The stand-off between Virgin Retail and its major record company suppliers is reaching crunch-time this week with the imminent expiry of the promised end-of-March payment period on Friday.

Last week the major record company chairmen received letters from the retailer repeating the demands Richard Branson originally made at the start of the dispute that his suppliers improve their deals, adding that he had yet to make a decision on whether to pay his bills.

It is understood that none of the major record companies is prepared to improve its terms. *This week is most probably crunch week. We

Lobbyists celebrate Budget boost for indies

The Independent music sector is in line for a share of investment totalling tens of millions of pounds and previously unavailable to the music industry, following last week's budget.

week's douget. After sustainen lobbing from several bodies, incheding the (dim) and Association of Music Industry Accountants, chancellor Gordon Brown lifted two inportant exclusions which had previously made small music companies ineiligible for tax breaks under the Enterprise Investment Schome (EIS) and Corporate Venturing Scheme.

Pre-budget rules had excluded companies which rely on licensing and royaitles from being able to attract investment under EIS. This meant venture capitalists and parenting companies had been prevented from pumping money into the music sector and instead turned to film, dotcom and other manufacturing industries.

Last year non-music companies attracted £40.5m under EIS, which has been responsible for £250m of funding since it started in 1993. Under the revised scheme companies which create the intellectual properties themselves (rather than buying catalogues or masters) can now benefit. Investors will be able to fund companies to the tune of £150,000 per year and receive 20% tax relief.

Aim chief executive Allson Wenham says the move will be a significant boost to indies. "Music companies often find it difficult to attract investment in the first place because the balance sheet doesn't always accurately reflect the health of the business," she says.

Harris & Trotter tax partner Hugh Lask says the move will "rejuvenate the independent sector". Geraint Howells, partner at Willott Kingston Smith, adds that It shows the Inland Revenue no longer views the practice of licensing as a "passive" source of income. a six-month option of issuing a winding up order against the retailer, although Kennedy says it is not something the major is contemplating at present. "I'm so certain he'll do the decent thing and not let this drag into April Fools Day." he says.

A Virgin Retail source says the group has had some "constructive conversations" with the record companies, adding, "Hopefully everybody's going to bring this to a conclusion quite shortly,"

Virgin's clash with the major suppliers comes as two of its UK High Street rivals, HMV and Woolworths, issued results figures last week confirming the tough trading conditions they had faced at the end of last year, in particular in the face of widespread discounting (see story, p3).

Meanwhile, as the majors hold out for their money, the Virgin group is still waiting to see the conclusion of the £600m deal with Singapore Airlines in which Singapore is set to buy a 45% stake in Branson's airline.

Contracts were exchanged on the deal on Fabruary 11 and a conclusion had been expected by now, although this has yet to materialise. A Virgin Atlantic spokeswoman says it is "taking longer than anticipated", but expects the situation to be wrapped up "in the next couple of weeks".

Capital's Party aims to eclipse Brits

Capital FM's third Party In The Park is aiming to outstrip the 8.8m the pre-video TV viewers who watched this year's Brit Awards after signing a TV deal with Channel Four to broadcast seven hours of live music from the summer event.

The target is a massive leap from the 800,000 viewers who tuned in last year to ITV2's live Party in The Park coverage, but Capital group head of programmes Gilve Dickens says itsst Friday's exclusive deal marks a significant commitment to the event by the TV broadcaster and could mean the July 3 festival will be the biggest live terrestrial TV products show the Eightles. "It's going to be a phenomenal amount of music. There will be 35 acts and 11 hours of music over seven days (including highlights). It's going to be a real Live Aid, Mandela feel," he says. "We want to get more than The Brits."

Dickens claims to have struck the deal without revealing any of the headline acts he has signed up, adding that this shows how the V broadcaster recognises the hage marketing potential of the event. Dickens adds that he expects to negotiate deals to broadcast to more than 45 countries this year, compared with 40 last vear.

Prices squeeze hits HMV floation plan HMV GROUP'S CHRISTMAS

HMV Media Group is likely to put its flotation plans on ice after it claimed the "crazy" pricing policies of competitors had squeezed the entertainment group's third quarter profits and sales.

Tough trading conditions in the usic and books sector during the 13 weeks to January 22 - HMV's most important quarter - saw like for-like group sales down 0.9% on the previous year. Waterstones' operating profit before exceptional items, depreciation and amortisa-tion (Ebitda) was down £4m to £21.4m, while HMV, which opened 12 new stores in the period, mand a £5.3m Ebitda increase to £49.3m

The effects of heavy discounting were also felt by Woolworths, which last Wednesday revealed that £16m was wiped off its CD and video sales last year to cut overall profit growth across the chain to just 0.6% (and a total of £119m) for the 52 weeks to January 29.

WHY BRANSON HAS TO PAY UP

Richard Branson has scarcely been out of the newspapers in recent weeks with stories about mobile phone licence bids, his lottery plans, ecommerce strategies and online investments. Nothing unusual in that, since he remains a past master at PR . But what has amazed record industry observers is the story that has gone almost unreported in the national press so far: his on-going tussle with record companies over his outstanding December hills

As the extended deadline for payment approaches this week, that could all change. With the outcome still uncertain, some key executives within the industry fear the worst.

What is astonishing is that Branson appears to be resuming his attack on record companies' pricing policies. blaming them for his current predicament. No one denles that recent trading has been incredibly tough (witness the results statements issued by HMV and Woolies last week) or that pricing is the key issue of the moment (for a very different Indie retail take see this issue's letters page). This is a debate that is going to run and run.

But that is no excuse for simply not paying your bills If - as Virgin continues to insist - there is cash in the bank. As he campaigns to run the Lottery, Branson surely has a duty to show that he pays what he owes. After all, a lottery operator must be relied on to pay out its promised jackpot. If Branson doesn't pay his retail debts then, put quite simply, he should not be allowed to run the public lottery.

The MW Awards show, like all awards, can be a rowdy occasion. But you could have heard a pin drop in the Great Room at the Grosvenor House when Scott Piering's widow Hil mounted the stage to collect the Strat Award on his behalf. Everyone paid total respect to the memory of a true music man. Let his example be a reminder to us all of what this business is all about. Aiax Scott

o the first internet-only album from major acts? If you Saren't aware The Black Crowes (out of contract) and Jimmy Page (uncontracted for solo work) toured together in the US last autumn to great reviews. A live recording was made from the LA dates and is now available exclusively from Muslcmaker.com and its e-tail partners in the US. What is interesting is that the consumer can either pay per track to download from the 19 tracks available or choose five or more tracks to make a custom CD or order an 18track pre-packaged CD. Consumer power or what? Radio was serviced with a one-track promo and listeners were directed to each station's website for details of how to buy the track(s). There is a link to the Musicmaker site and the radio station gets a cut of each sale referred. Er, no conventional retail then? No, and US retailers are up in arms, quoting loads of confused customers wanting to buy the disc but being unable to do so in a bricks and mortar store. Belatedly Musicmaker has offered the same terms to retail websites as radio station ones, but many retailers are loath to direct traffic to a competitor.

Why has this deal been done? Well first of all It is obviously an experiment to see what the demand is but, as Musicmaker sales are not tracked, it is going to be hard to independently find out. Secondly, a live album from a one-off project is a lot less controversial than a new studio album. And for a couple of established acts they can presumably make far more money this way per unit sold than a conventional release.

What about International sales and promotion? Is this a model for the future? I was on a panel at the ILMC recently where I was asked why record companies continue to exist. For an artist they take away any risk, advance money and market the record. For an established artist, only the first possibly applies. I think we are going to see a lot more deals like this

Radio One bounces back with Sony list domination

Industry-wide database moves one step closer

The music industry's bid to pool statistics and information to create a standardised industry database d closer last week when PPL chief executive officer Charles Andrews presented a business plan to the BPI council.

Andrews, who is pro plect manage ing the industry database, code-named Project Catco and first prosed as one of the re of the BPI-sponsored Andersen Project, is testing the feasibility of linking and enhancing a number of existing databases as those operated by PPL, ich MCPS, Mics and PRS.

Andrews says the existing sources of data are specialist. sometimes overlap and are invari ably not able to "talk to each other" because much information is not held in a standardised for He adds that an industry-wide data which holds standardised information that both businesses and consumers can access, will be a significant advantage to industry bodies and music companies. "If has business-to-business and consumer applications. People will be able to search for records for compliations or retailers could find out if a record is available," he says, comparing it with the databases sed by the book industry.

E-mail solution to Eros dilemma

Ranger Computers, which supplies Oscar Electronic Point of Sale (Epos) system to more than 100 retailers believes it has made a significant breakthrough in its attempts to offer an alternative to the defunct Electronic Record Ordering System (Eros) by persuading the major distributors to accept ailed orders

Ranger claims around 10 indie shops are now using the company's Oscar Lite ordering tool, a £1,625 software and hardware package, to e-mail a range of dis tributors including Universal, BMG, EMI, Pinnacle and Vital Ten. managing director David Viewing concedes lack of support from the majors means he has written off plans to charge the distributors for technical assistance to plug it directly into the company's orde processing systems as Eros did. "None of the companies has been willing to make any financial contribution to replacing Eros and we can't afford to be the Feiher Christmas of the industry, but this seems to work now that they agreed to accept e-mails," says Viewing, who hopes his company can eventually rebuild the network

Ellis: 'Oscar fills the gap of 200 retailers that previously used Eros Ellis, Tim Ellis, proprietor of Nuneaton-based What Records, says he has been left "high and dry" by the collapse of Fros and resorted to ringing or faxing orders Oscar fills the gap. Chris Maskery, sales director at Pinnacle, which has established its own Portech ordering link used by around 60 dealers and which goes straight into the company's system, adds the distributor is now happy to take e-mails.

BBC boosts TOTP with £1m ad spend

The BBC is spending more than £1m promoting a revamped Top Ff The Pops Magazine with a nation radio and TV ad campaign, retail displays and a schools pop quiz.

From April 5, the magazine will have a new logo to link more close-ly with the TV show and a glossy design, while the average pay tion will rise from 80 pages to at least 100 per Issue

The magazine remains the topselling music magazine, even though sales were down 4.3% at 368,700 for the period July to December 1999.

New editor Corinna Shaffer, who was appointed in March, says new features will include more back stage coverage from the TOTP TV programme and articles on nonnon genres.

A national ad campaign will run during April and May on satellite channels and commercial radio, while there will also be retail support and a schools promotion in nction with confectionery nd Twix. Schools apply to hold their own competition and send their answers to the BBC to try to win a place in one of 10 regional finals and a grand final to be held in lune.

EDITED BY STEVE HEMSLEY (Ta:: 01892 519504/steve.hemsley@talk21.com) - MARKETING Industry warned to get behind BBC Music Live

The degree of support the music industry provides BBC Music Live could dictate the an programming on BBC1 and BBC2 in the future, warns the event's executive producer Guy Freeman.

He says complaints about a lack of music on television could fall on deaf ears within the corporation if labels managers and pluggers fail to take advantage of the promotional opportunities being offered by the 24-hour live music marathon planned across the two networks on May 28-29.

Some artists have already b firmed to appear during BBC Music Live's The Perfect Day and they will be announced at the press launch this Thursday (March 30), but Freeman says more are needed and interest from the music business has been slow.

The industry needs to realise that music is still regarded as minority viewing on TV and this event is a massive gamble for the channel heads who want to know that the music business is behi it. This is an incredible promotional vehicle for labels and if it is wasted the BBC will wonder why," he says. The broadcasts will comprise special 30-, 60- and 90-minute ver sions of music shows such as Top Of The Pops and one-off pro grammes with coverage switching between BBC1 and BBC2 during the 24 hours. There will be up to 50 outside broadcasts from throughout the UK and additional coverage across BBC national and local radio, BBC Choice and BBC Online

Sony's vice-president of commu

BPI's PR committee Gary Farrow says he expects momentum for the event to gather pace during the next few weeks. "This is a fickle industry sometimes and people have been concerned with the Millennium and then the Brits, but they can now start thinking about Music Live. The BBC has presented to the BPI and we have relayed details to the record companies," he says.

The BBC has commi media agency Fallon McEttigot to pro duce trailer advertising for Music Live and the ads, which will appear across the networks for five weeks beginning mid-April, were being shot in Scotland last week

These will be awareness ads lling people about Music Live and what a huge celebration of music it will be," says account director Chris Hurst.

Other marketing already con firmed includes street parties, posters and an event guide which will be distributed with the Radio Times.

IAN/FEB'S TOP TV ADVERTISERS

by STEVE HEMSLEY

Love may have been in the air in February, but the music industry has fallen out with TV as an advertising medium.

As always, Valentine's Day gave record companies' commercial market ing teams the perfect excuse to advertise romantic compilations and artist best ofs but, according to figures compiled by ad agency MediacomTMB on behalf of Music Week, this activity could not hide a massive cut in media spend by labels in the first two months of the year.

The combined total allocated to television advertising for January and February was £2.3m, down 38% on the £3.7m assigned during the same period in in 1999. The number of albums given any TV coverage was cut by half from 100 to 50, though the average amount spent on those that were promoted on the small screen was up 25% from £37,400 to £46,700. This rise, says Mediacom TMB director Martin Cowie, is evidence that labels that are promoting on TV are willing to spend more to maximise the effect of any campaign, although much of the extra money was lost through TV inflation.

For the music industry, TV is getting too expensive and there is a definite

He adds, "Average TV initiation across all channels was 6% in the first two months, but for ITV it peaked at 17% for January, fueled by demand from dotcom companies who realise that advertising on ITV is the best way to build their brand."

Valentine's Day meant that the biggest spend was for The Love Songs. Album (warner.esp/Universal/Global TV), with slots booked on ITV during Coronation Street, Home And Away and Father Of The Bride, as well as dur-

Independiente continues to spend heavily to help keep Travis' The Man Who around the top of the album chart with the £190,000 allocated in the first two months of the year taking the overall spend for the most heavily TV-advertised album of 1999 past the £1.1m mark. Mercury also continued to heavily advertise last year's number one album, Shania Twain's Come On Over.

 Gabrielle's Rise edges ever closer to the top of the fono survey of UK-sourced hits on European radio this week, after increasing its plays across the whole continent. Sitting at two d All Saints' Pure Shores, the track has its biggest airplay supporters in Austria (13-12), Germany (35-19), Norway (3-2), Spain (25-9) and Switzerland (11-9), while its sales successes include climbing a notch to six in the rwegian chart

 Melanie C has to settle for second place behind Madonna on the Swedish airplay chart ith Never Be The Same Again, which retains its superiority over Geri Halliwell's Bag It Up. Sporty Spice's 12-9 improvement is half of a successful week for half of a successful week for Virgin which also sees Richard Ashcroft's A Song For The Lovers grabbing the highest new entry spot at 13. Alongside the two Virgin tracks, there are four contributions each from Universal and the indie sector, three EMI and Sony tracks, and two from BMG

 In Norway Melanie C Is overshadowed by Byrne Blood/ Columbia's A1 in the race for the singles chart's highest new entry title. While Never Be The Same Again enters at 13, A1's Like A Rose debuts at 11 to instantly give the group another big hit in their biggest territory outside the UK.

 A new album offering from U2 is still some months off but, in the meantime, the group's fans are making the most of several band and Bono o on the soundtrack to The Million Dollar Hotel.  Chicane's pairing with Bryan Adams is showing early signs o turning into as big a hit on the continent as it has been in the is of UK. It became the second highest new entry on the German sales chart last week and this week arrives at 12 in Denmark

 As in the US, Sonique is continuing to build a chart profile across the border in Canada. Though her single it Feels So Good last week slipped four places to seven, o the albums chart she debuted at 47 with Hear My Cry.

 In line with much of the rest In the with much of the rest of the world, Santana's Supernatural reaches the top of the Swedish albums chart this week, but the other end of the Top 10 is very much following its own pattern. Landing the chart's highest new entry honour is a Bryan Ferry/Roxy Music retrospective, Very Best Of The Ballads, which leaps 19 places to 10.

Dance move helps Sine take charge of Europe's airwaves

Sine is dominating the UK's show ing on European radio at present. largely thanks to a decision to start licensing dance repertoire.

The Sony operation was last week working on five of the 20 most popular UK-sourced hits on Europe's airwaves, with half its total coming from long-running deals with labels such as Indepen diente and half through licensing deals for releases by acts such as Artful Dodger and Phats & Small.

Its success comes just five months after European executive vice-president Paul-Rene Albertini prompted a move into the dance sector by linking Sine senior viceident Mark Chung with director of A&P and marketing for Dancennol

Nanou Lamblin, "It's very much

Paul-Rene's baby because he brought us together and he's been very supportive in us striking deals," says Chung.

Specialist people have been brought in to work on the dance repertoire, though all within the Sine tun. Chung says the operation has ing methods to better reflect the fastnoving nature of the dance market.

'Essentially the problem we've had is we have a lot of time to decide whether we're going to put out a record or not, or wait until there's an album. [With dance] we've discussed things like bringing in a 48-hour deadline of whether we're going to release a record," he says

The expansion into dance, which has included Phats & Small for the whole of Europe and the Artful Dodger for Europe outside the Scandinavian and GSA regions, has come in a year in which Sine's sales rose 56% However, despite the huge increase, Chung says the eco nomic situation has become a lot barder. "The pressure is increasing with a label struggling for two years but now it would probably be one year," he says.

Sine is currently in ongoing disssions about its relationship with Nude which, with Creation, were the only two Sine labels when Chung joined three years ago. There are now 15 label deals. Chung says he expects a decision to be made in two to three weeks

Meanwhile, Sine is presently look ing to the US to break both Chicane and Travis, The latter's album The Man Who is released there on April 14. They will be touring the States from next month with fellow Sine act Oasis, whose current album Chung admits has so far proved to be "a bit tough" to work in the States.

SxSW live overshadows the net

As the internet makes inroads into signing acts, the stage is still king in Austin. Stephen Jones reports

South By Southwest proved that internet-led technological breakthroughs are increasingly seen as a opportunity to refresh the inde-pendent music scene - but that there is no substitute for the live experience.

More than 70 internet companies attendance - compared with a dozen last year - arguing that their business models rule supreme at the 14th annual festival in Austin, Texas, last week. But some 1,000 acts and artists preferred to let the music do the talking.

As Gomez vocalist/guitarist Tom Gray put it from the stage, "Now it's time to decide whether this is a music conference whether you just love music. You don't need to confer to work that out, do you?" Despite the band performing their blues and groove laden set in the spiritual home of their in ences, the Hut/Virgin act's over-subscrib gig - even despite clashing with Pattl Smith - was one of the festival's best.

As a British performance it was better received than either Robbie Williams last year or Stereophonics the year before. The band come across as having the increasing-ly-rare attitude of actually enjoying their job. The only buzz acts to compare were country-soul crossover artist Def Jam Island's Shelby Lynne (who is finally being embraced by critics) and TNT's heavy rock act Nashville Pussy, whose enthralling sex-fuelled rock'n'roll trip, fur bikini and fire-breathing antics hardly detracted from the m

With fewer trad American guitar-by-numbers bands, SxSW shone this year for the greater breadth of genres on show, particularly hip hop, even if many of the rappers wearing backwards baseball caps and singing about their hos and their woes were not particularly original.

The act that best had the PR machine sewn up to generate a pre-gig buzz was new Tommy Boy signing Pimpadelic. Their party bus circled town for two days ahead of their Southern discomfort" set - a mix of rock, hip-hop, dancing girls and redneck attitude -but their show trod nowhere where Kid Rock, or The Stranglers for that matter, have not already been

Among the best to draw  very Blink 182" comparisons were new Zomba signing Bowling For Soup - amusing even before their Bon Jovi and Bryan Adams' covers.

In the unsigned arena a live dance act that better carried off a mix of genres were Plexing from Hamburg, Germany, who also boasted entertaining star quality

Also exuding magical intrigue for his datedbut-understated dress sense before he even stepped on to stage was Dublin folk artist David Kitt, who stuck to the tried-and-tested coustic guitar, albeit with an electronica backing tape.

As ever, with so many bands came curious sounding names which often suggest latent talent, and this year's best name contest was narrowly won by electronic funk act VHS Or Beta, ahead of And You Will Know Us By The Trail Of Dead, DJ Muppetfucker and I Am The World Trade Centre

Lack of concerted effort by UK industry puts British music in the shade

A&R at South By Southwest is the Four Seasons hotel, comment ably turned to why UK usic is faring so badly in the US.

The perception is that, not only do US labels make less money on international signings and so de-prioritise them, but UK acts generally lack stars. Furthermore, the feeling is that those acts the UK does deliver have a rather unendearing attitude towards the US that does not help in breaking them

The lack of star quality in UK acts is a gen eral problem domestically, but it hardly h that the British do so little shouting about the quality of their talent on the international stage and using events such as SxSW prop erly. That happened again last week, where the Brits left countries like Sweden, Ireland, Germany, Denmark, the Netherlands, France and Japan to represent themselves better

For the second year, the BPI sponsored a

"Best of British" barbecue, which offered stic showcases by several acts appearing at the festival. But it started all too honestly - before Catherine Porter - as fo Wonderstuff frontman Miles Hunt opened his set with a quip about the lrony of him per forming there when the only support he has had recently has been from a Canadian label.

But the Austin Chronicle was more damning the next day: "We head like a giddy kid to the candy store. Sadly the party bombs, host-ed by an overzealous eff in bad sideburns who enthuses for a group of might-as-well-be-American crap bands."

Gomez's SxSW showstopper und saved face for the UK contingent, but why don't UK labels send over half a dozen acts at least as good and start everyone buzzing about British music again?

Sure it was better than the Brits' Midem Live effort, but a "Best of British" banner headline at such an event in this country would warrant a trades description inquiry.

Aim was there scouting what it could do to help next year and in a sense it could not be easier. That was proved by the ex-Cocteau Twins' label Bella Union, which put on an exel-Twins label beit onion, which put on an exel-lent show bettering even those by Beggars Banquet (orky's Zygotic Mynoi, Llama Farmers) and Skint (Midfield General, Cut La Roc, Sparky Lightbourne). Topping even the interesting Departure Lounge was the debut of Robin Guthrie's new band Violet Indiana, featuring former Mono frontwoman Siobhan De Mare, who were inspiring, write in response to the recent letters Music Week from Tony Grist at Atomic Sounds and Alan Hughes at Phase One Records (MW. March 18).

LETTERS (mwletters@unmf.com)

I have been in music retailing for more than 20 years and I agree whole heartedly with what they are saying. But I would argue that all indie dealers, like ourselves, should take the argument one stage further. If you can't leat them on price, join them. I source 95% of my CDs from abroad from companies like Multiple Sounds, Rolled Gold and Proper Music. If you shop around, you can find what you want at £6,99 plus Vat or less. You then can retail your Top 40 CDs at £9.99 or £10.99 each, while selling your back catalogue titles from artists like Blink 182, Lambchop and Live (which the supermarkets have never heard of at £15.99 each. What you lose on the roundabouts, you gain on the

OK, the mark up is not brilliant on chart product, but you more than make up for it on back catalogue, and you are seen to be cheaper overall than the multiples and the supermarkets.

If all indie dealers bought their CDs from the companies mentioned above, then the price would get even lower, giving them an ever better mark-up. Then the leading indie prices to compete, ultimately forcing British record companies to reduce their prices.

In the end, the price of CDs to the customer would come down, but we would all sell more

The other subject that is raising so much concern at the moment is ecommerce. I agree that the internet may ultimately hit the independent retailer's sales, but I would argue, don't be panicked into thinking you will soon be forced out of business by it. Yes, you will have to adapt - I have by expanding the second hand market. From humble beginnings. I have expanded this section so ch that it now accounts for about 50% of my business.

Your article last week (MW March 25, p7) on the number of girl bands releasing in the first six months of this year - around 35 and counting - made for fascinating and counting - made for fascinating reading. I was aware of most of them and how competitive the market is becoming, but one or two names were new to me. Obviously I'm only interested in our act unvoisity i'm only interested in our act Madsuu, who are quite different from the repetitive thing that girl bands seem to be doing. Three things are essential: songs, singing and stars. The music comes first and they have got to have great volces, but there has got to be something different about them that will make people want to buy into the act. Madasun are not manufactured puppets.

macasun are not manuractured puppets, klddypop or nursery rhyme but something sophisticated. We are not trying to alienate any one audience - hopefully they will appeal as much to 14 to 20 year-olds as to 35 to 45 year-olds.

as to 35- to 45-year-olds. Our benchmark is what Clive Davis has done with TLC - really strong powerful women who are stars with great songs. A lot of labeis are going for a really vory young audience. B Witched are proving that fans of that age are very fickle and grow up fast and are into buying records which remind them of being two years women

Section 2 and 2 an

24 - but I think they will come on b next time as we've not just proved they can get into the Top 40, but hang around in can get into the Top 40, but hang around in the charts for four weeks so far with a song that is really good. While most labels seem to be in a bid to have the next Spice Girls, they don't seem to realise there will never be another Spice Girls. We're alming closer to All Saints and that's good enough for us. David Steele, General Manager, V2 Records.

There are plenty of people out there ove 40 who will kill for that replacement copy of a classic LP, single, CD or video in good condition. Believe me, LPs are coming back in a big way, so much so that business is booming at our weekly record and CD fairs, making Sunday potentially the busiest day of the week

In conclusion, I would agree that never has there been a time when competition has been so unfair, but come on, music retailing is still a great way to make a living. My staff and I have done so for more than two decades, and provided we continue to work our balls off, we hope to do so for another 20 years. Name and address withheid

So once again we are being kicked in the privates by the ludicrous pricing policy of the Entertainment UK/Woolies set-up.

What a good job I stayed awake long evening on the evening of Sunday February 27 to spot their advert for the new Oasis album at $9.99. Long enough to ensure another sleepless night contemplating 40p profit per disc in order to maintain credibility and customer loyalty. Long enough to contemplate all the future sleepless nights ahead

Isn't it time that those of us who make a living solely form pre-recorded music got together to come up with organsiation that truly represents our interests? I'm not a member of Bard because when I last contacted it two years ago I was told it did not consider pricing as the sort of issue it should tackle.

If that means indies getting into bed with Virgin, HMV and so forth, then so be it. Otherwise us indies could go it alone by creating BARMAID - the British Associati of Raving Mad And Independent Dealers. Any takers?

this is as funky as the great man's own inimitable style is debatable, but it places wn centre stage with the new breed. CHUMBAWAMBA: She's Got All The Friends That Money Can Buy (EMI CDEM563). The lyrics to this immediate smash indicate it could be an ode to Tara Palmer-Tomkinson - what with mentions of double-barrelled surnames, social diaries and It Girls. The song starts with a skyscraping chorus and contains a classic Chumbawamba riff. However, radio still them as a one-hit wonder.

MARY J BLIGE: Give Me You (MCA MCSXD 40230/155 727-2). This Diane Warren-penned number is the latest single from Blige's Stateside platinum album, Mary. But while Warren has helped propel more than a few projects, this looks unlikely to help the gueen of hip-hop soul match her US status in the UK.

SASHI: Just Around The Hill (Multiply CD MULTY62CX), As with their recent number two chart position with Adelante last month, the German pop-trance act are likely to confound a few expectations with this ballad. Featuring vocals from Tina Cousins, it is a surprisingly effective song that invites radio play. A dancier edit is C-listed at Radio One.

LAURENT GARNIER: The Man With A Red Face (F Communications F119CD). Lifted from Garnier's impressive album

Unreasonable Behaviour, this superb slice of jazzy techno is the best work the French D1/moducer has had released in some time Mixes come from Svek, Funk D'Vold and Jan MOOGWAI: Viola (Platipus PLATCD71) Moogwai's follow-up to last year's dancefloor smash A Night Out is another major-key trance monster designed to delight the nation's Gatecrasher kids. The track has already been given the stamp of approval by scene heavyweight Paul Oakenfold.

BLACK BOX RECORDER: The Facts Of Life (Nude NUD48CD1). Strings lift Sarah Nixey's coquettish confessions, making this somewhat similar to early Scritti Politti, and provides the perfect taster for (and title ack of) the bitter-sweet second album from

CLINTON: People Power In The Disco Hour (HUTCD 125). Possibly the strongest track from last year's well-received Dise And The Halfway To Discontent album from Cornershop offshoot Clinton, this is a quirky blend of disco and political intent. A rous package includes an array of nixes by like minded artists such as The Wiseguys (recently nominated for a Brit Award) and the occasionally-tioped Space writing team Luke Haines (leader of The Auteurs) and sometime JAMC associate John

MORGAN: E.P (Source SOUR 005T). More funk-fuelled pop from Hammond organ maestro Morgan. This is sure to generate interest for his forthcoming debut album, released this summer. KRUST: Decoded (Talkin Loud tICD57/562 675-2). Krust comes from the same Bristol stable of talent as for Mercury Prize winner Roni Size and this four-track EP, plus four remixes is another example of how dance music can often reach the status of an art form

FLAT 6: Too Late (Infusion) (12INS006). Island's dance specialist Infusion present a combination of tech house and dub, which is currently being favoured by a diverse set of DJs such Danny Tenaglia, John Digweed and Judge Jules as well as being Pete Tong's Essential New Tune last week

Signed from Australia's Vicious Vinyl, this features the classically trained vocals of Sallie Harvey. Although it has been played for six weeks running by Radio One, the winning mixes from Key South, Wookie Slut and finally Push make it ich the sound of now. SISTER 2 SISTER: Sister (Mushroom CD1/2/MC MUSH70CDS/SS/MCS) Another pop Australian export, but what gives them the edge in the girl band

THE MIGHTY WAHI: Songs Of Strength And Heartbreak (Whon!/ Castle WENCD209). It has been nine years since Pete Wylie's last album and this return from the wilderness is full of sonds which shimmer and emlode with emotion and is likely to garner acclaim from all corners. Recent live shows have shown Wylie is still a force to be reckoned with, as this album admirably confirms.

VARIOUS: Afterhours: Streetsoundz Volume One (United States Of Danc

The 23 import-only tracks on the triple-CD package include Lego's El Ritmo De Verdad, Studio Nova's Science Fiction Soul and Rochelle Fleming's It's Not Over plus a mix CD by Bobby & Steve

VARIOUS: The Voyage (X:treme Records XTR57CDM), Billed as "an excursion into early house music", this is an impeccable selection of classic tracks from the late Eighties and early Nineties chosen by Joey Negro. Featuring artists such as The Night Writers, Kym Mazelle and Underground Solution, this is an essential

WARIOUS: Randall & Hopkirk (Deceased) OST (Island CID8096). The oundtrack to comedians Reeves &

Mortimer's Saturday evening BBC1 comedy drama contains a refreshingly high standard of material. CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Solid Ciris colleague Melania G's only number one cutalet the goup to date was achieved by teaming up with a female American RBs atra (Missy Elliott) and the same route has worked for Melanie C, whose Never BE mS same Agin paring with TLC's LBar Left Byr' Lapes doubt selling more than tukia as many copies as Moleko's The Time Is Now, which debuts at number two.

Never Be The Same Again is the second major hit to feature lisa Lopes this year, the other being DonelLionas-LI know What's Up, which pesked at rumber two. The TLD star is likely to score a hattink of high charting assists when Space Cowboy (Yippie Y-Yay), her collaboration with 'N Sync, is released as a single some way down the line.

Lopes's extracurricular work does not necessarily prove the TLC rift rumours, incidentally – all three members got together

SINGLE FACTFILE

After consecutive number ones from her former sligitige patteres Bryan Adams and Gerl Hällweil, Melanie C debuts emphaticality at unmber one this week with Never Be The Same Agaio. It is her ainth number one, the provious eight having been achievred as a member of the Splee Gilfs. uith nine number one this, the others heling colleague Melanie G, Abba's Frida and Agentha, and Madona. Beating them all, of course, Gerl Hallweil has 10 to her credit. Given her recent tramks about Gerl, it must give Melanie C some pleasure to detriven her erschwille colleague – and if the two had released singles head-to-head last week sike would have even more reason to smile as the would have prevented Eag IV. The Same Agains doir early 14,5000 guints compared with Hallweil's first week taily of 106,000 for Eagt tu Dy.

their first number one with The Time Is Now but in debuting at number two the record beats both Moloko's own previous best – Sing It Back reached number four last year– and the previous best for Echo, this being the number three peak of Babybird's You're Gorgeous in 1996.

Babybird's latest, The F Word, debuted more quietly at number 35 last week, and now dips to number 52.

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

hough it has had its fair share of bigselling albums, including the current TLC release Fanmail (460,000) and Whitney Houston's My Love Is Your Love (760,000), Santana's arrival at the album chart summit gives the Arista label its first number one since 1993, when David Bowie topped with Black Tie White Noise. Its triumph is a narrow one, however, with Moby's Play also reaching dizzy new heights, climbing to number two with sales of more than 40,000 last week alone.

Home to the current number one single Never Be The Same Again and the two number four hits Goin' Down and Northern Star, Melanle C's debut solo album, also entitled Northern Star, continues to improve It advances 12-10 this week, equalling the highest position of its 23-week chart career at former colleague and current rival Geri Halliwell is doing even better, climbing 11-8 with Schizophonic

COMPILATIONS

Ibum sales overall are down for the A third straight week but compilations are on the rise after four weeks of decline. is not by much, though, with only 10,000 extra sales taking last week's tally to a still low 447,000. At the top, New Hits 2000 rules the roost for the second straight ek, even though its sales dip from 33,000 to 26,000. In a weak market that is enough to give it a handsome victory, however, with the new runner-up being New Woman 2000, which sold fewer than 17.000 copies. The latter album - which is aimed at women rather than featuring them exclusively - includes current hits from Precicus, Madasun, Kelis and Jamelia among others, but also features many slightly older hits and several standards, including Roy Orbison's Oh Pretty Woman Jennifer Rush's The Power Of Love and the

VERSUS LAST WEEK:

The garage frenzy continues, with four garage albums in the Top 10 - five in the Top 12 - this week, the highest placed arrival being Kiss UK Garage, the latest collaboration between the London dance station and Universal, which debuts at number three. Hardhouse has less of a high profile but there are two hardhouse albums bangin' away in the lower reaches of the chart - Nukleuz Presents Hardhouse Anthems slips 16-19 while This is Hard House debuts at number 31

Santan's Supernatural abum thaily moves to the top of the UK chart. It sold more than 42,000 copies last week, and has increased its sales every week this year. Released last August, it ended 1999 with total sales of 25,000, a total which has since swollen to more than 240,000. The album has, of course, been responding to the belated popularity of Hip hop albums have notoriously short shelf lives both in the US and the UK but one album which is seriously bucking the trend is Dr Dre's latest, 2001. The album has sold 4m copies in America so far, and is still in the Top Five, some 18 weeks after it was released. It has shown similar, if less spectacular, staying power here too. And the success of the current single Still Dre, a collaboration with Snoop Dogg is providing new firepower for the album. Still Dre debuted at six on the singles chart last week and fails just one notch this week as it crosses beyond the artist's core audience. The album responds by rising to a new per of 17. Sales are already around the 90,000 mark, but there is the prospect of much more to come with the follow-up Forget About Dre already being heavily played.

ecords continue their escalating onslaught E on the chart and now comprise four of the top five on the upfront chart, the only local record here being the Utah Saints' Funky Music, which advances 20-3. At the top of the chart, Dutch house act Lock 'n' Load's sample-strewn Blow Ya Mind - up form number seven - is some way alread of Germany's Blank & Jones and their hit After Love. The week's highest debut, meanwhile, is Tooa's Mirade, the now legit meding of two earlier Positiva eleases by Fragma and Coco, which seems certain to return the label to number one next week ... There's a German act at number two on the Pop chart too. namely Sashi, who usually has an extended run at number one but whose latest single Just Around The Hill is dethroned after just one week, well beaten by Steps' Deeper Shade Of Blue. Toca's Miracle is the hot new entry there too, debuting at number seven. With Lock 'n' Load at number one on the upfront chart and Steps leading the Pop chart, acts on Zomba labels score a notable and rare double...On the Urban chart, Zomba's highest-placed disc is R Kelly's triple A-side, which holds at nine - scant reward for a 21% increase in support. But competition is particularly fierce at the moment – Destiny's Child's Say My Name registered a higher level of support last week than any of our March chart-toppers managed, but still hasn't reache number one, being leapfrogged by Craig David's Fill Me In. The 18-year-old from Southampton who sang lead on the Artful Dodger hit Re Rewind The Crowd Say Bo Selecta proves himself to be equally at home with R&B as with garage, and Fill Me In is registering more strongly than any other record this year. It is a foregone conclusion that the track will go on to become a major hit on the sales chart. Completing a top three of great promise is Thong Song, the second single from Dru Hill's Sisqo. H theory, giving a song the silliest title of the yea and using musical references to Ricky Martin's Livin' La Vida Loca doesn't sound like a promising combination - but somehow it works

by ALAN JONES

e-entering the world of mere mortals Rwith an audience of 82.57m last week -a decrease of more than 26m in a week - All Saints' Pure Shores is nevertheless still far too popular with programmers to be dislodged from the top of the airplay chart, where it enjoys its fourth straight week at number one

Throughout that run, Gabrielle's Rise which itself spent three weeks on top before yielding right of way to the Saints - has occupied runners-up slot, a position it surprisingly continues to occupy, some 12 weeks into its career, despite shedding 19m listeners last week. That is because Artful Dodger's Movin' Too Fast, which has itself reached an audience of 82.1m, also hits the skids in a big way, attracting a comparatively small audience of 65m last week

The depressing spectacle of more and more radio stations playing the exact same

AIRPLAY FACTSHEET

 Westlife's Fool Again has moved 428-69-32-20, its latest mp making it this week's highest climber, despite very limited exposure on Radio One Virgin 1215 concurs with its colleagues for the first time ever, with All Saints' Pure Shores its most-played record last week, followed by Gabrielle's Rise. The former was played 38 times, the latter 37.

core tracks brought about the record tallies which have been registered by the top few songs in recent weeks, and it is good to see there is a little divergence again, with the top five between them attracting a total audience of just 338m last week fewer than the week before

Lene Marlin's Sitting Down Here was number nine last week with 61.8m listeners and jumps to five despite shedding nearly 2.5m of them, while Santana's Smooth which established a new record for a number 10 with 61.1m listeners last week - climbs to eight despite slipping to less than 57m.

en Oasis' current hit Go Let It Out was introduced to the airwaves in January, it became the highest debut on the chart for more than six months, entering at 17 before springing to 10 the following week. Who Feels Love? - the upcoming second single from their album Standing On The Shoulder

Madonna's American Pie is now number one on the airplay chart in nine countries - Austria Belgium, Denmark, Finland, Germany, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden and Switzerla With All Saints at one in the UK and Ireland, that means William Orbit productions command the airwaves everywhere there is an airplay chart except in France, Italy, Portugal and Spain

> Of Giants - had an altogether quieter debut on radio last week, attracting an introductory total of just 68 plays and 6.6m listeners, enough only for a number 96 debut

Craig David's debut solo single Fill Me In hich has progressed 43-30-24-17 thus far - is looking increasingly likely to be a top three sales and airplay hit. David fronted Artful Dodger's Re Rewind The Crowd Say Bo Selecta hit and was subsequently signed by Telstar/Capital joint venture Wildsta Unlike many artists on the label, its early airplay was not heavily biased towards stations within the Capital Group, however and it continues to expand its powerbase at an impressive rate. Radio One loved the record from the start, and has been increasing its support every week, with a best-yet tally of 26 plays on the station last week earning it sixth slot on its most-played nother favourite at Radio One is Blink 182's All The Small Things which becomes the first US rock record to top its most played list for ages, having gained 33 spins ast week. The record is currently earning more than half its audience from Radio One and also jumps 16-11 on the overall airplay chart, Meanwhile, Radio Two is just about the only station to take to Kirsty MacColl's single In These Shoes?, which it played 15 times last week, placing it at number two on the most-played list behind Santana's Smooth. Unfortunately. MacColl's single nanaged only 14 more plays from all the other stations on the Music Control panel, and thus is a lowly number 63 on the overall chart, Radio Two also gave Shelby Lynne's Leavin' 14 of its 16 plays - but the re bubbling under the published chart at 58, primarily because it was featured on shows such as Wogan with high audiences.

OBBIT TO STAY IN CLASSICAL CHART

bit's pl ce in th e classical artist art is assured, following a meeting of CIN's classical advisory panel on March 23

The controversy surrounding Orbit's Pieces In A Classical Style was ignited last month when David Blake of Select, distribution arm of Naxos Records, objected that the disc failed to meet the full range of eligibility criteria for classical chart inclusion His reservations were endorsed by a jority of retailers and others canvassed by CIN, although a timer uncome of panel reserved until last week's advisory panel meeting, "It was a very lively debate," sa CIN chart director Omar Maskatiya. "The conclusion was that the rules as they stand. and the interpretation we have applied to them for many years, mean that William Orbit should remain eligible for the chart."

The panel has now decided to review classical chart eligibility rules at a future meeting to see if they might better reflect the needs and concerns of retailers. "The Orbit album didn't breach any of the existing rules," says Maskatiya. "We totally understand, however, why a multiple retailer might take a business decision not to stock it in their classical section. That is one of the issues we have to look at in future."

Bill Holland, divisional director of Universal Classics and Jazz, suggests that the row over the record had been blown out of proportion in several newspaper articles.

You could look at any piece of music that is not core classical and challenge whether it meets all the criteria for being in the chart," says Holland. "My view is that the broader the range of music in the classical charts, the better."

This is a priority international release for Sony Classical, offering a sequel to Appalachia Waltz, the successful 1996 laboration between cellist Yo-Yo Ma, folk fiddle player Mark O'Connor and bassist Edgar Meyer. American folk and traditional tunes lie at the heart of Meyer and O'Connor's arrangements and original compositions, which include expressive vocal numbers sung by James Taylor and Alison Krauss. RETAIL FOCUS: DIVISION ONE

by Karen Faux

A winning combination of music, football and coffee has put central London Indie Division One firmly on the map since its nch two years ago.

Situated in historic Hanway Street - Blues & Soul magazine and Contempo Records used to be housed above the shop's premises - the store now features in all international guides to the area which boasts more record stores in its square mile than anywhere else in Europe. "We wanted the shop to become a hang-out.

where people could come in, have a coffee and get the latest football results," says joint-owner Johnny Chandler. "At the same time as opening the store, we also wanted to launch on the web and, although this was delayed, we are very pleased that it is coming together now

Chandler's only premise when it comes to the product he stocks is that it has to have passion and be made with some soul. Rather than go with 'the next big thing' he and his staff try to be discerning about what they offer and encourage people to try out recommended releases. "This way we get a good rapport with them and we find that is positive for them and

Division One: football and mr for us," he save

Vintage product features pr Chandler - who writes Mojo's Vinyl Junkie column - sees it as complementing current releases. "New records are always inspired by PREMIER LEAGUE WEBSITE

e finishing touches are The finishing touches are currently being put to Division One's website (www.division one.co.uk), which Johnny Chandler says Is designed to provide a shop whindw on the world. "The website has always been integral to the concept of the store as a whole," he says. "We sell to a tot of people in store as a whole," he says. "We sell to a lot of people in the US and Japan who are frequently in London but who also want to keep in touch when they go home. The website is designed to maintain that continuity and maximise global business."

hing that has come before and the ntage gear helps customers make those links So whether it is the sampled break to Fatboy Slim's Rockafella Skank they're after, or the original version of a current cover that they didn't know existed, they've got a good chang of getting it here or of us tracking it down for

This week best sellers have included Youth plosion from rappers People Under The Exol Stairs, Lambchop's album Nixon, Primal Scream's Exterminator and The Dove's Cedar orn on 10-inch. Chandler emphasises the importance of making it easy for people to check things out for themselves.

"All of our listening posts are there for people to try their own choices. We want ople to go home with something in a bag that they can't wait to play", he says. With so many stores fighting for attention in the locality pricing is a key issue. "We work really hard to be competitive and source things at a good price," says Chandler. Unlike some indies, Division One is upbeat about the move to bring prices down on the high street. "Making music cheaper for people to buy has to be a good thing," says Chandler. "It is a basic principle of retailing that product will be used as a loss leader by some store It just means that indies like ourselves have to work that little bit border "

" or a specialist store like ourselves the market has come full circle, and is much like it was when we started out 15 years ago. Many of the stores which opened up back in the Eighties when house music bormed have gone to the wall now. We continue to be very much an undergrou shop but we are one of the best around for our particular niche.

All the staff who work here are DJs and our stock very much reflects their personal tastes. We pull in a lot of customers from all over the North West, the Midlands and Wales, and it is important that we get on to new things early. In terms of sales we tend to be the first in and first out once a record starts to climb. We get a lot of our stock through DJ mailings and specialist distributors such as Vinyl Distribution, which means it is not the sort of product anyone is likely to come across in mainstream shops.

Basically we concentrate on drum & bass, techno and house. On the drum & bass front we are selling a lot of Trinity's Chronic 13 EP and also the Matrix album, Sleepwalk, on An obscure French import, entitled Chicken Burns, has been a big seller although very little is known about it. In our te department, Marco Crawler & Adam Beyer are steaming out with Fusion Frame, on Zenith. Aztec Mystic, who hail from Detroit, are also doing well with Revenge Of The Jaguar.

At the moment we are focused on our website (www.easternblocrecords.co.uk) which is just getting the finishing touch We have constructed it with a search engine that enables people to source product by either name, title or genre. Currently it has around 600 catalogue items.

Most of our business comes from word of mouth. We have never really believed in advertising as it seems unquantifiable. Now and in, we will produce a few flyers and spon sor local club nights and this works very well."

om Jones and Basement Jaxx are still doing great business on the back of the Brits, while Moby's album is now edg-ing up to its highest chart position since its launch nine months ago, Each of his singles has done progressively better and the album has proved to be very store-friendly, gaining a lot of play. It is vibrant Latin rock with Carlos Santana's trademark guitar motifs already in evidence on an early rendition of Jingo, which became one of their most-loved recordings when polished a little more on a later visit to the studio, and an nteresting version of the Beatles' With A Little Help From My Friends.

It's not just fun to spot the samples, though, as Nina Simone's Funkier Than A Mosouto's eeter and the Jackson 5's Hum Along And Dance are two examples of tracks which also stand up on their own.

NEW RELEASES - FOR WEEK STARTING APRIL

RECOMMENDED ALBUMS CATALOGUE NEW RELEASES

SANTANA: Soul Sacrifice (Charly CDVAL 117-2) Pre dating their lengthy association with CBS, this early Santana offering comprising 19 recordings spread across two CDs - could hardly be re-released at a better time. It is vibrant Latin rock with Carlos Santana's trademark guitar motifs already in evidence on an early rendition of Jingo, which became one of their most-loved recordings when polished a little more on a later visit to the studio, and an interesting version of the Beatles' With A Little Help From My Friends.

VARIOUS Unforgettable Favour 50s (Pulse PLa-158) The Fifties unler era, the Favourites Of The 50s (Pulse PLSCD

eren't just a simpler era, they were also an era of shorter songs, and this collection crams 28 on to one CD. While old-timers will enjoy hearing crackly staples like China Tea by Russ Conway and Too Young by Jimmy Young in pristine quality, there will be furrowed brows at the inclusion of three tracks by Millican & Nesbitt, singing miners who won Opportunity Knocks in the Seventies.

VARIOUS: Skye Presents The Breaks (Harmless HURTCD 022) The third in a series of albums

m Harmless (an MCI imprint) features a stunning selection of influential cuts which have surfaced as samples elsewhere. Vernon Burch's Get Up, for example, is a relatively obscure 1979 cut, but its break was used in Deee-Lite's Groove Is In The Heart, while King Erricsson's Well, Have A Nice Day saw service on Roxanne Shante's Have A Nice Day. It's not just fun to spot the samples, though, as Nina Simone's Funkier Than A Mosquito's Tweeter and the Jackson 5's Hum Along And Dance are two examples of tracks which also stand up on their own 75997404221 roving that Motown wasn't the only music to come out of Detroit in the Sixties, the MC5 achieved modest success at the time with their potent and heavy rock but have since achieved legendary status, with numerous punk bands and latterday alternative acts referring to them in reverential terms. A 1969 concert recording of rare power, Kick Out The Jams captured the MC5 at their peak, although their record company's insistance that a fourletter word was edited out of the recording led to a parting of the Alan Jones

Remember where you heard it: Which award winner promptly left the Music Week Awards, when everyone wanted to say helio to him, on a promise of having his trophy polished?...The event's big, furry musical notes dangling at the back of the stage attracted much attention, not least from several piferers who made off with two of them. Our leopardskin note is still at large, though a bright furry pink one that disappeared was recovered when colleagues of Dooley chased the offenders down the road...A&R awardwinner Simon Cowell can clearly spot a potential hit record a mile off, but according to Pete Waterman in a video tribute at the event, he's far from perfect in other areas. "He may have good ears, but he's the worst driver in the whole of London," said Waterman...Still, it was a slightly better take on Cowell than that by Jonathan King, who opened by billing him as "the man behind some of the worst records ever made". Top A&R gruns Mr Pot and Mr Kettle refused to comment...Raffle ticket sales at the event raised £3,200 for the Brit Trust and Nordoff Robbins with such prizes up for grabs as weekend breaks to London, Berlin and New York. For those with ticket numbers C36207, C38338 and C36014 ring the BPI's Maggie Crowe on 020 7851 4000...The rumours continued apace last week: a German radio report that BMG is to announce imminently its takeover of Universal was rapidly denied by the German media giant. Meanwhile.

hears that Aim has been lobbying the government for around a year about getting music companies included in schemes to attract investment. However, neither the Treasury nor Inland Revenue bothered to tell the indie body that its sterling efforts had finally paid off when exclusions were lifted in Gordon Brown's budget. It was only when Willott Kingston Smith accountant Geraint Howells flicked through the Treasury's website that he found amendments, which could attract millions of pounds into the sector, had been made ...
