FEATURES

10 America's Most Wanted

After a six week reign on top of the CMJ Top 200 charts, a notoriously fervent live show and their current onslaught on music television, And You Will Know Us By The Trail Of Dead is bringing a much-needed revitalization to rock 'n' roll. "A live show is an interactive and visual experience, and we acknowledge it as being that," states frontman Conrad Keely. "Our attempts to return to that is a reaction against the kind of blasé-ness that seems to have infected live performances over the past 10 years, especially among a lot of indie bands who seem to feel that they can be aloof to their audiences or ignore their audiences all together. That's just lame." America, meet your Trail Of Dead.

TOM WAITS

Alice/Blood Money (Anti-/Epitaph)

Tom Waits just can't lay an egg, but is that because he's attained a level of creative impunity? Is anything he creates an automatic classic simply because it's a product of his sublimely bent mass of gray matter? God damn right — even if it's not always an heroic improvement. And he must know that. Why else would he follow up a Grammy-winning album (1999's Mule Variations) with two albums? If you think about it, it's perfectly logical and the only way to go. Not that quantity itself rules; it's the trick of turning out a deuce of distinguished discs to prove a point: that Tom Waits is just Tom Waits doing Tom Waits. The Grammy might as well have been awarded for his entire body of work, 'cause he's not exactly trolling undiscovered country; he's just putting out consistently good collections of songs. Both the brooding, jazzy Alice and the subdued LSD hootenanny Blood Money are as good as Mule and any other item in Waits' discography. The appeal lies in the eclectic instrumentation, stark, cinematic imagery and scratchy, Louis Armstrong-in-The Exorcist crooning, which create an effect of being pulled through a cool, endless corridor walled in black-andwhite celluloid. And while it's nothing groundbreaking, it's a hell of a ride. God.

Damn. Right. — Randy Harward

BREEDERS

Title T/K (Elektra–EEG)

Come on, you know you remember those distorted "Ooh ooh aahs" from the Breeders' massive hit, 1993's ubiquitous "Cannonball," from their platinum smash Last Splash. Well, it's nearly 10 years later and they've just gotten around to the follow-up, the sleepy Title T/K. But while the Breeders have been out of alt-rock's public eye over the last few years, twin sisters Kim and Kelley Deal who are approaching 40 — haven't been living quietly in the 'burbs or anything like that. The sisters have endured plenty of personal drama and quirks, namely Kelley's harrowing heroin addiction and former Pixie Kim's relocation to a trailer in East Los Angeles. All this activity hasn't manifested itself in Title T/K, a surprisingly low-key, beat-focused record. The cast has changed (only the sisters Deal remain from the Last Splash line-up), but Title T/K is not an alt-comeback by any means. Just as Hole followed up the scrappy grunge classic Live Through This with the pretty 'n' polished Celebrity Skin, Kim shows her softer side on tunes like "The She" and "Too Alive." While there are some classic Breeders rockers like "Little Fury" and "London," the Deals do it their way. Like its generic name, Title T/K is an album that refuses to cop to the package deal expected of it. — Amy Sciarretto

VARIOUS ARTISTS

1 Giant Leap (Palm)

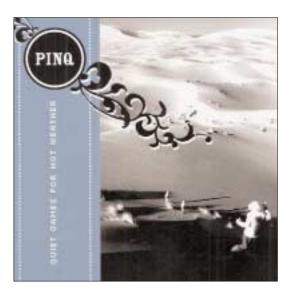

1 Giant Leap is the brainchild of producer/filmmakers Jamie Catto (a former Faithless member) and Duncan Bridgeman. The two set out to create an audio/video project bringing together musicians, authors, scientists and scholars all over the world in the true spirit of global unity, to "explore the unity in diversity," according to the album's liner notes. The "soundtrack" of the project includes contributions from the likes of Senegal's Baaba Maal, New Zealand's Whiri Mako Black and the U.K.'s Eddie Reader along with collaborations from Robbie Williams and Maxi Jazz (Catto's Faithless bandmate), Michael Stipe and Asha Bhosle (from India), and many others. The album showcases a true fusion between East and West, North and South and succeeds in successfully pulling artists from different backgrounds together in, dare we say, perfect harmony. Even Williams and Stipe leave their egos at home, lending only their talent to "My Culture" and "The Way You Dream," respectively. All the musical elements are so lovingly crafted here, from the vocals to percussion to instrumentation, listeners should be careful to hold it in both hands, ever so gently. Although some of the tracks share a certain other-worldly, heavily produced, onechord-on-a-synthesizer-held-for-10-measures kind of feel, each has its own unique flavor, much like the contributing musicians. This album will make listeners believe that world peace may truly be possible. One love, people. — Lisa Hageman

PINQ

Quiet Games For Hot Weather (Major 7)

On its first proper record, San Francisco quartet Pinq wastes no time establishing its code of conduct: see sounds and hear colors. While a fair amount of Spiritualized's make-music-to-take-drugs-to-make-music-to ethos runs through Quiet Games For Hot Weather, Pinq's space-ready rock is more shy, more urgent than simple stonerdom would call for. Heavily constructed tracks like the contemplative instrumental "Up For Breakfast" and tenderly budding "L.M.O.E." never leave earth so long as to alienate the non-'nodders, but each is patient enough to please with a rainbow effect of softly thrumming riffs and a vocal approach that makes Tim Mitchell sound as if he's singing in the verdant meadow behind the studio. Woozy yet burly guitars bubble under a soft, mournful melody on "Drinking Song," and when Mitchell warns, "You're only angry/ 'Cos you're losing," he comes across in the same goosebump-inducing manner as Doug Martsch did when he crooned on Keep It Like A Secret's "You Were Right." Organs and fuzzed-out blips meld with more traditional patterns on "Flipbook" and closer "Xmas With The Matador," making for a euphoric ride through Pinq's world, which feels a whole lot like a field of fireflies on a summer night.

INDUSTRY NEWS

National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) President Michael Greene has resigned his post after 14 years. Greene's abrupt departure follows a six-month outside investigation regarding allegations of sexual harassment by Greene, the results of which found that no misconduct took place, NARAS Board Of Trustees Chairman Garth Fundis recently revealed. NARAS did, however, settle a sexual harassment suit last year against the Grammy chief brought on by human resources executive Jill Geimer for a reported $650,000. Green will exit with a hefty $8 million severance package. No replacement has been named yet. • Speaking of the Grammys, the Latin Grammys will be held in Los Angeles on Sept. 18 at the new Kodak Theater. CBS will televise the show. • Citing profits readjustment due to a decline in advertising, the world's largest media company, AOL Time Warner posted the largest loss in U.S. corporate history, $54.2 billion. That comes out to $12.25 per share... ouch! CEO Richard Parsons is predicting a big turnaround for the second half of the year. • Sirius Satellite Radio is now available in 18 states with the addition of Arkansas. Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, Oklahoma and Utah. •

Analysts at the Carmel Group predict that satellite radio (currently made up of XM and Sirius) will have signed 19.1 million subscribers by its seventh year. • According to Media Audit, 74.5 million out of the total U.S. adult population of 128.3 million "logged on [to the web] during the past month." That's an 8.5 percent increase from last year and reflects the stats of 85 surveyed U.S. markets. • The Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) recently released the results of a 2001 Consumer Profile report showing that rock was still the top genre with a 24 percent share of the market. Pop came in second, while hip-hop took up an 11.4 percent market share. The report also showed that women have surpassed men > for all music purchases at 51 percent. • The Association For Independent Music (AFIM) has named Courtney Proffitt (from BMG Distribution) as its new executive director, replacing Jeanne Oberstar.

LABEL NEWS

Former Epic and Artemis promo maven Tom "Smitty" Smith has been named National Director/Promotion at Spitfire Records. • Alex Schneider is Mute Records' new National Radio Promotion Manager. (founded by Jay-Z, Damon Dash and Kareem "Biggs" Burke) have renewed their joint venture deal. • KOCH Entertainment is the new corporate name for all of KOCH's North American operations. The company's U.S. distribution arm, KOCH International, has also been renamed: KOCH Entertainment Division. • RKO Pictures and Judgment Records are hooking up to form RKO/Judgment Records, which will release soundtracks, cast recordings and will also sign new talent. • Elektra Entertainment Group and L.A.based No Name Music have also formed a joint venture and will facilitate the signing of new artists on a joint basis under the No Name Music umbrella. • Warner Strategic Marketing has named Kevin Gore to the newly created position of Executive VP/Marketing And Sales. Gore was recently president of Universal Classic Group.

MUSIC NEWS

The body of TLC star Lisa Lopes was laid to rest on May 2, following the singer's fatal car accident in Honduras. Thousands of fans and mourners flocked to a funeral service for Lopes in Atlanta suburb Lithonia earlier in the day. In the wake of the tragedy, remaining TLC members Tionne "T-Boz" Watkins and Rozonda "Chilli" Thomas have decided to continue on as a duo, declaring that Lopes could never be replaced. • The third Coachella Valley Music And Arts Festival took place on April 27–28 in Indio, California and featured over 60 musical acts. Highlights of the weekend included a surprise performance by Beck during DJ Z-Trip's set, another surprise performance by Tenacious D, prior to the Foo Fighters hitting the stage, and Dave Grohl taking on drum duties for Queens Of The Stone Age as promised. Meanwhile, the Prodigy played its first U.S. show in half a decade at the festival, premiering material off its upcoming album, Always Outnumbered, Never Outgunned, and hotly-tipped Aussie act the Vines performed their first ever U.S. set in the Mojave tent, while a noticeably pregnant Björk played to a nearravenous crowd on the main stage. Other performers included Oasis, the Strokes, Cornershop, Beta Band, Zero 7 and the Charlatans U.K. Kicking it amongst the festival crowd were celebs Cameron Diaz, Christina Ricci, Kelly Osbourne, Robbie Williams, Drew Barrymore and Andy Dick. • Nearly 200 arrests were made during a three-day series of Widespread Panic shows in Pelham, Alabama, on April 26–28. Police and state agents staged the undercover Operation Don't Panic at the concerts at the Oak Mountain Amphitheatre, where, despite their efforts, one attendee died due to an apparent Ecstasy overdose. • Michael Stipe joined the audience during a presentation of multimedia project 1 Giant Leap in New York City on May 1. Stipe, who collaborated on a song for the globe-spanning project, which includes a CD and DVD release, was clad in a "Trust The Media" T-shirt designed by Jamie Catto and Duncan Bridgeman, the duo behind 1 Giant Leap. Catto and Bridgeman traveled the world, digitally recording musicians in remote locations, then allowing well-known artists and modern thinkers to add their contributions. Contributors to the project include Robbie Williams, Dennis Hopper, Speech (of Arrested Development) and author Kurt Vonnegut. A proposed college tour spotlighting the presentation is in the works. · After a career lasting nearly four decades, pop diva Cher is finally calling it a day. (Or so she says. Didn't Ozzy do the same thing a few years back?) The singer's farewell tour will kick off in June with stops in over 50 cities. The final date will be Sept. 15 in Minneapolis. • U.K. sensation Doves will be supporting the June 4 release of their new album, The Last Broadcast, with a North American tour beginning June 3 in Seattle. The band will tour throughout the month, joined by fellow British act Elbow. • Pete Yorn has plans to release an album he recorded before his rise to indie rock fame. The currently untitled record was recorded for the most part in 1997, while the artist was still working in relative obscurity. Yorn hopes to see the album joined on shelves sometime next year by the follow up to his well-received Musicforthemorningafter. • Paul McCartney recently stopped an auction of hand written lyrics to the Beatles classic "Hey Jude" at the last minute, claiming that they had been stolen from him at some point and that they held great sentimental value. Florrent Tessier, the man who brought the lyric sheet to auction house Christie's, bought it at a London market for 10 pounds in the early '70s. It was expected to reach a price of up to $116,000. • In related news, Christie's did sell off some rare material from another former Beatle, John Lennon. Two cassettes recorded by the artist brought in a combined total of £134,000. One featured Lennon in storytelling mode, talking to his stepdaughter Kyoto in 1969, while the other featured early work on the Beatles song "She Said, She Said." A number of other Beatles-related items sold in the general pop-memorabilia auction, as well, which raised over half-a-million pounds, more than six times what the auction house expected to bring in. • Blur and Gorillaz frontman Damon Albarn will see a U.S. release of his Mali Music project on July 30, through Astralwerks Records. The album was the first release on the U.K.-based Honest Jon's world music label, which Albarn co-owns. The star traveled to the African nation of Mali on behalf of the British goodwill organization Oxfam for the project, where he recorded a number of local musicians playing traditional music on traditional instruments. Albarn contributed to the music himself via vocals and melodica, adding further to it and restructuring it back in England. • The Get Up Kids will be joined by support acts including Hot Rod Circuit, Superchunk and Audio Learning Center on their North American tour in support of their new album, On A Wire. The tour kicks off May 24 in Houston and continues through mid-July. • Finally, the most bizarre story this week goes to Tom Waits, who found his recent video shoot, for the single "God's Away On Business," delayed after its stars were eaten. A trio of emus to be featured in the video were cornered and devoured by coyotes as they awaited transportation to the video's set in Los Angeles, forcing the scheduled to be pushed back until suitable replacements could be found. Presumably, in the rush, they had to go with less talented birds, but that's the way these things go.

AMERICA'S MOST WANTED

AUSTIN HELLRAISERS AND YOU WILL KNOW US BY THE TRAIL OF DEAD DISH ON SEEING THEIR FIRST VIDEO IN ROTATION, SMASHING INSTRUMENTS, ROAD-TRIPPING AND TRYING EVER SO SLIGHTLY TO STAY OFF THE INJURED RESERVE LIST. Story By Chris Ward. Photo By Marina Chavez

hen asked about his band's unique name, And You Will Know Us By The Trail Of Dead vocalist/multi-instramentalist Conrad Keely replied, "I can't really comment on that right now. We are in the middle of a legal situation with a company in South America who is contesting the usage of the name." Maybe if the Austin-based group had gone with a name that was a little more original, they wouldn't have such legal issues. Perhaps something like "And You Will Know Us By The Number of Venues And Festivals We Have Been Banned From, Our Out-Of-Control Live Shows, And The Enormous Following We Have Created Through Constant Touring And The Support Of College Radio" would have been more appropriate.

Name issues aside, if you haven't caught wind of And You Will Know Us By The Trail Of Dead over the past six months, then you must have been pretty focused on passing the underwater basket weaving class you are enrolled in just off the southeastern coast of Cuba, because the word is out. Powered almost exclusively by a grassroots national college radio campaign and industrious touring, Trail Of Dead, as the hip kids call the band, has built a international following and is selling a couple records in the process.

Trail Of Dead came together for what guitarist/vocalist/drummer banned from just about every club in the Austin area and providing some memorable SXSW performances, TOD shows no signs of slowing down. Keely reveals that the band approaches each live show with a reactionary stance. "When you perform live, it is just that, a performance," he claims. "We don't believe people go to a live show to listen to — I mean they do go to listen to the music — but if they wanted to hear the music they could just play the record at home. A live show is an interactive and visual experience, and we acknowledge it as being that. Our attempts to return to that is a reaction against the kind of blasé-ness that seems to have infected

"I almost feel that the audience is just as much there to entertain us as we are to entertain them, because they are part of the show. If they weren't, then we might as well go and play to cows in a field. But the fact that we stand and play in front of people is a testament to the fact that they are as much a part of the show as we are."

Jason Reece refers to as, "A drive to antagonize and challenge the jaded mentality found in the local music scene." Keely joins the conversation, explaining, "We got together in 1996 after knowing each other as kids (referring to Reece). We both had an idea for two different bands that we were each going to pursue individually, but then we decided to just merge them into one. Guitarist Kevin Allen joined a little later because we wanted someone to fill out our sound, then one day Neil Busch was like, 'I should play bass,' and the rest is history."

At the beginning even getting in the studio at all was hard, to say nothing of actually having the time and money to get a record to the level they knew it could and should be. "We started as a live band and I think people only saw us as any more than just that: a noisy live band," Keely says. "I don't think people had any idea that we wanted to create studio music — they probably got the idea that we were going to be as noisy in the studio as we were live, which was never our intention. When we eventually got our chance to go into the studio, we used it as its own environment to make studio records in themselves, not to replicate our live sound. Then on our first two records we had no budget, time restraints and, in some cases, were stealing studio time, [but] now we are getting to the point where we can get past all that and really show people what we can do in the studio."

Now touring the country as one of the most-hyped bands of 2002, Keely says all Trail Of Dead really wants to do is put out "successful" records. "We are looking to write a record where we can walk away thinking we did as much as we could do on the record, for the record, and have it come out as a sequential whole," he notes. Reece continues, "The best records have always been the ones where you can listen to the whole recording. I, like everyone else, like bands that have catchy singles, but the point being I have always enjoyed music like ours more, music that is epic, cinematic, ambitious."

The fact is, Trail Of Dead has been touring and playing grand-scale music long before the band scored studio time, and the legend of a TOD live show continues to grow on a daily basis. After being live performances over the past 10 years, especially among a lot of indie bands who seem to feel that they can be aloof to their audiences or ignore their audiences all together. That's just lame.

"We are rock mythologists in that way. We love the legacy of it all, the early concerts of The Who and Led Zeppelin have never been topped, and you could even argue that the hardest rap band has never outdone Parliament or James Brown. They can compare [to them] but not do better. To us, it is the audience that really lends as much to a show as we ourselves do. I almost feel that the audience is just as much there to entertain us as we are to entertain them, because they are part of the show. If they weren't, then we might as well go and play to cows in a field. But the fact that we stand and play in front of people is a testament to the fact that they are as much a part of the show as we are."

But don't think Trail Of Dead is not economically conscious. Reece fills us in on just how financially challenging a traveling rock show like theirs can be. "Breaking instruments every night can get pretty expensive," he admits. "If people feel the need to see that, [then] they can bring instruments to us and we'll break them for them. We have a whole tour to look forward to and for us to just demolish everything in one night and just buy new equipment the next day — hell, we do that anyways — but to get though a whole tour that way, it gets kinda wasteful (laughs)." Money aside, Reece explains that the band members' collective well-being is at stake every night as well. "We are there in the moment, taking and giving as much as we can," he notes. "We do not and cannot put pressure on ourselves to escalate our live show every night. If that were the case eventually we would have to kill ourselves. I mean, we already injure ourselves and none of us think that our show is more important than our well-being or our lives."

Reece sums up Trail Of Dead's last six years with a metaphor about the first time he saw his group's "Another Morning Stoner" video on TV. "I was in a hotel watching late-night MuchMusic when it came on," he remembers. "And I was like, 'That's us... woah!" So I sat back in my chair, staring at the TV and I just started laughing." NMR

CANNANES

Trouble Seemed So Far Away (Slabco)

Australia's Cannanes have been around more than 15 years, an accomplishment for any satisfyingly unpretentious indie-pop band. Featuring minimalist compositions and a lyrically philosophical air, the band's revolving seven-person lineup accentuates

Frances Gibson's wistfully understated vocals and Stephen O'Neil's framework of melodious guitar. Trouble Seemed So Far Away, a collaboration with Sukpatch beatsmith and NYC producer Explosion Robinson, finds the Cannanes on a mellow path onward. Matching loops and shimmering effects to the band's dulcet tones, Mr. Robinson layers subtle filaments of keyboard and vocals atmospherics on reflective numbers like "This Is the Song" and "It's Hopeless." Gibson has a swell knack for interpreting vocal nuance, and "S.A.D."s droll lyrics (penned by writer Brian "Ed" Boies) provide a healthy breeding ground. Over a popperfect bass line, she ruminates, "Static electricity, I wish you'd stop blaming me for the shocks." Less eccentrically buoyant, the "Sound Of Seduction" is a sadly sweet dive into the crosshairs of around for another long while.

GIRLS AGAINST BOYS

You Can't Fight What You Can't See (Jade Tree) Subsequent to breaking ties with Geffen Records, Girls Against Boys spent the last four years in court squabbling with the label. "After finally wresting our career back from the suits at Geffen/Universal/Vivendi/Who-Owns-Them-This-Week," bassist Johnny Temple explains, "we are thrilled to be with Jade Tree." GVSB's indie homecoming, the somewhat satirically titled You Can't Fight What You Can't See, blends the raw qualities of Venus Luxure No. 1 Baby (the band's best) with just a smidgeon of the major-label garnishes that defined 1998's *Freak*on*ica*. "It's stripped-down rock — as dark, abrasive and strangely compelling as we've ever been," says Temple of the band's current timbre. The snappy riff and hook-laden chorus of "All The Rage" is tough to eradicate from your brain once it has implanted itself there, as is "Tweaker." The album's opener, "Bassstation," is one of the more driving cuts on the album, but the real meat and potatoes here are

"BFF" (best song on the album) and "Kicking The Lights," both of which are solid evidence that GVSB still have greatness in them.

GOSSIP

Arkansas Heat EP (Kill Rock Stars)

The Gossip's follow-up EP to last year's That's Not What I Heard rumbles like a freight train screeching into the station. The band's gritty blend of garage-grrl-rock and gospelblues explodes with growling guitar riffs and singer Beth Ditto's commanding, bluesy wail, all of which makes it impossible not to get up and move to the groove. In fact, the band's website confirms its purpose: "Our mission is to make you dance and if you're not gonna dance, just stay at home." These songs are quick and dirty; five of the six come in under two minutes in length. The opening "Arkansas Heat" starts with a swaggering boogie riff before Ditto belts out about the burden of growing up in "A little town in Arkansas/ Where the people haven't changed at all/ Since 1965." By the time you make it through the blistering "Rules For Luv," "Ain't It The Truth" and "Lily White Hands," this Arkansas Heat will have you sweltering.

HANK DOGS

Half Smile (SpinART)

The name "Hank Dogs," to the unfamiliar, will likely conjure a Hank Williams, Sr./Jr./III-obsessed alt-country band, but the lilting acoustic tunes on the U.K. trio's are anything but. The surprise abates, however, shortly into lead track "Same New," where it becomes immense, placid pleasure. Gothic roots à la the Handsome Family, Suzanne Vega vocals and Nick Drake atmospherics (plus the lyrical poetry of the latter two) comprise an irresistibly soothing blanket of sound. The band dynamic is interesting as well; vocalists Piano and Lily (stepmother and stepdaughter) croon siren-song harmonies over a simple sonic backdrop of acoustic guitar, drums, bass, banjo, accordion, autoharp, steel guitar and E-bow they create with Andy, (ex-hubby/father, respectively). One would assume dysfunction is a key ingredient, as no other familial combo has achieved such splendor. And, if that's the case, here's hoping Dixie, daughter of Piano and Andy, and who is pictured on the cover and credited as providing "love and inspiration," enhances the mix when she's old enough to contribute musically.

JEB LOY NICHOLS

Easy Now (Rykodisc)
Jeb Loy Nichols began his music career as singer for criminally overlooked political folkies Fellow Travelers, and made his solo debut with 1997's near-legendary Lover's Knot.
Throughout all these musical adventures he has balanced his love for folk, reggae and Caribbean music to great effect. On his third solo outing, Easy Now, laid-back love songs hit like a warm summer breeze, upbeat numbers provide a warm glow — but the true magic here is Nichols' voice. It comforts almost like an old friend making no demands other than for the listener to enjoy the ride. It glides perfectly over straight-ahead folk-rock tunes and hip-hop/dub production (provided with help from Tricky sideman Wayne Nunes). "Better Than Beautiful" provides the perfect soundtrack for Sunday morning porch-sittin' and "Sure Felt Good To Me" would be welcome company for a country drive. Every song on this relaxing yet smooth album could be used in lemonade commercials.

OOBERMAN

The Running Girl (March)
Don't let the precious exterior fool you; the past years have hardened Liverpool's Ooberman. In 1999, just as the buzz-laden five-piece was about to take off on the strength of its Steven Street-produced debut,
The Magic Treehouse, the band's U.K. label dropped it. The quintet is now releasing its own records overseas, and has reemerged as a deceptively capricious collective. Ooberman's second full-length (or "mini-album") would be sigh-inducing twee pop if it didn't have the hidden incisors the band periodically bares. "We'll Know When We Get There" starts as a plodding, mid-tempo acoustic number delivered by vocalist/multi-instrumentalist Dan Popplewell. The song, however, ignites when the fragile, Fraggle-voiced Sophie Churney washes in with mounting electric guitars. The tune threatens to explode into a Styx-sized epic, but instead coasts into trippy ambience. Even utterly gentle material like "Here Come The Ice Wolves" is shapeshifting within its decadently lush vocal arrangements and swooping orchestrations. The Running Girl is crafty like a fox, and stands as a silencing rebuttal to naysayers.

RECLOOSE

Cardiology (Planet E) Imagine for a second that you are an aspiring DJ/producer working in a sandwich shop to make ends meet. Then one typical afternoon, like a gift from above, Planet E honcho Carl Craig wanders in for a bite to eat. What would you do? Naturally, you would slip your demo in between the bread and serve him up a steaming hot techno-hoagie. This is exactly how Motor City-based Recloose (a.k.a. Matthew Chicoine) was discovered, and the results are quite tasty. Cardiology is a fine first effort that blends lush soundscapes with morsels of funk ("Ain't Changin," Kapiti Dream" and "Up and Up"), soul ("Can't Take It") and hazy dub ("Processional"). The record plays like a deep-house lullaby that demands attention by not adhering to any one style. Chicoine has managed to construct a sound that can best be described as Matthew Herbert torn apart at the limbs and then reconstructed again on the Ford Motors assembly line. The George Foreman grill can't cut the PHAT out of this one.

DAVE SEAMAN

Global Underground: Melbourne (Global Underground)
I like to compare Global Underground to the Boston Celtics, Montreal Canadiens and
New York Yankees. Each of these organizations are on top of their game and have set the standard for success. Using a January 2002 gig in Melbourne,

Australia as his inspiration, Dave Seaman offers up a mix chock full of dancefloor stormers, potential hits and remixes. The first disc builds slowly, taking time to weave together tracks like Satoshi Tomiie's remix of Urban Dweller's "Loverman" and Howie B's "Making Love On Your Side." The record picks up markedly when Seaman drops "Mind Rewind" from future stars Cass And Slide and culminates with Orbital's "Illuminate (Medicine Mix)" and the spooky "Looky Thing" by Slacker. Disc two takes on a darker, more aggressive edge, while adding breakbeats along the way. FC Kahuna's current U.K. charter "Glitterball" leads us through tracks by Sean Cusick and Natious before Tom Middleton's gorgeous remix of Lamb's "What Sound" eases the set to a close. With 22 volumes now behind them, the Global Underground boys can do no wrong. — Justin Kleinfeld

TÉLÉPOPMUSIK

Genetic World (Capitol)

What is it about the French that gives them such a gift for crafting visionary, downbeat dance music? If you asked the members of Télépopmusik, they might tell you it's genetic. The trio constructs its music in a fashion that it likens to the modification of DNA. However, with its debut, along with vocalists including Scottish singer Angela McClusky, the group has constructed a mélange of blues, jazz, down-tempo house, hip-hop and robot-pop pieced together so perfectly that it's hard to believe the songs didn't just spring to life on their own as fully formed fantastical hybrids resonating with quiet intensity. The album's first single, "Breathe," featuring McClusky's smoky vocals over a steady house beat, has already caused a stir of its own, but to appreciate the true depth and variety offered here, such as the sultry spy-jazz spin of "Love Can Damage Your Health," the creepy poetry of "Trishika" or the general freakout (courtesy of loopy guests Peaches and Gonzales) on "Let's Go Again," you'll just have to spin this one all the way through.

The Golden Dove (Matador) Mary Timony is a strange little bird. She started her career in Helium as a sexually charged indie-rock grrrl and then radically metamorphosed. Feminist became fairy princess and her sonic aggression transformed into the perfect baroque soundtrack to a Renaissance faire. On The Golden Dove, Mary relaxes the Dungeons And Dragons imagery, but her fascination with psychfolk and grandiose prog-rock continues. Yet, her sophomore disc still has its surprises Mary reinvents herself as "Ms. Charming Melodee" and sounds reinvigorated compared to the mopey starkness of her debut, Mountains. Sparklehorse's Mark Linkous assists as producer and appears with his melange of musical toys, but even his distinct fingerprint can't alter her inimitable style. The record vacillates between uptempo alt-rock ("Blood Tree"), to meditative chamber-pop arrangements ("14 Horses") and newly discovered electro grooves also emerge. Even her lyrical bite returns, eschewing Tolkien's middle earth for more lucid tales. She may have gone off the deep end long ago, but Mary Timony is still indie-rock's favorite medieval

ERIK TRUFFAZ

Mantis (Blue Note)

Mantis may be reminiscent of a bird in flight; however, its journey is wrought with a few hurricanes and hailstorms, at times making the expedition as exhilarating as it is free-spirited. Most impressive is the sophistication of its arrangement, often pitting one instrument against another to create an uncommon synergy, like that of Truffaz and Anouar Brahem playing oud on "Nina Valeria." Most tracks are patient, cradling listeners and then rewarding them with a surge of complex composition. This is especially apparent in "Saisir" and "Mantis," an arrangement that works on a broader level as well; bonus minutes are added to the end of the final track — our symbolic bird landing in a tornado. Truffaz displays great variety in his playing style, crystal clear at times ("No Fear"), blurry and windy at others ("The Point"). Similarly, the guitar of Manu Codjia will throw a burst of excitement into a number of songs, yet plays the perfect anchor to Truffaz on tracks such as "Yasmina."

UGLY CASANOVA

Sharpen Your Teeth (Sub Pop) There is no need for hard liquor when Modest Mouse's Isaac Brock rides into town. Here aided by fellow madmen Tim Rutili (Califone, Red Red Meat), Paul Jenkins (Black Heart Procession), John Orth and Brian Deck, Brock unleashes the intoxicating persona of Ugly Casanova. A lady killer with low self-esteem, Casanova incorporates vast instrumentation with vein-piercing vocals. Album opener "Barnacles" is reflective of MM's 2000 release, The Moon And Antarctica, and pulses into a multi-layered sonic punch entitled "Spilled Milk Factory," which kicks you in the gut with the force of a wild pony. Mouse fans will rejoice with the insane "Ice On The Sheets," a song with such swagger your finger will be hitting the repeat button before it's over. Utilizing elements of country and bluegrass, "Smoke Like Ribbons" it's easy to visualize Casanova tracing his plan to steal your soul on the dusty range ground. Sharpen Your Teeth transcends categorization with its manipulation of sound and use of random lyrical content. Brock has truly pushed the glass off the table with this endeavor.

e were more excited than a retirement home full of Viagra-polluted 70-year-olds when the news came down that Slayer, Soulfly and In Flames will team up for a North American tour that is tentatively slated to begin in August. Details are forthcoming... • Metallica's Lars Ulrich is reportedly selling his San Francisco home and five paintings from his personal collection for $22 million. With the money, he plans on buying Dave Mustaine and will use the former Megadeth frontman as a garden gnome. • Now that Monster Magnet has officially parted ways with A&M Records, the New Jersey outfit have embarked on a jaunt that it is calling the "We're Free Tour." And, while frontman Dave Wyndorf is diligently writing material for a new MM release in 2003 (remember what we said about the Casio keyboards and surf guitars, pal!), the band has yet to secure a new label home. "Living through the demise of my former label home, A&M Records, it became apparent that my indentured servitude was within a setting where I was simply misunderstood," Wyndorf stated. "Monster Magnet will live forever and mark my words, from the moment of this transmission.

within six months, six days and six hours, we will announce our future home. Please wait patiently until the clock strikes 666. Until then, see you on the road." While we attempt to interpret Decoder Dave's cryptic message (uh...what the fuck are you talking about, Dave?), you can bow before the Space Lord on the following dates: Sea Bright, NJ (5/10); Hartford, CT (5/11); Providence (5/13); Allentown, PA (5/14); Northampton, MA (5/15); Plainview, NY (5/16); Pittsburgh (5/18); Toronto (5/19); Detroit (5/21); Chicago (5/22); Milwaukee (5/23); St. Louis (5/25); Urbana, IL (5/26); Indianapolis (5/28); Cleveland (5/30); Columbus (5/31); Battlecreek, MI (6/1); Muskegon, MI (6/2); Flint, MI (6/4). • Blind Guardian will film its May 7 show in Stuttgart, Germany for an upcoming DVD release. • Queensrÿche frontman Geoff Tate will release his self-titled solo debut through Sanctuary Records on June 25. • Scar Culture's drummer Duke Borisov is on an unexpected but temporary hiatus from the band due to a family emergency. This has put the band in a little bit of a bind, as it was set to head out on the road with Soilwork, Hypocrisy and Killswitch Engage. As a result, the band is scrambling to find a replacement skin-smasher for the tour and, as of April 26, SC was asking that interested parties email the band at: severallties@aol.com. • Norway's Limbonic Art will be release its highly anticipated album, The Ultimate Death Worship, this summer. • Insision will unleash its full-length debut, titled Beneath The Folds Of Flesh, on June 25. • Codeseven's new album, The Rescue, will hit stores on May 14 through the Music Cartel. • Full Strike, the band that features Hammerfall guitarist Stefan Elmgren, ex-Lost Horizon vocalist Niclas Jonsson and former Crawley bassist Chris Savage Goldsmith, will issue its debut album, dubbed We Will Rise, on May 13 through Spitfire Records in Sweden. As of yet, an American release date for the album has not been announced, so we have two words for you: import CD. • Answering the question posed by S.O.D. on its album Bigger Than The Devil ("What ever happened to Celtic Frost?"), the celebrated metal outfit Celtic Frost — featuring the classic line-up of bassist/vocalist Martin Eric Ain, drummer Reed St. Mark and vocalist/guitarist Tom Gabriel Fischer — are currently writing material for a brand new album in Zurich, Switzerland. Expect nothing but metal, folks. • Killswitch Engage (commonly referred to by the CMJ Loud Rock department as "The Greatest Goddamn Band We've Heard In A Long, Long Time") recently shot a video for the track "My Last Serenade" (our favorite from the band's Roadrunner debut, Alive Or Just Breathing?) with director Paul Brown in Culver City, California. "The video consisted mostly of us on a circular red stage doing a live performance with crazy florescent red lights all around us," KSE bassist Mike D'Antonio said of the shoot. "I gotta tell ya, it was a total work out; just like high school gym class except all day! We must have played the song 100 times. We were all sleep depraved, covered in sweat and exhausted from the heat of the lamps; and yet we had the time of our lives. Guaranteed we will remember the experience forever!" • H20 will reportedly begin tracking a new album at the tail end of this summer for MCA Records. • Finland's Gandalf have called it a day. "After nine years of hard work and dedication one era has come to an end," drummer and founding member Nalle Österman explains. "Under the circumstances I find it impossible to continue being the leader for the band I have put my whole heart and soul into. Too much stress and bullshit has made it not to be fun to play in this band anymore. And if it's not fun to play then what's the point of continuing. I want to thank everyone who has supported Gandalf over the years, but life goes on." Indeed it does. • Neurotica will release its self-titled debut through Smackdown-Koch Records on June 25. • ZAO's fourth album, Parade Of Chaos, will be out on July 16 through Solid State Records.

FIVE QUESTIONS WITH... BRAND NEW SIN'S JOE ALTIER AND SLIDER

Brand New Sin is set to drop its self-titled debut on June 4 through Now Or Never Records and you better prepare yourself. Because if this band catches you off-guard with one of its monster tunes — be it "My World," "Broken Soul" or the relentless "SPP" — you are bound to wake up three days afterwards in a hospital bed without your teeth. The CMJ Loud Rock department recently caught up with vocalist Joe Altier and guitarist Slider to ask them Five Questions.

Joe, here's a question every band hates. How would you describe Brand New Sin to someone who has never heard the band?

If Lynyrd Skynyrd got together with Metallica and had sex it would basically come out to be a Brand New Sin.

Slider, who would you cite as some of the band's main influences?

I grew up listening to KISS, Van Halen, Def Leppard, Bad Company, Lynyrd Skynyrd, Led Zeppelin and bands like that. By the time we were 12-13 years old and started playing our instruments, artists like Metallica, Megadeth, Anthrax and Slayer were the cool bands. So, we kind of have the rock of the older bands we grew up listening to with the intensity of bands like Metallica and Megadeth. We use all of our influences.

Joe, tell us a little bit about the process of writing "My World."

It was actually one of the later songs we did for the album. Kris [Wiechmann, guitar] and Kenny [Dunham, guitar] were always getting together and writing on a four-track and they got down the main riff and the beat of the song and then gave it to Slider and me to work on the lyrics. Something about that song just struck me as soon as I heard it. At the time, I was working at a bank and hated sitting there, so I used to go sit in a parking lot down the street and write for this album. It was one of those songs that wrote itself. It flowed out and I had the lyrics done in about 15 minutes on my lunch break.

You guys owned the stage at the New England Metal And Hardcore Festival. Considering the roster that weekend included mostly extreme metal and hardcore, Brand New Sin impressed everyone with a straightforward rock set. What was your take on the performance?

Joe: It was only our sixth show ever. With Brand New Sin, you've got six very large individuals up onstage and we command the crowd.

Slider: Its very natural for us to be onstage. We love it; we're showmen. When we're all playing, we're all kind of fighting to be the guy up in front.

That's what makes it fun to watch you guys, because there's nothing worse in the world than a live band that stares at their fucking shoes onstage.

Slider: Exactly! Once we get this going and start headlining our own tours, we want the whole rigor amole: the screens, explosions. We grew up on arena rock. That's what we're all about — I love that. I'll spit fucking blood!

INDUSTRY NEWS

WCLH/Wilkes-Barre, PA's Leroy "El-Dog" Mrozowski turned 21 on April 30. Dude, some advice for you now that you are "legal." If a cop asks you how many drinks you've had, always say "two." If you say "one," he/she won't believe you. Say "three" and that's too many. So, "two" is your safest bet. Next, if you haven't already, please thoroughly study the meaning of "beer goggles." We can tell you, from experience, that after your ninth shot of Jose Cuervo in a half hour, Kathy Kinney from the Drew Carey Show will metamorphose into Arch Enemy's Angela Gossow. Good luck and happy birthday! • No Name Music — the flourishing artist management company with a clientele that includes Slipknot, Hatebreed, American Head Charge and 40 Below Summer, among others — has entered into an agreement with Elektra Entertainment Group. The new No Name/Elektra venture will facilitate the signing of new artists on a joint basis under the No Name Music umbrella.

LOUD ROCK

BRAND NEW SIN

Brand New Sin (Now Or Never)
Rare is the rock band that garners instant acclaim, undeniable credibility and a skyrocketing fan base (built solely on word of mouth) before it releases a debut album. But, most bands will never be as good as Brand New Sin.
Simply put, this Syracuse, New York six-piece — the finest rock act to emerge from the underground in recent memory — will remind listeners why they fell in love with heavy music in the first place. On its self-titled Now Or Never Records debut, BNS dish out no-bullshit blue-collar American hard rock as if it has been doing it for years; there are seasoned rock bands in existence that would kill to sound this fresh and exciting. "My World" is destined to be a classic, while "SPP" demands to be heard at volumes so loud that the cops have had to come to the CMJ offices three times because of complaints about the noise. Two minutes and 15 seconds in, there is a breakdown in the track "Broken Soul" that, when the band plays the song live, actually shows up on a Richter scale (okay, we're full of shit about that, but it is earthmoving nonetheless). "Desperate Times Desperate Means," "The Oath" and the future mainstream rock smash "Missin' You" round out our top picks from the album which, if you haven't already discovered for yourself, is easily one of 2002's best releases.

MASTODON

Remission (Relapse)

A "mastodon" is defined by Webster's New World Dictionary as "a large, extinct animal resembling the elephant but larger." Dissimilarly, Atlanta's Mastodon is not an outsized Dumbo that, like the career of Congressman Gary Condit, has fallen to the clutches of evolutionary extinction; it is a menacing beast, alive and loud, that's both larger than life and notably cerebral. There is not a stitch of musical material on its full-length debut, Remission, that isn't captivating. On "March Of The Fire Ants," Mastodon is as furious as the turbulent sea that so joyfully swallowed America's worst actor, George Clooney, in The Perfect Storm. After the song's dizzying intro (complete with a militant snare-drum pattern and smothering guitars), vocalist/bassist Troy Sanders bursts through the mix with a barrelchested bark. "As passion encircles the daily storm," he roars, "the heart bleeds and droughts do not." It's at that moment that listeners will realize that listening to this band isn't as much a pastime as it is a journey. This is a band that's not making music to have on in the background, folks. Remission requires concentration and reverential listening for the full experience. The reward is well worth the effort. "Ol'e Nessie," "Crusher Destroyer," "Where Strides The Behemoth" and "Mother Puncher" demand your attention.

Letting Go (Warner Bros.)

Earshot proudly wears its influences on its sleeve. There is little doubt that this nü-metal quartet, like Chevelle and Ultraspank, has an active membership in the TOOL fan club. Nevertheless, the Los Angeles band's debut album, titled Letting Go, does have many inspired moments worth noting. "Headstrong" starts with a riff that shares the musical enthusiasm of KoRn's "Blind" before lumbering into a chunky rhythm section that occasionally stutters to a stop before hopping back in on the downbeat. "We Fall, We Stand" coasts along at a nice pace and admirably drifts into an unexpected break that features strings at about two minutes in. "Get Away" is perfectly suited for active rock radio and sounds like a leftover from Undertow, while "This World" has a memorable chorus and is a fine display of vocalist Wil Martin's (yes, that's Wil with one "l") indisputable talent. The band is on tour all this month with Static-X, Sinisstar and 40 Below Summer.

STILL BREATHING

September (Solid State)

Still Breathing formed just a little over a year ago, yet the Oklahoma four-piece is as tight as most of the seasoned metalcore acts touring and recording today. The band's Solid State debut, September, was produced by Travis Wyrick (Nailed) and should easily establish this female-fronted outfit as a marquee act for the label. Possessing the eclectic facets of Poison The Well's experimentalism, the furious expressiveness of the Deftones and the earth-shuddering breakdowns of Hatebreed (for example, scan through to the 1:41 mark on the track "With Hateful Pride" and prepare to be floored), Still Breathing shines throughout each of the 13 tracks that comprise its first album. Singer Dacey Buntin is simply breathtaking, and when her snarling vocals are combined with her bandmate's jackhammer timing, Still Breathing gels in a way that most new bands would sacrifice their first born to possess. Be sure to check out "Sweet Wound Sour," "Threatened," "Everything," "From Within," "Exhausted" and "Only This."

caught Blackalicious at S.O.B.'s on May 1 with J-Live, who played a great, albeit way too-short set. The guy was only on stage for (exactly, I checked) 12 minutes! If there was any thought that residual East Coast/West Coast drama still lingered, that show would have quelled any fears. The NYC audience received the group as warmly as a hometown crowd. Chief Xcel and Gift Of Gab (assisted by a creeping Lateef and backed by the impressive Omega and Bear) made their way through nearly half of the tracks on Blazing Arrow, including "Paragraph President," "Make You Feel That Way," "Chemical Calisthentics" (for which all

Lauryn Hill, OutKast and the Roots. Jurassic-5 is expected to join the crew at some points along the tour and rumor has it that Cee-Lo may also be appear on some dates (although this has not yet been confirmed by the rapper's label). Tour dates include Mountain View, CA (7/18); Universal City, CA (7/19); Chula Vista, CA (7/20); Englewood, CO (7/22); Tinley Park, IL (7/24); Minneapolis (7/25); Milwaukee (7/26); Clarkston, MI (7/29); Mansfield, MA (7/31); Camden, NJ (8/1); Bristow, VA (8/2); Wantagh, NY (8/4); Holmdel, NI (8/5); and Atlanta (8/7), I have somewhat bittersweet memories of the first Smokin' Grooves tour back in 1996, when the Fugees and A Tribe

> Called Quest headlined. I managed to score tickets, mostly motivated by my desire to catch the Fugees and Tribe. I waited two hours while my friend Ken "Hardcore" Harden shaved his big-ass

T-Boz announced they plan to release TLC's fourth album. The trio had been recording since late last year and had completed six songs at the time of Left Eye's death. • Public Enemy's eighth studio album will be released in August.

Revolverlution's lead single will be "Gotta Give The People What They Need," with DJ Johnny "Juice" Rosado, who lent his scratching to the group's Yo, Bum Rush The Show and It Takes A Nation Of Millions...

J-Live

those on stage donned lab coats) and "Green Light: Now Begin." I lost track at some point. J-Live joined the crew onstage and didn't miss a beat. As Gab pointed out, there seemed to be some kind of unspoken communication between the New York MC and the group. It was truly a show celebrating the wonderful thing that is hip-hop. • The Smokin' Grooves tour is once again shaping up to look like the contender to beat for Tour Of The Summer (although it is still early in the year). Headlining the event so far are

Life Force Radio (Koch)

With his sophomore effort, Life Force Radio, Afu-Ra has poked his head up from underground into the open air of the larger world of hiphop. Keeping his body of work rooted in what has created a following: intense, intelligent lyrics and a strong, pointed delivery that reflects a wide array of emotions be it on the hard attack "Stick Up" (with Big Daddy Kane), or on the braggadocio of "Lyrical Monster" or on the newest anthem "Hip-Hop," which will be coming soon to a ballgame near you — the track is a definite head-nodder/head-banger and truly embraces the rap part of the whole rapcore musical philosophy: the beat. The album was produced by DJ Premier, who keeps the musical flavor of this album sparse with elements like the piano in "Scat Man," yet retains a continuously interesting vibe via the sudden beat change of the same song. Guests include Teena Marie (on the very grind-able "Open"), RZA as Bobby Digital, M.O.P. and Guru, among others. Afu plays with word sounds while spinning the yarn of his life as an MC on the synthetically constructed, rhythmic "Perverted Monks." Pull this one up by its roots; it will feed you well.

MUSIQ

Juslisen (Def Soul-IDJMG) Musiq's (sans Soulchild... he's a man now) second album will send those whose faith in R&B has been shattered over the past few years running back to church. This album is a definite labor of love, with its tales of love's labor, both found and lost, between friends, lovers and family. Musically mellow, but not soporific — there's enough bounce in this album to keep the neighbors up next door (either lower the volume, or pull the bed away from the wall!) — Musiq still manages to caress and soothe each note without any of those annoying glissandos some R&B crooners are infamous for. This is not one of those sickeningly annoying albums of love, and it will not make you cry. Juslisen is warm and intimate while its undeniably infectious beats, soul (note the organ and faint horns in "Time") and hip-hop elements (the scratching of "Future") add to its listenability. Feel free to listen to it both in the front and the backseat of the Jeep.

How many watts is your station? How many people do you reach?

1750 watts. Our signal carries pretty far, so we reach, say, a couple million people.

What's the station motto/your personal programming philosophy?

Here's the deal on my hip-hop show: if it's clean, it sounds good, and it's not getting play on the mega-corp stations, play that shit, period. If it's local, even better. I try to make it clear that there's so much more to hip-hop than what you hear on mainstream stations - creative beats, conscious lyrics and fresh styles from up-and-comers who just plain aren't getting heard about because they don't fit the formula. Most of the shows we air really try to convince people that there's amazing variety in your local record store that isn't on your radio dial, whether it's jazz, rock, techno, hip-hop, country, whatever.

How long have you been and will you be MD? How do you abuse your power?

I've been MD for two years now. I abuse my power by arbitrarily playing that old "Mr. T's Commandments" record and the "Rappin' Ronnie Reagan" thing put out by the Doonsbury guy, knowing full well I won't lose my show for it.

What was your most successful fundraiser?

That'd have to be the time Fugazi came to our campus and played a WRCT benefit concert. That shit was packed.

Who are you most proud of bringing either to the station or to your campus to perform and why?

I'm really proud of the fact that WRCT has two live shows per week that bring in bands to the station to play a set — one Monday at 9 p.m. and one Friday at 6 p.m. It seems like an amazing amount of grunt work and coordination just to get a band up and playing, so those cats work their tails off every week. Plus, they even cut a compilation album of tracks recorded live at the station. My hat is off to those guys.

What's the most fucked up thing that ever happened to you while you were on-air?

I was reading this really funny PSA called "Clubhouses For The Mentally Ill Put Lives Back On Track." The "clubhouse" was something like a halfway house where mentally ill people could get basic help finding a job, dealing with bills, treatment, housing, etc. While I was reading it, former WRCT DJ/current WFMU DJ Doug M came in the studio and said, "Clubhouses for the mentally ill? What's the password?" and I said something like, "Ha ha, clubhouses for the mentally ill — where the password is 'heeeeeeeeeeelp!'" and we both busted out laughing. But then I thought, "Wait, that went out over the air... that was really offensive... man, I'm such an asshole."

What was your most embarrassing radio-related moment?

Reading another PSA for the Mediation council of western Pennsylvania. It's a 30-second spot which talks about how to get someone to mediate in your disputes — but in the course of the first 25 seconds of the thing I must've said "meditation" instead of "mediation" six or seven times. Finally I thought, 'Wait, why would I want to hire a meditator?" and then I figured it out and had to pretty much tell the listeners to disregard that whole spot and listen as I read it again.

What's the best promo item you've ever received?

What's that classical-violinist-turned-hairmetal-diva's name — Giant Kat? Great Kat? Kat something? Well, she sent a poster of herself, in leather and goth makeup, blood splattered all over the place, crucifixes, etc., to our metal DJs Rob and Pete, signed "To Rob and Pete — bow slaves!" That was pretty cool. Pales in comparison to the good old days before I was around, when bands would send us their new release as a "cassandwich," i.e., a tape between two pieces of bread.

Does your station still play vinyl?

Hell yeah. We started broadcasting in the '40s so we have 30,000 pieces of wax. I play about 75 percent records on my show, and I know a lot of the indie/punk rock DJs play a lot of the priceless gems we have on 7". We have an amazing collection of vinyl.

What's your major?

I'm getting a PhD in Robotics.

When will you be graduating? Probably spring 2003.

If you could see anyone live (dead or living), who would it be and why?

John Coltrane. His live recordings have an intensity to them that you almost never hear, live or recorded. Actually being there would blow me away that much more.

What's your favorite Behind The Music episode?

Neil Diamond. That motherfucker is so ordinary. No drugs, no sex slaves, no jail time, no bandmates drinking themselves to death, just some guy who writes thoughtful little songs and likes to sing 'em in front of people. He didn't have to worry about prima donnas claiming they were the creative force behind his music, no legal battles, none of that shit.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

ince 1996, SoCal rockers Goldfinger have been writing and performing punk-pop classics. The group's latest release, Open Your Eyes, is sure to follow in that delightful tradition. Self-produced and featuring a number of guest appearances, Goldfinger looks forward to what will hopefully be its most successful record to date. Recently CMJ spoke with singer/guitarist John Feldmann about touring, special additions to the record, and other fun stuff Goldfinger fans have to look forward to following the May 21 release of Open Your Eyes.

Where are you guys right now?

We are finishing up the last bit of the Sum 41 tour, in Colona, British Columbia.

Once the tour is over, what is next?

We are going to Europe for a week-long press tour and then coming back to the states for three weeks. Then I am taking a break to get married and after our honeymoon we will pick back up with the headlining tour and that will probably last for the rest of the year.

You guys are known for once playing 382 shows in a single year. Are you looking to challenge those types of numbers this year?

We have no desire to break that record (laughs). That is the most we will ever do; we are old men now, except for our new guitarist, who is 13 (laughs again).

Open Your Eyes has a number of guest appearances. How did that all come together?

It definitely was not planned. I produced a record for The Used and at the same time we (Goldfinger) were finishing up our record. The guy's voice is so different then mine that the couple parts he sang on, it just seemed to fit. The same thing happened with Benji from Good Charlotte. I produced some soundtrack songs for his band, and it just turned out that one night at like 3 a.m. we were in the studio and he was like, 'Let me hear some new Goldfinger stuff.' I played him a couple of songs and he was like, 'Dude, I would sing on this song.' The song was "January." The guys from Showoff, same thing — "FTN" was recorded a while ago and I was producing them [while] Goldfinger was recording, and it just worked out. It wasn't like we were flying anyone in or anything.

With so many songs to choose from, something must have made you go back and grab "Radio" and "FTN" for this record? Two different stories... with "FTN" ("Fuck Ted Nugent"), our label was scared to put it on the last record. It's a song that I wanted be on a record and see more light, so I said fuck it and put it on this record. As far as "Radio" goes, I always thought it was a great song, and when we were finishing up our last record the old guitar player, Charlie, threatened to quit if the song he had written, called "Carry On," didn't make the record. Now Charlie is gone and we said fuck it again and put "Radio" on this record."

Who are you taking out with you on the headlining tour this summer?

Mest and The Used will both be there. I found, produced and got each band signed, so there is love there. Then you have the Riddlin' Kids, who will be playing a number of dates as well. It will be a fun tour to come out and see.

CMJ AT COACHELLA

The third Coachella Valley Music And Arts Festival took place in Indio, California on April 27–28, featuring more than 60 musical acts performing on four stages. CMJ was there for the festivities, which included surprise appearances by Beck and Tenacious D, the first U.S. set by the Prodigy in five years, and performances from the Strokes, Oasis, Cornershop, Mos Def, Elbow, the Chemical Brothers, Dilated Peoples, Zero 7 and many more. – Photos by Doug Levy

A KRS One fan shows off the signed souvenir he caught in the crowd.

Dave Grohl returned to the drummer's seat to perform with Queens Of The Stone Age on Saturday, reappearing on stage the next day with his own Foo Fighters.

Hotly tipped Aussie act the Vines played its first U.S. gig at the festival, with frantic frontman Craig Nicholls turning in a suitably brilliant performance.

The members of the Beta Band took time out in the afternoon before their Saturday set to sign autographs for their fans.

Björk drew a huge portion of the festival crowd to the main stage for her headlining performance on Saturday night.

It was sometimes difficult to distinguish the flora from the fauna in the Coachella crowd.

COPE WITH IT

was going to write about a subject that could have quite possibly changed the course of the music business as we know it. But then I thought "Fk it!" I need to write about what happened last night. What my wife and I experienced was probably the same thing many experienced attending the most recent Paul McCartney concert. It was an amazing show that brought 20,000 people together and allowed them to forget their real life troubles and tribulations. Hey, this was a Beatle on stage playing Beatles' songs, a rarity period! We watched musical history on that stage last night.

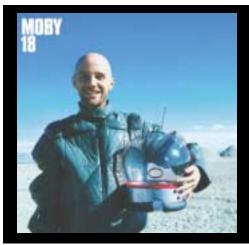

For those of you who are too young or who just plain don't give a shit, let me put this in perspective a little. When I first walked into The Anaheim Pond last night, I sat in my seat and assessed the crowd. Quite honestly, I felt like I was either at an AARP meeting or an AA mass gathering (not one smell of sweet smoke in the air during the entire show). I'm used to attending shows where I'm at least twice as old as anyone else in the audience. But not here folks, this was my demo and we were out in force, spending big bucks for tickets ($150-$250 per), t-shirts ($35) and programs ($30). Interesting, this is the same crowd we as an industry can't seem to reach and sell CDs to.

The feeling of "older demo" vanished once the show started though. It's difficult to describe the beginning of the show, because you sort of had to be there (let's just say it was full of characters). Of course the stage and lighting were top notch, but when Paul and band hit the stage, age barriers, stature in the community, and the kind of car you came in went right out the window while everyone focused on one thing — the music. For those of us who grew up with the Beatles and Wings, it was a trip in the way-back machine. Paul opened with "I Wanna Hold Your Hand" and moved right into "Jet." I tried to keep track of the songs, but it just didn't matter once he did "Getting Better" (a song the Beatles never did live). Paul also did separate tributes (one song each) for John, Linda, and George. His tribute to George was "Something" and was played on a ukulele George gave him. It was mesmerizing. Other songs included "Back In The USSR," "Mother Nature's Son," "Blackbird," "Band On The Run," and an awe-some pyro-version of "Live And Let Die."

My only criticism of the show was that I missed George, Ringo, John, and Linda on various songs. I guess that can't be helped, but overall it's an amazing show anyone who loves music needs to experience. It represents the power of music and what it can mean to us in our lives and stands as a testament to the quality of what Paul and the Beatles gave us. They weren't just writing hit singles, they changed our consciousness and gave us a completely different way of looking at that world. To Paul: Thank you for expanding my mind. To Capitol: thanks for the tickets. You went over and above.

Peace, Cope.

SPEAK OUT

This Week's "Speak Out" continues our series of responses from retailers to the question: "How are you dealing with catalog titles? As the major accounts concentrate on the number of turns a piece of product gets over the course of a year and are eliminating many titles, is the door open for independent retail to become the destination for music consumers looking for deep catalog — or not?"

CHUCK OKEN, JR. Managing Partner, Rhino Records Claremont

Mad Platter Riverside

I've kind of trained myself over my 20 years in independent music retail to keep my sarcastic mouth shut and let the good voices of such writers as Dr. Hunter S. Thompson and Neal Pollack comment on the music business and it's practices, but CMJ Retail's question for this week's "Speak Out" section echoes the direction our stores have gone in the last couple of years, and moves me to make an exception.

Independent retail must be the destination point for music consumers looking for deep catalog and music from all the world's genres if it is to survive and even — yes, I can say this word — prosper. Ten or so years ago, in the early years of the CD craze, it was all about tonnage (how many Metallica, Guns N' Roses, Snoop Dogg, R.E.M., etc. you could sell). The very process of that phenomenon, in turn, gave capital and birth to the chains who brought their aggressive pricing on the hits (boy/girl "blands") right into our once exclusive backyards. With the world of digital delivery and its music exposure expanding, with peoples' tastes in music becoming increasingly fragmented and with the demographic of the music customer growing older and wider, it's now all about the great catalog of music we must offer in our stores: Death metal next to bluegrass, jazz crossed with emo, electronic excursions into the classic hip-hop jungle all available as the world turns eclectic in the catalog CD section of your local independent music retailer. continued on p. 40

UNDER THE RADAR Column by Gerry Hart • ghart@cmj.com

This week in Under the Radar we want to draw special attention to those albums that are either making important moves on CMJ Retail charts, or are just about to. We'll also throw in a few reasons on the what, why, and how things are beginning to pop.

Focus tracks include "Lovedust," "Weird & Woozy" and "1995." No. 13 CMJ Top 200 college radio, Album is Top 15 at R&R specialty, Top 15 FMQB, Top 5 Album Network. Currently being worked at Triple A commercial and non-comm. NPR appearance on World Café.

Album just serviced May 10 to college and non-comm. Will be performing on World Café when he comes to the states. Going for adds May 21 at Triple A, Modern and Hot AC. Single is "Goddess Of Love" which Brian Eno plays on.

Went for ads April 30 and was No. 2 most added. Going for heavy adds June 25 with "Anthem" at Active Rock which is when the band head out on tour with Kittie. Current adds include WYSP, KXXR, KUPD, KRXQ, WSOU, Live 105.

Album serviced to college and non-comm stations April 23. ST just debuted on the CMJ Top 200 college radio chart at No.93. McGathy currently working album promo. Focus track is "Dolph Indicator." Commercial specialty servicing will wait and see what college radio brings.

Currently working with a director on their upcoming video for "Lovedust.". It will be finished and ready to service before the end of May. No video, but EPKs are available (so bug Ron Feddor at Virgin and make sure you get one).

Video for "Anthem" will be part of the second marketing tier for reVolting Room and will be serviced between their current current tour and the second leg of tour with Kittie (see "tour" below).

No new video yet, but enthusiasm for Curse has gotten video from last record on MTVX with 1-2 spins a week.

Support coming in from Rolling Stone, Spin, Daily News, Tower Pulse, CMJ Monthly, Shout, NY Post, DWI, Pop Culture Press, and more fanzines than you can imagine. Luna just appeared on Conan O'Brien and is set to appear June 10 on Craig Killborn. Bryan's got a full GQ fashion spread coming in September (is that a good thing?). Upcoming features and reviews also include Rolling Stone, Vanity Fair, Bender, Details, Vogue, Spin, Entertainment Weekly, Flaunt, Interview and People. Expect to see Bryan on late night television in June.

Press has been extremely supportive. Love for Skinlab coming in everywhere from national, regional and weekly print, including Revolver, Metal Mania, Guitar World, Alternative Press, Zero, Metal Edge, Bass Player, CMJ, Mean Street, Heckler and much more to come.

Very supportive reviews and features coming in from Alternative Press (one of the 6 New Faces Of Punk Rock), Spin, CMJ Monthly, Magnet, LA Weekly, Willamette Weekly, Detroit Metro Times, SF Bay Guardian, Las Vegas Weekly. Salon.com just gave glowing review. More to come.

Luna touring with Sonicboom and then Jim White from May 9 to June 29 in all major markets including: Boston, Philly, DC, Baltimore, Detroit, Chicago, Mnpls, Seattle, Portland, SF, LA, Dallas, Austin, Houston, St. Louis, Atlanta, NYC and more.

Currently touring... THE WORLD (hard to list those dates folks). His US itinerary should be confirmed by this summer and looks like it will take place in the fall (check websites below for up-to-date tour info). We'll let you know what we know when we know it as well.

through June 7. Most shows sold out. A lot of merch success (clipping even Kittie lately). Also booked as main support for second leg of Kittie tour for six weeks starting July 6. On tour with Superjoint Ritual June 7-30.

On tour now with Kittie. Flaw and My Ruin

Band hitting road this fall when slated for heavy supporting act slots. Members are real characters live — crazy dresses, wigs, and they absolutely rock. Have toured with the Donnas, Intl. Noise Consp, Bratmobile, Rocket From The Crypt.

MTV.com had a listen-up (streaming of the record that went up day of release. Amazon.com also offered pre-release streaming. Best sites include jetsetrecords.com and Luna's site which is fuzzywuzzy.com (fans can get sample of "Black Postcards" there now).

know what we know when we know it as well.
Best site is www.bryanferry.com for bios, pics, tour dates, and all things Bryan Ferry . AOL will be doing full-on listening parties week of release (release date is May 21). MSN.com running a feature with streaming of single.

BestBuycom Amazon.com (Tier 6 package with sale pricing and placement on metal pages along with RIYL SOD, Slipknot, D. Pool email blasts). CM's email list is 40k strong. Eteam campaign gives those who send Skinlab ecard to 10 friends a free 2 song sampler.

Best sites are the all new, very improved and pretty cool www.hoplessrecords.com and the equally new www.selbytigers.com. E-cards have just been serviced to all Hopeless/Subcity fans. Banner ads with pitchforkmedia.com, poppunk.com, punkhardcore.com. Fans can download single at Hopeless site.

Gifts being offered with purchase—they include buttons, 18x24 posters, stickers. Ticket giveaway contests running now with indie retailers. Full color plastic bin cards available for all accounts. There's an emai list set up for all accounts who want Luna promo stuff: promo@jetsetrecords.com.

Guests on Frantic include Radiohead's Johnny Greenwood, Dave Stewart (who cowrote several songs), Roxy Music touring stalwarts Paul Thompson, Chris Speedling, Colin Good and Lucy Wilkins. Brian Eno co-wrote the finale "I Thought" and plays on "Goddess Of Love." Bryan also does two great Dylan covers. Posters will be available around US tour.

CM printed up 75k of 2-song sampler (the one that got us hooked). Displays include 11x17 ad 20x30 posters (big design on one side, two separate posters on the other). Band up for in-stores (Get in touch with Andy at: hoz@centurymedia.com). Best site is skinlab1.com. Check out "Slave The Way"—you haven't been rocked like that in a long time.

Posters are available as well as in-store play copies. We suggest you snag an instore disc because customers will respond when they hear this record. Album is produced by John Reis of Rocket From The Crypt and Hot Snakes. Recommended for those who are into White Stripes, Strokes and the Hives.

PROFILE: EAR X-TACY Section by Curtis Hawkins • kingcurtis@cmj.com

ohn Dillinger, "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Al Capone, Virgil Starkwell, D. B. Cooper and John Timmons — no, they're not new band names, or just notorious desperadoes of the past. You probably know most of them, but the last one is our current exposé John Timmons. John started ear X-tacy in 1985 with his personal record collection and credit card. In his first year of operation John discovered bootlegs, not crummy counterfeit knock-offs, but highly sought-after collector items (sure it was illegal, but John was only trying to help his poor deprived customers find those rare live show recordings. BUSTED!).

John's inability to acquire a gun or attain his elusive political dream of the presidency notwithstanding, he's come through unscathed. Since his short-lived criminal career, John has been busy building a musical institution in Louisville. ear X-tacy started in a 300 square foot space and over the years has grown to a unique 10,000 square foot, full-service haven for music lovers. One of his most successful marketing campaigns to date has been the ear X-tacy bumper sticker. The sticker has been featured on an album by the Gin Blossoms and has been spotted around the world including Mexico, Alaska, Havana, Europe, and even behind Joey Ramone on a CBGB's wall during an MTV interview.

The store's visibility has increased through billboard ads in prime locations around the city featuring new releases, in-store appearances and just the store itself. Recent artist events at ear X-tacy include Tenacious D, Nappy Roots, Cousteau, Patty Griffin and John Mayer. At ear X-tacy there are 200 listening post slots available and an advertising menu that includes television, cable, print, radio (and don't forget the billboards). The store is very involved in the community and has set up a Junior Achievement, studentrun store at a local high school. ear X-tacy also has a record label whose artists include singer/songwriter Tim Krekel and pop-rockers Cooler.

Wanted for Trouble-making: ear X-tacy owner, John Timmons, with Dave Grohl of Foo Fighters

CMJ Q&A with John Timmons

Current favorite album?

Cooler's Oh Happy Day (ear X-tacy records). Even if it wasn't on our label, I'd still rave about 'em! Weezer? Foo Fighters? These guys are Cooler!

All-time favorite album?

XTC's Skylarking combines one of my favorite bands (I named the store after them) and producer Todd Rundgren (my all-time fave artist). A Masterpiece!

All-time favorite B-side?

XTC's "Dear God." I'm a recovering Catholic.

First record bought? Where?

My older brother was seriously into music, so I listened to his Beatles/Dave Clark Five/Stones/Animals collection. So naturally, the first album I had to buy, was the Monkees' first album at a Woolco Dept. store in late '60s Scottsdale, AZ. I got the more expensive "stereo" version for $3.33.

Favorite Weekend Party Disc?

My parents owned Herb Alpert & The Tijuana Brass' Whipped Cream & Other Delights. I stared at that cover until I almost went blind. Maybe that's the reason I wear glasses today. PARTY!

Favorite Sunday morning disc?

Right now, it's gotta be Verve: Remixed.

First Concert? Where? When?

CCR & Spirit in 1968 or '69 in Phoenix, Arizona. Great experience. What was that sweet smelling smoke? Mark Cope was in the audience, I believe.

Best concert ever attended?

Foo Fighters live at Ear X-tacy, July 4th, 2000. Dave Grohl's idea: "Independent Record Store on Independence Day." Best in-store — EVER.

What artist (past or present) would you like to see live?

The Who with Keith Moon 1969-1973, but Zak Starkey is as close as I'll ever get. They still rock.

Currently reading?

Besides new release books, I'm reading Nick Nornby's How To Be Good.

king curtis' faves this week:

CIMS Gets Busy

The Coalition of Independent Music Stores (CIMS) held their annual meetings this last week in Charlotte, N.C. It was, by all accounts, the best turn out for a CIMS conference the coalition has ever had. Artists like John Mayer (whose early albums count Van Cleave's old Magic Platter and Scott Register's radio show "Reg's Coffee House" as one his earliest supporters), Patti Griffin, and RCA-up-and-comer, Mark Copely (not to be mistaken with Mark Cope) performed for the group as well. Meetings were held May 1 – 4.

ON TOUR NOW!

Does this open the door for opportunity? I'd even say that this is a great time to be an independent retailer in the music business! Throw a large, well maintained catalog CD inventory into the mix of a store with used CDs, vinyl, local artists, a hot DVD format, lifestyle products/toys, and you have a recipe for a music store I bet my life on everyday. Such a store will be among the group of last stores to fall before the Best Buster/Clear Radio Crap/Sound Scam/Download Delivery Freeze of 2525.
