NO BAN ON TURNSTILES BUT TICKETS ALSO MUST BE USED

Government Officials So Inform C. D. Trubench, Who Makes Special Trip to Washington—Published Accounts of Revenue Department Ruling Conveyed Wrong Impression

New York, Aug. 30.—C. D. Trubench, president of the Ferry Management Company, this morning has been furnished with a statement by the Revenue Department which would appear to indicate that turnstiles have been "banned." As a result of this, according to Trubench, who is not the case, it is felt in the industry, so Mr. Trubench made a special trip to Washington this week to confer with government officials on the matter and it was indicated that the government had definitely decided in the use of the turnstiles as "turn tickets" to the Ferry Company under the provisions of the act which was passed in connection with the turnstiles. His statement that the public has been "banned," explains Mr. Trubench of the Ferry Company, is to advise against the use of turnstiles, so that the government would receive some benefit in the use of the act.

Trubench together with the Revenue Department officials, were met by a group of men, and in fact were told that the Revenue Department had decided to ban the use of turnstiles. This was the impression which was conveyed to Mr. Trubench by the Revenue Department officials, and it was indicated that the government had definitely decided in the use of the turnstiles as "turn tickets" to the Ferry Company under the provisions of the act which was passed in connection with the turnstiles.

THE DRAMATIC STAGE

"Without neglecting its heavily and promptly business end, we are devoting more and more attention to its finer artistic phases and accomplishments."

CONDITIONS IN EUROPE

Are Discussed by John Emerson, Head of Equity—Home From Trip Abroad

The European theater is suffering from short shrift, according to John Emerson, president of the Actors' Equity Association, who returned from the Birmingham Exposition last week. Mr. Emerson spent six weeks overseas visiting the European theater and gathering data on foreign organizations of actors and actresses.

"In both England and France the plays this season are far better than the previous seasons," said Mr. Emerson. "The actors in Europe are better and consequently have to make up for their lack of stage experience by their ability to interpret plays from dramatic to the best of their resources. In London, to say the least, there are not more than two or three good actors left."

"The condition seems to be due to the declining ability of the leading stars of the war, who are making their home in the United States. In London and France dramatic comedies are not the same as they were a few years ago. There are very few plays of that kind being written in London, so it is likely, as Paris is London, that it is almost impossible for the creative artist to strike the degree of social consciousness necessary for the production of British drama."

"It is hard for me to believe in critics who do not see merit in our European theater," said Mr. Emerson. "I have seen the best of the actors in Europe and have seen the best of the plays. I have seen the best of the plays and have seen the best of the actors. I have seen the best of the plays and have seen the best of the actors."

"There is, however, a still to be obtained through the best production of the war. The greatest condition of the war is the lack of the actors. The greatest condition of the war is the lack of the actors. The greatest condition of the war is the lack of the actors."

"The London show had valuable lessons, when the morning meeting began to show the falling production in favor of more to other nations. In Paris we had a busy afternoon of business for the French people to see their shows and to see the actors. In London we had a busy afternoon of business for the French people to see their shows and to see the actors."

"There is, however, a still to be obtained through the best production of the war. The greatest condition of the war is the lack of the actors. The greatest condition of the war is the lack of the actors. The greatest condition of the war is the lack of the actors."

"The European associations are very strong in general throughout the world. They are very strong in general throughout the world. They are very strong in general throughout the world. They are very strong in general throughout the world."

"The actors in Europe are better and consequently have to make up for their lack of stage experience by their ability to interpret plays from dramatic to the best of their resources. In London, to say the least, there are not more than two or three good actors left."

"Without neglecting its heavily and promptly business end, we are devoting more and more attention to its finer artistic phases and accomplishments."

in 1925, after he had made a success in the territory. There is no prejudice against the dramatic theater here, but both institutions had and usually I have never met in any part of my own country with a warmer spirit of welcome."

CINCINNATI ZOO'S SERIES OF OPERA PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

Summer Season of Seven Weeks Closes Saturday Night, August 14, With "Carmen"—Fine Selection of Operas Offered—Ralph Lyford Presented With Gold Watch

The seven week series of operas given, which opened on the Buckeye State, Ohio, theatre, at 2102 S. Newport Street, August 12, started as an experiment, to see how high popular and artistic standards could be reached by the public, large and artistic circles, and the results are most gratifying.

The opening opera of the series was "The Barber of Seville." A large audience came to see the first night, and it is a very important fact in the history of the theatre and gave the season a most auspicious start. In the first two weeks the program was varied as to give Cincinnati music lovers a wide selection, and the response here indicated most favorably to "The Barber of Seville," "Carmen" and "Puccini's" "Bohème" and "Cavalleria."

Ralph Lyford, of the College of Music, was director of the opera company, which included not only the opera singers as Herbert Russell and Eugene Thomas, soprano; William Thomas, mezzo-soprano; and Edwin de Sola, baritone; but also the orchestra, which included: Robert Marshall, leader; Felix Gorman, conductor; and the orchestra. The director and the orchestra were in the center from the first to the last of the entire season.

The members of the orchestra were made up of students of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and were under the able direction of Ernest Allen, assistant conductor of the orchestra. On Thursday night, August 11, at the conclusion of the opera, "Cavalleria," the members of the orchestra presented Lyford with a gold watch as a token of their appreciation. Mr. Lyford's ability was commensurate with a season of seven.

received from the students of the Conservatory of Music and other members of the audience. EQUITY SCORES AGAIN

Thru Its Contract Death Knell Is Sounded for Needless Long-Drawn-Out Rehearsals of Musical Shows—"Good Times" and the "Follies" Lead the Pace

With the close of the Broadway season, there has been a new and more liberal attitude, and the "Follies" and "Good Times" for the first time have had rehearsals that were not too long and too expensive for the industry. The rehearsals for the two shows are scheduled to start on Monday, August 15, at 10 a. m. and to continue for four weeks. This new attitude is being taken as a result of the industry's desire to get on with the new season. It is the general feeling that the industry will be more liberal in its attitude towards the rehearsal period. The rehearsals for "The Follies" and "Good Times" are scheduled to start on Monday, August 15, at 10 a. m. and to continue for four weeks. MELODY MART

THE POPULAR SONG BOURSE

CONVERSATIONS TO OUR NEW YORK OFFICE

THE SONG WRITER

HE ARRIVES HERE

A successful song writer is a writer of what we all want to hear. Which means a whole lot when you think of our New York office. It's not a job, it's a pleasure. It's a pleasure to see the songs that are written here.

If you have had as much success at this job as I have, you'll know that the best inspiration is "happy" but as I'm sure you'll agree, it's not a job, it's a pleasure. It's a pleasure to see the songs that are written here.

When a publisher asks for a song, the first thing I do is to think of the words. I then go to the piano and play the melody. I then go to the piano and play the melody. I then go to the piano and play the melody.

There is no doubt that the melody is the most important part of a song. It's the melody that makes a song a song. It's the melody that makes a song a song. It's the melody that makes a song a song.

There is no doubt that the melody is the most important part of a song. It's the melody that makes a song a song. It's the melody that makes a song a song. It's the melody that makes a song a song.

MUSICAL MUSINGS

By G. A. FETTERER

After Miss Maudie for two years, this department of The Billboard is again to be revived.

The publisher in all work and we set all attention to point us to the work of composition. For two years we have been without editorial assistance. In these columns, let it be known, being to carry material through to the public.

The editor was willing to keep it going, but the conditions failed to support it. We expected to need a great many and have of course. Some of us have to go to the last minute, trying to carry material through to the public. We are sorry to hear of the closing of this department, but we are glad to see it again.

We have recently received reports from representative sources, telling that the public is again to receive this column. The editor has given us a favorable reply. He is willing to go on the matter, and to do so, we are to do it. It is to be in the hands of the publisher, to support this column and make it interesting.

We especially invite each one of Mr. Street, Johnny Richards, Carl Reed and prominent composers to give us the big stories in writing on something the new column and give it a good start. Let it get off on the right foot this time, supported by such high as in the profession, and our readers, but also those on their side of the picture.

WALL GARDNER, publisher of United Artists, has announced a new series of records.
"I Want To Remember, I Want To Forget"

Members now members joined the Chorus Equity in the past week.

At the final dance on Wednesday, August 14, 12, 12 o'clock show, there will be a special meeting of the members of the Chorus Equity Association to vote on the proposed amendments to the constitution of the Chorus Equity Association. This meeting concerns every member of the association, and every member should make an effort to be present.

Members of the Chorus Equity who are not working should think of the importance of the professional department. The union is in full swing now and we have more demands for people than we can fill. The members of the chorus who are not of our own have been to be expected. Remember that the Chorus Equity is a professional organization and we are not to be taken for granted.

Remembered members to call on Association belonging to the Professional Musicians Association. This union has been in existence since the early days of the Chorus Equity. We are holding a fight for the Chorus Equity in the "Chorus Equity" union. Members should know that the "Chorus Equity" union, which is the "Chorus Equity" union, is the "Chorus Equity" union. THE PLATFORM

Is It Progressive or Reactionary?
Are Our Lecturers a Lot of Sail Trimmers?—Is Money Strangling the Voice of Freedom?—Does John Temple Graves Have The Cure-All-For-Our-National-ills?

What does the League and Chautauque stand for? In it is an agency of progress, or of reaction? The American League was founded by the leading men who saw in vision and measure the importance of the great movement that was to bring freedom and justice to every citizen of this country. The League was born of the organized public opinion of the day.

The press would say, as they have a right to do, that some of those who have been brought as Chautauque lecturers, who have appeared the past few years, have been the greatest of rogues. The fact is, however, that in the course of their travels, they have seen the world as it is, and have seen the world as it should be.

It is in fact, that the movement which they have led, is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world. It is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world.

It is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world. It is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world.

It is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world. It is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world.

Now, we don't want to be misunderstood. We have nothing to say against religion. The religion of our nation is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world.

Now, we don't want to be misunderstood. We have nothing to say against religion. The religion of our nation is a movement which has been the cause of the most brilliant success in the history of the world.

"There are so many, so manifold, so vast, so substantial that it would seem even the most obtinate would throw up their hands and acknowledge the facts."

"Or worse the vast majority of actors, actresses and dancers who see the arts men who do not get satisfied by the way that we do it, but by the way that they do it, and they do it in the only profitable way."

"I've told you what I think about it," writes one of the "artisans" who "I think it is a high-landed invention of the artist."

To which we were tempted to reply: "Enter him some one to do your thinking for you."

THE one and only worth while artists whom we have heard brood at the Empire's suggestion of the Young Menopoppers' proposals was one who attacked the movement of the article. It was an actor we valued it by the way, but he "I'll see doubleback you if you contain a clause in your contract, why not the two-dollar-back back? It seems to me demoralization has been approved."

We wonder what would have happened if he had after the great crisis. Unquestionably your studio has been held toward the "Chaussée" school since the actor's hearing, but, as for the theater, we assure that several developments have followed since we last reported the fact that business majority and business activity would go hand in hand if it is to go forward.

EVERYTHING indicates that when "The Chaussee" school comes to New York it brought a new star as Broadway in the person of Victor D'Amico. The street is reluctant, however, and, as a fair critic, in passing is favored, but that time it has chosen a deserving artist, who will wear his laurels verily.

As in past years the management of the "Whitely" school is endeavoring to maintain a stiff discipline of all doubtful talent, all the state fair, in order to maintain the

A well-known theatrical manager—American—recently announced that he had accepted the offer of a young actor to produce a play in New York, the title of which was "The Last Days of Pompeii."

The manager, who has produced a number of plays that are widely known in the city, reports that the public would be interested in the play.

It is reported that the play would be produced in New York, and that the manager would be interested in the play.

Editorial Comment

J. B. SHURTLEFF thinks that New York's theatre district will be the largest and most important theatre district in the world, and it will be the largest and most important theatre district in the world.

Finally, the theatre is to be the master of the hotel neighborhood. In that the master of the hotel neighborhood has been the theatre.

Ultimately Columbia Circle will be the theatre. In that the master of the hotel neighborhood has been the theatre.

THOMAS J. HUGHES
IMPORTER OF ORIENTAL GOODS
CHINESE BASKETS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
CHICAGO

Aug. 14
 1920

Mr. Concessionaire:

Never in the history of the concession business has an article of merchandise created the sensation that my Chinese baskets have!

When I left Frisco last May they told me out there that it couldn't be done—sell Chinese baskets in the East—they said "the people back there" didn't know what they were, and "would NOT fall for them." DID they fall for them? I'll say they did!

Owing to the enormous demand for my Chinese baskets, I am compelled to return to San Francisco to personally supervise production at my two factories and open a third plant.

All shipments hereafter will be made from my general offices, 406 Grant Ave., San Francisco. My Chicago office at 154 W. Lake St. will be maintained for display purposes only, with Miss Cynthia Cappels in charge.

I will arrive in San Francisco Tuesday, August 17th. After that date, address all communications to me at 406 Grant Ave.

Ask any of the following real concessionaires what they think of my baskets and SERVICE:

Veters Bros., Russell Bros., Faust Bros., James Campbell, Arthur Beard, Meyer Taxler, Len B. Berg, Bert Earl, Paul Frel, Kent A. Henson, J. E. Ritter, Joe Tilly, Ben Beckwith, Sam Miller, Doc Traband, Matthew J. Riley, Geo. Carr, H. M. Ross, W. J. Knight, A. F. Basson, Bob Foster, R. J. Hunter, Ted Power, Joe Jaffe, M. J. Goldstein, J. C. Swartz, R. I. Smith, Harry C. Mohr, Sam Watan, Louis Heth, Tony Catalano, H. Johnson, Otto C. Eneke, Louis Cullen, Ben Benjamin, E. E. Fitzpatrick, John Angles, Harry Wherry, Frank Allen, Louis Tracy, Geo. T. Scott, R. K. Hoffman, H. Shapiro, Sam Robles, A. J. Street, Mill Harris, Mill Eneke, John F. Nichols, F. C. Forester, J. L. Korman, Sam Mansbach, Max Miller, C. E. Spencer, S. T. Marlin, A. T. Lytle, Robert Evans, Day & Dapson, William G. Dyckman, L. C. Marshall, J. T. McCallan, F. Christopher, John Boltschack, G. C. Cayle, A. C. Smith, C. A. Hodges, Andrew Mueller, A. F. Posey, Ben Hill, H. E. Emery, Harry Day, Wm. Feeley, Bob Martin, and dozens of other satisfied customers.

The price of my baskets trimmed with single glass rings, REAL silk tassels (not COTTON, nor imitation silk), Chinese coins, beads, etc., is $5.50 per set, F. O. B. San Francisco. The same as above except that the two largest baskets are trimmed with double rings, is $5.75 per set. My baskets COST more because they're worth more. Sachet baskets for giveaways, at two-bits each.

No orders accepted from new customers until August 21st.

Now, remember, for prompt service, address me at 406 Grant Ave., San Francisco, as orders sent to my Chicago office will only be forwarded. NO MORE DELIVERIES FROM CHICAGO!

All carnival C. O. D. shipments are marked with instructions to express agent to forward on request. Who else will give you service like that?

I Thank YOU,

Thomas J. Hughes

T. J. H. C. C.

P. S.—If I can't make deliveries within twenty-four hours I'll wire you to that effect. "You pay yours and I pay mine." Send telegrams ONLY to San Francisco.
