Second Chance for Those Whiting Girls

Morey Amsterdam:
Enemy of Sleep

LOGS - JULY 27 - AUGUST 2

WHITING
SISTERS

Ear, Eye

INSPIRE
THE PEN

M.C.F., Los Angeles

I think Bill Welsh and Fred Hessler had better take some lessons from Dizzy Dean and Buddy Blatner and perhaps they could get a few tips from Ted Husing. Quit bragging Welsh and Hessler; save your breath and someday you might have a team like the Angels.

I know I can turn the dial but I love to see those Hollywood Stars get beat.

Mrs. R.S., Gardena

I love Westerns and try to enjoy Wyatt Earp, but the background quartet that hums the effects for the program sounds so stupid and phony, that I can't stand to watch it anymore. If they'd hire an orchestra or have no music at all, it would certainly be a great improvement.

G.A., San Francisco

It is always a real pleasure to witness any performance by Hume Cronyn. The material he has been given recently varies in quality, but he can always be counted upon to produce satisfying entertainment.

F.C., Calabasas

I'd like to know just where they call for those so-called ratings? I've never yet found a single person who ever has been called, or even know anyone that was called.

BOB CROSBY'S DAYTIME GANG
... Singing Swan Song to Daytime TV?

Mrs. W.L.T., Rialto

I heard Bob Crosby announce today that his program will no longer be on TV starting September 1. I feel very bad about this as I think it is one of the best daytime shows and it certainly brightens my day.

I hope everyone who feels as I do will write in and maybe we can help prevent the show from discontinuing.

J.N.K., Monterey Park

I have only one complaint about the show, Broken Arrow. I don't think the actor who plays "Tom Jeffords" is right for the role. . . . It is too bad that the original actors of the movie could not have played in the TV series. Jeff Chandler played "Cochise" to perfection.

Mrs. H.G.H., Los Angeles

My favorite shows used to be The $64,000 Question and The Challenge. Now — although I generally watch the shows, I shall never buy any more of their products, because I get so disgusted when they hog the shows with their commercials.

A Loyal Whittinghill Fan, So. Pasadena

In regard to the person who criticized Dick Whittinghill: I don't see how anyone could be so cruel to him. I will never forget when I met him and was on his so-called "vulgar" show. He is the nicest, most wonderful person in all television. As for the pictures—he has no control over what is shown and therefore shouldn't take the blame.

DOROTHY GARDINER
... Too Many Turkeys?

Mrs. M.J.P., San Bernardino

I enjoy the Dorothy Gardiner Show on Channel 5. But I do not think the station is being fair to her. How do they expect her to build up and hold an audience when they show the same pictures over and over again? With all due respect to the charming Miss Gardiner, sitting through some of them once is bad enough—but three times: "No!" That turkey "Lord Byron" is being shown again today, for the third time in about a month. With all the good pictures available for TV now, there is no excuse for this.

TOM FRANSEN

... Never Off-Color

Mr. and Mrs. D.L.S., Venice

Three cheers for Tom Frandsen, Channel 4, and his "Whodunit" every Saturday night. There are only two interruptions during the movie. Tom's jokes are never off-color and his manner is not in the least overbearing.

J.C., Los Angeles

It was no puzzler as to why Do You Trust Your Wife failed. The producer must know it failed because it was replete with suggestiveness and low-grade stuff. If that show comes on again, I suggest it change its name and let the writers "raise their sights."

PERRY COMO
... Not a Hog — Says Fan

R.R., Lamont

When a recent correspondent said she was disgusted with the Perry Como show, that sure burned me up. His show is the most.

Sure, I'd love to hear him sing more often, but we can't have everything, can we? Besides, I don't think Mr. Como is the kind to hog the whole program for himself.

Mrs. W.F., North Hollywood

Why is everybody griping about Noah's Ark being taken off the air? I think Panic is great and would never miss it. Noah's Ark was real corn.

It's sort of a wild question but with Morey Amsterdam appearing nightly on KTLA it just might become a catch phrase:

Anyone for Yuk-a-Puk?

By Dave Vowell

MOREY AMSTERDAM is an expert on yuks, yaks and yuk-a-puks. And although he owns five poultry farms, he hasn't laid an egg yet.

His latest offering in the field of comedy, a field which he has cultivated for 30 years, is being seen on KTLA, five nights a week. It's called, simply enough, "The Morey Amsterdam Show" and features vocalist Tony Romano and his orchestra with Murray McEachern. Morey's wife Virginia appears regularly and their children Gregory, 14, and Kaki, 6, will appear from time to time.

Funnyman Amsterdam came to the west coast to make a motion picture originally but then decided to stay and do an across-the-board night time television show. He chose KTLA because it was the only local channel with the equipment, time, audience and inclination for his kind of show.

"Why," Mr. Amsterdam was asked, "did you decide to do a nightly show?"

Here's what Morey replied:

"Once a week shows only give you uclers. If the ratings drop a half a point the agency wants to know why the show isn't any good. The show is good but the sponsors kill the show with improvements.

"Besides, nightly shows are easier. It's like this: if you just see a guy once a week — say you're invited to a party at his house, well, you feel as if you have to dress up and be sort of formal. But if you live next door to the guy, you can just drop in in the evening wearing a sweat shirt. That's the way I feel about the show. We're like the guy who lives next door.

MOREY GETS AWAY from the cello once in a while to try his hand at other instruments; in this case the guitar of orchestra leader-vocalist Tony Romano.

talked and the show was pretty funny. Even the music portion of the show is mostly ad lib, including the vocals by Tony and Corky. Only about forty per cent of the music is rehearsed.

"We don't have any production bits, but we do have a thing I call the 'Joke Box.' Folks in the audience call out any name, subject and article and I turn the crank on this box and out comes a piece of blank paper. Then I ad lib a joke making believe it's written on the paper.

"You know people have actually written in wanting to know where they could buy a machine like that. They say that it would be great at a party.

"The only other standard things that we have on the show are weekly interviews with movie stars of the silent picture era. I talk to them and we show film clips of their movies. Of course, I do an occasional cello comedy spot and I also do a routine around well known characters in history. These routines are all factually correct, by the way, even though we do work in a lot of comedy.

"Another more or less regular feature will be interviews with just plain, ordinary people. You'd be surprised at the people I've talked to. I've talked to everybody from janitors to Presidents and they all come out pretty funny."

Morey says that the program is not slated for any definite number of weeks but that it "will keep on going as long as people like us."

Which led to the question: "Do you have any fear of what's called 'over-exposure' due to your five-nights-a-week stint?"

"The only time to fear over-exposure," Morey replied, "is when you don't have anything to expose."

"When guests appear on the show from time to time it's because they're my friends and they know that they will be treated with kindness and respect. It's all ad lib, you know, just as if we might have bumped into each other in the street. When Jerry Lewis was on the show, nothing was planned. We just

Second Chance...

MAGGIE AND BARBARA WHITING are cavorting merrily on CBS-KNXT's Those Whiting Girls with the able assistance of the highly talented Mabel Albertson, who plays the girls' mother.

A YEAR AND HALF AGO, a show called Those Whiting Girls came on for a summer soiree in place of I Love Lucy and gathered unto itself a goodly number of fans. However, it faded when fall came around, due primarily to the fact that there was no time slot available for it.

Now it's back again in the same familiar time — and will probably create as many friends as before. It ought to with its two thoroughly captivating stars, Barbara and Margaret Whiting. Not to mention the able assist from Mabel Albertson.

When I caught up with Maggie and Barbara, Maggie had just returned from a night club engagement in Reno and was on her way for other appearances in the east and Barbara had just wound up another session on the golf course. She is absolutely wacky about the game. "I'd sooner play golf than eat," Barbara said enthusiastically. "Of course, I'm an awful player — so far."

Thalians

Both Maggie and Barbara, however, had been spending a good deal of time with The Thalians, an organization devoted to helping the cause of the mentally ill — or the emotionally disturbed as the patients are most often referred to. Maggie is president of the group.

"I'd like to work with the emotionally disturbed children one day," Barbara said. "Those who need rehabilitation provide a tremendous challenge. Every Thursday afternoon now I drive a group of these children from the Reiss-Davis Clinic to the County School in the valley where they have schooling. These youngsters are autistic boys and girls. They were not able to speak when they started at the clinic, but now they can all speak.

"The Thalians contribute money to the Reiss-Davis Clinic among others."

FOR THOSE WHITING GIRLS

Maggie and Barbara Whiting are again subbing for I Love Lucy this summer but this time they may keep their show on the move into the next season. Their fans hope so at least.

By Jack Holland

Barbara, while a fine performer and a real product of show business, somehow plays down her career when you talk to her. This Maggie doesn't entirely appreciate since she rightly considers her sister a fine actress — and tries to get her to work harder at her job. Barbara would love to be busy all the time but the breaks haven't been right for her.

"While I like acting," Barbara went on. "I'd like also to go into the production side of show business. I'd want to go to UCLA and work in their production departments. Of course, I'm madly in love with our show, Those Whiting Girls, and I'm madly in love with Desilu where we do the program. Besides," she added with a wink, "I'm going to play golf on Desi's course in Palm Springs yet."

The main reason that CBS-KNXT's Those Whiting Girls got a second chance was due to Martin Leeds who had faith in the show. He really went to bat for the whole deal, once saying as a half-joke, "It will always be on my gravestone that I died trying to get Those Whiting Girls back on again."

Barbara hopped back on the golf wagon again with, "I'm trying to get Maggie to take it up too. She should because she has such wonderful clothes.

I bought an outfit to go with my golf shoes and then I got the clubs to go with the shoes. I hope to get Margaret on that course, though, because I have to have someone worse than I am to play with."

To which Maggie said, "No, thanks. I'm having my hands full riding, swimming, and learning how to water ski."

When Barbara isn't golfing or acting or helping with children she is cooking. This is really a pet pastime of hers.

"The only show I ever resented doing was one in which I was supposed to be a lousy cook. My cooking is about the only thing that qualifies me for a role as a wife. I'll be lousy in all other respects. I'm so darned self-sufficient. And, frankly, I enjoy being a bachelor girl. Some day I'd like to get married but I'm going to take my time. While I have my own apartment, I spend most of my time with my family now anyway. I take care of Maggie's daughter, Debbie, when Maggie is away — or at least I take over when the nurse is off and sometimes even when she is on duty."

Maggie dislikes having to be away from home because she is such a doting mother to her six year old. However, in her work as singer for clubs and for Dot Records she has to be on the go.

"I don't understand how my sister does all she does," Barbara said. "Her energy is fantastic. She never seems to get tired. Once in a while, Debbie and I are able to join her at one of her engagements — such as we did last summer at Lake Tahoe when Maggie was playing a club there. For some crazy reason I took all of my barbecue equipment with me — even the briquets and oil for the grill. You'd thought they had no stores at Tahoe.

"But I still haven't done the one thing I am most anxious to do," Maggie said. "I hope some day to do a Broadway musical — and I will too."

Mabel Albertson

Both the girls are hoping that their show will stay on this time. They hope so as much for Mabel Albertson who plays their mother as they do for themselves.

"Funny thing about Mabel," Maggie put in. "Most people think she really is our mother, but everyone is always asking me, 'Who is that girl who plays your sister?' They just don't believe Barbara belongs to the same clan that I do.

"Mabel is a wonderful, wonderful person. She is almost like our mother. She is like a continuation of what we have at home around our own mother. The advice she gives us both professionally and personally is practically the same. She is a good part of the reason that we enjoy the show so much."

Maggie loves all there is about her work because she loves to meet people.

Love People

"If I had a hobby I'm sure it would be collecting people," Maggie laughed. "It's a funny thing about people, though. Most of them think I'm 108 because I've been singing so long. They forget I began singing when I was 12, so the stock answer I get when I meet someone is, 'My, you're so young looking!' Even Elvis Presley said that.

"I usually can figure out people pretty well — but I'm not so good at making the right choices in the romance department. I was born on the cusp — between Cancer and Leo and I like sensitive, artistic men, but I never seem to pick one that is right for me. So I keep hoping my luck will change — and I go on working."

Maggie had to go out on the Freeway to pose for a cover for her new Dot Record album. Her latest single recording is "Kill Me With Kisses" backed by "Speak for Yourself, John." Barbara had to get some pictures taken. As they were about to leave, Maggie said, "You know, if the writers could really picture us as we are, we would be very happy."

Barbara snorted, "Gosh, what a shock that would be!"

And with that the two vivacious, charming, and completely delightful Whiting girls went on their way.

Three times a day, five days a week,
Tom Frandsen advises his KRCA audience to

Relax and Take Five

By Dave Vowell

IT TAKES Tom Frandsen 30 minutes to "Take Five" three times daily on KRCA, channel 4.

Tom's five-minute color shows defy categorizing. They are not news programs but they are newsy; they're too short to be called drama, comedy or even variety but they entail all of these ingredients.

A flying Commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve, Tom has been at various times in his career a teamster, an office boy, a sailor, an announcer, a sales manager and by his own confession, a beach bum.

From this wealth of experience he draws the anecdotes that fill his programs. He also quotes interesting quips and stories from current magazines. He has received permission from all the major book and magazine publishers to quote from their publications. In fact, the magazine publishers have such high regard for the programs, that they furnish Tom with advance copies.

But that only covers current events. To prepare for "Take Five" Tom takes the time to visit libraries and archives in an effort to turn up little known historical facts about California and Los Angeles.

He is, by the way, one of those rarities: a native Angeleno. He was born right in Los Angeles. And, from all reports, the local boy is making good.

Even the major survey organizations affirm this truth by reporting an accumulative weekly rating that averages in the high forties which is pretty good for a five-minute program or even a 30-minute program.

The five-minute format has become so popular that Tom has set up a production organization, Camden Productions, to film the show for sale in cities outside the Southern California area covered by KRCA.

These shows, filmed in color, will follow essentially the same format Tom uses daily. He will chat informally about books, people, places, events and just about anything else that he happens to think of and will occasionally conduct an interview.

KRCA'S POPULAR HOST, Tom Frandsen is a native Angeleno who takes relaxation with reverse English; when he "Takes Five" he's working.

However, Tom says that he has held interviews to minimum because "I can't always give a subject adequate coverage in the few minutes I have."

But that does not mean he can't give his attention to subjects dear to hearts of his viewers. Tom reports that viewers write to him to air their pet peeves and that "most of them have something to do with this automobile age. It seems that everyone has a grievance toward the traffic situation. In fact, it's pretty difficult to find one that doesn't have something to do with traffic."

"Take Five" is not the friendly Mr. Frandsen's only duty at KRCA. He also hosts a Saturday night movie, called aptly enough, "Tom's Who Dunnits." This is a series of first-run mystery films.

About the movies, Tom has this comment:

"Let's face it, we've got to have commercials, I just try to make them as painless as possible."

And he does.

INTERESTING AND OFF-BEAT personalities people Tom's telecast from time to time. Here he interviews child star Richard Eyer who played the son of Gary Cooper and the nemesis of Samantha the goose in "Friendly Persuasion."

THIS WEEK'S TV-RADIO NEWS IN PICTURES

GALE WADE, star outfielder for the L.A. Angels on the shelf because of an injured shoulder, has turned to sportscasting. Shown here with him at KMPC mike at Wrigley field: Bob Kelly (center) and Steve Bailey, station's regular announcers.

REMOTE RADIO is still not a remote idea to KFMB listeners in San Diego. Station announcers use "crash car" the same as a police car, answering all kinds of emergency calls according to veepee George Whitney. Car is also equipped with telephonic system that enables Merritt Hadley, News Director, or announcer Don Ross to phone station for direct "airing."

TOM DUGGAN'S telephone girl for this month: Hazel Nelson, shown here with program producer and right-hand man, Irwin Berke. After Hazel Ann Duggan — Tom's wife — may get assignment for a few weeks on the KCOP show.

WHY TICKET NUMBER 522 HAD TO BE LUCKY!

THE DAY 33-year-old Ann Johnson attended NBC-KRCA's Queen For A Day she was sad. Just a little over six months before her husband, a truck driver, had been killed on his way home near Tuscaloosa, Alabama, in a fiery crash. Left with three small children, Ann had gravitated to Los Angeles to be near a brother. It was he who had urged her to try her luck on Jack Bailey's program.

Luck it was. Ticket No. 522, Ann's, was called and after she had told her simple but poignant story, she was chosen Queen and rewarded with a Hawaiian cruise. Her thrill at winning was expressed, "I think it was the first real happiness I'd had since Johnny, my husband, died."

The accompanying pictures tell the story of Ann's regal journey on the Matsonia. She was kept occupied to give her mind new outlook. She could also anticipate her return home when Queen For A Day officials planned to give her an aptitude test to be followed by training in some line of work productive of a livelihood.

"It's strange," Ann mused as she boarded the liner, "I've always wanted to go to Hawaii."

ANN JOHNSON poses regally with Jack Bailey immediately after she is chosen Queen For A Day and awarded Hawaiian trip.

Why they call John Daggett of KHJ-TV's Open Road program:

"JOHNNY ON THE SPOT"

HUSKY, ex-Marine John Daggett's desire for adventure has led him to turn television producer in order to have enough time for the pursuit of thrills and excitement.

A one-man production company, who lives, films and narrates the weekly telecasts of KHJ-TV's Open Road, Daggett and his pretty wife Virginia pack-up at the drop of a hint to cover the myriad colorful events and scenes that make California a tourists Mecca.

Ever climb a mountain? Daggett's cameras saved viewers the trouble when he attacked some of California's highest peaks to film the fascinating beauty and excitement that go hand-in-hand with danger.

Like swimming? Daggett took his cameras thru the Colorado River's famed rapids to show television audiences the raging waters from a swimmers-eye-view.

Ever ride a water buffalo? Daggett did as he filmed the wonders of the famed Jungle Compound, training ground for many of filmland's famed performing animals.

Like hunting? Daggett brought sportsmen firsthand film of the colorful Wimaraner Field Trials, where the "wonder dogs" performed with amazing grace and skill.

These are just a few of the things a viewer sees on the TV screens.

What they don't see, however, is the amazing work that goes into each production as John and Virginia Daggett live amid cutters, splicers, winding reels and projection machines editing and fitting together each weekly program.

The Daggett home in Hollywood is literally a maze of equipment, alive with the excitement of plans for future assignments and upcoming productions.

"NO PICTURES, PLEASE," says John Daggett while taking a breather on his swim thru the Colorado River rapids. John's "beaver" isn't a regular feature on The Open Road. The young adventurer merely forgot his shaving equipment in the last minute rush of loading up cameras and other gear for his trip.

FLURRY of INTEREST in Do You Trust Your Wife? returning to the air. Looks as if the show might be done as a daytimer, filmed in New York before a live audience. But not with Edgar Bergen as emcee because he won't do anything but a nighttimer. So five personalities are being considered as M.C. candidates. However, the series has sponsor nibbles from three national bankrollers and if one of these is landed the Wife program would also go on one evening weekly from Hollywood with Bergen and Friends heading up the fun and facts. At this writing things are pretty liquid but will firm up shortly.

ANOTHER PROGRAM WHICH promises to return is Jeannie Carson's. On ABC. This network looks as if it will have its strongest season. Sinatra, Pat Boone, Sugarfoot (to alternate with Cheyenne), Zorro (starring Guy Williams), Lady Luck (a giveaway emceed by Keefe Braselle), Walter Winchell, The Real McCoys (starring Walter Brennan), Patrice Munsel, and the previously mentioned Maverick starring James Garner, which will be slotted in the 7:30-8:30 spot on Sundays to skim as much cream as possible off Steve Allen and Sullivan. The Western fever on TV is so strong that some experts are predicting the deluge of this type of show will result in satiating viewers.

IN ADDITION TO THE ALREADY running Westerns there will be new entries like NBC's Wagon Train (starring Ward Bond), Have Gun, Will Travel (starring ex-Medico Richard Boone), The Restless Gun (starring John Payne), and look for more. Hi ho, Silver!

FOR THOSE WHO'VE BEEN singin' the blues about comedy shows becoming passe, here's a quote from Producer Frank Ross, who is guiding his wife, Joan Caulfield, and Marion Lorne in filming the new Sally comedy series. "Comedy is dangerous to do — it has to be so right. But it doesn't matter what the trend is, if you have a good show (which Ross evidently believes he has and which is true if the first film, which I saw, is indicative of the cycle).

CBS-RADIO REMINDED ME of Stan Freberg's new show with a series of amusing wires: "Setting radio back 20 years? I'm doing it purposely. Sunday, 6 p.m. KNX-CBS." . . . "You remember your radio? It looks like your toaster but has knobs on the front." . . . "I meant what I said. Sunday, 6:00 p.m. You have only two days in which to locate that radio. Try the garage." . . . "They just saw an advance copy of the script in Las Vegas. I'm taking sealed bids on bullet-proof vests. 42 long. I hope I'll live until Sunday." All signed Stan Freberg . . . Gene de Paris, who left the ABC-TV press department here three years ago to work for Edward R. Murrow was in town last week and wouldn't you know it? After travelling thousands of miles as a reporter for See It Now (50,000 miles alone with Danny Kaye) Gene and his wife drove back to California on their vacation!

KIDDING THE WESTERN RAGE, George and Gracie will "go Western" on their opening show of the Fall season . . . What's the Name of that Song? is slated for nighttime on Channel 7 beginning August 6 . . . I lapsed. The Whiting Girls' father was Dick . . . Not Jack. ABC's William Winter is the first Western news analyst to receive an official invitation from the West German government to cover the September elections. He also hopes to get behind the Iron Curtain.

K POL's Lew Irwin promises some real fireworks this coming Wednesday, the 24th, when he does an interview with George Vaughn, head of the Legal Reject Committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The subject to be dealt with is the administration of Chief of Police William Parker — and it would be interesting to tune in on this one. Time — 6:30 p.m.

It was indeed sad news that George Cleveland, better known as Gramps of the Lassie show, had died. Certainly he was one of TV's best-loved personalities and one of the industry's finer actors. With Lassie undergoing so many cast changes now, Gramp's death really pulls the curtain down on the show's former look.

KNXT's new series called Focus on Sanity is a worthwhile project and is a fine public service program. However, let's hope it didn't get off to a bad start with some people who are My Friend Flicka fans. This show was on in the same time slot, was scheduled for about 26 weeks, and was yanked off abruptly with no notice that it was being discontinued. This is not playing cricket with the viewers. Incidentally, speaking of Flicka, you keep reading reports that it's going on NBC in the fall, that 39 new shows are to be made, but no one seems to know anything about all the rumors. 20th Century-Fox-TV, which made the show, says it has no information, NBC can't confirm it, and the very likable and talented Johnny Washbrook who stars in it knows nothing either. What gives here?

Dan Dailey is a very smart guy. He's not done just any TV show. He's picked his spots carefully. His next stints are two on the Ed Sullivan Show when he will sub for Ed as emcee. Dates are July 28 and August 4.

When Dan was asked if he was worried about doing such a chore, he grinned, "Me? No. I can read a teleprompter as well as Ed can. Besides, I know the gang on the show and this will make it easier."

Dan is currently busy with his newly formed company, Hunter Haven, Inc., which is also the name of his ranch. He will produce films for TV, movies, the works. As for any appearance on TV as a performer, he has only this to say, "I'm rather curious about television now. I'm going to sit pat and see what happens. No one seems to know which way it is going. The networks have wanted me to sign a contract with them but I've been under contract long enough. I'm signed to no one now but Hunter Haven. And I pay my own salary — when I have enough money. I don't pay as much to myself as I do to others in my company because I don't think I'm worth that much," Dan laughed.

Dan has had plenty of offers to do a TV series. But he has reneged on them all.

"I've stayed away from them because you have to decide whether you want to be a business man and get into the residuals business and give up your freedom — or whether you want to be able to go on being a performer, to protect your career. I don't yet want to kill myself off as an entertainer by too much exposure.

"TV as it stands today — at least for the most part — is too tricky. With some of the people who call themselves directors and with some of the mad camera angles they use they can kill you off in a hurry. All these arty angles are dandy, but any amateur can do it.

"Then take your drama on TV. It is full of the breast-tearing melodrama kind of thing. That's old-fashioned now. The worst movie melodramas were doing that years ago, so you sit back and watch TV and wonder when it's going to catch up with you."

MY HEART is heavy this week because Hollywood Park is closing and my extra source of income will be shut off. After all, where else can I show a net profit of $7.40 after only eighteen afternoons of betting and countless hours of handicapping. Of course, this doesn't count hot dogs, beer, racing forms and tips . . . most of them bum. But it was nice, healthy, outdoor work, anyway.

"Conquest." (11) Aug. 1, 10:15. These nightly MGM epics are being repeated around one thirty to give those who were watching Duggan or Tonight or Amsterdam a chance to catch them. A good idea? I don't know, I just report the news. "Conquest" is a super colossal of its time starring Greta Garbo and Charles Boyer in a fictionalized account of the long love affair between Napoleon and the Polish countess, Marie Walewska. The picture covers Napoleon's conquests, both romantic and military and offers the two stars a chance to perform admirably. They do.

"Top Banana." (2) July 27, 10:00. 1954. This Broadway musical was transferred to the screen exactly as it appeared on the stage, a low comedy dedicated to the top comic, in this case, Phil Silvers. It's all about a big radio comic and the publicity difficulties he gets into over an arranged marriage. This sort of movie making has its uses as a reference file for the Library of Congress, but it doesn't result in very good movies.

"Night Song." (9) Beginning July 29, 9:00. 1947. Dana Andrews is a blind pianist who hides his disillusionment behind a facade of cynicism until Merle Oberon lovingly deceives him into being a success. Leith Stevens wrote the

Pick OF THE Pix

BY AUBREY DAHL

"Night Song Concerto" for this movie and it is played by Arthur Rubinstein.

"Hi, Nellie." (5) July 29, 7:30. 1934. As punishment for fouling up as managing editor, Paul Muni is assigned the loutish column and does such a good job that he captures the murderer of a local banker. Boy, there's a plot synopsis that should tell you everything you need to know. What makes the film worth while is another wonderful Muni performance. I wish he'd go to work in pictures, again.

"20,000 Years in Sing Sing." (2) July 27, Midnight. 1933. Adapted from the book by Warden Lewis E. Laws, this one tells the story of a good convict, Spencer Tracy, who is given leave by the warden to visit a sick sweetheart (?) and becomes enmeshed in a murder. Some excellent documentary shots of the prison and its inmates that helped me to go straight.

"Prisoner of Shark Island." (11) July 28, 9:00. 1936. Warner Baxter is Dr. Samuel Mudd, who became a victim of circumstance and injustice when he set John Wilkes Booth's broken leg after the assassination. He is sentenced to prison in the Tortugas and is able to redeem himself only when a yellow fever epidemic breaks out and he manages to defeat it. A good melodrama built on a little known historical incident.

"Top of the Form." (7) July 31, 3:00. Did she measure up?

TRIP TIPS

By Jack McElroy

Many persons think of Tijuana as a rather dirty, overgrown border town; however, I don't feel that way at all. There are a number of good dining places and unusual attractions offered in the area — horse racing, Jai Alai, Bull-fights, dog races and in the nearby ocean, surf fishing.

The Caliente Golf Course is again in full swing with 18 holes and can be considered one of the longest and toughest courses south of Los Angeles.

Just outside of Tijuana on the road to Rosarita Beach is the La Gloria motel which is one of the most charming motels it has been our pleasure to visit.

The grounds are lovely and the food is excellent. The swimming pool is one of the largest south-of-the-border.

Rates for a double room run from 8 to 12 dollars per day.

It makes an interesting tri-angular trip if you drive from Los Angeles down to Mexicali and across the Mexican highway to Tijuana via Tecate.

The drive from Mexicali to Tijuana is approximately 112 miles and goes from sea level up to over 5000 feet and through some beautiful pine covered hills. During the winter, in fact, they are often snow-covered and one can return via San Diego to Los Angeles.

The drive can be done easily in two days and covers about 400 miles.

Those of you who haven't visited the Rosarita Beach Hotel in a number of years will find a pleasant change. It's approximately 17 miles out of Tijuana on the road to Ensenada.

The accommodations are greatly improved with a lovely swimming pool overlooking the ocean, and complete with enclosed cocktail lounge. The sunset in the Pacific is really spectacular from this scenic spot.

There is an air strip immediately in front of the hotel to accommodate those who wish to fly in. However, they should remember to secure clearance at the Tijuana airport.

This beach is still probably the finest on the coast of either Southern California or Baja California.

Rates run from 10 dollars and up a day for two persons, European plan.

"Don't order the creamed eagle!"

I am reading in the Candid Kendis Column in the newspaper the other day about a man name of Bob Yeager who is very interested in getting a holt on an eagle.

When a man gets a yen for something you can't blame him, so if this Yeager wants an eagle let him have his eagle if he can get one.

But that was the trouble. Yeager tried the pet shops and he went to the zoo and he phoned the Federal Wild Life Bureau. No eagles.

Most people would not be looking for an eagle because they are presumably tough and stringy and maybe gamey. Most people much prefer chicken. Chicken is plentiful, and in one of its more delicious forms it is known as Creamed Chicken on Toast.

The quickest, best and easiest way to serve creamed chicken to your friends and loved ones is simply to thaw one or more packages of Kold-Kist Creamed Chicken and heat it in a double boiler. It's delicious — with big chunks of tender chicken and spices and parsley — flavored and seasoned just right. Reach for it in the frozen foods section of your favorite market.

Incidentally it turns out that that Yeager fellow wasn't hankering for creamed eagle on toast. He wanted an eagle to advertise a movie based on the life of Jeanne Eagels.

For valuable tips on exciting ways to serve special dishes utilizing Kold-Kist Fresh Frozen Foods and Meat Products, send for our small, vital recipe file.

You Are There
6:30 P.M., Sunday
KNXT, Ch. 2

As the summer crop of television fare makes its first appearance, it is good to report that all is not lost with shows of such calibre as You Are There still showing, a sturdy, vintage perennial unwilted by summer heat.

Dramatization or re-creation of history in motion pictures or television is ever-confronted with the peril (and generally succumbs) in giving forth with a souped-up masquerade ball or the feeling that the actor has just snuffed his cigarette before having his wig uncertainly adjusted by a nervous make-up man, rushing into a scene and delivering lines which fall somewhere between today's language and the purported language of the period with about as much authenticity as a wooden nickel. Or to be brief, most historical drama reminds the viewer of when some not-so-favorite relative made an unmitigated ass of himself dressed up as Santa Claus long after you knew there wasn't any Santa Claus.

Whatever your views on whether clothes do or do not make the man, the fact remains that in bringing history to life, costumes do not make characters nor historical drama.

You Are There deserves a very special niche in the exceedingly difficult feat of living up to its name in presenting history. At first glance it might seem that the device of presenting the action as an on-the-spot newscast carries the freight in putting it over. And the device is skillfully and artistically employed.

On second glance, however, there is much more to You Are There than a skillfully employed device. The fundamental stuff and substance here is human character, the realization that most of history, as present day life, is made up of the small things, and of living humans. One feels that it is the development and exploration of the inner human dynamics in You Are There that gives this show its unique distinction of honestly and vitally re-creating history.

You Are There is again an example of the successful pay-off of careful and thorough research, the gathering together of minute detail that breathes life into eras and periods now musty with dust. An actor and director is given much more than costume and period-piece furniture to chew on.

This is entertainment plus quality, summer or winter.

CONFIDENTIAL (if you'll pardon the expression): KNXT has sewed up a sports coup. Sunday, July 28, starting 4 p.m. and running approximately until 5:15, Channel 2 will televise the Masters Round Robin Tennis Tournament from the L.A. Tennis Club. KNXT will carry a complete match to be played between some of the game's foremost stars — racquetees like Pancho Gonzales, the new Wimbledon champion Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall and Tony Trabert. August 4 KNXT will carry several of the final day's matches starting 2 p.m. . . . Concern over Krushchev's appearance on Face the Nation was natural, but after seeing the repeat last week I think very few viewers would be taken in by such statements as "The people of America will finally discover that capitalism is no good for them" and "I have no fear of withdrawing troops" (in such countries as Hungary and Czechoslovakia) . . . Alvarez Bros.-Dean Simmons hope to have their Baja California station (690) on the air by August 15 . . . Radio will certainly miss Groucho who'll be off the sound medium come autumn . . . Interesting quote from Albert McCleery: "I believe Matinee Theater is the most 'scouted' show in television because of it coming at the noon break."

LIFE WITH FATHER

Leon Ames, Lurene Tuttle and their bumptious brood make life at the turn of the century an adventure as rare as old spice, Tuesday nights at ten on Channel 2.

Baxter and Orson Welles in a sixty-minute show, written and produced for the summer season by Walter Gribben. Specially selected music is programmed to sustain the mood of each show; however, the main feature is the voice of the starring celebrity of the day as taken from the spoken collections of various record labels. Around the Wrestling Circle with JULES STRONGBOW

ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR WRESTLERS to appear on the local scene for quite some time, according to Jules StrongBow, is this muscular, good-looking giant, "Tex" McKenzie, Texas Rancher. The ladies especially seem to admire him.

ALWAYS A PERENNIAL FAVORITE, who also appeared here locally this month: World Champion Lou Thesz. His titanic struggle with Baron Leone at Gilmore Field is still regarded as a classic in "rassling circles."

ANOTHER UP AND COMING FAVORITE, seen on Channel 13, is the Negro Heavyweight Wrestling Champ, Bobo Brazil. He weighs 280 and stands 6 feet 8 inches. Jules StrongBow will keep our readers posted on the latest in the wrestling world.

AFTER A SHORT ABSENCE FROM OUR SCREENS...

NORMA AND DON WINTONS were married on Bride and Groom on March 12, 1948. The wedding was broadcast the same day. Also, several months later, a film of the ceremony was shown on opening TV show.

THE WINTONS as they appear today at their home in Pasadena, Calif. Mr. Winton is an industrial designer and co-owner of Twin-Wintons Company. They have two children, Kristy, 3, and Craig, 20 months old.

WHEN Tennessee Ernie Ford announced he was going to give up his daytime show on NBC-TV to devote full time to his night show, the network officials went hunting for a replacement.

Finally, they came up with the half-hour program currently seen on Channel 4: Bride and Groom.

It surprised some people that NBC-TV would dig into its files and come up with an old property. The show itself is certainly nothing new to the American public, for Bride and Groom is one of the real vets of radio and TV.

History

Originally created by three men named John (Masterson, Reddy and Nelson), the show with the inevitable happy ending made its debut on ABC radio back in November, 1945. That lasted for five years. When TV came along, Bride and Groom mated with the new medium: first, on CBS-TV for three years; then, on NBC-TV for one year. The last appearance of the old show was in 1954; the initial telecast of the current program was in July, 1957, on the same network, NBC-TV.

Many people have asked the legitimate question: Why bring back an old show? As long as there was a network opening, why not create a new program?

John Nelson, one of the original creators of the program, who also emceed it on both TV and radio for nine years, has a ready answer for this:

"Bride and Groom is one of the real great basic ideas in television. It all boils down to the simple fact of the female parading the captive male. From the time they are little playing with dolls, that's the main purpose of a girl: to get married. Naturally, when it happens, they want to make the most of it. A program such as Bride and Groom is a perfect outlet for them."

Nelson is still one-third owner of the package. And although he is presently the manager of the daytime programming for NBC's western division, he denies there is any connection between his title and the fact that Bride and Groom is returning to the air.

Bride and Groom

IS BACK FOR A SECOND HONEYMOON

"As a matter of fact," John recalls, "I originally suggested that Bride and Groom follow Queen For A Day. I thought it was a natural one-two punch, with both programs appealing to basically the same kind of audience. However, Bride and Groom was turned down by New York for that time slot. I thought they had forgotten about the show until it was announced Ernie was going off the air and Bride and Groom was going to take its place."

Past Marriages

Nelson also points out that in the nine years he emceed the program, couples were married from 48 states and 17 foreign countries. "We've had Scottish, Negro, Korean, Irish and Chinese couples," he recalls. "And a White Russian bride who was in Hiroshima when the atom bomb was dropped.

"We've had almost every conceivable occupation, from A to Z: from an atom bomb scientist to a zoologist. We've had doctors, newspapermen, lawyers, clergymen, a sprinkling of Phi Beta Kappas and even a TV producer. We had 23 policemen — and I haven't had a traffic ticket since!"

Basically, the format of Bride and Groom will stay the same, with the lucky couple receiving a stageful of gifts, averaging more than $2,500 worth each day. The "loot," of course, is one of the main reasons that the groom consents to this fancy wedding in the first place. As Nelson pointed out, the whole affair is mainly for the woman's sake — both the bride and the average lady watching at home.

Prizes have ranged from pianos, toasters, and trailers, to more exotic items such as a pair of chinchillas, a round-the-world flying honeymoon in six days, and a gold mine in Montana which had produced more than $1,000,000.

In addition to a longer program (the current show runs a half-hour in comparison to the former 15-minute format), the only other change is the occasional inclusion of former Bride and Groom couples coming back for a visit.

Frank Parker and Bob Paige are the new emcees taking Nelson's place. The reason for using two emcees is quite understandable: this way if one man becomes ill or takes a vacation or leaves the program for any reason, the other can fill in for him without causing too much commotion.

In all the years Bride and Groom has been on the air, probably the most memorable remark about the program was made by comedian Bob Hope:

"I had a couple of friends who got married on Bride and Groom," Bob cracked. "After it was over they learned that their marriage wouldn't be legal in 12 states for 14 days — when the kinescopes were played there."

ANOTHER COUPLE married on Bride and Groom: Mr. and Mrs. James Tidd. Format is the same, except program is now half-hour long on KRCA-TV. Couples get married on air, have reception, receive gifts and honeymoon.

THE COUPLE take off on honeymoon. Mrs. Tidd is the former Gwen Harmon, Miss Alabama, who was featured on the Ray Bolger show, also on NBC-TV.

THE "SHIRTS-OFF" SET

These husky and handsome gentlemen prove that beefcake sells as potently as cheesecake.

RICHARD DENNING has made several starring appearances on Ford Theatre, such as "On the Beach" and "The Idea Man." He cuts quite a figure.

HUGH O'BRIAN relinquished his marshal's badge to play the role of a fading boxing champion in Screen Gems' "Ring-side Seat."

*H*ERE'S something for the girls.

We've published many a picture (including "Cheesecake" poses) of beautiful feminine stars who have appeared on KABC-TV's Screen Gems' Ford Theatre since the inception of this popular television program some five years ago.

Now for our distaff readers, we give you "chestcake" of various "hunks" of manhood who also have starred in a Screen Gems' Ford Theatre telefilm and have literally taken the shirts off their backs for their art.

RUGGED RORY CALHOUN starred in "Bet the Wild Queen" for Ford Theatre.

TEEN-AGE FAVORITE, John Derek, starred for Ford Theatre in "Black Jim Hawk."

YOUTH GETS A CHANCE IN PASADENA. Here 16-year-old Dale Swiatek runs a record program. He has been with the station since he was fifteen. He graduated from Pasadena High School this June.

Radio Station KPPC in Pasadena gives young and old alike a chance to broadcast professionally on

Commercial Free AM Radio

WHEN Radio Station KPPC in Pasadena went on the air in 1924 they had to halt operation every now and then to go out and get their batteries charged.

The fifty watts of power with which the station broadcast came from batteries which regularly had to be taken to the Electric Car Company down the street to be recharged.

Chimesmaster, Samuel Allen, perhaps the oldest in years of association with KPPC, can recall when the station was crowded into some corner or other and blankets were draped around to cut down noise.

But times have changed since 1924. The station, an interdenominational, contribution-supported facility, boasts a power of 200 watts, a regular listening audience in all of the San Gabriel Valley and new, modern broadcast facilities and equipment.

KPPC is staffed by youngsters and oldsters alike, from teenagers like 16-year-old Bob MacLeod to gentlemen like Dr. William Everet Roberts who is in the high seventies.

The station is on the air two days a week, Sunday and Wednesday.

IT HAS BEEN A LONG TIME since KPPC operated with a battery power supply. The man who assures the station of continued operation with modern equipment is chief engineer Clayton Blake.

STUDIO ENGINEER Bob MacLeod handles one of the remote broadcast booths located in the Pasadena Presbyterian Church. Bob is only 16 years old.
