COVER STORY

8 Radiohead: The Band Who Stole The World

Radiohead has made a career out of an uncompromising dedication to following its unique musical vision. The group's last two albums, Kid A and Amnesiac, saw its members struggling with a number of issues, both internal and external — but with the release of Hail To The Thief, the U.K. powerhouse has been reborn. "We've got our enthusiasm and our excitement about playing as a band back," drummer Phil Selway tells CMJ.

POSSIBLE VIVENDI DEAL IN WORKS

Vivendi Universal's Vice Chairman, Edgar Bronfman Jr., has recently joined the company's list of potential investors who are interested in buying the monolithic media company's entertainment assets (including Universal Music Group, Universal Studios and cable television's USA and SciFi Networks). Vivendi has been trying to attract buyers in an attempt to relieve the company's current crushing debt. Bronfman, the former Seagram chief who sold the exact same assets to Vivendi three years ago, is reportedly looking to put together financing in the $15 billion–$17 billion range, with the backing of Cablevision Systems — which would add the services of its American Movie Classics, Independent Film Channel and Women's Entertainment Network to the company's assets in exchange for a 30 percent stake in the new company — and private equity firm Quadrangle. Other potential investors include oil tycoon/billionaire Marvin Davis, whose $15 billion bid was rejected last year for being too low. Other companies, such as Liberty Media, Viacom and NBC, have also expressed interest in Vivendi's television assets, but are not interested in purchasing the music business. Now that his intentions to bid for the company have come into the open, Bronfman has stated that he will temporarily step down from VU's board while it discusses offers for the entertainment assets, which it has stated it would like to have sold before the end of the summer.

PURETUNES.COM TAINTED BY CONTROVERSY

A new online music service, Puretunes.com, launched on May 20 amid a storm of angry allegations from record labels and the International Federation of the Phonographic Industry (IFPI), due to the fact that the Web site does not have permission from any copyright holders to sell any of the songs it has available online. Unlike P2P sites, Puretunes does manage a music library, and says it will pay royalties directly to performers.

Based in Madrid, Spain, the site is working under the premise that an apparent loophole in Spanish copyright law will allow the company to fend off any lawsuits from irate record labels or trade organizations, insisting that it is a legal service, operating with licensing agreements from various Spanish trade associations that represent performers and recording artists. Allen Dixon, general counsel for the IFPI, was quick to disagree: "The record labels have the exclusive right to protect their recordings. There is no loophole here. It's like saying, 'I have permission from Ringo, George and Paul — therefore, I can start printing records.' No they can't." The site runs through a subscription service that allows users to download as many songs as possible in eight hours for $3.99, or a month's worth of unlimited downloads for $24.99 — a huge discount compared to industry-sanctioned services such as Listen.com. The IFPI is reportedly reviewing the site before determining whether or not legal action will be taken. In an additional twist, Puretones has signed on Grokster, a free file-sharing network that recently won a court decision against major labels, as its marketing partner.

LATIN ALTERNATIVE MUSIC CONFERENCE

The Latin Alternative Music Conference is switching coasts this year, as the self-proclaimed "biggest event in the world of Latin Rock and Hip-Hop" lands at the Merv Griffin Beverly Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles, California, for this year's gala, slated for August 14–16. The 2003 LAMC will include free performances by Los Amigos Invisibles, Sidestepper, Acida and Nortec Collective, as well as industry panels, the La Banda Elastica Music Awards and special indie and acoustic showcases. For registration and general info, visit the conference's official Web site, www.latinalternative.com.

THE WEEK IN MUSIC NEWS

Compiled and written by Doug Levy • dougl@cmj.com

In an event that could quite possibly have taken the problem of online album leaks to a ridiculous new height, a new album from pioneering U.K. space-rock band Spiritualized has shown up on file-sharing services before barely anyone even knew it existed. The group, led by mainman Jason Pierce, had been almost completely quiet about the fact that it was even working on a record, failing to mention anything about it to the public, even on its frequently updated Web site, www.spiritualized.com. Clearly, if the reason behind the secrecy was to prevent a leak, the band couldn't have had a better one — although it may have inadvertently caused the guilty suspect in this case to feel that much more smug about him/herself when pulling off the feat. Whatever the case, the word is out, and although it's unclear whether the songs circling the Internet are the final product, it has been revealed that the album is currently called Amazing Grace, and features songs such as "This Little Life Of Mine," "The Power And The Glory" and the most classically Pierce-titled of the bunch, "Lord Let It Rain On Me." No release date, or even an official acknowledgement of the album's reality, has yet been announced as of press time. • In 2001, Hip-Hop heads across the country found out something that L.A. area residents have known for over 10 years: DJ Mike Nardone knows his shit. Nardone's radio show, "We Came From Beyond," which airs on KXLU/Los Angeles, is about to celebrate its 15th anniversary, but it was two years ago that it spawned the classic compilation album of the same name. Featuring the hottest names in underground and indie Hip-Hop, the release helped define a scene that was gaining momentum by the minute. Now, July 22 will see the birth of a sequel: Mike Nardone Presents: We Came From Beyond, Volume 2 features the best under-the-radar talent in the rap world of today, including contributions from Wildchild, Lifesavas, J-Live and Quannum mainstays Lateef and The Chief, in their guise as Maroons. Better yet, most of the songs on the 16-track disc have been previously unavailable. For more info on Nardone and his show, check out: www.kxlu.com. • Apparently Prodigy fans aren't the only ones getting tired of waiting for a new album from the incendiary British dance-rock act — the Firestarter himself, Keith Flint, has gone off and formed his own band in the meantime. Simply dubbed Flint, the side-project will feature songs that the hyperactive vocalist has written since the release of the last Prodigy album, 1997's The Fat Of The Land. Flint includes two drummers in its five-man lineup, as well as guitarist Jim Davies, formerly of Pitchshifter. And while the Prodigy continues to promise that fans will finally see its long-awaited latest opus, still provisionally titled Always Outnumbered, Never Outgunned, before the end of the year, it's now possible that a Flint album could hit stores even earlier. The new band has already recorded its debut album with producer Youth, as well as filming a video for the record's first single, "Asteroids," with director Jonas Ackerlund, who infamously helmed the Prodigy's controversial "Smack My Bitch Up" clip. While no U.S. release date has been set for any of the Flint material yet, a limited-edition pink vinyl 10-inch of "Asteroids" has already dropped overseas, and shown up on online auction sites. Meanwhile, a Flint remix of Marilyn Manson's latest single, "mOBSCENE," has also been wrapped, with Keith and friends reconstructing almost the entire song with their own music and vocals. • The idea of two groups on the level of Radiohead and Sigur Rós getting together for a collaboration is definitely exciting, but also somewhat akin to throwing two mad scientists together in a lab and seeing what they come up with. The answer to that question, in this case, will come on Oct. 14, when the bands meet up in Brooklyn, New York, to create the live 20-minute soundtrack to "Split Sides," a new performance piece by the Merce Cunningham Dance Company. Set to take place at the Brooklyn Academy of Music (BAM), the debut performance will feature the added crazy-factor of the dancers not having heard any of the music the acts will perform together before the start of the show. Even better, the event will feature two stages and multiple costumes to allow for further variables in the performance, which will also be repeated on Oct. 16-18, before moving on. However, only the first show will feature live appearances from the two bands — the remaining dates will see a mix of recordings and other musicians doing their best to reproduce the sonic experiment. No ticket information has been released yet for the dates, but something tells us this one's going to get a little out of hand on eBay.

CMJ SILVER SALUTE

DEBUT ON CHART: Aug. 11, 1989
WEEKS ON CHART: 31
PEAK POSITION: No. 7

STONE ROSES

The Stone Roses (Silvertone) Bathed in psychedelia, forged in arrogance and packed with poignant melodic anthems, the Stone Roses' self-titled debut album had the same effect on British culture in 1989 that Nirvana's Nevermind would have in the U.S. just two years later. It started a wave, set the tone for a movement, defined a generation, gave the finger to the status quo and had a profound influence on fashion and culture alike.

Produced by one of the masters, John Leckie (who also helmed Radiohead's The Bends), The Stone Roses reinvigorated U.K. music and helped give rise to the Britpop movement that blossomed in its wake in the mid-'90s. To this day, the album remains an indisputable masterpiece and the quintessential benchmark of the legendary "Madchester" scene. — Brad Maybe

MARS VOLTA

De-Loused In The Comatorium

(GSL-Strummer-Universal)
Those who pick up the debut full-length from Mars Volta expecting At The Drive In, Part 2, just because the band features former ATDI cohorts Cedric Bixler-Zavalas and Omar Rodriguez-Lopez, would be best served by checking those expectations at the door. A passionate concept album, De-Loused In The Comatorium revolves around the ongoing narrative of its protagonist's experiences in the coma that follows an unsuccessful suicide attempt, told through Bixler-Zavalas's piercing upper register wails. Musically, it siphons its inspiration from a variety of moods and styles, including chaos and order, indie rock, dub, free Jazz, prog-rock and psychedelia. Complex, harmonically distorted tracks like "Inertiatic ESP," "Roulette Dares (This Is The Haunt)" and "Drunkship Of Lanterns" whip around artistically, as Mars Volta goes against the grain in both form and structure. De-Loused is definitely a "multiple-listens-required" record, but like any worthwhile artistic endeavor, the more you work to understand it, the more you appreciate it.

JUNIOR SENIOR

D-d-don't Don't Stop The Beat

(Crunchy Frog)
The U.S. debut of Junior Senior marks the second coup in a year for Danish label Crunchy Frog — the same folks responsible for exposing the moody drone-rock of the Raveonettes to the world at large. Both groups are ostensibly duos, and the theme of duality is extremely appropriate in this case: If the Raveonettes represent the dark yin of Danish rock, then it's the Junior Senior yang that's bursting with light. The mixture of upbeat dance grooves and sugary guitar rock that messrs. Junior and Senior deal in manifests itself here in everything from the massive Avalanches-esque single "Move Your Feet" to the '60s handclap garage stomp of "Chicks And Dicks" and the woo-hoo! punk release of "White Trash." Which would be enough to make this a great record even without the fact that the band has a gimmick too: Junior, you see, plays the thin, young, straight man to Senior's rockin' Big Gay Al persona. If you can't picture it, catch them live; their shows, like their album, are pure, unadulterated fun. Brood on that.

SERART

Serart

(Serjical Strike-Columbia)
Those whines, mumbles and b-r-r-r-rs sure make it sound like System Of A Down squealer Serj Tankian has some hideous demons in need of exorcising. Serart is the sound of Tankian banging and clanging about with Turkish avant-garde folk artist Arto Tunçboyacıyan, cooking up genre-pureeing electronic world-rock, miserable moans and all manner of disparate global noise. Together, the fractured polyglots mix haunting minor-key Middle Eastern chants with a stampede of Brazilian and African rhythms, some Chinese strings, cacophonous scratching and howls — resulting in spontaneous intercontinental freakrock. "Cinema" is avant-A.D.D., going from clay pot percussion to drum-circle death thrash to lobster-claw gee-tar, with Tankian finagling a jabberwocky cornucopia of growls, mutters, sputters, coughs and oofs. "Facing The Plastic," meanwhile, is a Turkish wind breaking apart breakbeats with Campbell-soup percussion and a post-metal grind akin to cult Bungle side project Secret Chiefs 3. Ideal for war cries or scaring the shit out of Peter Gabriel. —

CLEM SNIDE

Soft Spot

(spinART)
After three albums of gritty art-country ballads, tongue-in-cheek lyrical observations and narcissistic discourses on the darker side of love, Clem Snide has surprisingly returned with a collection of disarmingly vulnerable and charming love songs. The aptly titled Soft Spot nestles both aged wisdom and wide-eyed innocence into the crevices left by acoustic guitar twang, singer Eef Barzelay's heady drawls and the sparse organ, brass bursts and percussive embellishments that make this record such a light-hearted and optimistic celebration of affection. "All Green" rolls itself into a glowing pop song, with Barzelay sounding genuinely concerned about friends who allow past regret to eat away at the present, while on "Action," the heartfelt assertion that "You're everything I want to do" culminates in a high-tempo celebration of snare drum chatter, banjo plunks, Delta blues harmonica and xylophone jangle. And "Happy Birthday," while sounding nothing like the cake and candle-filled standard, still shines so brightly with hope and uplifting melody that it may just start a party of its own.

BRITTA PHILLIPS AND DEAN WAREHAM

L'Avventura (Jetset)

There's a moment at the end of the Luna Live disc, when Britta Phillips and Dean Wareham are singing "Bonnie And Clyde," where one can't help but notice that it's quite possibly one of the strongest aural aphrodisiacs ever caught on tape. Since Phillips joined Luna three years ago, her warm presence has become a welcome addition to the band, with her siren sighs, coupling with Wareham's oddly lovable croon to create an undeniable sexy Beauty and the Beast musical tableau. On L'Avventura, the temporary duo's vocals, both together and separately, effortlessly glide over soft and dreamy tunes to create a sound that's as soothing as it is seductive. Produced by the legendary Tony Visconti (David Bowie, T. Rex), the disc features the lush accompaniment of a string quartet and a vibraphonist, with opener "Night Nurse" instantly revealing the heavenly heights of the album to come. It's not a new Luna record, but with such delights as "Moonshot" and "Knives From Bavaria" on offer, it's just as good.

MINK LUNGS

I'll Take It (Arena Rock)

Since their inception, the Mink Lungs have built a reputation as an outrageous and flamboyant live band; bags of oregano disguised as pot, hula-hoops and plastic babies all make frequent guest appearances on stage at the group's shows. But props aside, it's the unrestrained sheer energy of the Lungs' live set that was so perfectly captured on their 2001 debut, The Better Button. With their sophomore effort, I'll Take It, the band has once again succeeded in capturing both its quirkiness and its penchant for carnal thoughts on a record overflowing with that same energy. Because all of the members of Mink Lungs write and sing, the album as a whole has a seemingly schizophrenic personality — docile at times, wild at others, but usually pretty crazy throughout. And it's that variety that gives rise to everything from "Dishes," which finds a spiteful and frustrated pyromaniac dishwasher setting fire to a frat house, to "Awesome Pride," in which Jennifer "Miss Frosty" Hoopes declares her man "the hottest thing since I used my finger." Totally outrageous.

KARSH KALE

Liberation (Six Degrees)

Karsh Kale is a member of Tabla Beat Science, has worked with Pharoah Sanders, Herbie Hancock and Bill Laswell, and has remixed Sting and Craig David. But in addition to all of those credits, Kale has always managed to explore his own musical universe through his solo endeavors. For Liberation, his second full-length, Kale enlisted the help of his live band, Realize, to flesh out his culture-spanning musical vision in the studio. Considering that he grew up in the United States with Indian parents, it makes sense that his tabla, drum kit and percussion playing are all equally influenced by the musical traditions of both hemispheres. The idiosyncratic electronica of "Dirty Fellow" and the earthy vibe of the title track both demonstrate a clever synthesis of Western dance music conventions and a deeply reverent take on the sounds of the East. The result is an aesthetic that's modern and tech-savvy, while retaining an aura of organic warmth. An astute combination of Western commerce and Eastern spirituality, Liberation is both engaging listening and a successful cultural experiment.

NONE MORE BLACK

File Under Black

(Fat Wreck Chords)

Citing New Jersey as a source of cultural deprivation and generalized anxiety is a well-worn path in popular music, and it's those who have lived and breathed it who do it well

(insert clever Springsteen reference here). Hailing from central NJ, None More Black is fronted by singer/guitarist Jason Shevchuk, formerly of Kid Dynamite (which also featured ex-members of NJ pop-punk royalty Lifetime), who reveals his bittersweet love for his home state on songs like the fist-pumping "Banned From Teen Arts." Keeping true to its working-class roots, NMB (now with new recruit Paul Delaney from Kill Your Idols) plays the same kind of gravel-throated, beer-and-cigarette rawk anthems that fuel bands like Propagandhi and Face To Face; "Risk Management" and "Dinner's For Suckers" have that bouncy neo-punk beat that makes for easy dancing, mixed with the same sarcastic wit that always made Kid Dynamite fans swoon. Shevchuk's lyrics, meanwhile, mainly deal with kicking against the pricks — and it's that extra bit of fight that will really drive this band home. — Kory Grow

the 'headline

With Hail To The Thief, Radiohead rediscovers what was so great about making music in the first place. Story by Doug Levy • Photos by Jason Evans

Panic attacks, terror alerts, a looming darkness on the horizon, and everything you thought you knew about life slowly fracturing and coming undone — this could quite possibly be the end of the world. Or it could just mean that Radiohead is finally back.

Thankfully, the latter scenario provides a lot more reason to shout than shiver, and with the arrival of Hail To The Thief, the sixth album from Oxford, England's favorite sons, it's also an actuality. Taking the claustrophobic electronic experimentation of the band's last two releases, Kid A and Amnesiac, and re-appropriating it into the full band dynamic that made Radiohead such a fiercely interdependent unit to begin with, the album is in many ways a culmination of everything the group has done to date.

Of course, with Thief arguably being the most eagerly awaited album of the year, expectations have risen to a rather intense level, and, as with the last release, talk has been circulating wildly that the disc would see a return to the more guitar-based rock of earlier Radiohead releases. Surprisingly, the album's opening track, "2 + 2 = 5," a darkly melodic haunted-house-soundtrack that rapidly devolves into a guitar-and-vocal freakout, seems to support that idea. But as the immensely diverse instrumentation, both organic and electronic, of the following tracks reveals, this record is far from a regression. Which raises the question: Why would anyone get the idea that one of the most forward-thinking bands in history would ever take a step backward?

"I don't know if it's wishful thinking or what," ponders drummer Phil Selway, the man responsible for providing the rhythmic backbone of the ever-evolving Radiohead sound. Along with frontman Thom Yorke, guitarists Ed O'Brien and Jonny Greenwood and bassist Colin Greenwood, he's currently in Ireland, where mere minutes ago, the band wrapped the final production rehearsal for its first U.K. tour in support of the new disc. The album's completion is still a very new thing, and more big things are about to happen. Reflection and anticipation co-exist in equal measure.

"We made no bones about the fact that this disc, from the outset, was going to be based more around band performances," emphasizes Selway. "The shows that we did as part of the preparation for recording last summer, they were all up on the Web, so I think people got quite a fixed idea from the recordings of the new material then. But the thought that we'd returned completely to how we worked around The Bends, or OK Computer — that would be quite limiting, really; because that whole process felt quite limiting to us at the time.

"But at the same time, this record has been a time where we have actually taken elements from all our other records. Because we're a different band now; because we play better together; we've got our heads around getting the more technological aspects of music working alongside — or within, actually — the framework of a band playing. I actually have a personal take on that, as well: I think that ability allows you then to take elements of things that you've worked on before and shed new light on them. And I think that's what we've done. We have drawn from all our experiences really, as a band."

And not only has Radiohead drawn from those experiences; it has also learned from them. The recording process during the sessions that would go on to comprise Kid A and Amnesiac has been infamously documented as a painstaking, soul-numbing affair. The degree of pressure that settled on the band in the aftermath of the overwhelming success of OK Computer was almost too much to cope with. The group kept a low public profile, but by all reports, Thom Yorke was seriously cracking up, and the future of the band began to become shrouded in serious doubt. With all of the intense expectation from fans across the globe, the weight of the world seemed to be quite literally resting on all of the band members' shoulders. But in getting through that difficult time, they were also able to learn a valuable lesson: difficult as it may be, to function properly and to make music for the sheer sake of making music, other people's expectations have to be ignored.

"I think that contributed a lot to the slowness of the Kid A sessions, really," admits Selway. "We were just startled a little bit at the beginning of those sessions. But I think because we worked through that anxiety when we were recording that record, it wasn't there this time. It really wasn't. Kid A definitely ground to a halt on quite a regular basis. But we overhauled the engine and it's ticking over very smoothly now." A brief pause, before he chuckles and adds, "Well, it was for the course of this album, anyway."

In fact, the band's approach to making Hail To The Thief was so drastically different from those last sessions in the studio that it was able to record the album much faster this time, with the added relief of no longer having to worry about being excessively meticulous. And at the heart of it, the reason for the change is really quite simple: "We've got our enthusiasm and our excitement about playing as a band back," confesses Selway. "That was the main inspiration at the beginning of it. What you hear on the live album, the I Might Be Wrong recordings — the kind of energy that was in the performances there — that was where we found our inspiration."

Although the record was recorded in a relatively short time compared to the last releases, however, it was hardly just thrown together. "A lot did go into it," Selway explains. "Not necessarily all now, but it's drawing on 17 years of experience as a band, really. And also, we did a lot of preparation before we went in to record this time. We did two-and-a-half months worth of rehearsals and pre-production, then we went out and toured all the songs, because we knew that would have a positive effect on what we did in the studio. That actually is what allowed us to go in and work very fast.

"If there was a kind of lightness to what we were doing, it's because we were working quickly," he continues. "Even though there's a lot of cumulative experience in what we were doing, we weren't overanalyzing every single note or every single word as we were working. So for a lot of the sessions, there was a kind of spontaneity in the performances, a genuine life to them."

Most importantly, the band is finally enjoying itself again.

"I think that really comes across on the record in the performances," says

Selway. “I mean, it’s not a bright and necessarily happy record, but it’s a warm and quite passionate record, and I think that that can only really come from those elements being there in the studio.”

From the dreamy piano-based lullaby of “Sail To The Moon” to the acid-laced synth nightmare of “Myxomatosis” to the otherworldly groove of “Where I End And You Begin” and all the way through to the closing rhythmic vocals of the Grimm “A Wolf At The Door,” if there’s one thing that’s immediately clear overall, it’s that whatever clinical elements had crept into the Radiohead camp in recent years have indeed been exorcised. And with the amount of variety offered this time around, everyone is bound to have a different favorite track, band members included.

“I’m really happy with the way ‘Go To Sleep’ turned out,” says Selway, “because that was probably the track that we were having the most difficulty with arranging during pre-production, and then on the touring. I think it was a good measure of how much we’ve come on as musicians — that within the space of a day in the studio, we had actually thrown together a good arrangement.”

In retrospect, and as evidenced by Hail To The Thief, perhaps the most unusual thing about Radiohead’s long career has been the band’s uncanny ability to find success where other acts fail to be recognized; most artists who take left-of-center approaches to making music tend to be virtually ignored by mainstream radio and the general public, whereas the more Radiohead pushes the envelope through experimentation and progression, the wider the arms of the world seem to open to embrace it.

Normally, a band releasing the kinds of albums that this one has been peddling for the last few years would be relegated exclusively to the airwaves of College Radio. Which, of course, while it isn’t the case, wouldn’t be a bad thing. “In a lot of ways, College Radio is generally where you can hear the best music, really,” agrees Selway. “I suppose we like to think of our music appearing in a good context, and for us, that’s a very good context. People there, more so than in other formats, seem to be following their genuine tastes, rather than a playlist that’s very prescribed. So, actually being heard in that context, I think is great.”

However, exactly how Radiohead managed to not only rise out of that market, but to remain wholeheartedly welcomed by a population usually satisfied with more generic fare, while continually converting more and more fans even as it became less and less accessible, remains, at least in some part, a mystery — and the band will be the first to admit it.

“The idea of a record like Kid A going to No. 1 is just utterly bizarre,” laughs Selway, searching for some sort of explanation. But ultimately, the best he can come up with is support for a bit of classic advice: Follow your heart and find your true path.

“I think we’ve always done things for the right reasons, musically. There’s something very vague sounding about saying that we’re uncompromising, but there have been a lot of compromises that we have just not been prepared to make as we’ve gone along. I think that provides a good framework for actually allowing creative freedom to grow — it’s all part and parcel of doing things for what we believe to be the right reasons; we can square the decisions that we make with ourselves. I think if you let that kind of thing guide the process, then the good music follows from that. Everything does actually flow from that point.”

So, score one more for idealism and creative vision. Score one more for Radiohead with the extremely uncompromising Hail To The Thief. But don’t forget that one final, essential factor: “We’ve been very lucky,” concludes Selway. “We’ll be the first to acknowledge that. A good deal of luck is most definitely in there.”

The perfect, if irreplicable, recipe for sacrifice-free success: feel free to try it at home.

200 Moves

Everybody say, "Yeah!" After six glorious weeks, the White Stripes finally surrender the peak position, allowing New York's Yeah Yeah Yeahs to move 4-1* on the Radio 200 chart this week. That's not too shabby, considering it took the Yeahs just three short weeks to accomplish that feat. Congrats to all. Meanwhile, Granddaddy's Sunday enters the Top 10 at No. 6, while NOFX joins the fun at No. 10. Beyond the Top 10, Finland's Flaming Sideburns pushed forward 32-19*, while the Decemberists leaped 35-20*. Furthermore, Verbenam moved up 10 to No. 27*, while the Long Winters progressed 64-33*, the All Girl Summer Fun Band increased 45-34* and Turbonegro moved 58-40*. The biggest debut of the week came from Wire (D-24*), followed by Four Tet, which entered the Radio 200 at No. 46. Next week, look for both the Deftones (this week's No. 1 Most Added) and Liz Phair (D-91*) to make significant progress on the chart. Also, be sure to check out Gillian Welch's brilliant Soul Journey, which debuted this week at No. 82, as well as the maddening indie prog-rock of Philadelphia's Dysrhythmia, which entered at No. 185.

KBCS/Bellevue, WA concluded its weeklong pledge drive on May 3. Rallying behind the battle cry, “Community radio — now more than ever,” the station exceeded its goal of $75,000 and garnered over $100,000 in pledges. Also, KBCS just “Moola For Music,” the event took place during the last weekend of March, and for anywhere from $5 to $500, listeners could request any song that they wanted to hear. WUSC even bent its Top 40 rule, allowing certain crappy songs to be played for the greater good of the station.

final night. On the Monday, which was Cinco de Mayo, Los Pistoleros Mexicanos Del Norte played at John Henry’s. On Tuesday, Concubot and the Lovers played the Tiny Tavern; Wednesday was punk night and the Bastard Saints, Out Of This Comes That, Monkee Torture and the

And Roll Soldiers, Some Cheap Christ and Mind 37 all played at Wow Hall. The station broadcast a few songs from each of the bands’ sets, and then right before midnight, the countdown began. At midnight, the real party started. Everybody sang “Happy Birthday” and there wrapped-up its coverage of the Northwest Folklife Festival on May 23. The three-day event attracted some 1,000 performers and 250,000 music fans to the Seattle Center, and the station has plans to broadcast about 20 hours of performances. And in other station news, KBCS General Manager Steve Ramsey is happy to report that, with the addition of news and public affairs programming to KBCS’s airwaves last fall, “Our range of music and information is unduplicated in this market.” • On Tuesday, May 13, WTUL/New Orleans hosted an incredible evening of Jazz. The Brötzmann/Parker/Drake Trio played to a packed house at the Blue Nile, in New Orleans’ historic French quarter. “If you don’t know Peter [Brötzmann], William [Parker], or Hamid [Drake], you should. These guys are it as far as who’s who in the avant-garde Jazz world,” says Nick Lynton, WTUL’s Concert Coordinator. Listeners with a WTUL membership card were able to save $2 off of the price of their tickets. • WUSC/Columbia, SC recently held its biannual fundraiser. Billed as

Many local bands took advantage of the pay-for-play event and spent a bundle requesting themselves. The station also took in an extra hundred bucks taking bids on something called “DJ For A Day” — the highest bidder will get to host a show on WUSC in the coming weeks. In all, the station raised $3,400 over the two days. In other station news, WUSC took advantage of the 3 Rivers Music Festival, a three-day party featuring nearly 100 artists on several stages, to get its name out there. The station broadcasted live from the event, which featured B.B. King, Queens Of The Stone Age, the Donnas, Ludicris and more. • It seems like only yesterday when KWVA/Eugene, OR signed on and started broadcasting out of a converted ladies room in the University of Oregon’s student union; we can still “smell the music.” Well, KWVA is now 10 years old and to celebrate, instead of just one show, the station planned five. The KWVA 10th Anniversary Week Long Birthday Bash had bands playing Monday through Friday night at different area clubs, with a big finale on the

Catholic School Girls all played the Wetlands, which is a converted IHOP; Thursday was Hip-Hop night and Mr. Lif, DJ Fakts and Sleep And Norman all played. Then, the big night came on Friday; seven bands, six hours, five bucks. Toad In The Hole, Hello Lobster, Bloody Castles Ragtime Band, Chevron, Rock was cake! KWVA has some big plans for renovations and will be going in front of the A.S.U.O. (Associated Students Of The University Of Oregon) to ask for $118,000 for new equipment. As you may have already guessed, most of the equipment that the staffers are using now is 10 years old.

STARFLYER 59

Old (Tooth And Nail)

With Old, Starflyer 59 may be a little concerned that its prog rock leanings might freak out some of its diehard fans, but in all honesty, for a band releasing its sixth studio album in nearly 10 years, Old offers a fresh twist on a signature sound. The group created 10 dark and fuzzy electrified post-modern gems for the disc, including “Underneath” — a surging rocker that might not be typical of Starflyer’s established sound, but nonetheless fits solidly into the album’s overall vision. Starflyer 59 debuted last week at No. 55 on the Core chart, and moved up to No. 39 this week.

Station Philosophy/ Audience Perception:

KCSU strives to bring Colorado State University a professional station with the best new music, knowledgeable and entertaining DJs and innovative production.

Slogan/Positioning Statement:

"90.5 KCSU — Your Radio"

How does the station differentiate itself from others in the market?

In a community where Top 40 dominates the airwaves, we deliver quality music to our listeners. We even play their requests. However, KCSU's strongest suit is its diversity of programming. Listeners can always expect something different. On Fridays, we play punk, on Saturdays we play Hip-Hop and on Sundays we play electronic music. Throughout the week we also feature roots music, indie rock, World music, female rock, metal, and even sports and political talk shows.

How is the station promoted on campus? Off campus?

KCSU utilizes the campus newspaper, The Collegian, by placing ads promoting our specialty shows, concerts and events. Every week in the entertainment section, KCSU staff members also write 5-10 CD reviews. The local entertainment magazine, The Scene, also publishes reviews written by KCSU. Plus, the campus TV station airs a commercial for KCSU every night. We also have an ad that runs on the campus Jumbotron during sporting events.

What type of image does the station project on the air?

We are a fun, energetic station that brings a variety of music to Northern Colorado. KCSU is a learning environment where students gain real-world experience. Our station consistently sounds professional, with quality and diverse programming.

Recent Remote Broadcasts:

We are consistently out in the community doing remotes and promotional events. At least two times a month, we host Showcase Shows at local venues. Local and national acts are spotlighted on air and we set up a remote during the show. Our most recent showcase concerts were billed as "Flavor In The City" and they featured an MC battle and local Hip-Hop acts.

Does the station do any music or audience research?

Every year, the Journalism Department does a survey of Student Media with the entire campus (about 24,000). This year, about 65 percent of students said they listen to KCSU.

Ties To Local Music Scene:

Local artists are encouraged to come into the station to be interviewed and perform. We are constantly updating the studio's local music rack. We also help promote a weekly concert every Friday that features the best local bands at the campus pub, The Ramskeller.

Why is KCSU so cool?

With more than 150 volunteers and staff, we like to call KCSU "organized chaos," but we all love our jobs and consider ourselves members of a family! We are actively involved on our campus and in our community. We are music geeks, production nerds and promotion dorks, and that's what makes us cool. We want to make KCSU the best station in the world. We're passionate about KCSU and, with our 10,000 watts, maybe we will take over the world... someday.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

VERBENA

Since the release of its 1999 Dave Grohl-produced album, Into The Pink, Verbena has been quietly writing and recording tracks for its follow-up, the recently unleashed La Musica Negra. Heavily influenced by blues grooves and good old-fashioned rock 'n' roll, the new effort demonstrates just how far the Alabama band has come since the days when it released music via indie rock mainstay Merge Records. CMJ recently sat down to talk with singer/guitarist Scott Bondy, who was quick to admit his dissatisfaction with the group's last album and the Nirvana comparisons it inevitably brought. But while the past may be a source of contention, Bondy remains extremely positive about both the present and the future.

It's been four years since the last Verbena album. What has happened in that time?

Well, basically there were some changes at the label. Our label (Capitol) has been through three presidents since we signed. It's pretty amazing that we're on the same label after all that turmoil. Our A&R guy isn't there anymore. Also, we just fell on some weird times. We kind of disappeared and decided that we weren't going to make a record until we had written at least 30 to 40 songs that we liked, so that we could par it down from there. We weren't too happy with the last record, and we just didn't want to be caught in that again. We figured if we had the time, why not take it, you know?

Why weren't you happy with the last record?

I just don't think it was very honest. It wasn't an accurate representation of us. Maybe it was. But it was dark and kind of aggressive in a way that wasn't very inclusive of anyone who was listening to it. It was almost like a crime scene photo.

Has the band played out much since touring stopped for Into The Pink?

We play like once a year at home. Aside from a small tour we did last December, not really much at all. Since last December we've played about 25 shows, but before that, hardly any.

You've gone through a lot of lineup changes, though.

It's basically everybody who was doing the last tour now, except for (singer/guitarist) Ann Marie (Griffin). It's me, (drummer) Les Nuby and (bassist) Nick Daviston.

Do you think College Radio has had an effect on Verbena's success?

I would like to do better on College Radio and college charts. But I don't think that we've ever been seen as being cool in those circles. I grew up listening to bands that, I think, were more successful at College Radio stations than elsewhere — Sonic Youth, Dinosaur Jr., stuff like that. To tell you the truth, I'm not sure why we don't have a bigger college audience.

Verbena gets compared to Nirvana a lot. Do you think La Musica Negra will change that?

I hope so. I don't think this record sounds as much like Nirvana as the last record did. But then, I didn't think the last record sounded as much like Nirvana as people made it out to. I really don't think there's much on this record that sounds like them at all.

There seems to be more of a blues influence now. Was that deliberate, or something that progressed through the songwriting?

It was deliberate. You asked why I didn't like the last record. It's because it wasn't a natural extension of the way we play. It was almost forced to come out like that. This record is us more relaxed, just letting what comes out happen. I think our very first record (1997's Souls For Sale) had an honest quality about it that I think this record hopefully recaptures.

“I'm not pro-gun or anti-gun. They're just really strong symbols. In a 'non-gun' way, they can be used as a metaphor for any number of things.” — Verbena's Scott Bondy

A lot of your song titles and lyrics reference guns. Is there a reason for that?

To give the opposite of the Freud quote, “Sometimes a gun isn't just a gun.” I guess it's just because I grew up around them. I'm not pro-gun or anti-gun. I used to own a gun, but I don't own one anymore. They're just really strong symbols. In a 'non-gun' way, they can be used as a metaphor for any number of things.

Was this record recorded live in the studio?

Not all of it, but some of it was. Just for the sake of getting performances that were clean. We've never been a band that can do that. For some reason, we can't do our best work together in the studio. I know that may sound funny. We don't really treat playing live and being in the studio as the same thing. The [producer Steve Albini] approach, where you're cheating if you don't capture the band playing at the same time, never really worked for us. We don't necessarily need to take a snapshot of where the band is at that particular moment. It's more time consuming, but the end result, I think, is better.

Were there any memorable stories that took place during the recording of the album?

Yeah, but nothing specific really. Same thing happens on tour. The things that become funny to a group of people sequestered in the same environment don't necessarily translate as funny to the outside world. People will look at you like you're crazy. As far as us — the band and the rest of the people we made the record with — it couldn't have been made under better circumstances. It was just a joy to go to work everyday. Which is how it should be. And with other things, and on other records I've made, I didn't want to do it. And that's sad. You should want to go into the studio everyday.

The power punk quartet, led by vocalist Tyson Ritter and guitarist Nick Wheeler, is traveling in support of its 2002 self-titled debut album.

Fans of Ron Sexsmith will be happy to hear that the Canadian singer/songwriter is back on stage this summer, on an outing that kicked off with his performance during the Sasquatch Festival at the beautiful Gorge Amphitheatre in Washington State on May 24. Sexsmith will be visiting a number of cities from June 9 until August 17 — if you're in the New York City area, be sure to get tickets for his set on the Coldplay bill at Madison Square Garden on June 13. Head to www.ronsexsmith.com for a full listing of dates.

The extraordinary Blonde Redhead, currently working on material for a new album, will be making a few select appearances this month, beginning with a show at the Scene in San Diego on June 21, and a stop at the All Tomorrow's Parties (ATP) festival on June 22 in Los Angeles. The latter event, curated this year by Simpsons creator Matt Groening, will also feature the Magic Band, Mogwai, Mission Of Burma, Yo La Tengo, Throwing Muses, Black Heart Procession and many others. Check www.atpfestival.com for details.

Following a four-day jaunt in Japan, the pop-punk quartet out of Rancho Cucamonga, California, will be returning to the U.S. for a brief string of dates from June 22 through June 27. Fans can catch the boys with Noise Ratchet and Over It in six cities, beginning with a gig at Salt Lake City's Huntridge Theatre. Afterwards, the group will join the Warped Tour lineup until July 16 in Las Cruces, New Mexico.

THE NEW ENGLAND METAL AND HARDCORE FESTIVAL

In May, the fifth annual New England Metal And Hardcore Festival turned the quiet New England town of Worcester, Massachusetts into a cyclone-like mosh pit of countless bands, fervent fans and industry types from around the globe. After soaking up two days worth of extreme music, CMJ managed to survive, bones intact, to bring back just one roll of film and a lifetime of heavy metal memories. Horns up!

BEER: IT'S WHAT'S FOR DINNER: These three gentlemen were understandably excited when it was revealed that the menu at Metalfest consisted of just ale and rock. (Left to right) The Syndicate's "Scuba" Steve Schwarz, Century Media/Nuclear Blast's Kurt Briggs and WDBM/Lansing, MI's Dave Vagasky.

FROM OUT OF THE SHADOWS: After Shadows Fall's amazing set, these folks gave the band's performance two enthusiastic horns up. (Left to right) Roadrunner/CMJ's Amy Sciarretto, The Syndicate's Eric "Doormouse" Peltier, Shadows Fall frontman Brian Fair, WRBC/Lewiston, ME's Razor Ray and Bullpen Promotions' Tara Buzzell.

THE NEW ENGLAND METAL AND HARDCORE FESTIVAL

The New England Metal And Hardcore Festival is, hands down, the best metal fest in the world. Centered at a venue called The Palladium, it's an annual event that is held in the deserted wasteland known as Worcester, Massachusetts. For the past five years, long hairs, karate kicking pit freaks and the hip, it seems. Nevermore debuted four new tunes that are so metal that they set off airport detectors in nearby Boston. And what else can be said about the headliner, Opeth, other than thanks to Mikael Åkerfeldt for gracing us with "Deliverance" and "A Fair Judgement" live. Side-stage notables included set, the unstoppable Lamb Of God had the pit perform a "Wall Of Death," where the crowd parts like the red sea and runs at each other like a battle scene out of Braveheart. There was massive pit carnage during LOG and its set was arguably the highlight of the weekend. The hometown heroes in Converge knew that

Kidman introduced his band by saying, "We are Bon Jovi and I got a haircut." Meanwhile, Superjoint Ritual made headlines. Philip Anselmo refused to perform unless pit dwellers jumped on and off stage; he claimed, "Our stage is your stage." When the crowd chanted "Pan-ter-a," Anselmo replied, "Is industry folk converge to the New England town for a long weekend of unrelenting rock. The festival's reputation strengthens with each passing year and 2003 was no exception. Held on Friday, May 16 and Saturday, May 17, this year's Metalfest mosh-a-thon was completely sold-out. The too-godly-for-words Opeth headlined on Friday night, while Philip Anselmo's Superjoint Ritual closed out the fest on Saturday. On Friday, Most Precious Blood performed with new singer Rob Fusco, late of One King Down. Fusco and MPB barely missed a beat. Also, the Nora riot squad was equally devastating. Diecast performed its last show with vocalist Colin Schliefer, who is exiting to pursue academia. Schliefer and crew ended their set with a cover of Slayer's definitive "Raining Blood" and Diecast's most memorable tune, "Singled Out." CMJ met the band's new singer and he's a metal Hessian — he looks nothing like his clean-cut predecessor. Lacuna Coil and November's Doom also performed, bringing symphonic metal to the forefront. LC's frontwoman, Cristina Scabbia, has a voice that is as gorgeous live as it is on record. So is her face. Killswitch Engage terrorized its captive hometown audience, as did Shadows Fall. These two bands are attached at

Scarlet and Bongzilla. Saturday's festivities kicked off early. On the side stage, Haste debuted new material and were joined onstage by Lamb Of God's Randy Blythe to close out its blood-curdling set. Beyond The Sixth Seal, comprised of members of the Red Chord, had metal fans soiling their panties. Caliban came all the way to Worcester from Germany. If you think that the band's Shadow Hearts is balls-out heavy, then check 'em out live. Darkest Hour, the mighty Mastodon, Misery Index (much less groove-centered than Dying Fetus, the band it splintered out from), 100 Demons (thugged to the max), Blood Has Been Shed (KsE's Howard Jones doing double duty), Cephalic Carnage, the Red Chord and Pig Destroyer made the The Palladium tremble. Over on the main stage, Harakiri and Chimaira kicked the day off, while the highly impressive Orange County, California metalcorists Bleeding Through (looks like AFI, sounds like blackmetalhardcore, thanks to breakdowns and keyboards) and Eighteen Visions (dressed in red collared shirts and black ties, à la the Vines) made converts in the audience. It was great to see Goatwhore's Ben Falgoust walking without a cane (he was involved in two devastating van accidents within a year) and rocking the hell out. During its ending its sweltering set with "The Saddest Day" would bring out the pit wildlife. It did. Meanwhile, a reunited Suffocation had an audience of adoring headbangers — this is the tightest, most technical death metal band that CMJ has ever heard. The Haunted was like At The Gates reincarnated. Meshuggah lead singer Jens dead." Whoa. Superjoint's new song, "Heathen War," is reminiscent of Pantera during its breakdown, but the other new songs SJR performed were stylistically like Black Flag. The always-prolific Anselmo ended the night by saying, "Eat more pussy." Thanks for the advice, Phil! We'll be sure to work that out before next year's fest.

LOUD ROCK ARTIST NEWS

Poison The Well has revealed the track listing for its forthcoming Velvet Hammer-Atlantic debut, You Come Before You, which is due out on July 1. The track listing is as follows: "Ghostchant," "Loved Ones (Excerpts From Speeches Of How Great You Were, And Will Never Be Again)," "For A Bandaged Iris," "Meeting Again For The First Time," "A) The View From Here Is... B) A Brick Wall," "The Realist," "Zombies Are Good For Your Health," "The Opinionated Are So Opinionated," "Apathy Is A Cold Body," "Sounds Like The End Of The World," "Pleasant Bullet" and "Crystal Lake." CMJ had the chance to chat with guitarist Derek Miller and he told us that this is the fastest PTW album to-date. MP3s of "Ghostchant" and "Zombies..." are available at www.poisonthewell.com. • CKY was handpicked by Metallica to play the Four Horsemen's recent San Fran gig. In other CKY news, band frontman Deron Miller, a fanatical death metal follower, is teaming up with Malevolent Creation vocalist Brett Hoffman and drummer Dave Culross, as well as guitarist James Murphy of Disincarnate/Testament/Death fame, for a Death tribute record. Proceeds will go towards alleviating some of Murphy's outstanding medical bills. The family of Death frontman Chuck Schuldiner, who succumbed to brain cancer two years ago, has given Murphy and the project their full support. In the meantime, Murphy, who was diagnosed with a massive brain tumor in August 2001, is continuing to write new Disincarnate material. Since undergoing treatment for the tumor, Murphy's vision has improved and he is able to drive again.

BLACK DAHLIA MURDER

Unhallowed (Metal Blade)

The "Black Dahlia Murder" refers to the notorious Elizabeth Short homicide case of 1947. In short, a wannabe actress, known for being cloaked in black and sporting a mane of raven hair, was found naked and drained of her blood, with her lips cut like a smile. The case, fraught with false confessions, remains unsolved to this day. Taking its name from the legendary murder mystery, Black Dahlia Murder's music is as brutal as the story. The Detroit band hybridizes Swedish death and evil black metal, two genres that prefer to remain free of each other, and spikes the seismic concoction with biting metalcore. Smearing, blurring and refusing to be enslaved by categorical boundaries, Unhallowed pays homage to metal's past while it looks to the future, blazing by with the speed of wrecking ball, wiping out everything in its path. Pits-of-hell death barks live beneath a veneer of high-pitched squalls and riffing so bullet-fast that guitarists Brian Eschbach and John Kempainen probably wore the skin on their fingertips down to bone while recording this album. "Funeral Thirst" and "Contagion" won't kill you softly.

PASSENGER

Passenger (Century Media)

Passenger is In Flames vocalist Anders Friden's other band, a group he formed with Transport League's Patrik J. Sten and Gardenian's Niklas Engelin. While one might think this is a Swedish supergroup of epic proportions, Friden has respectfully requested that Passenger not be viewed as a "side project." Proceed with caution, fair metal-heads, because Passenger is as far removed from In Flames or Transport League as Hawaii is from Alaska. Taking inspiration from some of the mid-'90s most ahead of the curve bands, like the criminally overlooked Handsome and Helmet, Passenger is a mid-tempo melodic affair. Friden employs a clean singing voice (that's only heard in brief snippets on In Flames records) throughout, while the members of the band paint themselves as musicians, and not just of the metal sort. Songs such as "In My Head," "For You" and "Carnival Diaries" allow Friden and crew to show off their softer sides, but there is still plenty of hard rock to go around.

PILLAR

Fireproof (MCA)

Looking for more bounce to the ounce? Look no further than Pillar's Fireproof, which isn't quite nü-metal, yet isn't straight ahead Loud Rock, either. Fireproof, which sold over 175,000 copies independently over nine months, amalgamates the bounciness and the Hip-Hop beats of a band like Limp Bizkit (minus the braggadocio rapping and ego), the stylistic mish-mash of 311 and the commercial sheen of Saliva in one certainly catchy album. Don't call this rap-metal, because it's not. Fireproof defies you to not move your hips and head to its beats. Check the title cut and "Hindsight."

Dr. Billy Taylor will once again get down to the business of making music, when he and his longstanding trio members, Winard Harper (drums) and Chip Jackson (bass), play NYC's Blue Note nightclub on Congratulations to all three winners and the rest of the field who participated!

This concluded three days of competition (May 17-19), where 15 high school Jazz ensembles (chosen from 133 applicants) performed over the first two days. The three finalists were chosen for the final day performance and then placed. ## THE BAD PLUS ON KCRW AND AOL

The year of the Bad Plus continues with yet another media assault: the trio stopped by Santa Monica's KCRW on May 19 to chat and perform on New Ground, hosted by Chris Douridas. The show profiles the best new music in current and upcoming releases by playing the songs and having the artists on hand to discuss their work. The band played five tunes, which included a cover of the Police's "Every Breath You Take" and a new tune called "Dirty Blonde." The three also sat down and chatted with Douridas for a half-hour. The two-hour show aired May 24 on KCRW and also appeared on AOL, which broadcasted the show over the Web. The Plus is in good company — other recent guests include Lucinda Williams, Pete Yorn, Sea And Cake, Joseph Arthur and Lou Reed.

June 24-29, marking Taylor's return to public performance after suffering a mild stroke in January. The talented octogenarian (he's 81) also recently made a guest appearance at Marian McPartland's 85th birthday celebration at Birdland, where he played a duet with McPartland, and he also sat in with Clark Terry and did a special performance on April 24 at the Metropolitan Museum Of Art with Kevin Mahogany.

Taylor's convalescence really hasn't slowed him down much; he's in his 21st year as cultural correspondent for CBS News Sunday Morning, and his hometown of Greenville, North Carolina had a street named in his honor when he was in town on April 25-26 to attend a concert featuring the East Carolina University Jazz Ensemble. To top it off, he also received a key the commencement address at the University Of Michigan-Flint. He was also on hand May 7-10 for the Mary Lou Williams Women In Jazz Festival at the Kennedy Center — an event he founded. Damn!

'ESSENTIALLY ELLINGTON' COMPETITION CONCLUDES

The Eighth Annual Essentially Ellington Competition at Lincoln Center drew to a close on May 19, as the three finalists were ranked after playing two Ellington songs, with Wynton Marsalis stepping in as a guest soloist on one. Top honors went to the Garfield High School Jazz Ensemble, with second place going to the New World School For The Arts High School Jazz Ensemble and the Los Angeles County High School For The Arts Jazz Orchestra landing third.

JAS ACADEMY SUMMER SESSION RETURNS

Twenty-five scholarship winners will spend 10 days in residency (July 19-29) at the JAS Academy Summer Sessions in Aspen, Colorado. The nation's only all-scholarship residency program was founded in 1995 to unite promising young players with some of today's greatest. This year's staff is drummer and vocalist Grady Tate, saxophonist James Carter, pianist Cyrus Chestnut, vocalist Allan Harris, Program Director Loren Schoenberg and Artistic Director Christian McBride. The students and staff will work on a schedule of practice, performance and reflection (Aspen's amazing scenery should provide plenty of inspiration for this). Days will be spent in classrooms and rehearsal, but the night will see a move to a small club, open to the public, where the players can stretch and apply some of their new theories and ideas. Not a bad way to spend a week, regardless of whether you're a student or a teacher.

EDDIE PALMIERI

Ritmo Caliente (Concord Picante)
Sixty-six-year-old pianist Eddie Palmieri has been around the Latin music block more times than most. In fact, since El Rey Punte left us, some declare Palmieri the rightful heir to the Latin Jazz throne. Ritmo Caliente argues that point convincingly, covering a lot of musical ground in stylish fashion. The mambo “La Voz Del Caribe” is hard-hitting; the slow cha-cha version of '60s classic “Lazaro Y Su Microfono” is catchy; “Tema Para Renee” is a lush, string-laden bolero; and “Gique (Bach Goes Bata)” mixes classical and bata in 6/8 time. Of course, Latin Jazz and salsa are well represented here as well. While his arrangements have long been impressive, it's Palmieri's playing that really stands out — his integration of McCoy Tyner's driving chords and Monk's angular punctuation diversifies the band's aerodynamic rhythms and adds some real character to the music. An excellent effort by one of the greats.

GREG OSBY

St. Louis Shoes (Blue Note)

After a long and fruitful collaboration with Jason Moran, saxophonist Greg Osby tries out a new quintet on St. Louis Shoes, featuring 20-year-old pianist Harold O'Neal, trumpeter Nicholas Payton, bassist Robert Hurst and drummer Rodney Green. The five take on a program of covers that starts and ends with tunes named for Osby's old hometown; in between, we're invited to walk in his St. Louis Shoes as he touches on the music that helped make him who he is today. Highlights are the Parker/Gillespie classic “Shaw Nuff” (in 5/4 time), Monk's “Light Blue” and a completely revamped version of Ellington's “A Single Petal Of A Rose.” These, and the rest of the tunes, are played in a nice loose manner, making it sound as if the leader focused the group on energy and emotion, rather than technical dazzle.

GILAD ATZON

Exile (Enja-Justin Time)

Palestinian saxophonist Gilad Atzon's Exile is his call for the peaceful return of the Palestinian people to their homeland, now held by “Zionist zealots.” Interestingly, Atzon recasts a few Jewish traditionals and hymns here with traditional Palestinian lyrics and/or a distinct Arabic sound. His own songs are jazzier in nature, with fairly out playing at times, but he maintains elements of traditional music in much the same way that John Zorn's Masada works. Admittedly, the agenda is a heavy-handed one, but the music here is nonetheless worth checking out.

RPM Q&A WITH SCUMFROG

Jesse Houk is a production and remixing machine, with over a decade of experience under his belt. As the Scumfrog, the Dutch-born, NYC-based artist is on his way to becoming one of the hottest names in dance music — and he's a damn fine DJ too!

Your tracks are all made for the peak moment of a DJ set. Are your own DJ sets as energetic throughout?

Yes and no. I switch it up a little bit, because I use live vocals and live percussion in my DJ sets. The down moments of a set, in which a DJ would use filler records, aren't as apparent in my sets, because rather than use filler records, I extend the big productions and play over the songs. It's all pretty eclectic.

Are there any styles of music that you won't touch for remixing?

No, because it's not about the original record you touch; it's about what you do with it. There could be a corny country-western record out there that has one little element that I think is cool — you take that one element out of context, build a new context, and then all of a sudden you have something that works.

Your Web site often features free downloads of your chart-topping tracks. How much has file-sharing helped you?

I'm very much in favor of file-sharing. I think it helps an artist a great deal. The myth that file-sharing hurts an artist was created by the record companies because, obviously, it hurts the record companies. In the case of "Music Revolution" (the Scumfrog's most recent original release), it was downloaded a couple of thousand times in a period of 10 weeks. But despite the downloading, it was still released by Positiva (one of the biggest electronic labels in the U.K.) and now it's set to be one of the biggest singles of the summer. As a matter of fact, I just did a remix for Lucy Woodward's new single, "Blindsided," and Atlantic Records just gave me the green light to offer the track for free on my Web site. This is the first time that a major record company is saying, "OK, let's see how it goes." It's really exciting that they chose my Web site as the platform to do this.

Who is an up-and-coming DJ or producer we should be on the lookout for?

Planet Funk is so on the money. They have an amazing album that is just mind-blowing. There's actually quite a lot of good stuff coming out from Italy, so I'd say focus on that country and you'll be all right.

ESSENTIAL SCUMFROG:

Everything you need to hear is on the Scumfrog's definitive production and remix collection, Extended Engagement (Effin Records).

Download the Scumfrog's remix of Lucy Woodward's "Blindsided" at www.thescumfrog.com.

CINEMATIC ORCHESTRA

Man With A Movie Camera (Ninja Tune)

BONOBO

Dial M For Monkey (Ninja Tune)

The compositions on Man With A Movie Camera make up the modern day (and only) soundtrack to Soviet director Dziga Vertov's 1929 avant-garde silent film of the same name. Cinematic Orchestra began work on this project four years ago, and it actually became the inspiration for much of the group's last LP, 2002's Every Day — the fusion of film scores with Jazz has become the Orchestra's musical niche, and here the listener is rewarded with 17 epics specifically made for the silver screen. Standout tracks "Russian Record," "Reel Life" and "All Things" help make for Cinematic's strongest release to date. Meanwhile, Bonobo (a.k.a. Simon Green) is one of downbeat's most promising producers, and his first proper release for Ninja Tune is pure class from top to bottom. From the gorgeous beginning with "Noctuary," to the gentle sitar sweeps of "Flutter" and the psychedelic strums of "Change Down," Dial M For Monkey displays an artist whose many influences allow him to leap out at the listener from numerous directions. Incredibly diverse, the album suggests that if you threw every other Ninja Tune artist in a blender, you'd end up with a Bonobo of your own.

D:FUSE

People_2: Both Sides Of The Picture (System)

Texas's most famous international DJ superstar is back, with a double-disc package that represents the sonic extremes of a D:Fuse live performance. Disc one, entitled People_Chilling, is filled with the kind of gentle house tunes that work perfectly for that time when clubbers just start to stroll in for the night. The standout track is D:Fuse's own "Everything With You," currently a U.K. dance floor favorite and a perfect lead into the harder-edged second disc. Dubbed People_Clubbing, disc two is, as you may have guessed, more suited for that moment during the party when you're looking to be pushed over the brink. The best part is the disc's abundance of original productions and exclusive remixes, most of which haven't been available anywhere except on vinyl before.

ROB DOUGAN

Furious Angels (Reprise)

Rob Dougan's single, "Clubbed To Death (Kurayamino Version)," is recognizable as one of the standout themes from both The Matrix and now, his debut album, Furious Angels. Dougan's influences range from classical composers, contemporary pop artists and soundtracks, while his own gruff voice falls somewhere in between Neil Diamond, Morel and that guy from the Digital Allies. This is a record with especially wide appeal, in that your dad might like it as much as you do — it could almost be considered an adult contemporary electronica album, and there aren't too many of those.

HART OF THE MATTER

For the umpteenth time this week, I watched the CNBC segment Fame And Fortune: The Music Business. The piece has great sound bite footage from Newbury Comics' Mike Dreese speaking eloquently and genuinely about how inspiring an AC/DC show with 4,000 screaming fans can be to a music business that needs to remember its own uniqueness. There were comments from Virgin Megastore's Glen Ward proselytizing, just as eloquently, the case for the single; Billboard's Brian Garrity talking smartly about business model "this" vs. business model "that." All good, but other than a few of those bites, it was so edited and produced that, in the end, nobody really gets asked to say anything other than what we already expect they were rolled out in front of the camera to say. So there's an endless parade of fluff-questioning and even more fluff-soliloquizing by commentators whose steady jaws and straight-into-the-camera looks masquerade as just-the-facts-ma'am journalism.

There has been a greater frequency of mainstream press covering "our" issues of late—and that's good to the extent that it raises some public interest and hopefully consumer awareness about their Music Biz 101 role. But like the CNBC piece, most of these segments are only, at their best, yawn-inspiring anecdotal and rhetorical insights about "What could it all mean for the future of our beloved music business?" Not Dreese's or Ward's or Garrity's or whomever's fault. It's just that in about every news segment or editorial piece on "the state of the biz," the presenters always seem to opt for "lazy." This means easy TV news with its predictably "controversial" trotting out of one guy "for" and one guy "against," along with the subsequent brow-furrowing, chin-massaging, lean-back-in-your-chair-like-you're-taking-it-all-in pretense of giving the public a "balanced view." And so the questions go: "Are you for downloading or against it?" "Are you for prosecuting P2P collaborators or against it?" "Hey, what do you think of this whole Apple thing?" Riveting, just riveting—like a CNN "Crossfire"—as episodic as a 90210 rerun. Safely and soundly, the end of every one of these "hard news" pieces is to train viewers/readers to come away thinking: "Gosh, I see her point [insert corporate label head here], but if you think about it I really see his point too [insert file-sharing service provider or recently-sued college grad here]... So many questions." Then with a slow, I'm-really-thinking-about-this squint of the eyes and an even slower Homer Simpson-esque shake of the head, they pick-up the remote and keep flipping.

The problem is that the answers we get for solving the industry's problems depend on the kinds of questions we ask. Unfortunately, though fittingly, CNBC chose to let the entire one hour feature build to a confusing roll-up-the-sleeves roundtable discussion whose participants were limited to pop-iconic "news" makers/players like Carson Daly and Blender editor Craig Marks (we'll leave the roundtable's third wheel, Lava/Atlantic's Andy Karp out of it, since he actually seemed genuinely prepared to "discuss" issues that the others. Horror of horrors, Andy brought up pricing... which no one picked up). Give me a break.

Until you get the questions right, it only goes from bad to worse. More to come...

SPEAK OUT

TIM GOODWIN
Manager, Record Archive
Rochester, NY

[From the Record Archive Email newsletter: Tim chatted with Corey Glover, the powerful voice belting out the massively influential cerebral metal of late '80s genre-clashers Living Colour... who is currently recording its long awaited fourth album, its first in over a decade.]

The Archive's stance [on downloading] seems to be in the minority. A lot of people in the industry are against it, but we're thinking, "Hey, it's hap- pening, we have to deal with it and find a way to coexist." Apple Music? They sold, like, a million [songs] in one weekend. It's crazy. Now, the only person this hurts is the Corporate Bottom Line. It doesn't hurt the artist because their music is being listened to. If I were smarter years ago, I would have put my [solo] album out online first before I released it on a major record label. Because people actually would have heard it then...

We heard the other day that Apple's site already got hacked and people are able to download stuff for free. Technology moves really, really quickly. This is a matter of necessity; people need music. And if you control the means to get this music and hinder people's ability to get this stuff, there's gonna be a problem. The reason why people need music is not because it's an economic thing, not because you got money burning a hole in your pocket. Music serves a different purpose in people's lives. It serves their soul, it doesn't serve their wallet.

And every time the record companies come out with some new-fangled technology to deter burning, or downloading, there's always some teenager who figures out how to subvert it. [Record companies are] like, "How much money can I get?" So then, how much can I expose people to? How much can I open people's minds to new and interesting experiences? And that to me is much more important than selling a million records and buying my Cadillac Escalade, and... diamonds and platinum and that kind of bullshit.

After working for close to 10 long years at a major computer company, M-Theory Music owner Eric Howarth was about ready to call it quits. Eric had plans to open a record store, but didn't know from where the money would come. Before he bolted, it came to his attention that the lifespan of his division was short... ahhh, the power of a severance package! "I sat back and waited it out," says Eric. "The day I got the severance check, it was the exact amount I needed to open the store."

Hosting a ton of in-stores and monthly art shows, Eric prides M-Theory on being a place that supports local artists and the San Diego community.

Q&A with Eric Howarth, owner, M-Theory Music

What local press affects sales most?
 The two free alternative weeklies, San Diego City Beat and the San Diego Reader, as well as the daily paper, the San Diego Union-Tribune.

What radio stations affect sales most?
 Alternative stations 91X and 94.9.

Do you have in-stores?
 We love doing in-stores and try to do them as much as we can... and we do have a PA. Some of the highlight in-stores for me have been No Knife, David J from Bauhaus, Switchfoot, and Convoy, which was probably our biggest in-store. The Dragons in-store was their first acoustic performance.

What is your most effective program?
 Pretty easily I would say the A.I.M.S. listening post. People love that thing!

What other programs do you offer? Are any of them discretionary?
 We have 15 other discretionary listening post stations.

Visqueen demonstrates the M-Theory of Rockativity

What types of non-traditional promotions have worked best?
 We have our own street team which, right now, is mainly one guy who distributes flyers, samplers and more at a ton of locations around the city. [He promotes] the store, new releases and M-Theory events. However, we are in the process of expanding the street team into one we would run ourselves along with our customers. We've had a bunch of customers sign up to be a part of it. We also work very closely with Fox Rocks, a local music television show that airs three times a week. It focuses on bands that are coming through town, new music, local stuff and they have live performances—some of which have been filmed at the store!

What display materials work best for you?
 Foamcore boards and posters.

What records are your current and all-time favorites?
 Notwist's Neon Golden. As for all-time favorite, this is the most unfair question ever asked! There are too many great albums out there! I'll say Hüsker Dü's Zen Arcade, which isn't really my favorite, but definitely ranks up there with any other answers I might have for this one.

What's the first record you bought and where?
 I honestly have no idea what the first album I bought was. Evidently it was such a bad choice that I blocked it out of my memory.

What's the best concert you've attended?
 I've seen so many great ones. One that sticks out in my memory is the very first Foo Fighters show at a small club in Portland called the Satyricon. I had to bribe the backdoor guy to get in, but it was well worth it. The Satyricon doesn't hold many people, so to hang out with the likes of Pat Smear and Dave Grohl for the night was incredible.

DMRC Puts On Rubber!

On May 22, the Detroit Music Retailers Collective announced that Rubber Soul will be joining their ranks, making them the tenth retailer in the prestigious Motor City enclave. Rubber Soul, located in Ypsilanti, Michigan, has just celebrated its one year anniversary and is the only store in the DMRC to be proud owners of a complete coffee bar.

"I've known all these [DMRC] guys so long," says co-owner Bob Nelson. "I had so much personal information on them, they had to let me in."

In the early '90s, Bob had worked with Switched On CDs owner Glen Uranis and Dave Haupt of Desirable Discs at Midwestern indie chain Repeat The Beat. While he wouldn't divulge any of this alleged dirt, he is full of apocryphal tales of retail lore.

"Our eccentric owner was hiding from his wife out on his boat in the middle of the lake. Rumor has it that Glen had to row out there to get him to sign some papers," Bob says. "He wouldn't set foot on land!"

Glen, chairman of the DMRC responds to the allegations from his faithful post at Switched On, "I don't remember if I rode out or met him on the docks... It was an hour drive, I was young at the time."

Detroit retailer urban legends aside, the boys of Rubber Soul have a long history with the DMRC crew. Although they are close pals with Glen, according to DMRC bylaws, no one is allowed to join the DMRC without being open for one year.

"We said, 'You gotta sink or swim your first year,'" Glen says. "I had no doubt they were gonna succeed."

Succeed they did, recently moving from a 1,000-square-foot pad to posher digs in the West side (the first DMRC store in Washtenaw county!). Rubber Soul is using its new location and DMRC status to continue its dedication to live music. "We lost our lease because we were too loud," says Bob, who is building a performance space upstairs and holds at least two live events a week (most recently, Detroit garagers the Hentchmen played to over 100 fans).

"We're proud to be a part of [the DMRC]," Bob says. "People are banding together to save the Record Store."

Tower Up For Grabs

Break open those piggy banks and start digging between the cushions of those couches because Tower Records is up for sale! After mounting debts, a slow move ever-closer to bankruptcy and a two-year struggle to regain prosperity, the Sacramento-based chain of big ol'-stores is putting a "for sale" sign over their ubiquitous red and yellow logo.

This decision follows their April announcement that it might miss a $5.2 million interest payment on its bonds. Veteran Los Angeles investment banker Lloyd Grief is handling the auction of the mighty chain, telling the Sacramento Bee he expects a relatively quick sale.

The absolutely super and totally unsucky Supersuckers terrorized Richmond, Virginia's Plan 9 Music on Thursday, May 22 with their supersleazy garage-a-billy. Their latest album Motherfuckers Be Trippin' is a concept album about motherfuckers... and occasionally how they be trippin'.

CMJ RADIO 200 AIRPLAY

REPORTING DATES

May 23 - May 27

CMJ REPORTING HOURS

6 a.m. Friday - 2 p.m. Tuesday EST

www.cmj.com/reporting/

NOTE TO REPORTERS: Printed playlists reflect airplay reported to CMJ two weeks prior to magazine's cover date. The number of station playlists printed each week in CMJ is randomly determined by available space.

CMJ REPORTING GUIDELINES

CMJ Airplay Reporters must submit reports weekly, via the online interface located at www.cmj.com, prior to 2 p.m. (ET) every Tuesday afternoon, abiding to the following guidelines:

- "Adds" are the new and current albums that a CMJ Airplay Reporter makes available for airplay and reasonably expects will receive airplay during the forthcoming week.
- Albums reported in a CMJ Airplay Reporter's Top 30 playlist must represent the 30 most played current albums on the station during the preceding week. Because we are a "new" music publication whose charts are album-based, reporting re-currents (or recordings more than a year old) or singles is not necessary.
- Airplay reports that do not correlate with actual airplay, also known as "paper adds," are not permitted under any circumstances.
- When CMJ cannot vouch for the accuracy of an artist and/or recording on a station's airplay report (we do so by investigating our own internal database, searching the Internet and/or consulting with online music retailers), the listing in question will remain in its position on the playlist, however, it will be preceded by an asterisk, as in *Beatles, to designate that it could not be verified at press time. CMJ will then utilize all available resources to verify the unverified listing either prior to the week's reporting close or before the next week's reporting period commences.

Introducing Toxic Rock

Detroit's Latest Music Revolution...

Zug Izland, developed as a refuse dump in the Detroit River by the city's industry, epitomizes what has become of Detroit, an industrial wasteland that threatens the health and wellbeing of its residents. But even surrounded by this filth and ruin, the music will live on.

Zug Izland represents this.

The debut album from Zug Izland in stores everywhere, featuring the hit single:

Cry

The result is toxic and unsettling yet filled with hope for a new beginning for these poisoned neighborhoods.

"If you're like us, you'll put it in the CD player in your office, listen and say... huh? Skip the CD player in your office and put it right on the air. You're listeners will be calling up after one spin asking you to play it again. That's what happened with us!"

--Jodd Thomas, PD, WMRQ

Visit www.ZugIzland.com for upcoming tour dates as the band will be travelling the country throughout the year.

"One of the most important records in the months ahead."

--Bobby Duncan, PD, WGRD
