An Irish Afrikander

As a child, Kate Blake often stood on the stone-piered docks of Galway Bay in Ireland and watched the fishing boats come in with their loads of herring, salmon or lobster. She practised the first elementary steps of ballet on the remains of Galway's 13th-century town walls and near crumbled ruins of Spanish architecture. She was enthusiastic about her first ocean voyage, after her famil decided to leave Ireland and move to South Africa. The city they chose was Johannesburg, the gold-mining centre. Her Irish brogue was soon edged with the accents of an Afrikander.

It was a troubled girl who one day approached a Holy Sister and expressed conflicting ambitions. The Sister accepted her problem with an understanding smile, and a week later advised the girl that she might make a better actress than a nun. The decision made, she began an arduous training period with Amy Coleridge, who had been associated at one time with the Ellen Terry Theatrical Company and with Sir Henry Irving.

A year later a professional company of actors arrived from England. After seeing her in a local production of Romeo and Juliet the director asked her to play the lead role in their own production of the same Shakespeare play. It was an excited young woman of 14 who accepted the challenge.

Before the war she went to England and worked for a time under Dame Sybil Thorndyke at the Embassy Dramatic School. Then she went into repertory and radio work, finally joining the BBC staff in Glasgow.

When Kate Blake thought she was ready, she went to the offices of H. M. Tennant, a famous theatrical producer. She won a coveted role in Cradle Song, which was to be produced by John Gielgud.

Cradle Song was followed by a part in A Man About the House, in which she played with Flora Robson. While her role was not outstanding, the play proved important to her because, on the second performance, the leading lady became ill, and Miss Blake was moved into the lead. Only 22 at the time, she had to play a character of 52. Her portrayal was considered good and earned her further roles in London. (Please turn to page 8)

W-4:00 p.m. K-3:00 p.m. X-2:00 p.m.

PORTRAIT OF A WOMAN. Third of seven half-hour dramas by Weldon Hanbury of Vancouver; Ken Davey, producer; from Montreal. Today's play is based on a stage production, Two Sides to a Tortoise, which won a first prize some years ago in a west coast competition. The woman in the case is "Mrs. Lauder," and the story is of a mother's peculiar brand of honesty in dealing with a family crisis.

W-4:30 p.m. K-3:30 p.m. X-2:30 p.m.

ASK THE WEATHERMAN. First of two talks on rainbows. According to Rube Hornstein, weatherman, 99 persons out of 100 have only vague impressions about rainbows—even artists who put them in landscapes, writers who describe them in poems and novels and scientists who show extraordinarily limited powers of observation in discussing them. Today's talk covers both facts and folklore about the rainbow. Next week the weatherman discusses its colours.

W-5:05 p.m. K-4:05 p.m. X-3:05 p.m.

MUSIC I LIKE. Mme. Pauline Donalda, former opera star, is this afternoon's speaker. Mme. Donalda made her operatic debut at the age of 17 in a performance of Mignon at Monte Carlo, and engagements followed at Covent Garden in London, the Opera Comique in Paris, and the Manhattan Opera House in New York. She organized the Opera Guild in Montreal, which figured prominently in Canadian music for many years. Mme. Donalda chooses music rich in associations for her. Among her vivid recollections are engagements in which she sang with the great tenor, Enrico Caruso.

W-5:30 p.m. K-4:30 p.m. X-3:30 p.m.

SUNDAY CHORALE. Choir conducted by W. H. Anderson; Filmer Hubble, organist. Frank Stanley, producer. From Winnipeg.

All Beautiful the March of Days (traditional); Come My Way (A. Harris); Seek Ye the Lord (Palestrina); How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings (Fair (Haydn)); Let Hearts Awaken (J. Clokey); As Pants the Hart (W.

son); Save Us O Lord (Edward Baird-stow); The Lord's Prayer (Langdon).

W-7:00 p.m. K-6:00 p.m. X-5:00 p.m.

SUMMER THEATRE. For Whom the Horses Run, by Ted Allan. A newspaperman, seeking a story to expose racketeers who control civic elections, gathers evidence to incriminate the leader of the racketeers, but is offered a large sum to withhold it.

W-8:00 p.m. K-7:00 p.m. X-6:00 p.m.

WEEKEND REVIEW. A review of the current news by Robert Mackenzie.

W-9:10 p.m. K-8:10 p.m. X-7:10 p.m.

OUR SPECIAL SPEAKER. Friedelind Wagner will discuss the Bayreuth Festival, devoted to the works of Richard Wagner. Miss Wagner, granddaughter of the composer and great-granddaughter of Franz Liszt, was born in Bayreuth. She is a stage director, lecturer and author. Her autobiography, Heritage of Fire, deals chiefly with her early life in and around Wahnfried, music festivals in Germany, musical personalities, and the beginning of the Nazi movement. Assisted by Arturo Toscanini, Miss Wagner went to the United States in 1941 to lecture on music and world affairs.

W-9:20 p.m. K-8:20 p.m. X-7:20 p.m.

LITTLE SYMPHONIES. Orchestra conducted by Roland Leduc; Walter Joachim, 'cellist; from Montreal.

Concertstuck for 'Cello and Orchestra, Op. 12 (Ernst von Dohnanyi).

Walter Joachim was first 'cellist of the Cologne Chamber Orchestra under Richard Strauss, Herman Scherben and Igor Stravinsky. World War II caught him at Singapore in 1940 on a tour with the Quartetto d'Italia, and he went from there to Shanghai, where for ten years he taught the master class for 'cellists at the national conservatory. From China he came to Canada in 1952, and he now lives in Montreal, where he performs frequently with the Musica Antica e Nuova, a group of musicians and singers founded by Mme. Celia Bizony.

W-9:30 p.m. K-8:30 p.m. X-7:30 p.m.

WINNIPEG CONCERT. CBC Winnipeg Concert Orchestra conducted by Eric Wild; Stanley Wood, oboe. Tom Taylor, producer. From Winnipeg.

Orchestra: Symphony in E Flat, No. 39 (Mozart); Norwegian Dances (Grieg); Stanley Wood: Concerto for Oboe (Richard Strauss).

W-10:00 p.m. K-9:00 p.m. X-8:00 p.m.

CBC MUSIC DIARY. Tonight's subject is Pablo Casals, world famous 'cellist. Ronald Hambleton of Toronto attended the second Perpignan Festival and had many conversations with Casals. He discusses the festival and the 'cellist's ideas about music, illustrating his talk with works recorded at the Perpignan and Prades festivals by artists gathered there to make music with Casals.

W-12:30 p.m. K-11:30 p.m. X-10:30 p.m.

DOMINION MAGAZINE.

Documentary on the province of Nova Scotia; interviews with fishermen, farmers, miners, pilots, etc.; Doug How, reporter; from Toronto.

This report will include a Halifax harbour pilot talking about the deep-sea port in peace and war; the story of 80-year-old George Allen, who puts in a 15-hour day in his fishing boat on Northumberland Strait; a report on the Canso Causeway, which will link Cape Breton Island with the Nova Scotian mainland this fall; and bagpipes playing at the Gaelic Mod in Saint Ann, Cape Breton. One of Nova Scotia's economic tragedies, and the recovery therefrom, will also be described in a special report on the Annapolis Valley, which once supplied Great Britain with most of its apples. When the apple market collapsed through unavoidable currency restrictions, Annapolis people uprooted a million trees and turned to mixed farming. The growth of mixed farming is illustrated by the statement that in 1935 Nova Scotia sold 9,000 lbs. of poultry, and in 1953, 3,000,000 lbs.

DISTINGUISHED ARTISTS. Bernard Diamant, baritone; John Newmark, pianist; from Montreal.

Die Winterreise (Winter Journey) (Schubert), First Part. Moment Musical, Op. 94, No. 2 (Schubert).

Mr. Diamant will perform Schubert's celebrated song cycle in two parts, tonight and next week. There are 24 songs of profound beauty and melancholy, a strange and moving expression of the deathlike purity of winter, and the winter of a human heart. Schubert himself called it "a cycle of terrifying songs, which have affected me more than any other songs." The difficulties are great - sudden changes from one end of the scale to the other for the singer, subtle and complicated harmonies for the accompanist. Bernard Diamant was born in Holland and received his early training from his father, a famous choral conductor. He studied later in Paris and Berlin, and toured Europe. He came to Montreal three years ago, and has been heard since then in various parts of Canada and on the air. John Newmark, well known to CBC listeners, will be heard in one of Schubert's "Moments Musical" in addition to accompanying Mr. Diamant.

ROUND TABLE.

A new live program from CBWT, Winnipeg; John Hirsch, producer. The plan is to present discussions of matters of current public interest.

Tonight's discussion is on "Manitoba's Roads." Professor Reuben Bellan of the department of economics, University of Manitoba, will be in the chair, and it is hoped that the deputy minister of highways for Manitoba, Mr. George Collins, will also participate. CBWT-8:45 p.m.

FOLLOW THAT MAN. Ralph Bellamy plays the role of Mike Barnett, private investigator, in this series of mystery yarns, with Lisa Howard in the supporting cast. Tonight the tale is of a pay-roll grab in a big factory, an unsuccessful getaway, an obliging landlady, and a wounded robber too-closely related to his victim. Mike Barnett proves that blood is thicker than water in solving this murder case.

CBWT-9:00 p.m.

WHAT'S MY LINE? This popular New York series started on CBWT August 10, and will be seen on alternate weeks. Before a panel of judges, usually well known people, a man or woman in ordinary business clothes appears. Odd clues are given, and panelists are asked to tell what the person's occupation is—what's his line. Sometimes they succeed. They are allowed to ask the guest ten questions, answerable "Yes" or "No." Sometimes a "mystery guest" turns up, the panelists being blindfolded.

covering a total of more than 150,000 miles, in search of new acts and new techniques for the show. He covered the entertainment capitals of Europe from Stockholm to Lisbon, and introduced dozens of Europe's leading acts to audiences on this side. This year, marking special events, the show has originated in Hollywood, Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Philadelphia, and there have been remote pickups from Minneapolis, Atlanta and Miami Beach. Artists who made their TV debuts on Toast of the Town include Martin and Lewis, Jackie Gleason, Rosemary Clooney, Rise Stevens, Margaret Truman, Johnnie Ray, Joni James, Sophie Tucker and Lena Horne. The program has been on the air for six years without interruption. Sullivan has missed just one broadcast. Marlo Lewis is his co-producer. Ed Sullivan was a New York newspaperman for 30 years, his column "Little Old New York" in the tabloid Daily News being well known in recent years.

FESTIVAL.

The Marriage, modern ballet with choreography by Joey Harris, music by Francis Poulenc. Cast: Man — Joey Harris; Woman — Annette Brand; Frivolity — Diana Childerhouse; Vanity — Angela Leigh; Tragedy — Marty Trent; Judge — Fergus Hunter; Pages — Colleen Kenney, Leslie Hamilton. Sets by Nicolai Soloviov; Lloyd Brydon, producer. From Toronto.

Man and Woman are about to be pronounced man and wife. Before Man seals the union with the words "I do," the viewer sees a dream-like sequence suggesting the inner turmoil of his mind, his doubts and his dreams. The scene shifts to a courtroom, and the minister becomes a judge. Three of Man's past loves — Frivolity, Vanity and Tragedy—parade before him. He dances with all three, and the judge demands: "Do you take this woman?" But the perfect woman is not to be found.

RADIO NOTES

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE.

Adventures of Para Handy, Lodgers on a Houseboat, Hugh Webster; History on Your Doorstep, Madame Albani, Lou Craig, Montreal; news commentary, records.

Para Handy takes a family of lodgers aboard the Vital Spark while at anchor in the harbour at Crarae, and has trouble dislodging them. Lou Craig's next door neighbour in Fort Chambly, Quebec, if she had lived 114 years ago, would have been Louise Emma Lajeunesse, whose fame as "Mme. Albani" became quite a marvel in her home town.

W-3:30 p.m. K-3:30 p.m. X-2:30 p.m.

OUTDOORS WITH KERRY WOOD.

This is the sixth talk in Kerry Wood's series. The day's trek being over and the young woodsmen settling down for their evening meal, the talk is about cooking. We learn how to make a bannock, woodsman's substitute for bread, and very good, too; hunter's stew; lamb's quarter and plantain and dandelions for vegetables; saskatoons and bush strawberries and dewberries for dessert. And after such a fine meal, a little entertainment is in order, and it turns out to be a bull-fight. But what a bull-fight! Callon learned it from the Calgary Rover Scouts, who staged one when Lord Baden-Powell, Chief Scout of the world, paid them a visit. The bull consisted of two Rover Scouts, one at each end, cross-eyes, wobbly horns, tail like a hat-rack, and a lot of comic antics. Callon made one, too, and used it to stalk some mallard ducks—with odd results.

W-5:00 p.m. K-5:30 p.m. X-4:30 p.m.

JUST FOR JUNIORS. Today's recorded stories for young folk are: The Billy Goats Gruff, told by Boris Karloff (repeated by request), and a western story, Hopalong Cassidy and the Two-legged Wolf.

K-6:00 p.m. X-5:00 p.m.

AS THEY SAW IT. Second of a series of talks on western events by people who were either present on the occasion, or have gathered authentic information from those who were. Tonight the speaker is Chris Higginbotham of Regina, and the subject is the Regina riots.

Thursday, August 26, W-10:45 p.m.

INTRODUCTION TO WEDNESDAY NIGHT. The Wednesday Night program this week is chiefly devoted to Dylan Thomas, Welsh poet; his work, and his native country, Wales.

W-7:15 p.m. K-7:45 p.m. X-6:45 p.m.

CBC Wednesday Night

DYLAN THOMAS READING. A half-hour of poetry readings by Dylan Thomas, made on his last visit to Vancouver, May, 1952; Robert Harley, producer; from Vancouver.

Broken appointment, Thomas Hardy; Nightingales, Robert Bridges; The Owl, Edward Thomas; Lament For Mrs. Mary Moore, and For Anne Gregory, W. B. Yeats; The Unknown Citizen, and September 1st, 1939, W. H. Auden; A Winter's Tale, from Deaths and Entrances, Dylan Thomas.

Dylan Thomas died in New York on November 9, 1953. He had been conducting a lecture tour of the United States.

W-7:30 p.m. K-8:30 p.m. X-7:30 p.m.

UNDER MILK WOOD.

Under Milk Wood, a play for voices in verse and prose, by Dylan Thomas; from BBC.

The play deals with twenty-four hours in a small Welsh fishing village. Spring foams through the place, which has "fallen head over bells in love." The scene opens with "moonless night in the small town, starless and bible-black," and closes with night darkening the streets again. Between are dreams, encounters, gossipings in kitchens and bedrooms, in the Sailor's Arms, the schoolyard, the Welfare Inn and the dusky wood. Thomas began the work in 1937, for the BBC, titling it then The Village That Was Mad. He delivered the final version to the BBC shortly before he left England in October, 1953, for his last journey. He was 40 when he died in New York on November 9. Followers of contemporary English verse regarded him as one of the major poets of his generation, but even his closest friends were surprised by the widespread mourning occasioned by his early death.

W-8:00 p.m. K-9:00 p.m. X-8:00 p.m.

CBC SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Symphony orchestra conducted by Geoffrey Waddington; from Toronto.

Overture to Egmont (Beethoven); Symphony No. 3 in E Flat, Eroica (Beethoven).

W-9:30 p.m. K-10:00 p.m. X-9:00 p.m.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Ernest Maynard, organist of Bath Abbey; from BBC. Program; Duetto (Whitlock); Fantasy on a tune, Babylon's Streams (Harris).

Though Bath was mercilessly bombed during the war, the German airmen left Bath Abbey almost unscathed. Near the Pump Room and the Great Roman Bath, the Abbey is one of the most precious monuments of the beautiful city. It is believed to stand on the ground of a nunnery founded in 676 and a church in which King Edgar was crowned in the 10th century. The present building was completed in 1616, but was heavily restored in the 19th century. The famous West Front with its eight angels was designed by Bishop Oliver King, 15th century ecclesiast and secretary to the king.

W-10:30 p.m. K-11:15 p.m. X-10:15 p.m.

TWO 'CELLO CONCERTI. Reynold Siemens, 'cellist, with CBC Winnipeg String Orchestra; T. M. Taylor, producer; from Winnipeg.

Concerto for 'Cello and Strings in E Minor (Vivaldi); Concerto for 'Cello and Strings in A Major (Tartini).

The Tartini work is having its western hemisphere premiere on this occasion.

Reynold Siemens

Guiseppe Tartini (1692-1770) was a brilliant violinist, composer and musical theorist. The acoustical phenomenon of the "third tone" was his discovery and is still called "Tartini's tone." Son of a nobleman of Padua, he secretly married Cardinal Cornero's niece, and had to fly to Rome to escape the Cardinal's wrath. He was forgiven later, partly because of his magnificent violin playing, and went on to a greater career in music. His A Major Concerto was written originally for viola da gamba, and arranged for 'cello and strings by Oreste Ravanello, who gave it its first European performance at Padua, with A. Cuccoli as soloist. Antonio Vivaldi (1675-1741) wrote nearly 70 string concerti, of which the E Minor is probably the most popular. Reynold Siemens, 'cello soloist in these works, had his early training with Adelaide Sinclair in Winnipeg. In 1952 he received a scholarship for study with Leonard Rose at the Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, and was the first student in the 'cello department to receive an A standing during Mr. Rose's regime. Siemens has appeared as soloist with the Bronx Symphony of New York and the CBC Orchestra in Winnipeg, and has given recitals in a number of

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE.

Seeing For Myself, Holland on the Run, Barbara Whitley, Montreal; Ruth Harding; news commentary; records.

Barbara Whitley says she spiralled, windmilled and plopped from the highlands of Switzerland to the lowlands of Holland. In Holland a young lady had arranged an itinerary for her, including only "musts." But there were two weeks of "musts," and only two days of time, so Barbara had to take it on the run.

MEMO FROM U.N.

Story of the life and work of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, famous scholar, musician and medical missionary, based on a despatch from a United Nations reporter following a visit to Lambarene in French Equatorial Africa, where Dr. Schweitzer now lives, and operates his famous hospital settlement.

Albert Schweitzer was born in Upper Alsace, son and grandson of Alsatian pastors. He was recognized as a scholar of exceptional brilliance while still in his twenties, when his works on Christ and St. Paul had already had a profound effect on theological thought. He was also a fine organist and an authority on organ building, and he had written an important book on Bach. At 30, his reputation was international. From then on his personal philosophy led him to a complete change. He felt that his duty was "to assume his share of the world's misery," and he became a missionary after seven years of preparation in teaching, preaching, lecturing, organ playing, writing and acquiring a degree in medicine. In 1913 he left Strasbourg with his wife for French Equatorial Africa to teach Christianity and to fight disease among the natives, and settled at Lambarene, on the Ogowe River. Today his hospital settlement has forty buildings and 500 beds, and deeper in the forest, his leper village houses 200 men, women and children. Dr. Schweitzer, at 79, still lives at Lambarene, but makes occasional visits to Europe and America to raise money for his hospitals through lectures and organ recitals. Dom. 9:45 p.m.

VANCOUVER STRINGS. String orchestra conducted by Jan de Rimanoczy; from Vancouver.

Symphony No. 2 (L. Rivier); Pas-sacaglia (Halvorsen).

AMOS 'N ANDY. This is the TV version of one of the most venerable of radio shows. Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, who originated the program, are still the producers, with Charles Barton as director, and scripts by Bob Ross, Dave Schwartz, Joseph Connelly and Robert Mosher. The cast in the TV show is: Amos—Alvin Childress; Andy—Spencer Williams; The Kingfish—Tim Moore; Sapphire—Ernestine Wade; Lightnin'—Horace Stewart; Mama, Kingfish's mother-in-law—Amanda Randolph; Consultant Algonquin J. Calhoun—Johnny Lee. In recent episodes, The Kingfish has been moving more and more to the centre of the stage, with Amos and Andy in the background. The clever Kingfish is always thinking up schemes for making money, and using poor Andy for a dupe. Meantime, he himself gets into a great fuss over his pretty wife, Sapphire, and tangles himself in an endless series of difficulties. The famous characters, in TV are as blundering and good-humoured and quaint as they are on radio.

CBWT-8:00 p.m.

FIGHTING WORDS. A panel of experts tries to identify quotations sent in by viewers, with awards going to the contributing viewers when the questions are answered, and larger ones when they are not. Nathan Cohen is the chairman. From Toronto.

CBWT-9:00 p.m.

RACKET SQUAD. Rackets! They run through all the business and social life of new communities, and even in older ones where routines are longer established and people know one another better, they are not absent. A young working widow takes her child to a sub-standard day nursery; a young serviceman makes an imprudent marriage to an "Allotment Annie"; a man in difficulties borrows money from an individual who charges interest rates much greater than the law allows. In the "Racket Squad" TV series, which concludes this week, some of them have been exposed in dramatic form, with Reed Hadley as the alert Captain Braddock of the Bunco Squad.

PLAYBILL.

Ill Met By Moonlight, by Peter Francis of Toronto; Arthur Hiller, producer; from Toronto.

The events are seen through the eyes of a little girl, whose jaded mother runs a theatrical boardinghouse in which two tenants are a boorish weight-lifter and an evil Arab sword-swallower. One day the mother rents a room to a charming magician, by whose feats of legerdemain the little girl is captivated. He is kind, and a warm friendship springs up between the two. He confides that his most prized possessions are kept locked in a trunk in his room. The weight-lifter and the sword-swallower hear of this trunk, think it is full of valuables, and plan to murder the magician. But the little girl, over-hearing, warns her friend.

The Empire Games

Members of no mean family

(By Bruce Marsh, CBC Winnipeg, who was one of the CBC's commentators at the British Empire Games)

JUST returning from Vancouver it's still a little early to sort out in my mind all the thrills that I witnessed in the 1954 British Empire and Commonwealth Games. But I do know that it was a great privilege to attend as a member of the CBC commentating team and be able to talk with the athletes from the various countries; to have the best seats in the stands for the various events and to be present when so many records were broken.

I was impressed with the great competitive spirit which was present in every sport. I have never seen such a high standard of will-to-win. Every athlete I talked to was concerned with just one thing, to be able to win for his country.

But along with this great will to win, there was an equally great fellowship among the representatives from the various countries. The Commonwealth seemed to be a vital reality as we met, talked and worked with the athletes from the twenty-four different countries.

The final day of the games was really the most exciting, with the tremendous mile race, the tragic ending to the marathon and the great display of courage by England's Jim Peters, and of course Canada's great show in winning the 440 relay, and getting a second in the pole vault. My biggest thrill, I suppose, was the rowing event when Canada's crew of Eights from the University of British Columbia defeated the great English rowing crew from the Thames Rowing Club by three lengths. And that same day, I had the privilege of describing the arrival of His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh for his first visit to the games.

As I say, it's still too soon to sort out all the events and put them in their proper perspective. But I do know that I'll always remember the British Empire and Commonwealth Games as a truly great experience. I know it may seem a commonplace thing to say, but when I saw those great athletes from so many far away places assembled, all singing the same National Anthem, I had a new feeling about myself as a member of a mighty and potent family.

Late Program Notes

FOR WEEK OF AUGUST 15-21, 1954
SUNDAY, AUGUST 15

Football Forum. The series is now to be known as Football Huddle. In this opening program, Jack Wells, m.c., and Ralph Misener, president, and Al Sherman, coach, of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, will be heard discussing films of the previous day's Blue Bomber games.
CBWT-6:00 p.m.

The Immortal Clown. Charlie Chaplin films made before 1923, with commentary by Walter O'Hearn, Montreal drama critic. Chaplin the wistful tramp had won the world's heart by 1915 with his uproarious clowning. From then on, every film featuring the funny little man with the bowler hat, the enormous feet, and the unshakable politeness and grace, was a moviegoer's event. Chaplin's famous fade-out, with the little tramp disappearing in the distance, undone and frustrated in all his undertakings, yet still blithe and unconcerned, became a trademark. CBWT will carry a number of his most famous and funniest films.
CBWT-10:00 p.m.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19

Kraft Theatre. The Happy Touch, by Edmund Beloin and Henry Garson. Cast: Ellie—Zazu Pitts; Emily—Doro Merande; Emelia—Margaret Hamilton; Sam—Chester Stratton; Bowditch—Malcolm Beggs. Miss Pitts, Kansas-born actress whose fluttering hands became a trade-mark in many movie roles, plays a genteel safe-cracker who climaxes a lifetime of quiet chicanery with a job for charity. Doro Merande was seen in the movie Mr. Belvedere Rings the Bell, and Margaret Hamilton is well known for her role as the Witch in The Wizard of Oz.

CBWT-9:30 p.m.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 21

Stu Davis. Cowboy troubadour; Dan Wood, producer; from Calgary. Down the Road to Love (J. Skinner); Ring, Telephone, Ring (Norvas-deVol); Bimbo No. 2 (Rod Morris); Angel in Disguise (Roy-Pink); I Won't Be Home No More (Hank Williams).
W-11:45 a.m. K-10:45 a.m. X-9:45 a.m.

Sons of the Saddle. Group conducted by Vic Siebert; Vic and Len Siebert, vocalists; The Mellow Maids; Dan Wood, producer; from Calgary. Ensemble: Liza Jane; Devil's Dream; Goofoo; The West, A Nest, and You; The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise (Seitz). V. Siebert: Home In San Antonio (Floyd Jenkins). L. Siebert: Philadelphia Lawyer (Maddox-Rose). Mellow Maids: Jealous Heart (Jennie Lou Carson). Cool Water (Bob Nolan).
