BETTY PHILLIPS, cover subject this week, is the charming vocalist heard in the Leicester Square to Broadway program from Vancouver on Tuesdays (W-9:30 p.m.; K-X-8:30 p.m.). Here she poses in a costume suggesting the Gay Nineties era from which most of the Leicester Square to Broadway music is drawn. The program is one of the oldest on CBC networks. Miss Phillips is also heard this week with a vocal and instrumental ensemble on CBC Wednesday Night.

Terence Gibbs

THERE was a time when anyone who spent most of his waking hours thinking about classical music was looked on as something of a stuffed shirt, who would cringe visibly at the mention of a hill-billy tune or a "whodunit," and perhaps make a fetish of untidiness and long hair. Nowadays he's just as likely to look like Terence Gibbs of the CBC's Toronto studios who, with his bow tie, short hair and boyish appearance, could pass for a producer of jive and hep-cat revues. Actually, Gibbs is responsible for producing some of the CBC's most important programs of serious music—the CBC Symphony Orchestra and CBC Opera Company productions, some CBC Wednesday Night broadcasts, and the Distinguished Artists series on Sunday nights. But when he isn't buried deep in an operatic score or plans for a big concert, when he's really relaxed with his feet up, as likely as not he is tuned in to something as unclassical as Rawhide or Prairie Schooner.

Broadway Belle: Betty Phillips

He has crammed a lot of musical experience into his 31 years, beginning with piano study at school in England, where he was born. Between his graduation and the outbreak of the Second Great War he spent a year at Wye Agricultural College in Kent, and then found himself a private in the British Army. Later he became an officer in the Eighth-Eleventh Sikh Regiment, serving in Burma and India until 1945. In his spare time he gave informal lectures on music appreciation to the troops, continued his music study through books and records, and decided that music, rather than agriculture, would be the field for him after the war.

"My worst wartime experience," he recalls, "had nothing to do with battles. I became ill in Burma and they put me in (Please turn to page 2)

Stage 53. In 1945 Len Peterson wrote a half-hour play called Mr. Mulrooney's New Year's Party, a tender and amusing piece about a Scrooge-like character who learns the hard way how to appreciate the good-will and companionship of his fellow men. It had a network debut and the following spring won a first prize in competition with plays from all over the continent in the annual awards at the Ohio Institute for Education by Radio. It was broadcast again by the CBC in 1946. Then, in 1950, Peterson was asked to enlarge it to a one-hour play for the Sunday night Stage series. Response from listeners indicated that they would like to hear it again, so Andrew Allan has scheduled it for tonight. John Drainie, who played the lead in the other performances, will be heard as Mr. Mulrooney this time, too. From Toronto.

a hospital ward with a radio that poured forth nothing but 'hot' tunes from early-morning temperature-taking until 'lights out' at night—for four months! I think that ordeal delayed my recovery. I like jazz, but in its proper setting."

Back in England after the war he studied piano, composition and theory at the Guildhall School of Music in London for two years, and soon after was appointed assistant artist manager of the Decca Record Company there.

"Recording had been virtually at a standstill during the war," he said, "and the Company was anxious to build up a large repertoire of classical records, using their latest development—full-frequency recording. This is a method which captures the harmonics as well as the fundamental tones, making the recording much closer to the original musical performance than had previously been possible. The job took me on a period of continent-cruising with a recording unit, seeking and engaging the finest musicians and instrumental groups, among them the Paris Conservatoire Orchestra, singers of the Vienna State Opera, Holland's famous Concertgebouw, and the London Philharmonic. I spent about 30 hours a week recording. Many performances were put on disc right on the spot, while others were done in London when the artists went to England for concert engagements. One of the work I supervised was the opera Orfeo by the Glyndebourne Opera Company. And one of my first programs, after joining the CBC in 1948, was the same opera!"

Gibbs thinks public taste is becoming enormously enlightened and good music is no longer being regarded as entertainment for the chosen few. The CBC Symphony Orchestra he says, is filling a very big musical gap by programming works of the elder contemporaries—and has had an enthusiastic response.

Too Bulky Newspapers.—The present size of the Sunday journals goes back to the shortage of paper during the war . . . I expect that during that time the editors discovered that something they had been thoughtlessly quoting for years was in fact true, that "brevity is the soul of wit." Anyway they seem to be able to get everything there is to say into the present twelve pages, and get it there so that I do not have to excavate for it . . . Everything seems to get coverage, and get it succinctly, with economy of their time, and mine.—Stanley Maxted, on BBC.

The Winnipeg Drama

New Year Sees Beginning Of Series Of "Superior Scripts"

WITH the New Year, the Winnipeg Drama series, under new direction, launches a series in which adaptations of classical and modern authors of the top flight, and Canadian writing new and old, will play a prominent part.

Speaking of his plans for 1953, Emrys Jones, CBC producer and director of the series, said: "We begin the New Year with some superior scripts, which, we hope, will set the pace for a stronger and more interesting program in this weekly half-hour series."

Definitely scheduled for January are the following:

January 8 to January 22 inclusive:

A series of three short stories of the Deep South by William Faulkner, adapted for radio by Dr. Margaret Stobie of Winnipeg.

Jan. 8—Grandmother Millard and the Battle of Harrykin Creek. (See program note, Page 6).

Jan. 15—Shingles for the Lord.
Jan. 22—Go Down, Moses.
(See succeeding issues of the Times for program notes).

Margaret Stobie, who is adapting these tales by the celebrated American novelist, is an Albertan, born in Vermilion, and educated at the University of Alberta (B.A.), the University of London, England, and the University of Toronto (M.A., Ph.D.). She is a specialist in Middle English and Chaucer, and is the author of a textbook widely used in the United States, An Outline of Middle English Grammar. Her articles in scholarly journals, such as the publication of the Modern Languages Association, are chiefly on the same subject. Dr. Stobie has done a good deal of work on CBC, as writer, actress, and book reviewer. She was a professor of English at the University of Manitoba for some years.

Other plays now under consideration by Mr. Jones for early 1953, but not yet definitely scheduled are:

(1) Two or three of Shakespeare's plays, each to be presented in a series of three or four half-hour episodes.

(2) A series of six plays by W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, Canadian novelist and writer of short stories. Each play will deal with the impact of some great event in very early history on the life of the man in the street.

(3) Revivals of original plays by two well-known Western Canadian authors, Gwen Pharis Ringwood and Elsie Park Gowan.

(4) An adaptation by M. H. Scargill of the Icelandic Saga of Gunnlaug and Hrafu under the title, A Poet's Love.

Winnipeg Drama is a weekly presentation of the CBC, originating in CBW studios on Thursday nights (CBW, CBK, and CBX 10:30 p.m. local time). Speaking of it, Mr. Jones says:

"To this series, as indeed, to all such radio programs, the entire staff of the station contributes in one important way or another. The "front line" production team, bringing this program to the microphone is made up of the following regular co-workers: Emrys Jones, producer and director; Derek Nelson, technical operator; John Mestery, sound and special effects; and Ken Dougan, announcer.

Your Good Neighbour. After spending Christmas Eve with fur-traders, miners, lumbermen and their families in the far northern city of Yellowknife in the North West Territories, Kate Aitken has flown to South Africa where she is now probing into the problems that have been making front-page news. She took time to stop off in London before proceeding to Johannesburg. Listeners will hear her cabled reports from South Africa this week.

Dom. 9:30 a.m. CST; 10:30 a.m. MST

Trans-Canada Matinee.

Today: What's New in New Brunswick—Joan Marshall; World Peace, First Try — Mattie Rotenberg, Toronto; The Handyman, Making a Clothes Rack for the Door—Will Dawson, Vancouver; News Commentary—Constance Garneau, Montreal; Piano Duo—Edmund Assaly and Thelma Johannes, Montreal.

Starting today, as a background for understanding the United Nations and its agencies, Mrs. Mattie Rotenberg will give a series of talks on the chief events in the rise and decline of the League of Nations. She will examine its course as the first move towards a world-wide political and social order. Today Mrs. Rotenberg will appraise the influence of the League of Nations on world thought. Next week she will compare the structure of the League with the present United Nations setup.

Trans-Canada Matinee.

Today: What's New in Teen-Talk—Christie Harris; Matinee Quiz, Toronto; News Commentary—Constance Garneau, Montreal; Piano Duo Assaly and Johannes, Montreal.

When Edmund Assaly and Thelma Johannes became a team in Saskatoon a number of years ago, they broadcast 70 network shows over a period of two years. Both were born in Saskatchewan and were pupils of Lyell Gustin of Saskatoon. At the beginning of their concert careers they toured the prairies under the sponsorship of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers Associations. Since 1947 Assaly has been living in Montreal, where he has performed and composed for piano and orchestra, and for the Winnipeg Ballet, with which he toured Canada in 1949 as part of the company's two-piano team. Last year he was commissioned to write a ballet for the Elizabeth Leese group. It was performed in the National Ballet Festival.

W-3:45 p.m. K-3:00 p.m. X-3:00 p.m.

Dominion Symphony. Toronto Symphony Orchestra conducted by Sir Ernest MacMillan; Zara Nelsova, cellist. From Toronto.

Tragic Overture, Opus 81 (Brahms); Don Quixote, Opus 35 (Richard Strauss).

Dom. 7:30 p.m. CST; 10:30 p.m. MST

BBC Presents. Crime Is Our Business, a BBC-transcribed series produced in the BBC's North of England studios. It shows that Britain's provincial police, too, are by no means old-fashioned in their methods. All the resources of New Scotland Yard are at their disposal for the asking, but most crimes are solved by the man on the spot. The stories told are all true; and John Slater, the well-known actor, is the storyteller. This week's story, A Night Job in Salford, is set in the industrial city that lies cheek-by-jowl with Manchester. Tom Fallon, who wrote the scripts for the series, is a policeman-turned-writer.

Dom. 8:00 p.m. MST

Twenty Questions. This MBS show returns to CBC Trans-Canada network with Bill Slater again in charge as the panel attempts to guess the "animal, mineral or vegetable" subjects. Panelists are Fred Vandeventer, Florence Rinard, Herb Polesie, Johnny McPhee and a guest. Whenever it has been heard in Canada, Twenty Questions has received high popularity-ratings; it was originated in the States seven or eight years ago by newscaster Vandeventer and his wife (Florence Rinard).

W-8:30 p.m. K-9:30 p.m. X-9:30 p.m.

CBC Concert Hall. Audrey Farnell, soprano, and Leonard Mayoh, baritone. From Halifax.

Songs by Purcell, Brahms, Frank Bridge, Eric Thiman, Schumann, and J. Harrison.

Prairie Farm Forums

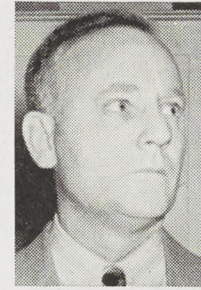

Provincial Secretaries Report Opinion In Canada's Greatest Farm Territory

Of the 675 million bushels of wheat produced in all Canada last year, the prairie provinces produced 654 million. Total grain production in these provinces in 1952 is estimated at 1,300,000,000 bushels.

This is a part of the world where agriculture still reigns supreme. Even in Alberta, the total yield from all the province's fabulous resources of oil, coal, and gas, amounts to less than half the revenue from agriculture. Aggregate prairie agricultural revenue in 1952 ran over two billion dollars.

In a country like this, the men who speak for the farming population are important people. The prairie farmers have a number of representatives, in parliament and in their own organizations. In radio, they have their National Farm Radio Forums, and they have three provincial secretaries who summarize forum findings each week for the listening audience.

The prairie secretaries are: John K. Frizzell of Manitoba, David R. Robinson of Saskatchewan, and James R. McFall of Alberta. Mr. Frizzell lives in Winnipeg, Mr. Robinson in Saskatoon, and Mr. McFall in Calgary. Each Monday night, following the 25-minute National Farm Radio Forum discussion broadcast, they report forum opinions on the previous week's broadcast to listening groups in each province. In January they will report on three discussions: January 5—The Cost of Marketing; January 12—Where Are the New Farm Leaders?; and January 19—Embarrassing Surpluses.

Farm Forums are simply groups of neighbours who gather together on Monday nights to hear the CBC Forum broadcast, study and discuss the topic, decide how their mutual problems can best be solved, and follow up with appropriate action. They are a joint project of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the Canadian Association for Adult Education, and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. This is their thirteenth season. Floyd Griesbach of Toronto is the National Farm Forum secretary. Local forum secretaries register their groups with the Provincial Farm Forum office and report forum opinions each week on a pad provided. They also arrange times and places for the weekly meetings.

John K. Frizzell, Manitoba provincial forum secretary, is a farm manager, lecturer, and general assistant in the faculty of agriculture at the University of Manitoba. He is a native of Duval, Saskatchewan, and a graduate of Moose Jaw Normal School. After three years teaching, he went to the University of Saskatchewan for his agricultural degree, graduating B.S.A. in 1942. Four years army service in Canada, England, and the Con-

Today: What's New in Fashions—Thelma LeCocq, Toronto; Points of View, Does Education Snub the Homemaker? Lillian Allen and Jean Edmonds, Winnipeg; Adventures of Barbara, I Learn to Ski—Barbara Whitley, Montreal; News Commentary—Constance Garneau, Montreal; Piano Duo—Edmund Assaly and Thelma Johannes, Montreal.

Thelma Johannes spent the years 1946-48 in France on a French Government scholarship. She studied at L'Ecole Normale, at the Paris Conservatoire de Musique under Alfred Cortot, and at the American Art School at Fontainebleau. At the same time she studied privately under Casadesu, and gave recitals devoted to Canadian compositions. Since coming home to Canada she has done concert work in the West under the sponsorship of the Saskatchewan Arts Board, and in Ontario for the Department of Education. Originally from Saskatoon, she is now living in Montreal.

CBC Wednesday Night

Introduction to Wednesday Night. Celebrations related to the winter solstice being past, and the "dark of the year" setting in for its slow advance to spring, CBC Wednesday Night this week is devoted in its main aspect to a sketch of winter living on a Canadian farm. If the frosty exchanges of UN delegates be taken as an indication that there is also a winter in our world affairs, the accompanying program on foreign policies is also in keeping with the season. A program of French Canadian music and a vocal and instrumental ensemble from Vancouver are added.

W-7:15 p.m. K-7:45 p.m. X-7:45 p.m.

French-Canadian Music. First of two programs of music by French-speaking composers. This week's program features traditional music of French Canada, and will be conducted by Roland Leduc of Montreal. An hour of modern French-Canadian music will be presented in the same period next week.

W-7:30 p.m. K-9:30 p.m. X-9:30 p.m.

Foreign Policy. First of two 45-minute broadcasts on foreign policy. George Simpson and Hans Morgenthau of the University of Chicago will discuss American foreign policy this week, and next week in the same period Canadian foreign policy will be discussed by Eugene Hallman of the CBC and A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University, distinguished Canadian historian. The two programs were prepared for mutual use by the CBC and the United States National Association of Educational Broadcasters. Messrs. Simpson and Morgenthau will consider possible changes in foreign policy to be introduced by the new U.S. administration.

Winter.

Repeat of Lloyd Roberts' word-sketch of wintertime on a Canadian farm first broadcast by CBC in 1949; J. Frank Willis, producer; from Toronto. Cast: The farmer—John Drainie; his wife—Ruth Springford; others—Budd Knapp, Grace Webster, Billie Mae Richards. Music by Godfrey Ridout, conducted by Samuel Hershenson.

In Roberts' sketch, with which Producer Willis combines an important musical score, winter is seen through the eyes of a Canadian farm family in the Ontario back concessions. Beauty and hardness are set side by side as the farmer's winter day progresses through the round of chores and pleasures, with each detail of the arduous work unsparingly told against the background of stark natural beauty. For three seasons of the year man makes his demands of the soil, reasonably sure that it will reward his labour of seedtime, cultivation, and harvest. Then comes winter, when the earth sleeps unmolested, protected for a time against the gnawing of the human insect. Work continues, but now concerns the fruits of the past year's soil, and preparation for the new cycle starting with the spring. Lloyd Roberts, born in Frederickton, N.B., is the son of Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, famous Canadian author. He has always been, like his father, an ardent outdoor man, carrying on a family tradition of canoeing and camping. He has lived most of his life in Ontario, but has travelled from the sub-Arctic to the Blue Mountains of Jamaica. He lived for some years on an old farm in the Northumberland Hills near Cobourg, Ontario.

continent followed, and on his return he worked as agricultural representative at Wynyard, Saskatchewan, for two years. He was appointed provincial farm forum secretary in September, 1952. He is a member of the Agricultural Institute of Canada and Manitoba Institute of Agrologists, and president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada and the Redboyne Artificial Breeding Club.

Saskatchewan having contributed a native son to Manitoba as provincial secretary, Manitoba contributes one of her own to Saskatchewan in the person of David Robinson. Mr. Robinson was born at Belmont, Manitoba, but moved to the Wadena district in Saskatchewan when quite young. He went through high school at Buchanan, Saskatchewan, and then took his agricultural degree at the University of Saskatchewan, specializing in horticulture. He was graduated in 1928. For ten years he worked in the university's extension department, directing winter courses in Saskatchewan youth training schools. Two years in the army followed, after which he returned to the extension department as a horticultural specialist. Mr. Robinson has been Saskatchewan forum secretary for six years. He is married and has three children.

James R. McFall is a thoroughgoing Albertan, whose early boyhood was spent in southeastern Alberta. He attended the Raymond School of Agriculture in the early '20's, and went on to the University of Alberta, graduating Bachelor of Agriculture in 1927. He went back to farming with his father and brothers after graduation, and during the winters of 1937-38 and 1938-39 assisted in the department of extension, University of Alberta, with Dominion-Provincial youth training. In 1938 also he worked under Dr. F. A. Wyatt in a soil survey program. Mr. McFall joined the staff of the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge in 1940 as supervisor of agricultural improvement associations, continuing this work until 1945 when he took his present position as secretary of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture.

The Machines.—Through the rumble we can hear more plainly what Kipling tried to tell us the machine age is saying to man—the secret of the machines:

Though our smoke may hide the heavens from your eyes, It will vanish and the stars will shine again; Because, for all our power and weight and size, We are nothing more than children of your brain. —Irene Craig, on CBC.

Bridson To East

BBC Writer Will Prepare Programs On Colombo Plan Under Commonwealth Arrangement

D. G. Bridson, the BBC's assistant head of feature programs, has begun a three-months' tour of Ceylon, Malaya, India and Pakistan. His journey is the first fruit of the Commonwealth Broadcasting Conference held last summer in London, at which delegates from the national broadcasting organizations of Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Great Britain, India, New Zealand, Pakistan and South Africa discussed the possibilities of closer integration and interchange of programs. (The CBC's representatives included Charles Jennings, assistant director general of programs, and R. S. Lambert, supervisor of school broadcasts.) Bridson's visit to the four countries, where he will be joined by Loftun Hyde, one of the Australian Broadcasting Commission's commentators, marks the initial step towards providing a service of Commonwealth programs, and is being jointly sponsored by the ABC and the BBC. The outcome will be three feature programs on the Colombo Plan as it affects India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Malaya. These will be heard in the spring in the BBC's Home and Overseas services, and transcribed versions will be made available to other countries. Bridson, a North Countryman of Manx origin who has been on the BBC staff since 1935, is one of that organization's principal feature writers.

Edwin Drood

Suspense Series To Do Two-Part Version Of Dickens' Classic

A famous and controversial mystery story, left unfinished by Charles Dickens, is being completed by a group of modern mystery-writing experts for a two-part program on successive broadcasts of Suspense early in 1953. "Ever since Dickens' death in 1870," says producer Elliott Lewis, "writers have speculated on how he intended to end The Mystery of Edwin Drood. No one, of course, will ever know, but I thought it would be interesting to try to develop a logical ending, in key with the rest of the story. We will present it in two parts in order to retain as much of the original Dickens flavour in the radio version as we possibly can."

Braden Again.—A new American play, The Man, by Myl Dinelli, will open in Edinburgh in November, with Bernard Braden in the male lead and Joan Miller opposite.

CBC Vancouver Concert Orchestra will have a guest soloist this Thursday night. ESTHER GLAZER, shown here with JASCHA HEIFETZ, will play the Stravinsky Violin Concerto in D with John Avison conducting. In private life Miss Glazer is the wife of Irwin Hoffman, resident conductor of the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra. The picture was taken at Tanglewood, Mass., three summers ago where Miss Glazer was a participant in the Berkshire Festival.

Trans-Canada Matinee.

Today: Deeds That Live—Mary, Queen of Scots—Harriet Hill, Montreal; News Commentary—Constance Garneau, Montreal; Piano Duo—Edmund Assaly and Thelma Johannes, Montreal.

The 1953 edition of the series Deeds That Live starts today. Canadian newspaper women and radio commentators in different parts of the country will discuss living and historical women who are remembered for their contributions to human welfare and their work for various freedoms. This afternoon Harriet Hill of Montreal will discuss the statecraft of Mary, Queen of Scots. On the 16th Kay Russeholt of Winnipeg will talk about Margaret McWilliams, the late wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, who was widely known as a lecturer on public affairs, community leader, writer and research historian.

W-3:45 p.m. K-3:00 p.m. X-3:00 p.m.

Sleepytime Story Teller. Stories for children told by Stan Chapman of Campbellton, N.B. Today: Princess Maleen.

W-5:00 p.m. K-5:30 p.m. X-5:30 p.m.

Theatre Hour. Spellbound, adapted by Alfred Harris of Toronto from a screen drama by Ben Hecht. It deals with psychoanalysis and a woman psychiatrist who risks her life and professional reputation to cure the man with whom she has fallen in love.

Dom. 7:00 p.m. MST

Music by Eric Wild. Orchestra conducted by Eric Wild; Maxine Ware, vocalist; Kerr Wilson, baritone. From Winnipeg.

Orchestra: Grasshopper's Dance; Jalousie; Slaughter on 10th Ave.; Strike Up the Band. Maxine: My Favourite Song. Kerr Wilson: Love Passes By.

W-8:30 p.m. K-6:30 p.m. X-6:30 p.m.

Ten variations on the aria, Come un aguello, by Sarti—K. 460 (Mozart). W-9:45 p.m.

Speaker's Choice. Tonight: All About Serenades, by Dr. Boyd Neel. From Toronto. Dr. Neel is a well-known British conductor who was in Canada recently on a tour with his orchestra. He was guest conductor of the CBC Symphony Orchestra on December 1.

W-10:00 p.m. K-10:45 p.m. X-10:45 p.m.

Vancouver Drama.

Stalemate by Gilbert Thomas; Raymond Whitehouse, producer; Cast: Journalist—Roland Hunter; his wife—Mary Mathews; from Vancouver.

Gilbert Thomas is an English radio writer, and Roland Hunter and Mary Mathews are both recent arrivals from that country. The play deals with a wealthy journalist who refuses to admit that he is still in love with his wife, who has long taken second place to his career. He takes a jaunt to Spain for new material, and there his wife finds a new romantic interest in a matador, much to her husband's perturbation. It turns out, however, that the matador has quite a long list of conquests, too.

W-10:30 p.m. K-9:30 p.m. X-9:30 p.m.

Music from Films. Tonight: Captain from Castile, by Alfred Newman. Commentary by Gerald Pratley.

W-11:00 p.m. K-10:00 p.m. X-10:00 p.m.

The Duty of Beauty

... When we pick up a magazine for a moment's relaxation, what do we find? Another article saying, "Housewives, it is your duty to be beautiful!"

It isn't that we don't want to be beautiful. We'd love to. It's just that beauty editors have a very strange idea of how the lady of the house spends her day. They just aren't practical. And what might very easily be the last straw was a beauty quizz that appeared recently...

It was illustrated, this "How Do You Look to Him?" by a big coloured photograph of a lovely lady in a housecoat of robin's egg blue. This vision leaned against a counter, holding a cup of coffee with one hand and laughingly pointing to an item in her husband's newspaper with the other. This was supposed to represent a breakfast.

"She didn't fry bacon in that!" said one of the girls.—Vinia Hoogstraten, on CBC.

CBC French Network

In the week January 4-10, the western section of the CBC French Network will carry two more broadcasts by the Paris company of Madeleine Renaud and Jean-Louis Barrault. The first, on Sunday, is Les Adieux, consisting of readings of well-known selections from French literature; and on Tuesday, the company will be heard in Moliere's Les Fourberies de Scapin. The regular daily series of Musical Masterpieces will include recorded performances of Dukas' Sorcerer's Apprentice (Monday), A Night on Bald Mountain, Moussorgsky (Tuesday), and Beethoven's Prometheus Overture (Friday). The Thursday recital will be by Simone Rainville, soprano.

LEONARD MAYOH, baritone, moved to Halifax from Manchester, England, a year ago. He appears with soprano Audrey Farnell on CBC Concert Hall this Tuesday.

Children's Theatre. This Saturday's program will be produced in the Winnipeg studios by Emrys Jones, who will present Twenty Years After—A Sequel to Jack and the Bean Stalk, by Ben Lepkin. As the title suggests, the play deals with Jack and his mother when he is a grown man. The giant is dead, but Blunderbore Jr. turns up with the purpose of avenging his father's death. He finds it difficult to do this because he himself is a good-natured sort of fellow, but he is happy to discover, before the play ends, that it isn't really necessary, after all, for him to do anything about avenging his ill-fated dad. Other characters in the play include the Mayor, a typical small-town politician; and several tourists who are shown around the scene of Jack's original exploit by an amusing tourist guide. As all fantasies for children should, this one ends happily for everyone.

Metropolitan Opera. Die Mietersinger von Nuernberg, Wagner. With Paul Schoeffler, baritone, as Sachs; Victoria de los Angeles, soprano, as Eva; and Hans Hopf, tenor, as von Stolzing. W-1:00 p.m. K-12:00 noon X-12:00 noon

Mail Bag

From Illinois.

While driving down from Chicago on Wednesday evening (November 12) we listened with delight to your performance of A Doctor in Spite of Himself and the Mozart, Rameau and Beethoven concert that followed. What a delightful evening of entertainment it was, and how grateful I am to you, gentlemen, for presenting it on CBW, Winnipeg.—R. P. G., Springfield, Illinois.

Not Second-hand.

Without the CBC Canadian radio wouldn't be Canadian... wouldn't be anything but warmed-over American. American may be all right too, but not second-hand American. I certainly hope our government will continue through the usual democratic process to direct our radio, and close its ears to powerful interests that are howling to hand over the television franchise to private advertisers. Their arguments are spurious as anyone who can follow a line of reasoning can see. I, for one, am very willing to wait for Canadian television, and to buy a license for it.—A. A. H., Vancouver.

The Messiah.

Let me thank you for last Wednesday's presentation of The Messiah (CBC Wednesday Night, Dec. 10) —it was the finest performance I have ever heard of the work. All the solo voices especially seemed well geared to handle the demands of Mr. Handel (if you'll pardon the pun), and seemed to be on a more equal footing with each other. The whole performance was exceedingly polished... My mother is past 82 and in her youth in Toronto sang in the Mendelssohn Choir herself, but she said Wednesday was the first time in her life she listened to the whole of The Messiah and she thoroughly enjoyed it... Thanks for making this wonderful work available to us once more.—Miss L. P. Turbayne, Calgary, Alta.

Preferences.

My family consists of my husband (University graduate) myself (not a University graduate) and our two boys ages ten and eight... Our radio is turned on every morning to get the time and weather and is turned off at 8:10 and usually is off until the Dominion Time Signal at noon... I always listen to afternoon concert and I enjoy the school broadcast at 3:00 o'clock. I don't always listen to Trans-Canada Matinee because I am busy about the house... I have not turned on Lux Theatre for a year or more because I found the plays tepid compared with Ford Theatre and Stage 53. Perhaps it is the Hollywood stereotyped presentation that is boring and the advertising seems to occupy one-third of the program. I must confess that I don't very often listen to CBC Wednesday Night although I think it is a wonderful program. The program starts so early that by the time I have done the dishes and read the boys a story I have missed a good deal of it. However, I didn't miss The Messiah which I thought was just as splendid as ever... The boys are enthusiastic about the CBC Stamp Club on Saturday. I like the opera. We like Share the Wealth quite well but sometimes find it a very noisy program to listen to for long.—Mary Moore, Winnipeg, Man.
