1978: The Industry Again Broadens Its Horizons

Need it be said that the boom goes on? As Record World's annual directory issue for 1978 goes to press, the RW Sales Incex for albums is running about 50 percent ahead of 1977's levels, which in turn were more than 50 percent ahead of those for July 1976.

Some record companies are reaching highest-ever sales totals in each successive guarter, and nearly everyone's balance sheet has improved from last year to this. No sooner are sales expectations conceived, it seems, than they have to be revised upwards. No one who knows this business can deny that music professionals have become more skilled in the past year at recording, manufacturing, promoting and marketing records and tapes, publishing music and programming radio stations—in short, at making the most of the music they are given. Distinctions between musical categories have continued to blur: this year has seen jazz records on pop charts, classical records on jazz charts, even country records on r&b charts. The record buyer is becoming more sophisticated, better informed about all kinds of music, and most importantly more committed to records as his or her principal choice for home entertainment.

All this has kept Record World busier than ever before. We've expanded our radio section, our charts, our general news coverage. We've just conducted our 18th radio/retail seminar. And much more is planned in the months ahead. Can the business keep getting bigger? Bigger, we think, and better.

1977.'78: A Landmark Sales Year for the Record Industry

By ROBERT MORGAN

■ The record industry is experiencing the greatest sales, the greatest dollar volume and the greatest expansion in its 11 year history. For the past decade the industry has grown at the rate of 100 percent a year, and it is estimated that the record industry has now passed the $3 billion mark (at list price) in this country alone. Even figured at wholesale (60 percent of retail) the industry is over the $2 billion mark, a hefty figure for any industry. Record stars have become the new royalty of recorded music and its attendant spin-offs, concerts, discos, and new talent, has made it the largest grossing area of show business, larger than TV or the movies.

It was not very long ago, perhaps the late 1950s, when a prognostication that the record business would soon surpass the $1 billion mark was greeted with laughter. The man who made the prediction was the late Manny Sacks, then head of the RCA Victor records division. It didn't take long for his prediction to come true in the 1960s, even though he was not around to see it. But what has happened during the last three or four years makes all other periods of expansion in the business look puerile. Since 1975 there has been a veritable explosion in records, an explosion that has brought the industry unprecedented sales and unprecedented prosperity. Last year, 1977, was the best year ever in records, setting new highs in sales and revenues. And 1978, only six months old, has already surpassed the first six months of last year.

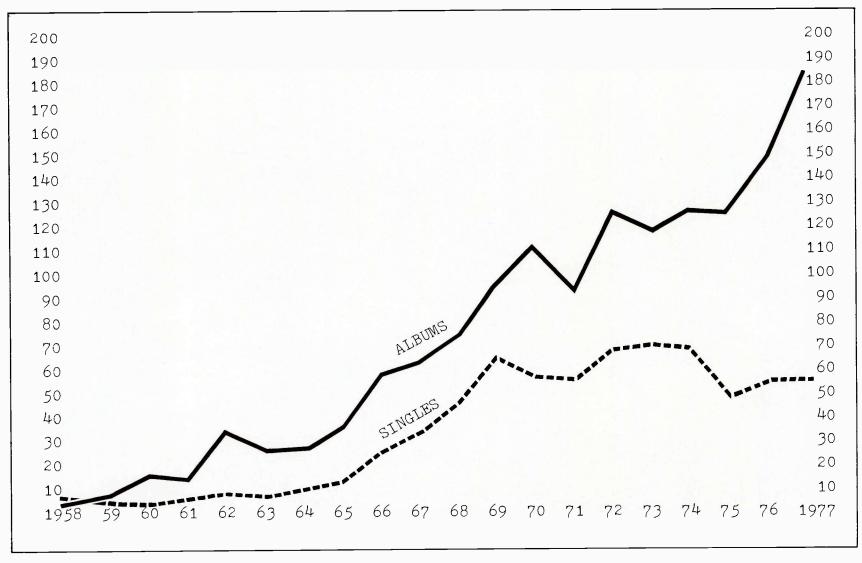

Just look at what's happened in records recently. For the third year in a row the industry has produced an album that has passed the 10 million sales mark. This year's hot, hot record is, of course, the Bee Gees' "Saturday Night Fever" soundtrack, worldwide sales of which are expected to come close to twenty million sets. Since "Saturday Night Fever" is a two lp set, that means the income to RSO Records from this album could easily pass the $100 million mark! This is a higher figure than all but a handful of Hollywood movies earn, and in fact only the biggest hit movies ever approach those revenues.

Giant Album Sales

"Saturday Night Fever" is the latest in what seem to be a yearly flow of giant selling records. Last year, 1977, Fleetwood Mac's "Rumours" sold well over eight million copies. And in 1976, Peter Frampton's "Frampton Comes Alive" was well over the 10 million mark. These giants had been preceded by others over the past decade, albums that set the pattern for what is happening today. Carole King's "Tapestry" was a 10 million seller back in 1972. Simon and Garfunkel had an album or two that sold five million copies, including "Bridge Over Troubled Waters." The Beatles hit the five million mark with a number of their albums and their worldwide sales were even higher.

Elvis Presley was the man who really moved the record industry into the big-selling album era. Sales in the millions became commonplace with his albums, and RCA Victor became the first company who had to learn to "fill the pipelines" to satisfy the tremendous demand for his lps the moment they were released. The procedure (Continued on page 14) of manufacturing 250,000 lps and jackets in advance, and having them on the floor before releasing an album by a top star, is now SOP for all manufacturers, but was revolutionary back in the 1950s.

Today however, it isn't only one album a year that becomes a giant seller, it's many. In fact, last year there were five to 10 albums that were multi-million sellers. While Fleetwood Mac was selling its eight million copies, the Eagles were selling six million with "Hotel California," and Linda Ronstadt, Billy Joel, Foreigner, Barry Manilow, Boston, Barbra Streisand, Shaun Cassidy, Rod Stewart, Queen, Wings, Kiss, Kansas and a few others were selling double and triple platinum.

The extent to which the industry expanded during the past few years is evident from the growth of gold and platinum Ip awards by the Record Industry Association of America (RIAA) since 1975. Firstly, it was 1975 when the RIAA members decided that gold records were no longer a sufficient award in the light of the tremendous sales being chalked up by albums and singles in the mid-'70s. So the RIAA introduced a new award, the platinum record. Where the gold record was given for sales of 500,000 albums (Ips and tapes) and for 1,000,000 singles, the platinum record was to be given for sales of 1,000,000 albums, and for 2,000,000 singles.

The first year the platinum award was given, in 1976, there were 37 albums that qualified for the award. Then in 1977, there was a bonanza of platinum awards. Albums winning platinum awards totaled 68! This is a truly staggering figure. It means that in 1977, 68 albums sold at least 68,000,000 lps and/or tapes. And we already know that many of these albums sold five and ten times platinum. The entire record industry didn't sell this many albums ten years ago.

Hot Soundtracks

One of the most exciting aspects of the past year was the surge in sales of soundtrack albums. Among the smash sellers were soundtracks from "Star Wars," "Rocky," "Car Wash," "A Star Is Born" and "Saturday Night Fever." The latter, at the pace it is still going, could become the biggest selling album of all time. Just a half dozen years ago soundtrack albums were looked upon by record companies like one looks upon the plague. There were more bomb soundtrack albums than you could count, and record companies refused to bid on them. (If they had to take them they wouldn't work on them very hard.) But things began to happen in Hollywood that changed all that. New executives took over the studios, executives with a fresher, younger outlook. New producers and new directors who cared about and listened to pop music became the movie makers. They signed pop writers to compose their scores, John Williams for "Star Wars," Bill Conti for "Rocky," Joe Brooks for "You Light Up My Life," Barbra Streisand and Paul Williams for "A Star Is Born," and the Bee Gees for "Saturday Night Fever."

Things changed. Soundtrack albums, like the movies they came from, began to tap the market that loved contemporary pop music, and soundtrack albums started selling again. Started selling is an understatement; they became smash hits. "A Star Is Born" was the biggest selling album Barbra Streisand has ever had, and she has had many hit albums in her long career. "Saturday Night Fever" is obviously the Bee Gees' biggest and they too have had many hit albums over the past two decades.

Hollywood has relearned that if you give the public what it wants the box-office booms. Hollywood has also relearned how much the music can sell a picture. "You Light Up My Life," Joe Brooks' hit song, helped the movie become one of the hits of the fall season. The three million sales of the single and innumerable airplay were constant advertisements for the movie. "A Star Is Born" was the subject of a massive three-way advertising campaign, including the movie, the record album and the paperback book (containing the novelization of the screen play). The hit song from the album, "Evergreen," by Streisand and Williams, certainly helped the movie box office.

In case anyone thought the soundtrack surge surge was a fluke, in mid-May a story ran in Record World the contained the following: (Continued on page 16)

Soundtrack albums account for a full ten percent of the top 100 this week, the first time that music from film has had as significant an impact since the rock explosion of the early sixties. The original soundtrack to "Grease," this week's Chartmaker, and the soundtrack to "Rocky Horror Show" join recent chart additions "American Hot Wax," "FM," "The Last Waltz" and "Thank God It's Friday" this week, while "Saturday Night Fever," "Star Wars," "The Story Of 'Star Wars'" and ABBA's "The Album" continue their reign.

Pressing Problems

Until last year the amount of record pressing facilities in the United States seemed ample for any emergency. In fact many industry observers felt that pressing plants had been overbuilt. Last year two things happened. The record business surged to a new record, and Elvis Presley died. Suddenly pressing plant capacity was strained beyond all expectation and every record plant in the country went on a triple shift.

The demand for Presley records was so heavy that RCA was unable to keep up with the demand and had to go outside for pressings. Since many companies use RCA pressings facilities, that made things very tight. It has been estimated that somewhere between 40 and 50 million Elvis Presley albums were sold after his death last year. Some smaller labels, without a specific contract with a pressing company, were aced out of pressings for many of their new releases, and settled for a limited release schedule. By the end of the year, the pressing plants, working at top capacity, six days a week, had cleared everything up, and so far in 1978 there is no pressing problem.

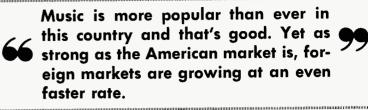

However, the problems in 1977 set many manufacturers and pressing plants to look to the future. A number of pressing plants enlarged their capacity. Some manufacturers without any pressing facilities started quietly looking into the costs of starting up and maintaining their own pressing operations. Columbia Records, which has always owned its own facilities, announced construction of a new pressing plant in Georgia in May, which will employ over 3000 people. Walter Yetnikoff, president of CBS Records, said: "We have made this commitment to meet our own current and future needs as well as the anticipated strong growth of the U.S. record industry in the years ahead. To satisfy our share of the exploding industry demand, we have determined that expansion of our own facilities was the most efficient approach to solving the problem of shortfall in manufacturing capacity that has developed in the U.S. record industry."

Good News Survey

It really seemed that nothing could go wrong with the record business last year or this year. Remember the big shift in demographics who showed that over the next ten years there would be more people over 25 years of age than under 25? Remember how everyone was worried that this would affect record sales, since it was assumed that people under 25 were the major audience for records? And how everyone, spurred on by the RIAA, was gearing up to try to sell more records to adults?

In March, Warner Communications revealed the results of an extensive, in-depth survey of almost 4000 record buyers that knocked all of these worries to smithereens. The WCI survey, presented by Michael Kapp, president of Warner Special Products, and Dr. Martin Fishbein, Professor of Psychology and Research, University of Illinois, showed that buyers aged 25 to 49 account for a greater part of dollar purchases (44 percent) than the 15 to 25 year age group, the source of 39 percent of dollar purchases. The importance of this finding relates to United States Census projections which indicate the number of people aged 25 to 49 will increase 22 percent between 1977 and 1985, while those aged 10 to 24 will decline 9 percent. The study not only established that buyers over the age of 25 account for the majority of total dollar purchases today, but that this group will be increasing while the under 25s will be decreasing.

The WCI survey also had more major facts for record executives. They were: 53 percent of the U.S. population purchased at least one record or tape in the survey year; women buy almost as many records as men (48 percent of dollar purchases against 52 percent for men); 83 percent of the U.S. population over 10 years of age has access to record or tape playback equipment, with 54 percent having access to both record and tape players; record purchasing rises with education levels; and a sizeable amount of record buying is made to give to others, indicating that records have potential as important gift items.

To attentive followers of popular music, the most significant findings in the WCI prerecorded music survey concerned the types of music purchased most often by music buffs. First is rock (all varieties) which is favored by those buyers who account for 36 percent of all dollar purchases. Next comes easy listening and country and western, with 14 percent each; soul, r&b & disco accounts for 13 percent; and jazz is preferred by buyers accounting for 4 percent of total dollar purchases.

Patterns of Growth

The question most often asked is: what caused the explosion in the record business in the mid-1970s? Why did albums start selling in the multi-millions and the tens of millions, figures that would have been incredible a decade ago? Everyone has taken a crack at answering these questions, and no one is sure of the answers, but these are the opinions of some acute observers of the record scene, both high and low on the executive totem pole. 1. There are many more stores where records can be purchased than ever before. 2. Marketing of records is more sophisticated than it used to be, and the advertising campaigns of record companies, encompassing radio, TV, print and in-store display, reaches more people than previously. 3. Music fans steeped in the rock and roll of Elvis Presley or the Beatles, have continued to buy records almost as avidly as he or she did as a teen, enlarging the audience for pop records by many millions. 4. Today's pop music, with the exception of a radical movement like punk rock, is essentially middle-of-the-road, which means everyone can listen to pop music (which includes pop, rock, country and blues) and enjoy it right away, without any pre-conditioning. (Perhaps we've all been pre-conditioned by twenty years of rock and roll.) Thus when a truly superb album like Fleetwood Mac's "Rumours" is released, everybody, from 10 to 50 digs it, enjoys it and buys it. 5. Today's producers are very close to the market. They know what they like, and what they like a great many record fans like as well. 6. More and more popular music is played on radio, TV and movies, making songs and performers more widely known and more accessible than ever before.

Obviously there are a dozen other explanations for today's expanding record market, but enough said. Music is more popular than ever in this country and that's good. Yet as strong as the American market is, foreign markets are growing at an even faster rate. Both WEA International and CBS's International divisions report growth abroad at twice the rate of the United States. U.S. musicians, singers, and songs, along with English counterparts, dominate the world record markets. CBS and WEA have edged out the European giants, Polydor, EMI, Philips, in many countries throughout the world. Popular music is still America's greatest export.

The Battle Of The Giants

As in other years the Warner Communications labels and the CBS group continued the battle for first place, with the WEA labels the frontrunner in the United States and the CBS group ahead worldwide. Warner's domestic sales amounted to $364.3 million, which is 68 percent out of a total of $532.4 million in worldwide group revenues. CBS's domestic sales are estimated at $345 million out of a total of $767.9 worldwide. The battle continued on the artist level as well, with Columbia signing James Taylor, formerly with Warner Bros. Records, and Warner Bros. signing Paul Simon, formerly with Columbia Records.

On the domestic front, Phonodisc, the Polygram Record Group's distribution arm, increased its business over 60 percent last year, with the addition of the hot Casablanca label (an interest in Casablanca was purchased by Polygram in October, 1977), and distribution of both Polydor and its labels (DGG, Kolob, Spring and ECM), Polygram and its labels (Mercury, Philips, Monument) and independent labels RSO, Island, Capricorn, and Casablanca's labels Millennium and Parachute. A&M Records switched more cities from independent to branch distribution, and now Boston, Atlanta (shared by Motown), Seattle, Denver, San Francisco, Phoenix and Los Angeles are all being handled by (Continued on page 18)

1978-The Year of the Fever

By ROBERT MORGAN ■ The entire record industry caught a fever in 1978. Not the fever that Little Willie John and Peggy Lee used to sing about, but a new kind, "Saturday Night Fever." to be exact. This double album on RSO Records, the soundtrack of the film of the same name, with almost all of the original music composed and sung by the Bee Gees, has become one of the biggest selling albums of all time. Domestic sales were in excess of 10 million in six months, and there was a distinct possibility that it might reach the 20 million mark after the international sales were completed. From the album sprang three massive single hits, "How Deep Is Your Love," "Stayin' Alive" and "Night Fever," all by the Bee Gees. "How Deep Is Your Love" did 1.7 million copies, while "Stayin' Alive" and "Night Fever" are both certified platinum singles.

The question that always arises with successful soundtrack albums is how much the album helped the picture, or conversely, how much the picture helped the album. In the case of "Woodstock," for instance, the album was released long after the movie was issued and the movie served as advertising for the soundtrack. In the case of "Saturday Night Fever," the album first helped the movie and then the movie helped the album, and they each helped each other immensely.

As everyone knows by now, the album was released in November, 1977, about a month before the picture. A single from the album, "How Deep Is Your Love," was issued about the same time. Within a month, "Saturday Night Fever" was certified platinum by the RIAA, and "How Deep Is Your Love" was a smash on Record World's Singles Chart.

Since the album was released before the picture, it is apparent that the album made it on its own, aided by strong promotion and hefty advertising and merchandising. The Bee Gees were a pretty hot group even before "Saturday Night Fever." Their last RSO album, "Here At Last . . . Bee Gees . . . Live," went platinum, and gave rise to a number of hit singles. A superb new Bee Gees album, with five new songs by the brothers Barry, Maurice and Robin, all in disco style, plus tracks by pop hit-makers Tavares, K.C. and the Sunshine Band, Walter Murphy, Yvonne Elliman, and MFSB, had all the earmarks of a platinum seller. RSO worked it hard and successfully, getting ready for the picture's opening in December.

The movie "Saturday Night Fever" opened in December to almost unanimously bad reviews, although most reviewers were taken by John Travolta. But it made little difference what the critics said. Travolta, whom every teen and young adult knew from his TV role as Vinnie Barbarino on "Welcome Back, Kotter," and his string of hit singles, had a tremendous following and they all flocked to see his first movie.

The movie was so successful that for the first half of 1978 it was the second highest grossing picture, second only to "Close Encounters Of The Third Kind." Perhaps even more important, its success gave new creedence to rock and roll pictures, and spurred a flock of class pictures in the rock genre. Before "Saturday Night Fever," most rock pictures, with some notable excep-tions like "Tommy," and "A Star Is Born," were generally of the schlock-rock variety. But over the past six months a number of major pictures in the rock field have been released, or will soon be released, like "Grease," "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," "Thank God It's Friday," "The Buddy Holly Story" and "The Last Waltz."

"Saturday Night Fever" did not bring back rock soundtracks. "A Star Is Born," "Rocky," "You Light Up My Life," and "Car Wash" were all very successful rock soundtracks. But it showed that a rock soundtrack can be as big or bigger than a hit rock album of any kind, if the music is strong enough, the artists performing it are well enough known, and the movie is a hit.

The additional fallout from the "Saturday Night Fever" track is its sales pattern. It indicates the record market is much larger than anyone in the record business had ever dared dream it might be. There are approximately 70 million families in the United States. One out of every seven families is the owner of a "Saturday Night Fever" record. Between the movie and the record and radio, probably half of the entire population of the United States is aware of the hit songs from the picture. And what happened here will happen, to a greater or lesser degree, overseas.

Sales of the "Saturday Night Fever" soundtrack indicate the ability of the record business to fulfill an overwhelming demand quickly. The orders for "Saturday Night Fever" ran as high as one million albums per week. Polydor and RSO were able to meet this incredible demand even though the album is a two-record set. There are approximately 70 million families in the United States. One out of every seven . . . is the owner of a 'Saturday Night Fever' record.

Is "Saturday Night Fever" a freak? Will it set the peak sales mark for years for albums? Probably not for long. "Sgt. Pepper" or "Grease" or another commercial, highly exploitable album, most possibly a soundtrack, could sell 25 million copies worldwide tomorrow. The market for records is not limited or finite, it is constantly expanding. Fortunately, the record industry is able to produce the kind of records that more and more people want and is able to fill the demand for such product. The record industry can as easily produce 30 million records as ten (with a little more time). There is enough pressing capacity in this country these days to fulfill any foreseeable demand.

We sometimes don't realize ourselves how deeply our popular music is wanted, or needed, or how important it is to so many people. The sales of "Saturday Night Fever" are an indicator of how deep an impact a pop score can make on almost everyone who hears it.

its branch operation. On the other hand, ABC Records went back to independent distribution in all cities except New York and Los Angeles after selling its ABC rack operation. And Artie Mogull and Jerry Rubinstein, both industry veterans, bought United Artists Records from TransAmerica.

Women Move Up

The year has been a good one for the progress of women in the record business. Women have done very well in the publicity field during the past five years, and have made good inroads in promotion. Now there are women in engineering, a field that has been, for many years, completely male dominated. More women have entered the field of producing. In Nashville recently four women were named vice presidents of firms in publishing, record, a talent agency, and a jingle-production firm.

Jo Walker, executive director of the CMA, and Frances Preston, vice president of BMI, Nashville, laid the groundwork in preparing the way for today's female executives in Music City, USA. In fact, Nashville has been one of the leaders in bringing women out of the secretarial ghetto and into executive jobs in entertainment. More and more women, in many cities throughout the country, have been moving into executive positions in radio, as music directors and program directors. And there are more women disc jockeys today than ever before. THE RSO FAMILY WOULD LIKE TO CONGRATULATE BARRY GIBB, ALBHY GALUTEN, AND KARL RICHARDSON *1 TOP PRODUCERS

When people think of RCA International, they naturally think of our tremendous reach. We're more than flattered; however, we feel our global network is just part of the story.

Year after year we make a successful effort at keeping our finger on the pulse of ever-changing trends in an ever-changing industry. It has earned us the respect of the worldwide music community.

Please tear out this handy reference directory and use it when you feel you have the product that can go the distance. We won't just point the way with a finger, we'll take you by the hand.

IS RAVING:

Ely's emotional openness seems neither sentimental nor contrived. He balls the jack with irrefutable glee and sings the lonesome ones so high and hard he makes the next room sound 500 miles away. In short, there hasn't been anything like this since Gram Parsons was around. Robert Christgau – Village Voice

WATCH[®]THIS FACE: JOE ELY. Chances are that you haven't heard much about the Joe Ely Band, if you've heard anything at all. But I've got a gut feeling that you're going to hear a lot from him. Ely is playing his own style of fresh, witty and sensitive honky tonk rock. It's good and it's real. If Joe Ely travels through your area, go whoop it up with him.

- Country Music

Full of poignancy, insight and affection for the Southwest and its people, Ely's songs offer the non-native listener a chance to understand what that part of the country is like.

Martha Hume - Rolling Stone

HONKY TONK MASQUERADE

We're so happy. We threw a party for Joe. Since San Francisco did so well with the album and single we wanted to thank all radio and press. They came from all over the bay area. It was held at the Keystone Club and everyone thought it was the biggest and best "breakout" party ever.

Produced by Chip Young

Giobal Language Spoken Here.

Music is the world's most accessible language. And today more than ever, contemporary music speaks to everyone everywhere. A good music publisher responds to that fact. He publishes on a global scale.

United Artists Music publishing companies have long had that global outlook. Our network of publishing companies and affiliates reaches from Hollywood to New York, Nashville, London, Tokyo and on to every major music capitol in between. Our songs, scores, compositions tour each and every one of these locations. We put words and music to work on every level in every place. Clearly, we do speak the global language.

It's the only way to talk when you're one of the industry's leading music publishers.

THESE BULLETS ARE REAL... THEY'RE LEGITIMATE, THEY MEAN BUSINESS!

They are just a few pages away on the charts that are compiled by the people who count.

We count units, we don't count on emotion, abstractions or hype. Our charts reflect business and generate business. When you're dealing in sales, profits and building careers you can't afford to rely on guesswork projections that result in returns. You can count on us, the quantitative people, with the charts and bullets that really mean business...accurate, reliable and merchandisable.

fact: you can choose your microphone to enhance your individuality.

Shure makes microphones for every imaginable use. Like musical instruments, each different type of Shure microphone has a distinctive "sound," or physical characteristic that optimizes it for particular applications, voices, or effects. Take, for example, the Shure SM58 and SM59 microphones:

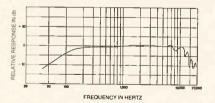

silent...

The SM59 is a relatively new, dynamic cardioid microphone. Yet it is already widely accepted as a standard for distinguished studio productions. In fact, you'll often see it on TV... especially on musical shows where perfection of sound quality is a major consideration. This revolutionary cardioid microphone has an exceptionally flat frequency response and neutral sound that reproduces exactly what it hears. It's designed to give good bass response when miking at a distance. Re-markably rugged — it's built to shrug off rough handling. And, it is superb in rejecting mechanical stand noise such as floor and desk vibrations because of a unique, patented built-in shock mount. It also features a special hum-bucking coil for superior noise reduction!

Some like it essentially flat ...

SM58 Crisp, bright "abuse proof"

Probably the most widely used on-stage, hand-held cardioid dynamic microphone. The SM58 dynamic microphone is preferred for its punch in live vocal applications ... especially where close-up miking is important. It is THE worldstandard professional stage microphone with the distinctive Shure upper mid-range presence peak for an intelligible, lively sound. Worldrenowned for its ability to withstand the kind of abuse that would destroy many other microphones. Designed to minimize the boominess you'd expect from close miking. Rugged, efficient spherical windscreen eliminates pops. Lightweight (15 ounces!) hand-sized. The first choice among rock, pop, R & B, country, gospel, and jazz vocalists

...some like a "presence" peak.

Don't ask for the impossible...

For those of you who may not be familiar with what we do we have been designing ads, covers, labels, catalogs, etc. for over 20 years. We also set the type, do the printing, make the jackets. Part of the reason we are still around and growing is that our clients know they can count on us—we don't promise the moon and not deliver—we're honest, tell it like it is and deliver a commendable job, usually on time.

Since most of our work (layout, art, typography, camera, printing, etc.) is done internally by our own people and our own equipment we can maintain control of all work and at the same time be very competitive. Small run and/or low budget: see our full color "Instant Album Covers" free catalog available.

A GLOBAL MUSICAL FAMILY

With a family of seven thousand people working for us, it's next to impossible to find an area of the globe where people aren't singing and listening to our music.

When we speak of the CRI "family" we're absolutely serious. Because CRI is America's most comprehensive, diversified and sophisticated international music organization — with more of our own companies in more countries than any competitors.

In addition to bringing American artists to the rest of the world, our subsidiaries are constantly adding to their own local rosters, developing successful artists not only for their own marketplaces but for other territories, as well.

And tying all of our local companies together are regional offices which allow us to spread our success from one country to another.

With all these people working exclusively for CRI, our family has been able to grow in new ways this year. We've signed major international acts like Julio Iglesias and Raffaella Carra; brought Heatwave to the U.S.; and added new labels like TK and Jet Records worldwide and A&M in Europe.

CRI: developing the Music market place in every corner of the world.

Keen Competition Highlights the UK Record Scene

By PHILIP PALMER

■ LONDON—Every year it is estimated, over 1,000 million records are sold throughout the world and although sales in individual territories are often sensitive to temporary changes in consumer spending and other economic conditions, overall there has been enormous growth in sales over the past 30 years or so. The continent of Europe accounts for approximately one-third of the world's record business, with the UK a traditional leader in musical tastes and product.

With a population fast approaching 60 million it is interesting to note that recorded music commands less than 2 percent of all leisure spending in the UK; well over twenty times as much money is spent on alcoholic drinks.

While the price of records continues to rise—a normal price single is approaching the one pound market while an album can cost as much as four pounds—UK sales of seven inch singles have risen during 1977 to 61.415 units as opposed to the previous year's figure of 56.924.

However latest figures reveal that sales of 12-inch albums have slumped from 83.794 units to 81.417 according to the British Phonographic Industry (BPI). This can be attributed to the everincreasing problem of home taping.

The sales of cassettes in the UK per units of 1000's have continued to climb from 15.967 to 17.938 while the cartridge has dropped from 2.246 to 1.069.

Retail sales in the UK for seveninch records are put at 38.2 million pounds against the 1976 figure of 33.6 while albums show an increase to 193.2 against the previous year's figure of 173.1.

Majors Dominate

While impressive in size, the UK record market is dominated by the established majors like EMI, CBS, RCA, the Polydor-Phonogram Group, WEA and others although it is gratifying to note that in recent years there has been a continued emergence of smaller independent companies estimated at around 200.

In the recent survey published by the British Market Research Bureau for the January to March quarter EMI had a lead of 18.3 percent of the singles market and a 21.2 percent in the album field. CBS scored 14.4 percent and 16.9 percent in singles and albums against the 13.7 and 11.7 percentages gained by the CBS Records Group.

Although many companies felt the pinch during 1977 due to the economic climate, several overseas organisations were confident of the potential and eventual comeback of the UK market in the future. The year saw a number of important companies setting up in the UK, notably the Ariola Records Group, which since its launch in the UK, in August 1977 has been following an aggressive policy in signing new acts for the UK and international music markets.

The coming months will see a number of other European companies invading the UK, particularly French and German organisations keen to expand their respective activities.

It is estimated that UK independent labels can capture a reported 25 percent of the music market. Companies like Virgin, Chiswick, Stiff and the nearly fiveyear old Magnet Records operation are beginning to chalk up regular chart placings and because of their compact size can sign up acts quicker than the majors, and perhaps more important, devote all their time in breaking new talent.

On the music publishing front the major publishing houses have continued to gobble up the old established companies and firms like the EMI Music Publishing Group, Chappell and ATV dominate the market through their sheer size.

However, small firms have also continued to spring up with varying degrees of success and it is perhaps the infant Heavy Levy Music publishing group which has managed to make considerable inroads in the UK charts.

The UK record industry is served by BBC Radio and Television and the commercial radio stations, headed by the popular Capital Radio but over the past few years more and more companies have taken to the small screen to promote their product and TV promoted albums continue to chalk up impressive sales to offset the high costs involved.

The lack of TV pop shows continue to be a bone of contention to the music industry but the arrival soon of the Mickey Most production "Revolver" promises to give UK pop on TV a muchneeded shot in the arm.

While British pop continues to dominate the charts home and abroad, 1977 has seen an everincreasing number of international hits breaking on the charts, giving the industry fierce and healthy competition.

The State of the Japanese Market

Record production in Japan in 1977 (from January to December) totaled 184,000,000 copies, 8 percent less than the previous year, with a total value of 163,500 million yen, almost the same as the previous year, according to the report from the Japanese Phonograph Record Association.

During the period from the end of World War II until 1955, Japanese record production remained at a constantly low level. From 1956 to 1976, production increased annually, except in 1970 and in 1975, when the figures dropped in comparison to the preceding years. In 1977, reflecting the general trend of the weakening Japanese economy, a decrease was once again recorded.

Singles

The production of singles (17 cm 45 rpm) was 85,759,000 copies, 14 percent less than the previous year, and was 34,745 million yen in value, 8 percent less than the previous year. Japanese singles production showed 11 percent decrease in volume and was down 4 percent in value over the previous year, while foreign singles showed a 27 percent decrease in value and down 22 percent in value over the previous year. The ratio of singles production to total record production was 47 percent (Japan-ese 18 percent — foreign 3 percent) in value, showing a slight increase over the previous year. The production of 17cm 33rpm showed an increase in 1977, with a 6 percent rise in volume and 9 percent rise in value compared to the previous year, but shared only 1 percent of total record production.

25cm Product

The production of 25cm is very small every year. The ratio of this size to the total record production was only 0.1 percent both in volume and in value. Foreign records of this size were not produced.

The production of 30cm records was 91,780,000 copies in 1977, 3 percent less than the previous year. This was 126,100 million yen in value, 2 percent more than the previous year. The ratio of 30cm records to total record production value was 49.9 percent (Japanese 26.1 percent -foreign 23.8 percent).

Volume Trends

The production of Japanese records had showed an increasing trend in volume before 1975 when it decreased with 1.1 percent down compared with the previous year. It showed 10 percent increase in volume and 21 percent increase in value in 1976. However, it decreased with 8 percent in volume and 1 percent in value in 1977. On the other hand, foreign record production showed 8 percent decrease in volume and 1 percent increase in value against the previous year. In the past, except 1969, the production of 30cm foreign records had been greater than that of Japanese, but in 1973 this trend abruptly stopped and the production of 30cm Japanese records has been more than that of foreign. A comparison of Japanese and foreign record production was 58 percent to 42 percent in value.

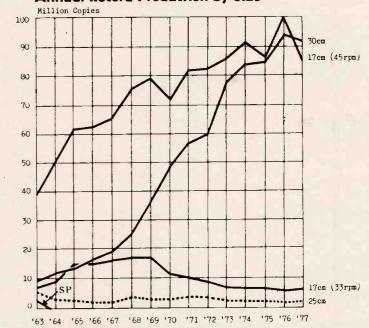

The number of records released in 1977 was 15,756 copies, only 2 percent more than the previous year, while that of music-tape was 5,027 units, 6 percent less than the previous year.

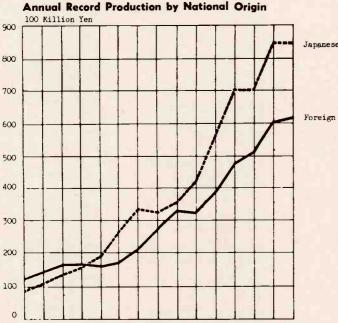

Total production of music-tape in 1977 was 34,680,000 units, 10 percent more than the previous year. This was 59,100 million yen, 8 percent more than the previous year.

Tape Production

Production of pre-recorded 8track tapes fell drastically in 1973 and sharp decreases have been registered in each subsequent year. This was due basically to repercussions from the (Continued on page 202)

The State of the Japanese Market

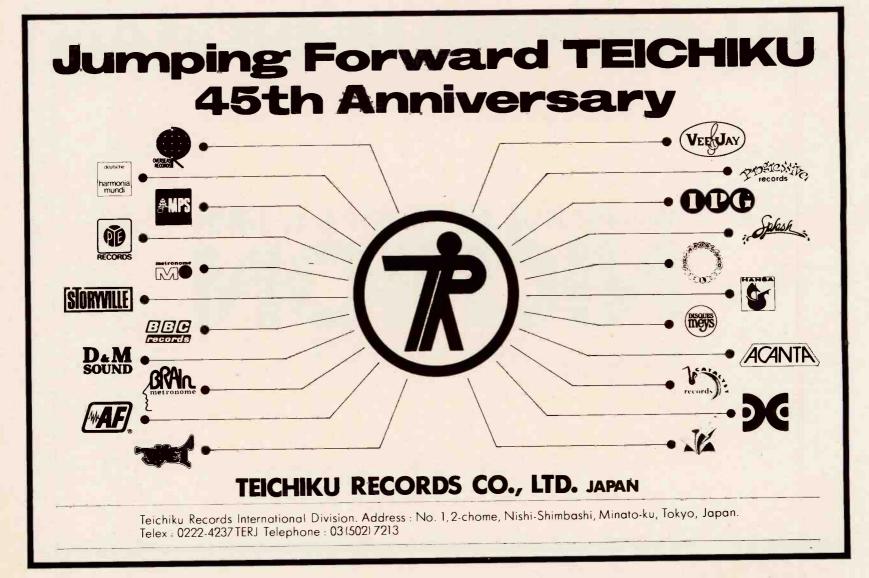

(Continued from page 198) 1973 Arab oil embargo, which severely limited the time consumers spent in automobiles. Also, during this period, Japanese auto manufacturers began replacing 8-track decks with cassettes as optional equipment. The merits of this change, both in terms of handling convenience and smaller space requirements in compact Japanese automobiles is quite obvious and requires no further explanation.

Total record exports in 1977 reached 702 million yen, 63 percent more than the previous year. Main importers of Japanese music in 1977 included America (Continued on page 206)

From analog to digital -Now entering a new century of sound with PCM recording

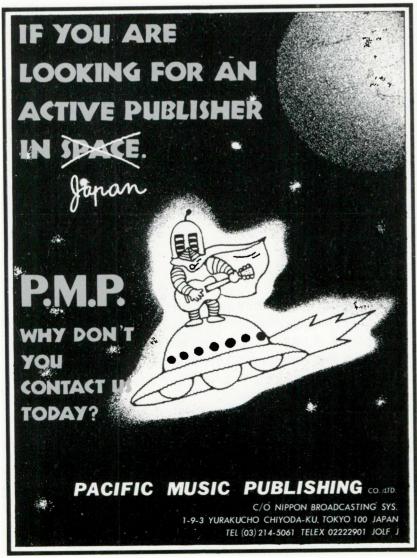

PCM (Pulse Code Modulation) technology used in space communication, international telephone circuits, relays between broadcasting stations and many other fields was first directed to the area of studio recording for discs by the Nippon Columbia Co., Ltd., which placed the world's first PCM record on sale in 1972. Nippon Columbia's catalogue of PCM records now includes 120 classical, 30 popular, 20 jazz and other numbers, totaling more than 200.

with the previous year in 1975, and in 1976, they also showed 12 percent decrease in volume and 7 percent decrease in value. However, in 1977, they -showed 18 percent increase in volume and 24 percent increase in value.

As of July, 1977, foreign labels released here in Japan increased by 206 and there were 303 releases of affiliated labels. Both of them have continued to increase, so that Japanese music fans may now enjoy the records of most major labels throughout the world. However, the recent increase of foreign record imports has given rise to a problem of the competition between importers and Japanese record manufacturers.

Three hundred and fifty-nine new recording artists debuted between January and December in 1977, showing a decrease against the previous year.

Annual Production of 25cm and 30cm

Stereo ownership has spread to 54.9 percent of the total Japanese families, and tape recorders are owned by 56.2 precent. This presents the estimation that 18,870,000 stereos and 19,320,000 tape recorders have spread. The great demand for this hardware simply means an enlargement of the basis of demand for records and music tapes, but it should be pointed out that the widespread use of home recordings increases private recording from radio or records, which has produced severe circumstances against the sales of commercially recorded music.

Good Old Germany is only as good as your partner over there.

We have almost half a century of practical experience.

We are one of the leading music publishers in the German speaking territories.

We have the best connections to producers, recording companies, radio, press, television and theaters.

So if you want to get action and experience ask UfA.

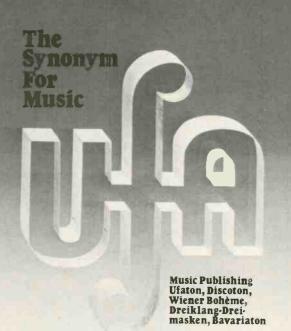

So if you want to get songs and catalogues properly handled - ask UfA.

So if you would like to be successful in all the German speaking territories - ask UfA.

So if you need to know what is happening in European show and music business - ask UfA.

So if you want to make a deal with an outstanding music publisher in the German speaking territories - ask UfA.

UfA-the professionals.

GET VÆRKENDER® NOV... FOR THE FALL RATINGS

WEEKENDER The Weekend Alternative

Weekender is a program geared to increase both rating numbers and your sales numbers. The success of Casey Kasem as a weekend sales tool has been incredible for both subscribers and listeners. Weekender's sophisticated style makes it The Adult Contemporary Countdown Alternative.

VEEKENDER

Music Record World Top 30

Record World is the most respected review in the music business. For each three hour show, Weekender counts down the Record World top 30 singles in the country. And we do more. We explore the music scene, and the people who make the music, both on stage and behind the business.

V/EEKENDER

News & Current Events-Public Service

Weekender complements its comprehensive coverage of the music scene with news and public service events. The light news items, short features, and public service spots are logged weekly for your credit to the FCC so you can present a contemporary music program that helps to satisfy your FCC requirements without turning off your listeners.

U/EEKENDER Interviews

Weekender talks to people like Chuck Mangione, former Wings drummer Joey English, Steve Katz, a founding force of Jazz Rock with Blood, Sweat & Tears, now a record company executive, and Eddie Brigatti, former lead singer for the Rascals. Weekender looks at new faces, too, like Rick Presley, the former Xerox representative who's now making $100,000 a year copying Elvis. Our interviews are part of what makes Weekender unique.

U/EEKENDER Oldies

Our full-time oldies researcher and one of the most extensive collections in the country allow us to present the best music of charts gone by, including the original versions of current remakes.

VIEEKENDER

The Complete Weekend Alternative

Weekender is the show that brings your listeners the music they want to hear, the features that lift a show from the realm of the ordinary, the news and public service you can use for your FCC obligations, and the superior quality of content and production that increases both ratings and sales.

U/EEKENDER

featuring Ferdinand Jay and Jo Phelps... Interviews, features, and the best music in the country!
