Radio You Listen To . . .

• I would like to register my protest at the moving of Court of Opinions (CBC radio) to the most inconvenient listening time of Friday afternoon. (It has now been moved to 8:30 p.m. Fridays, as of January 6th — THE EDITOR.)

If there is any consolation to be gathered from having one of my favorite programs moved, it is in the increased pleasure afforded by the extended news coverage at 6:00 p.m. (The World at 6:00, weekdays), and the additional emphasis being placed on drama. Being a non-television viewer and a constant CBC radio listener, I imagine that I have a tendency to be hypercritical of any changes introduced into my listening pattern . . . My sincere thanks for presenting radio that you listen to rather than just hear.

—J.D.M., Westmount, Qué.

A Sincere Thank You

• Congratulations and also a sincere thank you for the wonderful year just past on CBC radio and television. You have topped it off in marvellous fashion with your repeat telecast of Silent Night, Lonely Night (Festival), CBC-TV, December 14th), a production which showed great depth.

May I make a suggestion in your programming? I would enjoy seeing your brilliant film critic, Gerald Pratley, as a guest panelist on Flashback. The high quality of his program on radio on Saturday nights at 7:30 p.m. and the large amount of research that has obviously gone into it, definitely qualifies him as an excellent panelist.

—M.R.K., Ottawa.

Congratulations and Thanks

• May I congratulate you and thank you for your renditions of the various operas (Music Canada, CBC-TV, December 7th).

It was most enjoyable and at our house we think very highly of such programs. We shall be watching for further works of this type.

—K.M.J., Winnipeg.

• I wish to express my thanks for a fine program of operatic works over the CBC-TV network on Wednesday, December 7th. I wish we could have a good deal more of this.

—P.S., Winnipeg.

Better All the Time

• I have been watching Open House and its successor, Take Thirty (CBC-TV, daily, Monday to Friday) for many years. What impresses me most of this fine program is its tendency to improve itself. It not only becomes better all the time, it has reached now an excellence unmatched by any other public affairs features on TV.

It is no mean feat to tackle such controversial topics as sex and religion without arousing public outcries. The reason for its success is not hard to find. First it has an incredibly wide range of human interest material in its presentation and each program is done in good taste which leaves no room for protest or objections.

Whoever may be responsible for this fine program, there can be little doubt Adrienne Clarkson must be given a lion's share for its extraordinary success. Her charm, her intellectual curiosity about life in its every conceivable variety and her amazing ability to handle each topic she has been assigned for presentation make her one of the most brilliant women who ever graced a TV screen.

May Take Thirty serve as a model for many other TV programs which are still indeed in dire need of improvement.

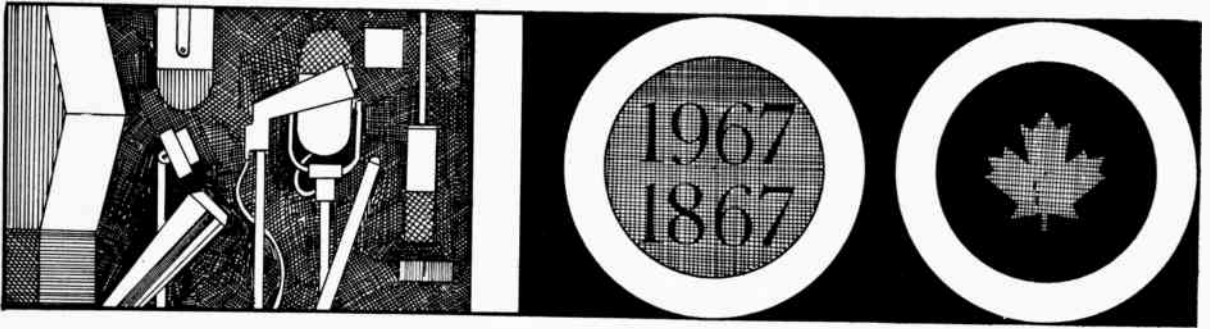

—H.M., Winnipeg

Lack of Direction

• Your program Public Eye (CBC-TV, Tuesdays) on January 3rd promised to be exciting and informative. Instead, because of lack of direction, it was frustrating. Have you no one who is versed in the basic rules of conducting a discussion from the floor? Any good teacher must be able to guide comment so that all feel free to express themselves and are given the opportunity to do so. Your speakers from the floor were allowed to interrupt each other so that many of your guests were cut off before they could say what might have been a worthwhile contribution.

—S.J., Saskatoon

CBC Marks Canada's Centennial Year

THE BIG news in Canadian sports during Centennial Year is the 1967 Pan-American Games, which are being held in Winnipeg from July 22nd to August 7th. Eighteen countries are sending some 3,500 athletes to Winnipeg to take part in the competitions, and CBC-TV Sports will be on hand to report on the 400 events.

Television coverage of the Games will be the most ambitious ever undertaken by CBC-TV Sports. The CBC has arranged to set up a broadcast centre for radio and television at Winnipeg's Minto Armouries, where the facilities will also be available to other countries. Most of the daily coverage on CBC television throughout the duration of the Games will be in color. No less than 12 color cameras, in addition to other electronic equipment, will be located at strategic points in the new stadium now being built and the other sites—the Winnipeg Stadium, the Winnipeg Arena, and parts of the Armouries. The events that are expected to be of particular interest to Canadians—swimming, track and field events, rowing and gymnastics—are scheduled for telecast in color.

The opening ceremonies will be covered on CBC-TV on Saturday, July 22nd at 2:30 p.m. It is expected at the time of writing that a member of the Royal Family, possibly H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, will open the Games.

Pan-American Games

EVER CLOSER draws the big day: the opening of Expo '67, Canada's first international world exhibition and a superb salute to our Centennial. It will be a time of excitement, vitality, eye-filling spectacles, and precedent-setting occasions . . . and CBC will be there—in the $10,000,000 Broadcasting Centre—ready to communicate the wonder of it all to the nation. CBC will be active in many ways: broadcasting a variety of events direct from Expo; playing host and making facilities available to an expected 200 visiting broadcasting organizations; guiding visitors through the Broadcasting Centre where they will see a showcase view of broadcasting as it happens; covering headline sports attractions and major festive occasions at Expo and in Montreal, featuring international stars, orchestras, ballet companies, and celebrities. When the big day dawns, tune to CBC for Expo, visit CBC at Expo. We'll be in the Broadcast Centre, located at the Expo entrance, near Rendezvous Square.

Features and Special Events

THE FOLLOWING month-by-month guide to Centennial programming on the CBC television network takes in not only coverage of major special events across Canada, but also those continuing CBC-TV series — such as 20/20, Telescope '67, and Canada 100 — which are purely Canadian in character and are devoted to the people and places of Canada in its 100th year. Unless otherwise indicated, all the programs listed will be telecast in color.

Not included in this list are the visits of Her Majesty The Queen and Prince Philip, and Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother. CBC-TV will be covering these events, but no formal announcement concerning dates and itineraries has yet been made.

FEBRUARY

Quebec Winter Carnival, Monday, February 6th at 8:00 p.m.: Highlights of the 12 days of fun and festivities in Quebec's streets — the arrival of Bonhomme Carnaval, the night parade, the ice-canoe race, fireworks displays at the Fête de Nuit at Lac Beauport, and a look at the grand ball and the habitant dinner. Commentator Alex Trebek is our guide for this one-hour program.

20/20 begins a special series of seven programs on February 16th that will be telecast on Thursdays at 10:30 p.m. Following these, 20/20 reverts to its usual Sunday afternoon period on the network. For its first program on Thursday nights, 20/20 tours Yorkville Village in Toronto. This is an entertaining look at the Village and the people, young and old, who live and work in what is perhaps the most misunderstood community in Canada. Richard Knowles is the series producer.

Out There the Land, Friday, February 17th at 8:00 p.m.: One of the Canada 100 series, this program is a portrait of the changing life on the Canadian land, the way people today live on the land in contrast to urban dwellers. J. Frank Willis, host of the Canada 100 series, introduces the program, and on location Gordie Tapp will be our guide to the places visited. Out There the Land is written by Hugh Kemp and produced by Michael Rothery.

The Majority Generation. A broad picture of the "under-25 generation" of today — how they live, study, work; the tremendous amount of money they spend, and their hopes and fears of the future. Six half-hour black-and-white documentaries, presented at 7:00 p.m. Mondays beginning February 20th on CBWT and at a later date CBXT.

20/20 — The Year of the Ram, Thursday, February 23rd: A visit to Canada's largest Chinese community — Chinatown in Vancouver, where the Wong family show us traditional and modern aspects of Chinese-Canadians' lives.

MARCH

20/20 — The Roaring Game, Thursday, March 9th: A light-hearted look at curling, Canada's biggest participating sport.

20/20 — The Gentlemen Usher of the Black Rod, Thursday, March 16th: A study of the office of Black Rod, one of the most colorful elements in Canada's Parliamentary system.

(British Columbia)

20/20 — Louisbourg Revisited, Thursday, March 23rd:
A visit to the 200-year-old fort in Cape Breton, showing the progress on its restoration to its original state.

APRIL

Sunday, April 9th is the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge. Special services commemorating Canada's part in this First World War battle will be held in France and Canada. Details of CBC-TV coverage of the services will be announced in CBC TIMES.

The St. Lawrence River: Another Canada 100 program produced and directed by Michael Rothery and narrated by J. Frank Willis. Scheduled for telecast in April. Further details will be announced later.

Accents '67 is a series of 26 black-and-white half-hour documentaries, a continuing prairie magazine of Centennial events and activities. It will be produced bi-monthly in April and May, weekly in June, July, August and September, and bi-monthly in October, November and December.

Expo '67, Friday, April 28th: The official opening ceremonies will be telecast in a two-hour program at 11:00 a.m. together with other material videotaped earlier. At 9:00 p.m. a one-hour program will show the whole spectacular panorama of Expo '67 and will include highlights of the opening ceremonies. A half-hour program of the fireworks displays at Expo '67 will be presented later on Friday night, at 12:00 midnight.

MAY

This Week at Expo, Tuesday, May 2nd: Each Tuesday evening from May 2nd until the conclusion of Expo '67 in October, CBC-TV will visit a different pavilion at the fair and interview some of the many famous personalities visiting Expo.

Visit of Princess Alexandra. Her Royal Highness will be visiting Ontario, the western provinces and the North from mid-May to mid-June. Details of CBC-TV coverage of arrival and departure and highlights of her stay here will be announced later.

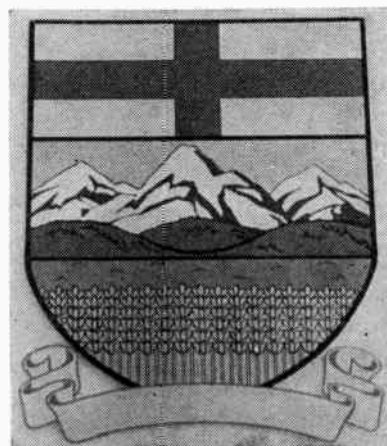

Canada Entertains. A filmed record of the show of that title which CBC radio, in co-operation with the Department of National Defence, sent abroad in March to entertain servicemen. Television producer Peter Kelly and his film crew went along with the entertainers, who visited the troops in Europe, Africa, and India and Pakistan. The on-stage and behind-the-scenes highlights of the three-week tour will be telecast on both the English- and French-language networks late in May. Gordie Tapp was the Master of Ceremonies on the tour, Henri Bergeron the co-host and announcer.

Voyageur Canoe Pageant, Wednesday, May 24th at 4:00 p.m.: From Rocky Mountain House, Alberta, the official start of the canoe race and pageant.

Dominion Drama Festival, Sunday, May 28th: Highlights of drama presentations during festival week and interviews with some of the personalities involved.

Public Affairs

AS MAN'S power over nature in science, technology and other fields increases at breakneck speed, his influence becomes dangerously great. Everything he touches today has a chain reaction that affects not only him and his immediate surroundings, but has consequences that can reach all nations. So alarming is the outlook that some governments, universities and scientists, especially in the U.S., are making special studies of the great transition and the future for man and his world. One hopeful note is that being human, man has a choice, but he must make it before it is too late to change direction, before he has lost his identity in the name of progress.

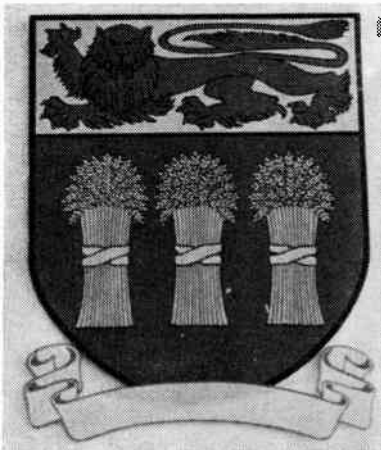

Three hour-long Centennial TV programs will attempt to indicate the direction in which man seems to be going, with special reference to Canada, on May 24th and 31st, and June 7th. Executive producer Vincent Tovell says they won't purport to say the last word on the subject, and barely the first, but what they point out is of great consequence to everyone of us. The first two are documentaries, mostly in color. The third is a studio play in color, set in Ottawa between 11:00 p.m. and midnight on New Year's Eve, 1999. Considerable research for the series has been done by Christina McDougall.

The first program, produced and directed by Tovell, under the title of The Earth Is a Very Small Space Ship, deals with the world around man, the changes technology is making in the way he lives, on the land, sea and air space of his planet. Man is a changer of things, manipulating the world, but it is changing him, too, perhaps more than he realizes.

The second program, titled Celebration: An Essay on the Interior Life, considers inner space: man's brain, intelligence and conscience. It traces the vast network of feedback of thought in existence, in which ideas are colliding with one another in a perpetual, bewildering bombardment of the senses. The program is produced and directed by Tom Koch. The further we go in organizing external things, the more forcefully we are faced with the stark question: after global affluence, what next? Once the survival game is in hand—food, shelter, clothing, health services—we're there, and human purpose becomes the big problem. What does it mean to be me in the jet age of the mind? What will man do next? What will he be next? Why bother at all?

The third program is an original play, written and produced by Eric Koch and directed by Mel Breen. The subject is the political world on New Year's Eve, 1999, and Canada's place in it. Special research for the program was done by Arthur Waskow of the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington, D.C. The play is a serious fantasy, not science fiction, concerning itself with human institutions. It does not stretch our imaginations too far—all the situations are plausible in the light of the way things are presently developing in the world, politically and economically. Koch predicts three alternative worlds: the right-wing white man's club, in which the U.S. and Russia gang up on the Chinese and police the world; the revolutionary world in which Canada has managed to extricate herself from the U.S. embrace and appease both Quebec and the ghost of Sir John A. Macdonald • (Please turn to page 35)

Drama

A 10-WEEK color series of hour-long comedy-adventure dramas about pioneer life in Upper Canada in the 1830s; the first major bilingual drama to be produced by the CBC English TV network, a poignant little tale of three-cornered love by young Canadian writer Marie-Claire Blais, who recently won France's Prix Médicis as the most promising novelist of the year; and two feature films co-produced on location in various parts of Canada by the CBC and the National Film Board, will be highlights of CBC-TV Drama's contribution to the Centennial year.

The series Hatch's Mill, recounting the adventures of the Hatch family in a mythical pioneer community north of Toronto 137 years ago, is a Tuesday night feature, February 14th to April 18th, at 9:00. Noah Hatch, founder of the backwoods settlement, operates the mill and inn. There are also a general store, a blacksmith's shop, and the Hatch homestead farm, besides the other houses in the hamlet. Scripts are by Munroe Scott, George Salverson (who conceived the idea for the series), Leslie McFarlane, and Jacqueline Rosenfeld. Production and direction are by George McCowan, except for one drama directed by executive producer Ron Weyman.

The series stars Robert Christie as Noah Hatch; Cosette Lee as Maggie, his wife; Marc Strange as their son, Saul; and Sylvia Feigel as their daughter, Silence. The permanent cast also includes Joyce Gordon, Ruth Springford, Kurt Scheigl, Jonathan White, John Paris, and Cec Montgomery. An outdoor set, representing the mill settlement, was constructed near the Kleinberg film studio north of Toronto. Both it and the interior sets are by Robert Lawson. Weyman tells us that Hatch's Mill is based on historical incidents with strong entertainment or conflict value. "We have tried to capture the taste of the times," he says. "The inhabitants of the village are a pretty free-swinging, individualistic, pioneer group."

The bilingual drama, The Puppet Caravan (La Roulotte aux Poupées), a half-hour production reminiscent of La Strada, will be seen as a Festival feature on Wednesday night, March 1st. It was directed in both French and English by Paul Almond, with the same cast and crew, rehearsing in French and English on alternate days and enriching both performances by the different rhythms and thought patterns stimulated by the two languages. The play stars Geneviève Bujold, winsome young Montreal actress who recently received France's Suzanne Blanchette Award as the "cinematic revelation of the year" for her performance in her first movie, as the ingenue Nadine opposite Yves Montand in La Guerre Est Finie (The War Is Over), directed in France by Alain Resnais. She has more recently played film leads for two other top French directors, in King of Hearts and The Thief. She was last seen on Festival in Ibsen's A Doll's House, and earlier in Romeo and Jeannette, both directed by Almond. Co-starring with her in The Puppet Caravan are François Tassé, who has appeared in many CBC French TV productions, including a leading role in the series D'Iberville, and on stage with Le Théâtre du Nouveau Monde in Montreal; and Jean Doyon, who also appeared in Romeo and Jeannette.

Farm Broadcasts

THE SETTLEMENT pattern of Canada was largely determined by the homesteader, working himself west from our rivers and railways. For years his 100 acres or so sustained him and his family, but today consolidation is forcing a great many to leave the land that bears the imprint of their loving toil. It's interesting, though, that in 100 years of progress, the family farm is still the basic unit—the large corporation farms have almost always failed where personal care and husbandry are important.

This century of progress is the subject of an hour-long color film produced and directed by Dick Bocking of CBC Vancouver, to be shown on TV in prime time early next fall. Moving back and forth in time, it shows the original homesteader in his Red River Cart sighting his first quarter section in Saskatchewan, his wife going about her work in their first sod hut, and a thresher crew handing golden sheaves of wheat to a huge steam thresher while a mountain of straw rises against a vast prairie sky. This scene, filmed a few months ago, drew many hundreds of spectators anxious to see the faded photographs in their family albums coming to life. In contrast, half-a-dozen modern self-propelled combines are shown doing the job in a fraction of the time.

The film covers every area of Canada and all its major products. Viewers will see modern homesteaders clearing land in the far north; the fruit and vegetable industry in British Columbia; beef and grain on the prairies; hog-raising in Ontario; dairying in Quebec; and mixed farming in the Atlantic provinces. This will be more than a look at our mechanical agricultural methods, although those will be shown, too, such as a windowless controlled atmospheric hog operation, in which lights are on only at feeding time, and hogs are given liquid feed measured out in seconds of flow. The changing face of the countryside will be explored, too, to illustrate the quiet revolution that is affecting farms and ranches from coast to coast in the interests of progress.

Another Centennial color feature prepared by the CBC farms and fisheries department is Let's All Go to Expo, to be seen on the network Wednesday, May 17th, at 9:30 p.m. How do you get there? What accommodations are available, and how much will they cost? These and many other questions of travellers to Expo will be answered in this hour-long program. It will recommend Ontario and Quebec routes, campsites, trailer facilities, parklands, historical sites, and points of interest, with special emphasis on the areas within one-day commuting distance of the Expo site. Production is by Rena Elmer.

Doug Maxwell will be seen interviewing Bill Brown, regional reservations manager of Logexpo, Expo's central accommodation agency; Sam Hill, supervisor of the Ontario Tourist Reception Centre at Cornwall; and John A. McDonnell, park superintendent of the St. Lawrence Seaway Park Commission.

Serious Music

THE FIRST full-length ballet created in Canada with a Canadian theme is Rose Latulippe, a Centennial commission for the Royal Winnipeg Ballet based on a dramatic French-Canadian folk tale dating back to 1740, about a lovely 17-year-old girl bewitched by an ardent stranger and saved by love. It's a vigorous, colorful story threaded with the superstition and religious fear one would expect in a remote, naïve village on the north shore of the St. Lawrence where strangers were rare and usually suspect. The time is Mardi Gras, when the young habitants are making pre-Lent whoopee at a barn dance. In the midst of their gaiety, an elegant, darkly handsome young stranger arrives and entrances innocent young Rose. Spellbound by his flattery and sophistication, she abandons her clumsy but upstanding fiancé to dance the night away—and almost her life—until the arrival of the Curé speeds the mysterious stranger on his way.

This exuberant ballet, which had a preview last summer at the Stratford Festival, has been re-staged for a special Centennial program in color to be seen on CBC-TV Wednesday night, April 12th, in the Music Canada series at 9:30. The ballet is the work of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet's choreographer, Brian Macdonald, and composer Harry Freedman, with costumes and décor by Robert Prevost. Production for TV will be by Pierre Morin in Montreal.

In the title role is Annette de Wiedersheim, prima ballerina of the Royal Swedish Ballet, of which her husband, Brian Macdonald, is director. Also featured are David Moroni as The Stranger, and Richard Rutherford as Rose's bucolic fiancé, Anselme.

Macdonald says he's been obsessed with the Latulippe legend since 1954, and between projects in Winnipeg, Montreal, London, Copenhagen and Stockholm, doggedly researched the tale and its period. But the ballet wasn't conceived until 1962, in a pub in the Bayswater Road in London, when he was studying overseas on a Canada Council Grant. Harry Freedman wrote the score in 60 days. "I guess I was lucky," he says, "but the writing went right along, an exhilarating task. It's scored for a Mozart orchestra, plus a harp and a bit of extra percussion. It's 12-tone, mostly. There's even a 12-tone square dance in it, and some electronic music, too!"

Other Centennial music specials on TV will include three concerts with the Toronto and Montreal Symphony Orchestras, each program featuring a distinguished Canadian artist: bass-baritone George London, baritone Louis Quilico, and contralto Maureen Forrester, and two rising young artists, selected by a panel of judges including Sir Ernest MacMillan, Dr. Wilfrid Pelletier, and John Avison.

The first concert will be taped in color in Montreal in late March for presentation on Wednesday night, April 19th, at 9:30. The other two programs will be shown in the fall. Also to be seen in color at various times will be Stars of Expo, a series of informal half-hour programs featuring musical celebrities visiting Expo.

Serious Music

THE PAUCITY of original Canadian opera is surprising, because our history and literature are full of drama and romance and characters as lovable, amusing or explosive as any librettist could hope for. But most of our composers have tended to express themselves in other forms which, however brilliant, do not point up our heritage as vividly as could the marriage of words and music in dramatic form. But Centennial year will make up for that. The CBC has commissioned four operas based on colorful Canadian personalities and with distinctly regional flavors, from some of our outstanding composers and writers from coast to coast. They will be presented on radio's CBC Tuesday Night.

On May 30th there will be a performance from Winnipeg of Grant, Warden of the Plains, with music by Murray Adaskin, recently appointed composer-in-residence at the University of Saskatchewan, where he has headed the music department since 1952; and with libretto by Winnipeg poetess Mary Elizabeth Bayer. It will be conducted by Victor Feldbrill, director of the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra and one of the greatest champions of Canadian music. John Roberts, radio network supervisor, serious music department, describes the score as "scintillating," and the libretto as "very colorful, employing the dialect of the time. Cuthbert Grant was a fascinating character, half Cree Indian, half Scots, born at a trading post on the Upper Assiniboine in 1793. This portrait is a love story with a most unusual twist to the plot."

Cuthbert Grant led the gory massacre of Seven Oaks in the Red River Settlement in 1816, when 21 settlers, including the governor, were murdered by the Métis who, painted and disguised in a hideous manner, made a sudden attack on Fort Douglas. But Grant mellowed with age. Over the next couple of decades he became a model citizen, a well-known exponent of law and order!

Quite another cup of tea was Sam Slick, a Yankee clock-maker-peddler with a down-east twang; a tall, wiry fellow with a thatch of dark hair, a large nose, and devilish black eyes. He was a shrewd, opinionated, swaggering, spitting braggard who could sell a $6.50 clock for $40 as fast as Bob's your uncle, an utterly engaging rogue who delighted in poking fun at Nova Scotian foibles. When he first galloped into public view in that part of the world in 1835, riding Old Clay, "half horse, half alligator with a cross of airthquake," he took the country by storm. You might chuckle, splutter with anger, or have 'a conniption fit,' but you couldn't resist him. Through the pages of Richard Chandler Haliburton's The Clockmaker or The Sayings and Doings of Samuel Slick of Slickville, this first major Canadian literary creation became a favorite in all the English-speaking countries, and the book went into 50 editions. Not many read Sam Slick nowadays, but the old boy won't lie down: on July 4th CBC Tuesday Night will present a comic opera based on some of his capers, with score by Kelsey Jones of the faculty of music at McGill University, and libretto by his wife, Rosabelle. Production will be in Halifax.

THE FIRST program series on CBC radio to be wholly devoted to the spirit of Canada in Centennial Year, 1967 And All That, made its début well over a year ago. Currently the series is visiting the four western provinces and soon will set up headquarters at Expo '67 to continue to report on all the activities across the land. Each week (Fridays at 9:00 p.m. on the AM network) the program introduces a number of guests, some of whom are directly connected with Centennial projects, some who are simply interesting and interested Canadians who can express something of our Canadianism. Chantal Beauregard and Bruce Rogers are the co-hosts, Bonnie Dobson the resident vocalist, and Ricky Hyslop the musical director.

A new Centennial series designed to "reflect many aspects of Canadian experience over the past 100 years" makes its début Sunday, February 26th, over the CBC radio network. This is The Long Hundred, a ten-week series using a variety of radio techniques for a variety of subjects—from drama to reportage, music and song. It will be presented Sunday afternoons as part of the current Project '67 series. The theme is best expressed in a poem written by Hugh Webster, who is co-ordinating the series: A hundred acres planted/A hundred summers' sun/A hundred harvests gathered/A hundred winters done/A hundred visions shattered/A hundred battles won/A nation has been built/In this Long Hundred.

The first program, Love Letter to a Country, takes the form of a letter in which a modern Canadian speaks of his appreciation of his country. Interwoven with the image of Canada today is a thread of recreated incidents from the past which give impressions of Ottawa during Canada's first Dominion Day, July 1st, 1867. Other programs in the series, not necessarily in this order, are: The People of the Big Sky, a poetic study of the prairie personality, how the Canadian West was settled and the kind of men it was to produce. The writings of W. O. Mitchell and Wallace Stegner form part of this program; The Land of the Lotus takes us further west to the "kooky, burgeoning excitement of our West Coast." In a sound portrait of British Columbia, the quaintness of the Empress Hotel in Victoria is contrasted with a roundup in the Cariboo; Every Step of the Way takes a look at Canada's military tradition and, through the characters of an Old Sweat and a Young Recruit, we discover the kind of men who left farms and factories, colleges and offices across the country to become Canada's fighting men; No Class Here, Jack is a provocative study of Canada's social elites. Is there such a thing as a "class system" hero?; No Gentlemen Need Apply recreates early settler life in Canada. This is a study in contrasts between the "gentlemen of good breeding" who lost out to the "peasants" from Ireland and Scotland when it came to the back-breaking job of building good farms in the new land; Goodbye Louis Hébert examines the French fact, politically, culturally, and ecclesiastically. Starting with present day personalities and their backgrounds, the program takes us back to the origins of the French fact.

The past and present of the Canadian Indian, his heritage and culture, will be studied on Canada With Reservations. The loggers, miners, union organ- (Please turn to page 35)

IN A FEW weeks' time the largest group of Canadian performers ever assembled by CBC radio to entertain Canadian servicemen abroad will leave Ottawa on the first leg of a tour that will take them half-way around the world. Following a special performance at Uplands RCAF base before an audience of airmen and invited guests, the musicians, entertainers, and CBC production crew of Canada Entertains, the Canadian Forces Centennial Show, are scheduled to depart on March 1st for a three-week tour of Canadian bases in Europe, Africa, Pakistan, and India. This is the biggest undertaking of its kind ever planned by the CBC in co-operation with the Department of National Defence.

Gordie Tapp, as master of ceremonies, heads up the cast of French- and English-language entertainers — vocalists Michele Richard and Daniele Dorice, the folk-singing quartet Les Cailloux, fiddle champion Al Cherny, Country-and-Western star Tommy Hunter, the Lounsbury Sisters, the Ottawa Valley step-dancers, The Lumberjacks, the Rhythm Pals—Jack Jensen, Mike Ferbey, and Marc Wald—Robert Downey the illusionist, and the Allan Sisters. Barbara Kelly, Miss Canada 1967, will be introduced to the troops and the musical director for the show is Lucio Agostini with a 16-piece orchestra that includes some of Canada's foremost jazzmen. Among the places on the itinerary are the island of Sardinia; Accra in Ghana; Dar-Es-Salaam, Tanzania; Rawalpindi, Pakistan; and New Delhi, India.

The co-host and announcer for the recorded highlights of the tour that will be broadcast on the English- and French-language radio networks after the entertainers return is Henri Bergeron. Canada Entertains will be introduced by him on the English-language network on Sunday, April 2nd, as a special edition of the regular series CBC Showcase. CBC television is filming the tour for presentation, in color, on the English- and French-language networks sometime in May. Canada Entertains is produced under the direction of Ken Dalziel, CBC radio network supervisor of Light Entertainment.

Another Centennial project by radio's Light Entertainment is the Song Market Contest, which was first announced last October. Before the closing date for submissions (midnight January 31st), CBC had received close to 1,000 entries. The competition, open to anyone, carries a top prize of $1,500 plus a recording contract with RCA Victor of Canada, and the songs can be in whatever style the composer wishes. On CBC Showcase from April 9th through June 18th there will be an 11-week series sub-titled Song Market Contest in which a total of 32 songs selected from all the entries will be performed. The composer of each of the songs selected receives $50. The over-all winner receives $1,500 and the winners of the two semi-finals to be held receive an additional $500 each. Alan Millar, the writer and host of the series, will be interviewing on the air each of the composers whose songs have been selected for broadcast. Another feature of the programs will be a special treatment of some of the Canadian songs of past years which gained international fame—such as The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise.

FROM DAY to day, week to week, and month to month, CBC Radio Sports will range far and wide during 1967 to broadcast important sporting events and to keep Canadians up to the minute on the sporting scene. An extensive schedule has been organized under the over-all title of The Centennial Sound of Sports, and here are some monthly highlights:

February — Regular Sunday night N.H.L. hockey followed by weekly report of sports happenings; live coverage of the February 6th world heavyweight boxing match between champion Cassius (Mohammed Ali) Clay and challenger Ernie Terrell; the Centennial edition of the Canadian Winter Rally for drivers; the First Canadian Winter Games in Quebec City; the Canadian Schoolboy Curling Championship at Flin Flon, Man.; the Ladies' Canadian Curling Championship at Montreal.

March — Canadian Curling Championships from Ottawa-Hull; the World Curling Championships for the Scotch Cup to be awarded in Perth, Scotland; the Canadian Mixed Curling Championship from Quebec City; the Senior Men's Curling Championship in Montreal; the World Hockey Championship in Vienna, with exclusive play-by-play coverage of Canada's games against Sweden, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

April — Stanley Cup hockey finals; inauguration of a 2½-hour special on Saturday afternoons, featuring latest sports information, off-beat items, play-by-play action, editorial comment, and swinging music; coverage of the Trans-Canada rally for drivers, including preparations for the trip and the finish 4,000 miles later at Expo '67.

Program Notes

JANUARY 28th

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

CBWT—Keen Ice

A curling series based on the old Scottish game of points curling. Games are played at the Balmoral Curling Club in Edmonton. This week, Ron Northcott versus Herbie Olson.

CBXT—It's About Time

When Hector and Mac repair their spaceship and take off with Shad, Gronk and the offspring to return to the 20th century, the perils, especially for the cave people become complex. Starring Frank Aletter, Imogen Coca, Jack Mullaney and Joe E. Ross.

Wonderful World of Golf

(Color) A series of matches played at different golf clubs around the world. Commentators are Gene Sarazen and Jimmy Demaret. This week: Marlene Streit versus Mickey Wright at the Toronto Golf Club.

Bugs Bunny

(Color) 1. Leghorn Blows at Midnight. Foghorn Leghorn tries to show Henery Hawk what a chicken is.

2. His Bitter Half. Daffy Duck marries a wealthy Duck twice his size and is forced to accept rather bad treatment at the hands of his new stepson, much to his frustration.

3. Hot Cross Bunny. Bugs finds himself in an experimental laboratory.

This Land of Ours

4-H Ranch. The story of a young 4-H Club girl, Bernice Carter, who travelled from her home at Pointe De Butte, N.B., to a ranch near Calgary. Bernice was one of ten award-winning 4-H girls from provinces across Canada who were selected to take part in the 4-H Inter-provincial Exchange program last summer.

CBC cameras followed Bernice from her home to the ranch of Joe Noble at Okotoks, Alta. Through her eyes viewers see what life is like on a ranch in Western Canada and also something about the 4-H movement.

Host John Foster is joined by CBC-TV farm and fisheries assistant Mary McLaughlin in telling the story of Bernice and her memorable trip.

Sounds '67

The Dave Quarin Six with guest vocalist Lynn McNeil. Host is Maurice Foisey. Selections:

Mood Indigo
Broadway
Little Bird
It Was a Very Good Year

Beverly Hillbillies

(Color) John Wayne makes a cameo appearance as a participant in an uproarious game of hillbillies and Indians which takes place in Beverly Hills.

NHL Hockey

The Chicago Black Hawks versus the Toronto Maple Leafs from Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

CBXT—Stu Davis

Stu Davis, son Duane and the Pathfinders. Selections:

Billy Bayou
Roses in the Snow
Lonesome Town
I Can't Help It

In Person

Gordie Tapp is host. Guests are singer Bob Francis and the vocal group, Three's a Crowd.

Tarzan

(Color) Tarzan leads a safari into hostile Pygmy country to recover a country's stolen treasury, but is double-crossed by two of the group who discover diamonds.

SPECIAL Centennial programming in the area of light entertainment on CBC-TV will include a number of originations from the International Broadcasting Centre at Expo '67. Among them will be editions of such popular shows as Front Page Challenge (Mondays at 10:00 p.m.); Flashback (Sundays at 7:30 p.m.); the Tommy Hunter Show (Fridays at 8:30 p.m.); and In Person Saturdays following hockey telecasts. Besides these regularly scheduled shows there will be at least one variety special in color featuring Les Feux Follets, the Quebec folk ensemble of singers, dancers and musicians who made such a hit at the 1965 Commonwealth Arts Festival. Tentatively, this is set for telecast in early June.

Other television light entertainment related to Centennial Year includes a half-hour comedy special in color with Rich Little (tentatively, Sunday, July 2nd); four half-hour color programs featuring international music and performers representative of the many ethnic groups in Canada (late August or early September); and a summer series featuring many of the international performers who will be appearing at Expo '67.

CENTENNIAL PROGRAMS — TV

Light Entertainment

In addition to the above, CBC-TV light entertainment expects to end the year with a sparkling one-hour variety show in color looking back on the gaiety of Centennial Year. This is scheduled for telecast early in December.

Pan Americana, a light-hearted look at the music of the three Americas, with the focal point the coming together of the nations of the Western Hemisphere in Winnipeg for the Pan-American Games. The series, in black-and-white, already is underway, Mondays at 7:00 p.m. on CBXT and 10:30 p.m. on CBWT. Jose Poneira is host and orchestra leader, with singers Ed Evanko and Vicki Knight, Los Gringos and the Paso Doble Dancers.

In July, August and September, 13 half-hour color programs will star Canada's Cowboy Troubadour Stu Davis and his son Duane. Stu and Duane will tour the West, singing songs of our Prairie heritage. Trail-Ridin' Troubadour will be seen on CBXT and CBWT at a time to be announced.

Another series in the planning stage will present songs and dances of ethnic groups that have contributed to prairie life, in four or six black-and-white programs.

Program Notes

JANUARY 29th

See also page 14 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

CBXT—Man in Space

(Color) Third program in the series looks at the space vehicles Explorer, Vanguard, Ranger, Mariner and Echo. All five are important names in the space research by which man is increasing his knowledge of the earth and its cosmic environment.

F.D.R.

The Dark Days. America enters the Second World War. Japan overwhelms the United States in the initial onslaught, then the Japanese thrust on Midway is broken.

Country Calendar

1. A report on the Canadian Federation of Agriculture annual meeting held in Winnipeg on the week of January 23rd to 27th. Presented by Jack McPherson and Bob Carbeit.

2. Coverage of the Outlook Conference at Brandon in which Manitoba government specialists take a look at what is ahead for farmers this year and indicate the price trends in farm commodities and other products.

Chorus, Gentlemen!

This week the show salutes the West's wide open spaces and also presents a medley of songs from the American Civil War and selections from the Toronto Song Book. With Bud Henderson's band. Musical director is Brian Gibson. Produced by Neil Sutherland and directed by Ken Gibson. Selections include:

Buttons and Bows
Old Buttermilk Sky
When Johnny Comes Marching Home
Battle Hymn of the Republic
Stars of the Summer Night
Take Me Out to the Ball Game

Westmoreland on Viet Nam

Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam. The General is interviewed by Charles Collingwood, CBS News chief correspondent and CBS correspondent Morley Safer, both of whom recently spent considerable time in Viet Nam. They discuss U.S. military policies in Viet Nam in general. Producer, Don Hewitt.

Sacred and Secular

Adrienne Clarkson in conversation with the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Dr. Michael Ramsey, on topics ranging from death of God theologians to Victorian poetry and meditating on the subway to teaching of the Prayer of Quiet.

A Further Glimpse of Joey

This half-hour National Film Board production tells of a youngster's difficulty in adjusting to his third set of parents. Directed by Don Owen. Cast includes Shaun McNamara, Norma Renault and Sean Sullivan.

Heritage

Man-Made Man. The first of four programs which looks ahead into the next 100 years to inform Christians about the shape of things to come. Host Patrick Watson looks at the genetic possibilities for man. He talks with Prof. A. E. Mirsky, a microbiologist at the Rochester Institute and Dr. Howard Jones of the department of human genetics at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, about the future development of artificial parts and replacements for human beings and the direction of evolution through control of genetic structure. Directed by Patrick Gossage.

Through the Eyes of Tomorrow

1. A look at United States draft dodgers who have fled to Canada to avoid serving in a war they feel is wrong.

2. Paul Saltzman talks with Doug Gray, a Winnipeg man who joined the United States Marines to fight in Viet Nam.

3. A short film produced by the American Friends Society (Quakers) about the war in Viet Nam, including previously unreleased footage from North and South Vietnamese sources and from Japan.

Chester Ronning, Canadian ambassador-at-large and expert on Far Eastern affairs, is guest. A frequent visitor to North Viet Nam, where he has sought to promote peace discussions, he tells of the realities of the Vietnamese conflict.

Nature of Things

Animals and Man. The fourth part of a 13-part series studying the animal kingdom and man's place in it, through comparisons of anatomy, function and behavior. Today, how animals have developed special means of coping with their environment: the long neck of the giraffe, the coat of the polar bear, the digging claws of the mole.

Hymn Sing

Host Don Brown and the CBC Hymn Sing Chorus conducted by Eric Wild in a program of hymns and religious favorites. Produced by Don S. Williams. Selections include:

Ev'ry Time I Feel the Spirit
O Love that wilt not let Me go
Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken
Gentle Jesus, Meek and Mild
O Mary, Don't You Weep
The Lost Chord
The Centennial Hymn (Canadian Prayer)
Next Year in Jerusalem
The Exodus Song

Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color

Gallagher Goes West—Part One. In his never-ending search for news, Gallagher becomes involved in one of the Old West's headline-making murder mysteries. Starring Roger Mobley, Darleen Carr and John McIntire.

Hey, Landlord

(Color) Roommates Woody and Chuck throw friendship to the winds when they turn up as contestants on a TV game show to vie for a date with a beautiful starlet.

Flashback

This week's guest panelist is Joan Fowler, who earlier this season was a mystery guest on Flashback, when along with two other ladies, she represented the Women's Service Corps during the Second World War.

Bonanza

(Color) A drama about a veteran sheriff whose obsession against senseless killings leads to his own downfall as he turns his guns against his own friends, including Ben Cartwright.

Sunday

Includes an interview with Adolph von Thadden, co-leader of West Germany's National Democratic Party.

Take Thirty

Women's rights, before the law and before the government, described and criticized by Mrs. Michael Sabia, head of the committee for the equality of women; Mrs. Lita-Rose Becherman, department of labor, and other interested women.

Mad Movies

Risks and romance as Pearl White and the silent serial queens face 1,000 perils and Hank Mann and the comic kings back into 1,000 catastrophes. Then hapless Harry Langdon stumbles on wedded bliss in the classic short, His Marriage Wow.

Passport

Radio and TV personality Elwood Glover is this week's guest. An expert on the Old West and the days of the gunfighter he is in the studio with host Elwy Yost during the presentation of the Western film classic, The Story of Jesse James, starring Tyrone Power and Henry Fonda.

CBWT—Science in Action

Air Traffic Control. Shows how the science of air traffic control functions on a round-the-clock basis. In an atmosphere of extreme tension, controllers must maintain continuous mental alertness to assure the safety of people flying thousands of miles away.

CBXT—Daktari

(Color) Paula attempts to outrive a sweeping wall of water filling land behind a new dam. Starring Marshall Thompson, Cheryl Miller, Yale Summers and Hari Rhodes. Guest star is Gregory Morton.

Quentin Durgens, MP

Plague on Your House—Part 1. The first of a two-part drama about a Parliamentary crisis. Explores the arena of personal vendettas, the struggle for leadership in both the government and opposition parties, and a national scandal concerning United States takeover of a huge Canadian beef export market.

Cast: Gordon Pinsent as Quentin Durgens; Mavor Moore as Sherwin; Jack Creley as Jessop; Charmion King as Rosemary Lindrom; Ovila Legare as Letourneau; Gerry Rowan as Senator Yarwood; Michael Tait as Collins; Alan King as Stone; Frank Perry as Ted Good. Written by George Robertson. Produced and directed by David Gardner.

Public Eye

Second program on Canada's housing crisis.

1. Warner Troyer presents the second part of an interview with Labor Minister J. J. Nicholson, whose area of responsibility includes housing.

2. A film report on a planned town called Kanata, about five miles from Ottawa, and an interview with the man behind it, Canadian millionaire developer and builder William Teron.

Teron, 33, has a firm personal philosophy about housing and what people should expect in housing. He is controlling and financing the satellite town now inhabited by about 2,000 people.

CENTENNIAL PROGRAMS — TV

Schools and Youth

IT SEEMS that in Canada there is no such animal as the "typical" teenager. This is the conclusion of a CBC-TV production crew from the Schools and Youth department who toured the country for a special Centennial program entitled The Restless Years, which looks at the world of Canada's 3,000,000 teenagers. The Restless Years shows that, in fact, the young people respond to the pressures of today's society in very different ways.

Gordon Pinsent is the host for this one-hour program which examines youth and some of the choices facing young people today and their dreams for the future. It also shows teenagers who participate in youthful political clubs in both French- and English-speaking Canada, and those who are outside the mainstream of the "good life," the school drop-outs from broken families. The Restless Years was written by Jim Carney and pro-

Program Notes

FEBRUARY 1st

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

What Did I Have that I Don't Have Now?
Lovers' Concerto
My Mood is You
Dear Heart

Western School Telecasts

The Human Body. (Grades 5-8). First of eight programs. Begins with a brief examination of the superficial differences between individuals when viewed from the exterior. It then develops into the unifying concept that all men are made of the same chemical elements and human structure is based on the universal building blocks of anatomy — cells, tissues, organs and systems.

St. Lawrence North

Canadian Diamonds. An interpretation of the development of the vast mineral resources of Ungava, as a delayed discovery of the wealth that Jacques Cartier sought, and failed to find, when he looked for the riches of the East.

CBWT—Cuisine

Today's recipe is Baked Stuffed Cucumbers Minerva.

CBXT—Cuisine

Recipes with new twists are prepared each week by cooking expert John Lindenlaub and host Bob Switzer. Today's recipe is Sweet and Sour Pork Ho-Inn.

Take Thirty

1. Madame Benoit whips up another specialty.
2. A karate group demonstrates some figure saving manoeuvres.

Long John Silver

(Color) Long John is stricken with a strange malady and as he lies on his bed of pain he relives his wrongdoings of the past.

Passport

Radio and TV personality Elwood Glover is this week's guest. An expert on the Old West and the days of the gunfighter he is in the studio with host Elwy Yost during the presentation of the Western film classic, The Story of Jesse James, starring Tyrone Power and Henry Fonda.

CBXT—Keen Ice

A curling series based on the old Scottish game of points curling. Tonight Dave Gerlach meets Bob Pickering in the second game of series B.

CBWT—My Three Sons

Steve Douglas gets a parking ticket from Robbie's girl, a pretty meter maid, then flunks his driving test. Starring Fred MacMurray, William Demarest, Don Grady, Stanley Livingston and Yvonne Craig.

CBXT—Reach for the Top

Quizmaster Colin MacLean introduces teams from Ross Sheppard and Jasper Place Composite high schools in the first game of Section V in this inter high school panel quiz.

Peggy Neville Show

(Color) Singer Peggy Neville, the Bob McMullin Orchestra and guest singer Terry Mandel. Produced by Ray McConnell. Selections: When You're Smiling Love

Green Acres

(Color) The Douglas farmhouse is overrun with animals after Lisa is appointed to the Hooterville Humane Committee.

Bob Hope Theatre

(Color) The Lady is My Wife. Jean Simmons plays the prize in a game of billiards on horseback between her husband and an admirer. Also starring Brad Dillman and Alex McCord.

Anastasia

(Color) A drama by Guy Bolton, from the original by Marcelle Maurette. Starring Julie Harris in the title role and Lynn Fontanne as the Dowager Empress.

On a night in July, 1918, the entire Romanoff family and their household were massacred by the Bolshevik revolutionaries in Russia. Years later a confused young woman is brought forward as the sole survivor of the Russian royal family. Is she really the Grand Duchess Anastasia, the late Czar's fourth daughter?

This 90-minute TV production is an adaptation of the stage play presented on Broadway in 1954. Produced and directed by George Schaefer.

LIGHT ENTERTAINMENT

Ricky Hyslop is musical director for the series and he will have a 20-piece orchestra to perform almost any kind of arrangement called for. The four judges who will select the semi-final winners and the winning song will be identified in later announcements, together with the names of the Canadian artists selected to perform each number.

In a series as yet untitled, a polka band directed by Ted Komar will visit various communities on the Prairies to record public performances of traditional folk and modern dance music. The 13 half-hour programs will be broadcast in July, August and September, tentatively.

Program Notes

FEBRUARY 2nd

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

Canadian School Telecasts

Three Levels of Government. (Grades 7-10). Idea to Reality. Designed to provide students with concrete reasons why they should have a respect for their particular type of democracy.

St. Lawrence North

A visit to Whalehead, a fishing village on the North Shore, cut off from the rest of the world during most of the year, except for travel by bush plane. Access is cut off in the summer from the village's own fishing grounds by the gradual recession of the sea, so that, like the birds, the villagers must migrate to the rocky islands of the river.

All in the Family

1. A visit to the Family Information Centre at Polo Park in Winnipeg. Every Friday evening, volunteers from businessmen to social workers are on hand at the booth to answer questions and give out pamphlets on many family topics from children's emotional problems to working mothers. Host David Critchley is one of the volunteers.

2. Reaction to the issue: Should there be any restrictions on what children hear, see or read?

Regular hosts are Jessica Swail and David Critchley.

Take Thirty

How different is Russian life from ours? Vignettes of life behind the Iron Curtain filmed by the CBC French network show, Aujourd'hui. Paul Fox adds political footnotes.

Zorro

An armed insurrection designed to gain control of Southern California during the 1820s is thwarted when Zorro exposes agents of a master criminal.

Passport

Radio and TV personality Elwood Glover is this week's guest. An expert on the Old West and the days of the gunfighter he is in the studio with host Elwy Yost during the presentation of the Western film classic, The Story of Jesse James, starring Tyrone Power and Henry Fonda.

Music Hop

The Norm Amadio Band with singers Diane Miller and Don Thompson.

CBXT—Gilligan's Island

(Color) Rory Calhoun guest stars as a big-game hunter who plans to track down human quarry. As the elated castaways make preparations for their long awaited rescue, Jonathan Kinkaid coldly appraises the group to decide who will make the most challenging live game.

CBWT—Gilligan's Island

Two pails of fish mysteriously disappear and each of the castaways report the disappearance of various utensils and equipment. Starring Bob Denver, Alan Hale, Jim Backus, Natalie Schafer and Tina Louise.

CBXT—Fancy Free

A light-hearted half-hour musical with regulars Les Copines and Al Osten and a different guest each week. Host is Doug McIlraith.

Occasional Wife

(Color) Mr. Brahms sets Peter Christopher and Wally Frick into competition to join his exclusive club, with help from their respective wives.

Man from U.N.C.L.E.

(Color) A Greek mountaineer and his lovely daughter get in the way as Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin try to recover a stolen U.N.C.L.E. code.

Telescope

(Color). A Brace of Immigrants. Takes a look at two successful immigrants — Scottish-born broadcaster Jack Webster, at work on his open-line radio show in Vancouver and the Arkansas contribution to the world of music, rock 'n' roller Rompin' Ronnie Hawkins in Toronto.

Hogan's Heroes

(Color) Newkirk is stunned to find himself abducted into the German army as the unforeseen result of Hogan's plot to sabotage a German gun factory near Stalag 13.

Chansons

(Color) Singers Tex, Sheila Graham and George Walker from Mount Tremblant in the Laurentians.

West-coast broadcaster Jack Webster is one of two successful immigrants to Canada visited by Telescope's cameras, Thursday at 9:00 p.m.

January 28th

2:00 p.m.—Metropolitan Opera

Don Giovanni, or The Marble Guest, an opera in two acts, originating from the Lincoln Centre in New York City. Starring Cesare Siepi as the Don; Pilar Lorengar as Donna Elvira; Joan Sutherland as Donna Anna; Ezio Flagello as Leporello. The conductor is Karl Bohm.

The opera takes place in Seville during the 17th century.

Act I. The Garden of Commendatore. Leporello is keeping watch before the house into which Don Giovanni has crept to seduce Donna Anna, the betrothed of Ottavio. She appears, struggling with Don Giovanni, and cries for help. When the Commendatore appears he is stabbed by Don Giovanni, who escapes unrecognized.

Change of Scene: A public square before the palace of Don Giovanni. Elvira, one of the Don's victims, appears and Leporello attempts to console her by unrolling a list of Don Giovanni's amours. Elvira vows vengeance. When she has departed, a marriage procession with Masetto and Zerlina comes upon the scene. Don Giovanni arranges to be alone with Zerlina and immediately applies his seductive arts. Elvira interrupts them as Ottavio and Anna enter. Anna recognizes Don Giovanni as the murderer of her father and Ottavio determines to follow him.

Change of Scene: All the guests of the peasant wedding have arrived. Don Giovanni leads Zerlina and Masetto to the ball chamber which has been gaily decorated, and Leporello also invites three maskers, not knowing that they are Elvira, Ottavio and Anna.

Change of Scene: Ball room. Don Giovanni leads Zerlina away as Leporello engages Masetto's attention. Zerlina cries for help and escapes through the crowd.

Act II. Before Elvira's house. Don Giovanni exchanges cloak and hat with Leporello. Leporello is compelled to deliver a message to Elvira. Meanwhile, Don Giovanni, in Leporello's attire, serenades the maid. Surprised by Masetto and his friends, the false Leporello escapes after thrashing Masetto. Zerlina arrives and cheers Masetto.

Change of Scene: Elvira's room. It is dark. Ottavio, Anna, Masetto and Zerlina unmask Leporello, whom they believed was the Don.

Change of Scene: A graveyard with the statue of the Commendatore. Leporello reads the inscription on the statue's base: "Vengeance here awaits my murderer." Don Giovanni mockingly invites the statue to dine with him at the evening meal. The statue nods its head and answers, "Yes."

Change of Scene: The room of Donna Anna. Ottavio taxes her with cruelty for postponing the wedding.

Change of Scene: Room of Don Giovanni. Elvira appears, hoping to move Don Giovanni to repentance. As she departs in despair, the statue of the Commendatore approaches with heavy tread. It also exhorts the libertine, without avail, and then sinks into the ground. Hell fire surrounds Giovanni and he is carried below.

7:03 p.m.—CBC Metronome

Youth Concerts

A SERIES of 10 half-hour CBC Centennial Youth Concerts will be broadcast Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. starting July 1st, on the CBC radio network. The series' objective is two-fold: to provide a showcase for accomplished young Canadian artists and to provide an informative and incentive-producing experience for younger listeners.

Producer Digby Peers hopes to have every region of Canada represented on the programs. The ages of performers will range up to 21, with priority being given to winners of CBC Talent Festival since its inception. The conductor for the series will be Boris Brott, 22, of Montreal, former assistant conductor of the Toronto Symphony and now principal conductor of the Northern Sinfonia Orchestra, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England.

The programs will feature concert works performed by guest soloists with orchestra, prefaced by interviews in which guests will discuss their careers with the producer and/or the conductor. Where guests are former CBC Talent Festival winners, interviews will take the form of discussions about their careers since winning this unique prize and how this success has helped them. Colorful incidents in the careers of the chosen soloists, their opinions on the future of the performing arts in Canada and on Canada's Centennial, and their advice to other young people contemplating careers in music, will provide other areas of discussion.

Three young pianists will be featured individually in the first three programs — July 1st, 8th, and 15th. In the fourth program, July 22nd, they will appear together for a performance of Mozart's Concerto for Three Pianos and Orchestra.

The fifth program, July 29th, will be devoted to Canadian composers and will include both performance and discussion.

Programs six to nine, August 5th, 12th, 19th, and 26th, will present an oboist, a bassoonist, a violinist, and a cellist, respectively. These artists will then appear together on the tenth program, September 2nd, to perform Haydn's Sinfonia Concertante for their four instruments and orchestra.

TELEVISION DRAMA

The Puppet Caravan is the tender story of a puppeteer who won't face up to the fact that his lifelike doll needs real love and a chance to be a person in her own right, until a handsome young man comes into her life.

The first of the feature films being co-produced by the CBC and the National Film Board is Waiting For Caroline, a 90-minute story of three young people involved in a romantic triangle in which one of the boys vying for the girl's love is French-speaking, from Quebec City, and the other is a beau from her home town, Vancouver. The film will make its début on Festival and then be released for theatre distribution. The title role is played by Montreal-born actress Alexandra Stewart, who has appeared in such films as Exodus, Le Mauvais Coup (with Simone Signoret), Mickey One (with Warren Beatty and Franchot Tone) and more than 20 feature films made in Italy, Germany, Argentina and France. Co-starring with her in Waiting For Caroline are two Canadian actors, François Tassé (also seen in The Puppet Caravan), and Robert Howay of Vancouver. In supporting roles are William Needles, Sharon Acker, Denise Pelletier and Paul Guevrement.

RADIO FEATURES

izers and goon squads sent against strikers, who all had a hand in building the country, often in a tough and violent way, are examined on The Brawny Men, a program with a wide range—from union hall to the coal mines of Springhill, the beer parlors to the House of Commons, wherever the voice of the worker is heard.

The Way of the Bluenose is the story of a ship and a people—the Maritimers. Throughout this program the presence of the Atlantic ocean makes itself felt as the great victories of the Grand Banks champion are recalled. The people we hear about and from include ship-builders, politicians, and the fishermen and their wives.

Two other important Centennial programs on CBC radio are: a 90-minute program on Sunday, April 9th, recalling Canada's part in the Battle of Vimy Ridge 50 years ago; and Century, a 90-minute historical program about Canada's past 100 years, scheduled for Dominion Day, July 1st. Both these programs, produced by J. Frank Willis, are repeats. Vimy, issued as a record by CBC Publications, was originally part of the Flanders Fields series late in 1964. Century

Documentary programs on prairie writers with readings from their works will be presented on the Prairie regional radio network in the fall of 1967. This assessment of our growing literary talent will be undertaken by leading critics of Canadian literature. They will deal with the works of established writers and from the younger, less-known, but promising authors. Thirteen half-hour programs are planned, titled Prairie Writers and Their Works.

In addition to the foregoing Centennial programs, radio's Monday-through-Friday series Assignment will carry daily reports from Expo '67 by Bob McGregor at 4:55 p.m.

TELEVISION PUBLIC AFFAIRS

by joining forces with the European alliance, of which Britain and France are now part, in several projects; and the world in which the story takes place, where all the big powers hate each other but there is no nuclear threat and poverty has been eliminated, a world not drastically unlike our own, but far enough from the present situation to be infinitely intriguing. It's a tensely exciting and thought-provoking drama with some delightfully thorny humor.

During the first 100 years of Confederation, we have slowly changed our attitudes to wildlife. Rigors of the frontier promoted reckless exploitation of anything edible, wearable or otherwise usable. But from the safety and the easy comfort of the 20th century we have become aware of wildlife resources as an irreplaceable source of wonder and excitement. In the first two of four Centennial TV programs on Canadian wildlife, to be seen in the spring, the close-up lens focuses on the wintry valleys and shallow prairie lakes where the trumpeter swan still finds a home, and on the crags of the Rockies, haunt of the big-horn sheep.

Photographer Kenneth Campbell spent several months near Grande Prairie, Alta., recording in color the seasonal events as a pair of trumpeters raise a family of cygnets. From the gracefully co-ordinated efforts of the pair to convert an abandoned muskrat home into a swan nest, to the departure for the wintering ground in a B.C.

valley, the life of the swan unfolds.

Meanwhile, another cameraman was busy in the Rockies among the bighorns. At one time of year the valleys echo with the clash of horns and skulls, as the males act out their species' ritual of rivalry. At another, the lambs anticipate the requirements of adulthood, practicing playful leaps and butts against a mountain sky as the day makes a rosy exit. Through the highlands a lynx stalks its prey in heavy concentration; a hoary marmot kibitzes as a grizzly prowls for food; and everywhere are birds—jays, warblers, water ouzels, all the mountain dwellers, jaunty, chatty, exquisitely graceful and free. The other two programs were shot in the Canadian Arctic by world-famous German naturalist Heinz Fielman, who spent half a year photographing wildlife there. These birds and beasts are our heritage. We almost lost them in the past. What of the future?

Another TV Centennial series, currently underway Fridays in the weekday series Take Thirty, seen at 3:30, is considering Africa today, the progress towards self-fulfilment of former colonies. The nine programs (which will run until mid-March) were shot in West Africa last year by producer-director Leo Rampen and his crew, who visited Senegal, the Ivory Coast, Ghana, Nigeria, and the Cameroons.

In midsummer, as usual, CBC radio and TV will report direct from the annual Couchiching Conference, where the topic will be Canada in the year 2000.

7:30 p.m.—Christian Frontiers
No Religion is an Island. Bill McNeil attends the annual meeting of the Rabbinical Assembly of North America where the members speak their minds freely on the problems facing Conservative Judaism in reconciling tradition with the present state of relations between Christians and Jews.

8:30 p.m.—St. Laurent Portrait
A portrait of Louis St. Laurent, former Liberal Prime Minister of Canada. During the '20s and '30s he was a leading corporation lawyer in Quebec. He began his political career at an age when most people think of retiring. From 1941-1946 he was minister of justice in Mackenzie King's administration; he succeeded him in 1948 as Liberal leader and in the 1949 election, the Liberals won the largest majority ever. Incidents during his term of office are recalled on the program.

St. Laurent is interviewed about his experiences as Prime Minister and his associates recall his career.

Among those heard talking about him are: the Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, minister of transport; Douglas Abbott, justice of the supreme court; Camille Noel, justice of the Exchequer Court; Prof. Dale Thomson, University of Montreal; and Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's. Narrated by Harry Mannis.

RADIO: SERIOUS MUSIC

Lyon Mackenzie, "a tiny creature of frenzied eye, flaming red wig and genius bordering on lunacy," who was an able editor, reporter, and pamphleteer, as well as leader of a comic-opera rebellion against constituted authority, is the subject of a full-length opera to be presented in October. The music is by Harry Somers, with a libretto by William Kilbourn, first chairman of the humanist division at York University, Toronto, who based it on his prize-winning biography of Mackenzie, The Firebrand. "By the ordinary sensible political standards he was one of our mistakes," says Kilbourn. "But it is by such mistakes that a nation's history is illuminated and given meaning."

"The fourth opera commissioned by the CBC," says John Roberts, "will be The Brideship, with music by Robert Turner and libretto by George Woodcock. The story centres around Rose Johnson, one of 60 brides shipped from England to Victoria in 1862. It's a powerful love story with, of course, the eternal triangle. I don't want to spoil the surprise, but love triumphs!"

The most impressive galaxy of Canadian talent ever heard on CBC radio is being presented in a special two-part Centennial series of Celebrity Concerts featuring outstanding singers and instrumentalists performing before young audiences at leading Canadian universities. The first group of recitals, now under way on Thursday nights at 8:30, with Sir Ernest MacMillan as host and commentator, features such artists as contralto Maureen Forrester, pianist Ronald Turini, baritone Louis Quilico and baritone Donald Bell. Among those to be heard in the second concert series in the fall are tenor Jon Vickers, baritone Victor Braun, and soprano Teresa Stratas. CBC radio will also broadcast concerts and recitals from summer music festivals, from CBC Music Festivals in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Halifax, and from Expo '67, and the Jeunesses Musicales competitions in Quebec.

The CBC will sponsor five concerts in the fall of this year to which the public will be invited, in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary. Performances will be recorded for hour-long broadcasts on the Prairie network. While program details have not yet been completed, the concerts will be of a distinguished nature and present the best talent of each community.

In the centre of many communities' Centennial celebrations will be local choral groups, some of them specially organized for the Centennial year. CBC radio's Prairie network has been presenting some of the best of these choirs in a series of broadcasts that will continue to the end of June, Fridays at 10:30 p.m., under the title Prairie Choirs Compete. At the series' conclusion, judges will select the winners, who will receive cash awards.

CENTENNIAL PROGRAMS — RADIO

Matinée: Family Album

IT IS characteristic of most civilized societies that in the course of their establishment and development, there have emerged families whose names have become equated with the attainment of status and influence and who have passed on this legacy of eminence to their succeeding generations.

Once a week toward the end of February, the week-day radio program Matinée with Pat Patterson (2:30 p.m.) will open a half-hour Family Album of six such family dynasties in Canada: from Halifax, the MacKay family, introduced by broadcaster Margo Hannington; from Montreal, the de Lotbinière family, with broadcaster and morning commentator Marian McCormick; from Ottawa, the Osler family, with broadcaster Doris French; from Toronto, the Massey family, with author and writer Mollie Gillen; from Edmonton, the McDougall family, with broadcaster Dorothy Dahlgren; from Vancouver, the Douglas family, with broadcaster G. C. Robertson.

Further Centennial projects planned for Matinée later in the season are a series of talks on Canadian antiques, and a series on the regions of Canada. Matinée is produced by Stuart Marwick; the program organizer is Lynn Higgins.

TV FEATURES AND SPECIAL EVENTS

JUNE

Canadian Armed Forces Tattoo. A 90-minute program scheduled for telecast early in June, showing highlights of the Tattoo as presented in Vancouver.

Stratford Festival, Monday, June 12th: Highlights of the opening of the 1967 season at Stratford, Ont., with a link-up by satellite with Stratford-on-Avon in England.

Pioneer Life: Scheduled for telecast early in June is a program about the life and times of Canada's western pioneers. In Saskatchewan we shall see the reconstruction of some early Canadian buildings, pioneer farm equipment, and the museum of the old West.

A ceremony will be held on or around June 16th by the governments of Manitoba and North Dakota at the International Peace Garden, on their common border. Cameras will cover the ceremony, likely in color, for a one-hour special events telecast.

World Naval Review, Saturday, June 24th: Live coverage of the Naval Review at Halifax, Nova Scotia. More than 20 nations are expected to participate with the Royal Canadian Navy in this event.

Music on Radio

3:30 p.m.—Anatomy of Music

Around the World in 80 Minutes, Sunday, June 25th at 3:00 p.m.: The recently-launched satellite Lani Bird II, over the Pacific provides the link for this live visit to several countries, among them Russia, Mexico, Japan and Australia. This is a black-and-white transmission.

JULY

Canada's Birthday, Saturday, July 1st: This program centres on Ottawa, where there will be pageantry on Parliament Hill, a joint meeting of the Senate and the Commons, and an address to the nation by H.M. the Queen.

The World When We Were Born, Saturday, July 1st: A Camera Canada production utilizing still photos from archives to show us what was happening in the world 100 years ago. This will be a black-and-white presentation.

Calgary Stampede, Monday, July 10th: Live coverage of the opening day parade through the streets of Calgary.

AUGUST

Early in August, the first of a new series of programs entitled The Saga of Johnny Canuck will make its debut. The seven half-hour programs in the series trace the story of Canada from 1860 up to the present, using early still photos culled from archives and private collections across Canada. The first program is sub-titled The Indian, and deals with the period 1860-1885. A black-and-white series.

100th Anniversary of the Canadian Medical Association, Wednesday, August 9th: The hub of this program will be the Sir Charles Tupper Memorial Centre in Nova Scotia. Lister Sinclair, host and writer, describes critical brain- and heart-operations being simultaneously performed in Vancouver, Montreal, and Toronto. Program may also include a satellite link to a medical centre in Europe where similar operations are being carried out.

C.N.E. Centennial Year, Friday, August 18th: Live coverage of the world's largest annual fair, Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition, as it celebrates Centennial.

SEPTEMBER

Voyageur Canoeists at Expo, Saturday, September 2nd: Live coverage of the arrival at Expo '67 of the Voyageur canoeists with filmed highlights of their 3,000-mile journey.

Indian Pow-Wow. A highlight of the Centennial year will be the Indian Pow-Wow at Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., Monday, September 4th. A half-hour telecast will be filmed in black-and-white.

Youth Pageant on Parliament Hill. In late September or early October CBC-TV will telecast the open-air pageant, of a serio-comic nature, depicting Canada's history and future, to be staged on Parliament Hill by Sir Tyrone Guthrie.

OCTOBER

Early in October a new series, The North, makes its debut. Shooting on this 13-week series began over six months ago and it is expected to be the most comprehensive filmed coverage of the North ever presented by the CBC. The first program, sub-titled Land Before Time, deals with the legends and anthropology of the North. Also scheduled for early October is producer-director Ron Kelly's recreation of the story of Black Macdonald, a man accused of murder in the Megantic region of Quebec a century ago. Sheltered by his family and friends, Macdonald successfully defied authorities and evaded capture for years.

NOVEMBER

The Battle of the Plains of Abraham. Scheduled for telecast early in November, this is another recreation of a part of Canada's history by Ron Kelly. Filmed on location, it reconstructs the events leading up to the battle and the highlights of the battle itself, using techniques similar to the BBC's Culloden and The Picardy Affair.

In addition to the programs outlined above, the CBC Prairie Region will originate some 12 half-hour actuality telecasts of events not covered by the national network.

February 2nd

9:55 a.m.—Assignment No. 1

Nathan Cohen reports on entertainment.

1:30 p.m.—Reg Gibson, Balladeer

Singer Reg Gibson and Ted Komar's orchestra with Lenny Breau featured on guitar. Produced by Jack Bingham. Selections include:

- A Hatchet, A Hammer, A Bucket of Nails
- Yellow Bird
- Black Girl
- Oh, By Jingo
- Swanee River
- Whispering Waters

2:03 p.m.—School Broadcasts

Manitoba and Alberta

Music and History. (Grades 5-8). Today, Music in Victoria's day.

Saskatchewan

Hi-Lo A-Singing Co. (Junior High School). Designed to encourage creativity in singing.

7:30 p.m.—Soundings

Then and Now. A series of programs in which Soundings visits small and medium-sized towns across Canada. Although the emphasis is on the Centennial Year the series also digs into the past and includes the views of older residents on the evolution of society in these towns.

By the time the series has travelled from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Canadians will have had a good say about Canada today and will have revealed the face of the nation. The first town visited is Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. A portrait of the town that is one year older than Confederation and the seat of three prime ministers. Prepared by Bill Story, produced by Stephen Dewar.

8:03 p.m.—Music Diary

Charles Burney—Musical Historian. Laurence Clauderay sketches the life and times of one of the most famous figures in musical literature of the 18th century.

10:30 p.m.—Anthology

Continuing a series in which Morley Callaghan, recent winner of a Canada Council award, introduces and reads selections from his collection of short stories published in 1959. Tonight: The Faithful Wife and Absolution.

DRAMA

May — Canadian Judo Championship in Montreal; the Football Association Cup Final; portions of the Monaco Grand Prix car race, broadcast live from Europe.

June — Pan-American Games preparation; the World Invitational Rowing Championships in Montreal; The World Yachting Championships in Toronto; the Queen's Plate horse race; coverage of the LeMans 24-hour Endurance Grand Prix for drivers.

July — Canadian Open Golf Championship; the Centennial Horse Racing Free-For All in Summerside, P.E.I.; the Canadian Cycling Championship in Montreal; Pan-Am Games trials; the Canadian Henley Rowing Regatta at St. Catharines, Ont.; World Class Yachting Championships at Montreal and Toronto; Canada's first world Motorcycle Championship at Mospport, Ont.; the World 7½-litre Speed Boat Championship at Valleyfield, P.Q.; the Pan-American Games from Winnipeg.

August — Coverage of six major golf events for Canadian and international golfers; the World Handball and Volleyball Championships at Montreal; the World Amateur Boxing Championships in Montreal; the World Water Skiing Championships at Sherbrooke, P.Q.; the first Canadian Grand Prix for Formula I cars, at Mospport; the Prince of Wales Stakes

AS A SALUTE to Centennial year, CBC radio will revive four outstanding historical dramas that have drawn rave reviews, and present them on CBC Tuesday Night in June. On the 6th and 13th: Joseph Howe, Joseph Schull's four-hour dramatic chronicle of the great Nova Scotian politician and opponent of John A. Macdonald, produced by J. Frank Willis—a monumental script that was two years in preparation and represents original research by the author. And on the 20th and 27th: The Honorable Member for Kingston, Tommy Tweed's four-hour biography of Canada's first prime minister, Sir John A. Macdonald, a colorfully dramatic account of a great human figure and the era he dominated.

September — The Can-Am Road Racing series, with coverage of two races in Canada, one at Le Circuit Mont Tremblant, St. Jovite, P.Q., and the other at Mospport, Ont.

October — Baseball's World Series; the Breeders' Stakes horse

Then on American Independence Day, July 4th, it is hoped that CBC Tuesday Night will include a satirical revue, written and produced by Mavor Moore, poking some good-natured fun at relations between Canada and the U.S. Other Centennial programs on CBC Tuesday Night will include a biography of a Father of Confederation, George Brown, prepared by Joseph Schull, and produced by J. Frank Willis; a repeat performance of another Schull-Willis production, The Great Song, a dramatic, touching play about the tragedies, disappointments, flaming passions, intrigues and accomplishments of the restless, idealistic composer of O Canada, Calixa Lavallée; and two or three original plays later in the year.

race, Toronto; the United States Grand Prix for Formula I cars, from Watkin's Glen, N.Y.; the Canadian Championship Stakes horse race; return of N.H.L. hockey.

November — College and professional football, including play-by-play coverage of the Canadian College Bowl game and of the Grey Cup Game to be played in Ottawa for the first time.

TV: SCHOOLS AND YOUTH

duced and directed by Perry Rosemond.

Two other special Centennial programs from the Schools and Youth department are: Youth and the Arts, about the activities of Canadian youth in the field of the arts in Canada, and Countdown to a Gold Medal, a study of young Canadian athletes taking part in the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg. Both these one-hour programs are in color.

Youth and the Arts features the talents of many young Canadian artists, singers, dancers, actors, and musicians. Out of the estimated quarter-million young Canadians who spend their free time seriously studying and perfecting their particular art, the production and research staff of this program met more than 3,000.

Countdown to a Gold Medal follows some of the young athletes representing Canada at the Pan-American Games through their whole training period right up to the individual event at the Games. In separate interviews they discuss their dedication to sport and the way in which they are preparing themselves for the most important sports event of the year in Canada.

Telecast times of these three features are to be announced.

Music on Radio

THE MAN who wrote Stardust—the biggest seller in the history of popular music—sings, plays piano and talks about his colorful career in There's More to Hoagy Carmichael than Stardust on CBC Showcase, Sunday January 29th at 4:03 p.m. (3:03 p.m. on CBX and CBR) on the CBC radio network.

The Showcase hour, produced in New York and Montreal by Frank Heron, also features host Sheridan Nelson, orchestra leader Art Phillips, singers Fred Hill, Sheila Graham, Alan Mills, Margo MacKinnon, Ray Berthiaume, and announcer Syd Davison.

A song publisher once described Hoagy Carmichael as “a dark-haired, brown-eyed fellow with foxy features and a nasal

Hoagy Carmichael Recalls Colorful Career

Indiana drawl.” The description still fits, according to producer Heron, except that the hair is now grey. “Listeners will be amazed to hear him on the program,” says Heron. “He sings better than he ever did. No one can put a song over like him.”

Reminiscing about his career for CBC Showcase, Carmichael (now 68) tells a host of stories about how his songs came to be written. He recalls song-writer

Johnny Mercer—a man he had never met before—walking into his apartment one day. Putting on a heavy Southern drawn, Mercer said, “Let’s write a song, huh?” And with his Indiana drawl, Carmichael answered, “Okay, if it doesn’t take too long, ’cause I’m a lazybones.” And so one of their most famous songs was born that afternoon. Shortly after, Carmichael went on a six-week European vacation, returning to find out that in the meantime Lazybones had sold 200,000 copies of sheet music—an unheard-of figure in the depths of the depression.

With deep feeling he talks about One Morning In May (sung on the program by Fred Hill). “It was my mother’s favorite song. The day she died I played it on the piano. My son played some other little thing she liked. And that was the entire music for her funeral.”

Hoagy Carmichael didn’t start out to be a song-writer. He was sure he was going to be a lawyer, perhaps with a strong liking and interest in jazz, but a lawyer nevertheless. His mother taught him to play piano but he first became interested in jazz when he heard piano player Reggie Duval. “He showed me the art of improvising,” Hoagy says. “Using the third and sixth chord as the basis for arpeggios, with his solid bass, complex rhythms and stress of the afterbeat, Reggie’s playing fascinated me.”

“No one who remembers Carmichael’s film work of the ’30s and ’40s,” says producer Heron, “will listen to Hoagy singing such numbers as Old Buttermilk Sky and Hong Kong Blues on CBC Showcase without a sharp tingle in the spinal region.”
