ANGELA GREENE has been decorating the TV screens of late with some outstanding dramatic performances. No wonder she's in demand.

FRANKIE LAINE, now on CBS-TV again, is a top coast-to-coast commuter between New York and Los Angeles. He and his wife, Nancy, are shown arriving in the Big City via American Airlines.

TOM FRANSDEN OF KRCA finds time on week-ends to keep up with his career as a Lt. Commander in the Naval Reserve. Recently, he flew a brand new T2V-1 jet plane, a "Sea Star." With him in these pictures is Ray Crandall, Lockheed experimental test pilot.

A sketch of Mr. Oscar Levant which may explain

Why He Quits Every Week

By Ted Hilgenstuhler

Now appearing on K C O P ' S
Words About Music.

I HAVE a reputation for being a wise guy—at times. As some people have expressed it, I'm the possessor of a "sarcastic sense of humor." For this reason, among others, I was assigned to do a story on "Mister Sarcastic Sense of Humor Himself"—Oscar Levant.

"Sorry," one of his press agents (who had the dubious honor of handling Oscar while he performed on Words About Music) informed me. "I'll try, but I don't think he's seeing anyone for an interview."

The press agent tried for two weeks—without any luck. So I decided to do what all eager reporters should do—see the man myself.

That happened on a Saturday night when I stopped by the TV studios at about 10:30 p.m. Show time was 11 p.m.

"Has Oscar Levant come in yet?" I asked the guard at the gate.

"Don't believe I know what he looks like," the puzzled guard replied.

"Hmmm." I thought to myself, "won't this be something to throw back at Oscar in case he should be in one of his not-so-rare insulting moods."

He Asked First

On the set itself, I met the press agent and stood there chatting with him.

Suddenly, after trying out a tune or two on the piano, Levant started walking in our direction.

"Who are you?" he asked directly, when he was about ten feet away.

I turned to the press agent and remarked, "Remember, pal, he asked me first."

"I happen to be a reporter. And if you have the time, I'd like to talk to you a few minutes," I said.

"How about after the show?" he asked, nervously. (Every gesture, every move, every glance, every word he utters, everything that Levant does, is done nervously.)

"After the show will be perfect," I replied.

Oscar then went about his business. At one point, as I stood smoking a cigarette in the corridor, I heard him yelling he was quitting the show (he quits every week) because he didn't want to be interviewed.

A Genius

I finished my cigarette and then sat in the audience and watched the hour-long program. Not once did I take my eyes off Mr. Levant. To me, it was an absorbing study. It was like watching a human brain in a test tube. A truly great brain—and don't let anyone ever forget it.

I don't know if Mr. Levant is a genius. (I've only known one in my lifetime—a man named Dr. Leslie Fiedler, if you'd care to know.) But whether Mr. Levant is a genius or not, the most important thing is that you THINK he is a genius when you watch him. Perhaps his overt actions are caused by a deep inferiority complex—or maybe he is a genius. That is not for me to know, or decide.

I do know that after watching and listening to him for over an hour, I could not interview him. Why? I shall tell you why: because I was afraid to, and yes, ashamed too.

I was going to try to bring Mr. Oscar Levant down to my level. What an injustice! What a crime! To a man who is not in full control of himself, who deserves, not sarcasm, but sympathy, encouragement and friendship. I did not consider myself small enough, or big enough, for either task.

Mr. Levant, in public, delights in insulting people. That is not only his stock-in-trade, but his greatest defense mechanism. In private, it would lead not to entertainment (as it does in public) but only to bitterness.

Nevertheless, I couldn't be rude. After the program I lied to him and said, "I don't think an interview will be necessary, Mr. Levant, because I got enough material just watching the program."

"Do you think THEY liked it?" he asked, almost like a child. This—from a man who had just finished insulting everything and everyone he could think of!

"I can't speak for others, but I enjoyed it very much," I said.

Not Proud

He smiled and took another cigarette. (During the program—you don't see this on the air—he lit up at least a dozen cigarettes.)

"I hope the people at MGM won't get sore at anything I said," he continued. "You know I just started to work out there."

"Of course not," I replied. "You didn't say anything wrong and they love the free plugs."

He smiled again, nervously. And puffed again on his cigarette.

He started toward the exit, so I walked with him.

"You know," I said, trying to think of something, "I think I note the Levant touch in that script of yours."

"I just did it this afternoon," he smiled, obviously pleased. "And you know, I think a lot of other shows are catching on to our style. I still don't understand why they don't pick it up for a network show."

"I think they should," I white-lied.

We were outside now. The night was clear and fresh; good to smell and beautiful to see. I thanked Mr. Levant again and exchanged "good-nights."

I watched his slouching figure walk to the car. And I was sorry, and not proud of being a "wise guv" and the possessor of a "sarcastic sense of humor."

How TV and Radio Will

The Democrats' and the Republicans' big show will get a wide play on both television and radio. It will be the most revealing analysis of both parties you'll ever see.

IN AUGUST you may be missing several of your favorite television programs—all of which will possibly cause you to see red.

This month will be devoted to the Democratic and Republican conventions—and TV and radio will be right on the bandwagon bringing you all the long speeches, the har-anguing, and the excitement and the thrills.

It will also bring you the popular favorite of the commercial field—Miss Betty Furness—who will continue to extol the virtues of her sponsor's products as she did at the last convention. Betty's femininity and know-how will add at least some appeal and variety to the doings.

All the networks have long-range plans for covering the conventions. The Democrats kick off the deal with their convention in Chicago on August 13 while the Republicans open in San Francisco one week later.

ABC's Coverage

ABC is planning on inaugurating a training school for TV candidates for the convention and the campaign. ABC recognizes the fact that television has completely changed the approach for campaigners. It has made the whistle-stop campaign about as out-dated as the old traveling medicine men. Now—to get across an impact to the viewers—the men who are out seeking high offices not only have to be equipped for the job but they must also have personality in front of the camera, so ABC is going to train them so that the ham doesn't get out of control and that the desired sincerity and ease come forth.

To facilitate some of the complicated job of bringing all the details of the convention to the public, ABC is introducing a miniature receiving set called the "Audipage." It weighs only one ounce and enables the roving commentators to get instructions on the floor from the master control point without the necessity of direct wire contact.

John Daly will handle the major chores for ABC, along with the usual expert news staff from the network.

NBC Plans

NBC also has extensive plans—and will have a three-man anchor team

BETTY FURNESS will be on hand at both political conventions to add feminine allure and charm as she pitches for her enterprising sponsor.

Cover the Conventions

By Jack Holland

at both conventions to be sure that every facet of the doings is covered. The men in charge will be Chet Huntley, David Brinkley and Bill Henry. They will disseminate all news about the conventions in NBC-TV's "TV One" center. In the radio field, NBC will use Pauline Frederick and Ned Brooks. H. V. Kaltenborn will have a special assignment—that of analyzing the events for a particular audience, the voters of tomorrow, the kids from 12 to 16. Holding the key on the convention platforms will be Morgan Beatty and Ann Gillis. Over 400 people will cover for NBC.

There will be a gavel-to-gavel coverage of all activities, according to present plans. This can sound foreboding in view of the long-winded speeches et al, but Leonard Hall of the Republican Party insists that oratory will be cut to a minimum and he also hopes to shorten the time devoted to the tedious roll call.

NBC's "TV One" will be located in each of the specially constructed "Convention Centrals" at Chicago's International Amphitheater and at the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

In addition to the newsmen set to cover the conventions for NBC, many of the network's top stars intend to add their touch—people like Dave Garroway, Lawrence Spivak, Arlene Francis, Henry J. Taylor.

CBS Will Cover

CBS, of course, has its own detailed program. Sig Mickelson, CBS Vice-President in Charge of News and Public Affairs, is certainly not stinting on this deal.

"It is quite possible that some 120,000,000 persons will see or hear part of either or both conventions on home television receivers and radios —by far the most fantastic audience ever assembled to witness a single event," Mickelson stated.

Working with Mickelson will be Elmer Lower, John Day, Paul Levitan and Robert A. Skedgell. These men are covering for radio while Don Hewitt will direct the television coverage of the conventions.

Altogether, about 25 distinguished CBS newsmen will be on hand—including, in addition to Edward R. Murrow and Eric Sevareid, Griffing Bancroft, T. Wells Church, Blair Clark, Charles Collingwood, Walter Cronkite, Bill Downs, Douglas Edwards, German Herman, Allan Jackson, Larry Lesueur, Bill Shadel, Robert Trout, and others. Richard C. Hottelet returns from his post in Bonn, Germany, around July 1 to join the others. Trout will be the "main man" for CBS-Radio, while Walter Cronkite will provide continuity for TV. In addition to the newsmen, more than 300 additional personnel will lend their services.

Equipment-wise, CBS is undertaking a mammoth job. More than 22 tons of electronic equipment will be transported to the International Amphitheater in Chicago by means of three 35-foot trailer trucks, two 18-foot mobile units, a two-ton van and a station wagon.

Among the new electronic equipment will be the "no-hands" telephone, high-speed electronic calculators and the new CBS-designed "walkie-talkie." The last, which weighs about five pounds, will literally make each CBS newsmen a miniature, ambulatory, transmitting station and will add much to mobility on the floor. It is also hoped that the revolutionary new Ampex Videotape Recorder will be available for use at the convention.

CBS will be covering both conventions almost simultaneously, for while one team is in Chicago taking care of the Democrats another will be in San Francisco getting highlights on pre-convention activities for the Republicans. Malcolm R. Johnson and Sam Zellman of KNXT will take care of this phase.

As soon as the Democrats finish their activities the full CBS news team, plus all the electronic gear, will fly by specially chartered planes to San Francisco. They will be standing at Chicago's Midway Airport to transport between 10 and 12 tons of equipment. Technicians have been given a six-hour maximum schedule from the final gavel in Chicago to take off from the airport. In less than 24 hours after the Democratic convention ends, the staff will be ready to operate in San Francisco with the same equipment.

Probably the most difficult phase of the operation is the inter-communications set-up. For CBS, an 80-position master telephone switchboard and two smaller boards connecting more than 150 telephones at 50 different locations in the Convention Hall and the party headquarters hotel will be used. Approximately 25 miles of communications wire will be needed in each city.

Everything seems planned in the most minute detail. But what happens if the Democratic convention runs into a second week, thus knocking all such plans into a cocked hat? The networks are sending up their fondest hopes that such will not be the case—but if it does happen, they'll probably have a few aces up their sleeves.

Why He Can't Say What He Thinks!

Jack Bailey of Queen for a Day is surrounded by ladies—and he sees it most of the time. But there are moments when he feels like calling for help.

JACK BAILEY has had eleven years of working with the ladies on his KHJ radio and NBC-TV Queen for a Day show. On the face of it, that would seem like a fairly pleasant chore.

It is. Yet, underneath all the surface appearances, Jack has done quite a remarkable job in keeping Queen from becoming a maudlin and sticky journey into human trials. Sure, women appear who do have tragedy and trouble, but by the time they have left the show and Jack they're not feeling down in the dumps.

Much of this business of alleviating the depressing is due to Jack's nimble way with a quip. If a woman starts to cry, he has a ready solution—but it's one that has had strange consequences.

Gifts

"Sometime back I made quite a mistake," Jack laughed. "A woman started to cry so I gave her my handkerchief and cracked, 'I use more of my handkerchiefs on this show. I'm going to have to register a complaint.' The woman smiled, got over her tears, but then came the avalanche.

"Shortly after, handkerchiefs started pouring into me. Altogether, I've had over 1500 sent in. I'm now using tissues—so I hope no one sends me those."

Hankies are only one of the many gifts Jack's loyal and enthusiastic ladies bestow upon him. Food, of course, arrives almost constantly, even though he has asked the women not to send him any goodies, since he is not that heavy an eater.

"I got one particularly magnificent gift," Jack recalled as he was sitting backstage at the Moulin Rouge waiting to start his afternoon show. "It was a huge hand-crocheted tablecloth. The lady said it was for my wife since I was always giving things to other women.

"Another time a man from Mississippi sent me what is perhaps the most unusual gift. He had been collecting old roots of trees that had formed into recognizable shapes. Some looked like a fish, others like a tree, others like a woman's leg. He had sanded these down, touched them up, and sent them along with a note saying, 'You'll probably never use these, but wanted you to have them anyway. I've been collecting them for 30 years.' I have news for him—they are the topic of conversation in my lanai at home."

Then there was the story of the lady who appeared on his show with obviously stained hands. Jack took a look at them and asked her if, by any chance, she had been doing any nutting. She was from Wisconsin so he figured this might be a reasonable question. She had. And thereupon Jack said, "You know, it's been years since I've had a butter nut."

The following week he got a whole box of them from a fan.

"I certainly have to be careful what I say," Jack went on. "I don't dare mention I like old-fashioned home baked bread. I did that once and I had home-made bread all over the place.

"I've also had Bailey family trees sent to me, although I'm sure that the Baileys lurking around on those limbs have little or nothing to do with me. I have exactly two living cousins so you can see I'm not engulfed by relatives."

Fan Mail

In addition to gifts, Jack gets so much fan mail that it takes three girls to handle it all. Naturally, a great majority of the letters consists of stories and why the ladies want to be on his show. Some contain criticism. For instance, Jack doesn't dare say "Y'all" instead of "You all" or make cracks like "Oh, do they have running water down there?" Any remark about the South is sure to bring in the response, some letters kidding him but others berating him.

He still gets mail from the Volunteer Fire Department in a town in New York. The men wrote him once bawling him out for not giving the prize to a certain lady. Jack, in a kidding way, answered with, "Why aren't you men out working instead of watching the show?" The letters have gone back and forth ever since.

"On one show I happened to mention that the ladies should write in for tickets, but some assumed that I meant we'd pay their fare here to be on Queen," Jack said. "I got letters from people saying they'd wait for their railroad tickets and that they wanted to spend a couple of weeks here to see some relatives. Another said, 'Could my ticket take me to San Francisco first so I can see my sisters?' We had an awful time straightening that one out.

"Naturally, I get requests from Sunday Schools and churches and other organizations asking me to contribute something I own or wear to be auctioned off at a charity bazaar. I finally had some hand towels made up with a caricature of me wearing a jeweled crown on them. At the bottom I had written, 'Stolen from Jack Bailey.'

"There is one problem I do have that I wish I could correct, but so far I haven't been able to. I keep getting prized pictures from people who have taken them out of their family albums, hoping that this will help them to get on the show. Even though I repeatedly state they shouldn't send such photos and that we cannot be responsible for them, I still get them. They invariably get lost; then the ladies want them back, and around and around we go. No one is picked by sending us a picture, but this doesn't seem to register."

Jack was called out for his warm-up. As I walked backstage I saw countless prizes that were to be awarded to whatever lady became Queen. Contrary to some ideas that this show is "fixed," no one knows who will win out. So how come all the prizes are handy then, you say? Well, the men whose duty it is to line up the gifts have a fairly good idea after eleven years of what articles are likely to be in demand, so they have everything possible ready.

As Jack walked onstage there was a loud squeal from the ladies and much applause.

Corn? Hokum? Not this one. Just plain human interest which is always a good commodity, especially when it's in the hands of a man with the know-how and general good humor of Jack Bailey.

KFMB Kaleidoscope

Along about this time of the year, everything is on the house for KFMB employees. On the Wrather-Alvarez house, that is, for the occasion is the annual staff picnic at the Shady Rock Ranch in Alpine. KFMB-ers of all shapes and sizes assembled beside the pool and on the ample picnic grounds on Saturday, the Fourth, and a grand time was had by all.

The idea for the annual get-together generated in the minds of the directors of Wrather-Alvarez last summer, and the response was so overwhelmingly favorable that the company took over Shady Rock Ranch, lock, stock and barrel for the day. It turned out to be one of the nicest ideas that has come along in many a moon. The kids splashed in the pool, the mothers looked on indulgently, and the more sporting of the masculins gender headed for the ball field for a snappy game of work-up. Came evening, assorted tired muscles and children collected, and everybody headed for home in a "let's do it again" mood.

The Fourth was the "let's do it again." And if the first get-together of the family was successful, the second was even more so. General Manager George Whitney became the Mickey Mantle of the swimming pool league, batting in enough runs to make it a win for one of the teams. No one ever did decide which team. The kids skinned a few shins with the games, but danced over the prizes thoughtfully provided. The swimming pool proved almost as popular as the food, and later there was dancing for those who had enough energy left to trip the not-so-light fantastic. But even the best of things have to end, and finally, the second annual KFMB get-together was only a pleasant memory. There'll be more, however, for on the Monday after, plans were being made for the third annual, next year!

Station Manager Art Mortensen is back on the scene, refreshed and ready to go after a two week trip that took the entire family on a swing of Western states, including Utah and Northern California. It was fun, of course, but a vacation's a vacation, and after all, there's nothing like Point Loma!

—KFMB—

Currently vacationing is News Editor Merritt Hadley. Be it ever so humble, sighed Merritt, and holed up in the back yard for three blissful weeks. Next to go are announcer Frank Thompson and Traffic Manager Doris Yeargin. Frank has his former home in Canada on his mind, but Doris and her husband share the home and outdoor cooking theme. Says she, they'll probably take a trip to someplace or other, but she hasn't made up her husband's mind as to just where it will be. Completing the vacation list, for the present, is Jim Fox of the Sales Department, who is having a meeting of the minds with a couple of fish up Big Bear way.

Label Talk

By TERREA LEA

Hello there and how many labels did you save last week? You did! Wonderful. But did you deposit them in your label account at Label Bank? If not, better do so right away. Try to make a habit of depositing labels at least once a month. That keeps your account active and gets those labels, bottle tops, and box tops out of your way at home. No use having them clutter up the place if you can get rid of them. So, make those deposits regularly.

I have two new brand names for you to start looking for but first I want to announce that BUISMAN'S COFFEE EXTENDER IS NO longer on the label list. So if you have any of those labels be sure to deposit them right away so you can receive credit for them.

Now, the first new brand is PATMAN'S PACKAGED MEATS. And if you have eaten Patman's meats you know how good they are. You receive 2 points on the Corned Beef, Smoked Tongue, and Smoked Picnics and 1 point on all others . . . Frankfurters, Salami, Bologna, Knackwurst, Bologna Rings, Cocktail Wieners, Braunschweiger, and Pastrami. You'll find these meats in the delicatessen at your favorite market. Now don't be fooled by other brands folks. Buy Patman's because it's the best you can buy.

The second new one is "KEEPS" Bowl Cleaner. This amazing new discovery will eliminate scrubbing, prevent stains, and deodorize. You simply drop the cake in the tank and the chemical action does the work. And it's worth 10 points to you at Label Bank.

I hope all you folks out in Montebello will come to the market appearance I'll be making Monday night Aug. 13. I'll be at Safeway at 2009 W. Whittier in Montebello at 7:00 in the evening with prizes galore and 50 giant bags of Label Bank products for some lucky people. So you try to be there. In fact . . . no matter where you live . . . try to be there because we'll have a lot of fun and you just may win something. Oh yes, I'll also have some of those premium catalogues for you.

I hope you're listening to my radio program each night at 10:30 on KABC and seeing the television program every day at 11:25 on KRCA. If not . . . tune in . . . you just may like it.

I'll be back next week with more Label Talk. In the meantime . . . send for that catalogue . . . buy the Label Bank products . . . deposit them . . . and earn beautiful premiums. It's a fact, the best way in the world to shop and save is with Label Bank.

MINIATURE CAMERA

Experimental use of a radical new transistorized miniature TV camera and portable transmitter in covering the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, August 13, was announced by RCA.

The camera, weighing only four pounds, is only 2½ inches high, 3 inches wide, and 8¾ inches long, exclusive of the view-finder. Controls in the unit feed directly into the back-pack transmitter housing a synchronizing generator, transmitter and power supply. Weight of the back-pack transmitter is 15 pounds.

And while on the latest technical developments—colorcasting on the Pacific Coast, which until now has lagged behind the rest of the nation due to technical difficulties, will come into its own this fall when NBC introduces a newly perfected color process called lenticular film which will enable telecasting of "kinescoped" programs in color. Coast viewers have hitherto had to be content with black and white "kines" of shows seen in color by the rest of the country.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

P. S., Long Beach

Mrs. J.S., Bloomington, should do as Will Rogers once said: Don't be too lazy to turn the dial.

N. H., Los Angeles

Regarding comments on Mr. Tom Duggan, I believe his program is becoming better all of the time. There is still room for much improvement. I don't understand how Miss Jones got on the program unless it is mandatory that all of the program be green and unprepared.

T. R., Sherman Oaks

People would get more enjoyment from their TV sets if they would cut out the music. Tonight on Waterfront the music was so loud we could not hear what was said and we cut the set off and went to bed. Many times when a jungle scene is being shown and wild animals are running around, they ring in music which spoils the picture for me and no doubt does for others.

A TV Fan, Los Angeles

I know you receive lots of letters about so much commercials. They come on so often that the story is spoiled. It is really too bad that the sponsors are not wise as yet to so many many interruptions.

L. W., Los Angeles

A Compton viewer has fired a fusillade of invectives at deplorable Duggan. But in all fairness to the Big Wind from Chicago, there's one thing you have to give him credit for. He's honest enough to admit he's never wrong.

R. H. E., Laguna Beach

Ethel and Albert is a must at present and the sponsors will throw away a winner if they change things.

A. K., Hollywood

My children enjoy Butch so very much in Mayor of the Town.

W. M. R., Fontana

We don't like Ed Sullivan but Steve Allen will never replace him. Tom Duggan of Channel 13 will.

Mrs. L. B.

We will miss the wholesome, down-to-earth, clean entertainment of Ethel and Albert. Too bad some of these fine programs are taken off for foolish, cheap stuff that even children don't appreciate.

A. L. W., Monrovia

Ed Sullivan has nothing to fear from Steve Allen's show. I watched it for a few minutes last night—but never again. Why does Jack Bailey think he has to act so foolish? Giggle-giggle, like a 10-year-old.

Poor Jack—he's getting along in years.

Mrs. C. M., Burbank

I wish to say a word of praise for two good programs that may be discontinued. They are Mama and Ethel and Albert. These are both quality shows with true-to-life situations that are well presented.

B. J. H., Santa Monica

I think Western Varieties is a wonderful TV show and Doye O'Dell is just about the best emcee a show could have.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Mrs. J. M., Los Angeles

Both my husband and I are avid FM radio listeners and most certainly appreciate your printing of the stations and programs.

N. J., Los Angeles

I and my friends think that the Jack Paar Show was one of the better shows on TV. Why must they remove such good shows and leave on those stupid, idiotic soap operas, western music shows and many others that in my opinion are plain junk.

Please let us know if and when Jack Paar is coming back on TV.

No word, as yet, on Jack for TV. However, he is heard Monday through Friday now on ABC radio. He began July 2.

J. B., Los Angeles

A silly mystery: Why KTTV makes such a big fuss about one new TV movie per week. KHJ-TV and KCOP show very fine TV movie firsts and without acting like they were the only station worth looking at.

C. B., Hawthorne

It would be greatly appreciated if someone would give Eleanor Hempel of the morning program Little Schoolhouse some singing lessons.

She is a schoolteacher and not a singer, and doesn't pretend to be. The children she sings for don't particularly care if she's a Dinah Shore or not.

H. M. C., Hollywood

My folks, brothers, sisters and friends are wondering why Roberta Linn left the Orrin Tucker Crystal Tone Orchestra. His show will never be the same without her.

Main reason: extended singing engagements at various nightclubs.

M. W. W., Van Nuys

It's really too bad Helen Parrish wasn't here to see the serenity, grace and quiet beauty of Beverly Kay Smith, who appeared recently on Panorama Pacific with Red Rowe.

She never once used the "tap-tap-tap" gimmick to interrupt Rowe and in other ways call unusual attention to herself.

J. M. P., Pomona

It seems every time we pick up your magazine Lawrence Welk or some of his crew are staring us in the face. How much does he pay you for it?

Just about the same price that President Eisenhower pays the daily newspapers when they put his name or picture on the front page.

E. L., Santa Ana

On the Do You Trust Your Wife? program, the key to the Rowlands' success was that they very rapidly answered the questions they knew first, then they went back to the omitted ones to try to think their answers. Most of their opponents began with No. 1 and if they didn't know the answers, they'd stop to think. Speedily answering the ones you are sure of just is the trick.

A. C. F., San Bernardino

Tell me where you can get any better program than Lawrence Welk. He is nice, good-looking, well dressed, makes no dirty remarks and has his wonderful band of both male and female. He is tops at our house and if you get any more complaints like Mrs. J.S. of Bloomington let's just throw them away.

L. W., Bellflower

I am a fan of the great Elvis Presley. I watched him on the Milton Berle Show and also the Steve Allen Show. In my opinion he was much better on the Milton Berle Show than on Steve Allen's. My mother shares this opinion with me. . . . It is also my opinion that if some grown-ups would practice what they teach, entertainers with great ability like Elvis Presley wouldn't be knocked such as he has (been) in the past.

W. B., Los Angeles

Regards to letter (Mrs. J.S. of Bloomington) I don't care who you put on your cover. I buy TV-Radio Life because I want to know what's on TV. The best story ever to run in TV-Radio Life was by Evelyn Bigsby on James Dean. That's one issue I would have bought even if I didn't have a TV.

E. Q., Long Beach

I am a great fan of TV-Radio Life and I am wondering why your paper doesn't give a plug to some very good programs that I enjoy very much. I consider Big Town with Mark Stevens one of the best—well written and acted. Another one I like is San Francisco Beat and Private Secretary.

We do our best to cover the entire TV-Radio scene. It isn't easy to please everyone, but we try. San Francisco Beat is the re-run of Line-Up. Watch for cover and feature coming soon on this.

Mrs. M. D., Spring Valley

In answer to Mrs. J.S., Bloomington: We were at the Del Mar Fair—the grandstand was packed and it was Lawrence Welk, in person. He was there two days and in the evenings it was the same. Actually people sitting on the railing and the applause was terrific. Why can't one write praise or nothing? No one is obliged to watch programs.

D. D., Glendale

I would like to compliment Channel 13 and Harbor Lincoln-Mercury for the fine presentation of the movie, "Home of the Brave." I enjoyed it very much. I also enjoyed the minimum of commercials that were presented by the sponsors. There should be more like them.

M. J., Los Angeles

Tune in on Jack Rourke's Partyline on KABC radio. Finest program at midnight. At 2 a.m. you'll crawl into bed and have the best night's sleep you've ever had.

Only Top Thirty Tunes on KLAC

Radio station KLAC has scored another impressive "first," in its long series of promotions, with the announcement, concurrent with its Tenth Anniversary, of a public warranty pledging the airing of only the "thirty top tunes and memories too."

Programming of "thirty top tunes and memories too," came into being as the result of a year survey undertaken by station proxy Mortimer Hall, which determined, according to Hall, "that the majority of listeners wanted to hear only the best selling records and an occasional standard of yesterday. So from now on, KLAC will present ONLY these top records around the clock. In this manner every listener will know what he can expect in the way of programming, from our station."

A leader in radio promotion since the inception of its music-news-sports format, the "Big Five" deejays, singing station breaks, and star-name breaks, KLAC has been instrumental in setting the pattern nationally for independent radio.

Hall anticipates some expression of displeasure from a minority listening group that favors rhythm and blues, country music, and western songs. "But," he adds, "if any of these records reach the top thirty in popularity, they will be strongly programmed, regardless of the element of music they represent."

PENNY AND CHRISTOPHER

Pretty Penny Carroll, featured on our cover this week, also guested this past Thursday on Christopher Scott's popular KABC night-time program. Quite a pleasant and pulchritudinous twosome, especially for likely bachelors around town. Penny and Christopher are both eligible in the marriage department. On the air, it was strictly showbiz chatter.

The Sound and Mr. Koury

By Bill Kelsay

"This is an age of economy in music."

So says Rex Koury, director of music for ABC's Western Division and composer of "Old Trail," the vivid theme used on both the radio and TV versions of Gunsmoke on CBS-KNX and KNXT.

Gunsmoke also remains one of the few radio programs that retain "live" music in the format. All the bridges and mood settings are composed and conducted by Koury with a crew of but six men.

"Last year when the Boston Pops Orchestra was in Los Angeles for a concert, some of their musicians told me they always listened to Gunsmoke," Koury recalls. "They were fascinated by the orchestral effects we achieve with such a small group."

"When I am composing for the program, I actually write for a full orchestra, then condense the score down to what we can handle. If I were a writer, I'd probably be working for Reader's Digest," the trim-looking musician smiles.

"We have established a definite sound pattern for Gunsmoke, and each week after a conference with the director, Norman MacDonnell, I digest the script and then try to project myself into the story."

He composes first "out of his head," without a piano, feeling that the basic theme or idea for a piece of music must first be visualized and put on paper before a single note is sounded. Only then does he go to a piano to plot the harmonic structure.

Gunsmoke is only one part of his activities. He supervises all live music for ABC in the West, including the experiments that KABC has been making in stereophonic sound broadcasting.

"But I like the Gunsmoke assignment," he declares. "It is a challenge. We use a guitar and accordion because they are popularly western instruments. We added a French horn to them because it has an open sound. Its tone brings to mind the wide and unfettered spaces of the old West. And finally, of course, we use the percussive sounds for dramatic effect and punctuation."

Some time ago in moving Jerry Friedman's kettle drums from one studio to another, one of them ended up with a huge dent in the side. Friedman was understandably upset, but someone playfully experimented on the dent with a pair of drumsticks. It gave out a weird and unearthly sound that fascinated Koury—and ever since he has included it in the score.

On the subject of music as a career, Koury is somewhat pessimistic. There are now 16,000 professional musicians in Los Angeles, he points out, and only 3500 of them are working steadily.

"Unless you have an unusual combination of traits," he advises, "don't plan on making a living from music."

These he lists as "creative ability, outstanding playing ability, a happily aggressive personality—and exceptionally good contacts in high places."

Koury himself was a professional musician at the age of 15 when he played the pipe organ in a movie house in Elizabeth, N. J. His English parents had brought him to America when he was three years old from his birthplace in Khartoum, Egypt, where his father was a British circuit judge.

Handsome enough to work before the cameras rather than behind them, Koury was married in 1938 to Georgia Leath, a fine radio vocalist, and they now have a six-month-old daughter, Georgette Laurice, nicknamed "Gigi."

"Music is one of the greatest pleasures of mankind—it's the universal language, the 'Esperanto' of the world," he says.

"When you're tired, if you can sit down, turn on your hi-fi and understand the structure of a great composition, you will find it one of the most refreshing experiences in the world."

"That, I think, is the key to the richest possible life—the understanding of fine music."

How Fury Is Trained

Ralph McCutcheon, owner of Fury who plays under his own name in the NBC show, Fury, shows that it's not so difficult to teach a horse a few tricks. If you know what you're doing, of course.

◀ MCCUTCHEON TEACHES FURY to rear. He does this trick from off stage and by voice. Fury has to do this in fights with other horses in the NBC-KRCA series.

▲ GOOD MANNERS for a horse in TV are important because then it will react on cue and not hold up production. Ralph McCutcheon gets underneath Fury to prove the horse is not nervous and can respond to direction.

▼ TEACHING A HORSE TO KNEEL and remain in that position until ordered out of it is not easy, but Ralph has no trouble with Fury. (NBC photos—Herb Ball)

▲ ANY HORSE TRAINER will tell you that making a horse lie down and play dead is not easy. Ralph has trained Fury so he can do this any time he gives the horse the word. Ralph never uses a whip in training. He merely raises and lowers his voice.

▼ THE DAY'S WORK IS OVER and Fury gets a treat for being such a good student. The NBC-TV show is attracting more and more attention.

TV's Latest Craze: "Portable TV"

"Portable TV" is not like "portable radio." There are a lot of differences. Here are facts and figures, the advantages and disadvantages on this latest buying boom in the TV world. Before you buy one, read this article.

By Ted Hilgenstuhler

IT WAS inevitable. It took time. But it's finally here: the big craze for "portable TV" has finally hit the buying public.

Starting about four months ago, all major companies had portable sets on the market. Each week newer and better models are coming out.

In order to clear up a lot of misunderstanding about this latest buying vogue, and to help our readers who may be contemplating the purchase of such a set, here are some pertinent facts and suggestions on "portable TV" sets:

Contrary to what a lot of people believe, a "portable TV" set does not have the same maneuverability as a "portable radio." TV beams follow a straight line. Radio waves bend with the surface of the earth. For this, as well as other reasons, TV stations cannot cover as great an area as radio.

A portable radio is great for the beach, for a picnic, for any out-of-the-way place. A portable TV set is not. The word "portable" for television refers mainly to the size and weight of the machine. It is portable to the extent that it can be carried from one room to another in the same house, or from one house to another. It can even be taken on business trips. However, no matter where the set is taken, certain essentials are required in order to get proper reception.

"Portable" Requirements

First, the current. All sets, except for one model put out by the Emerson company, require an AC electrical outlet. As yet, portable TV sets can not be operated on batteries, such as portable radios are.

A portable TV set also requires an antenna, the same as any average set. In the order of feasibility (and inversely, in the order of "strength of reception"), three types of antennas are used: (1) a built-in antenna; (2) "rabbit ears" or an indoor antenna; (3) the standard outdoor antenna.

Depending on the reception in a certain area, the built-in antenna might work. If not, then the next strongest should be tried: the "rabbit ears." So far, for portable purposes, this type of indoor antenna has been found to be adequate and certainly the best and easiest to carry from room to room, or house to house. If an outdoor antenna is required for adequate reception, the owner can attach a "coupler" to the antenna he has for his regular set, or else set up an entirely new antenna. The main point is: that some sort of antenna must be used to get any kind of reception. And only one kind of the three antennas mentioned can be used. A combination of two or three will not give any added strength to the signal.

Other Facts, Figures

The main reason for name "portable" on TV sets relates to the size and weight. The average sets vary from 26 to 43 pounds (average about 30 pounds) and are about 10 inches high, complete with handles that are very easy to carry from place to place. Thus the name "portable."

They can cost from $110 to $160. Average price: $130. (Without tax.)

Starting in July, when companies such as RCA come out with their latest models, almost every color is available. No color, however, as far as the picture itself is concerned. So far, only "black and white" sets are on the market.

The size of the picture (diagonally) runs from 8½ to 14 inches. UHF can be received, but at an extra charge.

People who own portables say once the proper antenna has been acquired, the picture "is as perfect as on the larger sets." Portable TV is proving to be a blessing for members of the family who don't want to watch what's on the main set. They simply and literally "pick up their portable" and head for another room. Many businessmen take them on business trips and "carry their entertainment" with them, so to speak.

However, if anyone has the idea he would like a "portable TV" to take to the beach or a picnic, or some other place where there's no AC electrical outlet (or where TV reception is utterly impossible in the first place) then he had better take his trusty portable radio along too. Without it, he'll have to provide his own entertainment.

Despite its limitations, "portable TV" will be as common in the average American household as the larger living room set.

The Little Girl With the Big Voice-- And Lots More!

*That's pretty Penny Carroll
—KTLA'S new singing star on the Orrin Tucker show.*

THE POWERFUL AND PLEASING singing voice of Penny Carroll doesn't show in these pictures, but the talent definitely does. Now that she is concentrating completely on her career for the first time in her life (she's been a secretary and model), there's no telling how far the KTLA star will go up the ladder of success.

IT'S REFRESHING to talk to a girl like Penny Carroll, the new singer featured with Orrin Tucker and his KTLA Crystal Tone Orchestra.

She's single, lives alone in her Hollywood apartment. She's pretty and well-proportioned — five feet three, with red hair, green eyes (a sure bet for color TV), and possesses 108 exceptionally well-placed pounds. And working! These things wouldn't make a bachelor reporter prejudiced. No, not much!

Besides these obvious attributes, the 22-year-old songbird has many other fine qualities which add to her stature as both a professional entertainer and a person.

During a TV-Radio Life interview (her first since appearing on television) she was nervous at first and talked a blue streak.

"I like to talk," she said.

A New Yorker by birth, Penny was most enthusiastic about the new apartment she had just moved into.

"Previously, ever since I came to Los Angeles about a year ago, I lived with a girl friend in one of those pull-down-the-bed apartments. I'll have to admit I didn't like it very much. Now I have my own refrigerator and stove and I keep polishing them every day, even if they don't need it. I even have a phone. An honest-to-goodness phone all to myself. Believe me, it's a luxury."

Understandably, and like most kids, Penny took necessities of life for granted when she lived back home in Brooklyn and Manhattan where her father works on Wall Street. She even continued the fairly comfortable life when she was "discovered" by Al Siegal, and toured night clubs and theaters with him back East. She made one of her first public appearances with George Jessel at the Hippodrome Theater in Baltimore. After that, she also appeared in the chorus and as a stand-in for various Broadway musicals. One time she even worked her way as an entertainer on a South American cruise.

Wanted: Four Sons

"But I never really took my singing career seriously until I came here to Los Angeles," she explained. "I'm convinced now that that's what I want: a successful career. I'm also convinced that I can make it.

"Furthermore," she continued, "I want four sons."

"But you don't have a husband yet?" the reporter remarked.

"I'm looking!" she declared emphatically. "Some career girls may not want to admit that. But I certainly do. I think I'll be able to combine a career and marriage very nicely. I think it would be a lot of fun. With my career, and my husband's, we'd have a lot to talk about. We wouldn't get bored with each other. I also think it would help us both to develop ourselves and mature. No, I'm convinced a career won't hinder my marriage."

Little Girl, Big Voice

"I'm not a very good cook, yet. But I'd learn. Right now the only thing I have time for is our KTLA show."

Penny actually got her break when she appeared first on KCOP's Star Rating program and won a contest. Later, she was signed by the same station to appear on Waltz Varieties. That's when Klaus Landsberg of KTLA first spotted her.

He signed her to do Western Varieties for a short time on KTLA. And then when Roberta Linn left Orrin Tucker, Penny became her permanent replacement.

Vocally, Penny (her real name is Joan Cowan) has one problem. She's a little girl with a powerful voice. Specializing in light opera, she has to restrain herself when singing strictly "pop" numbers.

Keep an eye on this girl (now that shouldn't be any strain whatsoever). She has the potentiality in every way to become a real big star in the musical world. She just needs the right breaks and the right handling.

So far, with her appearance on KTLA, she's started in the right direction: UP.

Matinee Theater

THE GREENER PASTURE

Ganny Albert McCleery is finding many musical stars anxious to appear on his dramatic shows. Here Dorothy Kirsten tells why she made the switch — and why she wants to do more of them.

By Bill Kelsay

HUMAN NATURE being what it is, the other pasture always looks a bit more enticing than the one we are in. In show business, there is a whole category of jokes about the comedian who longs to play "Hamlet," the tragedian who yearns to do slapstick.

Albert McCleery, executive producer of NBC-KRCA's five-a-week Matinee Theater, is just shrewd enough to take advantage of this human quirk. He has been able to feature some of the most glamorous names in the business on his show, at comparatively low fees, because an artist's ambition is a many-sided thing.

He has been most successful in luring these names from the world of music, with Dorothy Kirsten, Helen O'Connell, Dorothy Shay and Ray Anthony all making their dramatic debuts on Matinee Theater—and all asking for more.

Miss Kirsten, in an exclusive TV-Radio Life interview, quite candidly tabbed her starring role in "The Legend of Jenny Lind" as "ambition."

New Experience

"It was a new experience. It was a challenge," she said. "In every medium, the performer must adjust to different action. In opera, you must use wide gestures, for you are actually playing to the balcony. In TV, I realized a wide gesture would sweep clear across the screen. It's difficult to know what to do with your hands.

"You see, I'm the worrying kind," she laughed. "I was just positive that sometime during the show I would look directly into the camera. I'm relieved to be able to say I didn't.

"And I'm fussy about details. In the Matinee Theater costume changes, I insisted on having different jewelry for each change. I would have been happier if we had been able to change hair-dos, too, but there just wasn't time between scenes, so I finally gave up worrying about that."

Systematic

Despite being a worrier, Miss Kirsten claims to be a rational rather than an emotional individual. She likes things "systematic and fixed ahead." The day of the interview, she interrupted her moving into a new home in Palos Verdes before taking off for concert appearances in Puerto Rico. The entire operation had been planned in detail. "If it weren't," she declared, "I couldn't go. I simply couldn't!"

This trait of thoroughly planning a course of action, whether it's moving to a new house or preparing for a new role, seems to be ingrained in the lovely blonde star's make-up. Whenever she essays a new character, she studies the person she is playing, not just her lines. Matinee Theater was no exception. It is likely she did as much research on the Swedish nightingale as the staff assigned to that department.

She is scheduled to open the San Francisco Opera season in September as "Manon Lescaut," and to premiere the Los Angeles season also in Puccini's opera in October. But, she says, "I am beginning to feel an unrest in opera. With Matinee I had a taste of something wonderful. It was a new experience, and I liked it, in spite of the pressure. You know, live television is nicknamed 'pressure,' but I work best then. I think, too, that a person's real character comes out under pressure.

"I find now that I am watching TV more critically, because I am frankly quite anxious to do more of it. I should like to play a great strong woman—good or bad. Someone like Madame Butterfly or Violette in 'Manon.' That sort of a character, without the music. I want to do a role that is strictly dramatic.

"If I were given my choice in any part, I think I should like to do 'Carmille.' She is a glamorous person, one who goes through a great big change of character. She would be a real challenge."

Miss Kirsten was thoughtful a moment.

"Come to think of it," she mused, "that would be a wonderful story for Matinee Theater. Don't you think so?"

Yes, we think so. But you'll have to ask Mr. McCleery.

ALBERT McCLEERY, as executive director of Matinee Theater has called on his knowledge of human nature to get big-name stars—at reduced fees.

What Makes Him So Hot?

Dick Whittinghill has emerged as one of TV's promising new personalities.

By Mildred Ross

SCENE FROM DRAGNET EPISODE which featured Dick Whittinghill Jack Webb and Ben Alexander seem to be enjoying one of Dick's humorous anecdotes.

WITHOUT the benefit of a high-pressured publicity campaign, the public has finally caught on to Dick Whittinghill. They are aware now as never before of his humor—his talent for doing crazy things, his frankness, boyish manner and wholesome charm.

One of his claims to fame is his honesty—he's a deejay without a record collection—a paid-up dues member kind of a joiner—he says he's lazy — hates pomposity — and loves to have a good time.

Dick has always been a personality kid. Invariably, he was president of his class and active in the dramatics clubs at school. It was his insatiable desire to have fun that flunked him out of college one term. Don't misunderstand, "Whit" was never a juvenile delinquent but he loved to spend more time with his orchestra (he plays a mean trumpet) than with his studies.

"Whit's" predilection for humor makes him a bit of a practical joker. He'll place long-distance calls anywhere and at any hour. Once he phoned Moosejaw, Saskatchewan, just to be able to say that he spoke to someone in that remote region. He prefers pursuing this to becoming a "ham" operator. "It takes too much learning to be a 'ham,'" he says in self-defense.

The New Yorker is scrutinized each week by witty "Whit." His favorites are S. J. Perelman, cartoonist Charles Addams and Virgil Partch. The off-mike and off-camera voices Dick uses on his KMPC and KTTV programs reflect his love for the nonsensical and whimsy.

Blue-eyed, curly-haired Whittinghill is a happy-go-easy kind of a guy who "claims" he's the boss at home. "I met my wife Wilamet at college and before she could launch her career as a dancer I convinced her that being Mrs. Whittinghill was far more important.

"In a way I suppose I played a dirty trick on 'Willy.' She loves to dance and I can't even do a simple waltz. 'Willy' is more than my greatest critic. She knows my limitations—it's certainly difficult to be objective about ourselves—and advises me accordingly. As a matter of fact, her judgment about performers and programs is very astute.

"After many years of marriage, our family came along rather late and I'm not the least bit hesitant to say that I'm a doting father to our two youngsters, Nora and Willy. Getting up at 4:30 in the morning for my KMPC show isn't painful at all when I look about the house and see what a wonderful family I have. It makes me wake up on the sunny side."

Celeb Fans

People from all walks of life listen to Whittinghill's early-morning program. Some of the celebrities who are regulars include Jack Webb, Jane Wyman, Bing Crosby, Tennessee Ernie, Dean Martin and George Gobel. "The first dramatic role I ever had on television came as a result of Webb listening to my program. It was the most exciting thing that ever happened to me professionally," Dick confessed.

"And it's more than a coincidence that TV-Radio Life was also a contributing factor in my TV emoting. Your magazine had a profile story on Webb in which you reported that my radio program woke him up each morning. The dial was set for Whittinghill on his radio clock. I was so pleased when I read this that I sent him a note thanking him for the kind plug.

"It started a chain of circumstances which finally evolved in my playing the role of a deejay in a Dragnet episode. The reaction to my performance was overwhelming and I have some promising opportunities for other dramatic roles. And all because I sent a thank you note. How lucky can a guy get!"
