Dwayne Hickman is one of the surest bets for stardom in a long time. His delightful portrait of teen-age 'Chuck' on Bob Cummings' show makes him the idol of young adults.

Keep Your Eye On This Guy!

By Jack Holland

BOB CUMMINGS is the greatest guy in the business, as far as Dwayne Hickman is concerned. Dwayne plays the energetic "Chuck" on Bob's CBS-KNXT show. (CBS photo—Gabor Rona.)

WHILE TV has certainly not been aggressive in its attempt to discover new talent, there is always an exception to the case. The big exception is Dwayne Hickman.

Dwayne is the personable "Chuck" of the Bob Cummings Show on CBS-TV and he is already the delight of the teen-age set. When he went to Joplin, Missouri, recently to help celebrate Bob Cummings Day he was literally and figuratively mobbed. The kids did everything but tear his clothes off him in their enthusiasm. It took no seer to see that, given the right exploitation, Dwayne is just about the hottest newcomer to hit TV in a long time.

Dwayne, who is 21, is a quiet, unassuming kid who is still a bit dazed by finding himself so much in the limelight. Yet, he's taking it in his stride. He even lives at home instead of in an apartment—and he has no intention of moving away from the fireside until he gets married. That, incidentally, is not in his present plans.

"Why should I move?" Dwayne asked. "I love my family—and, besides, I can save money this way."

Practical

"I am my own business manager but I do keep a careful check on what I earn and the investments I make. I studied business economics at Loyola University and I liked working with figures so I decided my knowledge of finances was as good as anybody's.

"I'm careful with what I earn, yes, in that I try to save about 60 percent of my salary, but I'm not too careful. I just don't live very big. I do buy what clothes I need—and they're my biggest extravagance—and I have a new convertible. I also can't resist buying shoes, every style from the conservative to the real odd beat ones like one pair I have which is on the order of a sandal with just a strap on top.

"As for my social life, that's kept at a minimum, especially when I work. Sure I have dates, and I usually like going to a 50 cent movie but there are occasions when I really splurge. When I dine at the fancier places I have to confess I always look at the right side of the menu, though, since I don't believe in going hog-wild."

Dwayne has lived in Hollywood long enough to see how fast money can slip through a young fellow's fingers, and since he is looking towards a secure future he is being practical—and yet having fun.

"I do love going to the theater or seeing an outstanding nightclub act," Dwayne went on, "but movies are my pets. I also get a kick out of watching TV, and I don't say that just because I happen to be on TV. The rest of the time I spend playing golf and tennis, reading and listening to records. I especially get the message of jazz music, Dixieland in particular."

Dwayne has a sister, Deirdre, 16, who has no interest in acting at all. It was his brother, Darryl, who inspired him to be an actor.

"He was in pictures before I was," Dwayne commented with real pride,

"and I have always thought he was so good I wanted to be like him. He just completed a good role in 'Tea and Sympathy' at MGM.

"My getting on the Bob Cummings Show was my biggest break. I had worked with Bob in a picture back in 1948, so when my agent sent me over to see Bob, Paul Henning, the writer-producer of the show, and George Burns about a spot on the series I didn't feel too much like an outsider. However, I was really surprised when I got the part of 'Chuck.'

Owes Bob Much

"Bob has been of tremendous help to me. I owe him a great deal. Without his advice and interest I couldn't have done the part. He has taught me so much about comedy timing, about where to punch for the laughs. In fact, I've learned a great deal about acting in general from Bob. He is the greatest.

"I'm very serious about my career. It's the big thing in my life now, and it's the main reason why I can't think of anything like marriage. Maybe when I'm 26 or 27 I might feel different."

Dwayne is more than happy just to go on being "Chuck" in the Bob Cummings Show. In fact, he has become so associated with the role that people often call him "Chuck" automatically. He even claims that his own mother is very much like Rosemary DeCamp on the show.

You often hear the term, "A star is born," and often it sounds like a corny cliché. In Dwayne Hickman's case, you can't laugh off the phrase. It just happens to be true.

Sunday Night Feud—Can Allen Outsmart Sullivan?

The favorite pastime seems to be to kick Ed Sullivan off his pedestal. But the genial emcee doesn't seem at all worried about his competition.

By Jack Holland

◀ ED SULLIVAN travels all over the world to get exclusives for his CBS-TV show. While in Paris he filmed a sequence with Tony Curtis and Burt Lancaster who were in the city making "Trapeze."

KATE SMITH, after being out of the limelight for some time, made a sensational return on Ed's program. And she still wowed 'em. ▶

FOR some time, NBC-TV and the rest have been trying to find the magic key to beating Ed Sullivan on Sunday nights. Everything has been tried with no luck. Now—they prayerfully hope that Steve Allen is the answer.

The only guy not really worried at all is Ed Sullivan.

For eight years, a record in itself, Ed has gone ahead doing a job that has built for him millions of loyal viewers. He has continually tried to give his public better shows, never once letting down in his efforts. He plans to go right on with this system.

I caught up with Ed via a long distance call at his farm in Southbury, Connecticut. He had managed to be at home for a few days, a rare thing what with all of his travels to line up acts for his show on CBS-TV.

Allen α Worry?

"Am I worried about Steve Allen?" Ed stated, repeating my question. "No. Allen is a good showman, NBC will give him all kinds of help, they're prepared to give me a fight, but I'm not getting any ulcers about this new competition.

"The fact that I'm not worried does not mean I intend to be complacent. I've never had that kind of attitude. Several months before it was announced that Steve would get the spot opposite me I had already lined up enough acts to insure a full summer schedule. And I have enough top flight attractions now to carry me through until November at least.

"For instance, I went to St. George, Utah, not long ago and filmed a whole sequence with Clark Gable on the set of his picture. When this is used on my show, it will mark Clark's TV debut. Prior to that I had gone to Paris to get Burt Lancaster and Tony Curtis and Gina Lollobrigida on film. That one has already been seen. Ingrid Bergman will also make her TV debut for us in the fall. I got to her when I was in Paris where she was making 'Anastasia.' I even went to Japan when Marlon Brando was there for 'Teahouse of the August Moon.' He will be on the fall schedule, as will Rita Hayworth. I had to go to Trinidad to get her.

"This traveling is necessary to get acts that will have importance and will keep a show alive. You can't discount the value of names and you have to get them any way you can. But more than just mere names, I believe you have to keep giving the public something fresh and alive with an element of the unexpected. No one quite knows what to expect from our show—and this has helped. I've had one other advantage too—this is a one-man operation. I have complete leeway. If I want to do something on my show, I do it.

"I don't mean that I do everything. I have a really wonderful staff which works with me on lining up acts and doing interviews. Incidentally, this business of getting together performers is a job that never ends. As a matter of fact, right here on the farm I'm working on a show.

Helpers

"Gene Bombard and Carmen Santullo are two of my most valuable aids. Carmen's duties are restricted solely to the show and he does a great job, as does Gene. Marlo Lewis, Ray Bloch, and Johnny Wray work at our office in taking care of the various details and they are invaluable in their assistance. Then there are Bob Tamplin, who is assistant director in charge of timing of the acts, Jim Drummon, his assistant, Nelson Baume, our scenic designer, Rae MacGregor, who is Johnny Wray's wife and our choreographer, Jack Babb of the agency, and Gene Schrott from CBS. They all pitch in to keep our show in a top spot. With their help, it will stay there."

Ed admitted that it was no easy deal to keep in a top spot. The pressure becomes slightly terrific, and yet Ed seems to work best under pressure. He has, however, cut down on the number of newspaper columns he does a week. At present he is writing only two because there just wasn't enough time for more.

"It's a lot easier to be the challenger," Ed went on. "Even the publicity favors the guy who is trying to knock off the leader. Getting new talent and new ideas is the toughest job, and yet finally you get things riding for you. We're in a pretty good spot now, though, because we're in somewhat of the same position as Jack Benny and his radio show were. People get in the habit of tuning us in as they did Jack, but even I was a little surprised when some weeks ago I did a regular Army show against Bob Hope's tremendous array of stars and still beat him in the ratings. I've had another indication too of how our show is being received. We started this new Mercury contest and the company had to make up 2,000,000 more entry blanks just a couple of weeks after the contest was announced to take care of the demand.

"I believe that the public has now become convinced that Sunday after Sunday they would get top entertainment on our show—and that's why they're so loyal. They've been disappointed with some of the shows offered by NBC, so they would rather not fool around.

"I have never underrated the inherent good taste and the intelligence of the TV public. You hear a lot of talk about this 12 year old mentality level. This is not so. They have really the intelligence of a Bernard Baruch. One thing is certain—they're far ahead of you and nothing you can dream up for them will they fail to appreciate. I've gone high-brow on occasions by doing some opera or presenting some highly intellectual dramatic scene—and they have loved it all. Recently, we presented this English film about the A-Bomb. It was harrowing and a little gruesome but the public, according to the mail we received, were greatly moved by it.

"It's not a matter of playing down to the public—you have to be sure they're not reaching down trying to help you. This is something some TV producers are inclined to forget."

During Ed's eight years he has, of course, made mistakes but he also has some wonderful memories. He loves to turn back the years and recall a few of those moments.

"I made a lot of mistakes in the early years of TV," Ed said honestly. "For one thing, I let acts stay on too long. Now I believe we have more pace to the show. The secret of TV is to hold your audience's attention and the best way to do that is to put on a show with terrific pace.

"Of all the stars we've had on our show, some stand out as being among the most effective. The Burt Lancaster-Tony Curtis skit got great response because people were glad to see a couple of stars really come prepared to do something. Burt and Tony rehearsed the act for four weeks before ever coming to New York. Gary Cooper and Rod Steiger were also very effective in their scene from 'The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell.' Certainly one of the highlights of our show was Alfred Lunt in 'There Shall Be No Night.' For my money, this stands as the greatest dramatic moment on TV. Then there were Helen Hayes' and Oscar Hammerstein's appearances. And certainly no one can forget the memorable night when Josh Logan appeared and told, quite unexpectedly, about his experience in a mental hospital and how he was cured. This brought forth probably the greatest outpouring of mail from the public. Doctors even wrote in and said that at least 14 states that had been niggardly about giving help to mental cases had reversed their attitude after hearing Logan and offered to give more attention to such cases.

"It is instances like these that make our show different. We try to give something for everybody, and I hope we continue to do just that."

Ed Sullivan left out one point—his own personality, his refusal to be a typical "I'm-so-clever" emcee has been of help too. People like to watch a guy who is not trying to be the whole show.

He'll stay on top—because he is never guilty of believing that the public will take just anything. With him, it's the best for his audience. He'll never toss them crumbs.

Steve Allen's Answer to Ed Sullivan

EVERYONE seems to regard the Steve Allen-Ed Sullivan deal as a big contest. Each week the ratings on the two shows are watched avidly by all and sundry. Those favoring Steve line up against those favoring Ed. It's almost as though the two men were running for President.

Steve Allen, in discussing the situation, somehow didn't take the view that this was all a big contest.

No Contest

"I don't believe the public sees this as a contest," he remarked. "After all, the only thing that counts is that we do a good show. If we don't, you can be sure we won't last too long.

"This new program certainly isn't my biggest challenge. Every show is a challenge to me, as is every new endeavor—writing, acting, composing. I would like to stress one fact—I'm not out to 'beat' Ed or to force him off TV."

This may come as a surprise to those who have tried to build up a feud between Sullivan and Allen. The picture has been drawn in some quarters of a couple of guys who were so intent on squaring off at each other that all they needed was a ring and a pair of gloves to really battle it out.

"There is no feud between Ed and myself," Steve insisted. "We are good friends and both of us feel that there's plenty of room on TV for two good shows at the same time.

"Nor is there any competition between the two shows for acts or personalities. There are plenty of comedians, singers, and actors to go around.

"I think Ed has now and has always had a top show. Since mine is a different type, we hope to attract a different group of viewers. I often saw Ed's show before mine started. I admired him and what he did, and I still do.

"I'm only out to gain a share of the audience—not to take over. To do that, I simply intend to do the best I can to do a solid job. We don't use acts, as such, on the program. We book personalities, such as Sammy Davis, Jr., Imogene Coca, or Jack Palance, and then we work them into skits or sketches or musical numbers. Ours is basically a comedy show. Ed's is basically a variety show."

Steve's Aim

And that's Steve Allen's answer to all the talk. Because he is interested more in doing the best he can than he is in knocking Ed off the ladder, he is able to work under less pressure. Steve is now and always has been a perfectionist, so his main challenge is to prove to himself that he can deliver the goods. This apparently he is doing because his new NBC-TV show is the first one in a long time to make any kind of a showing against Ed's powerhouse. Steve will not let either NBC or himself down. Beyond that, he's making no long-range predictions or allowing himself to be overly concerned about the demon of TV—ratings.

ELVIN PRESLEY'S appearance on Steve Allen's NBC-TV show boosted the ratings. Steve plans on an array of big names too.

WORTHINGTON (TONY) MINER'S newest production for TV is the standout dramatic show, Kaiser Aluminum Hour on NBC-TV.

Just when you think there's nothing new for TV along comes Worthington (Tony) Miner with an original approach to an old idea. No wonder he's had nothing but hits.

THERE WAS a good deal of talk in all kinds of circles recently when Paul Newman appeared in the premiere show of the Kaiser Aluminum Hour, "Army Game." Most of the comments tagged this offering as a standout in TV drama.

But what was the Kaiser Aluminum Hour? The new NBC-TV dramatic show came around at a time when the video lanes were jammed with hour-long dramas. You could conceivably think that the last thing TV fans needed was another such show.

However, behind the reins of the Kaiser Aluminum Hour was producer Tony Miner, one of the really great talents in TV, and a man who has waltzed into more tricky fields than anyone in the medium.

Tony Miner

Tony has been behind such dramatic stalwarts as Studio One, Medic, Frontier, and others. He has brought his own individual stamp of expert production to many shows. In some cases he has been a little ahead of his time, such as was the case with Frontier which didn't last as long as had been hoped. Another pilot called Challenge never was picked up. And yet this was one of the most remarkably original and stimulating shows this writer had ever seen.

Tony is now back in New York devoting his full time to his new dramatic productions. And, as to be expected, he is going to steer clear of the trite and the ordinary as much as possible.

He Likes It Tough

By Jon Bruce

THE PREMIERE SHOW of the new dramatic series was "Army Game," which starred the bright new star, Paul Newman. With Newman here is Edward Andrews. The play was a resounding hit.

In doing his shows live, Tony has already insisted he would attempt a rather revolutionary thing—he's going to take his cameras out of the studio instead of using filmed shots. This is really a departure in TV live shows. For one program, he hopes to do a pickup from an airplane landing field. For another, he's planning to do a pickup from a garage. Why do all this when it would be so simple to integrate a filmed shot?

"The answer is simple," Tony explained. "I think the quality of film is inferior to live shots."

And that takes care of that. Not that Tony is "agin" film entirely. After all, his Medic and Frontier were filmed. It's just that when he's doing a show live he wants it breathing on its own and not through a can.

In addition to his off-beat theories for the Kaiser Aluminum Hour, Tony will probably startle both his sponsor and a few viewers with some of the shows he has in mind to do. He intends to cover every conceivable field—even musicals—with very likely some "loaded" gems in the lineup. The more controversial the story the better Tony will like it.

This genial man is one person who came into TV with a very real desire to make some outstanding contributions. Since his first entrance into the field in 1939 when he left the Theater Guild to become manager of program development for CBS Television, he has done a notable job. His first efforts were developing and producing The Goldbergs, the early Toast of the Town shows, Mr. Imagination, and Studio One. Since then he has piled up one hit after another.

Tony is married to Frances Fuller, and they have three children—Peter, 23, Margaret, 15, and Mary Elizabeth, 12.

"You may note one other change in our show," Tony stated. "We're not going to have three acts—just two. Cutting an hour program into three acts is senseless for the most part and is awkward as far as the development of a play is concerned. I have never believed in being bound by so-called rules or formats."

Just to prove how enterprising and daring Miner is and how much he likes a tough job, in some parts of the country his show is slotted opposite The $64,000 Question. Most people would consider this suicide. Not Tony Miner. He simply says, "Sure it's rugged competition, but we've got some bright ideas too. And we've a great team."

His team consists of Franklin Schaffner, who directed "Caine Mutiny Court Martial"; Fielder Cook, who directed "Patterns"; and George Roy Hill, remembered for his work in "A Night to Remember."

TV Used at "Point of Sale"

The May Company in downtown Los Angeles has just completed an experiment using a closed-circuit network which may start a new trend in using TV as a selling medium at "the point of sale."

Up to now, TV has been a great advertising medium in the American home. The Fiberglas Color TV Cavalcade, with 20 color sets located at strategic places throughout the store, demonstrated that TV can also be used effectively right in the store while the shopper is definitely in a buying mood.

The color quality, incidentally, on the Dumont-leased equipment, was as good, if not better, than the color transmitted over the airwaves. One of the most unusual aspects was the fact that the "studio" itself at the May Company was almost in total darkness—while the colors themselves, particularly the yellows and oranges, showed up quite brilliantly on the screen.

Philosophy and TV

Dr. Ernest Holmes, founder of Science of Mind, begins a series of TV lectures next Sunday, September 2, on KTLA, Channel 5. The 30-minute program will be seen regularly at 10 p.m.

Non-denominational in character, the lectures are designed to aid viewers in shaping their philosophy of life. Hugh Brundige will be the announcer and a vocal group and organist Irma Glen will present inspirational music. Wally Ramsay will produce the series.

Welk Tours

The champagne music makers of ABC-TV's The Lawrence Welk Show will leave their Los Angeles headquarters for a two-part nine-city tour following their telecast of Saturday, September 1. Tour cities are St. Paul, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Cedar Rapids, Omaha, Milwaukee, Des Moines and Memphis.

Game of the Week

The Cleveland Indians will host the Chicago White Sox in the Baseball Game of the Week over CBS, Saturday, September 8. Pre-game color will be described by "Dizzy" Dean and his sportscasting partner, Buddy Blattner, from Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

Tom Ewell in Double

Tom Ewell, star of the Broadway play and film hit, "The Seven-Year Itch," plays a dual role in "The Case of Mr. Palham" on Alfred Hitchcock Presents, Sunday, September 2.

Liberation of Paris

For those who missed the event in person—or its first showing—You Are There will present the liberation of Paris on Sunday, September 2, with Walter Cronkite as anchor man covering the fighting and the Allied entry into Paris.

In case the memory still lingers of the Republican convention in San Francisco's Cow Palace, many viewers may still be haunted as to how come the convention building was called such.

Well, it seems the arena was built in 1935 as "The Livestock Pavilion of Agricultural District No. 1A," as unhandy a name as could be devised. And so thought one Bay Area reporter who dubbed it The Cow Palace, which we think is a pretty apt name despite the bull thrown recently.

Bach on TV

According to plans now in the works by television producer Howard Welsh, TV viewers are in store for a musical feast of composers' lives and their music. Titled Masters of Music, the series of 16 feature-length color films will initially be presented as hour TV spectaculars. Subsequently they will be released for theater showing.

Deems Taylor, noted composer and critic, will serve as commentator. Nicholas Ray has been set as director of the first four pictures based on the lives of Bach, Liszt, Brahms and Beethoven.

Noted musical names such as Alfred Wallenstein, Isaac Stern, Artur Schnabel, Nathan Milstein and Gregor Piatigorsky are being negotiated to appear and play in the series.

Screenplays are now being written on the lives of Dvorak, Grieg, Haydn, Mendelssohn, Mozart, Paganini, Saint-Saens, Wagner, Verdi, Berlioz and Schubert.

Assignment: India

The NBC-TV Assignment: India, full-hour color show filmed on location last year with Chester Bowles, former U. S. ambassador to India, is being honored with showings at the Edinburgh Festival and the Venice Film Festival. The film had its premiere on NBC last Thanksgiving Day and was repeated on Christmas. It has since been telecast by both the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Hitchcock Directs

Alfred Hitchcock has just completed filming "Wet Saturday" for fall release on his Alfred Hitchcock Presents. It is one of the few teleplays that Hitchcock will personally direct for the series. "Wet Saturday" stars Cedric Hardwicke, who, incidentally, has expressed a preference that the "Sir" be dropped from his name in print.

Also for the CBS-Hitchcock thriller series, Jessica Tandy has completed "Toby," which features Robert H. Harris.

Spy Stuff

The James Mason starrer, "Five Fingers," is being re-filmed for TV on CBS' 20th Century-Fox Hour. Retitled "Operation Cicero," the World War II spy story stars Peter Lorre, Maria Riva and Ricardo Montalban.

What has become of Ralph Story?

Good news: according to our information, Ralph is the new emcee of the popular quiz show, The $64,000 Challenge.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. R., Ontario

Gunsmoke is our favorite program and we think the young man who plays the role of "Chester" is tops. Although we like everyone in it, it is our opinion he makes the show what it is.

D. M. H., Pasadena

Hal March in my opinion was great on a recent Spectacular show, and he ought to have more of a chance to show his talents.

I. D. L., Santa Barbara

I think your ideas expressed in a recent feature story on re-runs on TV are wrong. First, a joke is only funny the first time you hear it, and that's true of Groucho Marx, I Love Lucy, and Burns & Allen. Secondly, TV material is too trashy to bear repetition.

Mrs. G. W. A., Long Beach

We are really fed up with the loud-voiced commercials. If a salesman came to our door and yelled like they do on TV—I would call the police.

R. M., Orange

One evening we counted 16 numbers on the Welk show. Without a doubt this is the best musical production on the air.

H. G., Redlands

We love Elvis Presley the way he used to be. As for the Steve Allen Show, it was terrible. Come on, Elvis, be yourself!

It will be interesting to see how the much-publicized Presley acts on his Ed Sullivan appearances.

Mrs. G. Duffield, Lomita

Are we forgetting that our TV sets would be worthless were it not for sponsors of programs?

I enjoy many of the commercials, especially Ford's "Had it long?" Have never tired of it.

D. B. M., Yucaipa

Many of us are sick of watching murder and lust movies on TV. Can't we have more comedy and metaphysical pictures?

L. L., San Fernando

I am now living in the state of Montana, but my sister-in-law sends me TV-Radio Life regularly. I will be back in California shortly.

There is one person I do miss up here and that's Doye O'Dell. He is my favorite.

WE ARE GETTING MORE "PRO" THAN "anti" Levant letters. An especially interesting one: "I'll admit as a 'conversation piece' his touche would get a little overboard, but never below the belt. I think that's what makes people enjoy clever repartee. He says things you don't think of until after you have gone to bed and turned off the lights. Being a Negro-American, I appreciate the unbiased deference he extends his dusky guests, absolutely no difference in his treatment of them, refers to them as pretty, charming, beautiful whether they are or not, the same as he does the white ones, whether they are or not. No so-called clever cliches to draw attention to the difference in race. . . . I like adult fare. Give us more Oscar Levant."

FROM ANOTHER READER: "I admire Oscar Levant's intelligence, wit, and he is a wonderful pianist. In spite of the late hour I always looked forward to his program. It was most entertaining as a whole. I saw the program in question and saw nothing offensive."

FROM LONG BEACH READER: "Mr. Levant should be on the air."

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT: "I think he is repulsive to look at, smart alecky. I don't think he can maintain his program in good taste because he doesn't know the meaning of good taste. This 'freedom of speech' business can be run into the ground."

"MY HUSBAND AND I," chronicled a Los Angeles woman, "followed his show with much pleasure and enjoyment and were quite indignant when he was taken off the program. We have a dim view of Channel 13 since, especially since they put up with that silly Tom Duggan and his silliest of the silly, Beth Jones. We fully intended to buy carpeting for our new home from Al Terrence, but believe me from now on we won't even read an ad for that company nor look at any show they might present."

I just recently became a fan of TV-Radio Life and I think it's one of the most complete TV magazines.

Mrs. E. W. C., Glendale

I'm with a recent correspondent for keeping "Mr. Magoo" for the kids. If they like him its o.k., but he certainly is a pain in the neck on the "commercials." And he's always popping in at the most exciting moment of the program.

and that he is not at his best and has his troubles, at times, is very apparent, but who has not? Who can safely cast the first stone? How many of us would have a home, or a job, if we were cast out for our off-days? I do not think Mr. Levant's remarks are ever given in the spirit of intentional malice and should be taken with good humor. As for the lewdness of his remarks, that would lie in the state of our own mind. I believe I could find something lewd no matter where I looked and in whatever I might hear—if my mind were so tuned."

FROM MY LITTLE PERCH I think I can see both sides of this Levant hassle. Those who admire him ardently are bitter over demise of the show. But in fairness to station and sponsor, it should be pointed out that channels are licensed by the government and in such role must be responsible guardians of material emanating from their transmitters. It's a squeamish spot to occupy, when you don't know what may blare forth at any moment. So now that the views have been aired, let's relax and hope that some future arrangements to take advantage of Mr. Levant's varied talents may materialize. (Remember the old Information, Please, days?)

RECEIVED LETTERS ALSO on the suggested Ingrid Bergman appearance on the Sullivan show. More were against than for this guesting. But the spirited may relax on this controversy now, too, because it isn't going to happen.

FOR YOU WHO ARE INTERESTED in the August 30 Lux program, "The Wayward Saint," star Liam Redmond was flown over from his native Ireland to re-create the role of Canon Daniel McCoy, which he portrayed on Broadway in 1955. This is big-time stuff when TV wings talent into Hollywood from the earth's four corners.

FINALLY HAD A CHANCE to view one of Wally Cox's new TV films—Hiram Holliday. Think you'll like him in this series. The first show is very fantastic and tongue-in-cheek. Am waiting to catch another to see if the same applies. . . . Former KNX d.j. Ralph Story was rumored replacing Sonny Fox on $64,000 Challenge, but this morning CBS-TV tells me that last word received there had Fox remaining.

BEST AND TIMELIEST CARTOON in last week's New Yorker showed a pompous politico, rear of rostrum, speech in hand, turning to TV technician and asking, "Do I need 'make-up to second a nomination?'"

Label Talk

By TERREA LEA

Not long ago I told you I would be announcing some new products with valuable labels toward premiums at Label Bank. Well, here are two new brands for you to look for. Holly and Hilton's.

I'm sure you've all seen the billboards around town with a picture of a little animal with a piece of cactus in its mouth. The sign says "All It Needs Is Holly Sugar." Well, folks . . . all you need to sweeten up those cakes, pies, and fresh fruit is Holly Sugar. More and more every day the top brand of sugar is Holly and now there is another special reason to buy it.

The complete line of Holly Sugar is now in Label Bank. The box tops from the one pound boxes are worth one point. The bottom of the five pound bag is worth 1 point and the bottom of the 10 pound bag is worth two points. So next time you buy sugar . . . be sure it's Holly . . . and save the label or box top.

The other brand name is Hilton's. Like Oyster Stew? Most folks do. But so many think that it's not good unless it's homemade. Well . . . let me give you a tip. Next time you want oyster stew buy a can of Hilton's. It's prepared from delicious, tender oysters grown in the clean, cool waters of the Pacific Northwest. These finest of oysters are selected and opened at the peak of their season and immediately prepared into this excellent stew, then scientifically canned so that it may be enjoyed every month of the year. The stew is made with whole milk and butter and has that rich homemade flavor we all like so much. And, it's a Label Bank product with the label from the 10 1/2 ounce size worth two points.

And here's something else to try. Hilton's A'la King Sauce with mushrooms, pimentos, and peppers. It can be used with chicken, turkey, tuna, rice . . . all sorts of things. And it makes a delicious sauce for vegetables, gravy or in souffles. So look for this product too and save the label because it's worth two points at Label Bank.

I'll continue to keep you folks posted on new products in this column and on television and radio. Consult the logs in this magazine for time and station.

I'll be making a personal appearance Monday night, September 4 at 7:00 in the evening. It will be at the Safeway located at 6501 E. Spring in Los Altos. I'll have prizes and 50 giant bags of Label Bank products for some lucky people . . . so try to be there and win something for yourself and family.

More news of Label Bank next week. Until then . . . bye for now.

Radio in Review

Forgotten Candidate

Should there be any listener who by this time thinks he has an inside track on presidential nominees and their activities during the conventions, CBS tells us that one Eric Hass made an acceptance speech to the nation in an exclusive broadcast over CBS facilities Tuesday, August 28. Mr. Hass, presidential nominee of the Socialist Labor Party was chosen as the nominee of his party at their convention held in New York early in May.

Reuther Speaks

Walter Reuther, vice president of the AFL-CIO and president of the United Auto Workers, will speak Sunday, September 2 when he will be interviewed by a panel of Washington newspaper correspondents on Face the Nation. He is expected to discuss presidential and vice presidential nominees and labor's stake in the presidential race.

KNX Newcomers

This week KNX introduces two newcomers to its staff. Bob Crane who is taking over morning shows of Ralph Story, and Chick Hearn, sportscaster from WEEK, Peoria, who will handle USC sportscasts for football, and as a member of the KNX sports staff will have his own daily show starting September 3.

Hi-Fi Featured

Music In Hi-Fi, KFVB's new 30-minute program will feature one soon-to-be-released album each Sunday. KFVB's director of operations, Sy Yallen, made the move to the album program because of the tremendous acceptance at this time of package goods in the record business.

Music In Hi-Fi is emceed by Jack Low.

Help Wanted

Job seekers may look for jobs the easy way when Help Wanted takes a bow over KNX on September 3. Scheduled for five days a week from 8:15 to 8:25 a.m., the program will present job openings.

Satire A La Freberg

A study of satire will be presented by Stan Freberg on CBS's Radio Workshop, August 31.

San Fernando Valley Fair

The annual San Fernando Valley Fair at Northridge will be the scene of a series of broadcasts by KBIG Catalina, Thursday, August 30 through Labor Day, Monday, September 3. Program will be heard daily from 2-4 p.m.

Lightweights Tangle

Lightweight Jimmy Soo of Philadelphia risks the longest winning streak in professional boxing—33 straight—when he tangles with Baby Vasquez of Mexico City, Friday, August 31 in the Gillette Cavalcade of Sports bout which will be broadcast on both radio and TV. Vasquez is the lightweight champion of Mexico.

Most Popular for 1956

Tau Kappa Epsilon, a national college fraternity, has chosen Monitor as "The Most Popular Radio Show for 1956," according to a poll taken among the 132 chapters of the fraternity on campuses throughout the nation.

Deep and Sweet

Deep-voiced John Drake of the Modernaires joined sweet-voiced Christopher Scott on her KABC radio show this week. Miss Scott, billed as Hollywood's Most Glamorous Disc Jockey, regularly features outstanding musical guests on her nighttime program.

As most Bob Crosby fans know, John and the Modernaires are regulars on Bob's daytime stint on Channel 2.

Protests Passport Ban

In a recent surprise move the Communist Chinese government lifted a seven-year ban on visits of American news correspondents by cabling offers of visas to 15 United States radio-television, newspaper, news agency and other reporters.

The State Department answered that no exceptions would be made on its long-standing policy of forbidding use of United States passports for travel into Communist China.

Theodore F. Koop, director of News and Public Affairs for CBS, Washington, promptly protested in a letter to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. And his letter, which follows in part, makes awfully good sense.

"Such a trip by trained and competent American reporters would not in any sense indicate approval by the United States government, or any of the news organizations concerned, of the conduct, motives or policies of the Red China regime . . . I do not need to point out that Red Chinese propaganda currently is available to all news media in the United States through the broadcasts of Radio Peiping, Chinese newspapers and other publications, and the reports of newsmen from other nations who are now in Red China. It is our conviction that accurate reports emanating from trusted American newsmen would be superior to the propaganda material to which I refer . . ."

As does everyone—except, perhaps, our State Department.

PICK of the PIX

By Aubrey Dahl

Well, the giant double feature that ran on all networks for two weeks is finally over and all I can say is that one would have been enough. Both of them had the same plot, the same dialogue, the same sets, the same mob of extras and the same message. The only thing different was the cast and the acting was on a par. (Insert golf joke here.)

"The Unsuspected." (5) Sept. 2, 7:30. 1947. This is a pretty good little thriller whose chief suspense lies in just how many murders Claude Rains is going to commit before he's caught. He plays a narrator of murder mysteries who decides to commit the perfect crime and, incidentally, inherit his ward's estate. He kills Audrey Totter. He kills Hurd Hatfield. He kills Constance Bennett—and tries to kill Joan Caulfield and Michael North. This man is a killer. Watch for him.

"Our Wife." (11) Sept. 2, 6:00. Melvyn Douglas is a talented composer who has taken to strong drink and is reformed by the love of a good woman, Ruth Hussey. His ex-wife, Ellen Drew, shows up and tries to win him back by being helpless and dependent and nearly succeeds. Charles Coburn and John Hubbard are around to contribute not very wise cracks to the proceedings, but about the only bright spot in a rather ordinary comedy is Douglas' usual deft performance.

"Canadian Pacific." (9) Beginning Sept. 4, 9:00. 1949. Surveyor and trouble shooter (insert joke of any kind here) Randolph Scott helps get a railroad built by fighting Indians with aplomb (should've used a gun . . . those plombs sometimes don't go off) (Insert joke here to remove taste of joke just inserted) and making love to Jane Wyatt and Nancy Olson. Victor Jory is a bad guy and I liked the Indian fights.

"A Place of One's Own." (7) Sept. 7, Noon. 1949. This first run stars James Mason as a middle-aged, prosperous fellow who buys a house that hasn't been occupied for forty years and moves in with wife Barbara Mullen and companion (for the wife, of course) Margaret Lockwood. They soon begin to hear strange noises, of course, and discover that the place is haunted by the ghost of a young lady whose father drove off her doctor lover years before. Margaret falls in love with a local doctor (clever parallel?) and KTTV's deal with MGM, which gives them some of the greatest pictures ever made, is quite naturally the talk of the town. But there are some aspects of it that remain puzzling. First—with the studios still battling for box office against TV's inroads, why would a major studio sell to TV a product that most assuredly is going to keep people away from the theaters? Why cut their throat in such a neat fashion? The answer seems to be that a good hunk of money changed hands and that MGM has apparently adopted the adage of "If you can't beat 'em, jine 'em." With its 25 percent ownership of KTTV now, MGM has gone in the TV field with no holds barred. What this is going to do to the other studios will be interesting to see.

Some have already claimed this means the movies are really dying. But such is not the feeling among the studios. Good pictures are doing fine at the box-office and will continue to do all right, but mediocre or average movies are going nowhere fast. The motion picture industry is not singing any swan song, in spite of its full embrace of TV. It is working under a new thought process—"give 'em blockbusters or no business."

KTTV, a station with integrity and good sense, will do all in its power to present these movies in their complete form and in a way that will please its public. Whatever the final result, KTTV is going to make a lot of other then falls seriously ill and is near death when the dead girl's dead doctor lover appears in human form and effects a miracle. This one stretched my credulity for some reason . . . I just hope it shrinks when I wish it.

"Man of Conflict." (2) Sept. 7, 5:00. 1953. This little gem presents Edward Arnold as an old style industrialist who fires people like mad, makes his workers grow petunias in their home unions and joins every cartel in sight. Now, everyone knows this kind of tycoon doesn't exist any longer. He is punished, though. His son, John Agar, is a collitch educated liberal who believes everything the old man doesn't and even picks out his own girl to marry. During a night working on a lathe (for some reason . . . insert joke about lather) Arnold remembers the old days, reforms immediately and becomes the merriest, kindest old philanthropist you ever saw. Happens every day.

programs look sick once it starts releasing the films. What a coup this was!

Hildegard has made a few appearances on TV, and she has a loyal following among the sophisticates. She is now at the Cocoanut Grove doing her inimitable act in her inimitable style. She's a most amazing personality in that she has no great voice, she has no great act, and yet she is very popular. The Grove show will more than please her fans because she is a colorful entertainer. With her intimate kind of show, she could be a very interesting TV personality. How come no one has found a format for her yet?

Capitol Records is finding that records made by TV personalities do very well in the sales departments. Jackie Gleason's albums, his latest being "Night Winds," have been consistent sellers. Nat "King" Cole has also done healthy business for Capitol. Margaret Whiting's TV appearances added a boost to her records. Another indication of how far-reaching is the effect of TV on other entertainment mediums.

Idle thought: Ever try to get a financial statement from one of these characters on TV and radio who pretend to be evangelists and have cure-alls for everything? You could get such a statement from your own church, from any reputable and ordained minister, priest, or rabbi. But you'd just get double talk from the others. Also, have you ever asked the "phonies" for a record of the years they spent in seminary in study for the ministry? You'd be surprised how many haven't even gone to school and how easily they were handed the title of "minister." The hucksters wouldn't be so bad except that they tend to make religious programs that are doing a sincere and honest job look phony too. Why don't ministers in this city clean house of this undesirable element??

INTRODUCING MR. DISASTER

Mr. Disaster will make his first public appearance on TV, Sunday, September 9, in You Asked for It.

Mr. Disaster—as many a gob knows—is the plastic dummy who breathes and bleeds like a human and is used by the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery as a guinea pig in training of bluejackets in first aid.

The Young and The Beautiful

Connie Haines and Ann Baker are two of the loveliest misses to grace your channels.

CONNIE HAINES was on Frankie Laine's show last year but since then she has been doing special guest TV appearances. Happily married and a proud mother, Connie is finding a career definitely of secondary importance to her home.

ANN BAKER of Corliss Archer fame, now seen on KCOP, cuts a delightful figure as she takes time out from her busy schedule to get a sun tan at a nearby beach.

The Man I Married

Mrs. Peter Potter presents a wife's version of her Juke Box Jury husband—and offers a few interesting suggestions.

By Beryl Davis Potter

I'VE BEEN married to Peter Potter for several years now—and they have been most eventful years.

I admit that life isn't always placid and calm. Keeping up with my energetic husband is a job, but one for which I think I must have been trained while I was in show business. After all, a life spent on the road, as mine was, conditions you for almost anything.

Whenever I'm asked about Pete, invariably the question arises: "Does he listen to records at home?" I can most definitely say "no" to that one. After hearing as many records as he does preparing and doing his Juke Box Jury shows on CBS radio and on KRCA, he has no desire to listen to any at home. In fact, we hardly ever hear a record—unless it's one for me to study as a possible number to do on the show. We don't even have a record player at our beach home in Malibu or at our Hollywood house. In short, Pete doesn't bring his work home with him.

He is able to get away from the pressures of his work rather easily. Recently, we bought a house at Malibu just to get away from it all during the summer. For several years we had thought of renting a place at the beach for our vacation since neither of us likes to go away on trips. Each time we looked we became more discouraged over the terrifically high rentals. This summer we had gone apartment and house-hunting for weeks and had finally given up. Then we ran into a place that seemed a possibility and after debating about it for a while we decided to rent it. However, when we got back to take the apartment it had been taken.

"That does it," Pete said to me. "We're going to forget the beach idea."

As we were driving back into town, we saw a house with a For Sale sign on it. We stopped, looked at the house, liked it, and bought it then and there.

Pete has loved the place—just as the children and I have. He wanders around all day getting a good tan and fixing up the house. He likes to make repairs here and there—and is quite good at it. When he's not being the handy man, he's fussing with gadgets. He is an incurable collector of what I consider worthless items, but he loves them. He goes to War Surplus stores and comes back with the most amazing things. His most recent purchases were an old-time Navy spy glass which he gazes through a good deal of the time and an old barracks box. He plans to use that as a storage place for things he and the children collect at the beach. A battered helmet was also on his list but he couldn't find one.

You'd never know there was such a show as Juke Box Jury if you could see Pete at the beach.

Characteristics

As a man, he is very impatient and yet very kind. He is really like a little boy in some respects. Yet, he's a study in contrasts. He may be the type who wants you to hold his hand when he goes to the dentist but he has a very strong shoulder on which you can lean. He has plenty of strength when it is needed.

Pete is also a sentimentalist, but he doesn't show his sentiment by showering me or the children with surprise gifts. I've hardly ever been surprised by a present since he almost always tips his hand when he has bought me something. He'll insist I guess what he has for me, and, of course, he keeps giving broader and broader hints. By the time he gives it to me I know what it is. And another thing—he has never yet given me a gift on the day for which it is intended. If it's something for my birthday, I get it several days before.

Pete's impatience is best exemplified by his buying habits. When he decides we ought to get a new car he doesn't talk about it—he just goes out and buys it. You can't sell Pete anything. He's immune to salesmanship because he's been selling so long on radio and on TV. He can't be impressed by any high-sounding pitch.

This is especially true when it comes to buying clothes. He hates to shop—as I do—so when he finally goes into a store he knows exactly what he wants, orders everything as fast as he can, and then makes a hasty exit. He prefers sports clothes and wears casual outfits all the time except when we go out at night. His tastes aren't conservative, really, although I had quite a time getting him to buy a pair of clam digger pants. He felt this was too much, but when I pointed out that he always rolled up his slacks to just below his knees anyway when he was at the beach, he finally agreed.

While he may go for colorful clothes he doesn't like exaggerated or modernistic cuff links. His favorite pair are ones I gave him. You've probably seen those little figures representing Sunday's, Monday's child—and the emblems for the rest of the days of the week. I'm a Sunday's child and Mary, our little girl, is a Monday's child, so I had those figures made into cuff links for him.

Pete is about as good a father as he is a husband. He's normally impatient with Bill, who is seven, and Mary, three and a half, and yet he has a good deal of understanding. He's not the greatest disciplinarian in the world, but neither am I. I'm afraid we could both do with a little more of that. He and Bill have been having a ball at the beach going fishing out on the barge about every day.

Habits

Most of Pete's tastes are simple. He never reads a book, which bothers me considerably, and he's not in the least domestic—except that he does make some awful king-size man's sandwiches. I call them a handful of mess. Otherwise, he likes plain cooking and doesn't go for things like Chinese, Spanish, or highly seasoned foods. He prefers the English cooking my mother does.

As far as that is concerned, Pete is most unusual in that he loves his in-laws too. He has no family of his own so every Sunday he and my father go fishing. My sister is on his show, and he thinks my mother is the greatest. This, of course, makes our marriage even more pleasant. Family problems as such don't exist with us.

For that matter, Pete and I have very few problems anyway. I have a big enough career taking care of the house, our two children, Pete, and appearing on the show and making records. Pete has little or no temperament and I think I'm fairly easy-going. He is, for the most part, quite serious and he can get mad easily, but he gets un-mad just as easily. His wonderful sense of humor is his best characteristic—that and his honesty. If anything bothers Pete he'll tell you right off what it is. He won't go around holding any grudge.

◀ PETER POTTER is quite a family man as you can see here. His wife Beryl, son Bill and daughter Mary rate him tops as husband and father.

Why Do Radio Announcers Love TV?

KABC's staff have their own special reason.

WHEN the radiolanes were dominated by the Jack Bennys, the Bob Hopes, the Fred Allens and the other big names, no matter how much talent a lesser known might have his chances of ever having a name show of his own were mighty slim.

This was even true of the best announcers who had achieved some identity of their own but were limited to setting the scene, reading the commercials or engaging in a little by-play with the real star of the show.

Since the emergence of TV all this has changed. Radio is now in a new era. Voices that were once anonymous now have names and those names are familiar to millions of listeners. KABC has groomed their announcer-deejays making them identifiable personalities.

KABC's thirteen staffers offer a variety of musical formats. Each member in the baker's dozen is prominent as star of his own show. For those who like humor with their music, Fred Beck, Hank Weaver and Frank Morris are the boys. Between musical selections they can be counted on for some rib-tickling comment, but each in a different way. Beck's humor is of the pixie kind, Weaver's the tongue-in-check variety and Morris' is more on the sophisticated side.

On the serious, erudite side is "Classical Disc Jockey" Tom Baxter; in the homey category are Bill Davidson and Russ Stewart; Lou Cook holds forth in the relaxing style of the romanticist.

The others—Orval Anderson, Len Beardsley, Bill Ewing, Paul Master-son, Hank Sims and Dick Wesson—might be termed straight men though each of them has a style and delivery of his own.

The KABC staff represents as a whole men with a total of 216 years of experience, averaging 16½ years each. Perhaps Tom Baxter best expresses their thoughts on the new era of radio and what it means to the staff.

"Never before has there been such variety programming as there is on radio today," he declares. "Realizing that there must be programs to please every individual taste, radio stations plan schedules with diversified programming uppermost in mind. Planning diversified schedules means personalized shows with deejays at the helm."

KABC's "baker's dozen," the 13 deejays who bring so much enjoyment to so many people, love TV because of the change it has brought about in radio programming, giving them name shows they might not otherwise have had.

The New "Live" Look on Local TV

Thanks to three newcomers, Bill Cassidy, Charles Lind and Louis Quinn, even Channel 9, the perennial movie station, is making a bid to attract more viewers with "live" talent.

THE TV pendulum, as far as local stations are concerned, is swinging back to more and more "live" programs and personalities.

When TV first started shortly after World War II, and was limited to local programs, almost everything was "live." Then, when the coast-to-coast relays were established, and the networks and film studios in Hollywood entered the picture on a full scale, the local stations (starting in approximately 1953) made the grand swing toward more and more film.

Nowadays, however, the "happy medium" seems to be the order of the day: balance between "live" and film.

Even where movies, cartoons, and half-hour film series are being used, the local stations are trying to integrate their own personalities in order to build up interest in the programs. That's exactly what is happening these days over at KHJ-TV, Channel 9—especially in the daytime.

As most Southern Californians know, Channel 9 has developed a reputation in the past few years as "the feature movies station" and the "baseball station." As a result, the Mutual outlet hasn't had too much of a chance to exploit individual stars.

TV Triumvirate

Beginning in June, however, KHJ-TV took on a "new look" during the daytime. It evolved around three new personalities: Bill Cassidy, Charles Lind and Louis Quinn.

All three are real vets of show business. However, except for good-looking Lind, who was featured a few years back with Frank DeVol and Al Pearce and who has made several TV commercials, they are something new for local TV fans to get excited about. All three were hired as the result of special auditions conducted by the station. So far, according to the station, the response has by far exceeded all expectations.

Here's the way the general "plan of attack" works:

Cassidy as "Fireman Joe," catches the eyes and ears of the youngsters at home. A man who looks upon his job as a "sacred trust," and who has worked "behind the scenes" with puppets on such programs as Bob Hope, George Gobel, Jimmy Durante and various traveling Toby carnivals, Cassidy combines cartoons and red hot engine talk to keep the kids all fired up. Judging from the mail he has received, and his own genuine enthusiasm, "Fireman Joe" looks like he is going to become as well known with the kids as Sheriff John, "Webster Webfoot," and "Howdy Doody." Cassidy's secret: "Find their level of expression and go along with them."

Both Hired

For the rest of the afternoon—mainly a ladies' audience—the camera focuses on Charles Lind on the Million Dollar Movie (re-runs of the popular Channel 9 Movie Theater) and Louis Quinn, the master humorist whose jokes and commercials are easy to take between the intervals of the two half-hour film series he hosts.

Actually, at first, Channel 9 officials were only looking for one movie host (in addition to Fireman Joe). However, when Lind, a veteran of over 25 years in show business who started at the age of five, and Quinn, one of the really fine writers around Hollywood for the past 15 years, ended up as "finalists" the station was unable to decide between them. As a result, they were both hired.

As Quinn explains it: "Charles gets the ladies, and I try my best to hold them."

In addition to his natural good-looks (they describe Lind as a cross "between Steve Dunn and Bill Lundigan"), the Philadelphia-born actor (real name: Charles Hogg) provides variety to his show by singing a few numbers.

Then later in the afternoon, former deejay Quinn who is actually quite an expert on cooking, keeps the audience smiling with his not-so-practical, but humorously delivered recipes. "Unfortunately," the 40-year-old Quinn explains, "legitimate recipes make dull material for a TV show."

Channel 9's new TV triumvirate seems to have found the all-around formula for creating new interest in the usually hackneyed and worn-out daytime film programs.

For the sake of the individual stations, the public and the three very pleasant gentlemen who are getting a chance to emerge as stars in their own right on Channel 9, we hope this new trend toward "live" TV continues. If nothing else, they are at least making the commercials more palatable.
