Britten: A Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra

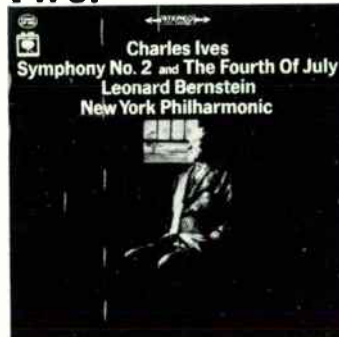

Seven fascinating news items.

One.

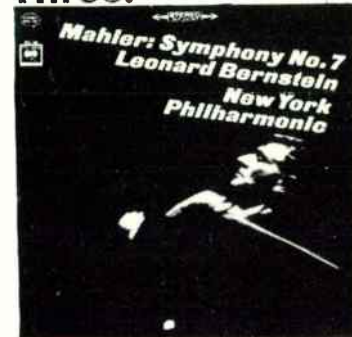

The only available recording of Nielsen's Sixth, this great performance shares the success of the symphony's historic American premiere by Maestro Ormandy and the Philadelphians.

Two.

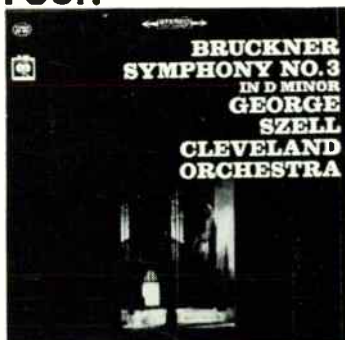

This best-selling album of Charles Ives' Second Symphony includes a bonus 7-inch LP of Leonard Bernstein discussing Ives. A "must" for collectors.

Three.

The Seventh of Mahler's ten symphonies, written in 1905, is brilliantly interpreted by Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic in this acclaimed recording.

Four.

The illustrious Cleveland Orchestra under the baton of George Szell brings fresh insight to this famous symphony in an unforgettable reading.

Five.

Join America's most popular organist, E. Power Biggs, in a madcap musical spree, as he plays 16 all-time classical favorites on the pedal harpsichord. An unusual album with an adventurous new sound.

Six.

OUR COVER

Born in England in November, 1913, Benjamin Britten was a child prodigy. At nine he composed an entire oratorio. One of Britten's most interesting works is A Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra. The composer wrote it to teach listeners the instruments of the orchestra. It consists of a theme, from Purcell's Abdelazar, and variations played by thirteen different instruments. The instruments follow in this order: flutes and piccolo; oboes; clarinets; bassoons; trombones; and percussion. In the concluding passage, all the instruments reappear in the same order to show the full sound of the orchestra.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

Having spent several years working in Baltimore Radio at the time when your publication first began, I now look back and admire the advances you have made. Without any doubt, Forecast FM is the finest publication of its type I have ever seen!

I enjoy scanning Forecast FM each month. It enables me to watch both you and the FM Industry grow in size and force. The Baltimore/Washington area is indeed fortunate to have a publication such as Forecast FM.

Hats off to you and your staff!

Douglas V. Lane
Pres. & General Mgr. — WWDL-FM
Scranton, Penna.

Sir:

I am one Forecast FM subscriber who wants to "second" most heartily the suggestion of Roy Kuhn (Letters to the Editor, October, 1966, p. 16). The suggestion was for a list of compositions arranged alphabetically by composer.

I also subscribe to the WGMS Guide, which has just such a list. Frankly, it is the most useful section of their booklet. I use it most conscientiously. Please make it a part of Forecast FM too!

Even though I use the WGMS guide, I want you to know that I think Forecast FM is tops. As far as I can see, every change you have ever made, has been an improvement. Keep up the good work, and add the list that Mr. Kuhn suggests.

Edmund M. Buras, Jr.
Silver Spring

Sir:

I would like to express my agreement with Mr. Roy Kuhn's suggestion that composers be listed alphabetically. Of course, I realize that this would entail much work, but I would be most happy to see you do this. It goes without saying that your magazine is a great help to me.

John P. Greenspan
Baltimore

Sir:

All in favor of the suggestion by Mr. Roy Kuhn of Arlington to include listings alphabetically by composer. To carry it a step further, if it would ont involve too much trouble and expense, would be an additional listing by soloists. For the voice and/or instrumentalist buff would like to hear his favorite soloist(s) no matter what they are playing or singing.

Victor I. Sorgen
Essex, Md.

Sir:

I think that the suggestion Roy Kuhn made, that Forecast FM include a monthly listing of compositions by composers in alphabetical order would be the best single feature of the magazine, next to the daily log itself. . . .

I was away from Washington for the summer and so I did not keep up on the FM news of the area, but I was disappointed when I came back to see that WMAL and WGMS are still withholding their programs from Forecast FM.

Gerald W. Thuente
Washington

Sir:

Enclosed is check for $5. in payment of a gift subscription to Forecast FM for a period of two years, beginning with the October issue.

Please have the subscription sent to the following:

Rebecca and David Mark

The above persons are a brother and sister, so please make sure that the magazine is addressed as indicated.

I am so delightful with my personal subscription, that I could think of no better gift to give to Rebecca and David, who are my niece and nephew.

(Miss) Lottie Mark
Baltimore

Sir:

My wife and I just purchased a stereo and we decided to subscribe to your magazine because it was the "thing to do." We sincerely believe that anyone who wants to have the best of everything should definitely include Forecast FM for the best in radio entertainment. A most informative magazine!

Robert McNamara
Takoma Park

Sir:

I know that the FM Broadcasting stations cannot please everybody, but I would like to hear FM stereo broadcasts of "Marches."

I have talked to a lot of people and they agree with me. I think that an hour's show would be a delightful treat and the more I think of it, the more I like it. I wish I could express my viewpoint with the words that I feel would do a program of this type justice.

I would appreciate it if you would print this and see how many people think as I do. Maybe this is the beginning of something new and different for the many people who enjoy listening to FM stereo.

You're probably well aware of the changes made in Forecast FM since its first issue in March, 1964. The most obvious change was the new, larger size. But there have been many other improvements made gradually during the past two and a half years.

The FM station listings have grown to the present 10, and several other additions are planned, including a section on UHF-TV! For your convenience, we now boast many other unique features . . . Calendar of the Arts . . . Week At A Glance . . . Brush Up Your Broadway . . . Wagner, Verdi, and Friends . . . The Spoken Word . . . Scanning The Dial . . . Program Subject Index . . . and a host of other listings.

You're also enjoying greatly expanded coverage of such diverse subjects as critical reviews of both classic and popular records (and tape) . . . FM technology . . . the local music scene . . . Notes on Jazz . . . and many other features on the arts. Since March, 1964, many things have changed at Forecast FM, and beginning with our January, 1967 issue, we will be changing the subscription rates to $5 per year.

So you may take advantage of the current rate for personal and gift subscriptions, the current subscription price will continue through this holiday season.

You'll thoroughly enjoy the many, new features planned for the months ahead, so take this opportunity to enter or renew your subscription now, while current rates apply.

Soundsibility!

Soundsibility — superb sound with sensible features — it's a tradition with Viking tape recorders. In keeping with this tradition Viking introduces the new Model 423 — designed to bring you excellence in performance, true stereo fidelity and the utmost in practical operating convenience.

A three-speed unit with solid state stereo electronics, Model 423 also has three motors for highest reliability. Other features include hyperbolic heads, illuminated recording meters and directional control levers. A remote pause control* fits every Model 423 and lets you interrupt and resume recording or playback conveniently from your easy chair. So sensible even the model number is meaningful — 4 tracks, 2 heads, 3 speeds. Uniquely, with all these features, it's less than $250.00.

*Remote pause control and walnut base optional accessories.

You'll also find soundsibility in other Viking models which set a standard of excellence for tape recorders.

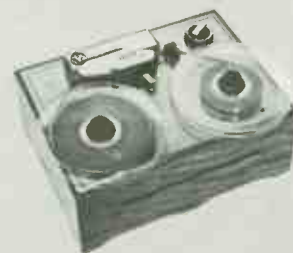

88 Stereo Compact

The "final touch" for stereo music systems. Features tape monitor with three heads, sound-on-sound recording, exceptional fidelity even at slow speed for less than $340.00.

880 Stereo Portable

Same features as Model 88 plus detachable speakers, power amplifier with stereo headphone output in portable case. Carry along for "on the spot" recording or connect to music system for less than $440.00.

807 "Tape Turntable"

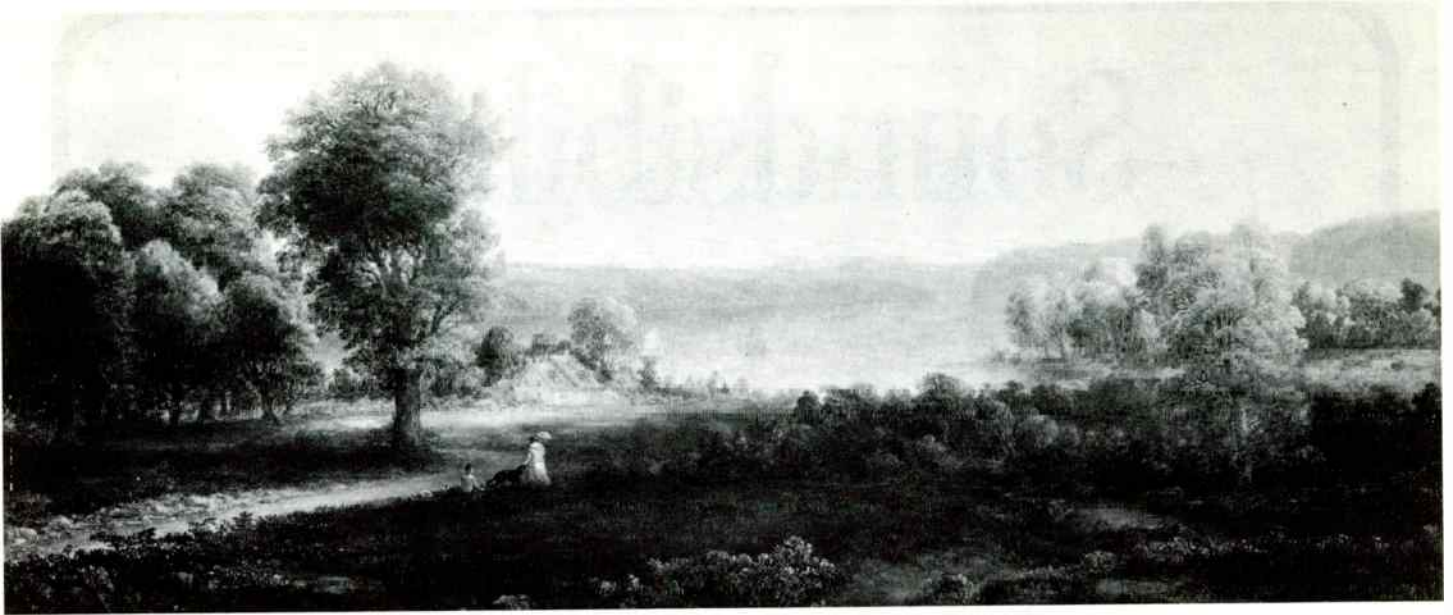

Connects to music system for playback only of all standard monaural or stereo tapes. Features two popular speeds. Use it also to duplicate tapes with another tape recorder. Walnut base included for less than $125.00.

Of all Washington Institutions—schools, galleries, museums, clubs—there is one that seems particularly the city's own. Only the Corcoran Gallery of Art seems to have been designed for Washington residents rather than for tourists and visitors. Could it be that this is because the founder was a native?

William Wilson Corcoran, born in Georgetown in 1798, grew up in a conscientious and patriotic family that was active in the affairs of the city. In later years Corcoran wrote with pride that his father, as a member of a group of gentlemen who rode out to Bladensburg to meet George Washington on his way to Mt. Vernon, had made the "brief address to which the President made a suitable reply." With a background like this, is it to be wondered at that Corcoran loved and helped his own town.

There were not many aspects of life that escaped his attention. He was a banker of great renown and success. He traveled widely and was known for his hospitality. His private bequests were many, and his institutional gifts provided for widows, orphans, and even the dead. Oak Hill Cemetery was started by him, and his own tomb—a charming classical temple—graces the hillside. His life was such that when he died Congress itself stopped in its deliberations to make mention of his passing, a rare tribute to a private person.

Although he was open-handed in so many directions, probably the giving that had his greatest interest was the Gallery. On the gala night in 1870 at the ball when William Wilson Corcoran presented his private art collection to the gallery, he proved that he had meant what he said when he wrote: "Posthumous charities are the very essence of selfishness, when bequeathed by those who, when alive, would part with nothing." Here was a man with many years of life ahead of him, making over to the public greatly cherished possessions.

It is interesting that Corcoran didn't need the suggestion of a committee or a commission to tell him what the city needed. And it is even more interesting to note that the gallery which bears his name also knows what Washington needs and wants. It continues work for and with the community. This particularly comes to mind when any display is made of proposed community buildings or changes: the Corcoran Gallery houses it.

Few people realize that the Corcoran is one of the oldest galleries in the country and its art school one of the oldest schools. In his day Corcoran was considered terribly avant-garde because he encouraged American painters and encouraged them in the really telling way—by buying their works.

The Art School is not just the place where Washington children study painting. In conjunction with George Washington University, it grants art degrees. This, too, reflects the interests of the founder since among his many benevolences were gifts to Columbian College, the forerunner of the George Washington University. The faculty and students are representative of all the major interests in today's art world.

Like a great many institutions which were endowed a century or so ago, the Gallery now has to pinch pennies. This may seem hard to believe when there is so much activity and the shows are so exciting. One way the trustees have devised for raising money is to have members of the association. From ten dollars per person up buys one of the best entertainment values in the city. Also open to members is the art rental service. Although many galleries in the country have this service, the Corcoran is unique in that the paintings are displayed in decorators' "rooms" so that prospective renters (or buyers) can see how paintings fit into a room or, indeed, can change its entire personality. It is odd that in a country where so many people give tacit consent to having their reading chosen for them by membership in book clubs, there should be hesitancy about art guidance. The Corcoran's service provides such guidance without tears.

According to one of the assistants at the gallery, renters of paintings are less conservative than purchasers of paintings. After all, if a painting proves to be not quite your sort after two months or so, it can always be returned. One cannot always be sure about art. Sometimes the ownership is reversed. Perhaps the most entertaining story was the one of the man who rented a painting solely to provide interest at a cocktail party. If the talk at cocktail parties can be called conversation here is a conversation piece de resistance.

So many Washingtonians have enjoyed the Corcoran all their lives. To many it is the first gallery they ever knew. There is no one now who can remember the city without it. The Biennial Exhibits, to name only one traditional feature, are always looked forward to with expectation and remembered with interest. To study the lists of the artists who have hung in it is to read a history of American painting.

When one considers the disappointments of planners in all field of endeavor, it is pleasant to think that William Wilson Corcoran was as successful in his gallery giving as he was in his other activities. The influence of the gallery continues to grow very much as he envisioned. Here are the words he gave to his dream: "... hope that not only a pure and refined pleasure for residents and visitors at the national metropolis, but something useful accomplished in the development of American genius."

MOBILE MULTIPLEX

Stereo tape players for automobile have received a great deal of publicity over the last year. However tape is not the only way in which to enjoy stereo in the family car. This was dramatically demonstrated to me recently when a friend offered me a lift in his snazzy 1966 Buick Riviera. I was surprised, when he started the engine, to hear real stereo. Further investigation revealed a radio dial which read 88 to 108 and the word "STEREO" shining from a small box mounted on fire wall above my feet.

Yes it was real FM stereo not a fake stereo reverberation unit and it sounded beautiful. Tuning across the dial the set switched smoothly from mono to stereo operation when it came across stations of each variety. Somewhat surprisingly there appeared to be very little background hiss even when listening to relatively weak stereo stations. On one quite weak fringe area station the set did switch back and forth between stereo and mono operation as the car moved along. The switching was quiet however and this action can be expected under such weak signal conditions. The other stereo stations, all of which were fifteen to twenty miles away, provided excellent noise-free and steady reception. I was aware that multiplex stereo was available as an added attachment for some automobile FM radios but I was pleasantly surprised to find how well it performs.

Actually this time of year, with the new cars having just arrived, is probably the best time to put in another pitch for auto FM of either the stereo or mono type. Most car manufacturers offer FM/AM radios as an option. In my own case, after living with FM in the car for over two years now, I certainly would not do without it anymore than I would go back to an AM radio at home.

A new factor which will certainly make FM in the car even more worthwhile is the FCC order requiring most FM stations to program at least half their broadcast time

by william a. tyran

separately from associated AM stations. This order is scheduled to go into effect the first of January and is sure to increase the variety of programs available to FM listeners.

An added bonus for automobile FM is the increasing number of FM stations which operate 24 hours per day. It's now getting so that the "night owl" has a greater choice of listenable programs on FM than on AM. Some stations which are permitted by the FCC to transmit on AM in the daytime only (WAQE, WAVA, & WQMR/WGAY are examples), continue to transmit on FM throughout all, or much of the night.

One station, which is permitted by the FCC to operate on AM any hours it wishes, chooses to sign off AM at midnight while programming on FM throughout the remainder of the night. Whatever the reasons for this operation, it nevertheless provides an additional night-time program service on FM (in stereo) which is not available on AM. Altogether there are now four FM stations (WGAY, WGMS, WHFS, & WJMD) in the Washington area, and one (WITH) in the Baltimore area which broadcast stereo all night long.

Aside from the programming aspects the technical performance of automobile FM reception is steadily improving. One important factor in this improvement is the increasing number of FM stations raising power and antenna height as well as adding vertical polarization. The latter is particularly beneficial to automobile reception especially in areas thirty or more miles from the station. To cite an example, several months ago, on a trip to Skyline Drive, I was able to listen to WGAY almost all the way to Front Royal. There are few, if any, Washington AM stations which provide acceptable reception over this. If you, as a devoted FM listener, are buying a shiny new '67 car, consider the added pleasure you will derive from it if it is FM equipped. Better yet order FM stereo. Stereo is even more dramatic in the confines of a car than it is in your living room.

MUSIC ON THE WELL WASHED STEPS

TWENTY-FIVE WORDS OR LESS

by h. donald spatz

In a recent Sunday issue of the New York Times, that paper's chief music critic, Mr. Harold C. Schoenberg, casting a backward glance to the past several years and looking with particular focus at the latest Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow, asked the question: "What are contests worth?" He wanted to know, among other things, if these big "talent searches" are really worth all the hoopla and if they turn up genuinely gifted young singers and instrumentalists.

It is doubtful that many Baltimoreans would give a negative answer to that query in the light of what has happened since the city's Veronica Tyler walked off with second prize honors in Russia.

Mr. Schoenberg had just attended the Berkshire Music Festival concert at which Erich Leinsdorf scheduled appearances by Miss Tyler and other 1966 Tchaikovsky Competition winners with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Although I am familiar with Miss Tyler's great vocal gifts (she studied at the Peabody Conservatory of Music) and have been privileged to hear her sing on other previous occasions, it was my misfortune to be unable to attend this same Tanglewood concert. However, I was present a week later when Maestro Leinsdorf conducted a performance of the Beethoven Ninth Symphony to close the Berkshire Festival season. On that occasion, one of the soloists was another artist who has more than a tenuous connection with Baltimore—the superb tenor, Richard Cassilly, who also studied at the Peabody.

Mr. Cassilly, though he has enjoyed a brilliant and highly successful career in opera and on the concert stage for a number of years, has to my knowledge never entered any of the top international competitions. And here was Veronica Tyler, sharing the same eminent spotlight with one of the world's greatest orchestras, even though she is a comparative newcomer to the heights of the very exacting and demanding musical world!

I am aware that Miss Tyler did not win her honors without long preparation and without an already distinguished career. She has, in fact, been extremely busy in opera, oratorio and concert work and has, on at least two occasions, been featured on coast-to-coast television programs with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic. One of these no less than the actual opening of Philharmonic Hall in New York's Lincoln Center a few years ago! No small potatoes!

But there can be no doubt that the white light of publicity generated by the goings-on in Moscow a few months ago, the wild acclaim given the Baltimore soprano by her Soviet admirers, and her subsequent appearances with Leinsdorf and the Boston Symphony, have done much to bring this young woman's artistry into wide prominence and to catapult her into the richly rewarding career she so rightly deserves.

In fact, as these words are being written, I have seen the announcement that during the coming season Miss Tyler, in Baltimore and elsewhere, will make a number of appearances with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

We must assume that this artist's gifts would eventually have brought her fame and fortune anyway, but if the winning of the Tchaikovsky Competition has shortened her period of waiting and reduced the agony of uncertainty by so much as one week—then yes, it all has certainly been worthwhile. And Miss Tyler (and we) must be grateful.

Should there still be those doubtful of the value of such international contests, they might check with still another Baltimorean—the renowned Leon Fleisher. This great pianist (who teaches at the Peabody and now lives in the city) took top honors at the Queen Elisabeth Competition in Brussels (1952, I believe) and from that moment on his name, though already known, blazed with new brilliance throughout the musical world.

What are these big competitions worth?

So long as they turn up talents like Veronica Tyler and Leon Fleisher—and, lest we forget, Van Cliburn—the question remains purely academic.

May they continue. May they, in fact, multiply!

WGAY. We received the Matinee at One information too late to include details in the log for Sunday, Oct. 6. On that day Bill Doty plans to present "My Fair Lady."

Speaking of Bill Doty, and the program he hosts, Matinee at One is scheduled to be presented to our troops in the far east starting sometime this winter. Air Force Sgt. Bill Miller (many of you will remember Bill Miller from WGAY) has assisted with the arrangements to make this program available. Matinee at One will be broadcast through the facilities of the Armed Forces Radio Service in Bangkok, Thailand.

WHFS reports just as we go to press with FM News another change in their Sunday evening schedule. Rather than drop Symphony Hall (as noted in the log, which incidentally goes to press one week earlier), and move the start of the opera back to 9:00, WHFS has decided to keep Stage 3 at 8:00, add Symphony Hall in the schedule to start at 9:00, and move the opera to 10:30. Clearly a victory for classical music lovers, and gives FM News a chance to show its purpose. The same bulletin reports deletion of the Cerri in Stereo Jazz program (11:00 PM, Monday through Fridays), and the advancing of the World of Entertainment to begin at 11:00.

Charles Gounod's seldom-performed St. Cecilia Mass is now available on a superbly processed Deutsche Grammophon-Ampex tape, with soloists Irmgard Seefried, soprano; tenor Gerhard Stolze, and bass Hermann Uhde, assisted by the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra and Chorus under the direction of Igor Markevitch (DGG DGC 9111, $7.95, 50 min.)

Gounod always was of a highly religious nature, not surprising for the composer of "Faust," and he considered this Mass to be his finest work. Unfortunately, the neglect of this work is warranted. Although it is highly melodic and obviously sincere, it has no special conviction for the subject matter. It is good to have it available on stereo tape in a performance of the quality given it here, and the recorded sound is spacious and wide range.

Herbert Von Karajan

OTHER NEW TAPES IN BRIEF:

SMETANA: The Moldau, Three Dances from "The Bartered Bride" "Bartered Bride" overture; DVORAK: Carnival Overture, Op. 92; Slavonic Dances Nos. 1 and 3, Op. 46, New York Philharmonic conducted by Leonard Bernstein. COLUMBIA MQ 805 48 min. $7.95

This collection of Czech favorites is marked by boisterous performances, but the recorded sound quality I find to be quite disappointing, with harsh strings, restricted dynamic range and a very unnatural sonic aura. There are a few spectacular sounds, such as the timpani in the "Bartered Bride" dances, but the over-all effect is far from realistic. Szell's Epic tape containing all of the above music except the "Bride" overture is superior in every way, and there are many individual tapes of all of the pieces preferable sonically to this new Columbia release.

STRAUSS: Ein Heldenleben, Op. 40, Michel Schwalbe, violinist; Berlin Philharmonic

THE GLENN MILLER ORCHESTRA: Something New Epic 24206

Still deserving of praise for the "Miller Sound" which shaped most of the popular music of the forties and the early fifties, it is nevertheless time for the people who own the Miller name to let the orchestra die a just death. I doubt if they will, for wherever it goes, the band finds a paying audience for its musical sentimentality. Sadly though, some of the arrangers in the years since Miller's death have been insistent on updating the "sound" to agree with current musical fads: the latest being the Tijuana sound popularized by Herb Alpert. In this new context, with its revised instrumentation relying on brass rather than reeds, the band sounds OK, but it's a crime to call it Glenn Miller's Orchestra. Were he still around, I'm sure he would have invented the sound rather than Herb Alpert.

SILVIO SANTISTEBAN: Six String Poetry Epic LN 24207

BOULOU: Jazz/Left Bank Four Corners/Kapp FCL 4234

At hand are two recordings by young guitarists, both highly touted in their respective countries, and both a bit disappointing. Boulou, aged 14, is Paris' current childwonder, a veritable prodigy of the jazz guitar (he is, in fact, the nephew of Django Reinhardt). In most of his playing, one can hear reminiscences of Charlie Christian, and bit of Wes Montgomery's influence. In all, Boulou's playing is intellectually impressive, but the mechanics leave much to be desired: his fingering (could it be his hands are still small?) sounds stiff, and there's a continual rubbing of the strings which would be unnoticeable but for the extremely close mike pickup.

Santisteban, at 16, is a bit more of an accomplished performer. Though it is not really fair to compare him to Boulou, since they differ so in age and repertoire—Santisteban plays the traditional Brazilian serenades and Boulou, jazz—it is immediately apparent that the two years' difference is most beneficial in terms of a fuller musical understanding and assuredness of both phrasing and fingering. The repertoire is also more favorable in the guitarist in Santisteban's case than in Boulou's. In terms of accompanying musicians however, Boulou wins hands down with his "Paris All Stars"; Santisteban's accompanist in some of the tunes, a drummer, has the most wooden rhythm I've heard in a long time. Still, both are worth watching.

SWINGLE SINGERS: Rococo A-Go-Go—Philips PHM 200-214

By the time you read this, the Swingle Singers (named after their organizer and leader) will have landed on these shores for a three month tour. Their commercial success has been largely the result of large album sales, enough in fact to justify a tour. But, I wonder . . . can a group which has no personality, other than its unique vocalisation of certain wordless classical themes, "come off well" on stage? Certainly there's some precedent in such groups as Ray Conniff's, or even Lambert, Hendricks, and Ross/Bavan.

The Conniff organization, to my knowledge, has not concertized extensively, if at all; and LH and R/B are noted for their imitation certain instruments while still singing words. Not so with the Swingle Singers; they are vocalizing only. Unless the stage act has some visual appeal, I'm afraid it's going to be dull as blazes. As far as this record is concerned, I have a similar impression: it's most interesting in small doses; but in album sized portions, it makes for dreary listening. The harmonic limitation of the "Barococo style" don't help either.

MYSTIC MOODS ORCHESTRA: Nighttide—Philips PHM 200-213

Remember their first LP "One Stormy Night"? I found it one of the most pleasurable mood music albums I'd ever heard. This second one is even better than their first. In both you'll hear the sounds of rain, thunder, distant trains, and surf intermingled with some lush arrangements of some very nostalgic songs. This second album features songs predominantly from the last five years of Hollywood music making—which, as anyone will tell you, has been the most inspired period since the 30's—in lush, sensuous arrangements. In a word: sexy.

Orchestra; Herbert von Karajan, cond. DGG DGC 8025, 46 min. $7.95

This is one of the older Karajan-Berlin Philharmonic recordings, and although the performance itself is a fine one, the quality of reproduction leaves a great deal to be desired. This is the orchestra from a distance, and the sound is muddy and ill-defined. It is much superior to the stereo disc version, which is a tribute to the Ampex tape processing, but sonically it cannot compare with the Everest recording or the Reiner version once available on a two-track tape.

BIZET: L'Arlesienne Suite; GRIEG: Excerpts from "Peer Gynt" Cleveland Orchestra conducted by George Szell. COLUMBIA MQ 803 40 min. $7.95

Sterling performances of these familiar scores by Szell and his precision-perfect orchestra; seldom has "In the Hall of the Mountain King" had such a virtuoso performance. However, the Bizet side suffers from a lack of resonance, and the tape sent for review had a severe speed variation making it unlistenable.

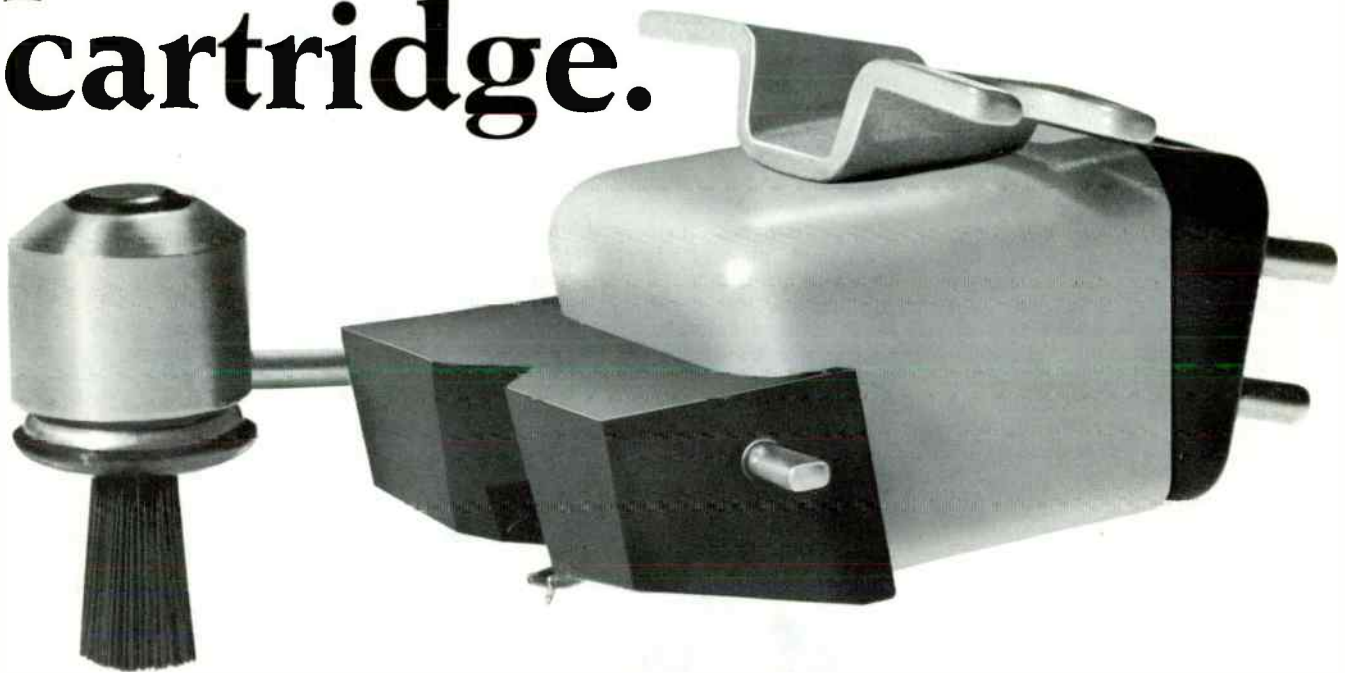

MOZART: Quintet in C, K. 515; Quintet in G Minor, K. 516; Quintet in D, K. 593; Quintet in E Flat, K. 614; William Primrose, violinist; Griller String Quartet. VAN-GUARD VEA 1917 110 min. 3¾. psi $7.95

This is a splendid tape on all accounts, offering Mozart's four last quintets for viola and strings, beautifully played by the master violinist and fine quartet. The slow-speed processing has not subtracted from the high technical standard of the original stereo record issues of several years ago, and the uninterrupted listening possible on this 3¾ ips. tape is a prime asset. It is unfortunate more of the tapes recorded at this slow speed do not have the sonic quality of this release.

MAHLER: Symphony No. 1 in D "Titan"; London Symphony Orchestra conducted by Georg Solti. LONDON LCL 80150, 55 min. $7.95

With the success of this tape and his earlier tape of Mahler's "Symphony No. 4" Solti takes his place as one of the finest interpreters of this composer's music. This is a reading of vital strength and power, with a marvelous climax in the finale. The quality of reproduction is excellent, although it is curious why the side break was made after the third movement, rather than after the second. The RCA tape with Leinsdorf is no competition whatever to this fine tape, but the older Boulou reading on Everest, with its brisk tempi, still has something to offer. Soon London is to issue Solti's interpretation of Mahler's "Resurrection" symphony, an event to anticipate with great expectations.

PRESSED and PRESSING

by robert e. benson

RCA Victor's new disc offering nine operatic arias sung by soprano Leontyne Price is proof positive that she is now the reigning prima donna of the operatic world. Hers is one of the most beautiful voices of our time and it is displayed to great advantage in arias from "Louise," "Adriana Lecouvreur," "Manon," "Otello," "Vanessa," "La Traviata," "Dido and Aeneas," "The Marriage of Figaro" and "L'Africaine." Doubtless in time she will offer more interpretatively, as she has never sung any of these operas on stage; in the meantime, we can bask in the sheer loveliness of her voice. RCA obviously issued the album to coincide with the opening of the new Metropolitan Opera House in September, which starred Miss Price in a totally uninspired opera by Barber. This recording will help the opera enthusiast forget that unfortunate occasion. The disc is handsomely packaged, with an elaborate, illustrated booklet. The reproduction is good, and very clear, although the acoustical environment is on the dry side. (RCA stereo LSC 2898, $5.79).

Leontyne Price

One of Leonard Bernstein's most impressive compositions is his early "Symphony No. 2 for Piano and Orchestra" based on W. H. Auden's poem "The Age of Anxiety." There is an old Columbia recording with the composer conducting the New York Philharmonic with Lukas Foss as pianist, but this has now been superseded by a superlative new recording with Philippe Entremont as pianist and once again Bernstein and the Philharmonic (Columbia stereo MS 6885, $5.79). The soloist's contribution has been elaborated, and Entremont plays it to perfection. The Mahleresque ending is profoundly powerful, and the record can be highly recommended as an example of Bernstein at his finest both as composer and conductor. Columbia's reproduction is exceptionally sonorous and wide range.

Philippe Entremont

OTHER NEW RECORDS IN BRIEF:

HANDEL: Water Music (complete) played by the Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra conducted by Eduard van Beinum (Philips World Series stereo record PHC 9016, $2.50). This was a gem in the Epic catalog for several years and it is good to have it available again on this excellently processed inexpensive record. Beinum's interpretation is sprightly and strong, and this is the finest of the big-orchestra versions of the score.

SCHOECK: Violin Concerto in B Flat, Op. 21; Horn Concerto, Op. 65 played by Ulrich Lehmann, violinist and Jozef Brejza, horn with the Zurich Orchestra conducted by Edmond De Stoutz (Mace stereo MCS 9047, $2.49). The Swiss composer is best known for his numerous lieder, and this excursion into unknown repertory will attract many Romantically inclined listeners. There is a serene, pastorale beauty to this music that compensates considerably for its lack of cohesiveness. The performances are superb, particularly Brejza's contribution, and the recorded sound excellent, with big-hall acoustics. This is one of the best of the low-priced recordings.

DVORAK: Symphony No. 6 in D, Op. 60 played by the London Symphony Orchestra conducted by Witold Rowicki (Philips World Series stereo PHC 9008, $2.50). This fills an important gap in the LP catalog as it is the only stereophonic recording of this lesser-known Dvorak symphony. The performance is superior in every way, as is the reproduction.

LISZT: Polonaise No. 2 in E, Sonetto Del Petrarca 123, Fantasy and Fugue on B.A.C.H., Concert Study in D Flat, Tarantella, Concert Study in F Minor, Legend No. 2 played by Gyorgy Cziffra (Philips World Series stereo, PHC 9005, $2.50). Another bargain, offering a stunning virtuoso display by one of today's finest Liszt specialists.

TCHAIKOVSKY: Piano Concerto No. 2 in G, Op. 44 (Philips World Series stereo PHC 9007, $2.50), played by Nikita Magaloff with the London Symphony Orchestra conducted by Colin Davis. The recent Columbia recording of this music is spectacular in every way, even though the second movement is cut, and Magaloff cannot approach Gary Graffman's incredible virtuosity. Columbia's sound is richer, and the same composer's one-movement "Concerto No. 3" is used as a filler. It costs twice as much, but is worth it.

DVORAK: Violin Concerto in A Minor, Op. 53; Romance, Op. 11 played by Isaac Stern with the Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy (Columbia stereo MS 6876, $5.79). This automatically becomes one of the best of many fine recordings of this beautiful concerto. Several of the other recordings offer more substantial fillers than the brief "Romance" but none are superior in performance or sound.

TCHAIKOVSKY: Manfred Symphony, Op. 58, played by the London Symphony Orchestra conducted by Igor Markevitch (Philips stereo PHS 900,110, $5.79). Markevitch is temperamentally suited to the many dramatic elements of the score and offers a vivid, exciting interpretation. Good though this is, it is not noticeably better than the much older Everest recording with Sir Eugene Goossens and the same orchestra. There are rumors of two other forthcoming recordings of "Manfred," one on London with Maazel and the Vienna Philharmonic, the other on Mercury with Dorati, so some collectors may prefer to wait.

the smoothest, quietest, gentlest, automatic turntable ever designed

The new Miracord 50H achieves a playback quality beyond the capabilities of any other automatic available today. And it accomplishes this with the mechanical reliability, record-handling gentleness and operating simplicity, characteristic of all Miracord turntables.

The 50H embodies every feature known to modern turntable design, and includes several exclusive innovations of its own. It is strikingly handsome, trim and uncluttered, and its very appearance reveals the care and attention lavished on its construction.

The Miracord 50H is powered by a hysteresis motor, assuring locked-in speed accuracy. And it provides the simple, gentle facility of pushbutton operation.

It is also equipped with a dynamically balanced tone arm with interchangeable cartridge insert having a simple, slotted leadscrew control for precise stylus-overhang adjustment. A retractable stylus-position indicator is located on the turntable deck.

The 50H also provides cueing facilities, anti-skate compensation and direct-dialing stylus force adjustment to less than 1/2 gram.

At $149.50, less cartridge and base, the Miracord 50H is probably the most expensive automatic in the field. This is entirely understandable when you consider it is also the finest. See it at your high fidelity dealer, or write: Benjamin Electronic Sound Corp., Farmingdale, N.Y. 11736.

Audio Center Introduces Fisher's first all-solid-state AM/FM stereo receiver. The 220-T.

The new Fisher 220-T was designed for people who seek the convenience of an all-in-one stereo amplifier, tuner and pre-amplifier design, with the added advantages of AM reception and solid-state circuitry. All at moderate cost.

Now that you've read the facts, and know it's a Fisher product, you just might have enough reason to go out and buy one. But we don't think so.

We think you'd be doing yourself an injustice if you were to make a decision based on a printed page.

So, it stands to reason: to be really sure of a high fidelity product like the 220-T, you must hear it.

And that's our message. Listen to the new 220-T, and compare it with the others in its class. Use a good program source, and count the number of stations that can be tuned in clearly.

We feel that the 220-T will come out ahead in a test such as this. But don't let our thinking influence you.

You see, the only thing we want to do is introduce you to the product. The 220-T.

You'll have to decide whether or not you want it as a friend.

How long will Beethoven be around?

A real long time—on pre-recorded tapes with a base of MYLAR*. They're the first to last. Like blank tapes on a base of MYLAR, they don't dry out. They're protected against time, temperature, moisture, too. They can be stored anywhere—indefinitely. That's why MYLAR is the base used for "play-in-car" hi-fi tapes. Pre-recorded tapes represent an investment. Why not invest a little more for MYLAR and have the added insurance and protection of the strongest, longest-lasting tape base you can buy?

Make sure your favorite pre-recorded tapes are on a base of MYLAR polyester film. And look for the label on the box that says MYLAR.

How long will pre-recorded tapes of MYLAR last? Well, how long has Beethoven been around?

*Du Pont registered trademark for its polyester film.

THE DANISH WALL SYSTEM

Because they're at hand yet away from the action, wall systems stretch precious space.

Take this wall-mounted buffet, bar, china closet, silver chest. The lower two units together are 71" long, 15-3/4" deep, 19-3/4" high. The upper tier 15-3/4" high, 11-3/4" deep. In solid and veneered teak, the combination totals $252 . . . an outstanding value.

SCAN has the widest selection of wall systems this side of Copenhagen. Have yours hung on rails, free-standing or wall-mounted. Choose between teak, walnut and rosewood. Design to suit. Components include shelves, magazine rack, desk, chests, cabinets . . . with sliding doors, drop doors, split doors . . . The only thing to do is come and see. Displayed at all SCAN stores.

How can
 a slim, sophisticated, rich-looking,
 desirable tape recorder, that has been one of the hottest sellers, be made even more popular?

Here's how!

This year's Wollensak "5750" proves you can improve on a winner. Take styling. Lines are cleaner, sleeker, more modern. The cabinet . . . finely-finished hardwood. Soft, gold tones accent its decorator styling. And inside? You'll find dozens of important changes that make this the most reliable Wollensak ever created. But one thing hasn't been changed. This is still one of the hottest-selling tape recorders on the market.

Fine hardwood cabinetry and metals in soft, gold tones give a more distinguished, sophisticated appearance. Neutral-colored speaker fabric harmonizes with any decor.

Finger-tip contoured, power-activated push buttons give more positive control. "Control Central" keeps all controls in a handspan. 2 precision VU meters make gain control settings professionally precise. Four-digit tape counter accurately indicates program location.

Improved reel spindles and wider tape recesses for easier threading. Trouble-free performance assured by new balanced-torque motor, positive braking and linkage. The "5750" also includes automatic tape shut-off, automatic head demagnetization, automatic tape lifters.

EDWARD R. MURROW

A Reporter Remembers—Volume I: The War Years

During the frenzied years of World War II, Edward R. Murrow was in London, serving as chief of the American Columbia Broadcasting System's Foreign Staff.

From the scene of battle he reported the devastating effects of war on a people, and a world.

He was there during the Nazi raid of December 29th, when the entire city was aflame and the falling rain looked like blood. He was there when mighty Britain quivered and crumbled beneath the hideous weight of so many bombs. He was there when the school children of London were evacuated. And he hungered, along with the rest of England, for the merry sounds of youthful voices, so painfully absent.

Saw Horrors—and Glories

He knew every horror of war. But he saw its glories, too.

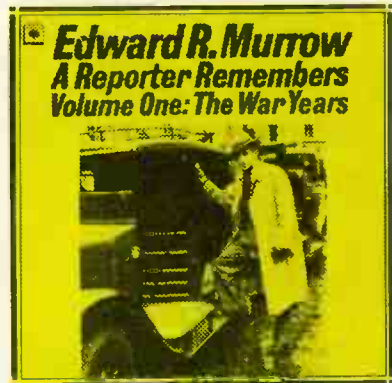

He was witness to the sublime courage of the British people. He remembered with fondness the Christmas carols they sang in their shelters. These people, he said, "were living a life, not an apology." He saw the indomitable valor of Winston Churchill. He felt the thrill of D-Day.

Columbia LP Now Available

In this outstanding Columbia Records 2-LP set, you will hear Mr. Murrow's actual BBC broadcasts—perhaps for the second time. There will be moments of anguish. Like the discovery of Buchenwald. But there will be moments of joy. Like VE Day. They are all moments to remember. And only this reporter could have remembered them all.

Send today for Edward R. Murrow—A Reporter Remembers—Volume One: The War Years.

(THE ORIGINAL CAST ALBUM, OF COURSE.)

The Columbia Records Original Cast Album of The MAD Show. Words and music for unabashed escapists. Significant? No. Enlightening? Hardly. Constructive? You've got to be kidding. But there's no better way to spend a half hour or so laughing your head off at the lunatic times we live in. This is one record every serious individual must own. Just for a change of pace.
