THE NATIONAL WAR FRONT

EARLY in March, just after Rangoon had fallen, I sent you a message. The war had arrived at India's gates and had suddenly become the affair of each one of us, not as spectators but as combatants in our several fields. I invited you to close the ranks and stand steady behind the fighting men in a national war front against the aggressor. Since then much has happened; India's own soil has been attacked and our capacity to "take it", as others have taken it, has been tried. Ceylon has been attacked and a Japanese fleet has ranged the Bay of Bengal, sinking our ships and drowning our seamen. True, it has withdrawn for the moment. Depend upon it, it will come back. In Burma, the Japanese are in Lashio and Mandalay. But, on the whole, we may consider ourselves lucky in that we have had a long respite before the real attack begins. For that we have mainly to thank General Alexander and the Indian, British and Chinese forces who, outnumbered and cut off from reinforcements of men and supplies, have by an epic resistance won us what we so greatly needed, time. General Wavell, in his inspiring talk a fortnight ago, told you what good use was being made of this breathing space. The military and air strength of India is growing daily. Under a Commander in whom we all have implicit confidence, our armed forces are going to give a good account of themselves against any attack that our enemy is able to launch.

THE UNARMED FORCES

WHAT of the rest of us, the unarmed forces of the country? Are we going to give a good account of ourselves? suggest, unless we stand shoulder to shoulder and work actively for the common cause. I have often heard it said lately "We are unarmed; what can we do? Let Government put arms in our hands and we will spring to the defence of India like one man." Well, here is my answer to that. Were the people of Great Britain armed in June 1940? Were the people of Russia armed in June 1941? During the long agony of China have ordinary men had arms in their hands? The answer is, "No". The mass of the people have never carried arms in any country or in any modern campaign.

The activities of irregular bands operating behind an enemy's advancing line can be of very great value provided they are fully trained for this most exacting task. This phase of warfare is being developed and will be more fully developed as arms be-come available. Meanwhile the position is that the expansion of the regular army proceeds apace, and we put no limit on it. We require therefore for fully trained soldiers all the modern arms that are available.

What then can we, the unarmed forces of the country do? Let me remind you of what General Wavell has said: that of the elements which contribute to success in modern war, the spirit of the people is the most important. That is our responsibility, yours and mine. and that is why I invite you again to join together in building a national war front. I do not care whether we spell this with capital letters; I do not care, in fact, what we call it. We all know what it means, a united determination, transcending all racial, religious and political differences, to stand up and stand together to defend the things we have and hope to have and to make sure that they shall never be so threatened again.

THE WILL TO ACT

I USED the word "build", for India's war front will not come into being just by wishing or talking, but only by doing. Two things-and two things only-are needed, the will to unite and the will to act. I see no difficulty in finding unity: there is nothing in our objects to which any one need hesitate to subscribe, unless, indeed, he sympathises with the way of life which our enemies would impose on the world—and to such I make no appeal. These are the objects which those who join us will adopt as their own:

to do everything possible to help and maintain public morale, that is to say, to strengthen the war resistance of the peoples;

to eradicate all elements tending to undermine it, and in particular to counteract fifth column activities of all kinds, including all talk, thought, writings and rumours likely to produce a defeatist mentality;

> to inculcate faith, courage and endurance, and to consolidate the national will to offer united resistance to Nazism and Fascism in every shape or form, whether within or without the country, until their menace is finally overthrown.

> I say with confidence that every man and woman in this country can subscribe to a creed such as this, without sacrificing a single principle or abandoning a single aim

EVERYONE CAN CONTRIBUTE

MANY people ask the question: "What can I do?" not, I know, as an excuse for doing nothing, but in genuine uncertainty. Let them reflect that in a war like this there is hardly anything which a man does or omits to do which does not help or hinder victory. To those for whom a place in the armed forces is waiting, I say "Fill it quickly". For the rest of us there are opportunities galore; the Civil Defence Forces are crying out for wardens, fire-watchers, doctors, nurses, ambulance men, helpers of all kind. Civic or Home Guards and Pioneers need men. Women are wanted in hospitals, in offices and to run can-teens for troops. There are refugees to be helped. Let us look into our daily lives: are we wasting money, food, clothes, electricity. petrol, coal. If we are, we are delaying victory. Do we travel when we need not do so taking up space badly required for troops and munitions of war? Are we farmers? Then can we not grow more food grains? Are we factory hands? Then are we working our utmost? Whoever we are, rich men, poor men, officers, clerks, business men, labourers, housewives, servants, be sure there is something which we can do which will hasten the day of victory. A determination cheerfully to do our best in fulfilment of the ordinary humdrum tasks and duties of our daily lives, and to continue in this despite any attempt by the enemy or his agents to disturb or frighten us, is for many of us the greatest contribution that we can make towards winning the war. Do not forget what even one day added on to the war means in terms of human suffering and material loss.

UNITY AND ACTION

WE must achieve unity and action and we must combine them in a spirit of attack. Passive defence or masterly withdrawals, forced on us as they are at times, do not win wars. Let us attack our work, attack the rumourmonger, attack the defeatist. We must make our front an attacking front, and think always in terms of the offensive.

There is no one in India who does not know that, if all that we value is to survive, if hope is not to die, this war must be won; every thinking man knows that, with the resources which the United Nations have, it can be won; whether it will be won or not

The Voice of Tomorrow

A T any given time, said Goethe, the destiny of a nation depends on the opinions of its youth. The youth of a country represents the hope, endeavour, resolve and progress of that land—and hence indicates its future also. If the youth is trained to think on right lines the place of that country in the comity of nations is fully assured. All over the world young men and women have been the real leaders of progress. Often they have shed new light on old problems: they have extricated the world from many a muddle left by their elders. They have borne the torch of civilisation and with the mental and physical vigour which is their natural heritage have been the first to grasp new ideas.

THE youth of today has great responsibilities. All over the world it has been called upon to lead—to protect civilised values. And it has not been found wanting. The spirit of youth has awakened everywhere, and organised youth is going to its task. It stands today four-square to resist the invasion of evil. Its courage and vigour help it to act quickly—to plan and to organise resistance. Its clear vision can foresee the resurrected, reconstructed world, built on the basis of progress and harmony.

WHAT is the youth of India thinking today? How is it adapting itself to the swift and harsh changes taking place around it? Does it think in the same terms as the youths of other progressive nations of the world? Has it a working estimate of the problems it faces to-day? These are questions whose appeal is not merely to young people: others perhaps not so young are equally affected by the cataclysmic changes now in progress and are closely watching the shape of the future. True to type, the youth has been found at its post—at the barricadel HOIST the banner, hoist it high, Rising youth of every nation, Haters of all exploitation, Fighters with determination! Hoist it high! Hoist your banner, proud and young, Let it be a prophet's tongue New-interpreting the sky Flooding it with fiery hues Of a new dawn's bursting news.

Hoist it in a simple manner,
Without any boast or brag,
Hoist your world-enchanting banner
Hoist your high unfailing flag!
Let the morning splendours greet it,
Let the sky of freedom meet it,
Never never never treat it
Like some pretty floating rag!
Don't forget your youth, your freedom is dependent on that flag.

See, already it is flying

To the stormiest clouds replying,

Every tempest blast defying,

You must save it from dishonour, even if it comes to dying!

Bravely you shall face the blows
Of your enemies and foes,
You will have to vanquish those Who are every moment trying
To obstruct and to undo
All your genius coming through.

Youth! there's fire in your pores, And your blood is as a sea Washing washing all the shores Of a world already free! There is fire in your pores, A world of liberty is yours, A world of deathless liberty.

Nothing breaks you, nothing daunts you,
Death's black shadow never haunts you,
In your hands the world grows pliant.
Yea, your power is all-defiant,
Nothing breaks you, nothing daunts you,
Every single nation wants you
To become a sudden challenge, and a true historic giant!

There is naught you are afraid of, You whose vision burns afar! Tyrants' weapons are not made of Stronger steel than what you are! Unto liberty attuned, Ever free and ever fresh. What iron chain or bullet wound Can ever eat into your flesh? When the spirit stands and dares It takes all suffering unawares! Youth, you are forever giving Strength unto the world to come; I can hear your heart a beating beating beating like a drum! Through your death decaying life is given a new lease for living, You are ever making mighty worlds out of your martyrdom.

You are always giving giving
Life unto the world to come
Hoist your banner, burning banner
Like a challenge to the blast:
Each of you become the planner
Of a world unchained at last!

We Salute China

THAT great and ancient land beyond the I Great Wall has been to many a land of mystery and magic. The war is throwing the spotlight on this ancient land. India is the one country which has had the privilege of a close and affectionate link with the land of Confucius, Lao Tse, Sun Yat Sen and Chiang Kai-shek. Indeed the coming together of two ancient civilisations of India and China is perhaps the greatest event of the century. Quiet, unassuming China has captivated the admiring attention of the whole world for sensing the danger of Fascism and resisting it long before Europe woke up to it. The world today therefore salutes her for her high resolve. It salutes her for the price she has and is paying, for defending freedom for the world. A tribute to our great ally will be paid through a weekly magazine programme of talks, music, features and poems. This programme will be broadcast from Delhi every Sunday at 8.30 p.m. on 60.48, 40.3 and 31.3 metres.

"Civilising" China

IN spite of the prolonged struggle and the sacrifices it has meant for her sons and daughters, China today carries on in her old steady manner. Five long years have elapsed since the Japanese embarked upon their grandiose plan of liberating and civilising China. During this period they have tried hard to win over the Chinese people to what they shame-facedly call the "Co-prosperity Sphere". Every form of cruelty and torture has been tried on the Chinese to get them to accept without demur the Japanese lordship over their land. But China is determined to keep herself free from the tentacles of this octopus and thereby sets an example to the whole world interested in the triumph of right over might.

In a Marathi talk to be broadcast from Bombay on June 2, an attempt will be made to present a full picture of Japanese aggression in China and its lessons for the world. The talk will be given by Mr. N. G. Jog, a Bombay journalist, and will be on the air at 7.0 p.m.

Women in China

THINESE womanhood has undergone a rapid transformation under the stress of war. Today women units fight shoulder to shoulder with those of men. Women guerilla bands go out into the country to harass the enemy or fight in conjunction with regular armies. Their fight in the front-line proves that the women of China are conscious of the fact that that they have the same responsibilities towards their motherland as their men. Under the inspired leadership of Madame Chiang Kai-shek, they are playing a very important role in the defence of their country and for national reconstruction. On June 1, at 7.30 p.m., Miss Jean Mackay, Lecturer in Dacca University, will broadcast a talk from AIR Dacca on "Madame Chiang Kai-shek's Clarion Call".

What Japan Owes to China

CHINA gave Japan her pottery, painting, silk, lacquer, printing, writing, copper coins, paper windows and lanterns, cultivation of flowers, Tang poetry, Confucian monarchism, Sung and Buddhist philosophies, her national festivals, the art of tea drinking and a host of other things. How much Japan owes to China will be discussed in a talk from AIR Lucknow by Mr. Victor Kiernan on June 7. This will be followed by a talk on "How China has been Repaid by Japan" by Mr. M. Chalapati Rau on June 15.

The Face of Japan

IN spite of many uniting factors like Emperor-worship, the family system and racial solidarity, Japan is a house divided against itself. Her racial theory, for instance—that the Japanese are the "sons of God" and must therefore rule other nations because they have a divine right to do so—is fraught with danger to themselves. She forgets that in her alliance with Germany this idea may one day come into conflict with that of the Nazis, who regard Germans as the only race capable of dominating the world. The result of such a conflict can but be disastrous.

The social structure of Japan and the Japanese idea of racial superiority will be discussed in two talks in the Lahore series "The Mind and Face of Japan" on June 1 and 15 respectively. The talkers are Prof. Dewan Chand Sharma and Dr. Mohammad Baqir.

Diary of an Anti-Fascist

A WRITER, generally averse to all 'isms' but driven by force of circumstances to become a staunch opponent of Fascism, will record his experiences and impressions in a Hindustani sketch to be broadcast from Delhi on June 9, at 10 p.m. The diary will reveal that the writer's opposition is not due to any prejudice grown without a cause but is the result of a definite intellectual conviction developed from the true realisation of the Fascist menace.

Delhi School Broadcasts

ON June 2 starts the summer term of A I R Delhi's school broadcasts. The broadcasts will be radiated thrice a week on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays in the morning from 9.30 to 10.0 a.m. An important change this term is the reduction in the duration of these broadcasts from forty-five minutes to thirty minutes: the fifteen minutes thus saved are intended to be woted by the teacher to a "follow up" in which he will clarify and elucidate doubtful points arising out of a broadcast.

Some of the series scheduled for this term are: "Stories from English Poems", "Masterpieces of Yesterday", "Famous Forts of India", "Along the Great Rivers of India", "Ways of the Wild", "Miracles of Modern Industry", "Current Events", "Made in India", "Before the Doctor Comes", "A.R.P. for Schools" and "The Land of the Dragon". In the series "Masterpieces of Yesterday", outstanding passages from Urdu and Hindi classics will be read out and explained with reference to their contexts. The "Miracles of Modern Industry" talks will describe in non-technical language the processes involved in the manufacture and production of petrol and oil from coal, silk from grass and wood, wool and gloy from milk, glass from sand and cloth from waste. The five talks in the "Made In India" series are intended to trace the history of industrialisation in India and to discuss future possibilities. Some of the First Aid principles, especially those pertaining to the treatment of injuries and ordinary ailments, form the subject of talks to be broadcast in the series "Before the Doctor Comes."

In addition to these talks, two plays and three features, each of fifteen minutes' duration, have also been included. Of the ten plays, one is a biographical sketch of Asoka and the other a detective play. The three

INCREASE IN RADIO LICENCES

A total of 13,071 broadcast receiver licences including 3,739 new licences was issued in the month of April 1942 as against 12,011 for the corresponding period of 1941. Altogether there were 1,56,793 licences in force in British India at the end of the month as against 1,28,087 for April 1941. This represents an increase of 28,706 licences during the last 12 months.

features centre round an episode in submarine warfare, a scene outside the classroom, and life in the port of Bombay.

Reportage

A CCOUNTS based on personal observations and lit up by an under-current of humour and irony is a departure from the traditional styles of reporting. The popularity of this type of reporting may be judged from the fact that well-known authors like Auden, Spender and Isherwood were commissioned by some leading publishers to undertake journeys and to write reports on them. As a result we have "Journey to a War" by Auden and Isherwood, "Berlin Diary" by Isherwood, and several books on Spain by Spender. How far such "reportage" is a proper medium of artistic expression will be discussed in a talk from Lucknow by Mr. Ahmed Ali on June 1.

A. R. P. Slogans

To familiarise children with A. R. P. and to make them conscious of the dangers of air raids, AIR Lucknow has devised a programme of children's rhymes embodying the various A. R. P. slogans and instructions. This would enable young listeners to memorise easily the A. R. P. rules and thereby ensure their safety in the home, at the school, and in the street. The first programme will be presented on June 6.

Another feature introduced by AIR Lucknow is entitled "Kya Tum Ne Suna?" This will include war commentaries, A. R. P. questions, dialogues between Shyamoo Bhaiya and Masterji, and such topical information regarding civil defence as may be available from time to time. This programme is broadcast every day from 8.50 to 9.0 p.m.

Famous Tamil Composer

IT is but natural that interest in music should, after some time, turn to an investigation about the musicians. In the past AIR Trichy has arranged several authoritative talks on the life and works of many a lesser-known composer. The talks in each case were given either by a descendant or a pupil of the composer, or by one who had made a special study of his works. On June 11, a talk on Kavi Kunjara Bharati by his great grandson has been scheduled for broadcast and, as usual, will be illustrated by renderings of typical compositions. Kavi Kunjara Bharati, it may be recalled, enjoyed the patronage of the Rajas of Ramnad and was responsible for innumerable songs in the various musical forms known to the Karnatic system—namely Padam, Kirthana, Prabandam, Viruttam and Kuravanji.

A Dance Drama

KADIGAI Namasivaya Pulavar wrote' a stage play about the marriage of the god Subramanya to Valli. The style was that of the rural dance drama familiar in South India some years ago. A full length radio version of this play will now be broadcast on June 9 by A I R Trichy when well known actors like M. M. Dandapani Desigar and M. S. Devasena will assume the leading roles. The music, based on the original score written for the work by Subbarama Dikshitar of Ettayapuram, will be provided by Radio Vadya Goshti under the direction of Seithur Sundaresa Bhattar.

Conventions: A Discussion

THE best of us are slaves to ritual and a large number of our actions have for their motive power the idea that we should "conform" to such-and-such and thereby keep up appearances. "The Study Circle" in the Summer School programmes of AIR Trichy on June 1 draws to the microphone persons of varying views who will discuss the ethics of cant and the limits of "non-conformity" to conventions.

A Radio Sketch

NIGHT life in many cities has a shady reputation. Writers of almost all nationalities have depicted the glamours of night life in their more popular works. Beggars in rags, ill-famed women, cautious fugitives—creatures who would be an eye-sore in the light of the day—parade as heroes in the veil of darkness. A glimpse of this different world, at once enthralling and intoxicating, will be provided in AIR Dacca's radio sketch "Nishite" to be broadcast on June 11 at 7.45 p.m.

The cast of the spring edition of "Music Box", broadcast from Delhi on April 25, including PAUL STRAUSS AND HIS ORCHESTRA, the choir of the JESUS AND MARY CONVENT, BERENICE MACFARQUHAR, JOSEPH LAMPKIN (guest artist) with LINA CHAPPELL and the producer and compere MELVILLE DeMELLOW (centre foreground).

The Spring Offensive

by

PHILIP JORDAN

A CCORDING to a message from Switzer-land the Germans have at last begun their spring offensive against the Red Armies; but this is not entirely confirmed by the official Soviet communiques. Incidentally, I'd like to say here that during the seven months of this war that I spent in the Soviet Union I never found a single inaccuracy in any one of their communiques. But that's by the way.

If, in fact, the German offensive has really begun and is really confined to the south, it is the most important and cheering news since the Russians began their own offensive on December 6 last and chased the Germans back from Moscow.

Now I know that a lot of people feel a bit disappointed about the results of the winter campaign in Russia: they think that it would have been fine if the Russians had been able to go further, to destroy more men and material and so forth; and to recapture and liberate more of their land. But there's no need whatever for feeling the slightest disappointment, for the Russians have, in fact, achieved the goal they set for themselves.

Their general staff was not concerned to achieve spectacular glories of doubtful and indeed, possibly, of only ephemeral value. They were concerned to do precisely what, I believe, they have done—to destroy Germany's power to launch against Russia an offensive of tremendous force and danger this year. Politically, morally and militarily that was their aim; and, even if it is rash to prophesy, I am going to say here and now that they have achieved that aim.

TITLER KNOWS BETTER NOW

GERMANY'S spring offensive—although it's getting a bit late in the year to talk of a spring offensive any more—could have done several things: it could have been launched simultaneously against Russia, Turkey, or by bye-passing Turkey against Syria and through Libya. There's good reason to think that at one time Hitler imagined that he could do all these three things at once. But he knows better now. He may have thought that if the worst came to the worst he could leave a holding force in Russia and try to bash his way round to the Caucasus via Turkey or Syria, or both of them at once.

But what he did not envisage, I imagine, was the possibility that the Russians would be able so to destroy his military machine in the winter of 1941 and the early spring of this year and at the same time so build up their own, that what would now be necessary to employ as a holding force against the Russians would absorb so many of Germany's trained men as to make any other offensive out of the question.

I hope I've made myself quite clear, because that is the key of the immediate future, and, therefore, of the future of the human race. So let me repeat what I said in slightly different words. In my opinion the Russians have so battered the German army that Hitler no longer has enough forces at his disposal to hold the Russians quiet, and at the same time attack anywhere else in great and truly dangerous force.

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE

THIS, if I am correct, leaves him only one theatre of immediate offensive war; and that is, paradoxically, perhaps, in Russia itself. But, again, so great were the achievements of the Russians in the late winter, that I doubt very much myself if Hitler can again launch an offensive simultaneously in the north, the centre, and the south.

If that is true, and a good deal of evidence is available to make it probable, then almost certainly the Germans will gather all for a blow at the south, in their desperate attempt to get at the Caucasian oil. I do not believe they can afford any longer to dissipate strength around the country: it is all or nothing for them; and it's going to be nothing.

Make no mistake about it; the Russian armies may have suffered tremendous losses in men and material: they have; but today the Soviet Union is militarily infinitely stronger than she was when war was wantonly forced on her in June of last year. She has got rid of her bad generals: she has trained new armies and equipped them: and her war industries are turning out essential weapons at a rate faster than they have ever turned them out before. Russia did not wait until the Germans were at the gates of their cities before they started evacuating their factories to safer places. As long ago as last June, a week after the war started, they began moving the first of their fighter factories from the Moscow region to the Urals, so that, when more and more planes were needed they were in a position to produce them as required. It was the same in other areas; and if, as is certainly true, Russia has lost a great deal of valuable raw material deposits, she has lost a far smaller proportion of her industrial capacity than is generally supposed.

NO IDLE BOASTS

IF Germany really throws all her available resources in an attempt to reach Rostov, to advance towards Baku thereafter, or to isolate the Caucasus from Russia proper, she will have bitten off more than she can chew. The Russians are absolutely confident that they can hold the German effort, no matter on what scale it may be possible for them to attack. They have publicly stated that confidence; and it is not like them to make idle boasts. And while they are holding that attack, there is every reason to believe that they will develop their own in the centre and the north, driving with that sudden fury which the enemy has learned to fear since they first experienced its ferocity at the beginning of December.

It has long been foreseen by military writers who were not blinded by prejudice that what has happened and is now, it seems, about to happen, would come to pass. Namely, that while the Germans struggle desperately to smash through the southern barriers, the Russians will attack in the north, trying to sweep west and south, so as to advance into enamy territory and at the same time imperil and thereby weaken the enemy's major effort. Perhaps eventually to surround their forces.

It is too early to say exactly what will happen, but there is no reason why I should not state my perfect confidence in the Russian ability to turn their danger into an asset. It may yet be written that because they accurately foresaw German intentions this spring, the Russian high command concentrated all their attempts on the northern and central sectors during the winter, so that the enemy might find himself in an attacking position of considerable danger when the spring came. The line in Russia can never be straight again,

Look at father! He steps on because he keeps himself fit and his bowels regular with the "little daily dose" of Kruschen Salts in his early morning tea. He doesn't know what constipation, liverishness, kidney trouble or rheumatism feel like. If you get winded by that sprint to catch the bus in the morning, there's something wrong with you.

Constipation, liverishness, kidney troubles—these three gloomy fellows sap your energy, hang lead weights on your legs and put a permanent check on your spirits. But the three-fold Kruschen action soon makes these troubles fade away as the "little daily dose" goes surging through your veins swilling poisons away, cleansing and strengthening your vital organs!

Follow Father's example! Make sure of "that Kruschen Feeling" by getting a bottle of Kruschen Salts from your Chemist or store.

Radio Background to the War

BACKGROUND to the war was once again provided through a large number of important talks broadcast from the various Stations of AIR during April. On April 21, H.E. General Sir Archibald Wavell, Commander-in-Chief of India, spoke about the war situation from the Delhi studios. His talk was relayed by all Stations and published in the last issue of The Indian Listener. Col. Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's Personal Representative in India, broadcast a message to the Indian people on April 23. This was also relayed by all AIR Stations. The work of the Indian Purchasing Mission in America was reviewed by Sir Shanmukham Chetty in his broadcast from Delhi on April 27. The talk was radiated from all AIR transmitters.

A large number of talks, plays and features about air-raid precautions were arranged in various languages from all AIR Stations. Listeners' queries about various spects of A.R.P. are now being answered over the microphone at some of the Stations as a regular feature. His Excellency the Governor of Bombay, -broadcasting on April 19, assured the public that there was no immediate danger to Bombay of air alerts.

U. S. AND CHINA

SEVERAL new series of talks were inaugurated during the month. Most of our readers, we believe, have listened in to "The Voice of America" by Mr. Winston Burdett, broadcast from Delhi every Wednesday at 8.30 p.m. and relayed by all Stations. Delhi, Lahore and Lucknow are collaborating in the series "The Chinese Scene", broadcast weekly from these three Stations, both in English and Hindustani. Among those who contributed talks during April may be mentioned Dr. C. J. Pao, the Chinese Consul-General in India, Mr. V. G. Kiernen, Mr. R. A. Kennard, Dr. A. L. Becker, Mr. Prithvi Pal Singh and Mr. Faiz Ahmad Faiz.

Mr. D. F. Karaka, AIR observer in Chungking, has been broadcasting frequently from that Station since April 17. despatches have been included in AIR News Bulletins, and when the reception conditions were favourable recordings were made of these for subsequent rebroadcasts.

"SAVE YOUR SCRAP"

L ADY HALLET, wife of the Governor of the United Provinces, broadcasting from the Lucknow studios on April 21, enjoined listeners to save their scrap. Among other outstanding talks may be mentioned those by Lt.-Col. Sir Gordon Jolly on "China's Wartime Capital" (Delhi: April 6), Sir Purshottamdas Thakurdas on "Grow More Food" (Bombay: April 24), Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Pao on "The Heritage of China" (Calcutta: April 2 and 15), Mr. V. C. Tsang in the series "Chinese Commentary" (Calcutta: April 25), Major Manby on "The Defence Services Exhibition Train" (Lahore: April 25), Lt.-Col. J. R. Kennedy on "The War in Burma" (Trichy: April 16), Pilot

Pilot Officer MOHINDER SINGH PUJJI, lately attached to the R.A.F. in England, broadcast a talk entitled "A Pilot Officer's Diary" from A I R Lahore.

Officer M. S. Pujji on his experiences in England and during his flights to bombard enemy territory in Europe (Lahore: April 24) and K. S. P. Sherfuddin on "The War and Ourselves" (Trichy: April 28).

A message by the late Sir Henry Gidney to members of the Anglo-Indian community engaged in the war in India, Burma and Overseas, recorded earlier from Delhi, was broadcast from Calcutta on April 28.

Besides these a large number of talks, plays and features kept listeners in touch with the political developments and the progress of fighting in the various theatres of

BID FOR OIL

IT was always obvious that when the Germans attacked in the spring they must at all costs go for oil, for without oil the Ukraine will be nothing but a desert. By this I mean that although Hitler may have enough oil or purely military purposes he certainly has not enough for farming the conquered terriories. And he has not enough horses either.

If, then, the Russians decide on a spring ffensive of their own, every yard they advance till strengthen them and correspondingly waken the enemy, whose losses are already as that with which he wantonly and brutally attacked the Soviet Union almost exactly eleven months ago.

The Russians have announced that they will finish the war this year. The German attack in the south is the essential preliminary to Russian victory. But this I should add, that when the Russians made that announcement they were counting on all of us not only not to slacken our efforts, but to increase them. If we do that, then I for one have no fears whatever. And that lack of fear is reinforced by the knowledge and the certainty that the Soviet Far Eastern armies, the aristocrat of their armies, are much larger today than they were in June last year. A fact that will no doubt not be lost on the Japanese.-Broadcast from Calcutta.

A MERICA has rightly been described as the arsenal for the Democracies of the world. The present world war is preeminently a mechanised war and America alone with her vast natural and industrial resources is in a position to supply the airplanes and ships and guns and annunition and innumerable other equipment required for the war. Beginning with the outbreak of the war, the American public began to realise that it was in their own national interest and security to help Britain, China and the other Democratic nations.

From the outbreak of the war, the British and French Governments established agencies in the United States for procuring war materials. In the dark days when France was collapsing, the American Government made available to the British Government all that it possibly could out of its surplus stocks of munitions. The delivery of these supplies undoubtedly contributed to the successful British resistance in the summer and autumn of 1940 when they were fighting against terrific odds. At the beginning of 1941 it was realised that the dollar resources of the British Government were being exhausted and that, if Britain was to maintain her striking power, it was necessary to assure her that the supply of munitions and equipment would be steadily augmented. It was this realisation that led to the passage of the Lend-Lease Act by the United States Congress in March 1941.

LEND-LEASE ACT

THE official title of the Lend-Lease Act is, "An Act to promote the defence of the United States." The conception The conception underlying this momentous legislation is that the defence of the United States itself requires that that country should help in all possible ways the Democracies that are fighting the aggressors. The American people realised that though at that stage America was not involved in the conflict, yet it would undermine the liberty and security of the American people if the Democracies were defeated. The decision of the American people, therefore, to help the Democracies was as much in the interest of the cause of Democracy as in the interest of the security of the American people themselves.

The Lend-Lease Act empowers the President to manufacture munitions and other war materials to the extent to which funds were made available therefor and transfer those materials for the Government of any country whose defence the President deems vital to the defence of the United States. The aid under the Lend-Lease Act, therefore, becomes available to any country when the

Sir SHANMUKHAM CHETTY

President of the United States declares that the defence of that country is vital to the defence of the United States. The Lend-Lease programme today operates practically throughout the world. The President has declared the defence of 32 countries and the British Empire as vital to the defence of the United States. The countries that now get aid under Lend-Lease comprise 72 per cent of the total land area of the world having 64 per cent. of the entire population of the world.

The mechanics of Lend-Lease operations are set up on a gigantic scale. President has established an office of Lend-Lease Administration which is responsible for co-ordinating and expediting the procurement and delivery of Lend-Lease goods and services. The actual operation of the mechanics of the Lend-Lease Administration is roughly as follows. Congress appropriates the necessary Lend-Lease funds. The countries eligible for Lend-Lease aid make requests for aid through their own agencies established at Washington. These requests are reviewed by the Lend-Lease Administration which determines the amount and nature of aid to be rendered. It then allocates funds to the various procuring agencies for the procurement of the designated goods and services. These procuring agencies are thereafter authorised to transier the completed goods to the Lend-Lease countries. When the Lend-Lease applications pass the final stages through the Lend-Lease Administration, these procuring agencies enter into contracts with suppliers for goods and services. The agency then directs the supplier to transfer the finished goods and services to the Lend-Lease country, and these countries ultimately receive the goods and services from the suppliers. The representatives of the British Ministry of War Transport at New York and the United States Maritime Commission arrange for the ships to carry these goods to their destinations.

COMPLICATED OPERATIONS

THOUGH the mechanism of the Lend-Lease Administration may appear simple on paper, yet in practice it is extremely complicated. Every country that makes a requisition for any goods must set forth in detail the use to which the requested article is to be put and the reason why it is needed. The Lend-Lease Administration will not approve any requisition unless the following main considerations are met:

1. The Lend-Lease aid requested must be for a

use essential to war or defence effort of the Lend-Lease funds must be available to supply the requested aid.

3. The requested aid must come within the legal scope of the Lend-Lease Act.

The defence aid requested must not be obtainable as a practical matter by payment in American dollars or other currency available to the requisitioning country.

5. The requested aid must be of the most economical and efficient type suitable for the intended use.

The task of the various agencies of the Lend-Lease countries like the British Purchasing Commission and the Indian Purchasing Mission is to satisfy the Lend-Lease authorities on every one of these points and justify in detail the requests for aid.

The Congress of the United States has implemented the passing of the Lend-Lease Act by the enactment of two Appropriation Acts placing funds at the disposal of the President for carrying out the purposes of the Act. In March 1941, the first Appropriation Act for Lend-Lease was passed for 7 billion dollars; in October 1941 the Congress again enacted an Appropriation Act for nearly 6 billion dollars. The colossal sum of 13 billion dollars has thus been placed up to date for the purpose of the Lend-Lease Act.

A Treatment for BEAUTY

If you would encourage the natural beauty of your skin, you should follow the three-point beauty treatment that only Pears can give. First bathe your skin in the rich lather of Pears and it will penetrate deep into the pores and remove the dust and impurities that endanger a delicate skin. Then massage its lather—so rich in glycerine—gently into the skin—to preserve its inherent smoothness. After this cooling, invigorating wash, you will feel a tingling and a bracing—that is Pears' special Tonic Action, closing your pores against impurities and awakening the skin to new loveliness. And then you are left with a perfume that is fragrant and refreshing.

LEASE AND LEND

from the Mediterranean to the Pacific. In spite of her natural resources, India's actual production of many of the war supplies was largely conditioned by her ability to secure certain essential materials like plant, machinery, machine tools and finished steel from the United Kingdom and, still more, from the United States of America. When the procurement of these supplies from America was facilitated by the passing of the Lend-Lease Act, the Indian Government decided to set up its own agency in the United States for obtaining our vital supplies. Accordingly, I proceeded to New York last July to organise the Purchasing Mission. The Mission consists of a head, a secretary and a director of supplies with the necessary technical and clerical staff. The Mission is divided into three departments—the Procurement Department, the Priority and Export License Department and the Shipping Department. The work of the Mission consists in, (1) procuring the requisitions of the Government of India under Lend-Lease wherever Lend-Lease is applicable; (2) dealing with all applications of American suppliers for priorities against Indian import licenses and (3) executing all orders for supplies placed by the Government of India against dollar credits. In addition to the requisitions submitted through the Mission for Lend-Lease aid, the requisitions for all finished war materials were placed directly through the British Purchasing Commission by the War Office in London. The Indian Mission was authorised to speak on behalf of India when demands were assessed and questions asked by any branch of the American Administration.

ELIGIBILITY

IN cases where eligibility under Lend-Lease could not be established, or where articles had to be procured urgently, the head of the Mission had the discretion to purchase the articles required with free dollars which were placed at the disposal of the Mission by the representatives of the British Treasury at Washington. In all cases in which we were certain that we could establish a case for eligibility under Lend-Lease, we submitted requisitions in the prescribed forms for such aid. In establishing our claim for Lend-Lease aid we had to prove categorically that what we wanted was directly or indirectly related to our war-effort and that the Government of India exercised the strictest control in the actual use and disposal of these materials. It was the responsibility of the Government of India to follow the course of every article received on Lend-Lease to its final holder in India. The Lend-Lease transaction is a transaction between the Governments of the United States and India, and in cases where the transfer of Lend-Lease materials to a private person is considered necessary it is the responsibility of the Government of India to see that such transfer is in itself justified.

In addition to the procurement of supplies for cash or under Lend-Lease, the Indian Purchasing Mission is responsible for securing the necessary priorities and export licences in respect of orders placed by Indian importers on American manufacturers. The American Government exercises the strictest control over the distribution and use of various essential materials. If an Indian importer, for instance, placed an order for some article which had steel as one of its component parts, the American manufacturer could not obtain the steel unless he secured a priority certificate for the supply of steel. It was the responsibility of the Indian Purchasing Mission to help the manufacturer in securing the priority certificates. In all such cases the Mission had to make out a case that the articles in question were required in India for some purpose connected with war.

The aid given under Lend-Lease is not confined to war materials alone. It is open to us to ask for supply under Lend-Lease of articles required for civilian use also. The scope of the Lend-Lease Act is very wide and covers not merely direct war materials but all materials which are necessary to maintain the life of the civil population of the country on a war-time basis. The Government of India have not so far indented on any large scale for articles required by the civilian population. If and when the necessity arises, it is open to the Indian Government to seek Lend-Lease aid in the matter of such supplies also, provided we could establish a clear case that what we ask for is necessary for maintaining our war economy.

GENEROUS AND SYMPATHETIC

THE strategic importance of India both by land and sea was recognised by the American Administration right from the outset and the Indian Purchasing Mission had no difficulty in getting our requisitions under Lend-Lease accepted by the American Administration in most cases. India was accorded the same treatment as other countries which obtained their supplies under

Major JOHN MANBY, who recently broadcast from Lahore a talk entitled "The Defence Services Exhibition Train"

Lend-Lease and the Administration issued an executive order that, for purposes of Lend-Lease, India would be treated on approximately the same basis as the United Kingdom. The President of the United States had also issued a declaration that the defence of India was vital to the defence of the United States. Every commodity that we require that can be regarded as essential for the war-effort is eligible for Lend-Lease aid and the procurement in each case is dealt with purely on its merits. India must be profoundly grateful to the American Government for the generous and sympathetic consideration that the Administration gave to every one of our demands. The American Government has given further proof of its helpful co-operation towards India in the despatch of the Technical Mission which is now in this country.

Though every member of the United Nations is putting forth his utmost effort in the titanic struggle, the world looks to America in 2 special degree for material assistance. The unique machinery of Lend-Lease is the bold and unconventional symbol of America's determination to render all-out aid to the Democracies of the world in their great hour of trial. As the effective weight of her vast and mighty resources is brought more and more to bear on the side of the United Nations, the ultimate issue becomes clearer and more certain. It is the good fortune of mankind that Americans regard the vast resources of their wonderful country as a trust for helping the world in this grave hour of crisis. America has extended her help to all those nations which are willing to subordinate individual interests to the common interest of all. We in India should feel proud to be associated with such a country. Let us hope that the people of India and the people of the United States joined to-day as comrades in arms will in future be fellow-workers in the task of reconstruction.—Broadcast from Delhi.

Interference Suppression

▶ Q.—T. C. from Calcutta: Why can't I receive the Delhi station as perfectly as I get Calcutta?

What can be done to get rid of the foreign noises that come in while listening in to the BBC programmes. Are these disturbances due to some defect in the receiver?

A .- The Calcutta station being so near will naturally provide the best signal.

The interfering noise in the terference-suppression case of B B C transmissions are perhaps due to local interference. Try the remedies suggested in the issue of the Indian Listener dated April 22, 1941.

Extra Space! Extra Beauty! Extra Economy!

Here's more than 10 per cent extra room that does not cost you an anna more. Because every "6 cubic foot" Kelvinator has actually 6.34 cubic feet of space—and that's just typical of the extras you get in 1941-42 Kelvinators.

There's extra beauty...extra convenience...extra value ...but no extra cost.

Let us show you this truly beautiful Kelvinator with its recessed Polar Light..its massive solid steel cabinet. It's just one of nine big 1941 Kelvinator models.

CHINESE WOMEN TODAY-Kamladevi Chattopadhaya.

WOMEN in areas adjacent to the Japanese lines have organised themselves along with the children, to keep a look-out for spies. Their alertness has resulted in the arrest of several suspects. Then there are the guerilla women, who not only guard their villages when their husbands are away, but also carry on harassing activities in enemy They also help in building high-The 240 miles of Kansu section of the Szechwan-Kansu highway will stand as the immortal monument to the women of Kansu. & Thousands have worked on it, just as they did on the Kansu-Sinkiang highway, with very primitive tools. They have their share in almost every road. Short of active service, Kwangsi's amazons dressed in Khaki uniforms and steel helmets, carrying hand grenades, follow the troops everywhere, carry on guerilla work, help in evacuation, rescue refugees, etc. Kwantung has the honour of having organised the first women gendarmes. They have guarded strategic supply lines and positions when all available troops had to be rushed to the firing line. In every Government organisation there are women. There are 15 in the People Political Council. Women are equally active in the newspaper world. Nearly half of the number of reporters at my press conference in China were women.—Broadcast from Delhi.

HIGHBROWS IN POLITICS.-K. Gopalaswami.

THE loquacious legislator who dismisses your weightiest argument with, "Oh, that's nothing; my point is different"-how many of these must you have met! Or the leader who is impatient of criticism or dissent. He has no time for those who think or talk differently from him; they are too small for him. And the politician who swears the prying journalist is either a nuisance or an idiot, if not worse. And the still worse type of politician who believes that his claim to eminence lies in the sneer with which he scorns the reporter. Then, again, there is the highly secretive politician who fancies that he is God's sentry to guard some mysterious thought-treasure, some pestilential formula, an intrigue or a manoeuvre. What about the leader who conserves his wealth of wisdom and adopts a pearls-before-swine attitude? His opinions are much too precious to be frittered away...... Not very long ago I had occasion to meet an eminent politician, one held in high esteem by a large section of his fellow-beings. "What is your reaction to such and such a thing," I asked; "What do you propose to do?" The man, poor fish, suddenly flared up, "How dare you put that question to me?" couldn't understand; I suspected I had made a faux pas. I hesitantly and reverently inquired, "How d'you mean? Is there anything wrong in my question?" Anything wrong?" he rapped out, red in the face; "That's just like asking Hitler or Chamberlain what he intends to do on the eve of Munich." This was too much for me, even for one who was certainly anxious to avoid a quarrel with a g-r-reat leader. First in a murmur, then more boldly, I said as I rose to leave, "That's just comparing great things with small."—Broadcast from Bombay.

HISTORY AS PROPAGANDA.-Krishan Shungloo.

A N historian revels in the reputation of being strictly impartial. Most histor-Most historians have a theory on which to work but few are ever able to remain consistent with their theory. The glamour of their subject weakens their determination to be impartial. They are so taken in by some aspect of past history or so captivated by the words of some dead hero heard across the centuries that they insensibly tend to enliven their narrative and make it picturesque. They juggle with facts and even ignore the faults and weaknesses of their subjects. Their natural enthusiasm for their hero or for their particular cause breeds eloquence and rhetoric, and, these, you will agree, are seldom the attendants of strict veracity. On the other hand, an historian may wish to be just and tell the truth. But he has to think of his audience. "If," said Matthew Paris, "I tell the truth, I offend many; if I tell falsehoods I offend God." Many historians have, therefore, preferred to offend God rather than their audience.—Broadcast from Lahore.

SCIENCE AND SECURITY.—Dr. T. H. Somervell.

THE expectation of life is now nearly twice what it was in 1842, and the amount of pain caused by disease today is probably not more than one-third of what it was a hundred years ago. We must remember, too, the great principle of surgery, namely, that all advances in knowledge should at once be made public to the medical profession as a whole. If Simpson had kept chloroform a family secret, as the quack doctors conceal their knowledge; if Lister had never told anyone else about the antiseptics he discovered; no real advance in surgery would have been possible, and none of these benefits to mankind could now be conferred. But by the pooling of knowledge, and the sharing with others of good things we have found out ourselves, advance of the science of healing takes place, such as never can occur if doctors selfishly keep their discoveries to themselves for their own personal profit. In the world of free, friendly and co-operating nations, which will, we hope, arise from the powder and smoke of this present war, we can look forward to still further advances in the merciful and life-saving art of surgery; let us hope that the lives then saved will be saved to enjoy a happy and a friendly world, in which all will be able to co-operate for the welfare of all, and life will be, in all respects and for all men, worth living.—Broadcast from Trichy.

PUBLIC AND THE GARDEN .-- V. Sane.

HAVE often known and seen a mali weep over his plant damaged by hail, or trampled over or browsed by a cow, or destroyed by a callous passer-by, and nurse them back to health with the same meticulous care as that of a mother. Believe me, I often feel terribly hurt and despondent when some one carelessly or callously tears off a branch of a tree or breaks off a few flowers of the plant leaving it denuded or bruised or trample about a wet lawn leaving ugly foot-marks in addition to damaging the grass or ride about on a dry lawn and wear the grass out, leaving a trail of damage and destruction in the As a gardener I cannot give up and just let the damaged tree look after itself or leave the trampled grass to grow the best way it can or take no notice of the flowering plant that has been snapped; I have to do my best for them by attending to them in the hope of getting them back in shape-Broadcast from Lucknow.

China
Talk in Marathi by N. G. Jog
The doleful memories of the atrocities committed by the Japanese armies in the territories over-run by them make one's blood curdle with horror. Murder, wholesale and semi-regular looting, offences a ainst women, mass execution, vandalism and violence—these are common occurences in occupied countries of which any one without a strong stomach might find it difficult to read. War is brutalising, the more so a war of conquest, and the Japanese army has today become a brutal destructive force that menaces the East and the world should know the truth of what is happening in China. This symphony is definitely Russian in character, and only in the Scherzo is there even a slight resemblance to the German class.cal tradition. The finale is one of the grandest movements Tchaikowsky ever wrote.
It is interesting to note that this is the first recording ever made of Both are fond of burning orchestral colours. Among the living conductors, Stokowsky is certainly the one to do justice to both Wagner and Rachmaninoff.

Outside of Paradise

Arranged and produced by Ian 9.45 Vallentine In one of his most famous odes, Keats tells us of the thrill he experienced when he first read Chapman's translation of Homer. He says:
"Then felt I like some watcher sties When a new planet swims into his ken." Perhaps we cannot express our enthusiasm as well as Keats did and, perhaps, there are translations we prefer to Chapman's. We present therefore, telections by various translators, from the greatest work of the greatest Greek poet. the greatest work of the greatest Greek poet.

Those who admired the achievements of the Greeks not many months ago, and who look forward to the time when this heroic nation will once again be free, will take fresh heart when they hear these noble lines and will be convinced that a people who produced such a high-souled singer must rise again in spite of the forces of tyranny that at present bind them down.
