INSIDE TOP 40

by Dave Sholin

Nothing like a little time away to give one a clearer perspective on the day to day activities we all get wrapped up in. In this fast paced business, we all find that it's usually difficult to break away and leave the office behind. But in many instances just a few days off might work wonders. A number of veteran program directors I know take off for a day or two every so often to stay at home and/or drive around the market, listen to their stations and check out the competition in the context of a listener. Being constantly holed up behind your office door doesn't seem the way to stay in touch with your audience or to sharpen your own instincts. Thanks to Keith Z. for keeping it all together while I spent an unforgettable week in Santa Fe, NM.

Dirty Dancing

September 18th's RECORD TO WATCH is racing to the Top Ten. BILL MEDLEY AND JENNIFER WARNES leap from an airplay total of 187 reports to 254 reports with instant phone action noted by everyone. A whole slew of ten point plus moves including B97 New Orleans 28-18, WCIL Carbondale 28-16, WHHY Montgomery 35-21, WNYZ Utica 25-13, WILI Willimantic 25-14, HOT 1-94 Honolulu 31-21 KVIC Victoria 28-16, KYYY Bismarck 36-26, etc.

It's been a long haul for POISON but they've proven to be a winner in all regions for stations leaning pop/mainstream and those with a more urban mix. Y95's Buzz Bennett and Chuck Beck, KIXY's John Raymond, and KZOU's Jerry Lousteau and Jon Allen were some of the first to shout the praises of this entry and all continue to chart it Top Five. Impressive new airplay includes Z100 New York, WAVA Washington, WNVZ Norfolk, G105 Durham/Raleigh, B97 New Orleans, KDWB Minneapolis, Z104.5 Tulsa, KZZP Phoenix, Y108 Denver, KSTN Stockton, KS104 Denver, KEZY Anaheim, etc.

Last week's MOST ADDED track, STING, comes close to earning that honor for a second week. Quick reaction, as expected, propels it into the Top Thirty at B95, Q106, KFMY, KTDR, KWK, KGOT, 3WD, B94, WJET, WFMF, 94Q, KIIK, WPHR, KS104, WBCY, WHHY, WNKS, KWNZ, etc. New on KMEL, KSND, Q96/76, WXXQ, WKXX, KZ103, Z103, HOT 105, KC101, KUBE, KYNO, KYA, KZLS, POWER 104, etc.

Up from the ranks of RECORD TO WATCH where it appeared one month ago, SQUEEZE continues to look good for those early believers. Jay McCall at KOZE Lewiston takes it 23-17, Dave Allen KSLY San Luis Obispo moves it 26-18, and Bob Harlow and Gary Weinstein chart it 17-14 at KATD San Jose/Los Gatos. Other moves include WXKS 21-18, WMMS 27-21, WIAL 27-17, KKTU 27-22, KS104 27-22, etc. 39 adds take it over 200 reports.

MICHAEL BOLTON vaults over CHARTBOUND with more than enough chart activity to grab a debut on this week's Top 40. HIT FACTOR grows to 19% with the first number one listing coming from Bill Shannon at K104 Erie. Other key gains at WXKS 12-10, WQQY 23-17, KISN 17-10, KWSS 17-14, KDWB 24-17, WKDD 14-11, WBBQ 24-21, etc.

Airplay is growing steadily on PRETTY POISON, with those jumping onboard including FM102, KWK, WDJX, 95XXX, BAM99, WHHY, ISLE 95, Z104, KEEZ, KKOS, KZHR, etc.

Already Top Ten in San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Hilo, and Stockton. Debuts in the Top Thirty at WHYT, WTIC, plus a jump of 27-21 at WKQB and 20-17 at Y100.

Sure looks like AEROSMITH is headed for a CHARTBOUND position very soon. 27 adds including KWES Odessa/Midland KWIN Stockton, KATD San Jose/Los Gatos, WSPT Stevens Point, KGOT Anchorage, WHHY Montgomery, B94 Pittsburgh, Z103 Tallahassee, 100KHI Ocean City, WKLQ Grand Rapids, etc.

A lot of hot activity for last week's RECORD TO WATCH JODY WATLEY. Lyndon Abell and Jim Atkinson move it 29-19 at KWK St. Louis while John Eric Stevenson and Ray Fisher debut it at #16 at WZIX Columbus/Starkville. Also doing well at KMEL 17-13, WKXX 35-23, WHKW 16-12, etc. New on Z94, KBIU, HOT 105, WQBZ, KZZK, KWSS, KEWB, KKIS, KQLA, KAKS, KMGZ, POWER 104, KIXY, etc.

A strong entry into UP & COMING for TAYLOR DAYNE, who pulls in 26 new believers and more than doubles last weeks airplay. Adds include WCIL, 92X, OK95, WZKX, WDJX, Y100, HOT 105, WMJQ, KITY, KWK, HOT 1-94, FM104, K106, etc. Debuts #28 at Q106 San Diego, plus a 28-24 gain at KMEL San Francisco.

Even without a lot of airplay they've been selling out concerts in just a few hours all across the country. Who else could it be but THE CURE. They built a nice Top 40 base the last time out and they're off to a good start with their latest effort. Modern rock LIVE 105 in San Francisco is first to take them Top Ten going 15-8. Paul Christy debuts it #22 at POWER 104 Houston. New on Y94, KZZK, WHYT, 106X, WHDQ, KKTU, KZFN, KYNO, KWSS, KUUB, KZOU, KKLS, etc.

VOTE—AND VOTE OFTEN

Several weeks ago, would-be Democratic Presidential contender Joe Biden was forced to resign from the race because of revelations that he'd lied about his law school and university grades, stolen speech material from Bobby Kennedy and others, and built up his own IQ to something higher than it's real number, which is tied with the combined IQ's of Laverne and Shirley. He did this in a year when the Gary Hart mess has made integrity the number one issue. Biden's unmitigated gall in running in the first place, while knowing about his personality and problems, has convinced US that it's time to throw our Laker cap in the ring. First of all, we never refer to ourself in the third person, as Biden was inclined to do, with statements such as "Looks like Joe Biden made a big mistake" and "Don't worry," (as if we were) "there'll be other campaigns and Joe Biden will be back." Dr. Joyce Brothers informs us that people who refer to themselves in the third person have deep-seated and serious ego hangups. You'll never get that kind of thing from Tony Richland!

Here are some of our reasons for running: We finished in the top half...no, make that the top TENTH..yeah, that's the ticket.. of our P.S.18 elementary school class in Baltimore. Actually... yeah, wait a minute.. actually we finished number two in the whole class right after Joe Izusu. We then went on to Forest Hills High in N.Y.C., where we came up with the idea of heart transplants in our bio class. We passed our studies on this to Dr. DeBakey, who's taken full credit for our work. In 1953 we were drafted in the first round..make that high in the first round...yeah...by The Knicks..yeah that's the ticket..HIGH in the first round (a sports background can be valuable when running for office), but decided to pass on the opportunity of being a starter and concentrated on our first novel, From Here To Eternity. That's right...yeah that's right..we wrote From Here To Eternity and used the name James Jones as a pseudonym so we wouldn't be harrassed by a pushy press when we won the Pulitzer Prize. We eventually entered the record business, doing promotion out of New York, commencing in 1954, and we were personally responsible for discovering Elvis on a promo trip to Memphis...yeah, that's it..we were the only one bright enough to hear his potential. It seems like just the other day when we sat in Sam Phillips' office telling him, "Sam, if you give this kid a shot, you'll never regret it...if I were you, I'd cut Mystery Train and watch for the quick finale to the Como/Eddie Fisher era, along with a triumphant opening in Vegas in about fifteen years when the International Hotel is built." To this day, Sam's given us no public credit for this suggestion.

Now, to some of our other qualifications for The White House: We personally know Buzz Bunnett and have actually shared Japanese dinners with him in San Diego..and this was.. now get this...MORE THAN ONCE! We hold a Master's degree..no wait..make that a Doctorate in advanced computer sciences..yeah that's the ticket..a Doctorate..and we achieved this on a half..wait..make that a FULL scholarship at The Massachusetts Institute of Technology. We managed the careers of The Beatles AND Frank Sinatra, AT THE SAME TIME, and can assure you that there isn't one word of truth in the recent unauthorized bio called 'His Way.' We know this because Frank's called us..no wait..make that VISITED us..and given us his word. Yeah..that's it..Frank visited us and raved about Rosemary's veal saute and linguini.

We're in the process of assembling a campaign staff, and hope that some of you will volunteer your services. OK, so we're not a Governor or Senator..whoop-de-doo..so what? Jimmy Carter was out of work when HE ran..and won! You could look it up. We simply feel that we'd make a helluva leader of the free world plus Yankton. We've led a decent..wait..make that a pristine life..yeah..pristine. We've not only never fooled around with Donna Rice, Jessica Hahn and Fawn Hall, but we've never lusted for any of them in our hearts, and that gives us better credentials than Carter. Only last week, Donna, Jessica AND Fawn called us asking if we were interested in hanky- panky. We told them that it was our favorite Tommy James record and hung up the phone in disgust. Not only were we not interested, but none of the bimbo's even MENTIONED The Shondells! Bottom line: Our credentials are impeccable..Danny Davis would testify to that..and wouldn't you rather have his finger on the button than..say..some defrocked legislator from Delaware? Keep this in mind: a vote for Richland is a vote for a guy who not only gets weird notes from Tom Adams in Hawaii, but a guy who had plenty to do with Mel & Tim's 'Backfield in Motion' going gold!

(Our campaign manager, one Howard Rosen, will happily accept your collect calls.)

In other political notes: The Rev. Jesse Jackson spent a weekend..no..wait a minute..spent a WEEK as a house guest of Rosemary and myself during the recent Jewish New Year holidays. The candidate waxed enthusiastic about Rosemary's whitefish in foil and low-cal gefilte fish. He then most generously waxed our Class an pledged his support in my upcoming campaign. Watta guy!

Candidate Michael Dukakis reacted favorably to my suggestion that he change his name from something that sounds like foul things the dog does on newspaper.

Other gossip: Future candidate Steve Garvey dropped over to share our catered Yom Kipper fast, and informed us that he enjoyed every non-bite of it. Striking ex-NFL candidate Jack Kemp dropped in with some foul one-liners about rival George Bush, and then penalized himself fifteen yards for clipping. Washington wife Tipper Gore served us with papers, calling this column an insult to an industry built on the vision of Mitch Miller and Anita Bryant.

In conclusion: A vote for us is a vote for Johnny Maestro and the Crests! ★

LISA SMITH-ROBBINS IS OUR NEW COUNTRY MUSIC EDITOR

The Gavin Report is pleased to announce the appointment of Lisa Smith-Robbins as Country Music Editor. Elma Greer is stepping down from her role in preparation for her fulltime retirement sometime next year. Elma will continue to contribute to our operations on a part-time basis.

"We both deserve this new arrangement. I feel secure about leaving the Gavin Country section in such capable hands. I'll still be on hand to talk to my radio friends, maintaining my interest in Gavin Enterprises," said Greer.

"I feel great about my new challenge," explained Lisa, "Gavin will continue to position itself not only next to established Country radio stars, but especially to the up and coming new talent that is shaking things up around here and, more importantly, across the country. I'm Country-proud."

Gavin Publisher Ron Fell adds, "I welcome the addition of Lisa to our hot staff of editors."

RECUPERATING AND BACK SOON KMEL'S ENGELMAN TAKES TEMPORARY LEAVE OF LONDON

Chinwag extends get well wishes on behalf of the GAVIN REPORT to KMEL -San Francisco morning man Ron Engelman, one half of the legendary London and Engelman AM drive team. Engelman is doing fine after a triple bypass operation performed last week. KMEL PD Keith Naftaly told Chinwag that Ron will be back at work as soon as he rests and recuperates. "I guess it will be about a month. We all sure miss him," said Naftaly.

BIG CHANGES AT CFNY MARSDEN AND HAYDU DEPART

CFNY Director of Operation David Marsden has left CFNY to pursue outside interests, possibly in television. Besides his involvement with Toronto's progressive Album Radio outlet, Marsden was the executive producer of the CASBY Music Awards, Canada's version of the Peoples' Choice Awards.

It also looks like Toronto's 17 year-old morning team, Pete and Geets (Peter Griffin and David Haydu) are splitting up. Haydu announced his resignation from the team. Contractual agreements dictate the departure of both AM talents. In the meantime, PD/MD Don Berns will fill in until a replacement is locked in.

"The time has come to forge ahead. Outside of a change of ownership four years ago, CFNY has gone ten years without a major on-air change. Pete and Geets were our morning team at CFNY for the last seven years," explained Berns.

GEFFEN PROMOTES NAPOLIELLO POSNER TO HEAD UP INTERNATIONAL

Peter Napoliello

Mel Posner

Peter Napoliello has been called up from his New York City Regional post to head Geffen Top Forty Promotion under Geffen promotion chief Al Coury.

"It's an honor and a pleasure," commented Napoliello.

Napoliello began as a dance club DJ and later worked for Pavilion Records, Chrysalis Records, Motown Records and his own label, Lourve, distributed by JEM. He joined Geffen in March of 1986.

After a 25 year friendship, Geffen President Ed Rosenblatt announced the appointment of Mel Posner to head up their International department. Posner was previously Vice Chairman of Elektra/Asylum until 1984. Posner most recently headed up Silver Seagull Productions, an international marketing company.

"Having been at Elektra when the WEA companies were formed around the world, I was able to see them develop and I still enjoy many warm friendships within the system. I'll be leaving right away for WEA roadshows in Japan and Australia to present Geffen's fall releases."

CLARENCE BARNES NEW ASST. PD AT BOSTON'S Z94

Z94-Boston PD Harry Nelson announced the appointment of Clarence Barnes to the post of Assistant PD. Barnes will be handling Music Director responsibilities as well. Barnes joins Z94 from WKPE/Cape 104-Cape Cod where he was formerly their PM drive talent.

"Clarence is one of the new hot shots in the radio business. One day I know he'll be a PD. I'm glad to be able to have him here at Z94. He knows what Z94 is trying to accomplish. He'll be much more than a Music Director," commented Nelson.

In addition, Barnes will serve as a Z94 weekend personality.

HALLAM CHOOSES ASST. PD KANSAS CITY TALENT SEARCH ENDS

After what must have been an exhaustive five month search, KCPW in Kansas City has finally named a new Assistant PD/Music Director. He's Tracy Johnson and he joins KCPW after a seven year stint with KFRX-Lincoln, NB as Station Manager, PD and PM drive talent. Needless to say, Power 95 PD Dene Hallam describes Johnson as "exactly the right person."

Tracy Johnson of Power 95/KCPW-Kansas City

JOHN BRODEY TO HEAD UP POLYGRAM ALBUMS

John Brodey has left his Top Forty post at Geffen to head up PolyGram's Album operations as Vice President, Album Promotion. He will work with PolyGram's New York-based Album person Drew Murray as well as with West Coaster Calvin Lew.

Brodey's return to the Album format is a coming home of sorts. The native Bostonian started early in his career at Album beacon WBCN. As Al Coury's right hand man, he lent his talents at Coury's Network Records before following him to Geffen, switching over to Top Forty.

Brodey will continue to operate out of the label's Los Angeles headquarters, but how long will he be able to resist the corporate magnet drawing him eventually to the Big Apple?

But people may be so used to radio clowns screaming and yelling that when somebody gets on the air and talks like a human being, they think, 'Oh, that's weird, that's arrogant'"...At KFOG, Bonnie Simmons departs for KLSR-Santa Cruz. Trish Robbins replaces her as a KFOG afternoon talent.

KRQ LOSES THREE MORE TO KKFR KKFR RAID CONTINUES

Jim Gillie's departure from KRQ-Tucson to KKFR-Phoenix has created a domino effect. Scotty Johnson leaves KRQ to join KKFR as Assistant PD /mid-day personality. Johnson, formerly Assistant PD and AM drive talent at KRQ, told Chinwag that although his chances of succeeding Gillie at the time were very good, the KKFR offer/challenge was a solid offer and too good to pass up. KRQ was still interviewing other applicants. Also following Johnson to Phoenix is evening personality J.J. Morgan and Research Director Pat Weston. Both will keep their respective responsibilities. KKFR also announced that Deanne Schade will handle the 3-7pm shift.

ARRIVES FROM WLUM-MILWAUKEE

JIMMY SMITH IS NEW MD AT K104

The new MD at K104 in Dallas is Jimmy Smith from WLUM-Milwaukee. Smith is best known for helping WLUM go from sixth place to second place in Milwaukee in a space of three months time. K104 PD Michael Spears considers him to be one of the brightest young programmers in the country. Prior to WLUM, Smith spent six years at K97 (WHRK) in Memphis. Smith's first day in Dallas was October 5.

REMEMBERING BILL GAVIN

As the weeks, months, and years whiz by, it's surprising to ponder that October 6 would have been Bill Gavin's 80th birthday. I'm sure our founder would have been fascinated by the technical developments of his publication, our industry and our music. Time flies, we're having fun and we at the Gavin Report frequently think about our founder and his ideals as we prepare to celebrate 30 years of Gavin history.

SPOT RAN 20 TIMES

B100 VISITS KS103 AIR "WAVES"

Here are excerpts of the spot that B100-San Diego ran on rival KS103 during late September when KS103 adopted its "Wave" format. The following spot featuring, Bobby Rich and his B Morning Zoo, ran for a total of twenty times:

Hi...We're the Rich Brothers.

Yes...Those Rich Brothers...The ones from B-100.

It must be unusual to hear someone from another radio station talking to you on another radio station.

But we've got a good reason.

We want to "Welcome The Wave."

For those of you looking for music, money and fun like KS-103 used to offer...we'd like to invite you to listen to B-100.

Just twist your dial to the left...

And listen for 100.7 on your FM dial...

That's where you'll find us...The Rich Brothers and our B-100 B Morning Zoo every day from 6 to 10.

And Gene Knight--Gary Kelley--Dar.ny Romero--John Fox--Mike Novak-- and all the people who make B-100 San Diego's FM for music, money and fun.

Once again...we'd like to "welcome The Wave" to San Diego...

And invite all the former KS-103 listeners to MOVE LEFT...

To 100.7 FM...B-100.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT

The last time we met here we discussed the Creative Environment being the method for producing innovative ways to accomplish goals. Whether the goal is a speculative spot or the changing of a radio station's format, the formation of an elite group of people with knowledge of the subject, in informal sessions with no creative constraints can attain goals way beyond your expectations.

At this year's meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters in Anaheim, one of the "hot topics" was KTWV, Los Angeles - "The Wave". This radio station's entire concept, format and execution was developed in accordance with the principles outlined in last month's "Moonlighting".

Metropolitan Broadcasting, formerly Metromedia before a leveraged buy-out by management, is an innovative thinking organization not afraid to take risks. They're not frivolous in their decisions, but once a risky decision is made, all available resources to accomplish their goals are utilized. In Los Angeles, the firm had a 19-year-old Rock station, KMET, one of the original progressive rock formats of the sixties. Not only did they continue to have an advertising base of some six million dollars, they also had a loyal, albeit small, core audience.

Metropolitan hired former "The Source" programmer Frank Cody to head up KMET's programming efforts. At a NAB panel titled "Radio's Newest Format," Cody outlined the creative process that produced "The Wave." "Metropolitan...seemed to be open to new ideas. We realized our format had run its course, had run out of life. Carl Brazell, president of the company, commissioned a revitalization project whereby some key people representing different interests connected with our business would get away together for two or three days, away from telephones, away from meetings, and also away from members of our company in the upper management levels looking over our shoulders." Cody continued, "We could really think up all kinds of crazy ideas and maybe come up with some new ideas of ways to put life in this radio station in Southern California."

Members of the team included Cody, Owen Leach of Leach Research, a product designer from an advertising agency, and a production person.

Leach, who heads a firm that advises Metropolitan with marketing research services, was team captain. Cody says, "When we were really out to Mars, it was Owen who'd remind us we had a radio station and bring us back to Earth." The group met in New Jersey in a "think tank" specially designed for this kind of activity.

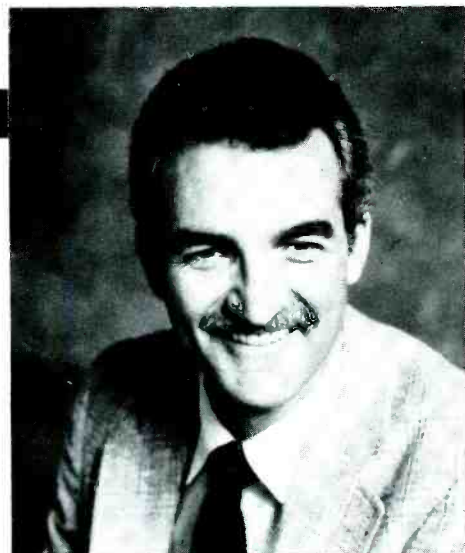

According to Cody, "The first thing we did was establish criteria for what makes a great radio station. We determined a great radio station was defined as a ratings and/or revenue leader in a market. We put up on the wall all the ideas that makes up a great radio station." Among them was "It aggregates audience, has tremendous word-of-mouth, confers status on its listeners, is somehow bigger than the sum of all its parts."

Again, one of the most important considerations in creating the creative environment is freedom of constraint. Frank says, "Keeping in mind we could break all the rules of broadcasting, because Carl wasn't looking at us and Howard Bloom (KTWV General Manager) wasn't breathing down our necks... a lot of ideas just poured out. Ideas that we had stored up in our minds, ideas that we had wanted to try." One third of the ideas were "rock-oriented," thinking the station's format might be left intact with modifications to "bring it out of the ashes like the Phoenix."

After the ideas were reduced to two kinds of formats, the results were lab tested. A prototypical format was designed and tested on adults 25-54 in the Los Angeles area. "The Wave" tested so well in 25-49 year olds, the decision was to go with the format.

According to Frank, "One of the things I gained through the whole experience (creating the creative environment) in helping put together the team that made 'The Wave' happen is the realization you can really stretch beyond the boundaries of what you think is possible."

Can you create a creative environment? If you wish to succeed in today's radio, you'd better. As Frank states, "I'm looking forward to seeing the kind of courage we had to try something different applied to other formats because that's the solution to how radio can really take it's place-- it's truly a magic medium. "There's such potential when we simply let down our guard, aren't afraid to make fools of ourselves, are willing to take risks and break out of the mold and try something different."

I have seen the "brainstorming" technique work so often it's uncanny. Just recently I've seen it successfully applied in developing a station's positioning statement, finding alternate means of spending a television advertising budget, re-directing an already #1 rated station advance it's share of the market even higher.

"THE WAVE'S CREATIVE COMPONENTS"

*The most refreshing new sound in radio, 94.7, "The Wave" - positioning a statement.

*Music mix is based on mood, tempo, texture, flow from how a selection ends to how a selection begins. Attention is paid to the conscious and well as sub-conscious mood.

*One third is Windham Hill acoustic/synthesizer, one third light jazz - the sound the jazz enthusiasts hate!! And one third is light rock vocals by artists such as Sting, Peter Gabriel, Suzanne Vega and Paul Simon.

*No deejays.

*Artists back-announce many of the tunes. For instance, "I'm Russ Freeman. And, that was 'Amelia' from my album, 'Nocturnal Playground.'"

*Occasionally a listener's phoned request is recorded and aired prior to the selection.

*With no deejays, the time checks are delivered in little acted-out vignettes that Frank Cody refers to as "Timelets," a merging of time checks and playlets. These are performed by professional actors. And, according to Cody are comparable to the cartoons in the "New Yorker" magazine. ●

KENNY ROGERS

We Just Dropped In To See What Condition His Condition Was In

by Ron Fell with special assistance from Cyndi Hoelzle

Kenny and I spent as much time on the phone over a month's time trying to set up this interview as we did questioning and answering. Trying to squeeze the following into Kenny's incredibly tight schedule was tough, but he wanted to talk.

Between an extensive tour, the filming of his upcoming movie, Gambler III, the publication of his new book of photography and next week's task of hosting the CMA Awards Show, time was tight.

His musical roots were in doo-wop, rock, jazz and folk, but he's most comfortable today making Country music with pop crossover potential.

Kenny is a very public man who cherishes his privacy. He's soft spoken, thoughtful, and appreciates his successes for their ability to improve the quality of life for the less fortunate.

RON FELL: Congratulations on your success with the Ronnie Milsap duet, "Make No Mistake, She's Mine." How did it come about?

KENNY ROGERS: In my heart I'm a group singer. I've always felt I sing better with other people. I need to be inspired. I think some of my best records have been duets. When we were putting this album together, we tried to find someone I could sing songs with. And we were talking about touring with Ronnie Milsap—I've always loved the way he sings. I had heard the song when Kim Carnes played it for me before she and Barbra Streisand had it on her album. I felt the song was great, but I couldn't distinguish between their two voices—I lost the story line. So when Ronnie and I did it, we were careful to overlap when we could, and change our voices around so you could distinguish between the two.

RF: Your biggest duet by far was "Islands In The Stream" with Dolly Parton. What do you think were the particular elements that made it the biggest record of 1983?

KR: It's always been my contention that you have to start with a hit song. Unless you really screw it up, it will be a hit. In our case, Barry Gibb was an excellent producer. He's pretty slick—in a positive fashion. It was his idea to use Dolly. I've known Dolly for a long time, but had never worked with her. I didn't know whether she had any interest in doing it. Barry contacted her, and we all seemed pretty excited about it. Dolly and I have a lot in common—things that go beyond music. Our roots and our general eagerness to be honest with our lives and present ourselves as what we are. So it was very comfortable for us. In performing, she and I are at our best when we screw up, which is often. Neither one of us likes to rehearse, we just kind of go out and let things happen. Having the opportunity to do this song with her on my first album for RCA was a nice thing for both of us. We meant more together than either one of us meant separately. It was also very special to be able to work with her in concert.

RF: As I understand it you started your career as a bass player in a jazz band.

KR: Actually, I started in a Country band in Houston—Travis Henderson and the Playboys. I was around 15 years old. I played guitar, but interestingly enough—and I didn't find this out for six years—it wasn't really a guitar, it was a dobro. The strings were a half-inch off the neck on this thing, but I chorded it like a guitar. We did strictly Country music. In fact, we opened the Houston Airport as the act. Don't ask me how we got the job! (laughs) From there I was with a group called the Scholars, which was a doo-wop rock 'n' roll group, doing The Drifters and the Five Satins kind of songs—"Earth Angel" and those songs. From that I went to the Bobby Doyle Group. Bobby was one of the most gifted and talented musicians I'd ever met. He was blind from birth, and just played music all day. We used to rehearse five and six hours a day, every day. Finally I just said, "Bobby, don't take this wrong, but some of us have to cut our lawns." It was a great education for me. He is directly responsible for any musical foundation I have. He was that important in my musical career. He's still working clubs in Austin and San Antonio. While I was with the Bobby Doyle Group, I met another man who I think was crucial to my development, Kirby Stone of the Kirby Stone Four...

RF: "Baubles, Bangles and Beads."

KR: That's right. He was jazz-oriented, but really he was very much like I am, not so much talented as he was a showman. He was capable of entertaining, although he wasn't a great singer. I don't think he would have objected to me saying this—he passed away about five years ago. He had a tremendous gift for business, and that's what he passed on to me. I remember specifically one time him telling me, "Kenny, this is more than just wet towels and naked women. If you pay attention to what you're doing, you can really make a good living for the rest of your life." He really got me going on the right track—you know, being responsible to the people who show up at your concert. If the show's supposed to start at eight, you start it at eight. I always like to mention him because I think sometimes when you help people, they have a tendency when they reach their own status to forget the people who, in effect, set the pattern for their life. I've had it happen to me a few times, and it hurt me, and I don't want it to happen. Kirby got me the job with the New Christy Minstrels, because his managers were George Greif and Sid Garris, who managed the Christys.

RF: How long were you with them?

KR: Only about a year and two months, but it was enough so I really learned. The good thing about going into a group like that is there was already group acceptance, even though there wasn't individual acceptance. When the New Christy Minstrels went on stage my first night, I was a success because the group was a success. It gave me a chance to experiment with the foundation of success beneath me. In other words, I was assumed to be good before I had a chance to prove anything.

RF: What was your role in the band?

KR: I played bass and sang solos and parts.

RF: And then your last group experience was the First Edition.

KR: Yes, that was nine and a half years, and an excellent experience for me. Everyone I worked with in that group was very special, very talented. I never really wanted to break up the group. I would still be there today if there had been a life for the group, and an interest by the other people. It's hard to have five people who have different foundations and musical interests, as well as personal interests—and families pulling on them. You can't expect five wives at the same time to say, "Sure, it's okay to go and work for five months and come on back when you get a chance." One of them's gonna start bitching sooner or later (laughs).

RF: It seems as though most of your hits in that group were in the early phases, and part of the frustration may have been that you weren't having hits in the later phases.

KR: There's no question about that. When you're successful you can't make mistakes, and when you're not successful you can't seem to do anything right. Everyone starts second-guessing where it should go. Terry Williams, for instance, wanted to go really hard rock 'n' roll, which I thought was just wrong for me. I felt more comfortable where I am today, which is kind of Country crossover. Terry felt very uncomfortable with that. The other guys were versatile but Terry and I owned the group, so there was a real polarization, and certainly not without good cause. When you're dealing with music, you can't treat it 100% percent like a business. There has to be some love and some enjoyment for what you're doing.

RF: And then after nine and a half years you went solo. Was that scary?

KR: It was frightening. For the entire bulk of my musical life I've stood behind the bass, stood behind the microphone and sang, and talked very little. When you're with a group, you can look around and say, "Gee guys, things aren't going very well, are they?" But when you're alone, you turn around, and who do you say it to? The first job I ever worked was at Knott's Berry Farm. I have a nephew named Dann Rogers who had a band, and his guitar player, Keith Bugos, is my road manager now and has been for fifteen years. The great thing about Knott's Berry Farm is that you do three twenty-minute shows. I had the benefit of all the First Edition hits I could do. In twenty minutes I could get on and do about six songs: "Something's Burning," "Ruby," "Ruben James," "Tell It All Brother" and boom! I'm off the stage. But the hardest thing for me was learning to walk on stage. You have to develop an independence. You walk at one pace even though you're singing fast or slow, but I had a tendency to walk at whatever speed I was singing. Boy, I would sail across there when I did fast songs, and I would trip over microphone cords. It was the clumsiest thing you'd ever seen.

RF: The Gerald Ford of pop music.

KR: That's right. I'm surprised I didn't fall off the stage.

RF: At one point you befriended Don Henley. When did that happen?

KR: When I was with the First Edition. I was in Dallas in a record store, and this little blond kid introduced himself. His name was Jerry Surratt and he looked like a little fireplug. He just wanted to tell me that he loved my music and that he had a band. They had a band called Felicity and they wanted me to come hear them. I never do that, but for some reason, I went to hear this band and just fell in love with them. I thought they were creative, innovative, talented—and they were nice guys. This was about the time we had "Something's Burning." We were still relatively successful, but certainly on our way out. I brought these kids out, Jerry and Don. They lived at my house in L.A. for about six months. At one time I had all of Don Henley's publishing. He came and told me he was putting the Eagles together and asked if I would release him from that. I've always been a believer that you don't take something that you can't put something back into. It was about this time that the First Edition started struggling, so I told him that I couldn't really help him any more, and released his stuff. I don't regret it. He's a very talented kid, and I think without the benefit of that publishing he might not have been a part of the Eagles.

RF: Many people have made light of the fact that you are a pretty wealthy man, but I know that you give a lot of that back...

KR: It has always been my theory that if you give something back from anything you take you don't have to feel guilty about what you've taken. Consequently, I don't feel guilty about my success because I feel I've made an effort to contribute back. I do a lot of it anonymously, because if you do it openly and high-profile, you open a whole can of worms that you can't close and it is always misconstrued. I got rapped so bad on this USA for Africa thing—that I was riding coattails. There's always the people that have to jump on the

INSIDE A/C

Not only does Fleetwood Mac retain the number one position on the chart, they also attain a seldom seen 100% HIT FACTOR. As a matter of fact, 96% of their airplay is in HEAVY rotation.

On July 24th we picked "Breakout" by Swing Out Sister. Eleven weeks and 169 stations later, we've got a top ten record with an 88% HIT FACTOR.

Elton John clears the 200 station mark with a 75% HIT FACTOR in four weeks, while Bruce Springsteen HIT FACTORS the same 75% in one less week of availability. If you're not on 'em by this time next week, bring a note from your mother.

Richard Carpenter and Dusty Springfield have moved thirteen points upward the past two weeks (31 to 18) and gaining 20 to 30 adds each week. Among this week's 22 adds were WJML, KROC, KKPL, WZNY, KGW and KDZA.

Kool & The Gang debut with "A Special Way." A healthy sum of 134 adds in three weeks tells the early story. Adds this week include WSNI, KEZR, WHTX, WMYX, KWAV and KDUK.

The Bill Medley/Jennifer Warnes single, "Time Of My Life," re-debuts on the chart. It peaked at number 30 on August 7th but has the momentum of the movie now, not to mention a ton of Top 40 support.

Lisa Lisa's "Lost In Emotion" debuts on the chart with only 51 stations but 60% of those 51 have it HIT FACTORed including WSPD, WJXL, B100, KLSS and KDLK.

Lest some think an unknown band and/or label can't have rapid impact in our format, check out "Another Day Gone" by Brydge on Avatar Records. A total of 82 A/C stations in the first three weeks of a nationwide release should be the envy of any label. This week's adds include WTMJ, KZZQ, KNOX, U102, WKCX, WRVA, KEFM and nearly every A/C reporter in the Northwest was already on it.

Last week's RECORD TO WATCH, "I Don't Mind At All" by Bourgeois Tagg, is this week's fifth most added A/C record. Adds include WDEL, WALG, WBLG, WIZD, WRFC, KLZS, KATW, KHYL, KASY and WGOL/FM.

This week's RECORD TO WATCH, Dream Academy's "Indian Summer" is warming up the "big chill" generation with 23 new reports this week including WWMJ, WGSV, WJXL, WZLQ, WTRX, WTWR, KLOV, KDES, KKRK and KKLK.

REVIEWS by Ron Fell & Diane Rufer

DAN HILL Never Thought (Columbia)

A pure, unadulterated, adult love song. A line in his latest bio says his voice has been "under-estimated and/or overlooked." Amen to that! The texture in that voice sells the song.

GEORGE HARRISON Got My Mind Set On You (Warner Bros.)

His first serious pop contender since his song "All Those Years Ago" in the summer of '81. This song's bright rhythm track and strong chorus finds our most moody Beatle in a fresh mind set.

single deals with a subject dear to the hearts of our listeners. The hook is sharp and baited to catch us.

THE JETS I Do You (MCA)

Already on of the most added records of the week in our Urban and Top 40 charts, "I Do You" should begin to show in our format on its own merit. This Twin Cities septet of siblings have established a great track record by making records with great tracks. This one is all hook and easy on the ear.

JONATHAN BUTLER Holding On (live/RCA)

Under a Carribean moon, JB pines for a tactile relationship. He'd rather dance with a warm body than play air guitar. Who could blame him! Get this one early.

SCHONERZ and SCOTT Wishing Well (Windham Hill)

Another wonderful instrumental more than worthy of your attention. We've been hearing this on KKSF recently and the song's breezy melody made from acoustic and synthetic instruments is outright ear candy.

GETTING OLDER

IN PURSUIT Getting Older (MTM)

Their first single, "Thin Line," received airplay from a majority of A/C stations but unfortunately only 30 or 40 at a time so its impact was diluted. The new

LISTENING IS JUST THE FIRST STEP

A few weeks ago, I wrote an article titled, "When Listening Is Better Than Reading." In that article, I pointed out that many managers get so mired in reading and writing reports that they overlook the importance of listening to real live customers. I hope that I was able to make the case that a failure to regularly listen to customers means a manager is receiving incomplete and often invalid information, no matter how many financial, marketing, or sales related reports he or she reads.

But listening to customers is just the first step. The obvious, but rarely done, second step is to do something once you've listened to the customer. It's to act quickly on the customer's ideas and opinions, and make bold changes in your organization whenever necessary.

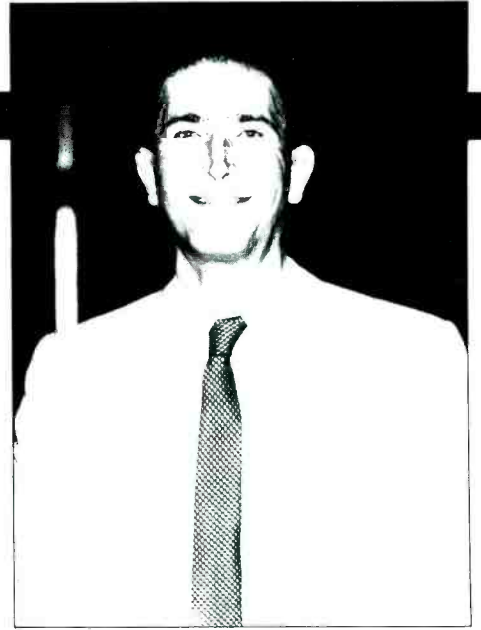

Quickly responding to the customer's suggestions sounds so obvious that it's remarkable that most firms don't do it. Even those that do are often amazed at the results. Consider, for example, a small firm which manufactures and sells upholstery products nationwide. Sales had become flat, so the president tried something pretty radical for an American firm: He decided to go visit customers and simply ask them what his firm could do to serve them better and earn more of their business. He got together a small group of managers and they barnstormed the country just listening to customers. They didn't try any sales pitches. They just listened. And when they returned home, they did something even more radical: They quickly started to do what the customers suggested. They changed product designs, they offered new options and accessories, they changed shipping and billing procedures, and they even wound up changing some lines of authority within the firm so as to best expedite these changes. The costs were minimal, and sales went up 40%. The president was amazed, but should he have been? He just listened to his customers, and then did something about it right away.

One successful manufacturing firm regularly invites small groups of lead users to its premises. The firm is happy to pay for the flights and lodging of these customers, and you may wonder why when I tell you what the customers are asked to do. The firm's senior managers tell the customers: "Get together among yourselves for a couple hours and chat about what you like about us and what you don't like about us. Then we'll all get together and then please—let us have it. Tell us everything you don't like about us. Tell us how we screw up. Tell us if we're in danger of losing any of your business, and why. Tell us if you like our competitors, and why. If we're doing something well, and if you've got some suggestions for us, let us know that, too. Tell us how we can improve, and tell us what you need from us. We promise that all we'll do is listen and take notes." And do they listen! No "yeah-but" arguments to the customers. Even more important, this firm responds quickly. Those customer complaints and suggestions are given top priority. They are not farmed out to endless committees to be analyzed to death. Isn't it ironic, then, that the firm which asks its customers "tell us how we screw up," actually screws up so little and has such satisfied customers that it has built up market share while charging premium prices and fighting off strong international competitors.

If you're thinking that your firm is too small to fly customers in or provide nationwide barnstorming tours, then let me point out an incredibly successful family grocery store which holds customer focus groups twice a month and makes immediate changes in procedures and products accordingly. Response time? Each day customers put in up to 100 suggestions and comments in the big suggestion box, and by 11:00 the next morning all suggestions and comments are already typed up, on each managers' desk and the implementation process for many of the ideas is already under way. In another successful firm, every senior manager (including people in finance and personnel) gets a list every day of five customers to phone and ask the following question: "How are we doing?" Each list of five names is appropriately called "Daily Dose Of Reality" and the manager has the responsibility of following up on any complaint or problem that he or she hears.

I find it extraordinary that I am writing a column like this. Shouldn't it be the most obvious thing for any manager at any level in any business to ask customers what they want, and then work to provide it as quickly as possible? Why do so few organizations do this? Why are there so many flimsy excuses for not doing it? Why are customers often considered necessary evils and treated with thinly disguised contempt? Why is it that so many senior managers rarely, if ever, sit down face to face with paying customers and just listen to them? When was the last time a manager from your local grocery store, radio station, band, hospital, or dry-cleaner called you up or invited you to a focus group to ask: "What can we improve?" When was the last time you went to customers' homes or businesses, or invited them to your office, or called them on the telephone and then listened and did something about it? Isn't that something that should be done every single business day? Is there any better use of your time? Customers are your bread and butter. No customers—no payroll, no budgets, no nice office, no numbers to crunch, no beans to count.

One last thing. If you're a manager, don't just delegate this task to someone else. Sure, encourage (indeed, demand) that as many people as possible regularly listen and respond to customers, but don't exclude yourself from the process. You need to stay in touch with your source of bread and butter, and by doing so, you're also signaling to everyone else in the firm that this is very, very important. And isn't it? ●

by RON FELLI

GEORGE JONES

Thirty-five years ago George was a Beaumont, Texas housepainter who played the town's honky tonks at night.

RANDY TRAVIS

Joe Stampley produced two songs for Randy on Paula Records back in the 70s.

REBA McENTIRE

Reba's earliest success as a recording artist came singing duets with Jackie Ward, "Three Sheets To the Wind" and "That Makes Two Of Us", ten years ago.

MICHAEL JACKSON

According to the British music magazine NME, during the first week Michael's album, "Bad," was available in England's record shops, its sales represented 25% of all albums sold that week.

HANK WILLIAMS, JR.

His debut at the Grand Ole Opry was at the age of 11 where he performed "Lovesick Blues."

GEORGE STRAIT

While in the Army he learned to play the guitar from a collection of Hank Williams songbooks.

KANE GANG

The Motortown the band refers to in their new single is not Detroit, but rather a Northern English town of Sunderland which has benefited from the recent opening of a Japanese auto manufacturing plant.

STARSHIP

Their new bass player is Brett Bloomfield, who used to play in the band Snail.

BERLIN

With Terri Nunn beginning a solo career, John Crawford and Rob Brill are looking for a new vocalist to front the band.

CROWDED HOUSE

They'll soon be heading for New Zealand with producer Mitchell Froom to begin work on their next album.

JOHN COUGAR MELLENCAMP

Looks as though J.C. will be on the big screen soon, portraying a country singer in the film "Riding The Cage."

JOHNNY CASH

When Kenny Rogers presented Johnny with his Country Music Hall Of Fame award in 1980, it meant that June Carter Cash had a husband, aunt, uncle and mother in the Hall Of Fame.

CHER

Her debut single for Geffen Records, "I Found Someone" is produced by Michael Bolton.

INXS

Lead singer Michael Hutchence not only provides three songs for the soundtrack to the new film, "Dogs in Space," but also stars in the movie which is set in Melbourne, Australia during the continent's late 70s punk music movement.

KATHY MATTEA

She's the only woman nominated this year for CMA single of the year, with "Walk The Way The Wind Blows."

VAN MORRISON

His latest album, "Poetic Champions Compose," is his 20th album in the 20 years since he left the band Them.

DEBBIE GIBSON

Debbie's mother chaperones when she's on the road, her sister Karen mixes lights and sound for the shows, while another sister, Michele, sews her costumes.

JESUS & MARY CHAIN

TUNNEL OF LOVE-BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN (COLUMBIA)
Bruce Springsteen deals one from the Nebraska end of the deck. Essentially Tunnel of Love is Springsteen alone in a studio with a bag of songs and a blue mood. He abandons his role as bandleader opting to sparingly use E Street band members much like a manager uses his bench. Lyrically, Springsteen elaborates on the effects being number one has on the life of one mortal human being. Nowadays he must rely on his imagination or his memory when it comes to vividly personifying what it's like to live the working class existence circa 1987. All in all, this is an album of introspective sadness and restlessness ("One Step Up"). This time around, Springsteen has more in common with Harry Dean Stanton than Chuck Berry or Roy Orbison. As for songs, I go for "One Step," "Tunnel Of Love" and "Brilliant Disguise"--songs that present this LP as a mood piece rather than a rock and roll package.

"NEED YOU TONIGHT"-INXS (ATLANTIC)

Sometimes the velvet glove hits you harder than the granite fist. INXS get snakey right out-of-the-box. "Need You Tonight" slithers rather than rocks, but slays me just the same.

"I GOT MY MIND SET ON YOU"-GEORGE HARRISON (DARK HORSE/WARNER BROS.)

George lifts his first single from an album he bought when he first visited America with The Beatles. Written by one Rudy Clark (if you're out there, Rudy, your rent's paid), Harrison ironically uses somebody else's song to launch a major comeback. Expect this to be a comeback much like that of Fogerty or Winwood. This guy is back.

THE SISTERS OF MERCY

"THIS CORROSION"-SISTERS OF MERCY (ELEKTRA)

As a big piece of the Sisters splintered off to form Mission UK, Mercy lead singer Andrew Eldritch stays behind to maintain his role as the Prince Of Darkness. Jim Steinman puts in a surprise stunning appearance as producer, devoid of his usual reverberated excesses. Sisters rule.

...NOTHING LIKE THE SUN-STING (A&M)

If you gave Sting's first solo LP more room to breathe and gave the band a world tour to get closer and tighter, ...Nothing Like The Sun is pretty much the outcome you might expect. Luxuriously spread over four sides of vinyl, Sting's prolific outburst of material is sonically preserved close to CD quality. I prefer this latest blend of styles even to the Blue Turtles LP. The packaging flatters the marvelous array of guest players like Eric Clapton, Ruben Blades, and the great Gil Evans and his orchestra on "Little Wing." Drummer Omar Hakim is replaced by the equally impressive Manu Katche. While it's hard to go wrong on any of the twelve trax, "Be Still My Beating Heart," "The Lazarus Heart," and "They Dance Alone" along with "Little Wing" and "We'll Be Together" represent the cream after the first few listens.

LOVE AND ROCKETS!

Earth Sun Moon-Love & Rockets (Big Time)

Put Peter Gunn in a space suit and you can well imagine the groove of "Mirror People," "Love & Rockets" spectacular opening track. Earth Sun Moon vaguely reminds me of Floyd's early Syd Barrett recordings that achieved maximum space attack with the absolute minimum of gadgetry. This is Love & Rockets' big shot that could launch them into the same orbit as The Cure and Echo & The Bunnymen. Trax: "Mirror People," "Waiting For The Flood," "Earth Sun Moon" and the atomic single, "No New Tale To Tell."

"THE RIGHT STUFF"-BRYAN FERRY (E.G./REPRISÉ)

This is the kind of collaboration we dream about: Bryan Ferry and Johnny Marr. Pinch me, I'm dreaming. Both are masters of texture, each from different rock n roll generations. While Top Forty takes the time to figure out just who Bryan Ferry is, Album Radio listeners are buying up Bryan Ferry/Roxy Music CDs. Album/Alternative will take a long lead on this one.

THE LAW OF THE FISH-NEW ORLEANS RADIATORS (EPIC)

The Law Of The Fish is a lot like the Law of the Streets, the Law of the Jungle or the Law of the Airwaves. It's a crime we don't hear more records like this every week. But then, not a lot of bands have the experience or the musical chops The Radiators carry around with them to a typical Tuesday night gig. On this album, they spend their time careening from New Orleans junkyard to bluesy rock to plain old rock n roll while clean production shows off their natural abilities. Trax like "This Wagon's Gonna Roll," "Like Dreamers Do" shine alongside personal favorites like "Doctor Doctor" and "Boomerang." It doesn't take a voodoo doctor to tell you The Radiators belong on American radio. Their approach is good for whatever ails you, chile.

"RAIN IN THE SUMMERTIME"-THE ALARM (IRS)

The Alarm march on into clear, crisper rock territory. "Rain In The Summertime" still bears a passionate seriousness. After all, it was U2 that dragged The Alarm across the United States even before the domestic release of the band's first EP. I'd say Top Forty better listen up. "Rain" is an excellent rockin' song that's skillfully structured with an effective hooky chorus. Thumbs up on this one, baby.

PETER HIMMELMAN

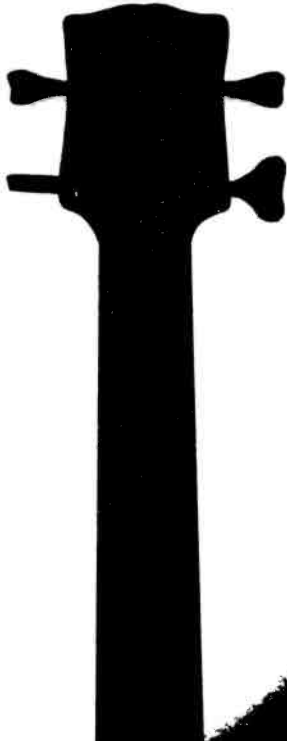

"WANING MOON"-PETER HIMMELMAN (ISLAND)

Peter Himmelman takes a giant step in between his debut album and this, his sophomore effort. "Waning Moon" is crafted just enough to maintain the integrity of an up-and-coming, thinking writer. This is no aimless, mainstream stab, though the layered vocals and guitar work are easily applicable for almost any breed of Album Rocker. Nice expressive, expansive guitar solo on the extended outro. K "Humm Baby" Z

INSIDE ALBUM

by Kent Zimmerman

"Over my dead body."

Ronald Reagan responding to Sam Donaldson's question as to whether the Senate committee's rejection of Judge Bork will cause him to withdraw the nomination.

BROOCE. This week Album Radio launched Bruce Springsteen into the number one slot, a commendable move considering how personal and, well, stark this LP is compared to Born In The USA or the most recent Live box set. It seems to me that listeners will interpret Springsteen as one who is representing the politically disenfranchised, even though, personally, as one of the disenfranchised, I'm not really searching for a voice to represent me.

Tunnel of Love is a quiet work of desperation, as Springsteen attempts to maintain his integrity while his name is listed in the daily paper as an entertainment tycoon second only to Bill "Jello Pudding Pop" Cosby. How an artist deals with such contradictions usually makes for interesting lyrics. I stopped visualizing Bruce Springsteen as the guy next door a long time ago. Some tend to view him much the same way we watch Jack Nicholson perform his craft. It's all a process of aging gracefully and accepting roles as believable. If Jack Nicholson can accept a support role portraying a pot-bellied former astronaut, then Bruce Springsteen can evolve past portraying characters that work in filling stations, which is what he's starting to accomplish on albums like Tunnel Of Love. After all, Woody Guthrie operated in New York City with Leadbelly. He didn't need a constant dust storm to communicate a spirit. It brings to mind the sixties communal concept of family. Who needs another family? Already got one. Same thing with a "Boss." That oft-mentioned nickname must drive him crazy. Who wants another boss?

ROBBIE ROBERTSON. Prepare to hear a lot of praise and hurling adjectives attempting to describe Robbie Robertson's upcoming album due sometime around the October 20's. It really is that good. In fact, it's the finest album I've heard this year. What we get is a deep expression of feelings personified by sound paintings atypical in spirit, unique in sonic presentation. To help prepare our readers, we'll be publishing an interview with Robertson the week the album is released. We hope that his own words and descriptions give you, Gavin reader, added insight into this major musical work.

NICK LAIRD-CLOWES. Next week features an interesting conversation with Nick Laird-Clowes of Dream Academy. This young man is certainly challenging the concept of "band" as we know it. As if the 80's hasn't already split the band concept to smithereens, the upcoming Dream Academy album soars off from where the first album left off, specializing in environmental, but active stories and ideas. Like Robbie Robertson's album, Remembrance Days is a canvas of ideas, almost a scrapbook of impressions, some of which are obvious, some of which need lots of pre-explanation. Laird-Clowes is a master of explanation with a challenging wit and a thirsty curiosity.

EARTHQUAKE. Oddly enough, I found myself in Los Angeles during their 6.1 and 5.5 earthquakes. After the first tremors (which occurred at 7:42 AM), LA witnessed the most pathetic news coverage as only television could display. These were the same anchor people David Letterman ridiculed that very evening. And when the panic began to set in, after the newsmen all crawled under their desks, we turned on the radio and got the straight scoop.

JOHN DOE THE ACTOR. John Doe makes a surprising debut as an actor in Wayne Wang's Slamdance. Mr. X looks slightly out of place in a double knit suit that just hangs. The film is long on style and visual lushness, short on story and characterization. However, it's almost worth the ticket price for the scene where Doe turns from the steering wheel and proceeds to kick Tom "Amadeus" Hulce's derriere. Until next week, stay well. Yer pal, KZ.

INSIDE ALTERNATIVE RADIO

by Peter Standish

The battle continues on the chart as R.E.M. widens their lead to 35% in chart points. Dumptruck is hanging tough ("selling twice as well as their last LP" Brett Greene, KUNV-Las Vegas) as The Smiths, PIL and Jesus & Mary Chain are roaring. Don't underestimate the power of Guadalcanal Diary who are gaining momentum and attracting calls for Jamey Karr, KACV-Amarillo, Brian Davis, WDCR-Hanover, George Spillman, KUCI-Irvine and Ginger Jones KBSU-Boise. Love & Rockets, Icehouse and Gene Loves Jezebel are looking very healthy and jump five - or more - positions. Depeche Mode and Big Black are Certified debuts with B.B. blasting the playlists of Josh Goldfein, WPRB-Princeton ("added last week, #1 this"), Robert Hammer, KXLU-Los Angeles, Helen Urriola, WFIT-Melbourne ("in spite of its LP title"), Jason Cohen, WNUR-Evanston and Lisa Securo, WUNH-Durham. Dramarama, Flying Color and Miracle Legion round out the debuts. Don Dixon is our Record To Watch by doubling his points with new adds from Mark Miller, KABL-Minneapolis, Anita Ammons WUOG-Athens, Heather Young, WUSC-Columbia, Susan Kennedy, WWVU-Morgantown and Michelle Haunold, KBVR-Corvallis. The Radiators are converting some new and old fishheads like Jody Peterson, WNCS-Montpelier ("we love the New Orleans sound"), James Lien, WTUL-New Orleans ("legendary-of course"), John Koski, WRVU-Nashville, Josh Rosenthal, WCDB-Albany ("we're gonna be on it") and Doris "lime-jello" Duwe ("the beginning of the single reminds me of the Snoopy theme"). IMPORT RECORD WATCH: Ivar Hamilton of CFNY-Toronto was raving about a new group called Name. The song is called "Jesus & The Devil" on China Records. He also likes new singles from the Godfathers "Birth School Work Death," Age of Chance "Don't Get Mad, Get Even" and Pop Will Eat Itself. The 91X Peoples Choice this week was the Screaming Blue Messiahs' "I Wanna Be A Flintstone."

SPOTLIGHT LP

Various Artists - DOGS IN SPACE
SOUNDTRACK (Atlantic) INXS' Michael Hutchence stars in this new film based upon the post-punk era in Australia around 1979. Listening to the soundtrack is like discovering a musical time capsule from space that captures the excitement of that era. The previously released music from the influential Brian Eno and Gang Of Four provide an appropriate backdrop for the album's meteor "Dog Food" by Iggy Pop and the title cut by Hutchence. Marie Hoy & Friends and Ollie Olsen contribute two other burners. Olsen, formerly of Whirlywird and currently forming a new band No, is the album's Musical Director.

Code - CABARET VOLTAIRE
(EMI/Manhattan) Even before the techno-pop bus got rolling out of the pop gate, Cabaret Voltaire had laid the asphalt with their eccentric and innovative style for bands like OMD, Human League and Depeche Mode. CV have always been to the left of the aforementioned bands and Code bridges that gap with some of their most accessible music yet. "Here To Go" (with its Tom Tom Club/Konk dance groove), "Thank You", "White Car," "Life Slips By" and "Don't Argue" (the single) lead the pack. The album is co-produced by Adrian Sherwood (Depeche Mode and Ministry) of Fats Comet. Bill Nelson contributes guitar on five tracks.

RF: Why do you think Hands Across America was not as successful as it could have been?

KR: Two weeks prior to the event we were making our last-ditch attempt to get insurance. And the guy said to me, "Any time you get 200,000 people together, ten people are going to die. It's just the law of nature. And if you put five million people across the nation, two hundred people are going to die in that line. If you've got people in the middle of the desert that you can't get emergency help to..." It became an impractical thing. It was certainly worth a try, and I truly believe the people who participated feel it was a success. Besides generating income, it kept that media attention. Another problem was that people refused to believe that people in this country need food.

RF: Doesn't that begin with our president?

KR: Right—"There are no hungry in America." I guess if you're dining out, it's true. If a few people are hungry and we raise a lot of money, we're gonna do a lot of good. If a lot of people are hungry and we raise money, we're going to do a little good. Either way, we should do something about it.

RF: You were also collecting cans of food at your concerts.

KR: We raised over two million pounds of food in one year. What was interesting that year was that the audiences were different. There was something other than the commercial exchange of, "You give me the ticket money and I'll sing you some songs." We were part of a bigger thing that was happening. I hate profundities like that, but there was truly a feeling that was really special.

RF: You have a lot of things going on right now.

KR: I have a new book coming out the first of October, and I have a TV movie, "The Gambler," that will be out in November.

RF: This is the third of "The Gambler" series. Are you going to eclipse Rocky's record for most sequels?

KR: I think we're gonna slug it out. I do genuinely believe this is head-and-shoulders better than anything we've ever done. It's been four years since "Gambler II." That will either work in our favor or against us. Either people will be looking forward to it, or that they will have forgotten all about it—we don't know. CBS is putting a tremendous amount of promotion behind it, so I believe it will do well.

RF: Is there any chance that you and Ronnie Milsap will perform together on the Country Music Association awards?

KR: We're planning on it.

RF: With your latest record on RCA, you returned to Nashville. Has it been a long time since you've recorded in Nashville?

KR: Yes, six or seven years. I think that every ten years, music gets so far out into left field that the average person no longer relates to it. Then someone slips in with a real simple record. I thought Bruce Hornsby was going to be the person to start the simplicity trend again, or Restless Heart, The Trio... Somebody's gonna do it, and Country music is going to come back in. I always feel that I am a Country artist who has been influenced by a lot of other types of music, and consequently I enjoy the opportunity to allow myself the jazz, rock n' roll influence, the R&B influence that I loved so much with Sam Cooke. But I have a tendency to reach a limit and say, "Wait a minute, I need to go back and re-connect with my roots," and that's what we tried to do with this album. It's much more Country, and I think we did some great songs on it. I did the single, "I Prefer The Moonlight," in a show last night, and the people just loved it—which is not always the case with a new song. When you do a song that the audience has never heard, you're asking them to work, and they have to make several quick value judgments as to whether they like the song, whether they like the way you sing it, whether it fits in with their impression of what you should be doing. Everyone becomes an armchair quarterback.

RF: Until recently you had made the decision not to have any commercial endorsements. What was the deciding factor in associating with Dole?

KR: Several different things. First of all, the chief executive officer is a personal friend of mine. He had wanted me to get involved, financially and also in a profile situation, in an island called Lanai which Dole owns. They showed me the way my demographics and Dole's demographics match up. It was more than a commercial, it was a relationship with a friend and a chance to expand these commerial dollars into more dollars. We keep getting back to money, but money is a way of gauging success for me.

RF: What do you see happening in the next few years for you?

KR: Well, there's two ways I can go, and either way is somewhat risky. This is my last contracted album for RCA, but I have not contacted anyone else because I feel signing now is not a great advantage for me. If this album does really well, then I have an advantage. If it doesn't do well, I'm not any worse off than I was before. So it's going to take some foresight. Musically, I would like to find somebody like Jim Mazza was for me at EMI, whose opinion I valued, who can be objective with me, and steer me in a commercial direction. That may or may not be possible. I'm extremely realistic about my ability. There is a factor of age that you cannot ignore. I think that no matter how well I may or may not be able to sing a song, having that same song accepted may be harder than if it were Bruce Springsteen, or someone much younger, or newer. You and I both know radio loves to find new acts, the "new Beatles," while playing something of mine does not have status. It's not a challenge. They would love to find a Bruce Hornsby, with the excitement of a new discovery. And I don't resent that, God knows I've had my place in the sun. It doesn't keep me from trying to compete, because I think there are very few things sadder than an ex-anything. For me, success is very relevant. I don't mind not being number one, that doesn't bother me at all. I just like being out there and being accepted. In concerts I still draw as well as anyone, and I'm having more fun now than I did five years ago. The pressure's off. I know that I can go out and do good shows that people will enjoy, and I know it's not the end of the world if something happens with my music. The other area I could go into is movies. I've had offers to get into movie production.

RF: I want to thank you not only for your music but for being a gentleman in the music business.

KR: I appreciate you giving me the opportunity to speak. Hopefully we'll do it again sometime on top of some kind of success.

bandwagon and criticize people. I feel so sorry for Ken Kragen who has spent 18 hours a day for the past five years trying to do this USA for Africa and Hands Across America. He's constantly being barraged with criticism. Whatever he's done, good, bad or indifferent, he's tried to make a difference. Ken and I have been friends over 20 years.

RF: How did the World Hunger Media Awards come about?

KR: I had met Harry Chapin, who Ken Kragen managed at one time, and Harry was one of the most unselfish men I'd ever met in my life. He would do a hundred shows a year, make $4,000 dollars on it, and give it to this hunger cause. He came to me and wanted me to get involved—this was the time that I was really doing well—and I said, "I have tremendous respect for you, but I'm not Harry Chapin, I can't give the way you can. I can give in other ways. If I gave you a million dollars cash, would it help your problem?" He explained to me that what they really needed was the profile of my involvement to draw attention to it. He said that if I wanted to donate money, I should put it into a yearly arrangement with the media where we'd actually give cash donations to media people who were treating the unpopular subject of world hunger. We chose to reward them with cash. As far as I was concerned they could buy a car, buy their wife a diamond ring—it was their money. But the majority of the people we've given this money to have recycled it. One guy drilled a water well down in Bangladesh. Other people used the money to go on sabbaticals and write a second piece. It has been a very positive arrangement with the media. It's interesting that we have not gotten tremendous media hype on this project. I think it's kind of embarrassing for them to toot their own horn. That's okay with me, I'm not doing it for the promotion, personally.

RF: So Harry Chapin became the catalyst for a larger vision which became USA for Africa.

KR: That's right. He gave the baton to me, and I passed it on to Ken Kragen—and Bob Geldof, who's done more for world hunger than any other individual. You take a tremendous amount of heat for trying to do something good, and you have to be obsessed enough to go through that.

INSIDE COUNTRY

We're proud to announce that there are quite a few Gavin stations among the finalists for this year's CMA Awards. Included among the nominees are: Clarke Brown and Nick Upton at KSON-San Diego; Ron Rogers, Mike Carta and Steve Gary at KVET/KASE-Austin; Tim Wilson and Tim Closson at WAXX-Eau Claire; J.D.Cannon at WFMS-Indianapolis; and Dan Hollander at WDXE-Lawrenceburg. KNIX-Phoenix is one of the finalists for Station Of The Year. The winners will be announced at the CMA Membership Meeting on Tuesday, October 13.

With all the great new product that's being released, we're getting a lot of good feedback on album cuts. Jon Nicols, KJCF-Festus says you should give a listen to David Lynn Jones' "Night In America." Steve Green, KWHT-Pendleton is wild about Steve Earle's "The Rain Came Down."

WWRK/FM-Elberton is logging lots of requests for Dwight Yoakam's "Please Please Baby" and Warner Bros. Doug Grau confirms that this is a heavy favorite for the next single. Birthday Boy Ty Cooper at KMNS-Sioux City thinks "Glass Hearts" from the Desert Rose Band lp is reminiscent of The Byrds. Alan Rowe at WDVA-Danville picks "Hard To Say No" as his favorite from Foster & Lloyd's debut album. And for all of you who were listening to the new Alabama lp and wondering who is singing with Randy Owen on "Face To Face", it's none other than K.T.Oslin.

KVCK-Wolf Point, MT, is combining Country Music Month and 30 years on the air to celebrate with "The Great October Giveaway." Hourly giveaways include a tape of a 90 minute anniversary special featuring the Top 40 Country hits from 1957 and local, state and national news memories from 30 years ago. The show is hosted by morning personality Andy Shamley. Talk to you next week. The Gavin Country Crew

REVIEWS

Foster & Lloyd - "Sure Thing" (RCA) Radney and Bill are hot! After having their debut single go to #1, they had to pick a sure thing for the follow-up release. We think they did.

Restless Heart - "Wheels" (RCA) Looks like this group's on a roll. The title single from their current album has been a longtime favorite with our programmers.

Forester Sisters - "Lyin' In His Arms Again" (Warner Bros.) More than just pretty harmonies, the Sisters sing an emotional song about the other side of cheatin'.

Vern Gosdin - "Do You Believe Me Now" (CBS) When it comes to singing good old-fashioned tearjerkers, few can do it better than Vern.

ARE SLOW SONGS ENTERING RADIO'S FAST LANE?

Why do so many managers and owners consider announcers in the same general category as robots-- then become alarmed when they act like robots?

Whether done by males, females or groups, love ballads have changed the tempo and texture of today's winning urban music. Yes, lately, urban radio has experienced a small renaissance of slow jams. This is not to say we're being overwhelmed, but several stations in both medium and major markets have added popular ballads to their playlists, and even moved them to their "A" stack or power rotation. Included are music and insights of Michael Jackson, Force MDs, even L.L. Cool J, Whitney Houston, Dionne Warwick and Jeffrey Osborne--all offering hit soft songs.

Now that the kids are back in school, dayparting becomes an important factor, particularly during middays. But wait--if you go too soft, what's going to happen to those listeners who expect a rocker to rock? Well, another look in the "answer book" says the familiarity precept takes over here, and that means it's better to play a hit regardless of tempo and other factors than to keep the tempo up with some unfamiliar ear-picks.

RADIO ON THE ROAD

Fall is when the auto manufacturers bring out their new models. Until a few years ago, American automakers showed little interest in car radios. Factory-supplied examples from Detroit were notoriously skimpy. Once again they had to take a lesson from Japan, and the crash of an economy in a town that's seen its share of mishaps seems finally to have awakened the Michigan motor moguls. After decades of near-stodginess, Detroit is being revived by healthy whiffs of innovation.

The new spirit of venturesome engineering is evident in the sound systems custom-fitted for the industry's 1988 models. Single-touch electronic tuning, the range of the FM radios, the steadiness of the tape transport and new in-car CD systems are raising the standards of performance--as well as offering other choices to drivers who tire of the same old songs on the radio.

One thing that can have people pushing buttons or fondling their CDs is the muddy sound of a station that has not improved its audio processing in the last few years. The newer stations--and those who want to continue winning--have gotten cleaner and louder. They're playing CDs and using the highest quality processing. So, as the beat goes on this fall, your station's sound should be cleaner than it's ever been.

In today's fragmented radio markets, establishing a strong identity is not only desirable, it's a matter of survival! So many signals, both AM and FM, float through the airwaves with imperceptible differences in style and substance that being without a trademark is to be the perennial also-ran.

We've all seen instances of the new program director who comes to town and decides to program what he likes instead of listening to his audience. You have to be responsive to what the research bears out, and if the findings show that slow jams are what's happening, well, that could be the difference between winning and being a half-step behind. And it's possible to do it without losing your image as a hit-oriented, adult urban radio station. Sales managers and GMs all say they want a station with strong 25-54 year old adults, and they want it done without sacrificing the younger demos they take for granted--some of them, anyhow.

Finally, what about the attitude of the announcers? After all, they're the ones who have to get the musical message across to the audience. If they don't feel comfortable playing a few more soft songs, they may challenge the computer, the playlist and the program director's judgment. The good ones will understand that radio is a business and that no station can be truly successful by acting like someone's personal jukebox. For mutual respect to grow, there has to be a give and take on both sides. So why do so many managers and owners consider announcers in the same general category as robots--then become alarmed when they act like robots? Because either they are insecure or insensitive, or both. They should realize that their programming staff is only reacting in kind to the signals sent out by management.

Change can and should take place to insure that radio keeps up with the future. There have been changes for the better in recent years, and some people have been against all of them. From the Boulding Book of Lists, we found a small town in Nevada where so little ever changes that the local radio station is still running last year's weather forecasts. Nobody noticed...and the beat goes on. ●

"1987 HAS ALREADY CHECKED IN AS THE YEAR OF MIKI HOWARD."

Rhythm & News, 3/87

ONE YEAR AGO Atlantic Records released COME SHARE MY LOVE, the debut album by Miki Howard. She was instantly recognized as a sensational interpreter of love songs, and top-charting singles like "Imagination" and the title track showed why. If there was any concern about her debut...it was only that Miki's follow-up album be every bit as brilliant.

"... THE CANDIDATE FOR SUPERSTARDOM RIGHT NOW IS MIKI HOWARD, A BUBBLY YOUNG SINGER WITH A POWERFUL VOICE."

Airplay, 4/87

WITH THE RELEASE of "Baby, Be Mine," (7-89165), the first single from the forthcoming album LOVE CONFESSIONS (81810), Miki justifies all the praise from the critics, the radio programmers and the public alike. As much as we believed, you believed. And as ecstatic as we are about her new single, we're sure that you will be too.

"... SHE SHOULD BE A GIGANTIC STAR FOR THE NEXT FIVE YEARS, OR 10 YEARS, OR WHATEVER."

Binghamton Press & Sun Bulletin

A COMPELLING YOUNG ARTIST, with a dazzling new single from the album that's going to make her a legend. 1987 is indeed the year of Miki Howard...and this is still only the beginning of her brilliant career.

INSIDE URBAN RADIO

How about those San Francisco Giants!! Maybe I shouldn't point that out as we sit here at 2:00 PM Wed-nesday afternoon trying to compose our Inside columns listening to the St.Louis/San Francisco play-off game. The first year I came to work here was the last time our team made it to the playoffs! Back in '71, they battled Pittsburgh and I remember listening to Bill Gavin cheer for the home team while listening to the game. Bill would have been 80 on Tuesday of this past week (see Chinwag) just as we approach our 30th Anniversary of this publication. Many of you received cards concerning our 30th and the Seminar this week. More registration information is on its way to you next month. MICHAEL JACKSON gets to number one the same week that brother MARLON jumps into the #8 slot. As the brothers battle for prime positions, the request lines, our reporters tell us, are not only flooding in for "Bad," the calls are for MARLON as well. Certified STEVIE WONDER doesn't surprise anyone, nor does his first week aboard at #33, having never touched Up & Coming or Chartbound. The other Certified, ROGER, is having a hot week on phones: Ernie O'Dell, WFKX-Jackson, reports that he's had it number one on his countdown show for a solid week! Jay Riley, WNOO-Chattanooga, has 18-35 demos calling for it. Shannon Jones, KFXZ-Lafayette shows it number one ones. One of the newest acts generating phone response is the new single by DAVID RUFFIN &

EDDIE KENDRICKS. Did I say new? It's a great tune if you're looking for those adult listeners. Mickey Arnold, WRDW-Augusta, says his adult audience is calling for it thinking it's an old Temptations tune and they love it.

Our Record To Watch, MICO WAVE, brings another member of the past back in full force: BOOTSY COLLINS, of Bootsy Collins' Rubber Band, produces what Frank Barrow, KRIZ-Seattle, tells me is going to be his Monster Of The Year. Gary Weiler, WBLZ-Cincinnati, wants credit for bringing it to your attention first. This week he's testing the MICHAEL COOPER, formerly of Con Funk Shun. We'll be open Monday, Columbus Day.

REVIEWS

By Betty Hollars and John Martinucci

BODY - Middle Of The Night (MCA)

Don't let the title influence you concerning the time of day you play it. Great uptempo tune your morning man can play to wake those listeners up and get them going in the morning, not in the middle of the night.

FREDDIE JACKSON - Look Around (Capitol) WOW! Can this man sing or what? Smooth! Romantic! Freddie has the right combination to grab the female audience and have them asking for more. Already generating listener requests, as most of Freddie's most recent releases have done in past months.

LP CUTS

MELI'SA MORGAN - If You Can Do It, I Can Do It Too
WHITNEY HOUSTON - So Emotional
MICHAEL JACKSON - Dirty Diana/Liberian Girl/Man In The Mirror/The Way You Make Me Feel
ALEXANDER O'NEAL - Hearsay
JELLYBEAN - You're Being A Little Too Good To Me

The double standard just turned single.

THE NEW SINGLE BY

GERALD ALBRIGHT

IS

"SO AMAZING"!

(7-89163) (0-86637) (DMD 1110)

What's really amazing about Gerald Albright is his overwhelming talent. A saxophonist/bassist/composer, in just seven short years

Gerald has won praise for his work with Anita Baker, Philip Bailey, Patrice Rushen, Rick James, Janet Jackson and countless others.

"So Amazing" is the first single from Gerald Albright's debut album, JUST BETWEEN US (81813).

Previously a hit for Luther Vandross, it's now been stunningly transformed by the Albright treatment and is destined to be a smash all over again.

He produced his own album; played bass guitar and alto and tenor saxes on it; and composed six of the album's nine terrific tracks. So what's so amazing about predicting a bright future for Gerald Albright? What's really amazing is finding anyone who still has doubts.

DAVE SHOLIN'S PERSONAL PICKS — SINGLES

INXS - Need You Tonight (Atlantic) As expected, these Australian mega-stars deliver what radio needs! Ok... I'll admit to loving just about everything this band releases but now they've reached a new plateau. So original, so hip, so today, it can't help but stand out on the air. One steady groove that just doesn't quit.

GEORGE HARRISON - Got My Mind Set On You (Dark Horse/Warner Bros.) More than 15 years since its release, George's "All Things Must Pass" LP remains one of the true greats--holding up after all these years. His return to the music scene after an absence of nearly five years is celebrated by an effort which rates amongst his finest. Plus, just ask yourself how many of the 25+ crowd will wanna stick around when you tell 'em you've got a new song from George Harrison comin' up.

WHITESNAKE - Is This Love (Geffen) Impossible to hold back programmers on this tremendous follow-up. Those refusing to wait for the 7-inch are reporting excellent response. One listen is all it takes to know...here they go again.

JUST ARRIVED

JOHN COUGAR MELLENCAMP - Cherry Bomb (Mercury/PolyGram)

"Lonesome Jubilee" is the ultimate showcase for the amazing writing and performing skills of this veteran rocker. Unique instrumentation sets this release apart from all others. Even the song's title is hot. Oh by the way, Happy Birthday, John.

RON FELL'S PERSONAL PICKS — ALBUMS

STING - "...Nothing Like The Sun" (A&M) The single, We'll Be Together, doesn't represent the spirit of the album. That song is a one-off file of English sole-a carrot on a stick employing the common denominators of strident dance/rock and Sting's only concession to expediency in four sides of provocative music. The album overflows with emotionally charged poetry set to a myriad of ethnic arrangements, i.e., reggae, South American jazz and folk with his usual brew of anglicized synchopation. Be Still My Beating Heart may prove to be the album's anchor and most durable track. Little Wing, the Hendrix classic, is given a brilliant new luster thanks to an arrangement by Gil Evans and a sweet guitar solo from Hiram Bullock. They Dance Alone is a haunting tribute to Chilean women who've lost loved ones who've disappeared at the hands of an oppressive "demo-crazy". Fragile is inspired by contra-dictions and the blood stained thin line that separates man from mankind.

BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN - "Tunnel Of Love" (Columbia) A humble production of relatively simple songs recorded somewhere between Asbury Park and his state of Nebraska. Calling upon various members of his E Street Band for selected cameo support, Bruce apparently recorded almost all of the album at home. We hear him rummaging through the closet for skeletons and the attic for memories. Most of the songs deal with relation-ships in fractured states. On recent albums Bruce has championed much larger causes, while wrapping himself in the righteous cloth, but on Tunnel of Love he has returned to mowing his own lawn and painting his own house. The lead single, Brilliant Disguise, was an obvious choice to signal the mood of the album, but my personal favorite is Tougher Than The Rest, wherein our hero flexes his "wish" bone with an air of manly optimism. The title track, Tunnel of Love, is a metaphor for the roller coaster ride through the dimly lit future. Other favorites of mine are All That Heaven Will Allow and an acoustic blues song, One Step Up. Bruce can handle the flack he'll get for not returning to full house productions ala Born In The USA. This album is a thoughtful composition of intrapersonal relation-ships and Bruce has appropriately chosen not to burden his words with monumental production.

"IT'S MY FIRST GUITAR FROM

when the Beatles started out and we were in our leather gear. That's the guitar you see in all those very, very early Beatle photos. I bought it for 75 pounds off a sailor in Liverpool. He'd brought it back from America, then advertised it in the paper for sale. I was looking to get a decent guitar, an American one if I could. Then I gave the guitar to Klaus Voorman. He was the guy who designed the Revolver album cover, and played bass and worked on a lot of records in the old days. He was also on the Concert for Bangla Desh. He had the guitar in L.A., where he lived. Then he split from his wife and went back to Germany, and he gave the guitar to her. Once, I asked him whatever happened to that guitar, and he told me his wife had it. I asked him if I could maybe get it back, and I'd give her another one to replace it, because it wasn't a nostalgia thing to her.

"Using photos of the guitar for the album cover seemed appropriate, because we set out to do a record that was of now, but also sounded like a band possibly from the late '60s, early '70s. We wanted to try and get that old feel and spirit, but with it sounding good for present times, without it actually being full of all the latest gizmos they use these days. I think we achieved that, and I'm very pleased with the way it turned out."
