INSIDE TOP 40 WITH DAVE SHOLIN

Relative unknown JOHN PARR does the nearly impossible, getting a number one song and far surpassing the popularity of the movie from which it comes. DIRE STRAITS may well have a number one hit on their hands, increasing in Hit Factor 76% to 93%...jumps of 5 or more at B104-Baltimore, WTIC-Hartford, WBEN-Buffalo, WIBW-Topeka, WZOK-Rockford, KPKE-Denver, KLUC-Las Vegas, KWSS-San Jose, etc.

A-HA is one of those that has earned the corner and is pretty well closed as far as airplay's concerned. Not many holdouts left, as early believers like WLS, WSPT, WLLI, WHNY, WBBQ, WKQB, 106X, KMEL, KIIS/FM, OK95 chart it top 10. COUGAR is having no problems whatsoever gettin' on and movin' up as last week's Hit Factor debut of 5% becomes 29% with at least that big of a jump expected next week. And let's not forget READY FOR THE WORLD who picked up another 40 adds, including Z100-New York, WBCY-Charlotte, PRO/FM-Providence, WBAM & WHHY-Montgomery, KKYK-Little Rock, WLS-Chicago, WZUU-Milwaukee, KREO-Santa Rosa, and KKXX-Bakersfield. You'll be hard pressed to find a hotter record on the street than this one!

Should mention the Northwest activity on a record by NUSHOOZ "I Can't Wait"...number one at KYNG, KYES, KTMT, KHSN, KGAL, and KACI. Also top ten at KNPA-Boise. KKYS-Bryan adds it and will be the first test outside the region. SCRITTI POLITTI is another Northwest breakout, climbing 32-28 at KUBE, 26-18 KHSN, KACI 25-20, KGAL 30-28, plus a debut at #22 for KMEL-San Francisco. Added at I-95. Strong requests reported in most areas. Enjoy the holiday. The Gavin Report will be open for your calls Tuesday, September 3rd.

THE ABSOLUTELY POSITIVELY FINAL WORDS YOU WILL READ ABOUT MADONNA'S WEDDING

In a recent Gavin Report we revealed exclusively that THE WEDDING would be held at the Victorian mansion owned by Mr. & Mrs. Sholeman Sholin in San Francisco. Unfortunately a last minute change was necessitated when the Sholin's realized that they had made an earlier contract with the producers of Jane Fonda's Workout Tape; The Sequel, for the use of their showplace as a filming location. That was the reason for the switch in venue to the bluff overlooking Malibu Beach. We apologize to all of you paparrazzi and fans who camped out at Sholin's place.

We, as invited guests, did attend the festivities and are happy to file this report.

As per instruction on our hand-delivered fuschia invites, we dressed for the occasion. Both my wife and I wore hot pink bare-midriff nighties, with black silk brassieres on the outside to protect against the cool ocean breezes.

We arrived in one of my snazziest cars ... the unwashed '81 Cutlass with primer in seven spots and badly dented front end. Security was tight, as six tight security guys greeted us at the gate. They were all amused at our deliberate display of non-opulence and waved us in right behind Bo Diddley's limo. Bo and his wife greeted us warmly as we de-carred and we joined the Diddley's in a lovely stroll up a decorated primrose path.

Nervously waiting for the outdoor ceremony to commence, we mingled with old friends such as Twisted Sister and Secretary of State George Schultz. Schultz and Twisted chatted amiably over pre-wedding generic champagne and the atmosphere was expectant. When The Reverend Augie Blume strolled out in his purple robe, we knew that zero hour was approaching.

The service was exquisite, and a tear came to Sean's eye as Augie recited the vows, along with an inspirational reading of a poem by Matty Singer. Best man Howard Jones and Matron of Honor Erma Bombeck framed the joyous couple as they pledged their love, and the gentle strains of Parliament's "Blow The Roof Off The Sucker" wafted through the night air on the post-service walk up the aisle.

It was now time to let the party begin ...

and let me tell you it was all stops out! Not a peso was spared as lingerie clad waiters passed tasty little canapes. We feasted on peanut butter and tuna on poundcake, compact discs topped with Velveeta, and sushi bathed in Hunt's tomato puree ... all of this before being seated for the formal dinner of braised ear of pigeon and common garden weed salad. The vintage 1985 Ripple flowed freely and we all enjoyed convivial repartee with our table mates. My wife and I were seated between Mr. & Mrs. Leslie Gore and Night Ranger, a witty group of celebrants, if there ever was one. After A&P brand liqueurs and Ho-Hos, we all settled in for the after dinner performance. Joe Smith opened by roasting the newlyweds and although the ex-Elektra chairman used material from an old Russ Regan dinner, we roared with laughter on the chance that he might return to the industry.

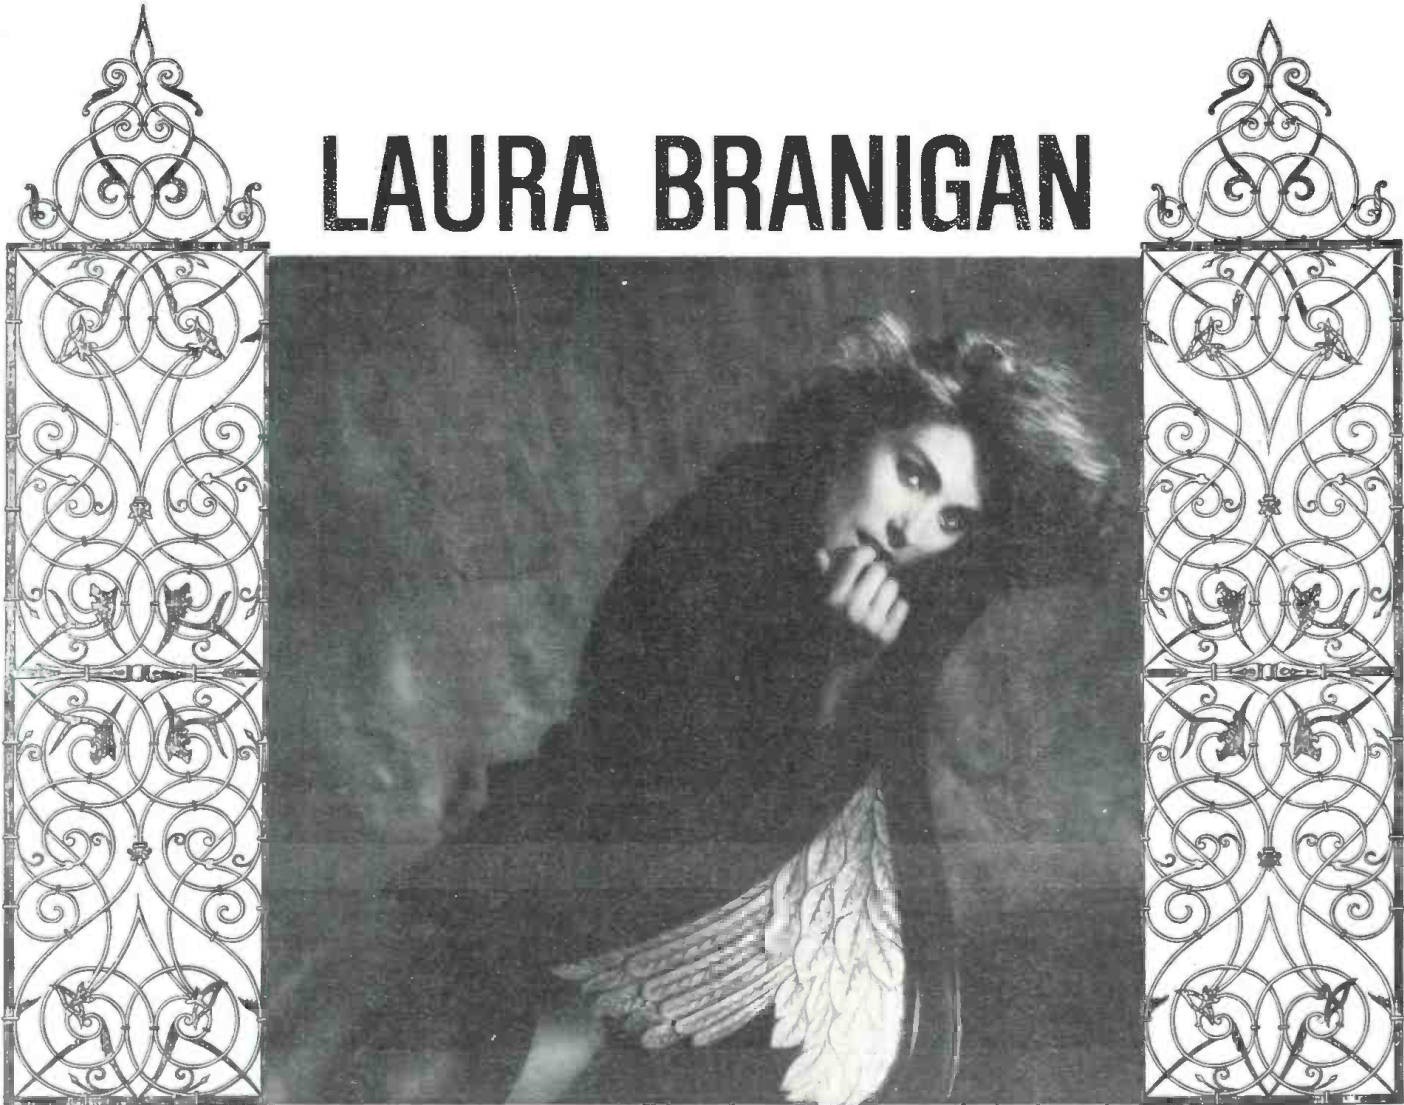

USA For Africa then entertained and the guests agreed that USA had never sounded more inspired. Bowie and Jagger closed the show in a stirring update of "Big Girls Don't Cry" and the guests filed out in a euphoric state.

Madonna and Sean were whisked-off in a Music Express Pinto to their honeymoon in Yankton and all of us agreed that not since the Ernie Borgnine-Ethel Merman nuptials had we shared in an evening like this.

Just thought you'd like to know. ♦

LAURA BRANIGAN

GETTING SELF CONTROL

by Ron Fell

Laura Branigan has released four albums and more than a handful of hit singles in her four short years since she began her recording career. She grew up in Brewster, New York and studied acting at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City before getting a showcase spot at the Manhattan nightclub, Reno Sweeney's. With her new single "Spanish Eddie" climbing the Top-40 and Adult Contemporary charts, we talked to her about her still-blossoming career.

RON FELL: I was surprised to learn that you actually intended to pursue an acting career before you discovered your talent for singing.

LAURA BRANIGAN: Well, when I was young I never thought of performing of any kind because I was very, very shy. I mean intensely shy. But during my senior year of high school, my music director pushed me into auditioning for a school musical. I got the lead and I soon realized that this was a way for me to express myself. I wasn't yet aware of my voice at that point, but I went out and started auditioning for things and my voice sort of took over.

RF: Both acting and singing require some sort of character assumption. Do you find yourself comfortable in assuming a role and does your acting experience make all of that easier?

LB: Yes. You know, it's funny. With acting and a script there's a character that you draw from and your past experiences can help to create the correct emotion. But with singing it's a little different. It's me up there and I experience exactly what I'm singing. I'm not creating a character. I'm just being myself. I have to be vulnerable to those roles and situations. I have to feel completely myself so that the audience can feel what I'm feeling.

RF: I've often wondered how an artist, performing live, can get into a mood with seven thousand people staring at the him or her.

LB: But you know, quite often that's what creates the mood. And for me it's instinctive. I don't think about that. The audience actually helps me. The audience in San Francisco recently was great. I felt they were with me. So it gives me that much more freedom or confidence.

RF: Have you ever had the experience of not having the audience with you? Is it like trying to pull teeth sometimes?

LB: Yes. Though so far I've always managed to have them by the end of the show and then they'll put up with anything, but there are some audiences that are just more reserved. They're not used to my kind of music. It's tough and there's no guarantee. You have to work them. I can't let it make me panic. I'll take my time and whip them into shape (laughs).

RF: I guess there's a big difference between playing resorts like Tahoe, Vegas or Atlantic City and being on a concert tour of "normal cities."

LB: Yeah! I'll tell you, Tahoe and Vegas have a different kind of crowd. They're there to have cocktails, dinner and a show. That kind of set-up is not always conducive for most performers. Because in my kind of show the audience has to move, to clap and people don't have that kind of freedom when they're all dressed up and have a cocktail in front of them.

RF: How did you get discovered?

LB: I was auditioning for every record company in the business. And they all said, "No." They said, "You don't sound like anyone. You don't fit in. You're not happening." Now I knew I had a real singer's voice, so it was a little disillusioning. But I kept going. But finally Ahmet Ertegun and Doug Morris heard about me and came to see me perform. They liked what they heard and signed me. And they've stayed right beside me. My company (Atlantic Records) is like family to me.

RF: It's rare for any artist to have the kind of real commitment which you're getting from "the top." People in their positions can be rather cold and calculating, not to mention indifferent to their own artists. How long did it take, once you signed with Atlantic, to get the hit record you needed?

LB: Well, Doug Morris put me together with Jack White, my producer. Jack's from Germany. And Jack brought me "Gloria." He knew about European songs. "Gloria" had been a hit by Umberto Tozzi three years before I recorded it. When I heard Umberto's version, even though I knew it was European sounding, I knew it had something. But we had to give it a real American kick. So we kicked it and it went.

RF: And your life changed for good at that point.

LB: Yeah. I said, "Finally I've got the catalyst I need."

RF: You've had success with more than one adaptation of a foreign language song.

LB: Well, "Solitaire" is French. I heard it while I was in touring Germany promoting "Gloria." And "Forever Young," which is on my new album, I heard the last time I was in Germany.

RF: That's a song from the first Alphaville album, right?

LB: Yes. And of course "Ti Amo" is Italian. "Lucky One" is American. But "How Am I Supposed to Live Without You" was my first hit that was 100% American.

RF: Didn't you also record commercials for Dr. Pepper and Coca Cola?

LB: Yeah. I forgot that I did the Dr. Pepper one.

RF: No conflict of interest thing there?

Working for two different beverage companies? Did you tell the Coke people about the Dr. Pepper thing?

LB: No.

RF: They might have cut you off at the

"When you first start out you really have to hustle and go where they bully you into going."

pass. Your current tour is sponsored by Chrysler.

LB: Yes.

RF: Is it becoming a necessity for artists to have tour sponsorship?

LB: It sure helps, I'll tell you that. Touring has gotten very, very expensive. This year I wanted to step up my tour. I have a production company putting it together with my tour manager, Chris Lamb.

They're really top-notch. We decided we needed to really up-grade—getting the right sets, lights and sound. So it helps to have someone like Chrysler for support.

RF: I guess it was either sponsorship or passing along the additional costs to the ticket purchaser. Even with support your tickets are running around $15 in some venues.

LB: Yeah.

RF: Do you find that being a woman on the road is particularly tough?

LB: It's actually more fun because there are a lot of men (laughs).

RF: You don't even have many women in your entourage.

LB: Just two. I have an assistant who is also my best friend, Naomi Weitzner. Also,

Anna Chu, who's also a good friend of mine. She's Italian and always good for a laugh.

RF: I couldn't help but notice that when I saw you perform recently you had put a lot of choreography into your show.

LB: I've been working with Brian Jeffries. He really put it together.

RF: Even your costuming and stage presence is more outrageous than in the past.

LB: Ah-ha!

RF: It seems as though costumes play a bigger role in female stage performance than with male counterparts.

LB: You're right. I just recently came to that opinion myself. In real life I'm really a casual dresser. I wear sweatpants and hightops, baggy sweaters and things. That's the way I love to live, so I didn't realize costumes were such an important part of it. But it is. Anna and I have really started working on things. We've developed different styles for me and we're looking for what is comfortable and still stylish.

RF: I thought I saw a navel on your recent Solid Gold appearance.

LB: You did? (Laughs)

RF: As navels go, it wasn't bad (laughs). It's amazing how men seem to be able to get away with just being comfortably clothed (T-shirts and jeans), while women have to go to great lengths and imagination.

LB: But look at Rod Stewart and Mick Jagger. Some of the biggest male singers fret a lot about what to wear. They're not stupid.

RF: You're pretty damn attractive. I can't imagine you have to do much to draw attention to yourself. Anyway... what's next for you? More touring and recording?

LB: We've been out on the road for more than two months now, so we're taking a three week break. Then we go back out at the end of September and do New York in October. I'd like to tour through the middle of November.

RF: Artists seem to get in endless cycles of recording, promoting and touring.

LB: In the first two and a half years I went without a break. By the end of last year's tour I was exhausted. I was spent. But after recording the new album, "Hold Me," I had some time off before the tour began.

And the way it (the tour) is put together now, it's so much easier for me. I don't have to worry about a thing. Chris takes care of everything. Also, I'm in more control now. I can say, "Hold it. I need time off." Whereas, when you're first starting off, you really have to hustle and go where they bully you into going.

RF: Do you suppose you'll go full cycle by pursuing your first aspiration as an actress?

LB: Yes. I have a movie scheduled. I think we'll start shooting in January. I've got the lead in a new Australian film being put together by the same people who did Breaker Morant. ■

A/C ANALYSIS

I wasn't trying to push BILLY JOEL from the top in last week's analysis. It just read that way. He apparently got a "second wind" and stayed alive for another week. "Hit Factor" tells the story. The really big stories this week are as follows:

WHITNEY HOUSTON - Three weeks on the chart and she's already at #7 with an 87% "Hit Factor" and she's cleared the 200 station mark in both A/C and Top 40!

STEVIE WONDER - An incredible 108 adds in his first week. I think only WE ARE THE WORLD (with 153 in the first week) has shown better. A debut in the middle of the chart is more than likely.

Other A/C news and notes: AMY GRANT'S second coming, WISE UP, gets a "Certified", with 107 stations and 25 adds including: WKYX, KROC, KWEB, WDBQ, WJON, WDND, WFPS, WIOU, WMGN, WMRN, KCLV, KGRO, KHBQ, KQIP, KBOI, and ten Northwest stations. DAVID FOSTER, the other half of the FOSTER/GRANT "Certified", has an 89 with 25 profile, yet a slight "Hit Factor" lead over the GRANT of 43% to 39%.

On June 21st I recommended the CARRIE LUCAS/WHISPERS re-make of HELLO STRANGER. Now it's "Chartbound" and "Record To Watch"

REMINDER: The Gavin Report is closed on Labor Day, Monday September 2nd but we'll take A/C reports Tuesday from 7:30AM Pacific time until 6PM Pacific. If you're freezing your playlist please let us know. THANKS!!

RECOMMENDED FOR A/C RADIO

GINO VANNELLI - "Hurts To Be In Love" (CBS Associated) One of the finest ballads written in this or any year. All the various harmonics and the pressing's natural fidelity make for a totally appropriate A/C entry.

GLENN FREY - "You Belong To The City" (MCA) From the anxiously anticipated soundtrack to the "Miami Vice" TV show, the song puts a high profile performer with one of the most watched shows in America. Can't miss!!

BLACK TIE - "If You Gotta Make A Fool Of Somebody" (Bench) The answer to your first question is: James Ray in the winter of 1961-62 on Caprice Records. This updated version of Ray's song is not likely to make fools of programmers who hear it.

Hit Factor is a percentage of stations which have it in Heavy or Medium rotation. ie: 100 stations playing the record-60 stations have it in Heavy or Medium rotation-Hit Factor = 60%

BIO FEEDBACK

MIAMI VICE

There's a new Miami Vice Soundtrack album coming out, featuring new songs from Grandmaster Melle Mel, Glenn Frey and Jan Hammer. Also, Tina Turner and Phil Collins' contributions from last season's shows are featured.

OINGO BOINGO

The band originally started out as a musical theatrical troupe called The Mystic Knights Of The Oingo Boingo.

KATE BUSH

Her first album, "The Kick Inside," was released in 1978. Her latest LP, "Hounds of Love" is her fifth LP.

ROB TRO

He's set to play a bartender in the September 4th edition of the CBS soap "The Young And The Restless."

ROLLING STONES

Look for quite a bit of variety on their next LP. So far the word is that Jimmy Page, Bobby Womack, Tom Waits and Jimmy Cliff have participated in the recording.

STEWART COPELAND

After a stint doing a movie soundtrack (Francis Coppola's "Rumblefish"), the former Police drummer has composed the theme of a new CBS television show, "The Equalizer."

GREGG ROLIE

He was a founding member of both Santana and Journey.

GODLEY/CREME

While performing as a part of 10cc, they recorded two LP's with Neil Sedaka ("Solitaire" and the "Tra La Days Are Over") in 1971 and 1972.

PATSY CLINE

A movie based on the life of Patsy Cline will be released in late September. It will be titled "Sweet Dreams" and stars Jessica Lange.

WILLIE NELSON

He will soon be releasing an album called "Half Nelson" which is a compilation of Nelson duets—including a previously unreleased duet with Hank Williams Sr.

THOMAS DOLBY

In between his own albums, Thomas Dolby has produced records for Prefab Sprout and Joni Mitchell.

SCRITTI POLITTI

This trio is comprised of singer Green Gartside from Wales, and two New Yorkers, drummer Fred Maher and keyboardist David Gramson.

CLIFF RICHARD

He's working on a stage show in London's Theater district with Dave Clark. (Yes, originally from the Dave Clark Five).

LOVERBOY

By the time their debut LP caught attention in the U.S. in 1981, it was triple platinum in Canada.

ARMOURY SHOW

The members of this progressive aggregation previously played with The Skids (Stuart Adamson's band before Big Country), Magazine, Visage and Siouxsie and The Banshees.

MARILLION

The band formed in 1978, got their name from a Tolkein novel, Silmarillion. Their lead singer calls himself Fish.

PRINCE

In the latest Rolling Stone Interview, Prince admits his main guitar influence to be Carlos Santana rather than Jimi Hendrix.

EURYTHMICS

Annie Lennox says their name came from a dance movement called eurhythmics which means "movement to a pleasant rhythm."

JIMMY CLIFF

Jimmy Cliff, well known for his movie debut in The Harder They Come in 1972, is back under the lights making a movie with Robin Williams.

MICHAEL FRANKS

Michael Franks released his very first LP on Brut Records, the label launched by the cologne company.

John Parr: St. Elmo's Fireman

by Ron Fell

An Englishman with many years of rock 'n' roll in his blood, John Parr debuted on American playlists last year with the single NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY, but the BIG BREAK came earlier this year when he and David Foster teamed up to release the title track from the hit movie, "St. Elmo's Fire".

As his hit single makes its way to the top of the chart, we talked with him about his new-found success.

RF: What was your background prior to your solo career?

JP: I'd been with club bands for many years. I've done everything from rock 'n' roll through cabaret. You name it.

RF: But you are not a kid.

JP: No, I'm thirty years old.

RF: Thirty?

JP: Yeah. I was out there for ages. From twelve years old I was out there.

RF: And was this while you were trying to go to school or were you one of those that was so committed to the art form that you dropped out?

JP: Well, I left school at fifteen. I worked in a factory. But I was still playing in bands. I really turned professional at nineteen.

RF: What kind of music were you playing at nineteen?

JP: A mixture of ... well, basically hits. English hits and American things.

RF: Who would you consider to have been your influences when you were getting started?

I'm one of those people who doesn't believe absolutely that Britain leads the way musically.

JP: The Beatles and Elvis and Cliff Richard were the influences that got me to start playing.

RF: Would you say if you went back and listened to tapes that might have been made during that era that you sounded more like one of those then any of the others?

JP: I think we probably sounded like a cross between The Monkees and The Beatles if you could imagine that.

RF: I think there was a similarity there anyway. Did any of the mates you were playing with then go on to brilliant solo careers?

JP: Ummm ... I couldn't say people I was playing with, but I think people who saw me perform. You see, in Northern England, although I never made it on a national scale, there were a lot of bands that later went on to make it who used to come and watch me play. Bands like Saxon, would come and watch my band play. Let me think ... Def Leppard, Human League, ABC, people like that. They were lesser bands in Northern England when we were kind of a top band.

RF: I got the feeling in reading your biographical material that you were doing more of an American rock 'n' roll sound than English.

JP: Right.

RF: Did you ever get the feeling that you were swimming upstream in your home country?

JP: I always had that feeling. In the end I became obsessed with not changing my style just to suit Britain. As soon as the punk thing started in Britain, that was it for me. I just closed the door on 90% of the British music. I mean, I only really considered people like Elton John and The Police and Phil Collins, the executive level of the British music scene. I'm one of those people who doesn't believe absolutely that Britain leads the way, musically.

RF: If I'm not mistaken your records are not available domestically in England, is that the case?

JP: Not until next week.

RF: Next week. You'll finally crack it.

JP: (laughs) That's right.

RF: How do you think you'll be accepted?

JP: Well, I'm pleased it's going to be "St. Elmo's" to launch it. 'Cause that song might just translate a little better. Then I think it would be a little easier for me to follow with some of the album stuff.

RF: In all of this time you spent in the wings, didn't you also do some writing which was adapted for people like Roger Daltrey and Meatloaf?

JP: Yeah. I quit playing live in 1980 and concentrated on getting my act together in the studio—writing and recording. My first big break came about in '82 when Meatloaf called up and said he split with Steinman and felt that I would be able to write some stuff for him. He'd heard some of my demos and I wrote a lot of stuff for his album. And then the Roger Daltrey thing was something that came quite recently. In fact, we only just finished the track I did for Daltrey and that's going to be out soon.

RF: Did you participate with Daltrey in the recording process as well?

JP: Ummm . . . I went in and helped the producer. He liked me there as kind of an unofficial executive producer on that one single.

RF: Supervising your own work in other words.

JP: Basically, yeah. And I went in and I sang back-up as well; I'd had a few ideas on what the background should be doing.

RF: Do you find that you and Daltrey have similar ideas? Is there a particular chemistry that appears to work for the two of you?

JP: I think it's that real-balls-to-the-wall approach that Daltrey has. I think I hopefully have some of that. I mean obviously somewhere in my past Roger Daltrey has probably inspired me, although I was never really into the Who very much.

RF: In launching your solo career, not only did you have good music but another major factor in the success of your hit single, "Naughty, Naughty," was the video, which was on the risqué side to say the least.

JP: Right

RF: Did the video turn out the way you intended it or was it someone leading you around by the nose saying, "We've got to do this, this and this in order to have a hit"?

JP: Well, no. In fact my manager and I wrote the screenplay to "Naughty Naughty." The director flew in and we discussed everything we were going to shoot. Then, we went to San Francisco and I was very disappointed on two fronts. The girls they put in the video weren't the kind of girls I wanted in the video because I'm real funny about video girls for a start. The second thing was: it was meant to be a bit funnier than it was. The kind of risqué things I really covered my back on. For instance, where I walk on the girl's stockings with my fingers, that was supposed to be at that point, her stockings turning into the yellow pages.

RF: (laughter)

JP: Let your fingers do the walking. The director had these tights printed up but then didn't use them. He just used yellow tights which I didn't think were either sexy or funny. The other thing was the bedroom scene where I get attacked by the girls. That was supposed to be a whole lot funnier. That was supposed to be kind of a Benny Hill chase scene with priests and nuns running after me. But the back of their habits were suspenders and bras and stockings cut in half. Those two elements missing left me wide open for some pretty heavy-weight criticism. In fact, there was a couple of national T.V. debates about violence and sex in videos with "Naughty, Naughty" featured quite prominently in both of those.

RF: Is there any summary statement you wish to make for people who may have taken your video in the wrong vein?

JP: Only that I always intended it to be funny. I never take myself very seriously on video. As long as they made me look as good as possible. I think people should realize it's really fun. You know, I mean "St. Elmo's" was a little more from the heart and I had very little input in that video. The "Magical" video and the "Naughty, Naughty" video were very much tongue-in-cheek.

RF: With your big hit from "St. Elmo's Fire"—was this a song that was tailored for the movie or was this something that you had a concept in mind and it happened to match with the music? How did the movie and John Parr come together?

JP: Well, that was David Foster and he heard "Naughty, Naughty" and he apparently had wanted to work with me and "St. Elmo's Fire" was the vehicle we were able to collaborate with. I just finished my tour and flew out to LA. I was really emotionally charged, having been on the road for about seven or eight weeks and I felt there was a great song in there. I met the director of the film and he told me the outline of it. We started doing the music. The song was actually written and recorded from Friday afternoon to Saturday evening. The real key to it was that David told me of a guy from Canada called Rick Hanson who was going around the world in a racing wheelchair. He was crippled early in his life and had this one goal he wanted to achieve. It was to ride around the world. It was taking him eighteen months. I was so inspired by this fellow that the "Man In Motion" thing came into the song. That's what really inspired the lyric.

RF: That guy's still going around the world?

JP: Yeah, in Paris now. But he's going to finish at the World's Fair in '86.

RF: Which direction is he headed?

JP: Well, he worked from the States. Now he's in Paris. He must be going right through Europe and right around.

RF: Have you met him?

JP: No, only spoke to him over the phone.

RF: And does he know of your inspiration?

JP: Yes, oh yes.

RF: Do you see any parallel between the theme of "St. Elmo's Fire" and you as an individual? The fact that "St. Elmo's Fire" dealt with freshmen in a new world and maybe you coming out into a new world being your own solo artist now?

JP: To be honest, I saw the movie for the first time yesterday. I quite liked it. I thought there were some wonderful moments in it. But I couldn't really align myself with any of the film, I must admit.

RF: It's an American film. Did that have something to do with it?

JP: I think so. I think it's to do with a certain camaraderie. You see, having never gone through the University scene myself, my only camaraderie was really with people in bands. So, I suppose I can identify from that point of view.

RF: What can we expect from you in the future with the "St. Elmo's Fire" project nearing its peak?

JP: We're going to pull another song off the John Parr album and we're going to go out and tour with Tina Turner, hopefully. That starts September the fourth.

RF: So you're replacing Glenn Frey?

JP: Yeah, Glenn finishes the beginning of September.

RF: Anything you want to say to our radio readers?

JP: I know it sounds schmaltzy but, my eternal gratitude to American radio for making it happen. My career got off to a great start but it nearly faltered many times with that one record. A lot of people in radio really pushed for me, you know, and I will never forget it. It's something that always surprises me; even on this trip I've noticed people are surprised now that I've got a hit, that I still go back and see them. It's something I always think that I will always try and do. I think that's what it is really about.

RF: You're not the first person I've talked to that happens to be of a foreign persuasion who's had their first success in the States, and I guess if you're going to happen somewhere first, this the best place to have it happen.

JP: That's right.

All of us at The Gavin Report were saddened to learn of the recent death of veteran promotion man and long time friend of The Gavin Report, Ben Rosner. Ben died of a heart attack on Thursday, August 15th. A gathering of friends was held at Gallagher's in New York City. Ben was the most regular of regulars at that famous watering hole. Many of his radio and record company friends were in attendance. Ben Rosner will be sorely missed.

JOHN MELLENCAMP

BOWIE/JAGGER

LOVERBOY

ARMOURY SHOW

KATE BUSH

These records define the Album radio and Alternative radio formats this week.

Scarecrow—John Mellencamp (Riva)

JOHN MELLENCAMP uses his status as an automatic artist to make a few serious statements. Since hitting the bigtime, MELLENCAMP is revelling (like SPRINGSTEEN) in the recently adopted "high" of being All American and ordinary. Using the rural Great American culture as a creative well sure isn't a new phenomenon to rock 'n' roll. ROBBIE ROBERTSON, though much more poetic and skilled, was the pioneer in this line of rock 'n' roll. DYLAN, PETTY, SPRINGSTEEN, JONI MITCHELL, NEIL DIAMOND, and THE EAGLES also etched strong classic American statements much the same way. To immediately place JOHN MELLENCAMP alongside such a distinguished line-up isn't automatically an easy thing to do.

Though his writing is sincere and proficient, only time can award such a distinction. Yet, by cracking the tight barriers of today's Album and Top Forty radio, he's accomplished a great deal with this new album, an entirely satisfying, nasty piece of work. Fighting off the techno tide with standard weaponry is indeed a stunning achievement of the 80's, as is the process that MELLENCAMP and DON GEHMAN employ making instantaneous and honest music. P.S. JCM: We haven't forgotten JOHNNY ROTTEN. We hear his influence every week, even in your music. Small Town/Lonely Ol' Night/Justice And Independence '85/Rumbleseat /R.O.C.K In The USA.

Miami Vice — (MCA)

Speaking of America, how about a little TV? MIAMI VICE is shaping up to be one of the biggest cross-medium phenomenon of the year. Rock 'n' roll has been fuel for the show's success. Now it's time to turn the tables. In the weeks to come, rock 'n' roll radio will benefit from the association this music has on millions of fanatic viewers. So far, we have JAN HAMMER's theme and GLENN FREY's new single, "You Belong To The City". An LP imminently waits in the wings.

Lovin' Every Minute Of It—Loverboy (Col)

If you and your listeners' world is girls and cars, LOVERBOY wants to enlist you into their "denim brigade". Amazingly, the material on LOVIN' EVERY MINUTE OF IT, though pretty much your basic straight-ahead rock, was compiled by a maze of twelve different collaborators, with up to five or six writers hashing out one four chord cruncher. LOVERBOY has seemingly patterned this LP closely to the format of, say, FOREIGNER's last two LPs--that is, layered vocals that outweigh the guitars just enuf, periodic pitstops into balladom, plus an expensive grasp on studio technology. The single has already taken off further than even their harshest critics care to admit. Lead A Double Life/Lovin' Every Minute Of It/Steal The Thunder.

Mondo Rock (Columbia)

Don't let MONDO ROCK's compilation slide by without a listen. Some of you may have unknowingly heard songwriter ERIC McCUSKER's work when RICK SPRINGFIELD deftly covered "State Of The Heart", in SPRINGFIELD's words, "practically the national anthem of Australia". This particular package spans three years of MONDO ROCK's Aussie legacy. A good starting point is "Come Said The Boy", a poignant rock/pop song that also happens to be the opener. Whaddaya think?

"After The Fire"—Roger Daltrey (Atlantic)

Not only are ROGER and PETE singing together again, but DOM DeLUISE is immortalized by the pen of PETE TOWNSHEND. On some of the best of THE WHO, DALTREY was often the perfect foil, projecting TOWNSHEND's gutwrenching verses of self doubt. Hearing them share a phrase again after all the tension is nice, since most of the classic WHO material has been burnt to an unrecognizable lump of cinder.

MY 2¢

Absolute favorable response to the brand new JOHN MELLENCAMP LP. That's this week's lead story. After quite a few diligent listens, I'm convinced that it's his best since the first LP on Riva. UH-HUH was not bad, either. Lots of play on a myriad of cuts. I couldn't dig the opening track, however. It's a little too dramatic for my blood. But by side two, things loosen up and the point comes across. Only question is, how long is "that doll from LA" gonna stand being in Indiana?...Speaking of isolated rock stars, did you read the PRINCE interview in ROLLING STONE? A fine piece, the kind of story writers KILL for...LOVERBOY came on extremely hot...MARILLION is lookin' like it's QUITE for real. 33-25-15 ain't nothing to sneeze at...and another song shaping up as an Album Radio hit (exclusively) is MR. MISTER going 40-29-21. Not bad, either...EDDIE & THE TIDE had a strong week as well. It moves 31-24. We'll be watching that one... Out-of-the-box raves about the new STARSHIP. Surprisingly, most of you who I spoke to had very little trouble dropping JEFFERSON from the name. Yet most have posted

I hate to spoil the big surprise, but that's the name of a fine LA band formerly the PLUGZ soon to be released on ARISTA. Remember the shivers you felt when you first heard JULIAN LENNON sing "Vallotte"? Here's a record that'll do the same. It's by a band called the MELODY MAKERS. Singer ZIGGY MARLEY sounds just like his late father, BOB. The rest of the band is more of BOB's offspring. Backing by the WAILERS... Tickets for BRUCE in LA has reached ridiculous measures. So reports JIM NELSON at KLOS. To buy up, you not only get a number, but a bracelet and a hand stamp wit your number. Why not make everyor go down to the bus station and get it tattooed? ALTERNATIVE ACTION

Since June 28th, REM have reigned as the Alternative radio champs at number one. This marks the 10th consecutive week they have been number one. They're close to equaling their eleven week run last summer with "Reckoning" at number one (April 27th to July 6th).

A potent X, and re-vitalized SHRIEKBACK, are threatening to strike. SHRIEKBACK could overtake them with more commercial radio airplay whereas X seems to be plateauing-off with both commercial and college radio.

The Top Ten essentially remains listless with only one new entry, THE ARMOURY SHOW. It took a

SPOTLIGHT LP

In Between Days/Night Like This/Baby Screams/Push/Close To Me-THE CURE (Elektra) Faced with a serious crossroad in their career, THE CURE stared the musical challenge in the eye and deserve consideration for an Alternative Comeback Of The Year. They've assembled an entire album that embodies the quirky essence, and bent imagination, that they built their reputation upon. It has so many great songs on it that it's hard to chose which are the best. "In Between Days", "Push", and "Baby Screams" are all quintessential CURE songs. The album reaches a majestic peak on side two with the anthem-like "Night Like This", complete with a sax solo! Certain to be one of 1985's top Alternative albums.

COUNTRY SUMMARY

Just as we predicted last week, RONNIE MILSAP takes over the number one spot. Look for some big moves in the Top Ten next week. Both EDDY RAVEN and RONNIE McDOWELL had strong increases in their hit factors, with RAVEN going from a 17% last week to a 39% this week, and McDOWELL going from a 39% last week to a 70% this week. Both of last week's Certified records still look very strong. CRYSTAL GAYLE is already #3 at KGST-Jackson Hole and #10 at WXTU-Philadelphia. ALABAMA debuted at #8 at KNBZ-Wasilla, and had some big moves such as 29-17 at WKIN-Kingsport, 29-14 at KRKT-Albany. This week's Certifieds, GARY MORRIS and SOUTHERN PACIFIC, look sure to follow suit. There were no changes under our Top Requests this week - these three songs are far and away the most requested by listeners across the nation. BARBARA MANDRELL debuts at #35, and continues to recruit new believers with adds at: WPOC, KYAK, KNEW, WKLR, WITL, WIL, KFH, etc. T.G.SHEPPARD had a great first week with 50 reports and 27 adds. Tony Thomas at KOLO-Reno reports that he saw T.G. live at Harrah's last week, and "Doncha?" was by far the biggest crowd pleaser. The new WAYLON, WILLIE, JOHNNY & KRIS also had a good first week.

Donn Emis at KWTO/AM-Springfield was among the 26 reporters who added it this week, and tells us that the new single is rejuvenating sales for the "Highwayman" LP. RANDY TRAVIS, with 21 reports, just barely missed making the Action Sides this week. Robin Ingram at CFAC-Calgary says his listeners are calling not only to request the TRAVIS, but to find out where they can buy it. WOKD-Arcadia's Diana Dean notes that listeners have taken to the "Pink Bedroom" cut from ROSANNE CASH's album - maybe it's worth checking out?!

R&B SUMMARY

Four strong contenders for Certified choices this week, but JENNIFER HOLLIDAY and THE BAR-KAYS finished the race in first and second places. JENNIFER jumped 18 numbers on our internal stats chart, and added over 200 points to her total in the computer. BAR-KAYS had two strong weeks in a row and debuts at a high number 23. The other two to watch out for that were in the running were MAURICE WHITE and HOWARD JOHNSON. If I had to choose next week's Certified's right now, these last two would get the nod, but if your take a look at "Chartbound" the scenario could easily change. STEVIE WONDER, RENE' & ANGELA, and DEBARGE are waiting to attack anyone currently in the chart. Another threat comes by way of CAMEO's "Single Life". Biggest mover in "Up & Coming" is the CHARLIE SINGLETON (funny that former CAMEO member could be challenging CAMEO for the rights to a chart spot in the next two weeks) - or they might both chart and follow each other holding hands as they travel to the top. Even though it's been out for two weeks, this is the first week on the page for the HALL & OATES/DAVID RUFFIN/EDDIE KENDRICKS "The Way You Do The Things You Do/My Girl" from the Apollo Theater Live concert. With enough new adds to make the page, it ranks high in that section. MORRIS

DAY debuts with a bang, battling STEVIE WONDER (which was released slightly earlier) for "Most Added". MORRIS comes in second but a strong second. Next week, at which time everyone should have the single, should be HIS week unless third and fourth place CHAKA KHAN and EDDIE MURPHY gives him a hassle for it. But second isn't bad for the tough competition it had. Other new entries that didn't quite make the page, that should be observed for next week, are a single by ARETHA "Who's Zoomin' Who", ISLEY/JASPER ISLEY's "Caravan Of Love", and SISTER SLEDGE's "Dancing On The Jagged Edge".

P.D. NOTEBOOK

by Eric Norberg

BASIC PRODUCTION, PART I

There seems to be a lot of interest in basic production--the tools and techniques needed at the starting level, in order to do decent production work. For that reason, I interviewed two of the country's top production people, and this week and next will print the result.

First I spoke with Bobby Ocean, who is not only a nationally recognized production man and major air personality, but a good writer (he plans contributions to the Gavin report on basic production techniques in the near future), and a really fine cartoonist with a style of his own.

The first question I asked him was: What is the minimum equipment to turn out usable production? His answer was certainly basic: At least one turntable, two tape machines (reel to reel), a cart machine, and a microphone. Although a second turntable is convenient and can save time, the music or sound effects that could be introduced from a second table can be dubbed to tape and added from that, and multilayer effects can be obtained by dubbing sound from one machine to another, while adding another layer of sound.

My second question was, what would you like to add to this basic inventory to make it more effective? His reply was, a second turntable, a second cart machine, an equalizer, and a compressor/limiter. The equalizer is of great value in dealing with poor quality tape dubs, and enhancing voice quality in spots. The compressor/limiter should be used with great care, to avoid annoying and distracting "pumping" effects when the final spot travels through the station's audio processing chain and gets compressed and limited again, but it's of particular value when laying voice over music. Commercially available music has already been compressed; the human voice has major dynamics and parts of syllables can disappear in the music while other syllables sound very loud. Compressing voice before laying it on already-compressed music greatly enhances intelligibility--and listener response to the ads!

To inject a comment of my own at this point, equalizers for broadcast can seem too expensive to consider, but I have had excellent results with cheap 5-band graphic equalizers for well under $100 from Radio Shack. The easiest way to make use of one of these is to place it between the output of a reel-to-reel tape machine and the board. Whatever needs equalizing can then be played back from that machine during the mixing or recording process with the equalizer set for best results.

The third question I asked Bobby Ocean was, what item or items top your wish list? For him, it's an Ensonique "Mirage" Digital Sampler, which he says costs under $2,000. He explained that you can play something into it, and then manipulate the sound elements to create phenomenally complex audio and musical effects.

Again I interject myself for a moment to suggest a very useful piece of equipment that even most smaller stations can afford; The ITC splicing cart eraser. This device saves time, by erasing and preparing carts for use very rapidly; and it improves the airsound not only by assuring that a splice will not occur in the middle of the spot when it's aired, but by erasing the cart so clean that there is no trace of the "whop whop" erasing noise that a standard bulk tape eraser often generates on the tape. There isn't a station that wouldn't benefit from this addition to the production room.

My thanks to Bobby Ocean, and next week I'll have the responses to the same questions from another one of the top production people in the whole country, Bud Zumwalt of Sacramento, California. ■

LIVE AID IN JOLIET Δ

The crew at WLLI-Joliet, Illinois did their part during the recent "Live Aid" concert. WLLI was doing a live broadcast from the annual Joliet Summerfest on the day of the Live Aid concert, and they used the opportunity to take pledges for Live Aid. P.D. Bob Weber is pictured interviewing "Benny," the mascot of the Chicago Bulls, during the broadcast.

PURSUIING MORE TRIVIA

The prizes in KTMT-Medford's weekly trivia contest were eleven trips to the MGM Grand in Reno, with one winner getting an additional $9,300! KRZN-Denver sponsored the "Trivia Fever Contest," a game in which listeners were pitted against the computer, to benefit Cystic Fibrosis. And finally, WCHY-Savannah ran a McDonald's Trivia Contest. Listeners were asked to pick up their McFact sheets at local McDonald's and to listen for trivia questions asked on WCHY. Gift certificates to McDonald's were given away to all the lucky winners.

Off-Road Desert "Race For Life." In participation with the "Frontier 500," this year's celebrity race promises to be more exciting than ever and a priceless opportunity for anyone to contribute generously. KPKE SPONSORS NATIONAL FOOTBAG CHAMPIONSHIPS

KPKE-Denver is presenting the world's richest footbag tournament. The Footbag Championships can best be described as the Wimbledon, the PGA Masters, the World Cup, of footbag. Two hundred of the world's top footbag athletes will compete for over $10,000 in prize money. Footbag evolved from an exercise to rehabilitate knees after injury or surgery. The small leather or yarn bag is filled with beans or small plastic beads and is kicked using both feet to develop a sharp sense of total body synchronization. The National Championships, which feature athletes who've been able to keep the footbag aloft for nearly 30,000 kicks without a miss, is guaranteed to be a fun event.

MYSTERY COUNTRY FATHER

Starting two weeks prior to Father's Day, WAAX in Gadsden, Alabama ran a "Mystery Country Father" contest. Once every hour, a tape was played of one of four "mystery country fathers" voices on the air. The listeners registered at a local men's store when they thought they had all of the voices identified. The first person to correctly identify all four voices won a $570 men's wardrobe. Alabama's Jeff Cook, Razy Bailey, Vern Gosdin, and David Bellamy were the four "country" fathers.

(L-R) Al Axelson (PM drive); Al Rosin (Nights) and Alan Reed (AM drive) relax before the first annual Al & Al Night.

AL & AL NIGHT Δ

KRCH/FM-Rochester recently went "Al" out for the first ever "AL & AL" party held at a local night club. Morning Man Alan Reed and afternoon man Al Axelson were the hosts for the evening of fun, which included AL trivia (what was our worst subject in high school? ALgebra ... Where do we go hunting for polar bear? ALaska ... etc.), a bad joke contest, and a headphone singing contest. The club had cheap prices on ALcohol, and people registered at the door for great AL prizes (i.e., LP's by ALabama, WeirD AL, and ALan Parsons). If a person's first, middle, or last name had AL in it, if they paid or received AL imony, or if they could just tell the people at the door that they were an AL right person, then they were invited. Everyone there had a nametag that said "Hello, my name is AL" on it. A good time was had by AL ...

◀ KMEL AUCTIONS OFF MADONNA'S DRESS

A see-through wedding dress, donated by Madonna, was auctioned off to the highest bidder by KMEL-San Francisco, CA, to raise money for the Make-A-Wish Foundation. After the dress was modeled by China Kantner, daughter of rock legends Grace Slick and Paul Kantner, the station accepted bids for the dress. $5,000 was the highest bid and the dress went to winner Roxanna Galvez, 28, of San Mateo, CA. The wedding dress was worn by Madonna on her "Like A Virgin" concert tour and was donated in memory of Chris DeSoto, 15 who died in April after the foundation made his final wish, to see Madonna in concert, come true. The foundation helps terminally ill children by granting their wishes to the best of their ability.

▽ 92-K's WHEELS ARE TURNIN'

The latest promotion at 92K in Bryan, TX has the listeners wheels turnin'! They were asked to call in when they heard a song from the REO Speedwagon album, "Wheels Are Turnin'." The ninth caller at the request line won a copy of the LP and a combination to a lock placed around

△ KNAC SALUTES THE LIFEGUARDS

KNAC/FM in Long Beach, CA, recently held its 4th annual "Salute To The Southern California Lifeguards" at the Belmont Plaza. The day was highlighted by a live broadcast, volleyball tournament, water-sports competitions, non-stop prize giveaways, and live entertainment. Local bands were featured on state and the money raised went for the Long Beach Lifeguard Association.

Personal Picks — ALBUMS

GLENN FREY - You Belong To The City (MCA)

Music and network television working together to promote each other. "Miami Vice" has set itself as the shining example of how to integrate rock music into a prime time TV series. Frey and co-author Jack Tempchin have concocted this tune perfect for the show which also reflects the mood of Big City U.S.A. Just made for those Fall nights that are rapidly approaching.

SIMPLY RED - Money$ Too Tight (To Mention) (Elektra)

Unemployment and a lack of cash are not the happiest of topics, but this inventive production covers both in the context of a danceable and powerful melody. One of the stronger new sides I've listened to recently.

GINO VANNELLI - Hurts To Be In Love (CBS Assoc. Records)

Here's the Gino his fans want, and expect. Far stronger than anything he has cut in years, this beautiful ballad just makes you wanna stop...listen, and get carried away.

John Cougar Mellencamp "Scarecrow" (Riva/Polygram)

J.C.M. was about to lose me with his party-'til you-puke attitude. But from what I've read lately and heard here and now, the former recalcitrant rebel without a cause has grown up. Still rockin', John nevertheless has upgraded from adolescent to adult imagery, choosing as themes the agrarian heroes and victims, the virtues of respect, heritage and pride. His timing is good and I think just coincidental with the slowly turning tide of young America. Left in his dust are a generation of skinhead malcontents who continue to wallow in the shrinking pig-pen of puberteen mudwrestling. LONELY OL' TOWN, SMALL TOWN, RAIN ON THE SCARECROW, BETWEEN A LAUGH AND A TEAR (WITH RICKIE LEE JONES), RUMBLESEAT.

Jennifer Holliday "Say You Love Me" (Geffen)

She took Broadway by storm back in 1980 as the star of "Dreamgirls". The centerpiece of that musical, "And I'm Telling You I'm Not Going", predictably drew standing ovations with each performance, (often at the beginning of the song). Radio got its first dose of Jennifer and that song in '83 on her debut LP. Acceptance came slow and hard from programmers who couldn't pin her, or the music down. On this, her second issue, she's more clearly defined her intentions, or at least found more playable tracks. The LP opens with a Michael Jackson written and produced track, YOU'RE THE ONE. And before the album runs its course, she has exposed herself to a myriad of styles, all of which show her off in the best light as one of music's most dynamic voices. I particularly like the first single, HARD TIMES FOR LOVERS, a rousing NO FRILLS LOVE, and the wishful thinking of a hopeless romantic on DREAMS NEVER DIE.
