WAKE UP WITHOUT FACING THE MUSIC.

Every weekday morning from 5 AM to 9 AM Ken Minyard and Bob Arthur bring you the news. Traffic reports. The day's juiciest stories. A few dumb jokes. And a cast of lively characters.

In short, it's just what you need in the morning. A reason to get out of bed.

WHAT THE JOCKS WANT

For Christmas

The Christmas season is a time of hope and good cheer, and that festive spirit can be heard throughout L.A.'s airwaves. To further spread the holiday cheer, some of Southern California's most popular radio personalities have offered a few thoughtful and humorous Christmas wishes.

"I wish for three things," KLSX's morningtime jock Peter Tilden says, "Peace on earth. Michelle Pfeiffer. And continued success for Bea Arthur, not necessarily in that order."

Charlie Tuna of KRTH also has two diverse wishes for Christmas: "I'd like to win the California Lottery, and have Phil, Morton, Oprah, Geraldo, David, and Johnny all book me on the same day."

"I wish Santa would finally hand over the reins to Mrs. Claus," Carole Hemingway of KGIL notes. "It would be a giant step towards the first woman president. And besides, everyone knows she's been telling him what to do all these years anyway."

Jim Ladd's unmistakable voice has been talking 'bout his rock generation on several L.A. FM stations; currently he can be heard on KMPC. He's seen the ups and downs of mainstream rock radio firsthand. Not surprisingly, his wish is that, "FM radio rediscovers the spirit of its original intent as a rock and roll art form, as opposed to a corporate business outlet, and takes that into the 90s."

If Ladd epitomizes the best of mainstream rock, then Rodney Bingenheimer has been the leader in presenting rock's cutting edge for over a decade on KROQ. His two wishes may be incongruous, but both have a certain appeal: "I wish for peace on earth-- and no drum machines!"

KFI's morning tag team of Lohman and Owens offer this tidbit of good cheer: "We're hoping your holiday season is filled with many happy foons. And may a bird of paradise nest in your Christmas tree and stay until July."

A more off-the-beaten-path vision comes from KPWR's morning madman Jay Thomas: "I just wish that all my competitors would choke on turkey bones at their holiday meals, and be unable to speak, eat or breathe in 1989." Think he's kidding? "I plan on being as cold-hearted and vicious in 1989 as I was in '88. I just think I'm filled with holiday jeer."

More traditional feelings were expressed by Bill and Sylvia of KBIG. "We wish everyone has an old-fashioned Christmas, filled with holly and mistletoe, eggnog by the fire, and the excitement of little faces on Christmas morning. May we all experience the true meaning of Christmas, the joy of the birth of the Child King, and may the New Year be happy, healthy and filled with love."

Last but not least, KABC's late night maven--Ira Fistell-- speaks for all of us when he wishes, "Peace, health, and Happiness for everybody."

Film Review

Talk Radio...

Eric Bogosian as Barry Champlain in "Talk Radio"

On its wistful way to embracing the uncertain realities of the 21st Century, American popular culture has made another of its curious and sad detours in its persistent seige on the nobility of the human spirit. The current rash of shock sleaze, nicknamed by its media generators "confrontainment," exploits both radio and TV by bringing into our homes brutal candor, anger, contrived pathos and, ultimately, banality.

"Talk Radio," a new film release from co-writer/director Oliver Stone ("Platoon," "Wall Street") and starring co-writer Eric Bogosian, gambles that stylized scrutiny of a negative phenomenon does not lend validation to that which it satirizes. The gamble pays off. For this is not really satire but a searing and compelling portrait of the perhaps inevitable and certainly tragic consequences of commercialized intimacy. Breaking with the tradition of our finest social commentary, we see not just a Paddy Chayevsky-style world gone mad by its excesses, but herein, the telescope is turned round and we see the damage wrought on the individual soul.

Loosely based on the true story of Denver "shock jock" Alan Berg, assassinated in 1983 by neo-Nazis, and expanded from monologist Eric Bogosian's play, "Radio" examines one weekend in the life of phone-in talk show host Barry Champlain, "the man you love to love." Set in Dallas, locals call in their views on everything from Social Security to the Holocaust. With humor, cynicism and cruelty, Champlain engages and abuses the raw nerves these important issues create. His show has garnered a lot of local controversy - translate to high ratings - and is on the verge of a national link-up. Barry cares about the twisted fabric of life and people, or he used to. But as the counter-culture becomes institutional by the very nature of its success, Champlain becomes the victim of his own muddled vision. It's just show biz now and his inner doubts and pain have become a perverse public spectacle.

Champlain is indeed the architect of his own undoing. The malevolent media machine is merely an accomplice. He cannot find his way back to trusting anything but his own confusion; he has maybe stopped looking. The demands of his distorted nightly ordeal have taken their toll.

The film is considerably more than the filmed stage play I anticipated. Applause to Producer Edward R. Pressman for sticking with relatively unknown Eric Bogosian, who creates in Champlain a contradictory nature completely believable - frightening and desperate. Ellen Greene, the big voice from "Little Shop Of Horrors," is moving as the estranged wife and does well with a part that is little more than a sidebar to the main action.

Oliver Stone has become a first rate provocateur. The film may raise many more questions than it answers. What fuels Champlain's inferno? And many may find up rooting for the bad guys. If they can figure out who they are. Maybe as Pogo warned, it's us.

RadioWords

By Charlie Tuna

Immedium—the word that best describes radio, a business I started out in 30 years ago. No other medium has the immediacy that radio has: news is outdated in newspapers by the time presses are rolling; magazines are fossils in terms of timely features; and even television has to scramble for teams of reporters and technicians in order to broadcast late, breaking news. But each and every format in radio (satellite services not withstanding) has the ability to react instantly to news events, weather conditions, and even just-released entertainment events.

Given this glaring advantage, why have the majority of radio executives chosen to throw away this match point and wallow in focus groups, over-researched music libraries and shopping-mall-tested formats?

The obvious answer is because it's safe. Today's exorbitant costs of radio ownership dictate that statistics are in, spontaneity and intuition are out. Frustratingly for those of us who are on-air talent, this makes us become technocrats instead of allowing us to rely on our gut feelings, take a chance and have some "unformatted fun."

There are two principles I've tried to adhere to as a success formula:

1. It takes money to make money. 2. The turtle only makes progress when he sticks his neck out. I try to live by these axioms not only in radio, but in life, too...and isn't that what radio is all about?

Charlie Tuna is a 21-year veteran L.A. disc jockey who is (1110 AM) KRLA's morning man.

RadioDinner

As Elmer Dills discovered, it's hard enough to find a restaurant that's OPEN on Christmas Day. Culled from what is open, here are his ten suggestions:

1. Ritz Carlton in Laguna Niguel: Although expensive, they specialize in roast goose and provide a perfect Christmas Day atmosphere.
2. Marriott in Torrance: They are offering a Christmas buffet.
3. Michael's on Los Feliz in Griffith Park.
4. Pierre's Los Feliz Inn: Goose is their specialty.
5. Violet's in Eagle Rock: A Russian Christmas will be celebrated here complete with an evening fair of live music.
6. Burbank Airport Hilton: They offer a buffet with free-flowing champagne.
7. Barnaby's in Manhattan Beach: Now here's something different—an Austrian Christmas celebration complete with Viennese specialties.
8. Hollywood Holiday Inn: The rotating restaurant where you can see Los Angeles in 60 minutes has a Christmas Day jazz buffet.
9. Marina Del Rey Hotel: The Seahorse Restaurant on top is hosting a Christmas buffet and live music.
10. Scandia on Sunset: They specialize in goose, a great old Christmas tradition.

Elmer Dills can be heard on KABC 790 AM on Sundays from 4 to 8 p.m.
