Small-Town Stations Want Part of Big-City Action

You're running an FM station in a small town not too far from a much larger city. If you're like most broadcasters in such situations, you might try to improve your signal and program to the larger market. Austin TX, for example, has several nearby stations programming to it—stations in Georgetown, Luling, San Marcos and Bastrop. News, public service messages, commercials and weather data might be directed to the larger city—almost to the exclusion of the original town. The Federal Communications Commission, however, requires that a city-grade signal (70 dBu) and a toll-free telephone number be provided the city of license. In the station identification, given at or near the top of the hour, FCC rules require mention of the city of license, followed by any other city or cities a station chooses to mention. Some stations rotate those other cities, and in the listings toward the back of the book (by-frequency station directory) are stations known to include more than one city in its station ID.

A more drastic situation involves the physical move-in and reallocation of stations from a small city to a larger market. Emerald Broadcasting, owner of WHMA-FM 100.5 Anniston AL, has petitioned the FCC to move to Sandy Springs GA, just outside Atlanta. Anniston would then get a new Class C3 station. Emerald also wants to move its KRWR 94.7 Carson City to Fair Oaks, 16 km away from Sacramento CA. Opposing Emerald Broadcasting have been Atlanta broadcasters Jacor (WPCH 94.9), Cox (WSB-FM 98.5) and Summit (WVEE 103.3). Summit and Cox commissioned the Washington engineering firm of Jules Cohen & Associates which found numerous other FM move-ins possible. Markets in Missouri were picked, because that's the home state of FCC Chairman Al Sikes. KTMO 98.9 Kennet MO could move and be relicensed to Memphis TN. In the Kansas City area, WIBW-FM 97.3 and KMAJ 107.7, both Topeka, could be removed to Grandview MO and Independence MO, respectively; KHUM 95.7 Ottawa KS could move to Raytown MO. The KMAJ move would require a downgrading to C1 of KCFM 107.3 Lexington MO. Move-ins would benefit medium-sized markets at the expense of smaller towns.

Jacor charged in its petition to the FCC that the WHMA-FM proposal "undermines the Commission's allotment goals by robbing the poor to serve the rich." Joining it was Capital Cities/ABC, which said, "This is an inappropriate use of the Commission's rules and would violate the policy of providing localized service for small communities." To all this furor over move-ins, Emerald Broadcasting's Tom Gammon said, "The Commission should have no problem recognizing the anti-competitive urges under the guise of the public interest."

Digital Audio Broadcasting Threatens To Usurp FM

Nobody really knows where it will lead, but Digital Audio Broadcasting (DAB) is a technology which could displace regular FM and AM radio in favor of a new band somewhere in the high gigahertz range. DAB is supposed to offer greater fidelity, freedom from multipath and do so with powers of 100 watts instead of 100 kw for the same coverage. The system has been tested in several Canadian cities, including Toronto, where the signal went out over dormant CKO-FM2 99.1 (see separate story below) as a comparison with a signal sent out on UHF channel 68 in DAB. Preliminary reports are that DAB gave compact-disc type reception to home and car receivers. Canada expects to have both satellite and land-based DAB stations, while in the U. S., the National Association of Broadcasters has come out against satellite-type DAB "superstations," which could be a threat to radio's localism. It is unclear whether DAB would entirely replace regular FM, and broadcasters are far from agreeing whether to join or fight the new technology.

Canada's CKO Stations Call It Quits

After over a decade of losses, Canada's all-news CKO radio network had its plug pulled, even as negotiations to sell it to a Quebec-based company were about to begin. "They had lost $50 million since signing on in 1977." Winnipeg 99.1 had just been placed on the air. CKO Regina, Saint John NB and St. John's NF never made it on the air. The failure of the CRTC (Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission) to approve the frequency swap of CKEY 560 Toronto and CKO-FM2 99.1 Toronto was a telling blow. The deal would have included a considerable infusion of cash to the CKO treasury. CKO was based on FM—a little too early in that medium, when most people looked to FM for music, not news in pseudo-stereo. Watch for the frequencies used by CKO stations to fill up with other stations, most likely individually programmed, because Canada is unlikely to soon get a commercial network of FM stations using an all-news or talk format.

Thumbs Down to Translators: NAB and FCC

There won't be an FM translator "industry." FM translators will be strictly a secondary service with no such thing as "low power FM," like there is in TV. The public will not receive translators with unique programming, but may be subject to endless repetition of the same primary station signals across the dial. That's the scenario from the FCC's translator proposal, which incorporates almost all the prohibitions suggested by some western broadcasters to the FCC through the National Association of Broadcasters. Broadcasters had argued that in markets like Flagstaff and Prescott AZ translators outnumbered regular stations, and siphoned off audiences and advertisers.

There is some question of "grandfathering," or allowing existing translators to remain on the air, relaying more far-flung stations than the new rules might allow. Translators would be allowed to go up to 1000 watts, and third parties might be able to win public support through 30-second appeals for funds to operate the translators. The new rules also provide for commercial translators on all 80 FM channels, 92.1 through 107.9 mhz.

FCC Allows Upgrades to Class A Stations

Remember Class A FM stations—those with 3,000 watts? Many of them will be growing up to a full 6000 watts. The FCC's been doing its homework and has figured out a way that hundreds of stations can get the power increase they want. Some might have to settle for a little less than 6000 watts (but more than 3000 watts) if too closely spaced to other stations for the full 6000 watts. At the end of 1989 the FCC had come up with a list of over 700 stations qualifying for the full 6000 watts and another 500 qualifying for a partial increase. Here's the new table for Class A upgrades (showing different classes of stations, like A and B1, and spacings ranging from the same channel ["co-channel"] to up to three channels away [400/600 kHz], while 10.6/10.8 mhz are distance restrictions related to FM radio's intermediate frequency oscillator pick up and radiation, which can also cause interference over short distances). The different classes of stations are defined on the Virginia map, p. 22. Special class definitions for Puerto Rico are found on the p. 100 map.

Minimum Distance Separation Requirements In Kilometers (Miles)

Relation	Co-channel	200 kHz
A to A	115 (71)	72 (45)
A to B1	143 (89)	96 (60)
A to B	178 (111)	113 (70)
A to C3	142 (88)	89 (55)
A to C2	166 (103)	106 (66)
A to C1	200 (124)	133 (83)
A to C	226 (140)	165 (103)

	400/600kHz	10.6/10.8MHz
A to A	31 (19)	10 (6)
A to B1	48 (30)	12 (7)
A to B	69 (43)	15 (9)
A to C3	42 (26)	12 (7)
A to C2	55 (34)	15 (9)
A to C1	75 (47)	22 (14)
A to C	95 (59)	29 (18)

In keeping with its new rules, creating intermediate classes of stations, the FCC has announced it will downgrade many stations which don't comply. Some 30 stations are affected by the threat of downgrading. Most are C2 stations with 25 kw or less and whose antenna height above average terrain provides a 60 dB contour of 39 km or less. They have a deadline of June 3, 1991 to prevent an automatic downgrading. Shown on the next page is the list of stations designated by the FCC for downgrading.

Beautiful Music All But Vanishes From FM

The year 1990 may have been when the greatest number of FM stations defected from a single program format in history—even eclipsing the large number of outlets that dumped disco in the late 1970s and early 1980s—as each month more and more stations were reported as dropping easy listening music. When 15 years ago you would find easy listening the most common format on FM, with several stations having it in a market, now entire states are devoid of the format. Instead, stations typically opt for a mild adult contemporary format, which makes them sound more like their rock and roll brethren than the tapes and records which people who used to hear easy listening on radio have increasingly turned to. Disenfranchised listeners might try for more distant stations and pluck the easy listening music out of a neighboring market's aether, or in desperation, they might settle on easy listening music via FM/SCA or subcarriers and obtain the necessary adapter or subscription to hear that music, sans FM's wide audio fidelity and stereo. A comparison of this edition's station listings by geography with last year's will reveal the disappearance of that format, especially in many major markets. Still, some stations do amazingly well with the "b" format. WPAT-AM-FM Paterson NJ, which simulcast, have led the ratings in New York city, while in other cities suburban stations with poorer outreaches often grab the easy listening format when one of the major stations drops it.

FM Listening Now at 77%, Up 1%

In spring, 1990, as well as fall, 1989, RADAR (Radio All-Dimension Audience Research) gave FM 77 percent of the radio audience, which indicates a possible slowing down of FM radio's rate of conquest over AM listening. The latest report said "The average growth of FM share over the past five years, 1985 to 1990, has been one percent a year. In contrast, the average growth over the years 1975 to 1980 was three percent a year." Estimates apply to persons 12 years of age or more. RADAR reports are jointly sponsored by ABC, CBS, National Black, Sheridan, Satellite Music, Unistar and Westwood One radio networks, major advertisers and agencies.

FM Inventor Armstrong Remembered on His Centenary

Few in the field of electronics have contributed more than he had, yet Edwin H. Armstrong, born in 1890, died disillusioned in 1954. He was constantly designing, developing, and improving radio circuits. He achieved the rank of major in the U. S. Army Signal Corps. His early inventions include the regenerative and superheterodyne circuits, which greatly improved the sensitivity of radios.

In the 1920s he began a quest to rid radio of static, turning to FM or frequency modulation, rather than the amplitude modulation system then in use. Other radio experts had virtually given up on conquering static and most sneered at the concept of frequency modulation. They said it would not be practical. By 1933, however, Armstrong was ready with wideband FM, and his FM patents were granted late that year. In early 1934, Armstrong demonstrated FM for RCA's David Sarnoff, who was impressed. Armstrong had, in fact, married Sarnoff's secretary, Marion.

Armstrong soon became uneasy about what he perceived to be Sarnoff's lack of enthusiasm for FM, feeling that too much attention was being paid to TV. By April, 1934, Sarnoff told Armstrong to get his FM gear out of the Empire State Building. This led to Armstrong building the still-standing three-armed 122-meter tower and massive transmitter building in Alpine NJ. He spent $500,000 of his personal fortune to build the 50 kw experimental station just across the Hudson River from New York city.

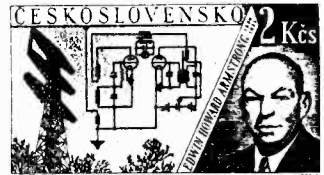

That experimental station continued in operation until Armstrong's 1954 demise. It migrated from the 42-50 mhz band and found a spot at 93.1, now occupied by WPAT-FM, using the call letters W2XMN and KE2XCC. The outbreak of World War II put a hold on new FM developments, but Armstrong's work continued with narrow band FM and radar.

The postwar year of 1946 saw the number of FM station applications on file at the FCC exceeding the number of AM applications. FM moved to a new band, 88 to 108 mhz, where there was room for more stations. Some media pundits were predicting that FM would, within a few years, replace AM broadcasting.

FM programming consisted of mainly simulcasting AM shows, but there were also early FM-only networks and stations, including the Continental FM Network, which utilized high-fidelity telephone lines to interconnect stations from Washington to Boston. Armstrong personally paid the tab to keep the network in operation. Armstrong's invention had been adopted for use as the audio in TV broadcasting in the U. S., it had become the accepted mode for land mobile radio systems, and the future of FM seemed rosy. But Armstrong still was not happy.

In July, 1948, he sued RCA alleging infringements of several of his FM patents. Overshadowed by TV, FM failed to interest the public in large numbers. FM radios were expensive and few companies (save for Zenith and General Electric) made FM radios in appreciable quantity. In 1949 there were 700 FM stations on the air, but by 1954 that number had dropped to 552. Armstrong was getting discouraged and increasingly concerned about his lawsuit, which appeared to have bogged down. These problems were overwhelming to the point where he and his wife separated. The $15 million he had already made from FM suddenly seemed unimportant.

In 1954, at the age of 63, a well-dressed Armstrong plunged out the window of his 13th floor apartment in New York city. Police listed it as a suicide. A year after his death, RCA/NBC reached a $1 million settlement with Marion Armstrong on the old lawsuit. Other monies and royalties added $4 million to

Mrs. Armstrong's wealth. One of Armstrong's final contributions to the broadcast art was in late 1953, when a system of multiplex subsidiary communications operation was unveiled; this had the effect of propping up the FM industry with subscription income using a portion of the FM channel bandwidth. A few years later FM stereo came along, which played a major part in FM's resurgence and ascendancy over AM.

Armstrong's dream has finally caught up with the technology he devised, and on the centennial of his birth, it's proper to look back and remember the man and the good he created. I mentioned to Mrs. Armstrong, when I met her in 1967, that I'd like to see a stamp honoring her husband in 1990, and she remarked "that's only 23 years away." Marion Armstrong died in 1979. Much of the material for this remembrance came from the July, 1990, Popular Communications, "Recalling Radio," by Alice Brannigan, pp. 18-22, copyright 1990 CQ Communications, Inc., 76 North Broadway, Hicksville NY 11801, and used with permission.

A U. S. commemorative stamp was issued honoring Armstrong in 1983, and in the ninth edition FM Atlas, 1984, it was pictured. Those who have a copy of that old edition might want to go back and check on the write-up of Armstrong. The Czechoslovakia stamp, on the facing page, is part of a five stamp set issued in 1959 honoring inventors Alexander Popov, Nicola Tesla, Guglielmo Marconi, Heinrich Hertz and Armstrong.

Updating This Book Through FMedia! Newsletter; FM DX Listening; FM Atlas Booknotes

Many FM Atlas subscribers have become readers of my monthly newsletter on FM, FMedia! In it is found news of stations coming on the air, format changes, stations embracing stereo, SCSubcarriers, and nonIDs, as well as news of FM broadcasting and media commentary. Much of the material in these "FMusings" was taken from issues of FMedia! published since the last FM Atlas. See back page coupon to be notified about subscribing information.

Long-distance FM reception is possible to those willing to install an outdoor FM antenna and check the band for interesting programs or changing conditions. Let this book be a help to you as you dial around and learn all you can about the stations you are likely to tune in. For those with an interest in tuning in long-distance FM ("FM DX"), write the nonprofit Worldwide TV-FM DX Association, PO Box 514, Buffalo NY 14205-0514. Annual dues are $17 U. S., $18 Canada, and $27 outside North America. A sample copy of their monthly "VHF-UHF Digest," is $2.00.

This edition brings new program format codes showing stations playing rock oldies and classic rock. It also sports a new cover—the first change since the book became the "FM Atlas and Station Directory" in 1972. The title is shortened to "FM Atlas." Cover design is by Ted Goff Illustration (847 Vermont No. 102, Oakland CA 94610). I hope you like it, and good listening!

What does FM signal layout look like?

KEY TO SYMBOLS

- d A station with a directional antenna, listed after height, by-frequency section
- h A station transmitting with a horizontal-only signal
- t An FM translator or on-channel FM booster
- v A station transmitting with a vertical-only signal (receiving antenna should be mounted vertically). Stations without a "v" or "h" in the by-frequency part of the book have both polarizations, or circular polarization, with v and h powers the same unless shown otherwise
- * A noncommercial station, usually educational, "public," or religious
- $ A station broadcasting all or part of its daily schedule in multiplex stereo
- † A station with a Subsidiary Communications Service (SCS, SCA, or in Canada, SCMO). If in parentheses (), it is at 57 kHz, if by itself at 67 kHz, and if following a comma: † , at 92 kHz.
- § A station sharing time with a nearby station on the same channel; shown on maps only
- A station with its antenna below the average surrounding terrain

CANADA

Canada Coverage Note: Coverages are indicated only for stations where we know the effective antenna height above average terrain. Many stations come on the air or move their towers without an announcement of their antenna heights. You can check the powers of virtually all Canada stations in Part II of the Station Directory.

Mexico Coverage Note: Coverages in kilometers are calculated for stations where antenna heights above average terrain are known; otherwise, only the effective radiated powers in watts are given. H—horizontal effective radiated power in watts, V—vertical effective radiated power in watts, heights given are in meters above average terrain; (da) means a station transmits with a directional antenna. SC—Services (1) follow the stations' music formats.

FM Translators

FM translators operate on a different frequency from the primary station. They help give FM service where distance or terrain make direct reception difficult. Translators west of the Mississippi River can have ten watts, while those east of that river are limited to 1 watt, unless they can prove a need for a waiver to operate with the higher power. FM boosters operate on the same frequency as the primary station, and they can have up to 20 percent of the power of the primary station. In the list which follows, city, frequency and call number of the translator are followed by call letters and frequency of the primary. Boosters are identified by call letters of the primary followed by a numeral (such as KMYX-1). Radiated powers of booster stations are given. Only translators and boosters in the United States are listed here.

STATION DIRECTORY

Part II: FM Stations Listed by Frequency, United States and Canada (excluding U. S. territories). Excludes FM translators. Stations identifying with more than one city are listed, as are stations often using a slogan or short phrase in lieu of call letters ("non-ID"). [All U. S. FM stations are required to give a proper identification at, or near the top of, the hour. This "ID" must contain call letters and city of license. If more than one city is mentioned, the city of license must be given first.] Selected station logos ("Miscellaneous") are included on a space-available basis. See Key to Symbols, page 8.

FMystery

Here's a radio that's remarkable for the political statement it makes. How can a radio be political, you might ask? Because it gets the "no-no" land of FM subcarriers, long thought to be illegal for either the general public or the broadcasters to tune freely around. But this is not Albania, and I'm happy to report freedom in tuning those harmless but interesting FM subcarrier emanations is coming to North America through the courtesy of at least one mystery manufacturer in China. Band 1 on that particular radio is 67 kHz SCA (or SCS), and Band 2 is 92 kHz. Check the "FM Atlas," pages 101 through 133, for stations known to have an FM subcarrier—all followed by the † symbol.

Who knows? Maybe FM subcarrier listening will catch on, and many unnecessary stations—both FM and AM—can leave the air. Alternative programs would be there at a flip of a switch, instead of having to create new stations, which use electricity, clog the dial and add to electromagnetic radiation which can permeate our very bodies. Subcarrier programs of music, talk and data are providing profitable services to FM stations, as well as information and entertainment to listeners through such avenues as reading to the blind, ethnic and foreign language programming, religion, background and foreground music, program relaying, and paging—and it's happening in most large and medium size markets in the U. S. and Canada.

If you're equipped for FM subcarrier listening—or even regular FM stereo listening—use the two pages which follow to jot down frequencies or times of your favorite stations or programs.

Here's space to help you make better use of your FM Atlas, as either a trip planning aid, or for noting stations you receive at home. If you travel, you can pre-plan your FM listening, sticking to stations playing the kind of music you enjoy, or those having the widest coverages. Some people like to tune in low-power college stations and FM translators, and by pre-planning, you will discover many stations that you would otherwise ignore. Just write in the stations you expect to hear, in the order in which they should come in. At-home listeners might want to jot down antenna directions or distances to the stations.

There's more room on the next page for you to write in notations for another trip, or for extended notes on one long trip. You might want to use part of this space to make updates to this FM Atlas, based on what you hear, or on what you find out in FMedia! as well as other sources. If you discover new station information, please send it in to help make the next FM Atlas all the more complete.

Suggested information to list below for each station:

FM PROGRAM FORMATS

[For other abbreviations, see Key to Symbols, Page 8.]

- b beautiful/easy listening music
- c classical/"Fine Arts"
- e ethnic and foreign language
- f folk music
- g gospel and religious
- j jazz
- k country and western, including stations playing polkas
- l Latin/Spanish music, usually with Spanish announcing
- m middle of the road music
- n news
- o oldies rock—stations playing this format exclusively
- p progressive rock
- r rock, including top hits
- s soul/rhythm and blues music, "urban contemporary"
- t talk format

Stations without a program listing usually have a variety format, or may be "construction permits," and not yet on the air. Combinations of letters tell of stations interchanging two types of music, or having a hybrid format, such as "op," which means "classic rock," and "rm" for "adult contemporary."
