a.m. In private life, he's married and has two children. Unusual broadcasting experience: one afternoon at Beckley, West Virginia, he called a football game from a truck in the end zone.

Post note: Don't be surprised if one of these days, one or both of these boys land some of the top announcing jobs in town.

some other set. Keep up the work, Paul, you're doing a real service to the public.

It pays to be nice: Shirley Thomas, who is CBS radio's movie commentator, has steadfastly steered away from scandal on her show. It was said she'd not last five minutes without a plentiful helping of dirt. So what happens? Her show is now a half hour instead of fifteen minutes and the studios consider her program a must for their stars. What's next for Shirley? Shades of a girl columnist — move over!

If you want to see how the movies' attitude towards TV has changed, look at the difference in MGM's feelings. Not too long ago this was the one studio that would not allow any of its stars to even go near a TV set. Now, the bars are coming down—fast. Janie Powell, one of the top stars on the lot, made her TV debut on Wally Sherwin's "Stairway to Stardom" show and then was on the Peter Potter show. Here comes the stars, gang!

Speaking of Janie, she is the new Cocoanut Grove attraction at the Ambassador. Her TV appearances no doubt were part of the exploitation for her Grove stint, but regardless of the reason she should pack the place. She follows Gene Nelson into the night spot. All of which reminds me that many people are judging these two much too hastily. The real story has not been told, but when it is you'll see a brand-new picture. Anyway, here's wishing Jane luck at the Grove—and let's hope she appears on TV more regularly.

Rumor has it that ABC is letting Elmer Davis go. There is some talk that he has no sponsor—hence, the axe. But again it looks mighty suspicious. Davis has been for years one of the nation's most outstanding news commentators. He could always be depended on for an honest and frank appraisal of the news. It is fondly to be hoped that he will not leave the air—or that some other network will pick him up and fast.

Just wondered recently why the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences has never given an award for the best original teleplay. Certainly the writers are a very important factor in the success of any show—and they should have proper credit.

Here's an idea that should really catch on. Roger Wagner, prominent musician-composer and whose Roger Wagner Chorale is always a musical highlight, has joined with some friends to form a club. They will automatically buy any product advertised on TV that has a fifteen second or less commercial. This is their protest against the endless spiels that are constantly interrupting movies and most TV shows. How about forming such a club yourself? Maybe this way the sponsors will see that great, big, beautiful dawn.

▲ JOHNDA AND PAPA ROURKE go in for the light fantastic. Jack's young daughter is apparently all set to follow in his footsteps. She has show business all through her.

JOHNDA BELIEVES that all parents should be taught how to play with children and she is here giving her mother, Joan, and her father, Jack, a few pointers. (Exclusive photos by ABC.)

MY DADDY, Jack Rourke, who does all those nice things for people on KECA-TV's "Ladies' Matinee," has not been a very big problem to me. He seems to have known most of the important facts about being a daddy.

He does like to sleep too much, though, but so do I so I can't be too unhappy with him. I have found that I can get my way more often by seeing he doesn't get as much sleep as he thinks he needs. Then he is kind of weak and can't say "No" so easily to me. Now, you know most daddies don't like to play horse for their children, but you should see mine play Trigger while I'm Roy Rogers. He gives me the nicest piggy-back rides you ever saw, even though he's so sleepy most of the time he's carrying me around he doesn't know what he's doing. But he is nice about it. He even neighs for me.

I think all fathers have to be treated with—I think I heard the word was something like psychol or psychologues. Anyway, it has something to do with keeping you happy or something. Whatever it is I have tried to use it on daddy, mostly when he wants to spank me and I don't want one.

Spankings

A little while back I was being bad. Oh, I knew I wasn't being a good girl and I knew I was going to get a spanking, so this is where I tried that thing I was talking about. I said to daddy, "Will you kiss me before you spank me, daddy?" I knew what that would do to him. He kissed me and then he pretended to be awful strict—but he just barely touched me with a flip of his wrist.

Sometimes I think a child should try to get on the good side of her mother when her daddy is about to spank her. My mommy and daddy always tell me why I'm being spanked so at least I know what's going on. But once my daddy was going to punish me so I said to my mommy, "Mommy, you don't want daddy to lose his temper, do you?" This sort of helped them both to laugh a little and I didn't get much of a spanking.

Keep Fathers Young

I like to teach my daddy to be interested in things I like because then he doesn't notice some of the things I do. And, besides, I think all daddies should be kept as young as possible so they'll remember some of the things they did when they were children. This way they can't get so mad at us kids when we act up.

By Johnda Rourke

I taught my daddy how to swing recently and I think he's almost as good a playmate as the other boys and girls I know.

Since daddy is on TV I try to be interested in his work. I even answer his phone for him at home and tell people he's busy. This way he can spend more time with me. When he gets too busy thinking about his show I can sort of surprise him by saying, "I don't know whether to watch 'Sheriff John' or 'Ladies' Matinee' today, daddy." "Sheriff John" is on at the same time, you know.

Liked His Work

I am a real good fan, though, of daddy's and I even mention his sponsor at the right time. Once I knocked over a vase and I said fast, "Thrifty Cut-Rate Drug Store." He couldn't get mad at me then. And when we swim we have a game we play that goes like "On your mark, get set, go, Thrifty!" And then we dive in.

I have had a few more problems with daddy recently because he's acting kind of silly with my brother, Spinner. Daddy's talking all that baby talk, you know. But I like Spinner. I named him after a movie I saw on TV. Phil Regan was in the picture and he came from up in the sky and his name was Spinner. Well, my brother came from up in the sky too so that that's how he got his name. Of course his real name is Jack, Jr. I guess daddies like to have boys named after them. Look at me even, Johnda. You can tell where mommy and daddy got that one.

I'm very happy being Jack and Joan Rourke's daughter. I think I got myself a nice spot. And raising a daddy isn't half as hard as I thought it was going to be.

The Moment That Changed Leighton Noble's LIFE

By Ted Hilgenstuhler

➔ THE TRAGIC DEATH of his former boss was the moment that changed the life of KTLA's Leighton Noble. (KTLA-Plowman photo.)

a young man by the name of Leighton Noble. He had joined Knapp in Los Angeles a year earlier.

During the remainder of the engagement at Boston, and for six months following at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh, Leighton took over the leader's duties.

Baton Bug Bites

"It was the first time in my life I ever fronted a band," Leighton explained during a TV-RADIO LIFE interview. "And it was the first time in my life I ever really thought about it. However, after that first experience, I knew that this was what I wanted to do in life."

Eventually George Olsen became the new leader of the old Knapp crew. And eventually Leighton left the organization and went out on his own.

His first engagement with his own band was at the famed Meadowbrook in New York in the winter of 1937. With the exception of a few years' lavoff when he played in motion pictures, the congenial KTLA star has been twirling the baton ever since.

Almost unbelievably shy and unassuming for a first-rate bandleader, Leighton and his "Noblemen" have played at the leading hotels and ballrooms from coast to coast. Like most men in his racket, the personable maestro grew tired of living out of a suitcase. So when the opportunity came for him to appear regularly on KTLA's "Bandstand Revue," he quickly accepted the offer.

Another Welk?

Leighton has three big assets in his favor at the present time: (1) a well-established name in the band business; (2) a regular TV show on Channel 5; (3) a sharp manager by the name of Sam Lutz, who also handles Lawrence Welk.

Sam originally managed Leighton back in 1946. "Believe me, if it wasn't for Leighton back in those days, I probably wouldn't be in business today," Lutz recalls. "He kept me going when I needed it badly."

If Lutz can achieve the same success in Southern California that he has with Lawrence Welk, he'll be a mighty happy, well-heeled man. And so will Leighton.

ONE MAN'S death gave a new life to another. That's the tragic but true story of the moment that changed Leighton Noble's life.

Back in 1936, Orville Knapp was one of the biggest names in the band business. He played at the finest hotels and ballrooms in the country.

As a result of a lucrative business deal, Knapp found himself one day with a wad of dough on his hands. A flying bug, he had always wanted to own his own plane—so he bought one.

One afternoon in Boston he took off in his two-seated Stinson—and never came back alive. He was killed instantly in a crash at the airport.

At that time the Knapp organization was playing at the Ritz Carlton in Boston. The featured singer was

WHAT Desi LIVES BY

There are certain principles that have always guided Desi Arnaz in his life. When you know what they are you'll know this popular "I Love Lucy" star much better.

By Jack Holland

YOU KNOW, it's funny how you tag a star by the kind of role he plays. You assume he's just the kind of person he appears on the screen. And then you start talking to him and you realize there is so much more to him.

Take Desi Arnaz, for instance. On "I Love Lucy" he's the comic character who butchers the King's English and tries to keep Lucy in line. Yet, behind this buffoonery is a man with great ideals and beliefs.

I was talking to Desi at MGM where he and Lucy are lighting up the sound stages for "The Long, Long Trailer." Somehow we got off on the subjects of his beliefs, what principles have guided him.

"What does happiness mean to you, Desi?" I asked him.

He thought for a moment, a warm smile crept over his face, and he said, "It does not mean money—that's for sure. My life is an example of that. I've had money several times in my life and I've been broke several times. And some of my unhappiest moments were during the periods when I had the most money.

"To be happy means, at least to me, to be with those you love, to be doing the kind of work you want, to give the best of yourself for the benefit of others. I'm with those I love. And now I'm acting, which was always my ambition. When I had my band I was making about $200,000 a year and I was miserable because no one would give me a chance to prove I could act. Now I have that chance. As for doing what I can for others, I can only hope that I'm succeeding in that."

"With a marriage like yours, Desi, happiness must take on even greater significance," I commented, perhaps prosaically.

"I'm a lucky guy, I won't deny that," Desi said. "Lucy may confuse me a lot but I love her kind of confusion.

"Marriage is, to me, dropping any self-centered attitudes and thinking of the other instead of yourself. You can't think of yourself all the time. All right, so it's not original but the give-and-take idea is truth. Marriage is more than that, though—it's also being able to laugh at yourself and at each other. A sense of humor.

"Apparently, the way Lucy and I act on our TV show has helped others in their marriage. At least, we get a lot of letters from young married couples about how the show has helped them with their marriage. I even had a letter from a man saying he had thought his wife was crazy, but after seeing our show he decided that all women were nuts."

Desi paused, laughed lightly, and then added slyly, "Come to think of it, I think our show has enabled me to handle Lucy better."

"And, of course, having those two wonderful children hasn't hurt your marriage any," I added. And Desi began beaming from ear to ear. "How do you believe you should raise them? It's been my opinion that most parents either give too much discipline or not enough."

"I can hardly talk about them sensibly—I'm so much in love with them," Desi commented. "Anyway, I treat my children the way I'd like to be treated. And I guess that a lot of my ideas are those used on me when I was a youngster.

"I can remember little things about my childhood—like my odd eating habits. There were some foods I didn't like. My mother and father made no issue about them. When they served dishes I didn't like—well, they just let me go hungry. After a couple of days like this I go so I'd eat almost anything. Even avocados. I remember being served those after a self-imposed two-day fast and I didn't like them, so my father said, 'I didn't use to like them either, so I put salt on them and they tasted better. Why don't you try that?' I did. My father did one important thing for me by treating me in this way—he saved my pride.

"I think many parents punish their children because the kids are bothering them—and not because what they're doing is basically wrong. I want to treat my youngsters with respect. Then they'll respect me. I want to share a life with them and not run their lives."

Since there had been some talk about Desi and Lucy's selling their ranch, I asked Desi how he felt about this. After all, a ranch is supposed to be a kid's dream.

"We're not going to sell it now," he said. "We'll wait until our children are old enough to decide for themselves whether they want to live at the ranch or move closer into town. After all, it's their lives too."

"You seem to get along with everyone so well, Desi," I said to him. "What's your secret?"

"It's no secret," he replied. "I just start out liking people. It actually hurts me when I have to dislike somebody. Sure I've been mistaken about people at times but my belief in the good in others has paid off far more than it has backfired. There's good in everyone. It's only how much you want to see that good."

After a pause, I asked Desi, "What do you think of faith?"

Desi became very serious. His voice grew softer. "You have nothing," he said, "unless you have faith, a belief in God. It's easy to go to God when things go wrong, but it's seeking Him out when things are right that proves the meaning of faith. All I can say is that He has been very good to Lucy and me."

"You deserve all that has come to you, Desi," I remarked.

He smiled gently and added, "Only He knows if we deserve a good life."

YOU'VE HEARD his music a thousand times; you've seen him on several occasions. But what do you know about Eddie Baxter?

Eddie, KNBH organist, is an easy-going sort of person. He isn't exceptionally loquacious, but you don't doubt that music is his life.

He almost forsook his music for a medical career but it didn't take him long to realize that he couldn't serve two masters. His interest in music did not leave enough time for his medical studies, so Eddie wisely decided to stick with his real love.

mitted to play soothing melodies in the psychiatric ward.

When Eddie isn't busy developing new ideas for his "musical semantics" (music is more than sharps and flats to him; it is an emotional experience, which has varying effects on people) he composes, arranges and scores lilting melodies. Before joining KNBH he collaborated on special material for Fifi D'Orsay, Carl Brisson and Dorothy Shay. He admits the work was fun, but the assignments were too far and few between. His credits include "Concerto in Blues" and the title for the Lippert Picture, "Holiday Rhythm."

Music Is His Business

KNBH's Eddie Baxter likes to talk shop

By Donna Scott

Just about the time Eddie reached this decision, the Army intervened. After his discharge, he joined Glen Gray's musical aggregation and later played for the Frankie Masters orchestra. Masters's pretty blonde vocalist, Martha Baldwin, caught Eddie's eye and their romance blossomed despite the "no dating" ruling imposed upon members of the orchestra. The pair were constantly thrown together when working on arrangements for the band's quartet. The sanction for dating wasn't at all necessary for them. They worked together so well that they decided to make it a permanent arrangement. Today Martha is devoting her time to Eddie, Jr., and Danny. She's busy keeping her trio of boys happy in their San Fernando Valley home.

Eddie hopes some day to combine his music and pre-med training with psychosomatic treatment. He and a psychologist are experimenting with music and its effect on mentally disturbed individuals. Their progress, at this point, is still in the laboratory stages. However, in addition to their work and studies, Eddie frequents hospitals at veteran hospitals on special occasions he's per-

He has also accompanied countless top names in the music business.

With the inception of daytime programs on television, he became a featured performer on the Chef Milani Show, "Peanut Circus," "It's Up to You," and of course, the Jack McElroy Show. Good-natured Eddie willingly goes along with Jack's gags. The two form an unbeatable team. Jack's humor and Eddie's music keep KNBH's studio packed to the rafters.

When Renzo "The Continental" Cesana had his KNBH ainer, Eddie provided the mood music for this Latin lover of the airlines. "I enjoyed creating the musical background for 'The Continental,'" he says, "because it was such an integral part of the show. In effect, my music was his soul."

Eddie has tried to transmit his feelings about music to young Mr. Baxter, age five. But he'll have none of it. With all the authority junior can muster he tells his daddy, "Music is your business and cowboys is mine." Understanding, father Baxter sees no need to argue the point as they both join in whistling "Home on the Range."
