UNSIGNED ARTIST PROFILE PS

Members: Patrick Savage (vocals, guitar, programming), Ursula Damm (cello, keyboard — on hiatus), Jeff Derringer (drums, programming), Clint Downing (bass), Erich Trusheim (guitar)

Base Of Operations: New York, NY
Formed: January 2002 in NYC

gently resonating voice that sits somewhere between Thom Yorke and Jeff Buckley; touches of sparse electronica; lush, soothing strings; lullaby-like melodies that crescendo and burst in fits of emotion — incorporating all this and more, PS is far from your average New York band.

"We hear our own sounds, really," says singer Patrick Savage, asked where his band finds inspiration. "The lyrics are personal, intimate. The music is dynamic — at times very gentle; at other times quite aggressive; oftentimes within the same song. The emotional shifts are what interest us."

That being the case, the group must be extremely interested when observing people's reactions to its live shows and recorded output (a self-titled EP released last year, and a second one on the way, both co-produced by Thom Monahan). Because the music this band makes is moving. Plus, with the changes that take place throughout the course of a single track, like "Pylons" (from the new EP, currently available for free download in MP3 format from the PS Web site), you'll find yourself blissfully swaying one moment, tapping your foot the next, and eventually giving in to a full-on physical spazz-out.

Buckley

"We all love music — on a very basic level, that's the common bond," says bassist Clint Downing, explaining the band's M.O. "We all have real-life stress, but when we get together to play, everything else goes away. It's like therapy for us."

Of course, while talent and a shared passion for making music will create a rewarding environment, like most bands on the path to success, the members of PS know there's more to it than just writing and recording great songs.

"We work very hard on all phases of the band," says drummer Jeff Derringer. "The music comes first, and we really put in the time in the rehearsal space to make it the best it can be. But, on other fronts, we're working just as hard — promotion, flyers, imagery, gear research... everything. Everything we have goes into this."

"We do all of our own promotional materials with resources we gather on our own," adds Savage. "We do a lot of flyering, stickers, buttons, T-shirts, and any kind of little printed pieces we can come up with to leave around the neighborhoods where we play. We're very conscious of the look of these pieces and the look of our Web site.

We try to create a unified front, if you will. We manufactured our own EP, and we sell it everywhere we can — at shows, on our Web site, through friends, at stores who are nice enough to stock it. CMJ College Radio was a big help in getting our name out there. [The first PS EP made it to No. 40 on the CMJ Radio 200 chart.] We're merciless self-promoters, as I'm sure all bands at our level are, even though it sometimes gets embarrassing. We're very confident in what we're doing, so that makes it easier, I guess."

Luckily, PS is also in the enviable position of operating in the midst of a highly active music scene, but at the same time not sounding like any other band that prominently shares its city.

"One thing that separates us, I think, is that we're not purveyors of style over content," says Savage. "This isn't about how we look, or how we act, or who we know. We're not really a part of the post-punk scene going on right now. I like to think we're carving out our own place in the local scene. That's what we want — just to be true to what we hear as a band, and to be our own entity."

DRESDEN DOLLS

The Dresden Dolls (Eight Foot)

The self-titled debut from Boston's Dresden Dolls rocks about as much as you can without actually rocking. Embodied by Brian Viglione on drums and Amanda Palmer, whose piano-playing and singing both range from frantic to soothing, The Dresden Dolls will bop you on the nose and, in the same motion, hand you a lace doily to clean yourself up with. Evocative of a dense and adult cabaret show, this record recreates familiar tunes ("Missed Me," "Coin Operated Boy") while still soaring to original heights. "Girl Anachronism" would make a great punk rock song — its furious pace and Palmer's impeccably timed "girl" rant give off so much tension, you can almost feel her neuroses. There's a hint of a Rid Of Me-era PJ Harvey in the singer's delivery, but that's really just an attempt at comparison. Whatever it

RIAA FILES 80 MORE LAWSUITS

n Oct. 30, the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) filed 80 more lawsuits against Internet users across the country who it claims are guilty of illegally sharing music files online. In early October, the RIAA sent out 204 stern warnings to Internet users, informing them that if they did not contact the organization within 10 days to discuss settlement terms, a formal lawsuit would be forthcoming. Of the 204 people who received warnings, 124 people have, in fact, approached the RIAA in an attempt to settle. According to an RIAA statement, those users who were warned were sharing an average of more than 1,000 songs on their computers. The settlements, which make no mention of any wrongdoing, require the Internet users to delete all copies of illegally downloaded songs and agree not to "make any public statements that are inconsistent" with the agreement. Most users have reportedly agreed to pay the music industry penalties in the range of $2,500 to $7,500 each.

'The fact that the overwhelming majority of those who received the notification letter contacted us and were eager to resolve the claims is another clear signal that the music community's education and enforcement campaign is getting the message out," stated RIAA President Cary Sherman.

This series of litigation comes after 261 separate lawsuits were served without advance warning against users this past September. Those defendants included a 12-yearold girl, a woman whose computer couldn't even run the peer-to-peer software she was accused of using, and a grandmother who claimed she was falsely accused of sharing rap songs. Several of the indicted only found out about the lawsuits when they were called by reporters.

To date, the RIAA has issued 341 lawsuits in an attempt to dissuade others from sharing or downloading music files online. However, since the RIAA's announcement that it would start seeking monetary damages from individual file-sharers, peer-to-peer sites such as Morpheus and Kazaa have only experienced a minimal decrease in usage.

Unfazed, the organization has promised to file hundreds, and maybe even thousands, more lawsuits, and has continued issuing subpoenas to Internet service providers in order to identify subscribers who are illegally distributing music online.

BEN DAVIS

"Old And Played" (Lovitt)

Post-hardcore luminary Ben Davis is probably best known for slinging murky basslines in his post-punk bands, Sleepytime Trio and Milemarker. His second solo album, Aided And Abetted, however, finds Davis falling even deeper into the delicate pop dynamic that dominated his solo debut, with organ, Rhodes and piano melodies gently washing over acoustic subtleties and melancholic vocals. "Old And Played," the album's first single, brings the disc's tone down to cool tranquility with layered harmonies and lush instrumentation, further showing Davis to be a multi-faceted and talented musician.

STROKES

Room On Fire (RCA)

On first listen, some will likely write off Room On Fire as a halfhearted attempt on the Strokes' part to recreate their cultural touchstone of a debut, Is This It. The funny thing is that, on repeated listens, it becomes apparent that what this record really does is repaint its predecessor as a promising first release, with potential to grow into something truly formidable. With its fractured vocals and oscillating guitar dynamic, opener "What Ever Happened?" is arguably the Strokes finest moment to date; "Automatic Stop," meanwhile, sees the band take a slick reggae turn, and "Under Control" brings things down into a blissfully languorous mode that recalls, of all things, "Sitting On The Dock Of The Bay." Even better, the band's use of guitars to imitate synths on tracks like "12:51" and "The End Has No End" is just about the trickiest thing we've had pulled on us since Jack White used his octave pedal to make us all think he caved in and actually used a bass on "Seven Nation Army." Crafty devils.

UNDERWORLD

1992–2002 (V2)

After years of rocking our heads off to dance music of all types, the realization has come about that the only act that never wears thin is Underworld. Think long and hard and imagine what life would be like on the dance floor without Underworld: Could it be the same without ever hearing the blissful intro to "Born Slippy"? Do you remember the feeling when you first heard "Cowgirl," with its epic close? Or the time when you danced solo in your living room to punishing tracks like "Moaner," "King Of Snake" and "Push Upstairs?" We sure do. Underworld's productions pretty much sum up the best of what dance music is all about — meaning this retrospective can be viewed as the Ten Commandments (well, there are actually 16 of them here, if you want to get specific) of how to make it right. The best part of this "official" compilation — which, by the way, includes every essential Underworld track, is that you can now finally throw away that old and wornout Underworld mix-tape you already made years ago. — Justin Kleinfeld

COLDPLAY

Live 2003 (Capitol)

Chris Martin has just promised everyone ice cream if they stand up for the next song. He gently begins singing: "Your skin..." and instantly, we all know where this one is going. Before you can say "Great Expectations," Coldplay is kicking "Yellow" up to 11, and the place is going nuts. From that outburst to the prominent chorus of thousands joining Martin on "Everything's Not Lost," every single solitary drop of energy put out by the audiences for these gigs is flawlessly captured on this recording. Technically, Live 2003 is a 90-minute DVD documenting two shows in Sydney this past July, packaged with this edited version of the shows on CD; there are 12 tracks in all, including the unreleased "Moses" and "One I Love" — both set staples — and most of the band's hits (there are just a few missing). So, if too many smoochie pictures of Martin and what's-her-face have you feeling Coldplay*ed* out, Live 2003 will instantly get you over that. P.S.: "Amsterdam" is bloody brilliant, and they didn't play it enough but it's on the CD!

MAXEEN

Maxeen (Side One Dummy) With a healthy dose of self-satisfying '80s ambition intact, Maxeen's self-titled debut presents a young pop-rock band with a big sound, willing to take risks. Helmed by veteran Ramones producer Ed Stasium, the album sees all the old stops, including the classic reverberated snare, omnipresent quietly delayed verses, and contrasting bass intros and booming guitar choruses — all of which amplifies singer Tom Bailey's songs in just the right ways. The first track, "Please," transitions from a driving intro riff into staccato chord stabs, underlying Bailey's whiny, yet catchy vocals. As the song moves into the chorus, the music gets looser, and Bailey starts getting more agitated, placated only by a guitar solo. The lead single, "Love Goes A Long Way," has a playful bassline, á la Zenyatta Mondatta-era Police, with lyrics that would make a circa 1982 David Lee Roth jealous: "It makes you crazy/ It makes you mad/ When you lose it, how it makes you sad." Ah, the wonders of love — perfect fodder for poppy Warped Tour anxiety. — Kory Grow

MOUN-TAINEERS

Messy Century (Mute)

Pop music is an ever-changing, ever-evolving medium. Often, this evolution is made in leaps, rather than gradually — and the Mountaineers are seeking to move pop forward in just such a way with Messy Century. If you've ever wondered what the Flaming Lips would sound like if they maintained the rawness of their early recordings when they went off in the epic pop direction with The Soft Bulletin, this is your answer. Mixing bare production with beautiful songs is the U.K. trio's approach here and, rather than diminish their effectiveness, the stripped-down setup actually enhances the compositions. Just one listen to the catchy chorus of "Want To Write You" and you'll realize you have a true pop gem on your hands. The cut-up sound collages of "Backgrounds," meanwhile, will intrigue any of the would-be William S. Burroughs successors out there. Offering new gifts with each listen, Messy Century is less a headscratcher than a noble pop experiment — and the sound of tomorrow's music

today. — Brad Filicky

SIX PARTS SEVEN

Lost Notes From Forgotten Songs (Suicide Squeeze) Since 1995, the Six Parts Seven has been crafting subtle, lush instrumentals with delicate samples, lap steel and grand piano parts wrapped around its tri-guitar, bass and drums dynamic. The band's music is anything but obtrusive, seeping instead into the dark corners, where songs slowly and quietly unfold. For Lost Notes, the Ohio act has turned over its songs to be stripped down and reassembled by members of Iron And Wine, Centro-Matic, the Black Heart Procession, Magic Magicians and the Young People, among others, giving them exactly what they need — a voice and a human pulse. When Modest Mouse's Isaac Brock gets a hold of "From California To Houston, On Lightspeed," for example, the song retains its quiet and subdued charm, but Brock's nasally croon and the stuttering drumwork provide a warmth and resolution that previous SPS albums lack. The highlight, however, comes when Pedro The Lion's Dave Bazan turns "A Blueprint Of Something Never Finished" into an embittered snare-rolled kiss-off, helping the Six Parts Seven find the vitriol that seemingly lay dormant beneath all the atmospherics.

hen RED Dance General Manager Paul Reitz proclaims, "I'm here to sell records, not to have them collect dust," he makes his labels very happy. Reitz's confidence in his ability to move dance product comes at a time when many labels, especially the majors, have shown a lack of commitment to dance music. Yet despite what everyone else is not doing — namely, with few exceptions, selling records - Paul Reitz and his two-yearold RED Dance have proven to be quite successful in getting quality dance music out to retailers and into the homes of dance music consumers. How does he do it? Well, Reitz's approach to music isn't rocket science; it's about forging close relationships, caring for his product and ultimately, good music.

Reitz knows dance music, because not only is it his job to sell it, but he also spent half of his life as a DJ, spinning records to clubbers across the greater New York area for 20 years. His passion for music led him to RED Distribution, where he started out as the Northeast singles sales representative. Quickly moving up the food chain, Reitz was promoted to New York Sales Manager, and then went on to become National Singles Sales Manager, handling all the singles marketing and selling them with a staff of people through RED.

When RED's President, Ken Antonelli, and Senior Vice Presidents, Howie Gabriel and Alan Becker, realized that there were a lot of interesting small labels without the infrastructure to fit into a major distribution system, RED Ink was formed to bring these labels into the RED system, allowing them to develop and to work to their full capacities. A few years after RED Ink was formed, RED Urban Music Marketing (RUMM) was created to take care of small urban and Hip-Hop labels in the same way that RED Ink looked after alternative and rock projects. Reitz saw the successes of RED Ink and RUMM and wanted to develop a similar program for small dance music labels.

"I thought, well, we have the rock and alternative music covered with RED Ink, and we have the urban Hip-Hop covered with RUMM," he tells CMJ. "I knew there was good

BENZ STREET

TOPAZ

www.topaz-records.com

Since the label's beginning, Topaz has released over 40 albums from America's best regional talent (X-Dream, Mark Lewis), and not just the usual crop of big names.

dance music out there, and again, maybe there were only one or two people working at these small labels, but they provided such good music. I wanted to find a way to get them in here. So, I made a proposal to Ken Antonelli and Alan Becker to give RED Dance a shot. They gave me the green light about two years ago."

RED Dance's first official release was Mondo Grosso's MG4R, from the Sony Japan label. Deals soon followed with Thrive Records (U.S. home to Paul Oakenfold's Perfecto label) and Taciturn Records (drum 'n' bass label, home to artists like Datcyde, Jo-S and Woogie). Rounding out the RED Dance roster is Unity Records, STIFLE Records (which only releases singles) and Benz Street Records, which serves as the North American home to ZYX, the massive European label. RED Dance has also forged successful relationships with labels that already had distribution and continue to be distributed through other areas of RED.

"Labels like Myutopia and Topaz are not distributed through RED Dance, but I act like a third base coach for them, making sure the labels are marketed and sold correctly to the dance community," Reitz says. "I make sure that the right promotions, marketing and servicing are done, but also keep the RED sales staff aware and informed as to what these releases are — that it's not just another compilation. In this way, RED Dance is an in-house educational system for dance music to keep the RED Distribution sales people hip to what's going on. Obviously, we have a great sales staff of about 40 or 50 people selling records, but not everyone's a dance head. RED Dance allows us to be able to give them the proper information."

Surveying the dance music scene at the tailend of 2003, there is a ton of great dance records (especially overseas) floating around that don't — and likely never will — have U.S.

distribution. Fighting the temptation to gobble up a bunch of big name records, Reitz instead opts for a limited, diverse and relatively unknown client roster. "I just always try to keep the right number of labels and projects so that they won't take away from each other," he says. "I want to have the right labels, and I don't want one label to interfere with the marketing and selling of another label. I'm sure there are great things that I'd love to sign in a heartbeat, but I don't want to detract from the labels that I'm trying to grow." To that end, rather than sign 10 progressive house labels and have likeminded artists like Tiësto, Ferry Corsten and Paul Van Dyk fight each other for space on the shelf, Reitz carefully handpicks a group of labels that will appeal to different segments of the dance music community.

This limited client roster and genre-targeting approach to selling dance records is just a part of what RED Dance does best: provide focused attention to each record. "I'm focused on the release from start to finish with the labels, working with them on the one-sheets and on the initial marketing," Reitz explains. "Are we going to be servicing this to CMJ? Are we going to be servicing this to Billboard? Are we going to service this to record pools? What kind of press services are we using? Are we hiring a publicist? Are we hiring an indie? I work with them on figuring out Retail co-op and programs with our accounts, choosing the accounts we're going to work with and working out the numbers. Also, I work with the sales people to get them geared up for the release and then follow through as the orders come in to make sure that the proper shipments or goals are met on the release of a record. Once our records come out, that's not it — we have a second phase, a third phase; we work records for six months, nine months, a year. We dig in."

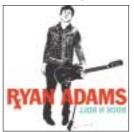

"Once our records come out, that's not it — we have a second phase, a third phase; we work records for six months, nine months, a year. We dig in."

— PAUL REITZ, General Manager, RED Dance

Reitz's close relationships with his labels and their products, combined with his ability to educate his sales people about the product, has paid dividends in allowing the labels to grow and establish solid reputations with retailers. Traveling as many avenues as possible to expose his records, the do-it-all man even personally stuffs his labels' CDs into envelopes for mass mailings to CMJ RPM reporters — even if the label wasn't planning on servicing the record to CMJ.

When asked what he does differently, Reitz answers, "It's just all about the music and about growing together. That's it." So, what does Paul Reitz and RED Dance really do differently? They pay really, really, really close attention to every aspect of their labels, records and retailers. Revolutionary, isn't it? NIVIR an, the No. 1 spot on Radio 200 is getting used and abused; over the last four weeks, both Belle And Sebastian and Death Cab For Cutie have been going back-and-forth like John Holmes and Ron Jeremy trading off partners at a swinger's party in 1982. This week, Death Cab's Transatlanticism takes the lead, leaving Belle And Sebastian's Waitress fulfilled after spending a total of three weeks at No. 1. (There's some sort of "sloppy seconds" joke lurking in here, but we've already met our quota of sophomoric porn references in this column for the week.) Meanwhile, the Shins' Chutes Too Narrow leaps 12-3*, setting itself up for a run at the brass ring — will the Albuquerque, New Mexico band be able to get it done? It's entirely possible, but there are a handful of other artists lying in wait: Ryan Adams's brilliant Rock N Roll debuts at No. 47 this week our highest debut of the week — and is a serious contender for No. 1. (Be sure to check out the tracks "Luminol" and "Burning Photographs.") Also looking good are Canada's the Stills. Their debut full-length, Logic Will Break Your Heart, enters the Radio 200 at No. 51 and is an obvious favorite of College Radio. Don't miss out.

200 Moves

IN STYLE WITH WUAG

WUAG/Greensboro, NC will host something called the "WUAG Film Night" on Nov. 18. During the event, the station will screen films and videos produced by station staff members, as well as videos from the new Mercury Program and Maserati DVD. What's more, the station is also working on its biggest event of the year: the WUAG Fashion Show. That's right, a fashion show. Dubbed "Style In Stereo," the big show will take place on Dec. 6 and will act as a fundraising event for the station. Fashion clubs from three area colleges are creating all the outfits, which will be worn by 30 amateur student models. In addition, three local bands and one DJ will provide live music. In other station news, WUAG is working on what could be the coolest piece of station swag ever created: WUAG toboggans.

MORE KSPC "WELCOME" SHOWS

As always, KSPC/Claremont, CA has a bunch of its "Welcome" shows planned for the fall. The station will "welcome" Lou Barlow, Parts And Labor, Rachel's, Matt Pond, Bonfire Madigan, the Quills and Numbers to several area venues in the coming weeks, and will have plenty of tickets to give away to each show. The station has also just started working with the Jazz Bakery in Los Angeles, so KSPC will be giving away tickets to shows at the popular club. And finally, KSPC is anxious to host the UCRN (University of California Radio Network) Conference during the weekend of Nov. 22. Six stations from around the state will converge on the Pomona College campus for the first time to hold panels about music, webcasting, FCC regulations and other issues important to College Radio.

KCSU'S BLOCK PARTY

KCSU/Fort Collins, CO held a pre-Halloween show on Oct. 30. Billed as the KCSU Block Party, the station booked Strange Condition, Plan B and Indica—three local bands—to play the event, and handed out $500 in prizes! The Lory Student Center was the place to be for the $5 event, and listeners with the best costumes were awarded gift certificates to area music stores, restaurants and a tattoo parlor. "Look, Ma! I won a tattoo!" Thanks, KCSU!

WMCX CELEBRATES HOMECOMING

WMCX/Monmouth, NJ helped celebrate Monmouth University's homecoming on Oct. 18. The station set up the "Wheel Of Good Stuff," which offered listeners the opportunity to spin the big wheel for a chance to win goody bags with concert tickets, CDs, gift certificates and other swag. Plus, WMCX hooked up with the campus TV station, HawkTV, and broadcasted interviews with the school's president, the football coach, students and alumni. And in other station news, former NY Giants wide receiver Stephen Baker dropped by the station on Oct. 21 for an interview with the WMCX sports crew.

WRAS IS TURNING JAPANESE

Since June 2002, WRAS/Atlanta has turned Sunday evenings into a smorgasbord of everything Japanese. "Nippon Music Champ," hosted by Briana Hunter (a.k.a. B-Chan), is a two-hour look at a wide variety of contemporary Japanese music, including pop, rock, electronica, shibuya-kei and anime soundtracks. The show's focus is to bring Japan's rich musical sound to light, and the show has "championed" such Japanese acts as Blood (WRAS was the first U.S. station to play Blood, a visual-kei band), Utada Hikaru (the station even added Ms. Hikaru's album, Deep River, into regular rotation), Electric Eel Shock and Gackt. Check out the show's site at www.nipponmusicchamp.com.

Throughout 2003, CMJ will salute one classic College Radio album per issue in celebration of our 25th Anniversary.

TRIPPING DAISY

Jesus Hits Like The Atom Bomb (Island)

There's a bit of poetic justice in the fact that former Tripping Daisy frontman Tim Delaughter has found his greatest success in something as uplifting as the Polyphonic Spree. Delaughter's old band, unfortunately, was marred by tragedy — not the least of which was its collapse following the death of guitarist Wes Berggren. But also tragic is that most people have never experienced the band's masterpiece, 1998's Jesus Hits Like The Atom Bomb. If all you know of Tripping Daisy comes from its early days of mediocre alterna-hits, listening to this disc could be quite a disorienting experience. Featuring endlessly creative arrangements and instrumentation (horns, strings, choir-like backing vocals) and general joyousness, you can actually hear the Polyphonic Spree being born in Delaughter's head as he works his way through such oddly-titled tracks as "Your Socks Have No Name" and "Bandaids For Hire." Lyrically, it's all pretty strange, but that's just part of the surreal charm. And while the title may seem to have religious overtones, it's more of a red herring — kind of like the whole two-dozen-Texans-in-white-robes thing.

Important Notes About RAM Charts:

RAM Charts are weighted to more accurately reflect the relative impact of airplay on actual listeners. Station Power, Broadcast Radius, Market Size, Daypart and Airplay Reach (the number of stations playing a particular Album or Song) are all factored to determine the weighted impact of the airplay. Chart details, with or without weighting applied, can be accessed at ram.cmj.com.

Due to the limited number of stations currently included In the construction of RAM charts, a statistically reliable sample may not always be guaranteed and certain chart anomalies may result.

RAM monitors airplay via terrestrial broadcasts, webcasts, satellite, cable and with active station participation.

If you have any questions or suggestions, please email ram@cmj.com.

nother CMJ Music Marathon has come and gone, and beyond the spinning heads, ringing ears and weeklong hangovers, we're all left again with some memories to last a lifetime. In case you blacked out the entire time, or just couldn't make it, we now present to you a special four-page photographic scrapbook, to give you a brief glimpse of just what went on. And if you do remember the marathon, this full-color spectacular will just help you remember that much better. In addition to dozens of panels, a huge gathering of radio station and industry folks, featured speakers, and the usual debauchery and celebrity cameos, of course, there were also hundreds and hundreds of bands performing all over the city for the event, which ran from Oct. 22–25. As for us, we're completely wiped out, but we'll keep on rocking — and you should, too. We'll see you in NYC again next year!

he Dream (1990): For no apparent good reason, Kevin Wortis leaves his hometown of Philly and moves with friends crosscountry to be in a band and live a rock star's life (or any life that wasn't '90s Philly). The Reality (1990): Wortis arrives in San Francisco, lives in a warehouse and sleeps on boxes. The Story (1990–Present): Today, Wortis heads up label operations for the largest market in the [PIAS] worldwide empire. At [PIAS] America, he's responsible for developing the stateside careers of Sigur Rós, Aphex Twin, St. Germain, the Reindeer Section, Steve Burns, April March and the Starlight Mints. What Wortis has made happen since his warehouse days is the artist development story of an artist developer. It's not a glamorous one not a rags-to-riches tale whose exposition builds from slipping on great banana peels of luck, chance rock-star encounters, epiphanic late night discussions with the industry elite and fat bank accounts to make it all happen. Instead, this is a rags-between-riches story that dramatizes the much more inspiring and realistic arc of a wisdom born from sheer persistence. CMJ recently caught up with Wortis to talk about [PIAS] America's brief but successful U.S. tenure, its encouraging future and how (heaven forbid) this, too, can happen to you.

You started your career helping to develop some pretty successful, fiercely independent artists and companies. Tell us a bit about those early days.

A friend of mine who ran RAVE Records in Philly in the '80s moved to San Francisco in '92. We soon launched RAVE Booking and Management. We were very successful in helping artists like Neurosis and Michael Gira of Swans get control of their masters. Since then, Michael launched Young God Records and Neurosis now runs their own Neurot Records — both viable, well-run labels making money and providing their artists with control of their creative past, present and future. There's nothing more satisfying than helping to set up amazing artists with a way to live off their music, and to propagate other artists that they feel are important and culturally significant. At that point, having found ourselves now as a booking agency, management company and de facto label administration company, we broke the company up into divisions. Eventually, I took over the booking agency completely.

How did you move from RAVE to what became one of the coolest independent labels in 2000, SeeThru Broadcasting?

Dave Sardy from Barkmarket — a management client of mine, and producer of Starlight Mints, Enon, Slayer, the Dandy Warhols and Johnny Cash — and I became good friends. He's a guy who thinks big — no — huge. So, while we were busy setting up humble boutique labels, Dave was out looking for much bigger money to satisfy a much bigger vision. He went to Play It Again Sam owner Kenny Gates [Barkmarket was signed to PIAS in Europe] and the two decided on a joint venture, which they asked me to build with them and run. SeeThru was a grand and fantastic plan. A nice piece of funding from PIAS made it possible to run a small indie. Here was a chance to really do, as a manager, what I could only try to cajole others to do. I decided it was time to step out of management and invest entirely in running a singular company, rather then five. Dot-com mania was gripping San Francisco and housing prices were chasing us further out of the city, so in 2000, we moved to NYC and set up SeeThru Broadcasting in Brooklyn. But, like so many enterprises at that time, the crash of the stock market somewhere far away just fucking killed us. Funding from PIAS got pulled and we could no longer maintain the five-year plan we had all invested in with SeeThru. We held on as long as possible, but finally, on September 9, 2001, I had to let the staff go. Two days later, Sardy and I knew the gig was up and SeeThru was closed.

INDIE SPOTLIGHT [PIAS] AMERICA

Yet somehow amidst the dot-com and 9/11 wreckage, Sigur Rós and [PIAS] America were born.

In May of 2001, the SeeThru staff had picked up [PIAS] America as a separate label to work. PIAS had the Sigur Rós record, which was blowing up in Europe, and wanted to maintain the constant branding of PIAS and Fat Cat. So SeeThru worked it as a [PIAS] America release. All of the promotion and marketing were handled by the SeeThru office and by RED Ink. After SeeThru closed, I stayed on in the old Williamsburg office and worked alone, running [PIAS] America and working Sigur Rós and the Reindeer Section. [Editor's Note: Most of the 170,000 Sigur Rós records were sold while Wortis worked solo.] I also released two Aphex Twin titles and re-released St Germain's Boulevard, with the help of Red Ink — all with no investment from PIAS. Fat Cat and Sigur Rós are very indie-minded. They felt the record would be best served by an indie - someone who would make sure indie Retail was more than taken care of. MCA contributed marketing money and got rights to the next record, but PIAS kept control of the record at the underground. The success of that first year has enabled [PIAS] America to staff up again. Today, we're a staff of four.

"There's nothing more satisfying than helping set up amazing artists with a way to live off their music." — [PIAS] America's Kevin Wortis

PIAS's mission statement says, "The irresistible force that makes PIAS possible is passion and a work ethic that makes people think in terms of artists rather than mere products." With that, and your own experience as a backdrop, what does the future hold for the label now?

You can't expect a band to work any harder than you do — you should be working harder than the artist. Play It Again Sam, as a group, has a huge year ahead, with new records by Mum on Fat Cat, and Soulwax, Amp Fiddler and two new Starlight Mints records on PIAS. Some of these records will go through the [PIAS] America office; others may move, like Sigur Rós, up to a major. For [PIAS] America, we'll be working hard on the Starlight Mints, Steve Burns and April March.

LOUD ROCK

ongrats to Metal Blade and Unearth! The Massachusetts metalcore band has signed to Metal Blade after being courted by a variety of labels. • Agony Scene bassist Matthew Shannon has left the band and been replaced by Steven Kaye. • The new band featuring Pantera's riff maestro, Dimebag Darrell, and rhythm master Vinnie Paul has been named Damageplan. The band originally went under the moniker New Found Power, but obviously, that has changed. Patrick Lachman of Halford fame will sing for the group, which sounds like an '80s version of Pantera. Its debut album, which is called New Found Power, will be issued through Elektra in January. Former Stereomud and Stuck Mojo bassist Corey Lowery has joined up with Switched. Featuring producer Ben Schigel, who manned the boards for Chimaira's The Impossibility Of Reason, the band has been reportedly going through a myriad of changes. First, it was reported that the group would be changing its name to Sky Fall Down; that's not happening. However, it will begin recording new material in hopes of landing a new record deal. Switched was signed to Immortal-Virgin when it released last year's Subject To Change; apparently, that relationship has been severed. • Glassjaw guitarist Todd Weinstock has formed a side project called Easy Tiger. We chatted with Weinstock at the Eyeball Records afterparty at the 2003 CMJ Music Marathon, and he told us this new project will feature disco elements! Yes, disco. That's about all the info we have, but we wanted to be the first to break the news to y'all. • Lamb Of God will be releasing a DVD, titled Terror And Hubris, in 2004. It will be available via the band's Web site, and will feature live footage, three LOG videos, and behind the scenes footage of the Virginia miscreants in the group. Epic Records, Lamb Of God's new label, hosted an open-bar screening party at CBGB during the CMJ Marathon — let's just say that this DVD will be well worth the coin you drop on it, especially when one D. Randall Blythe leads you through the woods near the recently closed Birch Hill Nite Club in Old Bridge, New Jersey, on a search for The Blair Shit Project. We'll give you a little hint: the BSP involved someone soiling their jeans. Wanna know more? Buy the damn thing when it's available. • Billboard.com has reported that Ozzy Osbourne is being treated for Parkinson's-like tremors. To clarify, Ozzy has not been diagnosed with the disease. • Fashioncore's finest — that would be Eighteen Visions, despite the band's disassociating itself with the genre from which it was birthed and definitely fostered — is back in the studio, working on its next full-length for Trustkill Records. • Bombastic power metal act Symphony X will be touring in support of its album, The Odyssey, with the Devin Townsend Band in tow. For a detailed list of tour dates, point your browser to www.symphonyx.com. • Rag Men, featuring ex-members of Earth Crisis, Hatebreed, and Ill Niño, has signed with Eulogy Records. That's the makings of an HxCx supergroup, kids. Mitts (Skarhead, Madball), Jorge Rosado (Merauder, God Is I), Ian "Bulldog" Edwards (ex-Earth Crisis, Freya) and Rigg Ross (Madball, ex-Hatebreed) make up the band; its self-titled debut is looking to street in February. • Ex-Malevolent Creation drummer Dave Culross has rejoined the group. • New Metal Blade signing Disillusion is currently in the studio. • Relapse has signed Zeke. Congrats to both parties!

LOUD ROCK Q&A... CANNIBAL CORPSE, PT. 1

CMJ Loud Rock had the distinct privilege of hearing Cannibal Corpse's new album, The Wretched Spawn, while the Florida death metal institution was recording it in El Paso, Texas. At the haciendastyle studio, just minutes from the Mexican border, we sat down with bassist Alex Webster to discuss the new disc, the band's upcoming box set celebrating its 15-year history — an eternity for a death metal band — and pig parts. Yes, pig parts. But we'll get to those next week. (P.S. That's guitarist Pat O'Brien teaching CMJ's Amy Sciarretto to fire a weapon of mass destruction.)

This is your ninth studio album — place it in your catalogue.

It probably has the hardest stuff we've ever had to play on it. Technically, it's the most challenging. We always want our new album to be the legendary album that will make people say, "That's a great band." But on this album, we've technically surpassed ourselves. There's a fine line between reliable and predictable. We want to be reliable — we're always going to do brutal death metal — but it's not just going to be the same thing over and over again.

The songs on The Wretched Spawn sound faster, with more abrupt endings.

We work for musical surprises. We want the songs to go in directions you don't expect. It's got less actual blast beats. We've been doing the high-speed Slayer thing — kick-snare, kick-snare drum beat — the really fast riffing underneath makes it sound really fast, so it "feels" like a fast album. It's the combination of songs with fast tempos and short songs. Arrangement is a big part of making a song interesting. We arrange it to hold your interest; it gets difficult to do that if a song is six-minutes long. People don't have the attention spans.

How do you approach those humorously gross lyrics?

It's funny to have horrible things happening in rhyme. We don't intend for it to be funny, but it's a natural reaction if you read about someone getting their head chopped off. You're either absorbed by the tragedy of it, or you laugh your way through it to deal with it.

You have a song about a detailed castration that could actually have been interpreted from a woman's point of view...

The law of averages dictates that more women are being victimized, and our lyrics reflect that unfortunate reality. Then you have the Lorena Bobbitt incident. Some women can be vicious in their own right, and we don't want to leave them out of our songs, either!

DIMENSION ZERO

This Is Hell (Century Media)
The Swedish heavy metal scene is about as incestuous as it gets — nine out of 10 musicians moonlight in multiple bands outside of their main one. Hell (pun intended), just examine the career of one Tomas Lindberg (At The Gates, The Crown, Nightrage, the Great Deceiver, and so on). Nevertheless, Dimension Zero's This Is Hell takes the "all in the family" thing a step further. The platter was produced by In Flames frontman Anders Friden, and bassist Jesper Stromblad was once in In Flames — defecting, however, to DZ. Loaded with enough blast beasts to level the Axis Of Evil, This Is Hell remains heavier, harder, and less melodic than In Flames, although it does express an appreciation for the occasional sweet melodic breakdown. There are no attempts at clean vocals, as the band chooses instead to destroy, erase, and improve upon anything nü metal. "Dimension Zero," "Di'I Minores," and "Killing My Sleep" all drop the metal hammer with precious speed and skill. If you like it Swedish, with a piping-hot side of Iron Maiden-on-speed riffs and just a smidgeon of melody, then This Is Hell will function as a piece of heaven for your ears. And that's the damn truth.

HANOI ROCKS

Twelve Shots On The Rocks (Liquor And Poker)
Back in the day, Hanoi Rocks was a somewhat under-the-radar glam outfit, comparatively speaking. In 1984, drummer Nicholas "Razzle" Dingley was killed in a car accident while riding in a car driven by Mötley Crüe's Vince Neil; things were never the same for the band following his death, and Hanoi Rocks wisely called it a day soon after. Seventeen years after breaking up, however, singer Michael Monroe and guitarist Andy McCoy have reunited for Twelve Shots On The Rocks, a 17-song collection (one for each year?) of mostly three-and-a-half minute guitar-and-high-pitched-rock-'n'-roll-wail-driven tracks. "New York City" and "Delirious" pay more homage to KISS than Poison, but any way you look at it, this is silly, fun rock. The piano melody of "In My Darkest Moment," especially, will have you thinking it's 1987 all over again. This disc will no doubt intoxicate programmers who have been around for 20-plus years, as well as help educate the neophytes about the past. And if wearing skin-tight velvet Speedos and lipstick is your thing, then Twelve Shots will definitely get you all juiced up.

THE HENRY GRIMES COMEBACK CONTINUES

Bassist Henry Grimes's re-emergence in the Jazz community after dropping out three decades ago is one of the great Jazz stories of 2003. Prior to his comeback, there had even been several rumors circulating that he was dead. But a fan found Grimes in a run-down residential hotel in Los Angeles and wrote a story about him. (He hadn't played a bass since the '70s.) The subsequent outpouring from the Jazz community to the bassist who had played with all the legends back in the '60s has been phenomenal. William Parker and other musicians even took up a collection to get him a bass, which he gladly accepted.

Grimes played in New York for the first time in 30 years as part of the Vision Festival in May, and then played Iridium in July with his own group. He also played several times in Los Angeles over the summer as he built his chops back up. Grimes's comeback is now further solidified with a string of dates in New York City and Europe. Grimes will play a few dates in the Northeast in early-November, with Mixashawn on drums and Andrew Bemkey on piano, before gigging around New York City, participating in a Denis Charles tribute, Marc Ribot's Django Reinhardt Project and a few dates with trumpeter Roy Campbell and others. In December, he heads to Italy with clarinetist Perry Robinson and drummer Andrew Cyrille for at least six performances (more to be confirmed at a later date). Here's to hoping that Grimes's 2004 will be even better than his 2003.

JAZZ PANEL WRAP-UP

The 2003 CMJ Music Marathon Jazz panel, "Remixers and Jazz: Opening Bridges Between Different Generations," was held on Friday, Oct. 24. The panelists were Mocean Worker (electronic artist), Dahlia Ambach-Caplin (Verve Remixed), Matthew Backer (Bird Up), Vijay Iyer (Jazz pianist) and Tad Hendrickson (CMJ Jazz Editor). The panel was well attended, and, encouragingly, few left during the 75-minute discussion.

Although most of the panelists were familiar with each other, the discussion took a few minutes to pick up speed as they worked through the preliminaries of who they are and what each of them do.

From there, they moved on to cover such topics as Jazz's appeal to remixers, how remixers should honor the source material, payment schemes for sampled material, and whether or not the Jazz and remixing communities are mortal enemies, as some claim and others dispute.

One surprising highlight was the great responses from the audience. For example, the subject of whether remixing brings fans back to the originals was broached midway through the talk. Remarkably, most in the audience raised their hands when asked if remixing makes them want to go back and track down the original songs. Sometimes we forget how into music CMJ readers are, and it was nice to see so many out there willing to dig below the surface and check it out, instead of simply using it as a lifestyle accessory.

The audience also spent the last 20 minutes of the session asking panelists questions, including their take on Madlib's work, which was mixed. Thanks to all the panelists and audience members who made this session a memorable one.

LIVE REVIEW: DAVE DOUGLAS AT THE VANGUARD

he ubiquitous Dave Douglas debuted his new band, Word, during a weeklong (Oct. 21–26) run at New York City's Village Vanguard.

Not to be confused with the all-star sacred steel outfit The Word, which includes John Medeski, North Mississippi Allstars and Robert Randolph, Douglas's new project includes pianist and singer Andy Bey, trombonist Roswell Rudd, saxophonist Myron Walden, bassist James Genus and drummer Clarence Penn. Even though the trumpeter/composer currently has four working bands and eight others on hold, for this project, Douglas wrote entirely new compositions inspired by poems, including Adrienne Rich's "Final Notation," Samuel Beckett's "Something There," Gwendelyn Brooks's "The Progress" and haikus by Jack Kerouac and Basho,

The sextet's first performance in front of an audience on Oct. 21 was not without some rough spots — the bandmembers still seemed to be feeling their way around the compositions, and tempos were discussed on the bandstand. But Douglas was incredibly upbeat, joking with the audience and bouncing to the music; he seemed both genuinely enthused with the material and with the players. It's interesting to note the inclusion of elder-statesmen Bey and Rudd in this group as well, because they add a lot to the proceedings. With his soaring baritone voice, Bey did much more than simply recite the poems; he added a myriad of shades to the tone and phrasing of each piece, making each composition his own even though the composer had written melody lines for the recitation. Rudd seemed a little lost at times, but he did fine on Herbie Nichols' "House Party Starting," creating the appropriate rambunctious spirit for the song.

Those who were unable to make the gigs can take heart: Dave Douglas's Word (Bluebird) will be released the third week in January.

YUSEF LATEEF/ ADAM RUDOLPH

In The Garden (Meta-Yal)

On In the Garden, saxophonist Yusef Lateef and percussionist Adam Rudolph are joined by Rudolph's 20-piece Go Orchestra (which won L.A. Weekly's Best World Music Artist award in 2003) for free-ranging improvisation with heavy overtones of Asian and African music and instrumentation. Recorded live on two discs, the sound quality is reasonably good (too good at one point — someone needed a throat lozenge on "Trace Elements"), and finds the group improvising with some direction from Rudolph. While it's a large group, the tonal palette is rarely crowded, giving the music a sense of eeriness. It's at its jazziest on the three-part "Formative Impulses," which recalls Gil Evans's orchestral textures at times, and features a great solo by the Headhunters' Bennie Maupin on bass clarinet. This is a must for fans of avant-garde big band and world Jazz heads.

JAMES CARTER

Gardenias For Lady Day (Columbia)

Saxophonist James Carter dropped out of sight after releasing sister albums Layin' In The Cut, an electric album, and Chasin' The Gypsy, his acoustic gypsy swing record, in 2000 on Atlantic. Now on Columbia, Carter reemerges for a Billie Holiday tribute, using a straight-ahead quartet with orchestral accompaniment, and taking on four songs from the Holiday repertoire and four from her contemporaries. The strings often give the album a noir-ish flavor, and its in-the-pocket sensibility results from the players never ranging too far from the original tunes. Overall, this is a modern straight-ahead record executed with skill. With notable exceptions, like the full-throated version of "Strange Fruit" and the bluesy "Lowdown Groove," Gardenias lacks the aesthetic grit of Holiday's own recordings and some of Carter's other projects, but fans of the saxophonist's more conventional work will find a lot to like here.

LOTZ OF MUSIC

Pum'kin Diaries (Random Chance)

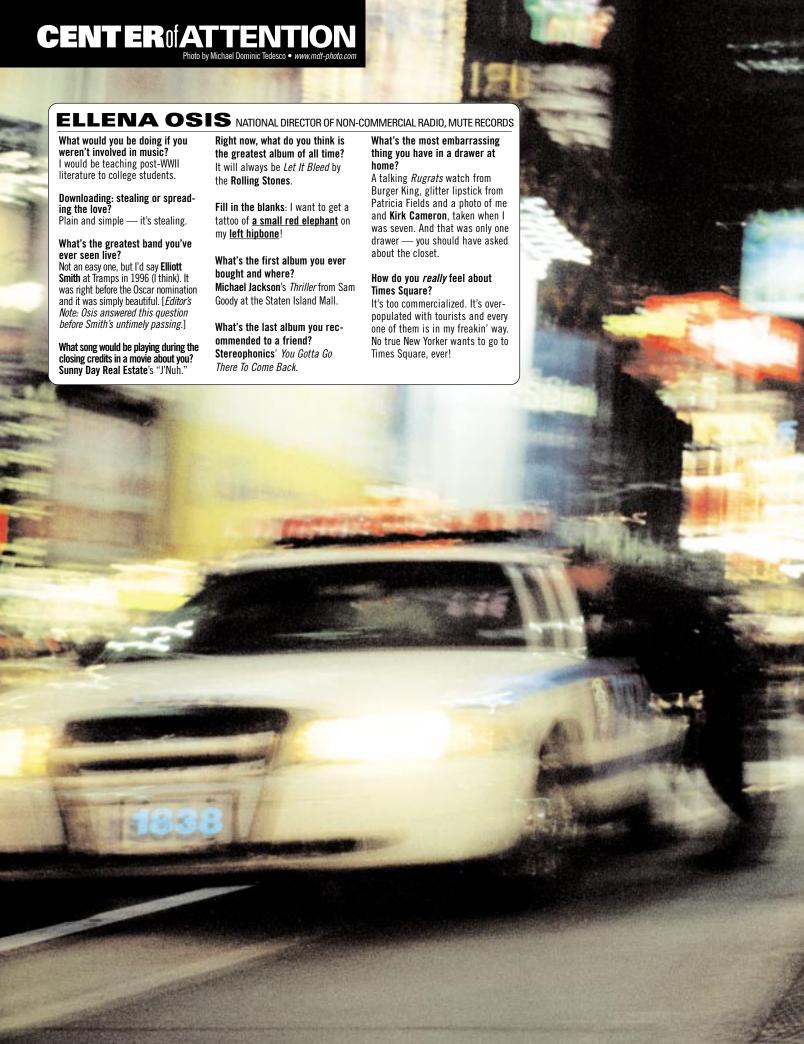

This is the North American debut from Lotz Of Music, an Amsterdam-based quartet led by flutist Mark Alban Lotz. The young crew covers a lot of ground here — too much, in fact, because one never gets a complete sense of the band's objective. For example, the group plays the avant-garde leaning original "Pygmy Lounge," follows it with a melodic and lilting version of Tom Jobim's "Zingaro," and then goes on to Ornette Coleman's "Blues Connotation." Nonetheless, there are nice moments that indicate that once these guys kick their A.D.D. and make some hard decisions, they're going to make some real noise.

RPM Q&A: ROB DA BANK

ob Da Bank is one of the most significant men in the downtempo and leftfield electronic music scene. An accomplished DJ and producer, Da Bank, along with partner Chris Coco, hosts "The Blue Room," one of the most popular weekly radio shows on BBC Radio 1 in the U.K. The show isn't just another throwaway mix of the same chill-out songs that you've heard on countless money-grubbing compilations, either — it's the premier forum to hear the music before it's available anywhere else. Coco and Da Bank's recently released Blue Room CD is the perfect companion to the show, featuring a nice balance of artists you've never heard from before, along with well-known acts like The Orb, Ladytron, the Flaming Lips and the Polyphonic Spree. CMJ recently spoke with Rob Da Bank about the show, the music and his life as a DJ.

How did "The Blue Room" show come together?

Radio 1 was looking for a versatile early morning DJ who could cater to clubbers coming in off their heads who needed calming down, yet who was entertaining enough at the same time to keep an older audience who might be getting up for work. They couldn't decide between Chris Coco and me, so they got us both!

How has the Internet helped out your show?

Massively. Because our show is on at 5:00–7:00 a.m., many people who might want to listen are still asleep. Radio 1 put all of the specialist shows on a "Listen Again" feature on the Web site, so you can listen to the whole show any time of day or night for the following seven days, until the next show. "The Blue Room" is in the top five "Listen Again" shows.

The downtempo and leftfield genres encompass such a wide variety of music. How do you select tracks for your show from week to week?

After 10 years doing this, I get sent three sacks of records and CDs a week, so I rifle through those for any gems, and pick up a few bits at the record shops. Basically, I just try and get a good balance between electronic, acoustic and indie, and some old bits thrown in for good measure. There's so much good new music out there that it's always difficult to narrow it down, though.

What's the criteria for a track to make the show?

It has to be sent to me with some money! [Laughs]

You and Chris like to throw in old-time classic tracks that people wouldn't expect to hear in a typical downtempo mix; so you are changing it up a bit, aren't you?

I don't really see what we do as "downtempo," necessarily. We're totally freestyle in our selection, and play a lot of house, electro and rock alongside electronic music. People at Radio 1 see us as the link between John Peel, Gilles Peterson and Annie Nightingale — a kind of super bastard child of those three.

Can a downtempo DJ survive in a marketplace that embraces house DJs?

Absolutely. In the U.K. right now, leftfield DJs like Mr. Scruff, Ross Allen and me are having the best year of our careers. Even 17-year-old kids are now into more varied sounds, and are just as likely to want to hear R&B or rock as house music.

What do you think about the influx of bullshit compilations that flood the market?

It would be OK if there were enough good tracks to go around, but it's been exhausted. The market is saturated, and the majority of people have more than enough "chill-out" compilations. Hopefully, The Blue Room shows that there is another route!

Listen to "The Blue Room" at: www.bbc.co.uk/radio1/dance/blueroom/index.shtml.

WEIRD RPM RECORD VARIOUS ARTISTS

VGM Mix Tape #8 (Nosides) Chances are your first encounter with electronic music came from hours of sitting in front of the boobtube playing video games. Who could forget the classic theme songs to games like Super Mario Brothers, Tetris, Shinobi, Golden Axe and Street Fighter 2? VGM Mixtape #8 is a project that evolved as an homage to the video game music and legendary video game systems of yesteryear, using the sound-tracks from the games of such dinosaurs as the Atari 2600, TurboGraffix 16, Commodore 64, ColecoVision and Sega Genesis to create a variety of contemporary dance tracks. The productions run through the full range of dance music, from electro, techno and house to IDM and gabber — making for one weird RPM record. For more information, Email William Sides at exzosides@cs.com.

A SKILLZ AND KRAFTY KUTS

Tricka Technology (Fingerlickin')
When TC Izlam belts out lyrics like, "We got the groove/ We got the sound / We got the vibe to make you get down" and "Come on everybody put your hands in the air / Wave them to the rhythm like you just don't care," you know you're in store for a party of epic proportions. Those words are taken from "Ill Type Sound," one of the standout tracks on A Skillz And Krafty Kuts's new album, Tricka Technology. The disc is built with a formula of insanely catchy old-skool Hip-Hop rhymes, breakbeats and guitar funk that has been used many times before, but AS and KK make this effort sound really fresh by lacing each track with a raw, stripped-down, Golden-Age-of-Hip-Hop vibe. If you can't get a dance floor moving with the crafty cuts on this record, then there's something gravely wrong.

MARA

If You Only Knew (Choo Choo)

The new LP from U.K. duo Mara is a diverse blend of song-based dance tracks, breakbeats and progressive house. The first two tracks on If You Only Knew, the title track and "Turning It On," chug along at mid-tempo, weaving together a blend of sultry vocals and gentle keystrokes, but things really pick up towards the middle of the disc, with the dark, nasty and tribal "1974," featuring pretty dope spoken-word from Tigerhook's Randall Jones. The remainder of the release is less song-based, devised more with a club night in mind, and sporting some massive peak-time tracks that flow from one into another. It leads to such a drastic change in musical intensity from start to finish that, by the time you've reached the end of the record, you've forgotten there was even a beginning.

TARA DELONG

You Do The Math (Fatal)

We're not sure if it was the woman's nipple glaring out at us from this album's cover photo or the disc painted with an entire breast that first drew us to listen to this CD; regardless, Tara Delong knows that breasts can motivate. The music here is more of that "tales of the streets from the point of view of a hippy-chick" Hip-Hop that we've come to love. It's a very humorous journey that matches the absurdity of Fannypack with the booty of Princess Superstar and the balls of Peaches and Hanin Elias. Among other tracks, you'll get a kick out of the plastic surgery ballad "Silicone Joan" and "Big Butt Daniela," the tale of a fat girl gorging herself at McDonald's.

The music world is still in shock over the tragic death of Elliott Smith (pictured). But despite the shock, a group of artists quickly got together to pay tribute to Smith's legacy at a concert on Nov. 3 at the Henry Fonda Theatre in Los Angeles. At press time, Beck, Bright Eyes' Conor Oberst, Beth Orton, Granddaddy, the Radar Brothers, Rilo Kiley and Future Pigeon were all scheduled to perform. Proceeds from the event will benefit The Elliott Smith Foundation For Abused Children, which was established by Smith himself.

In other Bright Eyes news, Oberst and the gang are playing a special one-off show at the Knitting Factory in New York on Nov. 21.

Azure Ray is out on a short jaunt with Eric Bachman's Crooked Fingers. Crooked Fingers will also double as Azure Ray's backing band, so this tour is definitely worth checking out. The bands roll into Wilmington, North Carolina at the Soapbox on Nov. 19, and the shows wrap up Dec. 13 at Sokol Underground in Omaha, Nebraska. See www.azureraymusic.com for more details.

Legendary grunge act Mudhoney is playing three East Coast dates this December: Dec. 18 at Ottobar in Baltimore, Marvland; Dec. 19 at North Star Bar in Philadelphia; and Dec. 20 at Warsaw in Brooklyn, New York.

Ron Fountenberry, a.k.a. the Incredible Moses Leroy, is touring in support of his latest album, Become The Soft Lightes. The remaining dates are: Nov. 17 in Austin, Texas; Nov. 19 in Houston, Texas; and Nov. 20 in New Orleans. Fountenberry has collaborated with both Miho Hatori of Cibo Matto and Roger Manning of Air, and, while there's no word on whether there will be guest appearances at these shows, you might get lucky.

Be very afraid. Black metal act Dimmu Borgir has just begun an extensive North American tour that runs through Dec. 15 in Montreal. For the full itinerary, see www.dimmu-borgir.com.

HART OF THE MATTER

ommon knowledge: the nature of the corporation is that it incorporates into one operating body (hence "corp"); the actions, mission and motivations of the many toward a single purpose or goal. For most, that's making money. But even as the corp enlists the specific zeal, goodwill and talents of those individuals who make up the general body, it also, as it conforms them, too often curbs them. As much as it gathers for the purpose of insuring its goals either stand against or march straight through the world it feels thwarts it; as much as it organizes to protect itself from those it was organized to withstand; it most often falls prey to the most dangerous predator in its own predatory blind spot—itself. The corporation causes its own cancers.

Retailers like Vintage Vinyl St. Louis's Jim Utz stand at key Davidlike points beyond the corporate giant's body. Their goodwill, talent and zeal have a range of motion denied larger corporations. Some of you have heard Jim's comments, many haven't, but his particular articulation of a familiar problem has generated quite a bit of conversation in the days since he spoke them. Jim?

"Over the past few months, we have been averaging between 10 percent and 20 percent growth over last year's sales. Even with the sluggish start of 2003, projections are such that we'll be up for the entire year for the first time in two years. Let it be known that I am in one of the best moods...

I actually get jitters after I hit send on our chart/report because of all the returned Emails I get due to all the cuts at labels and distributors, wondering what friend or associate has lost his or her job. All the bloodshed and casualties have left me questioning the music biz and, more importantly, its leaders, especially at the bigger companies.

I wonder how new releases of non-heritage or established artists are going to be developed if there are no retail reps to help nurture and even (gasp) help sell some records when things are trending down so quickly? A bio/sales sheet and a promo isn't the answer. Going to your B2B to do the work isn't the answer either. Who do we go to about setting up promotions that will sell records, especially when we [Vintage Vinyl] have to continue to 'sell' ourselves and reputation over and over again to prove that we know what the hell we are doing? Who is going to send us promos that we can play in-store that might actually sell records when, every time we lose a rep or an office closes, our promos seem to dry up?

If cost-cutting measures need to be taken, how about not investing over $3.00 in packing and shipping to send us one folded-up poster in a tube for a tour the day after the show has come to town? How about coordinating your promo mailings so we don't get five copies of a baby band that'll be dropped after the first week's sales don't meet expectations. Send at least a single copy of the record that happens to be in the Top 10 and that our customers want to hear. Also, all tours are usually planned months in advance, so why are tour support ads and ticket-buy decisions left until a week-or-so out? Instead of overnighting tickets to us the day before the show, how about having everyone in the 'ticket chain' do their job? Who is bogging down this process and why do they still have jobs?

I know for a fact that when we have close working relationships with a label rep, sales are directly and positively impacted. Ask us about lifestyle accounts, good local DJs, where something as little a sampler and a coupon might stimulate sales. I am tired of seeing people [whom I] love to work with [and] who get how to sell records get cut because of stupidity and carelessness in the way their company runs their operating expenses and daily operations.

I could be wrong and don't understand how things really are on the other side of the fence. If anyone wants to educate me, I would love to hear it. Staying educated is a constant goal of mine and the key to our survival in this business."

Hear, hear, Jim.

SPEAK OUT

Jim Kelly

Jimkelly22@comcast.net, 609.653.8931 Since leaving Zia Record Exchange in May, Jim is currently working as a retail consultant

I've been talking to retailers literally every day. Some disturbing facts have come to my attention: in each city I've contacted, about 79 percent of the stores in most databases are out of business, five percent don't have any access to Email and most don't have a computer-based inventory point-of-sale system. Yet they are still in business and, judging from the conversations I've had, still indie and opinionated about all the things big record companies are not but could be doing to prosper. Most are doing better than last year, they are managing their business better and know their inventory and customers like no one else.

The need for indie retail consciousness is crucial at all major distribution companies. With the consolidation happening at retail, the importance of these retailers is growing every day. Trans World now owns Wherehouse, and it appears even Musicland may own Tower very soon. So we're relegated to big chain record stores, big box retailers and you, the indies. You are the future of new bands, the ones willing to adopt new acts, screw the safe bets and buck the trends. Without you there is no mechanism for true music fans to be exposed to new music.

I'm in the process of aggregating the Email address, contact info and profiles of every independent retailer in the country so that, together, we can maintain a regular dialogue about the issues that matter to us most. There are still many indies who don't belong to coalitions who feel disenfranchised even though they are very important to their own neighborhoods and cities.

To the retailers out there: It's time to stand up and be counted. Send me your info so that your voice can be heard. For those of you who don't have Email capabilities, I'll work with you via fax and mail. I do not want to skip or miss anyone that may want to participate. Reach out, get a hold of me, it is easy. Let me know you want to be a part of something bigger.

UNDER THE RADAR

This week in Under The Radar we want to draw special attention to those albums that are either making important moves on CMJ Retail charts or are just about to. We'll also throw in a few reasons on the what, why and how things are beginning to pop.

LUTHER VANDROSS

Live 2003 At Radio City...

Catalog No. 55711 As one of the highest-regarded

R&B crooners privately recovers from a stroke earlier this year, his new live album—recorded prior to his hospitalization—is doing superbly. Luther, we hope for the best! With a vibrant No. 55*, Vandross owns No. 6* at Street Corner (Beverly Hills) and other strong Top 10s at Be-Bop (Ridgeland, MS), Paradise (Fayettesville) and Tower (Philadelphia).

Current Top 100 Chart Position: 55*

KINGS OF LEON

Youth And Young Manhood

Catalog No. 52394 Nashville's youngest progeny are reviving rock, southern-style—begotten by forefathers like the Fogerty brothers. This group of brothers (and a cousin) has redebuted at a mighty impressive No. 62*. Keeping California from waiting, the Kings have No. 6* at Benway (Venice) and jump from No. 25* last week to No. 10* at Aron's (L.A.). # THRESHOLD MUSIC mere two miles away from Tinley Park, Illinois's Threshold Music—like a looming specter casting a long, sinister shadow—is a Best Buy. So how does Threshold compete? Partner and buyer Josh Muthart responds, "Indie, indie, indie! Being an independent store in itself is a huge thing." Threshold, located 20 miles southwest of Chicago, doesn't sell enough major label product to warrant even using the major distributors. Instead they buy their product exclusively through independent distributors: Mordam, Southern, Choke, ADA, Caroline, Alliance and more. "Britney Spears is not a big seller for us," Josh says, "but Alkaline Trio—we've probably sold like a thousand of their CDs."

7901 W. 159th St. Tinley Park, IL 60477 p. 708.429.0220 f. 708.429.3850

Threshold prides itself on its vast collection of indie product. It's the only store in the area that carries dance vinyl—or any vinyl for that matter—and metalheads drive from 60 miles away to patronize their deep catalog. "We're kind of like an oasis in this area," Muthart says. "It's pretty barren of cultural diversity."

Q&A with Josh Muthart, partner and buyer, Threshold Music

What local press affects sales most?

The main musical newspaper in the area is the Illinois Entertainer and most of the people in this area pick it up at our store anyways. The Chicago Reader covers a lot of the ground we do, especially how they cover shows. [Also] Maximumrocknroll and Punk Planet, from here in Chicago.

What radio station affects sales most?

A lot of the independent music in this area that the kids are listening to just isn't covered on the radio. Chicago radio is just flooded with mainstream music. Most of the strong Chicagoland stations are on the north part and their bandwidth doesn't get down here. [Public radio station] WDCB does a little.

Turbonegro poster = Cool store.

Do you have in-stores?

William Whitmore just did an in-store this past Sunday. A lot of bands come through Chicago, we try to give them the chance to do in-stores. For a while we were doing two-to-three bands every Friday night. The Pharoahs played here once—they were a Chicago experimental jazz band from the late '60s, early '70s. Some of those members went on to Earth, Wind And Fire. Also, the Tossers, Sweep The Leg Johnny and George Winston have been memorable. We run small fliers with purchase and rely on word-of-mouth for advertising. We don't own our own PA.

What is your most effective program?

We do co-op listening stations. We have three listening stations in our store and those work out well. All our endcaps do well. And speaking directly to the customer and turning them on to new music.

What types of non-traditional promotions have worked best?

We put small descriptions on the actual CD cases. "If you like X, Y and Z, check out W." People respond really well to that. We're starting up an Email newsletter and sending them out once a week. We have trivia questions, where you get $2 off a CD if you answer it right.

What display materials work best for you?

Interesting posters. We're taking more of a minimal approach with our displays, these days. They stand out more that way. POP giveaways work well.

What records are your current and alltime favorites?

Erykah Badu's Worldwide Underground and either Miles Davis's Bitches Brew or Fugazi's 13 Songs.

What's the first record you bought? Where?

I received the White Album from my father when I was about five years old.

What's the best concert you've attended?

In terms of best energy, I saw Fugazi and Shellac play together here in Chicago, about five or six years ago.

NEWSWORTHY

Stones Gather No Canadian Moss

In retaliation for the wrinkled zombie Rolling Stones releasing their next DVD Four Flicks exclusively to Best Buy for the holiday season, the trendsetting Newbury Comics chain announced they would retaliate in true Newbury fashion! As you may recall, when the onceanti-corporate U2 dropped their newest DVD as a twoweek exclusive, Newbury responded by doubling the marketing costs to their label.

Well, Newbury has announced its decisive lickpulling the deep catalog of the Rolling Stones from its stores, leaving only its 10 best-selling titles (all of which will be raised in price). Granted, no one's really going to exactly miss those copies of Emotional Rescue, Dirty Work, et. al., but it's still an Exile that Newbury can be proud of.

Also, Canadian retailers HMV, Pindoff Record Sales and Sunrise Records—a collective total of 234 stores—are pulling their entire Stones product indefinitely. No CDs, DVDs, videotapes, shirts, accessories no nothing! HMV Canada prez Humphrey Kadaner says the same fate will befall anyone who has exclusive product, adding, "If we're not good enough to sell some of their product, we're probably not good enough to sell any of their product.'

No word on whether Branford, Connecticut retailer Exile On Main Street will be changing its name.

Easy Street Is Living On, Um, Some Kind Of Street

Two-store Seattle staple Easy

Street Records has just been named Best Independent Music Store by the Seattle Weekly. About the store, the weekly glowingly said: "Anyone who thinks multinational chains are the only place to find everything, and we mean everything, needs to stop into Easy Street and rethink their position. Imports, dance stuff, scads of local releases, magazines galore, vinyl, rock, world music, jazz... in short, everything, and we mean everything."

In attempting to refute the Weekly's claim that Easy Street has "everything," CMJ Retail placed a phone call to Easy Street to see if they had a carburetor for a 1972 Datsun 240Z and an omelet made entirely of bald eagle eggs and endangered snow leopard meat.

We would like to humbly thank Easy Street prez Matt Vaughan... the eggs were delicious and our car is running great!

At an in-store at Colorado Springs, Colorado's Independent Records And Video, the boys of Thrice proudly brandish their party-hard attitude, shown here right after destroying an entire floor of hotel rooms in a drugged-up rampage. OK, the Thrice-sters are as mild-mannered as a band full of Clark Kents, but Independent employee Jason Meerschant seems happy to meet them anyway.

Right before they appeared, their brothers-in-Island-signed-melodic-hardcore Thursday showed up to weaken some knees. "Some girl started freaking out and crying when she met the lead singer of Thursday," says Independent's advertising coordinator Jamie Crockett, "who, in my opinion, looks like Charlie Brown... with hair,"

Arizona popsters the Format play a campus event put together by the fine folks at Hoodlums New And Used Music in Tempe, Arizona. The place was stuffed to the very gills with 700 kids, all of whom were quoted as sayng, "Wait, who the hell are these guys again?" Regardless, the mysterious band sold an amazing 547 copies at Hoodlums Denver's atmospheric alt-country troubadours 16 Horsepower played a plugged-in gig at Denver's Twist And Shout... becoming the first band in T&S history to literally blow a fuse! Said one iunior-highschooler about the fuse: "No one blows like 16 Horsepower.

REPORTING DATES Oct. 31 - Nov. 4

CMJ REPORTING HOURS

6 a.m. Friday - 2 p.m. Tuesday EST www.cmj.com/reporting/

NOTE TO REPORTERS: Printed playlists reflect airplay reported to CMJ two weeks prior to the magazine's cover date. The number of station playlists printed each week in CMJ is randomly determined by available space.

CMJ REPORTING GUIDELINES

CMJ Airplay Reporters must submit reports weekly, via the online interface located at www.cmj.com, prior to 2 p.m. (ET) every Tuesday afternoon, abiding to the following guidelines:

- "Adds" are the new and current albums that a CMJ Airplay Reporter makes available for airplay and reasonably expects will receive airplay during the forthcoming week.
- Albums reported in a CMJ Airplay Reporter's Top 30 playlist must represent the 30 most played current albums on the station during the preceding week. Because we are a "new" music publication whose charts are album-based, reporting re-currents (or recordings more than a year old) or singles is not necessary.
- · Airplay reports that do not correlate with actual airplay, also known as "paper adds," are not permitted under any circumstances.
- When CMJ cannot vouch for the accuracy of an artist and/or recording on a station's airplay report (we do so by investigating our own internal database, searching the Internet and/or consulting with online music retailers), the listing in question will remain in its position on the playlist — however, it will be preceded by an asterisk, as in *Beatles, to designate that it could not be verified at press time. CMJ will then utilize all available resources to verify the unverified listing either prior to the week's reporting close or before the next week's reporting period commences.
